Most Anything At A Glance

- By Abigail -

The cost of living figures have again been revealed for the month and as per usual the news isn't good. Another half per cent has been tagged on most everything you buy. According to this trend, the cost of living has been rising just about 10% for the past several years. I suppose you noticed that your Thanksgiving bird cost you about 10c per pound more this year than last. With costs going up and employment going down, I'm afraid that we are headed on a very haphazardous course and that the pilot had better start mapping out a new course before disaster strikes. It is time now for the administration to step in and really do something about these conditions instead of rendering lip-service to the public.

Freezing weather is now upon us, as was evidenced this week when the old me staggered around in the cold teens several times this week. While winter doesn't officially arrive here until December 21 we already have had a good taste of it and what we have seen we don't particularly care too much for. However, I guess we might as well prepare for it because it appears it will be another long old hard winter and we still have a long way to go.

That daring attempt this week to rescue some of our prisoners of war over in Vietnam was a commendable action in a way but the prudence of the move is highly conjectural, especially since it has failed. An action of this type can look real good and perhaps bring on psychological stimulation, but on the other hand it could trigger off some real staggering escalation of the war which is the one thing we don't want at this time. It seems a shame that Congress, the Pentagon and the Administration can't get together and discuss these vital matters. As a matter of fact, Congress is complaining that it doesn't know what is going on until it has been read in the papers . . . the same as you and I, and this is not a healthy situation and could very easily wind up with someone sitting in the "hot seat" one of these days. Oh, for a little cooperation, just once!

Now that the Christmas lights have been erected for another Yuletide it is becoming more evident each year that something has to be done about the situation. The present decorations are about a dozen years old and were purchased second handed at that. They've had their day . . . they've had it! Either the Town must purchase new ones next year or some club or organization or organizations will have to take up the matter as a project. If memory serves me correctly, the present decorations were purchased by the now defunct local Jaycee Chapter at a cost of around $2,000. This money was raised by public subscription, through the merchants, individuals, clubs, etc. Take a good look at them folks and you'll see what I'm talking about really has some merit. So come the New Year, it is hoped that under new business some local organization will take up the project of providing new Christmas decorations for our lovely little town.

CARD PARTY

The public is invited to attend a card party Monday, Nov. 30 at 8 p. m. in Upper Dubois Lounge at St. Joseph College.

Sponsoring the card party is the Emmitsburg Club of the St. Joseph College Alumnae Assn.

Festivities will include card games ranging from bridge to canasta, door prizes and refreshments. Tickets to the card party are $1 per person.

Mount Forms Planning Committee

Mt. St. Mary's College is a liberal arts college for men with an enrollment of 1,100. What will it be like in 1980? How big should it be five years from now? What curriculum changes and new classroom techniques should be considered right now so that the Mount can keep pace with a rapidly changing society?

To search for answers to these questions and many more, the Board of Trustees has just organized a College Planning Committee headed by a trustee, Leo H. Barry, and composed of representatives of the college's major constituencies.

The 18-member group has been commissioned "to make an analytical review of the current philosophy and program of the college", and then to "draft a plan for submission to the Board of Trustees that defines institutional philosophy, mission and basic functions; and spells out in priority order the educational, physical and financial needs of the college for the decade ahead."

Dr. John J. Dillon, Jr., the college's executive vice president, will serve as vice chairman and head of on-campus steering committee.

A Vernon Davis, director of development and public relations, will serve as executive secretary. He also has been named executive director of the National Development Council, another new organization being formed by the Board of Trustees. Composed of alumni, friends and business leaders in various parts of the country, the National Development Council will be activated next spring, with its primary mission to help the Mount mobilize the support it will need to carry out the recommendations of the College Planning Committee.

Two trustees, eight administrators, four faculty members, two students and two alumni will compose the planning group.

In addition to Leo H. Barry, an attorney in Long Island City, N. Y., the trustees will be represented by Rev. Msgr. John J. McAnulty, pastor of St. Catherine Labourer Church in Harrisburg.

In addition to Dr. Dillon and Mr. Davis, the administrators are: Rev. Msgr. Hugh J. Phillips, college president; Rev. Harry J. Flynn, seminary rector; Bernard S. Kaliss, academic dean; Rev. Philip A. Barrett, treasurer; Rev. James M. Forker, dean of student affairs; and Eugene A. LaCroce, comptroller.

Faculty members are: Dr. Raymond R. Lauer, Dr. William G. Meredith, Dr. John L. Morrison, and Dr. Emile A. Nakhleh.

Two seniors represent the students: John T. Everett Jr. and Michael J. Knipping.

Rev. Charles J. Kelly, executive secretary of the National Alumni Assn., will represent the alumni until February when the national executive committee meets and elects two representatives.

Formation of the College Planning Committee, to define needs, and the National Development Council, to mobilize essential resources, is part of a major new development program at Mt. St. Mary's College. The program was sparked last June with the appointment of a three-man Trustees Development Committee headed by Thomas S. Hogan, an alumnus and an attorney in Providence, Rhode Island. The other members are James Kealy, Jr., prominent Baltimore builder; and Rev. Msgr. Oliver D. Keefer, Pittsburgh clergyman.

Nuns To Represent College At Meeting

Sister Marie Therese Eberhart, director of admissions, and Sister Felicia Dubovsky, registrar, both of St. Joseph College, will attend the 40th annual meeting of the Middle States Assn. of Collegiate Registrars and Officers of Admissions on December 1, 2, and 3. The meeting will be held at the Hotel Dennis in Atlantic City, N. J.

The regional meeting is scheduled in conjunction with the Middle States Assn. meeting. Exhibits, panel sessions, consultant services and a business meeting will complete the agenda.

Highlight of the program will be the lecture by Lloyd H. Elliott, president of George Washington University, on "Accreditation or Accountability: Must We Choose?"

Couple Observes 51st Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice A. Orndorff, 119 East Main St., celebrated their 51st wedding anniversary on November 25. They were married at St. Joseph's Catholic Church by the Rev. J. O. Hayden in 1919.

Wiley Williamson, Clarence, Sterling and Louis Orndorff.

The couple also has 37 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

They are enjoying good health and are still very active. Mr. Orndorff is the full-time custodian at Mother Seton Elementary School and a part-time fisherman. Mrs. Orndorff, in addition to being a housewife, does occasional volunteer work at the Seton Center in Emmitsburg.

