As we approach the half-way mark in the winter season we find things well under way here in our neck of the woods. The game preserves are doing a good business and Charnita, after a belated start, is now in full swing and skiers are flocking in by the thousands. For a while it sort of looked as though there would be little skiing here this season but now they're really rolling through and weekends see between three and four thousand at play on the slopes of Mt. Charnita. The second snow of the season hit us sort of unexpectedly, that is as to intensity. We had several days of warning by the weather department that precipitation was on its way but it really wasn't until New Year's Day that we discovered how deep it really was. Estimates vary considerably around here but generally it is believed that well over 12 inches blanketed the area, and some people are still digging out. Because it happened during the holidays the kiddies didn't even get a snow day off . . . tough luck kiddies. The Roads Boards of both the State and County did good jobs and traffic was kept moving constantly in most areas.

We must compliment Commissioner Ernest Rosensteel on the efficient manner in which he handled the snow emergency here. Almost at the very beginning he was on the job and with the little available equipment kept pecking away at the Herculean task of keeping the streets and alleys open as well as to provide as much parking space as possible. Several days we were back to normal. You know it is impossible to please everyone and there are possibly some who feel they were neglected during the storm. However, the Town has very little equipment for such emergency and must depend upon other owners of machinery to come to the rescue. Well, anyway, they got the job done and that's all that matters and we hope there is no hard feeling among the citizenry.

That big smile the Town Officers are wearing lately apparently is coming from the satisfaction of driving around the new Police Cruiser which arrived this week ready for action. Two-tone, green and white, the vehicle is the second to be operated by the force and will enable the policemen to have at least one car ready for action at all times. It was decided to retain the white cruiser that has been in use the past two years.

Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Topper, Taneytown, announce the engagement of their daughter, Deborah Jean, to Mr. Glenn E. Gondar, II, of Westminster.

Miss Topper is a 1970 graduate of St. Joseph's High School, Emmitsburg, and is now attending Patricia Stevens Career School. Her fiancé is a 1970 graduate of Francis Scott Key High School. He is employed by Armacost Construction Co.

Church Dignitaries Help Celebrate Anniversary Mass For Mother Seton

Photo shows section of group, with Mass celebrants sitting in sanctuary, who participated in a concelebrated Mass honoring Blessed Elizabeth Ann Seton's 150th anniversary of her death, at a Mass and ceremony held last Sunday in St. Joseph's Provincial House chapel. Over 1200 persons attended.

More than 1,200 persons filled the chapel of the St. Joseph's Provincial House Sunday noon to attend a Solemn High Mass in celebration of the 150th anniversary of the death of Blessed Elizabeth Ann Seton, foundress of St. Joseph's College and of the Sisters of Charity.

Lawrence Cardinal Shehan, Archbishop of Baltimore, Patrick Cardinal O'Boyle, Archbishop of Washington, and Most Rev. Luigi Raimondi, Apostolic Delegate from Rome, headed the list of dignitaries and clergy participating in the mass in honor of Mother Seton, who may become the first native-born American to be officially declared "saint" by the Roman Catholic Church. Cardinal Shehan was principal celebrant of the mass.

Hundreds of Mother Seton's Sisters of Charity and guests from various parts of the east and overseas thronged the spacious provincial house chapel located on the site of the foundress' death in January, 1821. In addition to the two cardinals, eight bishops of Washington, and Most Rev. Luigi Raimondi, Apostolic Delegate from Rome, headed the list of bishops from other dioceses, plus 57 priests and monsignori concelebrated the mass.

The eucumenical choir for the celebration consisted of the Emmitsburg Community Chorus; the Choir of the Lutheran Theological Seminary of Gettysburg; the Vincentian Novices, Philadelphia; and the Sisters of St. Joseph's Provincial House.

Included in the liturgical procession into the chapel were five protestant ministers representing the United Church of Christ, the Lutheran Church, and the Methodist Church. Four of these were pastors of churches in Emmitsburg, and another, Rev. John Howes, is the head of the Methodist Theological Seminary, Washington, D.C.

The homily was delivered by Rev. Joseph L. Dirvin, C.M., vice-president for University Relations, St. John's University, NYC, who forcefully called for stricter observance of Mother Seton's discipline within the order and the Catholic Church. "Her work can be threatened by existential souls who would relegate Mother Seton to the mist of history and ignore her apostolate of 150 years," he said.

He termed "soft souls" those who would "wish the (Sisters of Charity) rule relaxed in the name of personal liberty, and criticized "restless souls who would abandon the work they were called to, the work confided to them by God (for work) they have decided is more relevant. This would be a dangerous business, both for Blessed Mother Seton's work which the Lord has emphatically shown in a thousand ways—notably by its success and by the Church's raising of her to the honors of its altars—to be His work, and Church of appealing to Vatican Council II to "justify their destruction," but noted that the council, which has been recognized by many as the beginning of a fresh life for the church in the modern world, had instructed the faithful to closely follow the "spirit and special aims" of founders of institutions.

Mother Seton was uncompromising in her aims, the priest said, and called upon her followers to do the same. He urged the nuns to stand firmly by their rules, and to be united in their cause — "Mother Seton" wants no polarization.

Mother Seton was born of a wealthy Protestant family in New York City in 1774. Married 20 years later to William Seton, she gave birth to five children. Seton died in 1803, and two years later, Mrs. Seton entered the Catholic Church. She assumed a religious habit in 1809, the year in which St. Joseph's House, Emmitsburg, was founded. The celebrated cause for her canonization, or "sainthood," has been underway since the late 1800's.

Presently, following a complex system of Catholic procedure similar to a trial, she is called "blessed," the nearest step to official sainthood. The church requires a certain number of miracles be established as deriving from her intercession before canonization can occur. Several have been proven, and one more is needed. The service was preceded by an organ recital.

When the bells of the Provincial House chapel tolled the hour of 12 noon the procession from the hallways moved into the main chapel and into the sanctuary. Included in the procession were all the members of the Catholic hierarchy, other priests and seminarians, members of Protestant faiths, members of the Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus of Emmitsburg and several civilians who had small parts in the service.

At the conclusion of the Mass

JAMES H. LINGG

James Henry Lingg, 58, husband of Sara E. Herring Lingg, Emmitsburg R2, died at the Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, Friday at 4:30 p.m. He had been in ill health for several years.

A native of Frederick County, he was the son of the late Felix and Rose Brawner Lingg. He was a retired mason and a member of St. Joseph's Catholic Church of Emmitsburg, the Francis X. Elder Post 121, American Legion, Emmitsburg, and was a veteran of World War II, serving in the Army Air Corps as a corporal. He served in Hawaii, was awarded the Victory Medal, the Pacific Theatre ribbon and the M301 medal as a sharpshooter.

Surviving in addition to his wife are five sisters and one brother: Mrs. Betty Eyer, Thurmont R.D.; Mrs. Leroy Corbin, York; Mrs. Charles W. Stultz, Fairfield R2; Mrs. Gilbert Eiker, Emmitsburg; Mrs. Glenn Shultz, Thurmont, and Felix Lingg, Jr., Thurmont R2.

Funeral services were held on Monday with a requiem mass at St. Joseph's Catholic Church at 9:30 a.m. with the Rev. Fr. John King officiating. Interment was in Mountainview Cemetery, Emmitsburg. Pallbearers were Dennis and Herring, Wayne, Dennis, Francis and Paul Lingg and Donald Little. The honor guard from the Elder Legion Post included Charles B. Harner, Edgar Wastler, T. Eugene Rodgers, William and Leo Topper, Herbert Click, Earl Topper and Joseph E. Rodgers. Wilson Funeral Home, Emmitsburg, was in charge of arrangements.

Knights Plan Open House

Plans for an Open House were discussed at the regular meeting of Brute' Council 1860, Knights of Columbus, at its regular meeting held Monday in the Council Home, Grand Knight George L. Danner presiding.

A thank-you note for a Christmas candy donation was received from the Taneytown Cub Scouts. Stanley McIntire and J. Ward Kerrigan were reported on the sick list. William E. Sanders, six-point program chairman, called on his various committees for reports and called a special meeting of these committees for Friday night at 8 p.m. in the Council Home.

