Thundershowers, electrical storms, torrid and chilly temperatures are the menu the Weatherman has been dishing out for the past week. For instance last Friday morning the temperature flirted with the 40 degree mark while Tuesday the sun baked the old thermometer at a sizzling 95. It really is rather puzzling and one doesn't know what to expect or how to dress from day to day. Air-conditioners are turned on one afternoon and shut off in the evening as thundershowers cool down the area. I guess it'll settle down one of these days soon to our usual summer weather pattern.

Received a nice letter this week from Jack Crumlish who also enclosed a check to be given to the Vigilant Hose Co. annual financial drive. This is the first time this thing has happened... mailing me a check. Jack is a former resident but hasn't lived here for a number of years. He maintains a nostalgic feeling for his old home town and his action in sending a check to the Fire Co. set me thinking it was a good idea and I thought I'd mention it so that former Emmitsburgians might get the same idea. Don't get me wrong... I don't get the checks... the Fire Co. does. Anyway, thanks for those nice plaudits, Jack.

Resurrection City has vanished, as had been expected. However, we hope we have learned that certain elements of our society need help and need it badly. Relief rolls are not the answer and I believe that most of us got the message which is simply provide jobs for the needy. Just how we are to accomplish this is conjectural but it must be done and done soon. We have had welfare among us for half a century but it did not cure our ills so we must try something new. Industry must cooperate with the Government to lick this problem and it is imperative that Congress go right to work on it, or at least in the next session.

The local Lions Club will sponsor a Community Auction on July 12. Those of you who want to sell anything should contact any member of the club. The proceeds of this sale go to charity being done in our home town. If you wish to donate the item, very well and good; if you want to sell it on commission, that is OK also. So, if you have any old furniture, refrigerators, pianos, farm implements, etc. laying around, just call one of the Lions. They need you and you need them.

TOPPER REUNION

The Charles B. Topper family reunion will be held Sunday, June 30 at the Rainbow Skating Rink Park on Rt. 32 just east of Taneytown, it has been announced.

The reunion was held in prior years at the farm of the late Charles L. Topper farm northwest of Emmitsburg now owned by B. H. Boyle.

Fire Chief Says

Fireworks Illegal

"There are no such things as 'Safe' fireworks" says Guy R. McLaughlin, Chief of the Vigilant Hose Co., Emmitsburg. As many as 5000 American men, women and children may be victims of fireworks this year. Each and every firecracker, sparkler, crackler ball, etc. carries with it the potentiality of major, often permanent injury. Loss of eyesight, serious eye injury and loss of fingers or hands lead the list of major accidents caused by fireworks.

Each Fourth of July brings another rash of injuries from fireworks in spite of the fact that the use or the possession of them is illegal in this state. Everyone, young and old should do his part to make each independence day "A Safe and Sane Fourth".

A one-track mind is not a handicap if you are on the right track.

According to police, Laura Lydia Stoner, 34, of E. Main St., Emmitsburg, was stopped on U. S. 15 in order to make a left turn onto Old Frederick Road when a car driven by Corwin Wilson Bonebrake, 50, College Park, collided with the rear of her car.

Youth Injured In Car Wreck

An Emmitsburg area teen-ager was listed in satisfactory condition at the Warner Hospital after suffering injuries to his thigh and pelvis when his car was demolished in a $900 collision with another vehicle on Business Route 15 in Greenmount, about 4 p. m. last Thursday.

The accident occurred, Chief Miller said, when Slemmer, traveling north on Business Route 15, attempted a left turn into a private drive. Slemmer failed to notice the northbound Miller vehicle attempting to overtake his vehicle and turned into the drive, and then was struck nearly broadside by Miller's sedan. Damage was estimated at $600 to Slemmer's Volkswagen and $300 to Miller's car.

Deplores Repeal Of Local Law

Editor, Emmitsburg Chronicle:

A petition of protest bearing the signatures of 200 people together with twenty irate citizens, cried out against the newly-elected Town Board in a special meeting at the Emmitsburg Town Office, June 19, 1968, as they sought to direct the attention of the new administration a way from the money box. In less time than it takes to say, "you're in", a motion was passed by the new board to remove Article XIV, Section 2 from the Town bylaws. The purpose of the bylaw was to prevent future commissioners from accomplishing this very thing. For this reason the special meeting of the Town Council of Emmitsburg was called by Mayor Seidel.