Lions Work On Christmas Party

Plans for the annual Kiddies' Christmas Party were discussed at the regular meeting of the Emmitsburg Lions Club held Monday evening at Mt. Manor Restaurant, President J. Ralph McDonnell presiding.

Norman Flax, chairman of the Christmas Party, discussed the plans and said the event will take place on December 19. He announced his assistants who will sell advertising to help defray costs of the affair. Solicitors will be visiting local merchants for the next two weeks. Lions Floyd L. Lewis presented the treasurer's report and Secretary William H. Kelz read the minutes of the previous meeting.

Lion William Kelz gave a report on the recent zone meeting he attended at Yellow Springs. The club voted to have printed a standardized form which was devised by Lion Milton A. Sewell which would aid the investigation of bona fide requests for eyeglasses that are made to the club. President McDonnell announced that the District Governor would be a guest at the December 14 meeting.

Mount Runners Take Championship

Mount Saint Mary's College cross-country team capped a very successful season by capturing its second straight Mason-Dixon Conference championship last Saturday. With six of their top seven runners returning for next season, the Mountaineers' chances for a third consecutive title do not look bad at all.

Coach Frank Zarnowski's squad finished the year with an 8-4 mark. Two of the losses were at the hands of powerful Atlantic Coast Conference squads (North Carolina State and Maryland), and another came in a match when Zarnowski decided to run only freshmen.

Freshman Rob Shoop and junior John Nicoletti head the list of runners who will return for the Mountaineers next season. Shoop and Nicoletti finished two-three in Saturday's title run. The Mount's next three finishers were Captain Dick Rasmussen, sophomore Chet Bieganski and freshman Art Tolbert. Of the three only Rasmussen graduates.

Providing additional strength next year will be the two remaining members of this year's exceptionally strong freshman contingent, Mike Mahoney and Bill Reinert.

Community Chorus To Sell Trees; Continue Rehearsals

The Emmitsburg Community Chorus is busily preparing for the coming Holiday Season.

The presentation of Handel's "The Messiah" is scheduled for Sunday afternoon, December 13, at 3 o'clock, in DePaul Auditorium at St. Joseph College.

"The Messiah" is a traditional feature of the chorus, each year striving to make it more beautiful. Please plan to be with us.

The chorus is also in the midst of a financial drive as it is again selling Wolfgang's Candies for Christmas. If you wish to order candy, please call 447-2906 by December 5.

For the first time the chorus does have a record of its Spring Concert entitled, "The Emmitsburg Community Chorus Presents Haydn." This would make a lovely Christmas gift. Prize is $5.00. Contact any chorus member or purchase at Myers Radio and TV.

Christmas trees will be available after December 9 at the rear lot of the Emmitsburg Laundromat. Come early and get your choice of a beautiful tree.

Phon-o-Thon Nets College $17,000

The results of the 1970 Phon-o-thon at St. Joseph College are now official. The five-night session during which alumnae called class members asking for donations has been termed a success with the total in pledges over $17,000. In addition, a few hundred unspecified pledges are expected to be received. The overall total and average gift per caller is higher than the figures for the two previous phon-o-thons.

Three prizes were awarded each night for the highest money total for the Sisters, and for the relay callers, and for the greatest number of donations per caller. The winners were: Monday, Sister Margaret Hughes, Sr. Robertine Weiden, Mrs. John Umbel; Tuesday, Sr. Gertrude Matthews, Sr. Margaret Flinton, Mrs. Vincent Rybkowsky; Wednesday, Mrs. Russell Tontz, Mrs. James Conant, Sr. Marcella Scully; Thursday, Sr. Marcella Scully, Sr. Robertine Weiden, Mrs. Vincent Rybkowsky; Friday, Sr. Marcella Scully, Mrs. Alfred Saab, and Sister Margaret Dougherty, president of the college.

Catherine Zrebeck '71, Barbara Herbig '73, and Mary Ann Carter '72, served as pages to the callers.

State Police Chief Discusses Speed

Lt. Col. W. H. Weber, Deputy Superintendent of the Maryland State Police commenting on the review of traffic fatalities which occurred in Maryland during the week ending November 22, 1970, asked the motorists to "Let every no-accident day be a day of Thanksgiving."

Lt. Col. Weber noting the element of speed involved in ten of the twelve fatalities said, "There is a point above which speed does not pay; where it begins to exact its price. The point of diminishing returns is reached when speed passes beyond the limit of the driver's normal ability to handle his car safely—whether these limitations arise from poor roads, bad weather conditions, poor car equipment, traffic impediment—or just from the natural failure of the human being who sits behind the wheel."

Lt. Col. Weber concluded, "To push the accelerator beyond the point of safety means that the danger of accident increases with astonishing rapidity, curves become harder to negotiate safely, and minimum stopping distances are stretched to the danger point."

PROMOTED TO SERGEANT

Donald B. Byard, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald B. Byard, 298 S. Seton Ave., Emmitsburg, Md., has been promoted to sergeant in the U. S. Air Force.

Sergeant Byard is an instructor for the communications equipment repairman course at Keesler AFB, Miss.

A 1964 graduate of Saint Joseph High School, he received his B.S. degree in education from Mount Saint Mary's College.

His wife, Patricia, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bowersox, Jr., 24 Running Bump, Lancaster, Pa.

Seton Center Completes Year; Faces Financial Problems

Seton Center in Emmitsburg celebrated its first birthday on Sunday, Nov. 15. The staff, children, parents and volunteer workers from the community gathered at the day-care center to present a program describing activities during its first year of operation.

The Center opened with an enrollment of 20 children on November 3, 1969. It has now expanded to care for more than 60 youngsters ages two to six, the majority of whom come from low-income homes in Emmitsburg and the surrounding area. Working parents often drop children at the Center as early as 6 a. m. The day's activities include a variety of developmental tasks and happy learning experiences. Active play is balanced with quiet periods. Many of the younger children take afternoon naps, each on his own canvass cot. A nourishing lunch is served at noon-time and for children with a late pick-up, there is an afternoon snack.

Seton Center is staffed by qualified people who have the avowed purpose of bringing personal warmth as well as professional know-how to their work. Sister Mary Joseph, M.S. in Social Work, and Sister Grace, M.S. in Early Childhood Education, form the administrative staff. Five teachers, assisted by five trained aides, guide the children in both group and individual learning.