Paul A. Keepers, membership and insurance committee chairman thanked the members of the Fourth Degree Assembly for their assistance at the anniversary Mass for Mother Seton held in the Provincial House last Sunday. He also suggested that the Council consider an Open House for potential members in the near future.

The Council voted $100 to St. Rita's Church Confraternity of Christian Doctrine program. Carl A. Wetzel gave a report on the New Year's Eve party.

those in the procession made up the recessional during which the combined chorus impressively sang the "Halleluah" by G. F. Handel. The entire congregation stood almost immobile during the entire singing of the chorus, their voices swelling into the great dome of the chapel.

A steak buffet was served to the guests in the main dining room of the Provincial House.

An unexpected and unusual feature of the program consisted of members of the Order (nuns) who served as campus police, driving the order's cars and serving as escorts, for guests who had to park on the outer drive, and after the luncheon served the same role in reverse, taking the guests to their cars and escorting them to the main highway.

Other dignitaries present at the service were: Very Rev. G. Lalpalorico, C.M., postulator of Mother Seton's Cause, Rome; Rev. Sylvester A. Taggart, C.M., vice-postulator, Emmitsburg; Most Rev. George H. Guilfoyle, Bishop of Camden, N. J.; Most Rev. Joseph H. Hodges, Bishop of Wheeling, W. Va.; Most Rev. George L. Leech, Bishop of Harrisburg, Pa.; Most Rev. Thomas A. Donnellan, Archbishop of Atlanta, Ga.; Most Rev. William G. Connare, Bishop of Greensburg, Pa.; Most Rev. David F. Cunningham, Bishop of Syracuse, N. Y.; Most Rev. Walter F. Sullivan, Auxiliary Bishop of Richmond, Va.; Most Rev. Edward D. Head, Auxiliary Bishop of New York, and Msgr. Hugh J. Phillips, President of Mount St. Mary's College.

TOWN HIRES PUBLIC WORKS SUPERINTENDENT

The Town of Emmitsburg will consult the Maryland Attorney-General concerning its Peddlers Ordinance facets, it was decided at the regular monthly meeting of the Mayor and Commissioners held Monday evening in the Town Office. Chairman of the Board of Commissioners, J. Norman Flax, presided over the meeting.

The Town will also consult with its attorney, Fred Bower, over the new water ordinance which was to have gone into effect January 1. This ordinance pertains to water consumers who use meters.

A temporary work schedule for members of the Police Dept. was revealed by the Board of Commissioners and will be adhered to in the future.

The Town, which has been without the services of a public works superintendent for four years now, took action to provide one in the near future. Commissioner Ernest Rosensteel made a motion which was seconded by Commissioner Norman Flax, to hire James Fuss as superintendent. When the vote was called it showed Rosensteel, Flax and Commissioner Eugene Myers for the appointment while Commissioner Thomas Bollinger and Mayor Samuel Hays voted no. Fuss was hired at a salary of $110 per week and will assume his duties as public works superintendent on January 12.

Commissioner Myers brought up for discussion a proposal to lay a new water line to the leather products plant and the possible widening of the alley leading to the plant which is owned by James Welty. No action was taken on the matter pending more discussion with Mr. Welty.

The Commissioners ordered all bills paid except that of the Frederick Asphalt Co., Inc., for a recent blacktopping of the alleys. Council voted to transfer $4000 from the general account to the water account in order to retire a water bond now due to St. Joseph's Provincial House.

School Board Studies Plans For School Here

A representative group of the Emmitsburg Middle School PTA met with the members of the Frederick County Board of Education at its monthly meeting in Frederick Wednesday morning, to discuss plans for either modernizing the school here or erecting a new one.

Three plans were discussed at prior meetings of the two groups. They were Option 1, renovate the existing building in its entirety; Option 2, renovate the 20-year-old wing of the present school and discard the 48-year-old section; Option 3, construct a new school at a cost of over $1,000,000.

After some discussion the Board ruled out Option 1 and recommended Option 2 which would cost in the neighborhood of $700,000. This did not necessarily rule out Option 3, which would have been a new school. Either of the three options would necessitate the School Board acquiring more acreage at the site.

About 15 members of the local PTA, and Mayor Samuel C. Hays, were present and met with the Board Wednesday. The Board dismissed the group, thanked it for coming to the meeting and announced that it would hold a closed executive board meeting later in the afternoon and that it was possible that a final decision on the subject would be forthcoming.

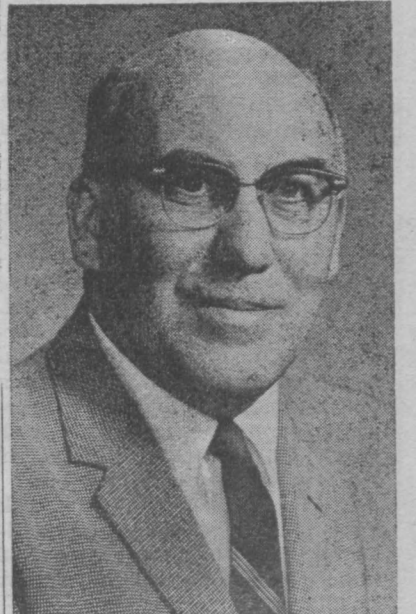

Keep Fire Hydrants Clear Advises Chief

Guy R. McLaughlin, Fire Chief of the Vigilant Hose Co., this week called upon all citizens who have fire hydrants located in front or near their property to please clear any snow that might be blocking access to the hydrant in case of fire.

The Chief says that if firemen are delayed by shoveling snow before they can use the hydrant, serious property loss can be sustained as a few minutes in such cases can cause sufficient delay and give a fire a headstart. It is also suggested by the Chief that citizens make this procedure a regular habit after future snowfalls.

Rev. John Chatlos Honored On 25th Ordination Date

On Wednesday night, December 30, the Rev. John C. Chatlos of Emmitsburg, received the surprise of his life when he walked into his church, Incarnation United Church of Christ, for a Church School Board meeting and found the church sanctuary filled with many well-wishing friends and ministerial colleagues. The occasion was the celebration of the 25th anniversary of his Ordination into the Christian ministry. This observance was planned by the two congregations which Mr. Chatlos has served since June 1959: Incarnation United Church of Christ, Emmitsburg, Md., and St. James United Church of Christ near Littlestown, Pa.

Although an invitation had been issued to the members of the congregations of all the local churches at the services the preceding Sunday, no one mentioned the fact to Mr. Chatlos and it took him as a complete surprise. Everyone's secret remained a secret to the amazement of those planning the service.

Miss Beverly Davis, a former organist of the church, played for the service and had as a solo, a favorite of Mr. Chatlos', "The Lost Chord". The Rev. Bernie Zerkle, Jr., Associate Conference Minister of the Central Atlantic Conference of the United Church of Christ, presided at the service and brought greetings from the Conference as well as a message for the evening. The Rev. Father John King, Rector of the St. Joseph's Catholic Parish of Emmitsburg, read the Scripture Lesson.

The Rev. Ronald Fearer, Pastor of Elias Evangelical Lutheran Church, presented Mr. Chatlos with a copy of the New English Bible, and congratulations from the local Ministers. The Rev. Fred Trimble, Pastor of the Walkersville United Church of Christ, brought greetings from the Catoctin Association of the United Church of Christ, of which he is president. The Rev. Melvin Hamm, Chief Social Worker, Hoffman for Children, near Littlestown, Pa., reminisced on the days the two men spent at Catawba College and Lancaster Theological Seminary together. Another pastor, the Rev. Alfred G. Sandrock of York, Pa., spoke of the days when he knew John Chatlos before college, through college and through seminary and ever since. The paths of these two pastors have traveled closely together for many years.

Lee Krout presented Mr. Chatlos with two clergy stoles as a gift from the congregation of St. James Church and Mr. Donald Crouse gave him two more clergy stoles from Incarnation congregation.

Mrs. George Martin, president of the Women's Guild of Incarnation Church, brought greetings as president from the Emmitsburg Council of Churches, as vice president from the Emmitsburg Community Choir and from the Senior Citizens. She presented Mr. Chatlos with a gift book containing the names of all the guests and the many cards and messages which has come to her for Mr. Chatlos, including a telegram from a seminary classmate in West Virginia, and a telephone message from a classmate in Detroit, Michigan.