Mr. Clarence Wachter, president of the Board, presided. Mr. Samuel C. Hays, spokesman for the group, presented a petition signed by 200 residents of the Town, protesting the rescinding and repeal of the ordinance which prohibited any member of the Board of Commissioners from also being a salaried employee.

Various related ideas were expressed; a very good one by Commissioner McDonnell who suggested that an open meeting be held in a large assembly hall to permit time for questions and answers. Another one by the Mayor suggested that the Town should advertise for a superintendent at once. This met with audible approval. Mr. Hays suggested that a professional engineer was not needed for a job which operated for nine months, from October to May, with little or no supervision and that this ought to be a consideration in fixing the salary for such a job. Mr. Boyle spoke against foolhardy spending. Commissioner Boller reported about the deplorable condition of both the sewage disposal system and the water treatment plant. Mr. VanBrakle registered dissatisfaction at his water service.

The group felt that elected officials who would vote to change the laws of the Town; then vote themselves jobs; then vote themselves salaries and at the end of each month, the same people vote to approve the treasurer's report, signed in the minds of the 200 signers not to be keeping faith with the people who elected them.

If apathy is one of our country's major ills, then certainly the healthy interest demonstrated by this group attests to the good health of this community.

TOWN TAX RATE REMAINS SAME THIS YEAR

At a special meeting of the Town Council held Monday evening in the Town Office, Chairman of the Board Clarence P. Wachter presiding, it was decided, after much deliberation, to keep the local real estate tax the same for the new fiscal year which begins July 1.

At the same time, Mayor Robert A. Seidel announced that the present rate for water patrons would be retained. Previously notices had been sent out of town water consumers that a hike in the rate was imminent.

Present also at the meeting was the Town's attorney, Fred Bower, and the Town's auditor, James Gibbons. Both advised the Council that they thought it feasible to retain the same tax and water rates for another year.

Clairvaux History Continues

CLAIRVAUX—Chapter IX Editor, Emmitsburg Chronicle: Father Brute, in a letter dated 1823, while still at Mt. St. Mary's, gives a good description of Emmitsburg as it was in 1786. For those who are interested, the letter is printed in fuller measure in Hellman's History of Emmitsburg on page 20. I am interested at the moment, in only the following language:

"The meeting to give the town a name was held at Ochenswith's (sic) farm. Some were for Carrolltown, some for Emmitsburg, which prevailed; it was about 1786."

Since Brute is not with us to interpret, it is left to us to interpolate. I say that this meeting was not to give the town a name but to determine what the town's name was under very changed circumstances. Until this year, 1786, there had been no doubt in the people's minds. For more than 50 years persons who lived on the Carrollsbury Tract had identified themselves as citizens of Carrollsbury. When giving instructions to strangers they undoubtedly said "just come to Carrollsbury and inquire as to the Byard plantation, the Keepers plantation, etc." All during this period owners and lessees of parts of Carrollsbury, and Carroll's Delight, identified themselves in formal legal instruments as John Doe of Carrollsbury (or Carroll's Delight) in exactly the same fashion that a person today would say, in a similar instrument "John Doe of Taneytown, of Gettysburg, of Thurmont" etc. Carrollsbury was a place, but within this place there was erected a town. The town, like the "place" was owned by Carroll. It is ridiculous to surmise that for its life, perhaps 50 years, it was called other than Carroll Towne. At this very time in Maryland's history there were no less than 200 townes, such as they were, all of which came to be called by the name of the owner of the land on which such townes had sprung up.

Examples are obvious and too numerous to mention. Any such townes, like Moran's Towne which Father Brute mentions, have long since disappeared and no evidence of them remains behind except a passing and casual reference, such as in Brute's letter. Historically this suffices.

In 1786 circumstances changed. Thirty years earlier Sam Emmitt (by a straw transaction or otherwise) acquired 2,250 acres of Carrollsbury from Charles Carroll. Almost immediately Emmitt commenced to sell of large tracts and always, without exception, the deeds identified the land as part of Carrollsbury. Purchasers came to consider themselves as residents of Carrollsbury. This is established.