About 50 volunteers from the community supplement the regular staff at Seton Center. At Sunday's anniversary program, Sue Koch of St. Joseph College and James Tucker of Mt. St. Mary's Seminary, spoke on "What Seton Center Means to Me". Michael Haast, a psychology major at Mt. St. Mary's College told of the rewarding "sense of community" which he had needed and has found in his work with the children. "This is where it's at," he said.

Mrs. Raymond Springer, a working Emmitsburg mother with two children enrolled at Seton Center, spoke on behalf of the parents of the northern Frederick County community. She said she had consulted with another mother about the talk she was to give at the program and the one best word they could find to describe the Center and the influence it has had on their families is "marvelous".

During its first year Seton Center has grown not only in numbers but in range of activities. During the past summer 30 school children came to the Center for a six-weeks' program of remedial classroom work, plus stimulating trips to nearby points of interest. Twenty-five teen-agers from the community, some volunteer and some paid by the Neighborhood Youth Corps Program, assisted with this project. Activities which involved parents—picnics, a sing-in, a watermelon cutting—were successfully sponsored by the Center on pleasant summer evenings.

September saw the beginning of an Adult Education Program. Each Monday and Wednesday evening, about 10 adult students meet at the Center with a teacher provided by the Frederick County Board of Education. Enough volunteer instructors come to each session from St. Joseph Provincial House and from Mother Seton School to place the teaching on a one-to-one basis which is considered ideal for adult learning.

Seton Center has also organized a "Thrift Shop" in two of its classrooms. Good used clothing is sorted, cleaned, mended and offered at minimal prices. Customers may include anyone in the area as well as families directly connected with the Center.

Seton Center's first year has not been without problems. The facility is located in the former Mother Seton School just south of Emmitsburg on Business Rt. 15. Although ideal in location, size and surroundings, the 16 classroom building had been unused for five years and was badly in need of cleaning and renovating. In addition, all sorts of equipment from soupbowl to educational toys to gym sets—was needed if the Center was to function adequately. Some of these necessities have been supplied piecemeal from a tight budget, some constructed by volunteer hands, some donated by friends.

Lack of funds remains a serious problem at Seton Center. Although parents pay for day-care on a sliding scale geared to their earnings, the Center has operated to date at a loss. The Daughters of Charity at Emmitsburg make up the deficit at present but Sister Mary Joseph says she cannot count on this money indefinitely. She feels that State or Federal Funds must be forthcoming if the Center is to survive. Efforts to obtain such funds have so far proved discouraging despite the fact that Seton Center serves low-income families in the area regardless of race, color or creed.

Appeals of funding at the local level have also met with a negative response, simply that no funds are at present available in Frederick County. Despite these setbacks in obtaining urgently needed money for operational expenses, the staff is hopeful that either public or private grants will somehow materialize so that serve and to grow as a focus of Seton Center may continue to community activity in Emmitsburg.

Co-ordinator Is Pleased With Local Senior Citizens Center Operation

Tuesday, November 17, thirty Emmitsburg Senior Citizens met at 7:30 p.m. in the Center for the regular monthly meeting, which opened with prayer by Sister Juliana, followed by singing of one verse of "America the Beautiful."

Treasurer, Louis Stoner, gave a report of the Fall Bazaar held Nov. 14, which was most gratifying, having cleared something over $600.00.

Mrs. Lester Nester, secretary, read a report of the Board meeting held at the Center on Monday, Nov. 16. Besides the report as given by the treasurer, it was recorded that the Board contemplated having a turkey dinner for the February meeting.

A brief report by Mrs. Charlotte Eyster on a meeting held in Frederick with the other chairmen and coordinators from County Senior Citizens Clubs. Mrs. Kufusz, State Chairman, was present and discussed problems and progress of the various clubs, which proved most informative to both Mrs. Eyster and Mrs. McNair, the Coordinator. Mrs. Kufusz seemed pleased with the progress of the Emmitsburg Club.

The Board announced that the fiscal year for the Club would be from January 1 to December 31, from now on.

Firemen Plan Evening Of Games

The Vigilant Hose Co. will sponsor a 50-50 "corn" game in the Fire Hall on Saturday, December 5, starting at 7:30 p.m.

Refreshments will be on sale, and the general public is cordially invited and urged to attend.

Will Hold "Visiting Day"
 St. Joseph College will hold a "visiting day" for prospective students on Saturday, December 12. Each month interested high school students are invited by the Admissions Office to visit campus. They receive a guided tour of the campus, visit the departments they're interested in, lunch with St. Joseph's students, and have an interview with an admissions officer.

For more information or an appointment on visiting day, write or call, Director of Admissions, St. Joseph College, Emmitsburg, Maryland 21727.

Professor Recognized
 Professor William R. Etchison of the Mount Saint Mary's College Fine Arts Department will appear in the forthcoming "Who? in Asian Studies." "Who? in Asian Studies" will recognize all people who are engaged in the teaching, research, and administration of Asian Studies at American universities and colleges. Professor Etchison teaches a Far Eastern course at the Mount.

Mount Saint Mary's is one of the few small liberal arts colleges that offers such a course.

COMPLAINANT

JAMES M. SELBY
Box 1087
Fort Myers, Florida
DEFENDANT

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this proceeding is to procure a divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONII from the Defendant, James M. Selby, and for the care and custody of the infant child, namely James Michael Selby, and for such other and further relief as the nature of her case may require.

The Bill states in substance, that the Complainant is a resident of Frederick County, State of Maryland, and has been so for more than one year last past; while the Defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland and that the last known address of the Defendant is Box 1087, Fort Myers, Florida, he now being incarcerated at the Lee County Jail in Fort Myers, Florida, awaiting Trial on certain criminal charges that have been brought against him; that your Complainant was married to the Defendant at Frederick, Maryland, on April 2, 1965, by Rev. Charles F. Trunk, Jr., a regularly ordained Minister of the Gospel; that as a result of said marriage one child was born, namely, James Michael Selby, age 4, who is at present living with the Complainant and whose care and custody the Complainant seeks; the Bill further alleges that ever since the said marriage the Complainant has always conducted herself as a kind, chaste, dutiful and affectionate wife towards the Defendant, James M. Selby, and that the Defendant, James M. Selby, between the time of the said marriage and the filing of the Bill of Complaint, has committed the crime of adultery with a certain Bonnie Willard, to all of which the Affidavit is made.