Rudolf Chatlos, elder son of the pastor, presented his father with a clerical robe from the family and Calvin Chatlos, second son, gave Dad a desk set engraved with the names of the children and the occasion and date. Sheila, still at home, and Mrs. Phyllis (Robert) Houck of Fairfield, Pa., were also present.

Frederick County Backgrounds

By SAMUEL CARRICK
"They Served Their God—"

This is the account of a congregation—the story of a group of people and their works. It has been said "—and their works do follow them" and this is particularly true of Elias Lutheran congregation. From a handful of staunch Lutherans — settled, as squatters along the banks of Tom's Creek, there is today the flourishing and energetic congregation of Elias Lutheran Church. Their ties reach far into the past, as this country reckons time, and their "good works" are without number. They, as a people, have "left their footsteps in the sands of time."

The story of Elias Lutheran Church is essentially a human chronicle—the people are of the essence. That is all of history—the human touch—and the whole is summed up in a single word. Over and over again this is proved by the undying past—but man is inclined to forget — and this world comes a "cropper." If people could make peace with their origins there would be less of strife in the world.

In his "History of Frederick County" the late T. J. C. Williams (1910) has this to say of the Lutheran congregation, first established at Tom's Creek:

"The Lutheran Church of this community (Emmitsburg) dates its origin to the year 1757, on the banks of Tom's Creek, two and a half miles east of Emmitsburg. This first primitive structure was built of logs. According to a historical letter of the Rev. John G. Young written to the Rev. Dr. Helmuth, Philadelphia, Pa., and filed in the archives of the Mt. Airy Lutheran Theological Seminary, the year 1757 established the date of this congregation's beginning. At a later date a new church (also of logs) was erected on the same site by the Lutheran and Reformed congregations and remained in use (to a limited extent) until the early part of the 20th century.

"The first pastor was the Rev. John G. Bager (Baughner), who was succeeded by no less than four ministers until the year 1797. The present stone church (in Emmitsburg) was erected conjointly by the Lutheran and Reformed congregations and used by both on alternate Sundays until the year 1869 at which time the Lutheran congregation became the sole owner by right of purchase..."

Concerning the early ministers (Lutheran) of the Tom's Creek and Elias Lutheran congregation—the founding father was the Rev. John George Bager (Baughner) and his life and death has been dealt with in an earlier column. It is to be hoped that additional data pertaining to the Rev. Bager (Baughner) will be unearthed and included at a later date in this series.

The seventh pastor of this church was the Rev. John G. Grob. He died in Taneytown, Md., and was interred in the Lutheran churchyard in that place. The inscription from the marker at his grave is as follows:

1. Sacred to the memory of the Rev. John G. Grob, died May 29, 1829, aged 75 years.

The inscription given above was copied from the original stone in 1954. In his "History of Western Maryland" the historian, Scharf, (1894) gives the inscription from the gravestone of the Rev. Grob's wife, as follows:

2. In memory of Elizabeth Grob, wife of the Rev. John G. Grob, died April 15, 1835, aged 69 years.

Insofar as is known the marker at the grave of Elizabeth Grob has completely disappeared. It was not in place when the inscription from her husband's stone was transcribed. The who, what, or where is not known — but facts are facts.

From 1892 until his death the Rev. Charles Reinewald was the pastor of Elias Lutheran Church. He is remembered by Lutherans and non-Lutherans of Emmitsburg with love and respect. He left his mark on the entire community. His grave is in the Danner plot of the Evergreen Cemetery at Gettysburg.

A brief biographical sketch of the Rev. Dr. Reinewald follows:

"The Rev. Charles Reinewald, D.D., pastor of the Lutheran Church in Emmitsburg, was a son of Joseph Lewis and Catherine (Sommer) Reinewald. He was born in Duncansville, Pennsylvania, October 20, 1860.

"The name Reinewald, Pure Forest, seems to indicate that the family was interested in forestry in the home land, Darmstadt, Germany. Dr. Reinewald's grandfather, who died when his son, Lewis Joseph, father of Charles, was quite young, lived and died in Darmstadt.

"Joseph Lewis Reinewald was born in Darmstadt, Germany, on October 24, 1824. He received the education usually given to German youths, and learned tanning. In 1852, at the age of eighteen years, Joseph Lewis Reinewald set out for the new world, taking the ship at Havre, France, for New York and making the passage in thirty-four days. His means being limited, he was obliged to rely entirely upon his own efforts. In other words he had to make his own living.

"He first went to Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, and arrived at the end of a week, travelling by rail and canal, and crossing the Allegheny Mountains on the old Portage Railroad. He found work at his trade across the river in Allegheny City where he remained for one year. He then went to Hollidaysburg, Pennsylvania, and soon after settled at his present home in Duncansville, Blair County, Pennsylvania. In 1884, Mr. Reinewald gave up tanning and became an employee in the rolling-mill where he worked until 1904 — at which time he retired from active work.

"Joseph Lewis Reinewald was married in 1855, in Hollidaysburg, Pennsylvania, to Catharine Sommer, of Hollidaysburg. She was born in Stuttgart, Germany, in 1833. She, too, sailed from Havre, to make her home with her uncle in America—one Frederick Weideler. The voyage lasted eight weeks and was difficult in the extreme. It can well be said that only the strong survived. Her father had died before she left her home; her mother died sometime after, in Stuttgart.

"The children of Joseph Lewis and Catharine (Sommer) Reinewald were as follows: Mary M. Reinewald, Charles Reinewald, Matilda Reinewald (Mrs. William J. Elliott), Henry J. Reinewald, of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, Emma Reinewald (Mrs. Joseph Kirkham). Also a child who died in infancy — unnamed."

The historical and genealogical account of the Lutheran church at Tom's Creek and in Emmitsburg, and the people who built the structure, will be continued in this series next week.

Right here in Frederick, last Fall, Block tax men conducted four separate tax schools starting in mid-September, in the Block general office at 223 N. Market St. In addition, Block conducted several intensive training sessions in December at which all managers of Block offices in the area and many staff members were brought up to date on the extensive changes in tax laws and the IRS Rules and court decisions of the past year which affect taxpayers when filing returns currently.

Already the new tax season has made busy places of the Block offices around Frederick. Offices are located to be convenient to the residents of every area. Downtown at 223 N. Market Street, northwest in the Frederick Shopping Center and southwest in the Prospect Plaza Shopping Center. Branch Block offices are located where ample parking space is convenient. Office hours are also arranged with public convenience in mind: 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. weekdays and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. both Saturday and Sunday. No appointments are necessary at any Block office, but Block management shudders when it recalls the hectic days of last April when the "last minute rush" came and advises everyone to file earlier this year.

H & R Block Opens New Office

H & R Block, America's largest income tax service, announces the moving of one of its offices to new and enlarged space in preparation to service their rapidly growing clientele in this area during the income tax season between now and next April 15. The office that was at 313 S. Jefferson Street has been moved to the Prospect Plaza Shopping Center on South Jefferson Street extended.

Altogether, H & R Block has three offices operating in the Frederick City area.

The growth of H & R Block, in Frederick, is paralleled by its growth across the nation. Block now has over 5,000 offices throughout the United States, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico and Canada. This rapid expansion is entirely due to public demand for dependable help with the intricacies of Federal and State income tax returns.

Block's method of operation seems to have caught the popular fancy: A low cost (every return priced from a basic schedule as low as $5.00); the finest possible work (every employee thoroughly trained, every return checked and rechecked); and, the Block guarantee of accuracy that stands behind every return (if Block makes any error which costs the client either penalty or interest, Block will pay that penalty or interest). Block prepared income tax returns for more than 7,000,000 individuals last year and this year expects to process over 9,000,000. Block men know taxes. They have to in order to work for Block.

labor union members who, according to the propaganda of World Communist, were to be the "chosen" beneficiaries of the colossal Marxist-Leninist fraud. Those unionists who believed in "democratic" socialism, and who were prepared to "work with" the Communist when they took over the Czech government in the 1948 coup, were the first to be trapped under the boot of the tyrants.

