- By Abigail -

With Spring no longer around the corner, but actually here, the Town Council jumped in this week and ordered the streets of Emmitsburg swept, parking lines repainted and a few other little things that actually when viewed, make a whole of a difference in the general appearance of the Town. Commissioner Ernie Rosensteel had an extra crew on this week to add emphasis to the all out attack on dirt. Quite a few other citizens could be seen getting into the act also. A number of trees was trimmed, at least two new sidewalks were laid. With warmer weather in the offing, painting and repairing of houses will give the Town a decided improved appearance. Any of you planning to install a sidewalk and don't have a contractor, just call the Town Office. Chances are you will receive a better price while the contractor is working right here and won't have to move his equipment so far.

Our local Election is really shaping up and now we have three candidates for two offices. This does manifest that our citizens are directly interested in their Town and will run for office if need be, to see that things get done in a beneficial way, for the Town and its people. It's a healthy sign and one that I'm really happy to see. Anyone else interested?

Don't mistake that grin on the faces of our local firemen these days. It isn't spring fever, not by a long shot. A better term for it would be "truck" fever. The new engine arrived in town Tuesday night, driven here by a crew of local firemen who drove out to Battle Creek, Mich. and returned in the mammoth new vehicle. What a sophisticated machine it is. We'll really be the envy of the whole County now. So, it is small wonder then, why our boys are beaming like a bright sun! Just wait until you see it... you'll be proud too, I'm certain.

This is the time of the year when the different bureaus of the County turn in their new budgets for approval, and brother, believe me, some of them are fantastic! Talk about the Federal give-away program, at the rate the departments of the County, most of them, are planning to spend your money, we'll really need the Federal Government to bail us out of financial distress. Imagine, some of the bureaus are asking that their budgets be doubled. Do you want your tax bill doubled? Well, if our County Commissioners don't have a good set of pruning shears then that's likely and probable that the tax bill could double. Better let them know exactly how you stand on this matter. You know it doesn't cost you any money these days to call Frederick and tell the "boys" how you stand on this ridiculous spending of hard-earned tax dollars.

Lions Club Plans Community Sale

The Emmitsburg Lions Club Community Auction will be held sometime in May, President Ralph McDonnell announced this week. McDonnell says that now is the time to take inventory of any items that are of no use to you. Why not turn these articles into cash, or donate it to the Lions Club? Stored articles in attics are a fire hazard and sometimes prevent firemen from getting in where they are really needed. So, get yourself busy and clean out the place... don't put it off. The Lions will collect anything you have, any time. Contact any member of the Lions Club or phone 447-6246.

Cancer Drive To Be Started

The local Cancer Drive, sponsored here by the American Legion Auxiliary, will get under way in April, Mrs. Jesse Knippel, chairman, announced this week. Solicitation of funds will begin shortly and the area solicitors will be named in the near future, the chairman reported.

CHARLES LINN FILES FOR TOWN OFFICE

Emmitsburg's Town Election took on added interest this week when a third citizen, Charles E. Linn, filed for the office of Commissioner, thereby insuring at least a three-way race for the two jobs open on the Board.

Linn appeared before Town Clerk Regina Rybikowsky Wednesday and filed his application. Last week two other newcomers to local politics, Philip D. Topper and F. Sterling Goulden, filed for the two seats of incumbent Commissioners Thomas W. Bollinger and J. Norman Flax.

The Town Clerk reported that another 10 new voters had been registered on the Town books since last week, bringing the total eligible to vote at 603. Those wishing to be able to vote, or seek office, have until Friday, April 16, when the books will close for this year's election. The election will be held on Tuesday, April 27, in the Town Office.

Mr. Linn, 66, is a life-long resident of Emmitsburg and is the father of three daughters. Mr. and Mrs. Linn reside in the former Charles Sharrer property facing Emmit Gardens.

In filing for office, Mr. Linn had this to say: "I am familiar with the problems of the town and the responsibilities of the town officials."

"I made it a point to work with the maintenance men at various times during the past year, so that I could learn first hand about the problems that have to be solved daily."

"In addition I have a store of valuable experience gained while working at the Landis Tool Company over a period of many years."

"Now I have the time and I am happy to offer my services to Emmitsburg."

Lions Club Holds Officer Nominations

Four members of the Liberty-Town-Unionville Lions Club were guests at the regular meeting of the Emmitsburg Lions Club held Monday evening in Mt. Manor Restaurant, President J. Ralph McDonnell, presiding. In addition to the visiting Lions, Dr. A. M. Wasilofsky, was a guest of the club.

