Vandalism reared its ugly head once again in this area and as a result, two nice picnic tables disappeared. The local Chamber of Commerce worked with the State Roads Commission for two years to obtain a picnic area in this area. Such a roadside oasis was created just two months ago on Rt. 15 at Tom's Creek. The area was graded, table spots stoned, roadside signs erected, trash cans placed and four nice modern picnic tables installed. It was no time at all until some local individuals were dumping their garbage into the trash receptacles, and this week vandals stole two of the four nice tables, using hack saws to cut the chains and the metal legs off the tables which were anchored in cement. Should anyone spot these tables, it is their moral obligation to inform the proper authorities, and I wish I had the personal pleasure of doing just this.

Many local citizens are concerned over the decision of the Town Council to install water meters in the near future. They feel that with the Town obligated to the extent of over a half million dollars that now is not the time, nor is it prudent or wise to spend anywhere from 20 to 30 thousand dollars to install meters. This sum of money must be made up by YOU, the taxpayers, or YOU, the water consumers of the community. There is no other way to repay the money and the new rate of borrowing will be just double that of the present indebtedness. There is plenty of sentiment at this time for a Public Meeting to discuss the situation, or even to wait until next April when the matter can be voted on by referendum at the Town Election. We don't understand the sudden haste to install the meters and feel it incumbent at this time to ask the Council to withhold action until the Public has had time to express its opinion. We don't feel that this is asking too much and it is felt that many unpleasanties can be averted by such action.

Want to hear your local Band in action? Then be present at the Square on Sunday evening at 7 o'clock. This will be the first public concert by our excellent little band this year and I'm certain that you will enjoy every minute of the concert and at the same time, give the members of this fine musical group a morale boost. They've had a busy summer and won numerous prizes, now they want to show the home folks just what they can do. Shall we see you there Sunday?

All you can eat for $3.50. What could be fairer? A meal of this type would cost you more at a restaurant and you wouldn't get all you wanted to eat, either. The Indian Lookout Conservation Club is sponsoring a Chicken Barbecue on Monday, Labor Day, from 12 noon until six in the evening. While you enjoy your meal you will be treated to great musical entertainment by Cheryl Lee and the Carter Kids and Paul Wagner and His Country Swingers. The event will afford you an opportunity to see too, perhaps for the first time, the spacious club grounds the group owns just west of Town. Better take advantage of this one, folks! Oh yes, kiddies under 12 will be served for only $1.50... all they can eat!

WINNER

Miss Michelle Sanders, R1, Emmitsburg, was the lucky winner of a nice bicycle awarded as a prize by Reaves Electric, W. Main Street, last Friday evening.

ter ordination. At this post he became acquainted with Fr. McCarron, whose parish work was in a community about 20 miles from Douglas.

Wetzel has also served as assistant at Immaculate Conception Church and Sacred Heart Church in Lowell and as assistant to the director at the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception in Washington. Citizen Opposed To Water Meters

Editor, Emmitsburg Chronicle:

An article was published in your paper recently explaining that Water Meters were soon to be installed in every household in Emmitsburg, the primary purpose being to conserve water.

I think the installation of meters, which undoubtedly would cause an increase in rates, is getting the "cart before the horse". Certainly before the Town spends thousands of dollars more and goes further into debt, it should be properly paid for the existing water and sewer services. Why in the world should we submit to another burden, and why should we try to save water that is going to be sold at half price to preferred customers?

Before one dollar is spent for metering, the present rate schedule needs to be adjusted so that customers beyond the corporate limit get into line and pay a just and fair share for service. An open meeting to explain this disparity is long overdue. The taxpayers need to be let in on some of these large expenditures before they are asked to pay the bill.

Respectfully,
S. HAYS

Frederick County Backgrounds

Random Genealogical Notes
In Tom's Creek Presbyterian churchyard it is safe to assume that the majority of the families interred therein were related — either by blood or marriage. In other words, it is a "genealogical maze." In the early days twains "pressed their suits" either by "shank's mare" or, if they were lucky, rode horseback to visit the fair one. The majority of marriages took place within the immediate neighborhood and family ties were both close and quite often intermingled.
It is not always easy to unravel these relationships — particularly since the early church records have long since disappeared. However, some light can be thrown on the mystery and, it is to be hoped, that in time still more data will add to the knowledge and of this historical site.

The Gamble family has some rather old graves at Tom's Creek — as a matter of fact the pioneer ancestor of that family is interred here. According to an old Emmitsburg resident the "Gambles lived out toward the mountain." Probably the original lands were "taken up" by David Gamble, the emigrant from Ireland.
At one time there was in existence a Gamble family Bible which was said to have contained "a great many family records." Unfortunately it was destroyed and the family genealogy must be "put together by bits and pieces."
It is safe to assume that David (1) Gamble was unmarried when he arrived in America and came to settle in the Emmitsburg District. It is not known just when he married but when he did de-side to "take unto himself a help-mate" he chose wisely and well — he married into the Annan family. His wife was Margaret (4) Annan, the daughter of Robert Lewis (3) and Mary (Cochran) Annan. She, Margaret (4) Annan, wife to David Gamble, was born in 1795 and died in 1852.