In their historic report smuggled out of Prague and made available to the National Education Program through the International Confederation of Trade Unions in Brussels, Belgium, the Czechoslovak Trade Unions told of the barbarous treatment of union officials who were slow to "knuckle under," of mass labor-camp prisons, of purges, of failure of the Czech economy due to political mismanagement of the Communist-operated production and distribution systems.

Communist Brutality
"The number of people made answerable to the courts for political offenses of varying degrees of seriousness," reached, in the years 1948 to 1964, a total of around 150,000. In addition, immediately after 1948, countless labor camps sprang up to which anyone could be consigned for an unlimited period without legal proceedings by the relevant regional committee. (Editor's note: This is the first report of slave labor camps in Czechoslovakia.) All that was needed was the 'suspicion' that the person involved was an 'enemy of the state.'

"Only in 1968 did it become known (to most of the Czech people themselves) that between 400,000 and 450,000 Czechoslovak citizens underwent longer or shorter periods of 're-education' in these labor camps . . . In this connection, it is further taken into account that for everybody involved with the Communist courts for alleged 'plotting to endanger the state,' there were five family members or near relations directly concerned with his fate; the conclusion is easily reached that over this period at least a quarter of the whole Czechoslovak population was affected by political trials.

Death Sentences High
"The number of death sentences was likely extremely high . . . All death sentences were decided by Party bodies—the Security Commission of the Central Committee of the Czech Communist Party, later the Central Committee's political secretariat."

The sad plight of the living standard, under Communist mismanagement of production and distribution, is reported by the Trade Unions: "Trade union bodies and organizations have been functioning as if crippled, and this has inevitably had an effect on the members too. It has also become clear that the trade unions cannot in the long run be merely the passive executors of decisions taken elsewhere (in Moscow). Total wage increases over 11 years averaged 28 crowns a year (about $8.90) while work norms were increased about 30 per cent and inflation took a heavy toll in purchasing power" . . . leaving skilled workers at a bare subsistence level.

The Spreading Evil
The Trade Union report said: "Only 50 per cent use was being made of the country's production capacity; wastage of materials was also considerably greater than in other countries.

Economic efficiency was particularly impaired by an annual rise in production costs of 2 per cent. A defective employment policy resulted in artificially depressed wages for many workers . . . all these deficiencies add up to an enormous financial loss for the Czechoslovak economy (estimated at 60,000-million crowns per year—i.e. about one third of the whole national income.)"

The report also told of the continuing "rape" of Czechoslovakia by Russia. The great Skoda munitions works at Pilsen, probably the largest armament producer in the world, became an exclusive supplier for Soviet world-wide armed might. Czech-made machine guns and anti-aircraft missiles were shipped, through Moscow to Cuba, North Korea, North Vietnam, the Arab Middle East—to wherever wars of "liberation" had been set ablaze by the Moscow agents of world revolution. Czechoslovakia's production of foodstuffs also was drained off to Russia, as were the products of her famed artisans (to be sold at profit by the Commissars) at expense of the Czech living standard. The Czech trade unions expose of the brutal fraud in the very essence of Communism should be broadcast to the workers of the world; every freedom-loving citizen should read it—so that the workers of the world may unite with all other categories of people in a powerful determination to stamp the spreading evil of Communism.

The press must be free; it has always been so and much evil has been corrected by it. If government finds itself annoyed by it, let it examine its own conduct and it will find the cause.—Thomas Erskine.

Goodwill To Hold Open House

Goodwill Industries of Monocacy Valley, Inc., Frederick, will be offering a new unique service to the antique dealers and individual furniture owners and refinishers of the tri-county area. The newest and most effective method of removing paint from all types of wood, metal and combinations will be offered to the public beginning Friday, January 8 at 9 a.m. This service called Houck's Furniture Stripping, is franchised to The Circuit Rider Strip Shop which is sub-contracting the service to Goodwill Industries. January 8th will be a special "open house" at the new Goodwill Plant (formerly the Ox Fibre Plant) at 400 East Church Street, Frederick. You are invited to this open house from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. to observe this process. We urge you to bring along a piece of furniture to be stripped.

Coffee and doughnuts will be on hand. If you wish further information please call 301-662-4845 or 301-663-8220. You will find this the most reasonable priced method yet developed, featuring the famous Houck Process acclaimed by leading furniture refinishers throughout the Northeast.

Boy Earns Dog: And That's News When the Boy is Marty Mim Mack

By ANN FORER

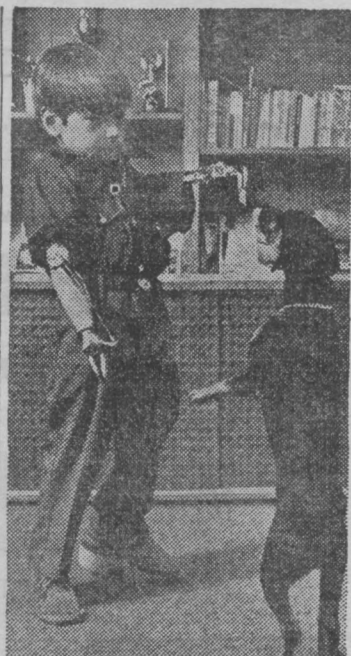

Everyone knows that boys and dogs were made for each other. Beginning when the first wolf was clever enough to see it would be more fun to play with man's cubs by man's fire than to howl at the cold moon above a mountain, boys and dogs have gone together like peanut butter and jelly.

Marty Mim Mack, age 9, of Santa Clara, Calif., is just like any other self-respecting boy. He needed a dog. For it's not a question of wanting to have a dog; if you're a boy, you need a dog.

So Marty set out to earn his dog, because in the Mim Mack family there are six sons, and they all earn their privileges. Their father Bill, a Lockheed engineer, believes a little bit of self-reliance, a little bit of discipline, and a lot of love is the way to raise a family. The Mim Mack boys are well-known in their neighborhood as mowers of lawns, budding merchants (they'll sell you anything from an aquarium full of fish to a redwood planter for your garden), and as baby sitters.

Marty is the youngest of the Mim Mack brothers, and it's a little difficult for him to earn his pocket money. Even all of Marty's pep and determination and intelligence can't quite overcome the one overpowering fact of his life: Marty was born without arms and with a hip defect which makes one of his legs shorter than the other. Marty's not alone with his problem, though, for there are some 250,000 babies born in the United States each year with a significant birth defect. Not all of these are as shattering as Marty's, but they all make a difference to the kind of life those 250,000 babies a year can look forward to.

Persevering Pair
But this is not a story about birth defects. It's a true story about a boy who earned his dog in the best American tradition. Marty sold his toys. Just his old toys, of course, the ones he felt too grown-up to need any more. He hung on to the set of drums his mom and dad got him for Christmas. And by the way, if you think a boy with artificial arms can't make a racket with a drum, you're wrong. Just ask Bill and Gloria Mim Mack.

TAKING TIME OFF from his duties as National Poster Boy for the March of Dimes, Marty Mim Mack, 9, Santa Clara, Calif., gives his dog, Liquor, a special treat. Liquor has a weakness for German salami, and here he receives a reward from Marty.

Marty has his dog now, a judicious combination of dachshund and miniature pinscher named Liquor. When a reporter asked why he had named the dog Liquor, Marty replied, "Why not?" The reporter decided to ask about something else.

Marty and Liquor are both achievers, and so they weren't content to just sit around and appreciate each other's company. They went off to obedience training classes together where they turned out to be the youngest dog and the youngest person in the class. Unawed, they went to school for weeks, and Liquor learned to heel and sit and stay so well that Marty's mother, Gloria, wishes she could take her whole family to obedience training class.

"Now if I could just get Marty and the other boys to behave the way Marty has gotten Liquor to behave," she says, "life would be a lot more peaceful in our house."

Marty would like to practice obedience training with Liquor a little more often, but sometimes it's hard to do. For one thing, he has to wear a Milwaukee brace 20 hours every day to help correct a curvature of the spine which is associated with his hip defect.

Travel Goals
Marty is busy with other activities, too. He goes to school, where he is doing very well, even though he can't take his dog along. Every summer, he piles in the family camper with his parents and his brothers and they are off to the wilderness of British Columbia fishing and camping out. And then there is one other thing that takes up some of Marty's time.