The nominating committee placed the following names in nomination for the coming election: President, J. Ralph McDonnell; 1st. vice president, J. Norman Flax; 2nd. vice president, Charles F. Stouter; 3rd. vice president, Charles F. Troxell; secretary, Clarence Peiper; treasurer, Floyd L. Lewis; hostmaster, Francis S. K. Matthews; tailmaster, Marvin Laws; trustees, Norman J. Shriver, William H. Kelz and Arthur Elder.

The club voted a $5 contribution to the soccer team of Community College, and $10 to the Vietnam Overseas Package Program. Lion Harry Otterson reported that the club was now eligible to receive blood from the Red Cross Blood Bank, since five had donated blood to the Bloodmobile recently while it was at St. Joseph College.

Hospitalized

Mrs. Shirley Moser Crum, formerly of Emmitsburg and now residing in the Baltimore area, recently underwent cardiac surgery at Saini Hospital, Baltimore. She continues to show improvement. Friends may write to her at this address: Mrs. Shirley Moser Crum, Room 198A, Mt. Pleasant Section, Saini Hospital, Baltimore, Maryland.

Family House Badly Damaged By Wednesday Fire

The home of John Andrew along the Hampton Valey Rd., three miles west of Emmitsburg, was badly damaged by fire Wednesday morning at 6:50 o'clock.

Chief Guy R. McLaughlin of the Vigilant Hose Co., said the loss was tentatively estimated at $15,000 and said the fire apparently started from a furnace pipe too close to the basement ceiling.

The local Fire Company was praised for the manner in which its' members confined the fire to one area of the six-room home by Top Barnes, Maryland State Fire Investigator, who was called to determine the cause of the blaze.

Firemen said Mr. and Mrs. Andrew and their three children left the home about 6:30 Wednesday morning. Mr. Andrew is a mason and Mrs. Andrew works at the shoe factory in Emmitsburg and the children are cared for during the day.

At the time there seemed to be nothing amiss at the six room concrete block 60x30 foot home.

About 20 minutes later a neighbor saw smoke pouring from the home and phoned for the Emmitsburg firemen.

While the fire was confined mostly to the bedroom of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew, there was smoke damage throughout the entire house, firemen said. The fire fighters had to use smoke masks to enter the building because of the heavy smoke.

The fire inspector said a pipe from the furnace was within about an inch of the basement ceiling under the Andrew's bedroom and apparently had dried out the wood above it and eventually the wood caught fire from the heat.

The fire chief quoted Andrew's insurance agent as saying there was sufficient insurance to cover all damage. The Andrew family plans to reside with relatives until repairs can be made to their home.

It would be appreciated if the papers and magazines were already tied into bundles convenient for carrying. Or, bring them to the church yourself.

The woodworking shop of St. Joseph High School, which is located directly across the street from the high school in the basement of St. Euphemie's Hall, has been made available for the class. The shop is equipped with all the basic power tools. Dr. Robert T. Marshall will be the instructor.

Seton Center Requests County Funds For Operation

The Frederick County Commissioners were asked Tuesday morning to allocate $68,429 to cover a projected deficit in the operation of the Seton Center in Emmitsburg.

The center serves the total community, according to a spokesman, with 50 per cent of the 76 children enrolled in the pre-school program going to public schools. The center provides before and after school care for 25 older children, 88 per cent of them go to public schools.

The center also provides a service to the county, according to the spokesman. Twelve families which had been on welfare or would have to apply for welfare if a mother could not work are being aided by the Seton Center and four families are now contemplating buying their own homes because of increased income from a working mother.

The center also offers adult basic education, home management and woodworking classes, a community action training program, and a summer program for older children.

The estimated expenses in fiscal 1972 are $104,379 of which $16,000 represents donated services. The center's income is $35,000, leaving a deficit of more than $68,000 which the county is requested to cover.

In its first year of operation the deficit was covered by the Sisters of Charity of St. Joseph, but this source can no longer provide the funding, according to a spokesman.

The request for county funds was supported by approximately 20 people Tuesday morning, including a representative of the public school PTA.

The request for $18,000 for 10 county ambulance units, including Emmitsburg, was submitted to the commissioners Tuesday morning. The county has never contributed funds for ambulance service although each county fire department receives $2,500 from the county.

TEEN CENTER REQUESTS LOCAL ASSISTANCE

It's been a long time coming, and it is finally starting to take shape. Now the entire Emmitsburg community, the teenagers, the adults and the college students, can lock hands in a community effort to establish a recreation center for the area teens.

Why a recreation center? Because young people like to get together for dances, athletic activities, and numerous other social functions but sometimes they can't because the town lacks a place for the young generation to gather. Sure, Emmitsburg has its share of dances and parties from time to time but too often they are sponsored by specific groups and denominations—as a result, someone gets left out. They aren't for ALL the teens in the community. To bring us all closer together a place is needed where everyone can gather for fun and relaxation. A recreation center would be a place where the future leaders of the Emmitsburg community can meet new friends, exchange ideas and enjoy being young.