In the Gamble family burial plot at Tom's Creek there are only four gravestones, but there is every indication that a number of graves are unmarked. The pioneer ancestor rests in one of the marked graves and the inscription from his tombstone is as follows:
1. "In memory of David Gamble, born in Castruse, near Londonderry, Ireland, July 31, 1796. Died July 14, 1885, aged 80 years, 11 months and 14 days."
In spite of the fact that he was born in Ireland, David Gamble, the pioneer, was probably of Scotch descent, a son or grandson of an exiled Scot who fled to Ireland to find political and religious liberty.
In this original Gamble plot there are three other stones that should be listed at this time. The inscriptions follow:
2. Joseph S. Gamble, born June 17, 1865, died January 12, 1948. Note: This man was apparently a long-time resident of Emmitsburg and was well-known in the town. He was, apparently, never married and left no descendants.
3. In memory of Margaret I. Annan, daughter of William and Eliza Annan, died Sept. 16, 1857, aged 5 years, 5 months and 10 days. This little girl was a niece of Margaret (Annan) Gamble, the daughter of her brother, William (4) Gamble and his wife, Eliza (McKeen) Annan. She is listed, with dates, on the Annan family chart.
4. In memory of William D. Gamble, son of Samuel and Emma R. Gamble, died Jan. 30, 1931, aged 60 years, 2 months and 9 days. Note: From the dates and age brackets it would appear that William D. (3) Gamble represented the third generation of his family in America. In other words, he was a grandson of David (1) and Margaret (Annan) Gamble.
In another part of Tom's Creek Presbyterian churchyard lies buried Samuel (2) Gamble, the son of David (1) and Margaret (Annan) Gamble. The inscriptions from the markers in this plot are as follows:
5. In memory of Samuel Gamble, born Feb. 4, 1934, died Jan. 14, 1910, aged 76 years, 4 months and 10 days.
Note: Samuel (2) Gamble was a son of the pioneer, David (1) Gamble and after the death of his father and mother "lived on the family farm." Very little else appears to be known about him — except for the fact that he married and reared a family.
6. Sacred to the memory of — Mary P. Gamble, born Jan. 12, 1868, died May 15, 1893, aged 29 years, 4 months and 3 days.
John C. Gamble, born Aug. 8, 1879, died June 9, 1883, aged 3 years, 10 months and 1 day.

Bertie C. Gamble, born June 30, 1876, died June 30, 1876, aged 1 year, 11 months and 16 days.
Children of Samuel and Emma R. Gamble.
Emma R. Gamble, wife of Samuel Gamble, born Nov. 12, 1833, died Feb. 17, 1900, aged 66 years, 3 months and 5 days.
Buried back of her husband at the edge of the Horner-Annan-Grier burial plot, is the grave of Margaret (Annan) Gamble. The inscription follows:
7. In memory of Margaret Annan Gamble, wife of David Gamble, died Oct. 11, 1852, aged 57 years.
Note: Margaret (Annan) Grier died some 33 years before her husband and it was probably the intention of the latter to be interred by her side but time and other family deaths must have changed his plans.
Interred with Margaret (Annan) Gamble are the following:
8. In memory of Mary L. Danner Gamble, the daughter of David Gamble, Aug. 5, 1878, aged 38 years. Note: This inscription is self-explanatory — an unmarried daughter of David (1) and Margaret (Annan) Gamble.
9. In memory of Mary D. Edie, died July 15, 1847, aged 29 years. Note: This inscription is somewhat of a mystery — Mary Edie fits in the family tree and she must have a niche somewhere and perhaps some day the mystery will be solved.
The notes on the Gamble family will be continued in this column next week.

J. Glenn Beall, Jr. Reports from Washington

Congressman, 6th District, Maryland

The Congress has gone into recess until September 3rd and will return with a lot of work yet to do.
As a first term member, my impression on the legislative action taken so far is that the Congress has moved very cautiously during the first eight months. This is principally due to the fact that the President is of a different political party than the majority in Congress and thus the leadership in the House and Senate has been waiting for the President to present programs rather than initiating programs themselves. Also, there is the general feeling that the time has come to perfect laws already on the books rather than add more new laws.

The result of this is that only one major piece of legislation has cleared both Houses, that being the surtax extension, and this was because of the necessity to control inflation rather than a desire to raise taxes.
The House alone has passed the Tax Reform Act of 1969 and this will be considered by the Senate during the fall. It should be passed before the end of the year.
The House has also approved several appropriation bills — these will be taken up by the Senate after the recess.
The Senate, of course, approved the ABM in a close vote and that matter now moves to our side of Capitol Hill for consideration.