It is thereupon this 12th day of November, 1970, by the Circuit Court for Frederick County, in Equity, ORDERED, that the Complainant, by causing a copy of this Order of Publication to be published for at least four successive weeks prior to the 19th day of December, 1970, in some newspaper published in Frederick County, Maryland, giving notice to the Defendant, James M. Selby, of the object and substance of this Bill of Complaint and warning him to be and appear in this Court either in person or by Solicitor on or before the 19th day of January, 1971, to show cause, if any he has, why the relief sought should not be granted.

—George Washington
Since 1965 the United States has sought to establish world peace by disarming unilaterally. Some of the most knowledgeable military minds in America have warned that this is a suicidal course. The Soviet Union has taken advantage of our disarmament and has built itself into what most experts believe to be the mightiest military power on earth; with the U. S. relegated to No. 2. The politically influential Washington POST, which for years has discounted the threat of mounting Soviet might, carried three long articles on a recent Sunday categorically reporting on America's "shrinking" power and the Soviets' ascendancy in nuclear warfare.

Since 1965 Soviet Russia has increased the size of its Navy tremendously. It now has 350 submarines (largest submarine fleet in world history), 24 cruisers with nuclear missile armament, 35 guided-missile and 50 gun-armed destroyers (all with the Styx missile available) and 100 destroyer escorts. There are more than 1,000 auxiliary naval vessels. Missile-carrying elements of the Soviet fleet now range out of bases in Cuba up and down our Atlantic coast, and their new "Yankee" class nuclear-power submarines are known to hold the entire Pacific coast in their periscope sights constantly.

Sitting Ducks

"Today," Chairman Mendel Rivers of the House Armed Services Committee warns Americans, "The Soviets can launch over 200 ballistic missiles from their nuclear-powered submarines. . . . Further, most of our major cities are close to our coasts within short range of their potential submarine stations. Thus they can launch their attacks with little time for us to react before being hit."

The United States, for years operating on a foreign policy that practiced unilateral disarmament, today has 147 submarines, 88 of them nuclear-powered. We have built none since 1965. More than 80 percent of the U. S. naval ships are 10 years old; 50 percent are 20 years. The U. S. has nothing comparable to the Russian Styx missile with which all Soviet vessels, no matter how small, can become death-dealing launching platforms.

The SS-9

Since 1965 the Soviet Union has tripled its inventory of strategic offensive nuclear weapon launchers—from 500 to 1700. Two hundred heavy bombers have been added to the H-bomb carrying fleet. There has been no increase in America's missile capacity; and a drop of 180 in our arsenal of heavy bombers. In this same period Russia has built more than 200 of the monster SS-9 missiles (capable of 25 megaton H-bombs — of which the U.S.A. has none). These 200-plus Soviet SS-9 missiles by themselves can deliver a larger nuclear warhead load than all the U. S. capacity combined! And the United States has no counterpart to the SS-9.

The Soviet Union has been building two new delivery systems—the Depressed Trajectory ICBM System, and the Fractional Orbital Bombardment System (FOBS). Our military intelligence reports indicate both systems are operational. FOBS vehicles are built to range through space, and at the command of Soviet technicians in Russia, to spray down upon the U. S. a shower of multi-headed H-bomb missiles. The Depressed Trajectory ICBM System is designed to permit nuclear bombing of the U. S. on a trajectory that would escape any defense system.

Are You Interested?

In military research and development the Soviets now are spending $17 billion a year, compared to $13 billion by our nation's defense establishment. The Soviet Bomber fleet is considered four years ahead of ours; and the Soviet Union has a lead of at least 8 years in the development of the defensive ABM capability.

The National Security Council's National Strategy Committee, a civilian group which includes most of the military leaders who have recently retired, has drawn up a table which shows: USSR Delivery Vehicles (nuclear war-heads), 3,500; U. S., 2,260. Megatonnage deliverable, USSR 10,330; U. S. 1,730.

And this final warning from Chairman Rivers: "We are in a far more serious situation than many would have you believe. Our way of life is not only being challenged from within, it is being very definitely threatened from without." Your governmental representatives who can change this frightening situation are your congressmen, your Senators, and the President. What are you telling them to do?

Garden Club

Holds Meeting

The Silver Fancy Garden Club met on November 19 at the Victor Cullen School for Boys to conduct a Christmas Decorations Work Shop. Several of the boys participated in the work shop and showed much enthusiasm for the project and expressed a desire to teach others what they had learned. Mr. Frank Fisher, Grounds Supervisor, expressed appreciation for what the Club is doing for the School. The Club members were invited to lunch at the School.

Mrs. Robert Cingan, president of the Club, called a short business meeting. Mrs. Keith Brown and Mrs. Neil Hawk, committee in charge of the Christmas Party, reported that the party will be held on December 17th at 1 p.m., at the new club house at Charitara. Gifts will be exchanged.

Capitol Comment

By Charles McC Mathias
U.S. Senator

Electoral College Presents A Danger to America

Close your eyes for a minute and imagine that a man is standing on the steps of the United States Capitol in Washington taking the oath of office as President of the United States. But ye' while he takes the oath, that man and all the rest of the 200 million Americans know that another man was actually the choice of the majority of the voters. Imagine the difficulties that such a President would face as he attempted to lead the American people from the White House seat that a majority had declared belonged to another man. Imagine the personal difficulty he would feel as well as the practical political difficulties that would inevitably follow a man who was elected according to the rules of the game but was not in fact the leader of the American people.

It was to prevent this kind of modern tragedy that many members of the Senate, of whom I was one, attempted to bring some kind of electoral reform before the Senate for a vote. If the proposition had succeeded there, it would have been sent to the legislatures of the states for adoption as a new amendment to the United States Constitution. I believe the fact that the Senate did not vote on this matter represents a real danger to the country. In the past several years, several of our Presidents have been chosen by less than a majority of the vote. President Nixon received substantially less than a majority of the vote but because the presence of the third party candidate, he was the winner of more votes than any other contender. So we can clearly say that President Nixon is the popularly elected leader of the nation. But with the advent of a third party movement and with the splintering of American public opinion it is more and more likely that a close three-way election could develop in which a majority of the electoral vote would be cast for a candidate who was not the people's choice. Such an event would be a disaster for the Republic. It is shameful that the rules of the Senate prevented a clear cut vote on this issue. Electoral reform is undoubtedly going to be one of the crucial decisions that the American people will have to make in the decade of the Seventies. Reform of the Electoral College has been discussed and debated for many years. It has been requested by President Nixon. This issue must be settled now if we are to have a sane and sensible future for our government. I shall continue to press for reform in the procedure for electing the President of the United States.