But in 1785-86 a new wrinkle was added. The treaty of peace ending the Revolution had been signed in 1783. Just as after WWI and WWII, subdivisions to existing townes sprung up like mushrooms. No less than 100 Frederick, York and Adams County communities owe their existences to this interesting phenomena.

Accordingly, in 1785 Sam Emmitt gave his son, Bill, 35 acres on which to erect a subdivision adjacent to Carrolltown. Bill might have called it Emmitt Gardens but his better judgment prevailed.

In any event the subdivision contained perhaps 30 times the area and 30 times the lots of the old town to which it was tacked onto. What was the new subdivision to be called? Carrolltown? Emmitsburg? Shall the tail wag the dog? Does a larger celestial body ever orbit a smaller one? Certainly not in a democracy! And besides, there were suddenly more citizens in the new town than in the old. We had them outnumbered and out-voted. The majority must rule! This is what the 1786 meeting at Hockenschiedt's was all about and this is why today, our ancient name Carrollton, may be lost forever.

Sam Emmitt's deed for thirty-five acres (later Emmitsburg) to his son Bill (1785) contains the following mysterious language which me thinks somewhat supports my thought that the earlier (1757) transaction, Carroll-to-Emmitt, was only a straw affair. William Emmitt to perform that part which the said Sam Emmitt was to perform according to articles of agreement

In the C. Burr Artz Library there is an ancient map (1794), rather poorly identified, which shows Emmitsburg and the Emmitsburg area. On Toms Creek, where the Sisters are, is shown a mill called "Emmits". What is more natural than if Carrollsbury should become Emmitsburg, that Carroll's Mill should become Emmitt's Mill? Also, the old mills on Middle Creek at Kump's Dam, were they not once known as Carroll's Mills?

Next week: Nigh Nicking, a part of Carrollsbury, now Mt. St. Mary's.

Ocean Downs Opens Wednesday

Ocean Downs Raceway at Ocean City kicks off its 20th season of racing Wednesday night, July 3 and over one quarter of a million dollars in purses are to be given out during the 42 nights of racing.

Board Chairman J. C. Robinson said this week that the quality of horses this year will surpass anything the track has had in at least the past ten years.

With Ocean City and the other resort areas going into what appears to be the biggest summer season on record, Ocean Downs is expecting to keep pace.

The track now has completed its two-year plan of converting its colors from the original (1949) yellow and blue to white and blue. The racing strip has been resurfaced with approximately 500 tons of stonedust from Pennsylvania.

For the first time Ocean Downs will offer the Exacta form of wagering. Racing fans will have the opportunity to select in advance two horses that will finish first and second. The Exacta will be offered in the fifth and ninth races. Exacta payoffs often reach into the hundreds of dollars and have been made popular at nearby tracks such as Harrington, Georgetown and Rosecroft Raceways and all over the country.

This year's meeting will cover nine weeks, ending August 31. There will not be any racing Monday nights and none on Tuesday, July 9 and 16.

Racing will start at 8:30 each evening and the Daily Double will close at 8:20.

BABSON'S POINT OF VIEW

1968 Last-Half Business And Financial Forecast
By most standards, first-half 1968 has been a very good period for business: Numerous new records in production and shipments; a Gross National Product gain of close to $88 billion; economic strength abounding despite social, economic, political, and international crises. Even so, it is obvious that this prosperity has not been shared by all segments of the economy. Farm income has lagged. Dollar gains in personal income have been whittled down—in some cases to the vanishing point—by heavier total tax levies and rising living costs.

Our Babson Forecast for July-December is for further overall betterment in business... although at a slower rate than recently.
Gross National Product—Best estimate is that Gross National Product will average out at $848 billion for the year. This would represent a gain of $63 billion, or a little more than 8%. Roughly 5% of this boost has already been attained in the first half. Reasons for the anticipated slowdown in the upward momentum of GNP: Expected heavier taxes, possible cutbacks in federal spending, and a slowing of the upmove in capital expenditures.

Industrial Production—The difficulties besetting the economy in this eighth consecutive year of cyclical upturn are more fully reflected in the recent flat performance of the Federal Reserve Index of Industrial Production than in the exuberant GNP. Whereas GNP includes the zooming services, and is reckoned in dollars (hence nearly half of recent gains stem from higher prices), industrial production is calculated on quantity of goods produced. Despite the excellent rate of activity in steel, the FRB Index has been able to make only modest gains in recent months. Prospect is for some further easing in the third quarter followed by later recovery... no big letdown but no big upspurt either.