It sounds like a good idea, doesn't it? Everyone seems to think so, but still we need help if the teen center is to become a reality. The religious and civic leaders of Emmitsburg are for it but this project will never get off the ground without the NECESSARY support of the town's teenage population. This will be a community effort, with everyone pitching in we can make Emmitsburg an even better place to live and grow up BUT we need the mind and muscle of EVERYONE if we hope to accomplish this goal. If the town's young citizens show enough interest we can make it work.

What can be done? Well, this Saturday, March 27, there will be a meeting in the building across from St. Joseph's High School, and it won't be "just another meeting," either. From 8 to 10 p.m. there will be free coke and pizza, a lot of great music and some lively, constructive conversation. The purpose of the meeting will be to discuss what has to be done to make the teen center happen. It's important to keep in mind that this gathering is open to ALL of the teenagers in the Emmitsburg area, regardless of denominations. If you're a teenager you belong.

So pass the good word, tell a friend and be sure to show your face this Saturday night—a good evening is guaranteed for all. The place is the building across from St. Joseph's High, the date is Saturday, the 27th, the time is 8:00 p.m. and the purpose is to get the ball rolling on a recreation center for the guys and girls of the area. Remember, it will be YOUR place, so come to the meeting and do YOUR share in this community effort to make it happen.

Cub Scouts To Hold Organization Meeting

It has been announced that registration for the local Cub Scouts will be held at 7:00 p.m. tonight in the Veterans of Foreign Wars Annex.

All boys between the ages of eight and eleven are invited to join, and all registrants must be accompanied by at least one parent.

Nun To Attend Workshop

Sister Marcella Scully, assistant professor of biology at St. Joseph College, has received a grant to attend a workshop on elementary and junior high school science methods courses. Approximately 30 college teachers from various parts of the United States will participate in the 10-day session at East Central State College, Ada, Oklahoma, beginning August 9.

The National Science Foundation — Short Courses for College Teachers is sponsoring the course. The program is co-directed by Dr. Don Stafford, department of chemistry, and Dr. Don Kellogg, department of physics, both of East Central State College.

Included in the course will be an analysis of the philosophy of inquiry teaching in science and a familiarization with inquiry-oriented courses developed for the elementary and junior high school.

Frederick County Backgrounds

BY SAMUEL CARRICK

Once Again—The Rowe Family
 "History is a record of the dead past and has no bearing on the problems of the world today. Let the dead past bury its dead—live for today and today only."
 The late Sir Winston Churchill, a historian beyond compare, disagrees with the old Romans. History is the "then and now". The past is ever present—there nothing new in the world or in the life of man. Human nature has not changed since the beginning of time and history repeats itself. The living past appears on the stage of the present—dressed in a different costume—but not essentially changed—the "same old thing over and over".
 It is impossible to escape "the burden of history". It is a part of every life—and "lives from one generation to another".
 The founders and pioneers of this country brought with them from the old country, the traditions and customs of their homeland. Who shall say that these same traditions and customs are not a part of today's heritage? The so-called "Pennsylvania German" left his imprint not only in Pennsylvania, but in every part of America to which he emigrated—and only the waters of the Pacific Ocean put a stop to his travels. There is the answer—history does repeat itself.
 To narrow the field of interest—Maryland particularly felt the influence of the emigrant from the German states and the Palatinate. Early in the 18th century these hard people began to journey from Pennsylvania into Maryland and Virginia. Included in this company was George (1) Row, the father of Arthur (2) Row. They first settled at Monocacy, in Frederick County. Later, Arthur (2) moved to the vicinity of Emmitsburg, where he spent the remainder of his life. Some of his descendants still live in the district—even into the fifth and sixth generation.
 Last week the first seven children of Joseph (3) Rowe and his wife, Susanna (Baker) Rowe, were listed in this column. The eighth and last offspring was:
 8. Charles Francis (4) Rowe—married Anna Eliza Maxell. Both Charles Francis (4) Rowe and his wife, Anna Eliza Maxell, are interred in Elias Lutheran churchyard and their inscriptions from the markers at their graves are as follows:
 7. In memory of Charles F. Rowe. Born July 29th, 1830. Died February 21, 1911.
 In memory of Ann Eliza Rowe, wife of Charles F. Rowe, born March 6, 1836. Died August 21, 1926.
 9. In memory of Susan R. Rowe,