FOOTNOTES: In his television address on Indo-China, President Nixon indicated that the United States will demonstrate a flexible stance in seeking to bring a successfully negotiated settlement to this long war. Particularly encouraging was his offer of a standstill ceasefire, similar to a proposal I advanced last June, and his offer to negotiate a withdrawal timetable, an element which I have long felt to be essential to any final solution. Perhaps more important than any specific was the atmosphere of flexibility which I hope will be recognized. . . . The House passed on a voice vote the bill cosponsored by Reps. J. Glenn Beall and Gilbert Gude and myself to establish a Chesapeake & Ohio Canal National Historic Park along the Potomac River from Washington to Cumberland. I have urged the Senate Subcommittee on National Parks to hold a prompt hearing so the bill can be acted on by the Senate before Congress adjourns. . . . The Senate passed unanimously a comprehensive drug abuse prevention and control bill which I supported in committee and on the floor. President Nixon has nominated State Senator Louis Gore of Potomac, a U.S. member of the Executive Board of the United Nations Education, Scientific and Cultural Organization, with the rank of ambassador. . . . An amendment I offered to the legislative reorganization bill which would have provided for the election of Senate committee chairmen and ranking minority members was defeated, 23-44. I supported passage of the final version of the reorganization bill.

Frederick County Backgrounds

The Horners and Their Inter marriages

Inter marriage and more inter marriage seems to have bound many of the old Piney Creek families together. Due to the fact that the early church records have been "lost, strayed or stolen," the gravestones often give the only proof of relationship. The Galts, Barrs, McKinnys, McAllisters, and Horners — in the Evergreen Cemetery, Gettysburg, Pa.—at least—have one burial lot. At Piney Creek they are also interred but not together. Each family seems to have had their own plot.

Recently in this column some notes on the Horner family, of Piney Creek, were given. It will be remembered that Smith (4) Barr married Harriet Horner. The former was the son of James (3) and Margaret (Hunter) Barr.

Alexander (2) Horner was twice married—first to . . . (?) McAllen—and after her death in 1806 he married Mrs. Sarah Marshall. To the first union six children were born—to the second four.

The "issue" of Alexander (2) and Sarah (Marshall) Horner were as follows:

1. George Washington (3) Horner—married into the McCullough family of Lower Marsh Creek—emigrated to Virginia in 1850.

2. Mary Jane (3) Horner—married Samuel Durborow, Esq.

3. David Witherow (3) Horner—lived on the old Horner homestead in Mount Joy Township, Adams County, Pennsylvania. Married, on June 30, 1840, to Susan Robinson of Carroll County, Maryland. They were the parents of ten children—as follows:

1. Major O. Alexander (4) Horner—married first a daughter of the Rev. Robert Smith Grier and after her death a daughter of the Annan family. Interred in Tom's Creek Presbyterian churchyard, near Emmitsburg, Maryland. Major O. A. (4) Horner was a veteran of the Civil War.

2. Theodore (4) Horner — no further data at this time.

3. Winfield (4) Horner — a resident of Gettysburg for many years.

4. Witherow (4) Horner — no further data at this time.

5. Virginia S. M. (4) Horner—died unmarried and interred at Piney Creek. The inscription follows:

7. "In memory of Virginia S. M. Horner, Born April 19, 1848, Died December 7, 1879, Aged 31 years, 7 months and 18 days."

6. Annie (4) Horner—no additional data at this time.

7. Caroline (4) Horner — no further information at this time.

8. Belle (4) Horner—no further information at this time.

David Witherow (3) Horner and his wife, Susan (Robinson) Horner, along with several of their children, who died in infancy, are buried in Piney Creek churchyard. The inscriptions follow:

8. "In memory of David W. Horner, Born May 24, 1815, Died May 14, 1887, Aged 71 years, 11 months and 20 days."

NOTE: Beside the grave marker of David Witherow (3) Horner is the remains of another tombstone. Of this only the base remains—the other section has completely disappeared. This undoubtedly marked the grave of Susan (Robinson) Horner, the wife of David Witherow (3) Horner.

9. "In memory of J. Quinsey Robertson, son of David W. and Susan Horner, Born May 18, 1858, Died December 6, 1860, Aged 1 year, 6 months and 12 days."

10. "In memory of An Infant Son of David W. and Susan Horner." (No dates or age given—the child probably died at birth).

4. Alexander Love (3) Horner, fourth and last child born to Alexander (2) Horner by his second marriage to Sarah Marshall, was married, in 1850, to Louisa Agnew, of Emmitsburg, Maryland. After the death of his first wife, Alexander Love (3) Horner was married, for the second time, to Thompsey Robinson, a sister of his brother's (David Witherow (3) Horner) wife. Three children were born to the first union and two to the second.

It will be remembered that Alexander (2) Horner was twice married. Six children were born to the first union—several of whom are interred in Piney Creek churchyard.

1. Eli (3) Horner — married first, in 1821, to Maria McKee, who died in 1823 leaving one son, who died a year or two later.

Eli (3) Horner moved to Cumberland Township, Adams County, Pennsylvania, in 1822. In 1824 he was married, for the second time, to Miss Jane Dinwiddie. Four children were born to this union—as follows:

1. Newton (4) Horner — married Miss Caroline Waybright.

2. Maria (4) Horner—married Ross White.

3. Harriett (4) Horner — married Smith Barr—both interred in the Evergreen Cemetery at Gettysburg, Pennsylvania.

4. Jane (4) Horner — married Robert McIlhenny.

Jane (Dinwiddie) Horner, second wife of Eli (3) Horner, died in 1839, and her "bereaved husband" soon married again — for the third time. The bride on this occasion was Miss Sophia Agnew, of Emmitsburg, Maryland. Three children were born to this marriage—as follows:

1. Louise (4) Horner—no further data at this time.

2. Lucinda (4) Horner — no additional information at this time.

3. Mary (4) Horner—no further data at this time.

Eli (3) Horner and two of his wives are interred in Piney Creek churchyard. The inscriptions follow:

10. "In memory of Eli Horner, Born February 26, 1796, Died November 25, 1878, Aged 82 years, 8 months and 27 days."

11. "In memory of Maria Horner, Died July 27, 1823, Aged 22 years."

12. "In memory of Jane C. Horner, Died August 10, 1839, Aged 24 years."