Most of the Congressional action so far, however, has been in Committees. This legislation will be coming to the floor for consideration when Congress returns. Such items as the Electoral College Reform will be early on the agenda. In addition we can expect that committees will start hearings on Social Security increases, draft reform and the President's Welfare proposals. These items all deserve immediate attention, and I hope that final action can be taken before the end of the year.

Band To Present Public Concert

The Emmitsburg Municipal Band will present a concert on the Town Square on Sunday evening, Aug. 31, beginning at 7 o'clock. All members are urged to be present.
Also the band will hold a Food Sale in the Fire Hall on Saturday, Sept. 6, beginning at 10 a.m. Money from the sale will be used towards the purchase of major-ette uniforms.

both auto and boat were enjoyed by all. Social festivities also were on the agenda. Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Emerson of Quitman, Ga., were also present.

Mrs. Genevieve R. Elder is spending some time visiting her daughter, Mrs. Otto C. Wiegand, Silver Spring, Md.

Senior Citizens Enjoy Picnic

Rain spoiled the picnic fun for the Senior Citizens last Tuesday evening at Kump's Dam. Well, now maybe not. The Seniors all came to the Center with their baskets filled with picnic fare. And did we have a nice time after enjoying a lovely picnic supper, tasting and exchanging ideas. The Bazaar Chairman took over planning for the Fall Bazaar to be held at the Center Nov. 8.
The Publicity Chairman, Mrs. Hazel Caldwell, is visiting her sister in Council Bluffs, Iowa, and until she returns, news will be scarce. But remember the Center is open Monday through Friday from 9 till 4. Wednesday is always game day. Stop in anytime to rest and chat.

Small Loan Companies
 By Babson's Reports Incorporated, Wellesley Hills, Mass., August 28, 1969—The most important recent developments in the finance industry have been mergers and the increased emphasis on diversification. In 1968 several finance companies were taken over by large unrelated firms. For example, Avco Corp. acquired Seaboard Finance and Gulf & Western took control of Associates Investment.

The finance companies themselves, of course, have not been ignoring the benefits of diversification. For instance, Beneficial Finance in recent years acquired both Western Auto and Spiegel, thereby broadening its earnings base. Household Finance plans to acquire National Car Rental and Von's Groceries to go along with previous diversification in manufacturing and leisure-time industries.

Near-Term Obstacles
 Although mergers and acquisitions have proven to be favorable developments for many finance companies in the past, there may be some slowdown in this area, at least temporarily, due to current pressures from the Federal Government and the SEC. But we expect that finance companies will still continue their diversification efforts, both through internal means and by acquiring unrelated firms.

At the moment the biggest drawback would appear to be the anti-inflationary forces now at work. This includes especially the current soaring interest rates and high taxes. Small loan companies particularly are feeling the squeeze on profits—a situation which is likely to continue, at least over the near term. Whether the small loan companies use bank borrowings or float bonds, interest rates, which are the highest in a century, make their product (money) very expensive. However, there are some indications that interest rates have reached their peak and may soon begin a downward movement.

The proposed new tax legislation will place an added burden on earnings because it will eliminate the multiple corporate structure that the finance companies presently use for tax purposes. The truth-in-lending regulations thus far have had a very limited impact on the small loan companies. People are still basically interested in how much it is going to cost them in installment payments each month and not what their total interest charges will be.

Small Loans—Big Competition
 In recent years the competition in the field of lending money has been increasing rapidly. Much of this has been coming from banks, which have been greatly expanding their activities, particularly in the small loan field. Banks, having learned from previous mistakes, have hired competent people (often times from finance companies) who have the know-how in this field. As a result, they are now getting more and more of the better loans, leaving the poorer risks for the finance companies. In the future we expect that banks will continue to expand aggressively in the lucrative small loan field.

Favorable Aspects

Despite the aforementioned negative elements in the area of small loans, there are still plenty of bright spots. Personal income has been growing at an extremely rapid pace and should continue at a high level for the foreseeable future. Statistics prove that when the consumer is affluent, the level of borrowing is high.

Population trends and family formations are two very important plus factors as far as small loan companies are concerned. The use of credit is a way of life with the bulk of the population. The loan companies are developing new forms and methods of consumer lending; also they are using electronic data processing for more efficiency, thereby reducing costs and improving profit margins.

The Research Staff of Babson's Reports currently recommends purchase of Beneficial Finance common and $5.50 convertible preferred for growth. For those investors who are concentrating on income we recommend the Beneficial Finance 8 3/8s of 1971 and 5s of 1977, the General Acceptance (now GAC) 4 3/4s of 1971 and CIT Financial 5 1/8s of 1980.

Schools To Open Next Week

All public school in Maryland will be open by September 5 this year, the Maryland State Department of Education reports.