the only daughter of Charles F. and Ann Eliza Rowe. Born Oct. 21, 1860. Died February 13, 1882.
 According to the records of Elias Lutheran Church (burial records) Charles F. Rowe and his wife had "attained unto a goodly age" and had lived a full life. The transcripts follow:
 Died, February 22, 1911, Chas. F. Rowe, aged 81 years. Burial in the churchyard.
 Died, August 21, 1926, Mrs. Anna E. Rowe, aged 90 years, 3 months and 27 days. Burial in the churchyard.
 It will be noticed that there is a difference of one day in the date of Charles F. (4) Rowe's death as given on his gravemarker and the church records. At this late date it is impossible to determine the correct one—unless the family Bible should come to light.
 Again referring to the church records—the following baptismal records of the Charles F. (4) Rowe family have been recorded:
 Baptized—Victor Earnest Rowe, son of Charles F. Rowe and his wife, Ann Eliza Maxell. Child born July 2, 1858 and baptized January 5, 1859.
 Baptized—Susan Rosalie Rowe, daughter of Charles F. Rowe and his wife, Ann Eliza Maxell. The child was born October 21, 1860 and baptized February 28, 1861.
 Note: The burial records of Elias Church tell the story of the sad ending of the life of an only daughter.
 Died, February 13, 1882, S. Rosalie Rowe, aged 21 years, 3 months and 22 days. Burial in the churchyard.
 A descendant of Mary Ann (Rowe) Zeck, the first wife of Detrick Zeck and daughter of Joseph (3) Rowe, tells of seeing a picture of this "beautiful young girl, the treasured possession of her father and mother. It is not known just what caused her death—but she is interred with her parents in the old Elias burial ground.
 Victor Earnest (5) Rowe, the son of Charles Francis and Ann Eliza (Maxell) Rowe, died in 1946 and his death is recorded in the church records as follows:
 Died, March 20, 1946, Victor E. Rowe, aged 87 years, 8 months and 8 days. Burial in Mountainview Cemetery.
 The inscriptions from the markers in the Victor E. (5) Rowe family burial plot in Mountainview Cemetery are as follows:
 10. Victor E. Rowe. Born 1858. Died 1946.
 Virginia Columbia Rowe, wife of Victor E. Rowe. Born August 27, 1957, died March 19, 1897.
 11. In memory of Alice Gertrude Rowe, daughter of Victor E. and Alice C. Rowe. Born April

5, 1891. Died August 31, 1891.
 This concludes, for the time being at least, the notes on the family of Charles Francis (4) Rowe.
 Among the other children of Joseph (3) and Susanna (Baker) Rowe, were Catharine (4) and Elias (or Eli) (4) Rowe, both of whom died unmarried and are interred in the Lutheran churchyard.
 Miss Catharine Rowe was a "maiden lady" and lived her entire life in her father's house. This was a "long house" located on the present site of the Methodist church. She apparently kept a "sharp eye" on her various nieces and nephews and did not hesitate to speak her mind if their conduct did not please her. She was, apparently, the typical spinster aunt of that day.
 Miss Catharine (4) Rowe's tombstone bears the following inscription (it is in the family plot of her father, Joseph (3) Rowe):
 12. In memory of Catharine A. Rowe. Died December 2, 1880. Aged 61 years.
 Elias S. Rowe (or Eli) is also buried in the family plot in old Elias burial ground. The inscription from his grave marker follows:
 13. In memory of Elias S. Rowe. Died December 21, 1863, aged 41 years, 3 months and 1 day.
 The notes on the Rowe (or Row) family, of Pennsylvania, Maryland and points north, south, east and west, will be continued in this series next week.

Rock-Opera Part Of Easter Service

This Sunday is Passion Sunday in the liturgical Church Year, providing a more than usual emphasis of Christ's Sacrifice. This year, a new tool for communicating The Passion will be used in the Elias Lutheran Church of Emmitsburg. At 2 p.m., all of the youth of the Parish are invited to hear, in stereo, the new rock-opera, "Jesus Christ, Superstar." Through modern music and language, the events of Holy Week are unfolded, in a 90 minute presentation.
 The operas, by Andrew Webber and Tim Rice, uses the traditional characters of the Biblical narrative, in their usual roles, but brings them each to life by exposing their human motivations and weaknesses. Even Jesus is more human than theology permits, but the result is to make His suffering more acute and vicarious.
 Following the recorded presentation, an open-minded discussion of what was heard will be available for those that want to stay. Everyone is welcome, with a particular invitation to the junior and senior high school youth of Emmitsburg. Pastor Fearer, Seminarian Charles Brophy, and the youth of Elias Church, will serve as hosts.