2. Eliza Love (3) Horner, the second child of Alexander (2) Horner and his first wife — born February 1798—no further information at this time.

The historical and genealogical notes pertaining to the Horner-Barr-McAllister, McKinney families will be continued in this series next week.

It's a mistake to believe that it may damage the tires and make lower tire pressure makes driving on slippery roads easier, says the AAA Automobile Club of Maryland. Lowered tire pressure does not increase traction, and steering more difficult.

Enlightening Hints On Lightening Hair

What's the status symbol of the international jet set? Sun-streaked hair, of course. And why is it a status symbol? Because it takes hours and days of loafing and playing in the sun to get that look. And—we all know this type of activity isn't something ordinary gals have either the time or the money to do.

That sun-kissed, sun-streaked hair look is a truly great look this summer, and now it can be duplicated by any woman, even if she's never flown in a prop plane, let alone a jet!

Sun In by Toni is a unique hair lightener that uses the natural effects of the sun to gradually lighten hair. Just dampen your hair, spray it on, comb through and go sit in the sun. You'll find your hair gradually and naturally lightening to give you that pampered sun-streaked look.

If you want to lighten your hair, but sun is at a premium, you can achieve the same effect simply by using a hair dryer. Spray on Sun In, then sit under your dryer until dry.

You'll soon be looking like you've spent the winter cruising the Aegean on a Greek shipping magnate's yacht, or sitting out the spring on a sunny Riviera beach. But most of all, you certainly won't look like you spent only an hour or two sitting in your back yard or on your porch.

"Good Shoes Or Bust"

When you think of shoes, do bras also come to mind? No? Well, think again because these two feminine accessories do indeed have similar attributes. Or so says Charles Stix, the fearless president of the Selby Shoe Company.

Shopping for shoes, one looks for fit, comfort and support, the same qualities one requires of a bra. Fashion, too, is always uppermost in mind when selecting either a bra or a pair of shoes.

To prove his point, surveys were conducted in Selby stores in key cities around the country. Ninety percent of the women interviewed agreed with him . . . a good shoe is like a good bra. Find out for yourself if you agree or disagree by answering the same thought-provoking questions which were asked in the various stores.

1. Do you like the shape of your feet (bust)?
2. Do you think shoes (bras) make your feet (bust) look prettier?
3. Do you think men notice women's feet (bust)?
4. Do you think shoes (bras) are sexy?
5. Do you always take the same shoe (bra) size?

6. Which is more important to you, the styling or fit of a shoe (bra)?

7. If you could find a fashionable shoe or bra which would fit well and wear well too, would you be willing to pay more for it, and if so, how much? $3 - $5 - $10 - twice the price?

Mr. Stix developed his theory further and began applying it to his own company. It must have made some sense because Selby won the recognition of the American Designers Awards in May of this year, an award given to designers and American shoe manufacturers who combine good design, technical know-how and American tanned leathers to create well styled, high quality leather footwear. The hypothesis would seem to hold.

Buses Undergo Rigid Inspection

What local transportation operation carries 14,000 individual passengers and logs 6500 miles each day? If your answer was the Transportation Department of the Board of Education of Frederick County, you may go to the head of the class. In round numbers, these are the actual statistics of the operation of that department as it transports children to the public and parochial schools of the county.

With an operation of such magnitude it would seem evident that safety must be one of the foremost concerns and this is very much the case. A number of components of school bus safety exist, including operation selection and training, pupil conduct, and public education in the observance of regulations. All of these are important factors and come in for their share of attention; but of prime concern, is the condition of the vehicles themselves, in this case the 170 buses in daily use transporting students.

All of these buses, which include 102 county and 68 contract or owned vehicles, are inspected three times each year to determine that they meet the rigid standards of safety required by state law, insurance regulations, and local directives.

The three inspections for the year are recorded on the same copy of a State of Maryland Department of Motor Vehicles, School Bus Inspection Form which has space for three inspections. The form divides the vehicle inspection into seven general areas: Lights, Front End, Exhaust System, Brakes, Emergency Equipment, Under Hood, and General. Each general classification is broken down into as many specific items as are required. To be inspected under the general heading of Front End, for example, are listed: Drag Link, King Pins and Bushings or Upper and Lower Ball Joints, Power Steering Mechanism and Hoses, Steering Gear Box, Steering Column Bracket, Tie Rods, and Wheel Bearings. Similar listings under the other main headings result in a total of 65 separate items to be checked. Twenty-three of these items are starred on the form and a deficiency in one of these areas requires immediate suspension of license tags until corrected. The starred items include all of the Front End check points, all items pertaining to brakes, three of five items pertaining to the exhaust systems and eight others including: warning flashers, gas leaks, defrosters, doors, tires and wheel lug nuts, and windshield wipers.

Each inspection is witnessed and verified by the signature of a Department of Motor Vehicles Officer. If repairs are required, the repairing mechanic must sign and affix the company name and date.

In addition to these formal inspections, of course, individual drivers report discrepancies observed during operation or during pre-operation checks.

From the standpoint of the attention paid to vehicle condition, the average student is far safer riding in a school bus than in the family car, inasmuch as Maryland law requires a formal inspection only upon change of ownership of a private vehicle. The most recent statistics available from the National Safety Council also bear this out nation wide. The fatality rate for a child in a passenger miles. For school buses the corresponding figure is .06 or 1/40 the rate for automobiles.

NOT A PRICELESS INGREDIENT

BETTER BUSINESS

BY W. POST

THE "OLD MAN" HAD THE ANSWER

For the past year or so, business managers have been creating methods to increase input in lieu of increasing output. It's a need, they say, that hasn't existed in such dramatic form since "the old man put the business together."

There's only one kind of input that guarantees results. It's called manpower. Advertising, can get prospects to raise their hands if they're interested. But, it takes a warm body out where the action is to sign 'em up. That's where input manpower belongs.

Some might say, business hasn't been doing well lately; so, get better input power. Well, it's not easy to find, and training programs cost a lot of money. By properly equipping the present manpower more business can be created—on a much broader scale—in less time.

To do this management must look behind an accounting blind-spot. It's a blind-spot called leasing.

During the soaring sixties, leasing equipment like a business plane was looked upon as a financial dodge. One that might cost more in a few years than if you bought the equipment outright. Today, that kind of thinking is like debating whether to wait until your own phone is hooked-up—or, to use a handy pay phone—to report a "little" fire in your house.