Money And Finance—Major financial and monetary problem of the time ahead is twofold: (1) Within the U.S.; (2) throughout the whole international field. And the two are closely interwoven. For if the fires of inflation here are not cooled, the dollar—already weakened—could collapse abroad. Higher taxes will do little to reduce the fever... if the nation offsets this action by whooping it up on the spending front. And, even forbearance on spending will not remove the threat if some unexpected foreign aggression puts now pressure on our military posture... with attendant financial drain. With interest rates at century-high levels, look for continued—but perhaps not quite so lofty—money costs to rule between now and Christmas.

Consumer Spending—Throughout this economic upswing that began early in 1961, consumer spending has been a major growth factor. While the rate has varied, the direction has been consistently up. It promises to continue upwards in the coming six months, even though pared by heavier tax burdens. In fact, consumer purchases will be one of the mainstays of the economy, averaging at least 5% above a year ago. We predict moderate gains in both durable and nondurable goods buying and fully expect Christmas retail sales to reach an all-time high.

Personal Income—Our bullish forecast for consumer spending is predicated on the belief that personal income will climb to new record highs during the period under review, with disposable income (after taxes) running about 6% above a year earlier. Total personal income gains over the 1967 last half should be even greater, possibly 8%, reflecting still rising wages, bigger social security and other government payments, and higher dividend and interest rates.

Labor Developments—During the first six months of this year, wage increases have been the largest in the nation's history. And this trend will continue in the second half, spurred by the record raises expected in aluminum and steel. Basic patterns will likely contain multi-year raise guarantees of at least 6% annually and, in many instances, across-the-board pay provisions substantially higher. Fringe benefits will be either expanded or initiated where contracts face re-opening or expiration. Labor will also move to tighten the security of private pension plans—which cover upwards of 25 million employees and involve assets of more than $100 billion.

Auto Outlook—So far, buyer interest has been very well maintained and there is good reason to expect 1968 output to top 8,500,000 units. As usual, there will be a letdown during model changeovers. However, we predict that last-half output will top the strike-diminished year-earlier figure by about 10%.

Building And Construction—Despite high costs for land, materials, and mortgage money, we feel that home building will make nominal gains over year-ago levels, with apartment units continuing to be favored. Public construction will be hurt by cutbacks in federal spending, especially roadbuilding... dipping below recent levels but holding close to final-half 1967 outlays. Commercial construction prospects are likewise dim; expenditures could drop as much as 5% below the first half though holding some 10% above a year ago.

Farming—We are moderately optimistic about the over-all position of farmers in the next six months. Quotations for livestock should be edging up and we expect that harvest prices for some key crops will be a bit higher than they were late last summer and in the autumn.

While farmers' expenses are still on the rise, the climb should be at an appreciably slower pace than in the first half. Looks to us as if net farm income could rise fractionally in the July-December period.

War And Peace—All the foregoing predictions are based on our conviction that the road to peace in Vietnam will be long and rocky. So far, the Paris talks have gotten nowhere; and the conflict rages more fiercely than before we cut back our bombing of North Vietnam. If peace comes to Vietnam this year—and it will come so late in the year as to have minimal impact on the economy. The balance between war and peace elsewhere in our troubled world has seldom been more delicate. Sentiment for resumption of the Korean War is strong in North Korea. In the Middle East it is becoming harder to hold the lid on the boiling cauldron of mutual fear and hatred between Arabs and Jews. More than any other nation, Russia holds the key to peace in Korea and in the Middle East; but there is no more than a 50-50 chance that she will quench the embers now smoldering.

Politics—Politics will hold center stage in the U. S. right through the second half. Vietnam will continue to be a big issue politically, but Ho Chi

Minh's tactics on the battlefield and at the conference table could cause anger and resentment sufficient to weaken the position of political doves running for office. Crime, civil rights, and the war on poverty will be given equal billing with Vietnam as campaign issues. We forecast also that leaders of both parties will be in general agreement as to national goals... differing only in methods of attaining them. This, as much as anything, could make for a close election... perhaps close enough to give the House of Representatives the chance to make the final decision.