He and his dad will be traveling around the country, telling people about The National Foundation-March of Dimes and the ways in which this voluntary health organization is aiming for its goal which is the prevention of birth defects. Through programs of research and patient care the Foundation hopes to wipe out one of America's most vicious public health problems: vicious because it strikes not toward the end of life but at the very beginning when the baby is still in the womb.

Great strides have been made in wiping out birth defects. Vaccines have been developed to protect against rubella (German measles), which can cause severe defects to the unborn baby if caught by a pregnant woman. There is also a vaccine for Rh blood disease, as well as new methods of treating those who are born with defects. But much more must still be done, and Marty Mim Mack wants to help see that it is done.

After all, any boy wants to be useful, even if it means leaving Liquor at home while he goes on tour. And Marty knows Liquor will be waiting when he returns.

New Bicycle Laws Now In Effect

Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Ejner J. Johnson this week asked parents and teachers to instruct youngsters that effective January 1, 1971, bicycles and other play vehicles when operated on the highways are subject to the State's new motor vehicle code.

Under the revised code adopted by the legislature, bicycles are subject also to certain equipment requirements and their operators must obey the rules of the road the same as motor vehicle operators. The provisions are identical to those of the national uniform vehicle code.

"It is especially important during this holiday season when so many youngsters receive bicycles and other play vehicles as gifts that they be advised the State imposes certain responsibilities to guarantee their safety and that of others using the highways," the Commissioner stated.

"The new code prohibits bicyclists from carrying passengers unless the bicycle is designed to do so, and the bicyclist must not carry any bundles or articles which prevent him from keeping at least one hand upon the handlebars.

Contrary to popular belief, unlike pedestrians who are required to walk facing traffic, bicyclists must ride to the right side of the roadway, or on a path adjacent to the roadway, if one is provided.

They may not ride more than two abreast, and are absolutely prohibited from dual lane highways where the posted maximum speed limit exceeds 35 miles per hour, and from all controlled-access highways," Mr. Johnson continued.

The Commissioner cautioned, "that all bicycles using the highways must be equipped with brakes and a bell or device (other than a siren or whistle) capable of giving an audible signal for a distance of 100 feet. In addition, every bicycle must be equipped with a white headlamp visible from a distance of at least 500 feet to the front and a red reflector on the rear visible from a distance of 600 feet when directed in front of the upper beams of head lamps of a motor vehicle. The lamp and reflector devices are required only when a bicycle is in use upon the highways at a time when there is insufficient light or unfavorable atmospheric conditions so that the bicyclist is not clearly discernible at a distance of 1000 feet."

The new law also prohibits any person riding upon any bicycle, coaster, skateboard, roller skates, sled or other toy vehicle from clinging to any vehicle upon a highway.

Mr. Johnson pointed out that it is a violation and a misdemeanor for any person to do any act forbidden or fail to perform any act required by the new laws governing the operation of bicycles and play vehicles. And it is a misdemeanor for the parent of any child or the guardian of any ward to knowingly permit a youngster to violate the provisions.

The Commissioner further cautioned parents and youngsters that the use of mini-bikes and other motorized play vehicles are banned from the highways unless they are registered with the Department and operated by a licensed driver. Most play vehicles require the addition of safety equipment to meet the Department's registration requirements.

series of articles on America's "Medical Dilemma."

Nationally there are 1.6 doctors for every 1,000 people, according to the article; however, there is only one family doctor for every 3,171 people. Compounding this inadequacy is the fact that the percentage of doctors going into general or family practice has dropped from 75 per cent in 1931 to 15 per cent today.

Of the 318,000 U. S. doctors, only 203,000 are actually treating patients; the rest are in training, administrative posts, teaching, research or are retired, etc. Those who are practicing are concentrated mainly in affluent metropolitan areas, leaving a shortage in rural areas, small towns and the ethnic ghettos of large cities.

According to "Perspective," one of the roadblocks in solving the shortage problem is money. It costs about $12,000 per year to educate a medical student, of which the student pays from $400 to $2,700, depending on the school. This is a sizeable gap for schools to bridge.

Dr. Thomas Brower of the University of Kentucky Medical Center has said that "15 to 20 medical schools are on the brink of closing due to shrinking revenue from federal grants and heavy dipping into endowment funds."

Dr. Roger Egeberg, HEW assistant secretary for health, has asked the White House for an additional $150 million next year to solve the shortage of doctors, dentists, nurses and other health personnel. "I don't care what Congress does with Medicare, Medicaid and all the other programs..." said Dr. Egeberg, "nothing is going to improve the country's medical system until we get more doctors."

According to Dr. Walter Bornheimer in his inaugural address as president of the American Medical Association, "The No. 1 priority should be to increase the output and production of physicians." To this end, Dr. Bornheimer said he favored substituting preceptorships (trainees getting out of the hospitals and into community care under guidance of MD's) for hospital residencies as graduate training. "My position is simply that our medical trainees would be a heck of a lot better able to handle patients if they were given more responsibility. What residents are learning now is lots about disease but nothing about sick people. We're training them to be specialists in in-hospital care."

Other developments aimed at increasing the output and production of physicians cited in the "Perspective" article include the AMA's approval of "family practice" in difference of GP's who want to be known as specialists. The American Board of Family Practice was set up to conduct examinations for GP's and to certify candidates who pass.

More medical classrooms are becoming available, too. Last fall two new medical schools—at the University of Massachusetts and the University of Texas—opened their doors, bringing the total number of U. S. schools to 103 (up from 77 in 1945), the nation's total first-year enrollment to 11,100, and the total four-year enrollment to 40,706. The new Medical College of Ohio broke ground in Toledo this fall and in the next two years 13 more new schools are scheduled.

Other efforts, according to "Perspective," are aimed at reactivating some of the 13,000 currently inactive MD's in the United States (2,400 are women) and making greater use of para-medical personnel.

A free press can of course be god or bad, but most certainly without freedom it will never be anything but bad. . . Freedom is nothing else but a chance to be better, whereas enslavement is a certainty of the worse. — Albert Camus.

Goals For The New Year

It is tradition in this country to celebrate the beginning of a new year. In fact, the first day of the new year is a national holiday; a day to reflect on the past year and to look forward to the new one. Many Americans follow the tradition of making personal resolutions to perform or refrain from certain activities in the new year. It is their hope that these resolutions will help to make the new year a happy one for them, their relatives and friends. Hopefully, millions of Americans will, in addition to their personal resolutions, resolve to tackle the major problems confronting us as a nation.

While we may not solve these problems in one year, it is important that we build momentum toward their solution. At the end of 1971, the American people feel that they are moving in the proper direction then 1971 will, indeed, have been a happy year. In my view, the proper direction involves giving immediate attention to four issues. They are: Vietnam, inflation, unemployment and the environment.

Our military hospitals are full of wounded soldiers, sailors and aviators who are a constant reminder of the human cost of war in Southeast Asia. Over 50,000 Americans have lost their lives in this war, hundreds of thousands have been wounded and more than 300 others are held captive. The cost of this effort on the morale of the American public is incalculable. Our people have been patient and our President has turned the tide. We are withdrawing our troops while, at the same time, seeking a settlement at the negotiations in Paris. We are moving in the right direction and, hopefully peace will be attained.