Nine school systems will open September 2. They are Cecil, Garrett, Charles, Montgomery, Prince George's, Somerset, Talbot, Wilcomico, and Worcester Counties.

September 3 openings are slated in Allegany, Carroll, and Kent Counties.

September 4 openings will be in Baltimore City and Anne Arundel, Baltimore, Calvert, Caroline, Frederick, Harford, Howard, Queen

Anne's, St. Mary's, and Washington Counties.

Dorchester County schools will open for students on September 5.

State law does not specify opening and closing dates, but does require a minimum of 180 days in the school year. All public schools in the State schedule more than the minimum, with some planning 185 days.

MOTERING TIPS

By Andy Granatelli

Winning Owner, 1969 Indy 500

GRANATELLI

The cars were bunched. I had passed two, coming up on the outside, and I had that sixth-sense feeling that the moment had come to make my bid. I called for all the power the car could deliver, as I came out of the turn. The engine answered immediately, smoothly, and coming into the straightaway in front of the grandstand a final extra burst of speed enabled me to edge past the leader.

The engine ran as smoothly as butter, despite the sustained, maximum r.p.m. call on every horse it was capable of delivering. I extended my lead to a car's-length, then two, before having to brake for the next turn.

For safe highway driving, a motorist never should call on his automobile for the power and speed that are routine in racing, but regardless of circumstances there is a parallel between the two types of driving: The requirement that every part of a car and engine must function properly. Actually, engineers from American Oil Company, who counsel with us on specifications for the fuel that powers our STP racing cars, tell us that without proper tune-up, the best fuel is sorely impaired.

Expert mechanics are a vital part of a racing team. They should be part of a motorist's "team," too. Autos that are properly tuned and serviced, in accordance with manufacturer's specifications, will deliver that extra power when it is needed—passing on the highway, for example—just as a properly tuned racing car gives its driver confidence that his vehicle will not falter in a tight situation.

Proper attention by skilled service station personnel to his car's proper operation should be a routine part of every motorist's "pit stops" so he can be confident, too, whether on a long trip or in local, city driving.

ANNUAL FINANCIAL REPORT
TOWN OF EMMITSBURG

AUGUST 18, 1969

Mayor and Commissioners
Town of Emmitsburg
Emmitsburg, Maryland
Gentlemen:

We have examined the Balance Sheet of the General Fund of the Town of Emmitsburg, Maryland, as of June 30, 1969, and the related Statement of Income for the period then ended. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, and accordingly included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary under the circumstances.

In our opinion the accompanying Balance Sheet and the Income Statement presents fairly the financial position of the General Fund of the Town of Emmitsburg, Maryland, as of June 30, 1969 and the results of its operations for the period then ended, in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles applied on a basis consistent with that of the proceeding year.

There is no depreciation charged in these statements and is the recommendation of this office that an appraisal of the General Fund Fixed Assets be made either by the Commissioners of the Town or an outside appraiser be employed. This needs to be done to clear old assets off the books and to bring the value of the Town's assets in line with today's present replacement or new cost values.

The expense of the Sewer Fund this year was $1,085.47 more than income for this year. All Taxes Receivable for the period ended are for current taxes. The investment in general fund fixed assets increased by $6,715.67 this year.

Respectfully submitted,
T. J. Gibbons, Jr. CPA

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

Is steadiness to shot and wing necessary? That's an old question that is born again with every new generation of hunters. Even seasoned veterans of the game fields argue it among themselves.

The average upland gamebird hunter doesn't care a hoot whether his dog is steady to shot and wing. Perhaps the majority of these hunters have never even seen a dog that had this nicety of gun manners. And many hunters really prefer their dogs to break shot, feeling that this makes a surer recovery of crippled game.

Many hunters admire the steady quality and really prefer it, yet they can never keep their dogs steady to the rise of game or the crack of gun simply because, in their excitement, they are not steady-to-shot themselves. Instead of remaining in their tracks and ordering the dog to retrieve, they can't resist the temptation to break and help retrieve the moment a bird drops to the gun.

The dog that is steady to shot and wing reflects the trainer's skill, for steadiness to flush and gun is not, and never will be, a natural instinct with the pointing dog. It is necessarily a mechanical accomplishment.

Steadiness isn't just beautiful.

It's useful, too. The dog that stands and waits for his master's command to retrieve or continue hunting, in the event of a miss, is under good control.

Maybe you want your dog to be steady to shot and wing. In every gun dog's training there's a definite time to apply the finishing touches.

According to Henry P. Davis, Dogs Editor of Sports Afield Magazine, the proper time to steady a dog to shot and wing is after he has begun to handle game properly. Davis feels that it is best to allow a young dog to break to shot and flush for a time, as long as he will remain staunch on point. Then, after he is thoroughly imbued with the desire to hunt, find, point and hold birds, you have plenty of time to apply the pressure necessary to steady him to shot and wing. The idea being that too much early training tends to cramp the young dog.