Frederick Team In Football League

The Frederick Falcons of the Interstate Football League announced this week that Dick Shipley had accepted the post of Head Coach for the coming season. Shipley played his collegiate ball at the University of Maryland under then head coach Jim Tatum. It was during this era that the Terrapins had their greatest teams and were one of the top teams year after year. The one-time Colt draft choice has been active in football ever since his return to Frederick—first with sandlot football and then with the midget league. Coach Shipley expects to receive a lot of help from his staff of about six assistant coaches. At this time the only announced assistants are Shelly Janowitz, who helped the past two seasons at Frederick High; Bill Lee, Physical Education Instructor; and Bob Herstine.

What's RIGHT Between CATHOLICS and JEWS?

There are, certainly, differences of belief between Christians and Jews. And for nearly 2,000 years, their relationship has been marred by misunderstandings and even animosities from both sides. It might have seemed, indeed, that the gulf between them was too wide and too deep ever to be bridged... that the sores and wounds of discord were too old ever to heal.

But a long step in that direction was taken when the late Pope John XXIII... in convoking Vatican Council II... called for emphasis on "the things which unite us rather than the things which divide us." The present Pontiff, Paul VI, echoed the same sentiment in his encyclical Ecclesiam Suam, when he said: "Let us stress what we have in common rather than what divides us."

Vatican Council II... in its declaration on "The Relation of the Church to non-Christian Religions"... reminds the world of the common heritage of Christians and Jews in the prophets and promises of the Old Testament, and says: "Since the spiritual patrimony common to Christians and Jews is thus so great, this Sacred Synod wants to foster and recommend that mutual understanding and respect which is the fruit, above all, of biblical and theological studies as well as fraternal dialogues."

The declaration of Vatican Council II set forth four spheres of common interest between Catholics and Jews. They are Biblical research, theological studies, mutual understanding and fraternal dialogues. Writing on this later, Augustin Cardinal Bea, President of the Secretariat for Promoting Christian Unity, had this to say: "The first essential task—and it will be most rewarding—is to realize how very closely and intimately we are united to the Jews and how many paths we tread as fellow-pilgrims with them in the daily practice of our religion. The mere fact of doing this is already an important advance toward that mutual understanding which the Council recommends to us and which also forms the starting point for further progress along the same road."

If you'd like to know more about the common heritage that binds Christians and Jews together in their love of God, write today for our new pocket-size pamphlet entitled "Relationship Between Catholics and Jews." WOMEN'S HEALTH

By Louise Chase
Women's Medical News Service

College Students Sexually Ignorant
CHICAGO, Ill. — College students in general are "not real swinging cats" where sex is concerned. As a matter of fact they have only sketchy sexual knowledge, and are often uninformed and misinformed. This is the judgement of Dr. Frederick Cohn of the University of New Mexico School of Medicine, who has been giving a course on sex education to juniors and seniors.
Although the course ranges in subject matter from a look at medieval sexual behavior to current sexual behavior in the United States, Dr. Cohn told Women's Medical News Service in a recent interview that the subject of greatest interest to his students is contraception. They want to know what the various methods are, how they work, how reliable they are, what side effects are associated with each.

Oddly enough, although these young men and women are almost through with their formal education, they show great ignorance of human anatomy. They often don't know the proper names and functions of the various organs of the body. They have many misconceptions concerning the menstrual cycle, and are not certain what is normal and what is abnormal in the cycle. They don't really know what homosexuality is—and what it is not.

Highly Moral

In their personal behavior, Dr. Cohn believes these young folk to be highly moral, from their point of view. They deplore promiscuous sexual behavior. Premarital sex is not frowned upon by the students if it is between two people who love each other and feel responsible for each other. The key element must be love in their view. Sexual relations without love, on the other hand, is disdained.

The course is taught by a multi-disciplined team of experts including a Ph.D. in health education, a psychiatrist, and anthropologist, a lawyer, and a minister, priest, and rabbi, in addition to Dr. Cohn, who is a physician. Its main purpose is to prepare prospective teachers who might be called upon to teach sex education in elementary and high schools.

Since the students are highly suspicious of anything that smacks of institutional morality—and are apt to feel that the older generation is phony where sex is concerned—an effort is made to keep moral judgements, as such, out of the teaching of sexual behavior.

The young people are encouraged to examine their own views against those of others. Tests show that as a result of the course greater tolerance toward others had developed.