15. In memory of Charles F. Rowe. Born July 29th, 1830. Died February 21, 1911.
 In memory of Ann Eliza Rowe, wife of Charles F. Rowe, born March 6, 1836. Died August 21, 1926.
 16. In memory of Susan R. Rowe,

the only daughter of Charles F. and Ann Eliza Rowe. Born Oct. 21, 1860. Died February 13, 1882.
 According to the records of Elias Lutheran Church (burial records) Charles F. Rowe and his wife had "attained unto a goodly age" and had lived a full life. The transcripts follow:
 Died, February 22, 1911, Chas. F. Rowe, aged 81 years. Burial in the churchyard.
 Died, August 21, 1926, Mrs. Anna E. Rowe, aged 90 years, 3 months and 27 days. Burial in the churchyard.
 It will be noticed that there is a difference of one day in the date of Charles F. (4) Rowe's death as given on his gravemarker and the church records. At this late date it is impossible to determine the correct one—unless the family Bible should come to light.
 Again referring to the church records—the following baptismal records of the Charles F. (4) Rowe family have been recorded:
 Baptized—Victor Earnest Rowe, son of Charles F. Rowe and his wife, Ann Eliza Maxell. Child born July 2, 1858 and baptized January 5, 1859.
 Baptized—Susan Rosalie Rowe, daughter of Charles F. Rowe and his wife, Ann Eliza Maxell. The child was born October 21, 1860 and baptized February 28, 1861.
 Note: The burial records of Elias Church tell the story of the sad ending of the life of an only daughter.
 Died, February 13, 1882, S. Rosalie Rowe, aged 21 years, 3 months and 22 days. Burial in the churchyard.
 A descendant of Mary Ann (Rowe) Zeck, the first wife of Detrick Zeck and daughter of Joseph (3) Rowe, tells of seeing a picture of this "beautiful young girl, the treasured possession of her father and mother. It is not known just what caused her death—but she is interred with her parents in the old Elias burial ground.
 Victor Earnest (5) Rowe, the son of Charles Francis and Ann Eliza (Maxell) Rowe, died in 1946 and his death is recorded in the church records as follows:
 Died, March 20, 1946, Victor E. Rowe, aged 87 years, 8 months and 8 days. Burial in Mountainview Cemetery.
 The inscriptions from the markers in the Victor E. (5) Rowe family burial plot in Mountainview Cemetery are as follows:
 10. Victor E. Rowe. Born 1858. Died 1946.
 Virginia Columbia Rowe, wife of Victor E. Rowe. Born August 27, 1957, died March 19, 1897.
 11. In memory of Alice Gertrude Rowe, daughter of Victor E. and Alice C. Rowe. Born April

5, 1891. Died August 31, 1891.
 This concludes, for the time being at least, the notes on the family of Charles Francis (4) Rowe.
 Among the other children of Joseph (3) and Susanna (Baker) Rowe, were Catharine (4) and Elias (or Eli) (4) Rowe, both of whom died unmarried and are interred in the Lutheran churchyard.
 Miss Catharine Rowe was a "maiden lady" and lived her entire life in her father's house. This was a "long house" located on the present site of the Methodist church. She apparently kept a "sharp eye" on her various nieces and nephews and did not hesitate to speak her mind if their conduct did not please her. She was, apparently, the typical spinster aunt of that day.
 Following the recorded presentation, an open-minded discussion of what was heard will be available for those that want to stay. Everyone is welcome, with a particular invitation to the junior and senior high school youth of Emmitsburg. Pastor Fearer, Seminarian Charles Brophy, and the youth of Elias Church, will serve as hosts.

NATIONAL EDUCATION PROGRAM
Searcy, Arkansas

God Bless America!
To save America and mankind, two great revivals are necessary: (1) a far-reaching mobilization for God; and (2) a mobilization of faith in the fundamental political and economic principles that protect the freedom of man. Amidst one of the most unbelievable and disheartening periods in man's history—with our world torn in strife, with a generation of youth threatened by drug abuse, and with a Satanic revolution seeking world power under way—there are signs that the two great revivals are beginning to take hold. In California, which has been the incubator of disruptive and dangerous movements in recent years, an inspirational "Jesus Movement" is attracting attention among the restless, footless youth; and in many parts of the nation individuals and small groups are beginning to meaningfully evangelize with the priceless ingredients of freedom. In Southern California we encountered for the first time the swift spread among youth of Satanic "Witchcraft," and heard eye-witnesses tell of the widening practices of killing animals as "sacrifices" to satiate a Satan God. And in Southern California we also saw the first indications that young people in the drug culture and revolutionary ranks, who are seeking something to worship and follow, can be led to Christ. And when we returned to our office from our investigations in California, there was the following letter from a 16 year old boy on my desk (typical of many we have begun to receive from all sections of the nation):

A Challenging Letter
"Your citizenship program I attended last summer has been the greatest thing that has happened to me in my whole life. It is amazing how the course in Americanism at the seminar has helped me, in my outlook on life and how I see things. Your organization has certainly been a boon to me. Your newsletter gives many good, basic, and, in my opinion, unbiased facts on what is going on.
"I have many activities now. I have given six speeches already since October. The ones I enjoyed most were my County Farm Bureau appearance and my 4-H and Police speeches. In 4-H, and the one to the Carver (Minnesota) County Police, your film, COMMUNIST ON CAMPUS, has been great. I answered questions from knowledge gained and was successful in answering questions for over an hour at the 4-H and for the Police.