If you can, keep your young dog from breaking and chasing in the beginning. The difficulty for the amateur though, lies in handling his dog, flushing the game and shooting at the same time. Take a companion along to flush and shoot for you while you handle the pupil until he comes to realize that he must remain staunch at the flush and shot. Restrain him in a kindly manner, encouraging and praising him. Don't use too much force. When he does stand steady, pet and praise him profusely. Never hunt him with a shot-breaking brace mate if you can help it.

Remember this: The only way you can ever keep your dog steady to shot and wing is to "remain steady to shot and wing yourself." Most of us have a natural tendency to start forward whenever a bird falls to our gun. But this actually acts as a signal to your dog that he is free to go also. So watch your own actions.

Whatever you get, get insight.—(Prov. 4:7).

With our every breath we make a decision. Every breath affirms life. Decisions are so much an integral part of us that we hardly recognize the fact that we are making them. With God's help we can build good judgment from within. We by prayerful thoughts, establish a pattern of procedure from which we are motivated. This becomes the truth about us, and we find we are alight with the light of Christ.

This is to give notice that on the 19th day of May, 1969, a Bill of Complaint was filed in the Circuit Court for Frederick County by the Complainant against the Defendant whose last known address was 7000 Muncaster Road, Derwood, Maryland.

The Bill states in substance that the parties were married on April 14, 1966, in Frederick County, Maryland, by Rev. Carroll F. Boyer, a regularly ordained Minister of the Gospel; that the Complainant is a resident of Frederick County, Maryland, where she has resided for more than one year last past; that the defendant was a resident of Montgomery County, Maryland, where he had resided for more than one year last past; that one child was born as a result of the said marriage, namely John Garland Fraley, born November 1, 1966, and who is presently in the care and custody of your Complainant, and whose care and custody she seeks; that the parties to this cause voluntarily separated on or about November 19, 1967, and said separation has continued uninterrupted since that time and said separation is deliberate and final and beyond any reasonable hope or expectation of a reconciliation.

The relief prayed in the petition is substantially as follows:
(1) That the Complainant may be divorced A VINCULO MATRIMONII from the Defendant, Norman G. Fraley.
(2) That the Complainant may have the care and custody of the infant child in these proceedings.
(3) And for such other and further relief as the nature of her case may require.

Wherefore, it is ordered by the Circuit Court for Frederick County, this 1st day of August, 1969, that the Complainant cause a copy of this order to be inserted in a newspaper published in Frederick County, once a week for each of four successive weeks before the 6th day of Sept., 1969, giving the notice to the said Defendant of the object and substance of the Petition and warning him to show cause, if any there may be, on or before the 7th day of October, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

Odd Horse "Sitters"

Race horses lead a somewhat unamoral life—cooped up most of the day in their stall—and while some are merely bored others are apt to become neurotic and a small animal "pet" around the barn is good therapy. Dogs and cats are most popular, but other "horse sitters" have included ponies, monkeys and the late J. P. "Sammy" Smith once had a pet brown bear at the old Latonia track in Lexington.

Fainting Bill belongs to John and Mary Cotter, a husband-and-wife training team. As a kid, Fainting Bill had been raised with the Cotter's bird dogs "and Billy got the notion he was one of them," Mrs. Cotter recalls. "One day they were romping in the field and the dogs flushed a covey of quail and Billy small donkeys, geese, ducks, fainted dead away from fright." Now a 3-year-old, Fainting Billy still collapses when startled and is for a few moments out cold. "Everyone is careful not to frighten him but you can't avoid it all the time and he's a ways comes to without help," Mrs. Cotter says. "Even the Max Hirsch's barn, along with three dogs and a cat, and Fainting Bill sleeps, is protective. She covers Billy with straw who literally swoons at loud, and is apt to bite if you go too sudden noise or a menacing gesture close to him."

Speaking To The President

Once (and sometimes twice) a week when President Richard M. Nixon arrives at his desk in the Oval Room of the White House, he reaches first for a concise report on what the people of America are thinking. The report is prepared by a group of public opinion analysts—though they are not called that in the White House. Their product is called a "News Summary." It highlights the public reaction to top issues in controversy in the United States, and summarizes both the "pros" and "cons."

In the report also is a narrative-like summary on what the people of America were saying to their President, in a massive batch of mail, on Monday, on Tuesday, and on each day throughout the week. Also in the report is a summary on what the newspaper editorials are saying, and what the major columnists are saying. The President himself considers the message in the mail an authentic guideline on what the people of America are thinking; what they want their President to do.

Every Letter Is Read

This information was given to me by some of the key people responsible for making up this "public opinion" survey each week in the White House. They estimate that in the first 100 days of the Nixon Administration more than 500,000 letters came addressed to "The President." The volume now is greater than 30,000 a week. It takes a considerable staff to just read the mail, and a number of knowledgeable persons to fully analyze its content.