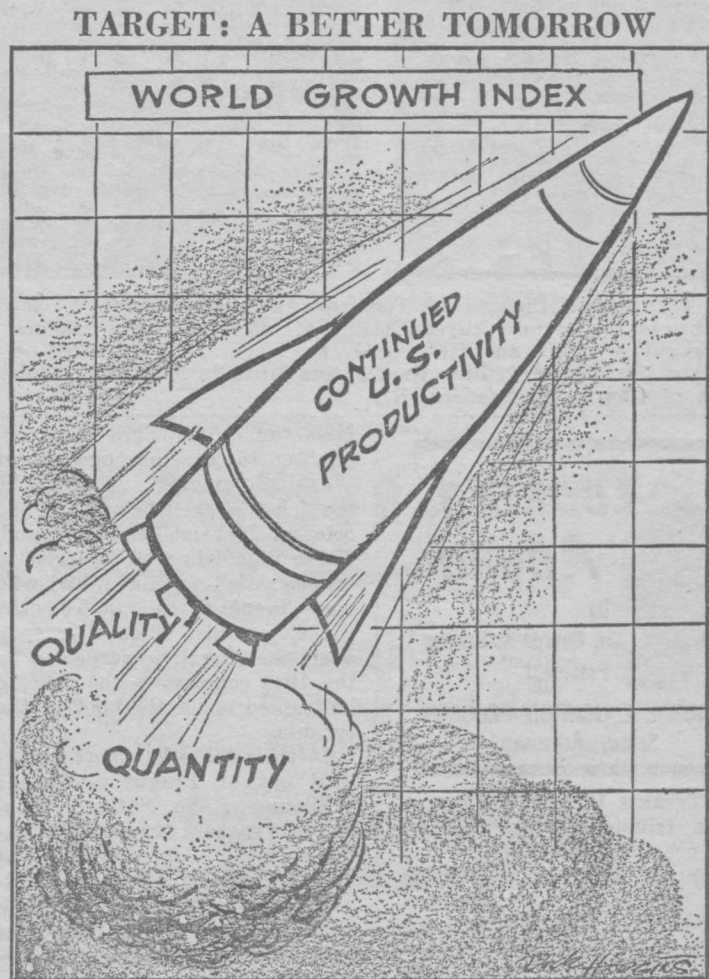

Closely related to the war in Southeast Asia is the fight being waged at home against inflation. There is no doubt that the war has heated our economy to the point where it is now boiling over. Our dollar is depreciating and is buying fewer goods now than it could a number of years ago. This depreciation touches every American household and is particularly hard on those citizens who live on fixed incomes. A solution must be found.

However, inflation is only academic to those in America who have no job and, in 1970, this nation has seen its unemployment rolls bulge. Our effort to reduce unemployment in this country hopefully will revolve around the redirection of our economy from war to peace. I sponsored legislation this year designed to help assure a smooth transition from war to a peacetime economy and plan to reintroduce the measure in the new Congress. As we tackle problems such as transportation, renovating our cities and increased efforts in health research, new job opportunities will develop for our citizens. Through systematic planning for economic conversion, we can insure that there are not only more jobs in 1971 than there were this year, but we can direct the right men and women to the proper job opportunities.

The fight to restore our environment will also provide new job opportunities for many Americans. Unless we direct our efforts at protecting the water and clean air, all else that we do will have little meaning. Jobs, sound money, even peace will have no utility if the Earth is physically unfit to inhabit.

These, briefly, are our challenges for the new year. I sincerely hope all Americans will make them part of their list of goals to be pursued in the new year.

FOOTNOTES . . . The House has passed and cleared for the President's signature legislation authorizing the U.S. District Court for Maryland to sit in Prince Georges County. The court now sits only in Baltimore City . . . The Federal Aviation Administration has awarded a $103,140 Airport Aid Development grant to Friendship International Airport to assist in the relocation of a glide slope instrument landing system on runway 10 . . . The Senate has confirmed the nomination of Clarence Butler of Prince Georges County to be United States Marshal for Maryland . . . The Navy will advertise for a contract to centrally air condition The Bethesda Naval Hospital. The work, which will take about 18 months, is part of a modernization program at the hospital.

A Rare Mare

In 1964 the racing world did a "double take" when not one, but two pure white Thoroughbred foals arrived on the scene, one in Kentucky and the other in France. The domestic product was a daughter of Ky. Colonel out of the mare Filly O'Mine, bred by Herman Goodpaster of Lexington, Kentucky.

The fabled black hero of horse-dominance appears in many story books, but rarely in the Stud Book, and on the race track he is more frequently a dark bay or brown according to his registration papers. Actually, according to those who have had the patience to make a survey of color frequency among Thoroughbreds, about 90 percent of those registered are bay, chestnut or brown, in that order, with the remaining 10 percent made up of greys, roans or blacks, but it was not until 1963 that The Jockey Club registered its first white Thoroughbred, named, appropriately enough, White Beauty.

White Beauty did not make as many headlines on the race track as she did when she first appeared on the scene, and was the subject of wire service stories widely used throughout the world, but she did win a few races before retiring to the breeding farm where, last spring, she produced a roan colt by Sir Ribot due to come to the races in 1972.

INCOME TAX TIPS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q. Can a child born before the end of the year be claimed as a dependent for the whole year?

A. Yes, as long as the dependency tests are met for the balance of the tax year in which the child was born.

Q. I didn't have a job when I moved here. Does that mean I won't be able to deduct my moving costs?

A. You may be able to deduct your moving expenses if you meet certain requirements. In fact, any one moving to accept a new job as well as someone transferred to a new location by his present employer may qualify.

The first requirement is that your new place of employment be at least 50 miles farther from your old home than your previous job was.

The second requirement is that you be a full-time employee on your new job for at least 39 weeks during the 12 months following the move.

For details, send a postcard to your IRS district office and ask for a copy of Publication 521, Tax Information on Moving Expenses.

Q. I didn't pay any estimated tax this year and now I find I'm way underwithheld. What should I do?

A. File an estimated tax declaration, Form 1040ES, as soon as possible and pay whatever should have been paid by this date. This will reduce the penalty for underpayment of estimated tax. Form 1040ES and instructions may be obtained from any IRS office.

Q. What's the deadline for reporting the social security tax I withheld for my cleaning woman?

A. February 1 is the due date for the Employer's Quarterly Tax Return for Household Employees for October, November and Deember.

Q. If someone dies during the year, does an income tax return have to be filed if there was any income or earnings?

A. Yes, the same general tax filing requirements apply to taxpayers who are deceased. There are special provisions, however. For details, send a post card to your local IRS office and ask for a copy of Publication 559, Federal Tax Guide for Survivors, Executors and Administrators. It's free.

Q. What's the filing date for farmers this year?

A. April 15. However, farmers who do not file estimated tax declarations by January 15 should file their 1970 returns and pay the tax due by March 1, to avoid possible penalties for underpayment of estimated income tax.

Pimlico Meet Now In Progress

Historic Pimlico Race Course opened its 101st season of racing Monday with the $27,500 - added Politely Stakes headlining the card.

This is the first of two 30-day meetings at Old Hilltop this year—the track having its 60 days of racing split into Winter and Spring sessions. The first meeting will run through Feb. 6.

There will be no dark days at the first meeting, except Sunday. Post time will be 1 p.m. daily. Traditionally Daily Double wagering will be offered on the first and second races each day.

Track officials, including President Herman Cohen, are enthusiastic about the meeting and feel that Pimlico will offer the Free State its finest Winter racing.

The addition of numerous New York stables, plus the Maryland regulars, and a few other stables from the midwest give Pimlico the finest gatherings of thoroughbreds Maryland has ever had for a Winter meeting.

Among the New York stables which will campaign here are Frank Martin, Leonard Hunt, W. R. Corbellini, S. R. Shapoff and Gilbert Puentes. Of course, Pimlico will offer its regulars such as John Tommarro, Grover G. Delp, Doug Small, Donald C. Bradley, John C. Moberly, and A. J. Lombardi.

Five stakes, in addition to the Politely, will be offered during the meeting. They are the $25,000-added Old Line Handicap, the $27,500 - added Challeon Stakes, the $25,000-added Pimlico Stakes, the $25,000-added City of Baltimore Handicap and the $25,000-added Flirtation Stakes.

Oddenda 1970

Trainer Jerry Hirsch had a very good reason to offer when Narragansett officials wanted to know why he sought to scratch the 3-year-old filly Every Morn on April 2—she had produced a foal the night before. . . . A need, perhaps, for pari-mutuel machines in the halls of Congress was indicated by a quote attributed to Senate majority leader Mike Mansfield who said, regarding a pending bill: "This could go right to the wire; it's going to be a real horse race." . . . At Charles Town, jockey Jim Thornton left the starting gate on a horse named Native Bird and crossed the finish line on a horse named Kandi Arm; the horses had collided during the running and Kandi Arm's rider, Daniel Gallego, wound up in the dirt while Thornton found himself in the wrong saddle. . . . It was small relief to Fred Caposella, Morris Tobe, Chuck Bang, Joe Hernandez, Harry Henson and other race track announcers to learn that a filly by Run for Nurse—Blessugals had her name changed from Nahfka to Der Aershtah. . . . Not to be outdone by Edward "Snapper" Garrison, riding star of the 1890's, Larry Gilligan appeared in the jockey's room with a full beard, but apparently no razor blade company made him an offer to shave on TV. . . . Miss Lover Girl, a 10-year-old mare, returned to the races at a West Virginia track and finished fifth, while her 3-year-old son, Papa Bully, won a later race on the same card.