A Dedicated Messenger
"Mary Jane Engelen, who was at the Forum also, spoke with me at the Police speech. I have more lined up with Mary and 10 more on my own. Information gained from your organization, the FBI, the Government Printing Office, America's Future, Inc., and the 30 books I've read since the Forum have earned me a column in our weekly newspaper. I have so much to say and so little space to say it in that I will be writing for the newspaper a long time into the future.
"Besides speaking and writing I've been doing my school classes some favors. I showed COMMUNIST ON CAMPUS and THE TRUTH ABOUT COMMUNISM to all our History classes, and the teachers want me to get more films. The NEP has been a great source. I plan on using the Styrofoam American Freedom Structure (from the Forum) a great deal too. I've just about got the script memorized and in a few weeks will be showing it to my Law and Economics classes in school. The script allows the freedom of expression on my part as well.

"Yes, Dr. Benson, I can truthfully say that the week I spent at the citizenship seminar was the greatest and best spent week of my life. When you were willing to talk to me personally both at the Forum and on the phone, I learned that the bigger a person is the more willing he is to help a beginner. Thank you, Dr. Benson, for helping me. I am only 16 years old and was 15 when we talked. God bless you, sir."
For God And Country
God bless Lance M. Hillier, Rt. 5, Box 195-A, Excelsior, Minnesota, who wrote this nice letter. More and more letters like this have come to us in the last 12 months, and this has had a powerful inspirational effect on our National Education Program staff. We are planning now to expand the youth citizenship forums into at least another 10 states this summer (we are in 10). I've just returned from two seminars — one in Birmingham and one in Stuttgart, Arkansas, both initial efforts.
We are anxious to contact citizen leaders and civic groups who could help us get youth Forums started in their states.

Write or telephone me and we can get together and plan to push forward to reach another 10 million youth this summer — for God and country.

NO TIME LIKE THE PRESENT

How much time do you waste in a day? An hour? Two hours?
You may be surprised at how much it costs you.
The best use of time is a subject which has preoccupied famous men down through history.
It was Benjamin Franklin who coined the phrase "time is money." And in Poor Richard's Almanac, he wrote: "Dost thou love life? Then do not squander time, for that's the stuff life is made of."
France's Napoleon Bonaparte once admonished one of his aides: "Go, sir, gallop—and don't forget that the world was made in six days. You can ask me for anything you like, except time."

How do you value your own time?
A Washington financial writer recently cautioned: "Anyone who wastes your spare time is robbing you at a dollar cost at least equal to what you earn."
If you figure out how much of your time is "wasted" during a day or a week, you can check the approximate dollar cost to you from the following table:

Yearly Earn-ings	Cost Each Hour	Cost Each Minute
$ 7,500	$ 3.75	6 cents
$10,000	$ 5.00	8 cents
$15,000	$ 7.50	13 cents
$20,000	$10.25	17 cents
$30,000	$15.25	25 cents

Management experts point out that in business, the proper use of time often makes the difference between success and failure. "Time is the scarcest resource," says consultant and author Peter Drucker, "and unless it is managed, nothing else can be managed."
Many successful men and women today save time when it comes to their personal finances by having their investments handled for them by professional "money managers." Instead of spending their own valuable days in the time-consuming and exacting task of weighing which stocks to buy or sell and at what price, they invest in a mutual fund. Then these decisions are made for them by full-time investment managers.

A mutual fund is an investment company which brings together the money of many persons with similar objectives and invests in securities of a large number of companies.
Mutual funds are available to nearly everybody, not just the wealthy. Shareholders find mutual funds a convenient and time-saving way of building capital for the future.
Because of the many services mutual funds provide at little or no extra cost, more and more investors are attracted. These services also save time and effort. They include such options as automatic reinvestment of dividends and capital gains, accumulation plans for regular saving, withdrawal plans for additional income or for special needs, and many other services.
If you would like to know more about mutual funds, you can start saving your own time right away by contacting a securities dealer, mutual fund representative or fund of your choice or by writing for free literature and a list of funds to the Investment Company Institute, 1775 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20007.