"Every letter addressed to the President is carefully read," said the man in charge of this activity in the White House. "The President has made it clear to all of us that he respects the people who write him and is determined to convey that respect back to the people. He appreciates the mail. In the Nixon Administration, the mail works for the President. It tells him, in a sense, what the nation is thinking; it gauges for him the public understanding on an issue; it has become one of the key factors in his presidential decisions and actions."

From "Pressure Groups"

"What about the pressure group mail—the look-alike letters or cards?" we asked.

"We don't put a label on mail of that type," said the director of the White House mail room. "Oh, sometimes we get several hundred letters a day on a particular issue and we know there is a group activity behind it. However, these are individual citizens writing to the President. This fact is paramount. When we write an analysis of the mail, the fact that 500 letters came in which appeared to be using the same language, is considered, of course, but the letter writers are not downgraded simply because they are a part of a concerted voice."

"What kind of letters particularly impress their message on the President?" we asked.

"The sincere, unselfish letter from a citizen who obviously has the general welfare of our country at heart. We get lots of these. If they are logical along with their honesty and selflessness, they carry substantial weight with the President—and with us, in our analysis."

My White House source also said: "The President gets a lot of mail from children. Almost without exception, they have no ax to grind. The President highly values this mail. He wants to personally read as much of it as possible, and quite frequently he answers it personally."

Every action of the President brings comment from citizens who take time to write. The mail was heavy after President Nixon's European trip. It was heavy after his conference at Midway Island with South Vietnam governmental leaders. It becomes exceedingly heavy when the White House is involved in a national issue affecting all the people—like war and taxes.

"The question of whether to continue or discontinue the personal income sur-tax stimulated a great volume of mail, and the opinions expressed, together with the thinking of the people on inflation, drew the studios attention of President Nixon," said our White House contact.

The key fact spotlighted in my conversations with these White House staffers is that you, as a citizen, have a voice in Government—if you but use it.

Disruptive Separation?

CLEVELAND—When a newborn baby is separated from his mother, he sometimes thrives less than other babies. And what happens to his mother?

Dr. Marshall H. Klaus, director of the newborn nursery at Babies' and Children's Hospital, and Dr. John Kennell have been trying to find out whether drastic separation at birth may not affect the mother as well, drastically altering the maternal bond. This possibility might be crucial for the emotionally well-being of premature infants, often separated from their mothers for from three to six weeks.

So far, the pediatricians have found a definite pattern in how mothers handle their newborn babies. Full-term mothers, who have been allowed to see their infants several times daily, progress within a few minutes from touching hands and feet with their fingertips to stroking the baby's trunk with their palms. Mothers of premature babies proceed much more slowly, often getting no further than pokes at hands and feet for several days.

Interrupting Hiccups

BOSTON—For eight weeks, the patient had been hiccuping night and day.

A simple technique perfected by a hospital aide restored him to normal breathing within three minutes.

The aide, Benjamin Tiso of Boston City Hospital, has received doctors' permission to treat acute hiccup cases by placing a drop of diluted ammonia in each nostril followed by a few minutes with an oxygen mask.

Mr. Tiso believes that hiccups are caused by a suction pocket developing in the throat. The ammonia causes the patient to draw in his breath so sharply that the pocket is broken.

So far, the aide has used his technique successfully on 61 patients, although some doctors question its scientific validity.

Popular "Pill"

NEW YORK—Among the 392,000 women helped by Planned Parenthood last year, three out of four chose to take oral contraceptives, according to the annual report of the family planning organization.

Next most popular method was the intrauterine device, chosen by one out of every eight women.

The report stresses that the total number of women served in all voluntary and public contraceptive programs is only 800,000. This is a far cry from the estimated 5,000,000 women of child-bearing age who want and need family planning advice but who cannot afford to go to a private doctor.

The main reason for delays in receiving checks from the VA is that necessary papers are not received, or are improperly completed.

What was the first horse racing in North America? It goes back just 450 years ago, to the time that Cortez invaded Mexico in 1519. While preparing his armies for their march to the interior, horse races were gotten up for the entertainment of his troops on the beach of Vera Cruz.

D.M.V. REPORT

By D. Murray Franklin
Public Information Officer
Md. Dept. of Motor Vehicles

tion of "Authorized Emergency Vehicles" and provided for a new classification, "Authorized Service Vehicles." Essentially, the basic difference between the two types is best described by the urgency of their usage . . . "where time is of the essence."

Police vehicles of City, County, State and Federal law enforcement agencies and vehicles operated by Fire Departments, Volunteer Fire Companies, Rescue Squads and Ambulance Services all fall within the category of "emergency" vehicles.

Beginning July 1, all of these types must now be duly authorized by the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles. The law is very specific about the color of lights used by the several groups:

- Police Departments — Red or Blue.
- Fire Depts. and Ambulances — Red or White.
- Service Vehicles — Yellow or Amber.