Have you ever stopped to think that bananas are one of nature's most perfect foods? Check-full of vitamins, bananas are a good source of calcium, iron and potassium. Bananas have only a trace of fat and a negligible amount of sodium. One medium size banana contains only 85 calories, and bananas are so easily digested they can be enjoyed by youngsters and oldsters alike. Remember, too, that bananas come untouched and ready to eat in that easy-to-remove protective cover we call a peel!

The Cabana banana people report that Dr. Michael DeBakey, the noted Houston vascular surgeon, is one person who eats at least one banana every day. Dr. DeBakey has said about bananas: "Do you know anything as tasty, healthy and easy to eat?" Most of us would readily agree, but too often we eat our bananas in the same old way. So the home economist in Standard Fruit's Cabana Kitchen has been hard at work developing new ways for us to enjoy this delicious and healthful fruit. She has given us this different banana recipe to try. It is a delicious new chutney sauce to serve with lamb, chicken or shrimp.

Cabana Chutney

- 3/4 cup brown sugar
- 1/2 cup vinegar
- 2 tablespoons chopped crystallized ginger
- 1/4 cup chopped onion
- 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1 stick cinnamon
- 4 whole cloves
- 3/4 cup light raisins
- 3 Cabana bananas

Combine ingredients except bananas. Bring to a boil, simmer uncovered for 10 minutes. Peel and dice bananas; add to spicy syrup and simmer an additional 5 minutes. Cool. May be stored and stored in refrigerator several days. Makes about 1 pint. Serve with lamb, chicken or shrimp.

The Huge Potential For Cartridge Video

By Babson's Reports Incorporated, Wellesley Hills, Mass., January 7, 1971—What could prove to be the most important development in entertainment since the advent of color television will begin to emerge in 1971. Several manufacturers—both here and abroad—will introduce video player/recorder units utilizing cassettes or cartridges. Professional, pre-recorded films will be available . . . initially, in most cases, to educational, institutional, and industrial users as training, instructional, and selling aids. These devices will allow information to be played through any standard television receiver. Because of the relatively high cost, however, full-blown introduction to the public will not follow until 1972 or 1973. At least a dozen companies, in addition to the three major contenders (CBS, RCA, and Sony) have built models or prototypes. Types of Video Players And The Contenders

Three principal systems have been developed which employ different materials in the playback device. These are: (1) magnetic tape encapsulated in a cassette; (2) electronically recorded film in a cartridge; and

(3) transparent vinyl tape on which images have been laser-beamed. Currently, many of the companies involved with video players are working with the major television manufacturers, on a licensing basis, to produce and market either the recorder, the player, the camera, or the cartridges and cassettes. Besides CBS, RCA and Sony, such well-known companies as Ampe and Avco, and the lesser-known North American Philips, are readying systems for entry in 1971 and 1972.

Current Problems—Price And Cassette Standardization Since the mid-1960's videotape camera - player equipment has been available, but at a price out of reach of the public. It took until 1970 before the price dropped by half—to the $750-$900 range. Even so, a mass market is not in prospect this year, especially in view of the cost of the cassettes—around $25 to $30 each. Manufacturers are optimistic, however, that both the player and the cassettes will be more popularly priced within the next few years. Because there are so many types of systems, no standard cassette/cartridge prevails; but the producers are working toward agreement on interchangeable or compatible cassettes for use with any system.

Market Size And Applications

While conservative forecasts place the market for video recorders/players at $1 billion by 1980, more optimistic projections indicate a potential of around $3 billion if cassettes and cartridges are included. Applications abound for this new communications medium. Among possibilities are tapes for the homeowner, the boatowner, the gardener, the sportsman. Educational possibilities include sewing and cooking lessons, manufacturers' instructions for the use and maintenance of large and complicated appliances, as well as more formal home study courses by educational institutions. And for cable TV it will be an additional source of program material to beam to subscribers. Finally, and hopefully, good motion pictures will conceivably be recorded for home viewing.

Investment Medium The Research Staff of Babson's Reports has selected two

What You Can Do With Windows

Be Economical! Use Curtains Creatively

It isn't the price you pay for window treatments that matters—it's how they "fit" your home. And some of the best ideas are economical. For instance, this modern room.

The curtains are ready-made white sheers. Strips of black trim have been stitched along the side hems. Curtain rods in both top and bottom hems hold them neatly in place. Maximum result, minimum cost.

When pennies are important, curtain rods are, too. Use a double rod—two rods on one pair of brackets—to fill a window with ruffled, criss-cross curtains. Add fake flowers to the tiebacks. Or use one rod for a gaily colored valance, the other for curtains of a coordinating shade.

If you're making your own, you'll find curtains look more "professional" if you'll pinch pleat the headings. A bit of trim at the pleat line dresses them up nicely, too.

And there are curtain rods for almost every type of window—even corners, dormers, bays, bows and doors.

See hundreds of other ideas in Kirsch's 124-page "Windows Beautiful," Vol. III. Write: Dept. AS, Sturgis, Mich. 49091. The price is $1.00.

Peace Corps Helps Rebuild Peru

Peace Corps Volunteers Brian Peterson of Ann Arbor, Michigan and Gary Conner of Knoxville, Tennessee, survey a street in demolished Huylas, Peru. Earthquakes rocked Peru on May 31, 1970, resulting in the worst tragedy in the Western Hemisphere in this century. Thousands died. Peace Corps Director Joseph Blatchford, who visited the disaster scene within days, estimated that 700,000 people were homeless. The Peace Corps is now actively seeking more skilled carpenters, architects and engineers to aid in the Peru recovery effort.

companies, both pioneers in their respective fields, for the long-term appreciation-minded investor or seeking representation in the cartridge video future. We favor Ampex Corporation, with its well-established record in the video industry, for those looking for a company primarily in the tape and communications field. Ampex plans to participate fully in the cartridge (and cassette) video industry. Its outlook is enhanced by the absence of last year's heavy engineering and start-up costs. For those more risk-minded, we suggest the diversified North American Philips Corp., a company with extensive international affiliations, enjoying the backup of one of the largest and best research complexes in Europe. The common stocks of both Ampex and North American Philips are listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

Tax Seminar At Community College

Frederick Community College will offer a three-session seminar for individuals requiring information on how to make out the 1970, 1040 Federal tax form as well as Maryland Income Tax Returns. The instructor will be Mr. Robert A. Seidel, Sr., Associate Professor of Accounting at Mount Saint Mary's College and Lecturer at Frederick Community College.

This will be the third year that Professor Seidel has conducted this course. The three sessions are scheduled for January 12, 19, and 26, from 7:00 to 10:00 p.m., at the new O'Possumtown Pike Campus. The cost is five dollars. This fee is paid during the first class period and is the only requirement for registration.

The first two sessions will cover the preparation of Form 1040 and related schedules necessary for preparation of the individual tax returns for 1970. The third session will cover Maryland Forms 502 and 503. These forms also represent those necessary for the preparation of individual Maryland Income Tax Returns. The purpose of this course is to assist individuals attending the seminar in the preparation of their own tax returns rather than make them experts in the field of taxation. Questions will be answered that relate to individual tax returns only. Required forms will be furnished and practice problems will be done.

The seminar is being sponsored by the Continuing Education Division at Frederick Community College. Interested participants can call Frederick Community College, 662-0101 for further information.

Dairy Club Meets

The December meeting of the Dairy Department of the Rocky Ridge 4-H Club was held at the Stanley Gregg residence at Motter's Station on December 28, with Mrs. Gregg serving as hostess.