The university's medical service does not provide students with contraceptive information or services. If students seek such help, they are referred to qualified physicians or planned parenthood centers off campus.

TEAMWORK—Three married couples taking basic officer training at the Medical Field Service School, Fort Sam Houston, Texas, study a map prior to a field training exercise. Left to right are Captains Donald G. and Bonnie H. Norris, Michael F. and Mary Catherine Michelis, and James F. and Maire T. Buckman, all physicians. The couples joined the Army Medical Service because of its policy of trying to keep married personnel together in duty assignments whenever possible.

Challenge To "No Win"
The destruction of American lives and material continues to mount in Vietnam as the 'peace' negotiations stretch out in Paris in a spectacle of Communist arrogance and of unswerving Communist optimism for victory over the U.S.A. It is all the more incredible when we examine some of the cold facts about this hot war which pits a pigmy half-nation against a world colossus—with the pigmy in the role of the aggressor, and the colossus taking severe and unrelenting punishment.

Into this picture of a grinning David and a bleeding Goliath there has just been introduced a challenging "critique" of U. S. Policy on Vietnam by 12 of America's foremost military leaders, including two commanding troops and 10 who have recently retired and now can speak out publicly. The "critique" was drafted by journalist Lloyd Mallan, and published in Science and Mechanics magazine, after he had interviewed the military men—against the wishes of, he said, the civilian heads of the Department of Defense; and perhaps also of the State Department and the White House.

America's Greatest Soldiers
American military leaders whose opinions on Vietnam strategy were gathered by Mr. Mallan were: General Maxwell D. Taylor, former Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and head man in Vietnam for both President Kennedy and President Johnson; General Nathan F. Twining, former JC Chairman; Admiral Arleigh A. Burke, former JC Chairman; General Geo. H. Decker, former Army Chief of Staff; General Frederic H. Smith, former Vice Chief of Staff, Air Force; General Thomas S. Powers, former Commander-in-Chief, Strategic Air Command; Lt.-Gen. Era C. Eaker, former Vice Chief of Staff, Air Force; Lt.-Gen. Arthur G. Trudeau, former Army Chief of Research and Development; Maj.-Gen. Gilbert L. Meyers, former Deputy Commander Seventh Air Force in Vietnam; Brig.-Gen. Henry C. Huglin, former U. S. Representative to Nato; and two other anonymous highly placed military officers. "Victory In Six Weeks" The critique comes up with the conclusion, unanimously supported (according to Mr. Mallan): We can win the war in six weeks—and we should do it.

"The time estimates for victory in Vietnam," said Mr. Mallan, "are based on serious, lengthy discussions with (the list of 12) some of the most experienced and astute military strategists in this country. Not one of these military authorities knew in advance what the others had told me. Yet every one of them was in strict agreement with every other one. They were also unanimous in their confidence that neither Russia nor Red China would dare step in physically (militarily) to confront us—if we did what we have to do for victory.

Strategic Steps Necessary
"Here are their recommendations for a quick victory in Vietnam:

- "1. Officially declare a state of war against the Hanoi Government.
- "2. Immediately close the port of Haiphong, through which Hanoi receives at least 70 per cent of her war supplies.
- "3. Invade the North above the 17th Parallel.
- "4. Swiftly destroy all targets of consequence, after first warning the North Vietnamese people to get out of the target areas.
- "5. Warn Red China and Russia that we are now legally at war with North Vietnam—and that any attempt to supply the North with arms would be answered militarily as an overt act of war against us."

To these recommendations from the nation's military leadership, Mr. Mallan himself adds: "Harsh as these measures may appear to be, they are the only way abruptly to stop a war that may go on for another five, ten or more years—if it continues to be fought as at present. The average person—no matter how well-informed he may be in other matters—cannot possibly know what goes on behind the scenes of Government. He cannot know the spurious political 'reasoning' that determines why we are fighting a war in a weaker manner that is unprecedented throughout the history of military science—when we have the strength to squash Vietnam in practically a single blow."