Leasing, can be a way of getting two dollars worth of work out of one. And, getting it right now. Leasing can be a way of renting a competitive edge. Once a businessman sees the potential in leasing, his problems of improving input manpower almost solve themselves.

Helping the input man do his job better is quite basic. Increase his ability to make more direct contacts with prospects, just as the "old man" did. Face to face contacts. In the "old man's" day there was time for input manpower to make contact by mail. Or, by phone. Now, even hopping an airliner won't save enough time. And, it won't give him that competitive edge. Today's best input man needs to get there and back, fast.

One of the nation's business-jet manufacturers, North American Rockwell, recently made a major change in their sales approach to attract businessmen to their planes. They recognized leasing as a major tool of modern business. They offer their 560 mile an hour Sabreliner business jets to firms that need to improve input. Companies that want to get growing again lease these jets by the year, monthly, or even by the week.

Leasing sales aids, like Sabreliners, may be a new idea to some people in industry. Others, however, have learned when times are tough, they benefit by blending an old idea like leasing with a modern business tool like a jet. They wind up getting their input power in high gear.

Yes, the "old man" knew that action takes place where the rubber meets the road. He knew when you have a production problem you call the best output man and give him lot's of elbow room. Today, when you need to generate sales, call on your input man. And, if you can't buy him a competitive edge, lease it for him.

Trouble On The Energy Front

By Babson's Reports Inc., Wellesley Hills, Mass., November 26, 1970—There is today considerable apprehension that this country may be approaching an energy crisis, mainly in oil, natural gas, and coal. These three still provide more than 90% of our energy requirements, nuclear power notwithstanding.

Where the coming winter turns out to be other than mild, some fuel users will experience inconvenience, if not discomfort. Many large commercial and municipal users have already had difficulty negotiating fuel contracts, and some suppliers of natural gas will take on no new customers and will probably ration others at times. With all three basic fuels under simultaneous pressure from demand and anti-pollution factions, production or import incentives may have to be revised to get the fuel needed to keep industry on the upswing.

Turning Down The Gas

Once "flared" or burned off as a by-product of oil exploration, natural gas is now a major element. Western gas producers have been able to reach the Eastern market by way of the nation's vast network of pipelines. Even as we speak of a gas shortage, we know there are vast untapped sources of gas in this country.

Answer to this contradiction lies in the fact that regulated pricing of gas has made it uneconomic for producers to tap new fields. One move being studied to help the situation has to do with the gas which has been discovered (along with oil) on the Alaskan North Slope. The most feasible means of removing this gas may be by pipeline from the Slope, across Canada to the "Lower 48" via one of at least four pipeline routes currently under study.

A Soft Situation

Meanwhile, why are we suffering a shortage of coal? With air pollution becoming a steadily more popular cause in recent years, many industrial and utility plants have been pressured out of using coal and toward other fuels. Many marginal mines have been closed down and, with nuclear power supposedly just around the corner, few new coal operations have been opened.

Much of our coal output has been contracted for export at high prices. Thus, those who still burn coal must buy domestic supplies at virtually prohibitive prices. One user estimates cost at $20 a ton this year, up from $14.55 last year. Federal safety regulations, expensive to implement, are partly responsible for this spectacular price jump. In fact, as far as coal is concerned, it is more a matter of high prices than of basic shortage.

Distant Oil Fields

Oil, the third energy source, is also expected to be in short supply, near term. Mid-east disruptions, tanker shortages, and required use of low-sulfur oil to curb pollution have distorted the picture. Alaskan oil is plentiful, but this black gold will not be marketed for several years. Offshore Indonesia is showing its potential as an oil-producing region, with much of its output slated for Japan. The North Sea between Norway and Scotland also has tremendous promise. Major finds have been made in this area, and production and transport to European markets should not pose insurmountable problems.

A Favored Few

At the present time the staff of the Research Department of Babson's Reports is favorably disposed toward certain petroleum companies: Cities Service, Continental Oil, and Standard Oil of California. These firms all have interests in the energy elements discussed in this article, and in the regions mentioned. It should be noted, also, that they are involved with other natural resources as well. Babson's Research staff also looks with favor on some of the natural gas pipeline companies, including Tenneco and a regional outfit of considerable promise, Florida Gas.

Concert Tickets On Sale

Tickets are on sale for the National Shrine Children's Choir Concert to be held December 9 at 8 p.m. at Thomas Johnson High School.

They are available from students attending St. John's grade school, high school, as well as those attending the School of Religion.

The choir, formerly known as the Washington Children's Choir, is composed of children from 6 to 13 years of age from in and around Washington, D. C. Their repertoire will include numbers from Bach to Gershwin.

The Frederick Christmas Concert will be their only local appearance.

If this is the year of women's liberation then what do we call what's happening to men's wear? If ever freedom rang, this is it! Men are discovering that somewhere over the rainbow great never-before colors abound. They're snapping up the new shades in clothes by the same designers women have always thought were theirs for keeps. Even knits are becoming part of everyman's wardrobe. I think we have to face it, gals. There's a revolution in men's wear all right... but you know something? The guys look great! Take the no-suit suit shown here. One of the remarkable things about it is the acrylic and silk blend that's been knitted and COIN bonded to 100% acetate tricot by Guilford Fabrics. That's right—COIN bonded. Like many another fabulous find we gals like to call our own, the bonding revolution has come to men's wear. How else could these Viceroy Sportswear knits stand up from 9 to 5 and on through a man-sized weekend? The COIN process keeps their shape in while it keeps the fabric permanently bonded. COIN guarantees it with a special hangtag on every garment. Another plus for these new knits is how they lend themselves to fashion individuality. Ram Leather's headband has been added here along with a super polo belt.

"Fall Is Color!" Every season has its special colors and believe me, Fall 1970 is no exception. As the American designers see it, the colors to wear are rusts, browns, beiges, red-browns, and on through red-purple.

Every one is vibrant. The fabrics are fabulous—textures and tweeds that are beautifully suited to the new mid-length. It feels like fall just to look at them, as I did recently at the American Designers' Show in New York.

Now where does your makeup fit in? The transition can be as gradual as you'd like it to be. But color is on its way! Many new lip and nail shades are transparent, which means that the color is soft, subtle and totally flattering. The shade that looks like 1920's ruby red in the tube is actually just a glistening blush of color on your lips. Try it, and I think you'll find it's totally right for you, now.