The meeting was called to order by the vice president, Mike Wivell. Roll call was answered by seven members. Five new members joined the Club. They were: David Hill, Ronnie Kling, Mike Weimer, Naomi Weimer, Susie Weimer and Sharon Weimer. The minutes were read and approved and the treasurer's report was given.

An election of officers was held with the following results: Lee Bassler, president; Paul D. Sharrer, vice president; Naomi Weimer, secretary; Roy Bassler, treasurer, and Stanley Gregg, reporter.

A planning committee was set up to plan the program for next year. This meeting will be held January 7 at the home Jimmy Hill.

The next meeting of the Dairy Department will be held January 25. Refreshments were enjoyed by all.

If it's good for children, why don't more adults use the library?

This marks the beginning of the ninth year for your local library. Have you been in to register? Have you utilized the establishment? Do you know it is there? One patron told me she had not used the library at all until she took a job that necessitated her borrowing a book. The library is the place you should be using regularly. Books should be a part of every home. If you don't read, chances are, your children will not be as interested in reading as they should be. Make reading a habit in your home, it will make a difference in your child's attitude or outlook on life. Less than 1,000 persons are registered in the local library. Your taxes are paying for this opportunity, why not take advantage of it?

Maybe this year some of us will keep the resolutions we made about trying to reduce, just after we finally dragged ourselves away from a five course meal on Christmas Day. Our shelves are filled with books about how to take off pounds, how to eat sensibly, count your calories and in general keep fit. Briefly I will list and give a summary of the books that may help you to keep slim and trim during the new year.

"What's Your Calorie Number?" by Justus J. Schifferes, Ph.D. If you are overweight this book gives a brand new table for judging your ideal weight and your permissible weight. Then he tells you how to select a balanced diet to go with it and stay with it. He also explains the psychology of losing weight, the reasons for overeating, and, what is more important, tells what can be done about it.

"The Marine Corps Exercise Book," by Major George E. Ottot. With step by step diagrams this book makes it easy for the entire family to have their own physical fitness program. Official Marine Corps tests are provided for those who want to measure themselves against the tough standards of the Marines.

"21-Day Shape-Up Program for Men and Women"—Miss Craig's. If one combines the program with a diet in the 21 day program results are guaranteed. Included in this book are exercises for the neck, the face, to straighten the spine, to strengthen the fingers, for the feet and all others for flabby tummy, the heavy thigh, upper hips, etc.

"Forever Thin," by Theodore Isaac Rubin, M.D. This is a 1970 copyright and is written by a formerly fat psychiatrist, who has succeeded in staying thin for many years. He has lost weight and sustained that loss because he understands the underlying emotional causes of obesity.

Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Shriner, R2, Thurmont, announce the engagement of their daughter, Carol Kay, to Edward E. Pryor, Emmitsburg, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James A. Pryor II.

Miss Shriner attended Thurmont High School, and is now employed at Mount Saint Mary's College, Emmitsburg.

Mr. Pryor is a 1967 graduate of Saint Joseph's High School, Emmitsburg. He served three years of active service in the U. S. Army. He is now employed by R. E. Ward, Inc., Rockville, Md. No date has been set for the wedding.

Science Teachers Plan Program

The Department of Natural Sciences and Mathematics at St. Joseph College will sponsor the second annual Professional Development Day for science teachers on January 8 and 9. Under the direction of Sister Jemore Nossell, Councillor for Education of the Daughters of Charity of the Southeast Province, this year's program is designed for elementary school teachers.

St. Joseph faculty will staff the program which will be held in the Dodd Science Center on campus.

"Science Curriculum Improvement Study" presented by Sister Juliana Kowal, assistant professor of biology, will open the session on Friday evening. Following this, Mrs. Madeline A. Ritter, instructor in education, will discuss "Approaches to Science Teaching."

Utilizing demonstrations and laboratory experiences as well as audio-visual aids, the specialized sessions on Saturday will include "Cell and Human Biology" directed by Sr. Marcella Scully, assistant professor of biology, and Sr.

Juliana; and "Chemistry and the Atom" directed by Sr. Denise Eby, professor of chemistry. Teachers of elementary school science, Sisters Teresa Buckley and Dorothy Folmer of Baltimore and Sr. Kathleen Saffa of Emmitsburg, will lead sharing sessions and explain student and teacher projects which will be on display during the day.

Approximately 50 teachers from Maryland, Washington, D.C., Virginia, West Virginia and North Carolina are expected to attend the two-day program.

Mounties Continue Loss String

Mt. St. Mary's College dropped its fourth straight basketball game to the Gannon College Knights, 96-75 Monday night at Erie, Pa.

The Mounties were charged with 27 turnovers and trailed most of the way. At half time Gannon led 38-34. Mt. St. Mary's then spurred for its only lead at 43-40 after two minutes of the second half but the Knights ripped back to go ahead 50-43.

With Tony Kinn and John Novey sparking a rally, the Mount pulled to within 55-52 with 11:06 remaining but then Gannon reeled off 13 straight points to seal the outcome.

Kinn led the Mount in scoring with 22, while Pete Goodwin sank 14 and Novey 13 for the losers.

VFW AMBULANCE

Henry Gerkin, Emmitsburg, and Mrs. Eleanor Gimmill, Fairfield, were transported this week to the Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, via the VFW ambulance. Drivers were James Kittinger and Michael Boyle.

The ore reserves of International Nickel contain some 12,370,000,000 pounds of nickel and 7,890,000,000 pounds of copper. Because of an extensive exploration program, these reserves increase nearly every year in spite of record nickel production and deliveries to the free world's industries.

Alumni Teams To Compete

The Emmitsburg High School and St. Joseph High School Alumni Associations will sponsor an Alumni Basketball Game on Saturday, January 9 beginning at 7:00 P. M., in the Emmitsburg Middle School Gym. Donation will be $1 for adults and 50c for children.

The girls' game will get underway at 7:00 P. M. and the boys' game will follow immediately.

Come and see your old favorites in action!

Betrothed

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Deardorff, Fairfield, announce the engagement of their daughter, Deborah Ann, to Robert Allen Fitez, son of Mrs. Rosalie Fitez, Fairfield, and the late Robert S. Fitez.

Miss Deardorff is a 1970 graduate of Fairfield High School and is employed by the National Historical Society, Gettysburg.

Mr. Fitez is a graduate of Fairfield High School in 1969 and is a sophomore at Delaware Valley College, majoring in ornamental horticulture.

NIGHT OF GAMES

The first of a series of "Nights of Games" for St. Joseph's Parish, will be held on Saturday, Jan. 9, at 8 p.m. in the parish hall. Mrs. Leo M. Boyle will act as chairlady for the event. Everyone is invited to attend.

Miss Sally Anne Shafer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul D. Shafer, Rt. 8, Frederick, is vacationing in Nassau, Grand Bahama Islands, during semester break from Frostburg State College, where she is a senior majoring in Elementary Education. She will be registered at the Emerald Beach Plantation Hotel. Upon return Miss Shafer will be student teaching at North Frederick Elementary School. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Grimes, Rt. 2, Emmitsburg.

Records Lost Not Broken

They say records are made to be broken but sometimes they get lost instead. A remarkable riding record somehow disappeared from the American Racing Manual which devotes three pages to an account of riding feats topped by England's Sir Gordon Richards and Rhodesia's Pieter Stroebel, each of whom rode 12 consecutive winners. In the current edition the eight consecutive winners ridden by John Sellers and Howard Craig are listed as the American record. Earlier this year when Charles Baltazar rode seven winners in a row at Laurel, Bill Tanton, sports editor of the Baltimore Evening Sun, recalled the record that apparently wound up on the composing room floor when the American Racing Manual changed its format to its present larger size.

The lost record was for nine straight winners by a jockey named Albert Adams. Adams, then a youngster of seventeen, now an employee of the Baltimore Department of Sanitation and a racing fan on his days off, set the record when he rode the final two winners at Marlboro on September 10, 1930, all six of his mounts the next day and the first race on the following day. At the time this was a world record which broke the string of eight straight set by Walter Miller in 1908. Gordon Richards' record was set in 1933 and tied by Stroebel in 1958.