The new legislation provides for one central authority to determine the status of all authorized emergency and service vehicles operating within the State of Maryland.

Definitive legislation in this particular area was brought about by numerous civil cases which raised the question as to whether certain emergency vehicles "were in fact" emergency vehicles, because they had not been so designated by the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles.

DMV has now promulgated specific application forms to secure the official designation as emergency vehicles. Also legislated at the same time is a new classification . . . Authorized Service Vehicles . . . to apply to Municipal, County, State, Federal and Public Utility Companies, as well as owners of vehicles performing under contract with City, County, State and Federal Governments, i.e., rural mail carriers, tow trucks, farm vehicles, highway equipment and construction companies. However, all of these groups must apply for, and secure authorization for the official designation from the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles.

Colors of lights will assist the public in identifying specific types of vehicles. It is interesting to note that 28 states now use blue lights on Police Emergency Vehicles because of the capacity of this color for deeper penetration.

No vehicle will be permitted to use or display a revolving, oscillating or rotating light unless it has been duly authorized to carry such equipment by the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles and then only the designated type of light will be permitted under the new legislation.

Private individuals may not use portable dome lights which operate off a battery on the front seat. This practice has caused considerable confusion in the public mind and is now prohibited by law.

Authorized Emergency Vehicles flashing red, blue and/or white lights are the signals for motorists to give the full right of way "immediately." Flashing amber or yellow lights mean "slow down, drive cautiously." Service vehicles showing amber or yellow lights are frequently slow-moving and impede traffic, sometimes causing a road hazard.

The law has been broadened to permit sanitation contractors in such sub-divisions as Baltimore County which does not operate its own sanitation division, to apply for the official designation of Emergency Service Vehicles.

However, it does not provide this identification for private detective agencies or other types of individual services not under contract with an official government agency.

The law provides penalties for any but authorized emergency vehicles which use flashing lights, except of course, the blinker lights which are now standard equipment on all late model passenger cars, as required by the National Safety Act.

On emergency runs, Authorized Emergency Vehicles are required by law to operate an audible signal . . . whistle, siren or bell . . . simultaneously with the flashing light signals. The mere flashing of the lights alone, does not constitute a condition of "emergency."

Another significant provision of the law states that any individual using these devices without the express approval of the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles must not only suffer the criminal penalties already in the law, but his driving privileges can be suspended for 30 days by the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles and the registration of his vehicle can be suspended for 30 days.

Night Courses To Be Offered

Those citizens of Frederick County who terminated their education before graduation now have an opportunity to secure a high school diploma in the evening. Recognizing the increasing importance of a high school diploma for job advancement and the desire to further an interrupted education; the Frederick County Board of Education continues to offer the Evening High School program to those persons over 16 years of age.

The intent of the Evening High School is to provide an avenue to which adults may earn a high school diploma. The diploma is the same as that issued at Governor Thomas Johnson High School, where the courses are offered, with the addition of the words Evening Division. At the present time every high school in Frederick County has a representative on the Evening High School faculty.

The cost to the student depends upon the number and type of courses taken. The registration fee is only $5.00 regardless of the number of courses taken. The school year is approximately the same length as that in the day schools—from September to June. Each class meets 3 hours per week either one or two nights per week. If there is sufficient demand, any course presently offered in

Library Receives Interesting Books

On Wednesday morning, thirty-two enthusiastic youngsters attended activities marking the culmination of the Summer Reading Program sponsored by the Library. After viewing a film, "The Red Balloon," in the library, Mrs. Mary Topper, Playground Leader, accompanied the boys and girls to the picnic tables near the ball park. Eleven children received Certificates of Award for their reading, and all enjoyed the watermelon and party atmosphere.

Those who received awards were Vincent Baldaecchino, Mark Carter, Jenny, Leslie, and Shelley Carr, Chris, Kathy, and Cynthia Dillon, Laurel Hewitt, Freddie Meredith, Frankie Davis, and Mark Warthen.

If you are looking for something new and different in books, try some of the following:

"The Lord Mayor's Show," by Vian Smith, begins with sudden misfortune. A drama that pits personal goals against family loyalty and arrogance against dedication, this heartwarming story captures the excitement of the English steeplechase. The vital core of the novel reveals the truth that gentleness can be more persuasive than the whip.

"The Drug Dilemma," a topic on everyone's lips, has brought new words into our language and our consciousness. Frequently the mass news media treatment of the subject complicates the task of separating fact from fiction. Dr. Sidney Cohen describes trends with mind-altering chemicals. A noted lecturer on drug abuse, he writes about the drugs themselves, vulnerable personality types, reasons for indulging, and settings which encourage drug usage.