Your eyes, too, must be accentuated as you go into fall. Try the new smudge effect—rich brown or deep plum shades applied over eyelids and up, extending out along the crease. You can even experiment with that same smudge underneath your lower lashes. Extend blusher from side of nose to temples. Practice until you've found your own interpretation of today's new way with color. Glamorous, elegant—what a great way to face fall!

Out with the khaki's and sweat shirts, mom. That's not the stuff little boys are made of this year. Now is the time for youngsters to go from ragamuffins to riches with an array of fashion apparel just like the teenagers are wearing.

From all appearances the little ones like the new look as much as their mothers. What fellow would want to wear a traditional suit when he can don this spiffy vest suit instead? There's more to this suit than meets the eye too. Elegmi Heir has designed it in 100% acrylic COIN bonded fabric woven by Dorman Mills. That's the same dependable bonding smart mothers look for in their own clothes. Now it's available in children's wear, and welcome it is too. COIN bonded fabrics are the permanently bonded fabrics that never pull apart—not even under a boy's wear and tear. No matter how often the garment has to be cleaned, the COIN process is so effective, it's guaranteed. The hangtag on every garment tells you how this consumer guarantee works. Read it next time you're shopping. You'll see that getting boy-proof value as well as fashion for your money is as easy as A-B-C!

CHILD'S PLAY BY BARBARA ALLEN

SIMPLE GAMES ARE BEST Have you ever seen children sitting around trying to decipher rules for a game? Not for long, you haven't. If they can't grasp the idea quickly, they will almost surely lose interest.

The guideline to remember in selecting a game for your children is—make sure it provides instant involvement.

Many parents have learned the hard way. They search for the biggest, most complex game with the greatest number of pieces. When they bring it home they are treated to the unhappy sight of watching their puzzled children spend two minutes trying to determine what it takes to win—then giving up. Rather than lose by default, mom or dad may be tempted to spend time supervising play until the rules are understood. That's not a good idea. It would be better to allow the children to make up their own rules. The game will be just as enjoyable. Better still—get a game that is easily understood, provides for at least two to four players, and can be completed in a few minutes.

Ideal Toys this year has introduced a series of games that fit all these criteria. Buckaroo, a weight balancing game with exciting action, Sure Shot basketball, baseball and hockey games, which even a sport novice can enjoy, and Wristle Around are part of the broad line that can be found in almost any toy department. These games can be played and enjoyed by children in a wide age range. Which brings up another parental pitfall.

Many manufacturers put recommended age ranges on their products. Remember, that's a guide, not a rule. Parents are the best judges of their child's mental age and play interest. Buy accordingly.

Join Ideal's new S.T.A.R. TEAM Club and get official membership card, ring, jacket patch, space map and map case, by sending $1 to S.T.A.R. TEAM Command, P.O. Box 612, Rosemont, Minn. 55068, or pick up membership blanks at your local toy dealer.

The 6-cent commemorative stamps honoring the 50th anniversary of the Disabled American Veterans organization and pointing attention to the plight of servicemen who are prisoners of war or reported missing in action in Southeast Asia, was first placed on sale on Nov. 24, at Montgomery, Ala., and Cincinnati, Ohio.

The stamps were designed by Stevan Dohanos of Westport, Conn., chairman of the Citizens' Stamp Advisory Committee.

At the top of the DAV stamp, in white lettering on a blue panel is "50 Years of Service". In the center is the DAV emblem.

At the top of the POW stamp, in white lettering on a blue panel is "Honoring U. S. Servicemen." Center, in black is "Prisoners of War/Missing and Killed in Action."

This stamp went on sale at our Office on Wednesday, Nov. 25th, 1970.

Our patrons are reminded that packages may be sent by PAL (parcel air lift) to our servicemen abroad, through Saturday, Nov. 28th, to reach them in time for the holidays.

Best Seller Books At Local Library

Many of our reading audience are familiar with the Best Seller List. The Emmitsburg Public Library has not always bought what is termed as a best seller, however with a recent gift the library has been able to buy some of the very Best Sellers. The Frederick County Public Library System has limited funds for Best Sellers and of course this takes a little longer for the County libraries to get the books that are in demand. There are different media for the Best Seller list. Time Magazine, Newsweek, newspapers, etc., are among the many. This library depends on the New York Times Book Review for its listing. "Love Story," by Segal is No. 1 on the list. Love Story is now a Paramount motion picture starring Ali MacGraw and Ryan O'Neal. It is a love story. A beautiful story of an unusual love between a Harvard boy and a Radcliff girl. This can be read by teenagers and older patrons and will be appealing to all.

The Emmitsburg Homemakers Club visited the library in a body on Thursday of this past week. Thirteen members were present. Part of their meeting was conducted in the library. Mrs. Vernon Keilholtz, Assistant Librarian, gave them a tour of the facilities and explained how to make use of the library. A display of books that were of interest to the Homemakers were in a prominent place. Books on Cooking, Winemaking, Sewing, Embroidery, Knitting, Upholstery, Decorating, Art and every facet of Homemaking. Also a very adequate collection of books concerning children, child psychology, learning, teaching and entertainment.

Our goal in the Emmitsburg Library is to have every person acquainted with the library and every person a user of the facility. A library card entitles a patron to participate in every facet of library service.

A re-registration of the Emmitsburg Library will begin on January 1, 1971. A block of numbers will be issued to the area from the total in Frederick. This will entitle the owner to borrow a book in any County library and any library in the state. The tentative figure or potential for the Emmitsburg Library is 3,000. Let us utilize all the allotted spaces.

The local kindergarten under the direction of Mrs. John Chatlos, visited the library on Wednesday. After discussing some of the rules of the library and how to care for books that are borrowed, the children enjoyed the stories presented by Mrs. John Warthen and Mrs. Vernon Keilholtz. The children will visit the library regularly with Mrs. Chatlos. When the children are able to print their complete name they will be given en cards to take home for their parents' signatures and will then become eligible to receive their own library card.

A group of children from the Seton Day Care Center visited the library this past week. The group enjoyed a story by Sister John Helen. The group, under the direction of Mrs. Joanna Myers, borrowed many books. This group plans to visit the library every other week. A story will be presented by the Library staff.

Listen to WTHU for their community news. They list the hours of the library and other current events. Happy holiday to all.

"The teen-ager should get nine hours sleep," and in fact many do—six in bed and three in study periods. — Times-Dispatch, Richmond.