Shenandoah Offers Twin Racing Card
CHARLES TOWN, W. Va. — More than 12,000 race fans are expected at Shenandoah Downs next Thursday for the July 4 doubleheader, third of the year at the night track here. Shenandoah, which introduced the racing twinbill on July 4, 1959, will offer two complete nine-race programs on the holiday, with post times at 2 and 7 p.m. Boxed chicken suppers will be available on the grounds during the intermission between programs. There will be a complete double bill of racing fare, with two daily doubles, two twin doubles and four exactas. As is customary at Shenandoah Downs, only one admission charge and a single parking fee will admit fans for the entire doubleheader. Twin features have been carded for the two programs. The Spirit of '76, a mile allowance event for 3-year-olds, will head the afternoon program, and the Independence Purse, a 5½-furlong dash for older horses, will top the evening card. The July Fourth twin bill follows a doubleheader at Shenandoah on last Memorial Day when $1,051,475 was bet by 12,900 fans. Most people don't do what is best for them; usually they're satisfied with second best.

Once you take a really close look at this '68 Impala Custom Coupe, chances are you won't care what other people's 1969's are going to look like. But we'll tell you anyway.

This particular model—with its formal "notchback" roof line—is the most popular one we build. Which means it's by far the most popular '68 anybody builds. Which means (and this is an open secret around Detroit these days) some other cars are going to look a lot like it in '69.

Frankly, we're kind of used to being borrowed from this way by now. Whether it's styling, riding comfort or just plain painstaking workmanship, we know that putting you first keeps us first. And we can't blame other carmakers for wanting to catch up.

But meantime the thing for you to do is drop down and have a talk with your Chevrolet dealer now. Great as our styling looks on this '68 Impala, we can't promise it's going to look so good on a '69 something else.

Happening now at your Chevrolet dealer's, a tremendous explosion of extra buying power. Only the leader could make it happen.

Save on popular V8 engines, automatic transmissions, whitewall tires—and more. Just take a look at these five bonus savings plans. Then see your Chevrolet dealer.

Bonus Savings Plan 1 Any Chevrolet or Chevelle with 200-hp Turbo-Fire V8, Powerglide and whitewalls.
Bonus Savings Plan 2 Any Chevrolet or Chevelle with 250-hp Turbo-Fire V8, Powerglide and whitewalls.
Bonus Savings Plan 3 Any big Chevrolet with 250-hp Turbo-Fire V8, Turbo Hydra-Matic and whitewalls.
Bonus Savings Plan 4 Now, for the first time ever, big savings on power disc brakes and power steering when you buy any Chevrolet or Chevelle with V8 engine.
Bonus Savings Plan 5 Buy any Chevrolet or Chevelle V8 two- or four-door hardtop model—save on vinyl top, electric clock, wheel covers and appearance guard items.

Library Story

Hour Continues

Mrs. John Chatlos held a delightful story hour on Saturday morning at 10 o'clock for about 12 children. Sam Bangs and Moonshine by Evaline Ness, was the story. The children heard the story read and then drew illustrations of what the story meant to them. These pictures are on display in the library. The story hour will continue throughout the summer.

The Summer Reading Club is now in progress with 21 children registered in the program. Requirements are that each child will read and report on eight books by August 3. It is not too late for your child to join if he can read eight books by August 3. If the children tell the librarian about the book they hear at Story Hour or if they draw an illustration they may receive credit for that book on the summer reading program. Vida Antolin has volunteered her services to help with the program. Miss Caroline Umbel will conduct the story hour this Saturday. College girls and teenagers have volunteered to assist with the story hour throughout the summer to give our regular ladies a break. Mrs. Joyce Bruchey, Mrs. John Chatlos and Mrs. Betty Ackerman have been in the library every Saturday through the winter. Our sincere thanks to them. They have given wonderful service to the library.

Some new books in non-fiction will interest many of our readers: "The Center," by Stewart Alsop. "People and power in Political Washington." "The Emily Post Book of Etiquette for Young People," by Elizabeth L. Post. "Triple Ridge Farm," by Ruth Pochmann—A glowing account of a family's devotion to their Wisconsin farm and how they restored its natural wonders and beauty.

"Animal Kitabu," by Jean-Pierre Hallet with Alex Pelle—Informative and entertaining. This book tells much about people as well as animals. The author, a sociologist and naturalist who spent 12 years in the African bush, concentrates on native life and customs.

"The Official Mixer's Manual," by Patrick Gavin Duffy—Guide to the preparation of over 1200 different drinks. Included is a special new section on wines, their selection, care, and service.

"The Joy of Music," by Leonard Bernstein.