Campaign Reform: A Proposal

Very early in the history of our republic, it was recognized that the credibility of government is affected in large measure by the manner in which officials are elected to office. Congress began as early as 1906 to examine and study the subject of campaign contributions with particular reference to the dangers inherent in an unregulated process of campaign financing which could result in the power of government becoming responsive only to the rich.
The American electorate is aware of abuses that are occurring and there is a call across the country for reform. We in Congress must hasten to answer this call. The longer we delay the task of enacting meaningful election reform legislation, the greater risk we run of losing more of our constituents to that ever-growing number of Americans who have become detached and apathetic about government and its failures.
In order to meet this crisis in confidence which has arisen out of unregulated campaign financing, the Senate Minority Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania and I have developed a legislative package dealing with election reform which is now pending in the Senate. This package is divided into five substantive areas; reporting and disclosure, monetary limitation, mailing privileges, the news media and tax incentives.
The Scott-Mathias bill demands the most complete unveiling of election machinery that has ever been required by law. It will make public all the facts of political life, many of which have been carefully guarded secrets in the past. Our bill will enable the public to know who has contributed money to political campaigns, how much was contributed and for what purposes the money was used. The bill places limitations on the amounts individuals can contribute, in an effort to prevent particularly wealthy persons or organizations from gaining too much influence through overly-generous election financing. Our bill provides that no single source may contribute more than $15,000 to a presidential campaign, $10,000 to a Senate campaign or more than $5,000 in support of a candidate for the House of Representatives. Further, in order to guard against rich men buying public office for themselves, this bill stipulates that no one may contribute more than $50,000 to his own campaign for president or vice president, $35,000 to his own race for the Senate or $25,000 to his own campaign for the House.

Reduced rates for political mail would be provided to insure a greater equality between the incumbent and his opponents as they approach the electorate.
We would repeal Section 315(a) of the Federal Communications Act dealing with equal time requirements, but only for presidential and vice presidential candidates. In this way we hope to provide greater flexibility and freedom for the news media while preserving the original fairness doctrine theme which prompted that legislation.
Finally, we are seeking to provide tax incentives to encourage small political contributions which we consider the most important way of curbing the power of large contributors. From my own experience, I know it is better and more healthy to finance campaign spending through many small contributions rather than fewer very large ones.

WHEN TERROR STRIKES

It was a year of fearful cataclysms.
Over 70,000 died when an awesome earthquake toppled mountains and changed the course of mighty Andean rivers in Peru last May.
In November, a cyclone hurled a giant wave at low-lying East Pakistan. Hundreds of thousands died in that terrifying flood, which may yet prove to be the most lethal natural disaster in history. And a few days later, a killer typhoon sowed chaos and devastation in the Philippines.
In each case, a shock of horror raced around the globe. But while mourning the dead, the world lost no time in rushing rescue, relief and rehabilitation assistance to the survivors.
One of the first to respond was Catholic Relief Services. To the million left homeless in Peru's temblor, it sent in the first three months alone over $3 million worth of food, clothing, medicines and equipment.
For the East Pakistani survivors, it arranged the immediate emergency air shipment of blankets, multivitamin capsules and water purification tablets and followed up with a plane-borne cargo of 100,000 doses of typhoid vaccine. Similar mercy cargoes were sped swiftly to the Philippines typhoon victims.
Vital as these life-saving shipments were, they were only the initial phase of the long-pull rehabilitation effort to which Catholic Relief Services is committed — not only in these and other natural and man-made disasters but year in and year out in over 70 chronically impoverished countries throughout the world.
You can translate your concern and love for the world's needy into action by sending a contribution to the nearest Catholic church or to Catholic Overseas Aid, Empire State Building, New York, N.Y. 10001, during the March 14-21 fund campaign.

BUSINESS and the STOCK MARKET

Opportunities In Canadian Issues
By Babson's Reports Incorporated, Wellesley Hills, Mass., March 25, 1971—Canada, our neighbor to the north, is especially rich in natural resources. It is enjoying solid growth, with its Gross National Product—currently in excess of $80 billion a year—racking up regular gains. The long-term expansion pattern of the Canadian economy is a significant consideration—and a strong attraction—for some American invest-vestors who wish to achieve a measure of geographical diversification in placement of their investment funds. Important Factors To Consider American investors who are contemplating purchase of Canadian stocks should be aware of a number of inconvenient factors. For example, unless investors have access to the major financial publications or leading metropolitan newspapers, few market prices of Canadian securities are readily available. Also, not all Canadian concerns render cash dividends in American dollars. Hence, where payments are made in Canadian money, U. S. investors are obliged to have their dividends converted into American dollars.