In this active age who expects a book to just set on the shelf? A publication of the National Geographic Society, "Song and Garden Birds of North America," has its own small record album with the songs of 70 species tucked in the back of the book. It's possible to read about the birds, study them on the 400 colorful pages, and listen to them sing. Alexander Wetmore explains the miracle of flight, the changing colors of plumage, why some eggs are white and others colored or spotted. The spring excitement of the bird's life cycle—migrating, mating, nesting, raising a family—unfolds in this superb volume.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Harbaugh spent last week enjoying the Little League World Series at Williamsport, Pa. On Friday, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Knippel joined them for the championship game which the Republic of China beat California 5 to 0.

Football Delay At Catocin Is Explained

Plans for a football program at Catocin High School will be continued according to its new principal.

"I have no reason to object," Harper Long, who was appointed principal Tuesday in place of Howard B. Goodrich, said. "It is obvious the community is greatly interested in a program and with that interest it seems to be that football take place."

Long, who will not officially take command until Sept. 1, said he is currently waiting for a report from a school committee on football before progressing any further.

"The committee is currently working on questions that Mr. Goodrich and I gave them," the former vice principal at the school said. "When they are answered we will continue to work on the program. They are currently working at full speed."

According to Long there is a chance that he might send a letter to the Board of Education in September requesting football if the committee has its report ready soon. However, he does not think the school will be able to begin a program this fall.

"I am in favor of starting the football program as soon as all of the questions are answered," he said. "At this point we will not be able to start this year because I have yet to receive the committee report. The way it looks now it will probably be next fall when we begin the program."

According to Long, the school has still not hired a coach for a team and since all the positions at Catocin are filled it will have to be a man from a different school if football was started this year.

As vice principal at Catocin Long had become acquainted with the Catocin Boosters, the community organization which last June raised the money for football at the school.

The Boosters raised the needed $10,000 in a four month period.

Mayors To Review Building Code

The long-awaited building codes for Frederick County will be the main topic of discussion at a meeting Sept. 15 of the county commissioners and mayors of county municipalities.

A spokesman for the commissioners said the code committee, after two years work, has submitted recommendations on what codes should be adopted by the county to control the building trades.

After the meeting with the mayors the commissioners plan to hold three public meetings, one on each code, to let the general public speak their will on the subject.

The code committee was appointed by the commissioners on Nov. 21, 1967. It was charged "with the duty of presenting recommendations to the board regarding plumbing, electrical and building codes for Frederick County."

Vacation School Closes Tonight

The final program of the Vacation Church School of the Emmitsburg Council of Churches will be held tonight, Friday, August 29, in the Elias Lutheran Church Fellowship Hall at 8 p.m. Parents and friends of the members of the school are invited to view the exhibits of the handicrafts and other work done in the school between 7:30 and 8 p.m. in the downstairs room, and then attend the closing program. Refreshments will be served at the close of the evening and certificates of recognition of attendance and good work will be presented to the students in their own classrooms.

The program will consist of a devotional period and contributions by the various classes of some of the songs they have learned during the school period. The third and fourth grade class will sing "Beautiful Savior" in Japanese. They studied about Followers of Jesus in Japan. The first and second grade class will share a portion of their filmstrip, "We Would Follow Jesus," which tells about the establishment of a Day Care Center in a city church. A portion of the offering which has been given each night will go toward the Day Care Center in Emmitsburg which will open in the late fall in the old Mother Seton School. A visit to this building was made by the members of this class and the fifth and sixth grade class.

Other trips taken by the various classes were to the different churches of the community, to sick and shut-in members and friends and visits between classes to share some part of the program. Seventy children and seventeen helpers have had almost perfect attendance during these past two weeks which will come to a close tonight with the program at 8 p.m. You are invited to share this time with the children.

Taney Supply Holds Picnic

The employees of Taney Supply and Lumber Corporation and E. E. Glass, Incorporated, Taneytown, Md., held their sixth annual picnic at "Sunset Acres," the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eric E. Glass, Toms Creek Church Rd., near Emmitsburg on Sunday, Aug. 24.

The picnic was catered by the Savoy Catering Service, Waynesboro, Pa.

The buffet-style picnic started at 1:00 p.m. Southern fried chicken, baked ham, swedish meat balls and all the trimmings awaited all those who were hungry.

Someone suggested softball and suddenly the rival teams were at each other on the field.

Everyone agreed there should be a "time-out" for something cool and refreshing and a chance at the door prizes. Kim Glass, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glass drew for the men's door prize. It was won by Mr. Paul M. Sherfey. Karen, her younger sister, drew for the women. Not to be outdone, she drew Mrs. Paul M. Sherfey.

After the drawing a clay pigeon shoot was held. The top prize was won again this year by Clarence R. Stonesifer. Runner-up was Larry E. Baker. Mrs. Eric E. Glass, the only woman who participated in the shoot, received three cheers for each hit.

For those who stayed late, of the over 60 employees and their families who attended the picnic, shrimp was added to the evening menu.

Taney Supply and Lumber Corporation and E. E. Glass, Incorporated, are a brother-sister corporation, located on Feeser Road, near Taneytown.