Joy comes with the morning. —(Psalms 30:5)

When there is misunderstanding or inharmony in the home, when there seems to be a lack of communication between husband and wife or parent and child—this too shall pass. Let us have the patience and forbearance to keep poised and peaceful, to know that inharmony cannot continue, that love will make all things right. Joy comes with the morning.

Poor People's Needs

Understood

Senator Daniel B. Brewster (D-Md.) said this week that participants in the Poor People's campaign "have made their needs known" and should begin immediately to restore their Resurrection City campsite and leave Washington.

Brewster said he opposed any further extension of the permit for use of the Resurrection City area and would urge that they begin to evict the campaigners if they refused to leave when the permit expired.

Brewster said: "The campaigners have shown admirable restraint during their stay in Washington. They have managed to impress the officials and citizens of the country with their cause, and there have been no major incidents despite the abysmal living conditions at Resurrection City.

"But the government, and the citizens of the Washington area, also have exhibited patience and tolerance and have shown every consideration to the campaigners that could be expected, including a one-week extension of their permit.

"There is no more to be gained by the campaigners at Resurrection City. They can now continue to press their cause through the normal channels that all American citizens use in communicating with their government officials.

"I, for one, fully appreciate the obvious need for improved jobs, education and housing for all Americans and I am always ready to discuss these matters with my constituents."

Brewster said the government should insist that the public park area in which Resurrection City was established "be restored by the campaigners themselves, as much as is possible, to the lovely site it once was."

"This piece of parkland is for the enjoyment of all who visit Washington. The government extended a courtesy of the highest order to the Poor People's campaign by allowing its use as a campsite of tents and shacks. Now, the government must insist that it be returned in good order to the public at large," Brewster said.

campaigners would leave Washington quickly when their permit expires.

"But if they do not, the government must make it clear that their presence will be illegal and intolerable. If necessary, I would urge that they be evicted. I hope that will not be necessary," Brewster asserted.

The ZIP Column

For those of you who noticed my column was missing last week, it was due to the Postmasters' Convention in Ocean City, Md., which I attended.

It was a very informative convention, as we discussed the many changes in transportation patterns, the recent rate change and its effect on certain classes of mail, and also any delivery, dispatch or public relation problems that prevailed in one office was discussed openly, in order to maintain the highest standard of service to you, the public.

The following commemorative stamp will be placed on sale today.

REGISTER & VOTE US 6

It is intended to remind us of our obligation, as citizens, to register and vote, in all public elections!

Thursday, July 4, Independence Day, our business lobby will be closed.

However, there will be an outgoing mail, and also mail received, in the morning. The P. O. Boxholders will be able to pickup their mail, from the main lobby, between 6 a.m. and 6 p.m. There will be no rural delivery service.

There is presently posted on our lobby bulletin boards, an "Advertisement For Bids For Space", to furnish space for postal purposes to be located in the principle business district of Sabillasville, Frederick County, Maryland.

All specifications are plainly stated on this Ad, and bids are to be received in the Post Office Department Real Estate Branch, no later than July 24, 1968.

A new dispatch procedure will go into effect, nationwide, at midnight June 30, which is intended to speed handling of packs of mail.

This new procedure is mainly dependent upon the use of the proper ZIP CODE.

For five years now, the Post Office Department has been requesting the patron to use Zip Code on all correspondence, and now with this new procedure, it is becoming nearly mandatory that a proper Zip Code be included in every address, in order to provide the fastest possible service, in delivery of your mail.

Store Manager

Receives Award

James Cropp, manager of the Gettysburg Coffman-Fisher store, received the manager of the month award recently for the 14-store chain, which has its headquarters in Salisbury, Md.

The award is presented to the store manager who has shown ability and initiative in a number of areas, including sales and community relations, and unusual effort in the area of service to store patrons.

Cropp was especially cited by J. Frank Sapp, regional manager for the central division of the company, for having met all sales quotas despite the fact that the store has been torn up while undergoing expansion and complete remodeling.

Dr. and Mrs. E. A. Nakhleh and their son, Charles, will be visiting the Holy Land on July 4 and will return to Emmitsburg on September 4.

John C. Elder and fiancée from Pittsburgh, Pa., spent Saturday with his grandmother, Mrs. Genevieve R. Elder, S. Seton Ave.