In addition, investors this side of the border who purchase Canadian securities are subject to the U. S. Interest Equalization Tax, except in the case of Dominion issues which are traded on the New York and American Stock Exchanges. There is an exception, too, for issues bought Over-The-Counter for which the purchaser can obtain certification that the securities were bought from American citizens. Canadian Estate Taxes

Another possible drawback in Canadian investments for residents of the U. S. is the exposure to Canadian estate taxes. The estate of an American investor containing Canadian securities at the time of death could be subject to Dominion and provincial estate levies on those issues. Only the Canadian securities which are traded on the New York and American Stock Exchanges, and therefore, have U. S. Transfer Agents, are free of involvement with Canadian estate tax levies. Attractive Depressed Situations As in the case of American securities marts, stock prices north of the border have been on the rebound for about ten months. But there are a number of stocks of well-established Canadian firms which are still trading well below their peaks and possess considerable potential. For this article, the Research Staff of Babson's Reports has selected three such issues for capital appreciation.

Commissioner Johnson noted that the fact that many motorists have already received their tag renewals can be attributed to the use of tag validation stickers this year instead of license tags since these new stickers are being sent by First Class mail for only six cents, as opposed to tags which were sent via Third Class mail. MODERN LIVING THE CAREFREE WAY

The last word in household communications is now available with the introduction of a wireless intercom that can transform your whole way of life. Whether you want to keep in touch with someone in a detached workshop, garage or similar structure—or you want to keep tabs on a baby's room or sick room—the modern appliance transmits wireless words to the wise.

And because there are two separate channels, you can add a third unit and talk privately between any two stations. Or all three locations can communicate at the same time. Toning up your way of life, one model, a two-unit solid state wireless home intercom system, features an instant-on solid state chassis, six transistors, squeeze control, pilot light, mounting slots for wall mounting, a three-inch Velvet Voice speaker, an alert signal button, and talk and lock button. Intercoms provide the ways and means for moderns to get the message. And the many advantages of these intercoms virtually speak for themselves. For further information on intercoms write to Betsy Parkes, Box 88112, Indianapolis, Indiana 46208.

STRAIGHT FACTS ABOUT ARTHRITIS

I. It Can Be Helped

By JACK PICKERING

Of all common disease, arthritis is most misunderstood. It is repeatedly dismissed as "just rheumatism," yet it can rob victims of the ability to earn a living, condemn them to life in a wheelchair or in bed, make their days and nights a constant misery. An enormous folklore has grown up around arthritis, full of false notions about what causes it and what will cure it—beliefs that it can be "cured" by diet, pills, climate, charms such as metal bracelets, or sitting in abandoned mine shafts. There is the opposite misconception that "nothing can be done for it; you just have to live with it." This is also false and dangerous. There is a somewhat similar belief, which oversimplifies

EDITOR'S NOTE: Despite the fact that 17,000,000 Americans have arthritis, the truth about it is still shrouded in misinformation, misleading advertising and old wives' tales. For example: Nothing can be done about arthritis. Only old people get arthritis. The minor aches and stiffness of arthritis . . . ore were ignored by early miners. Assays showed it wasn't lead, so it was considered worthless. Even when it was properly identified, it was ignored until World War I when there was some interest in its properties as an alloy for steel. Then came more indifference. Not until about 1930 did science and industry wake up to the incredible range of properties and uses lying in wait in Moly. For example, Moly doesn't melt until a temperature of 4750F! Wow, that's almost 2000 degrees higher than the melting point of steel and 1000 degrees higher than the melting point of most of the world's rocks! This tremendous heat resistance, plus extreme toughness and strength make Moly almost a miracle alloy in the production of metals in a world that demands more and more muscle in its metals. To fly to the moon. To withstand the enormous pressures on submarine hulls a mile down in the ocean. Moly even helps put the food on your table. Tiny traces added to fertilizers increase certain crop yields by as much as 30% to 300%, because Moly triggers a release of nitrogen which plants take from the soil. Moly is used in chemicals, inks, paints. Formulated into catalysts, it helps remove pollution-causing sulfurs from fuel oil.

Where next for Moly? Men at American Metal Climax Inc., world's largest producer of Moly, throw up their hands and say, "Gee whizz, it looks like everywhere!"

amount of arthritis. It is just as misleading to believe that "nothing can be done for arthritis." Something can be done for every arthritis patient. Cases that used to progress inexorably to crippling now can be halted. A growing number of disabled patients now are being restored so effectively that they go back to work. Pain can be eliminated in many instances; sometimes all symptoms can be suppressed. But everyone can be helped to some degree. William E. Reynolds, M.D., medical director of The Arthritis Foundation, asserts without qualification: "No case is hopeless. Something can be done for arthritis now."

Exact Diagnosis Vital First, it deprives the patient of exact diagnosis—which is vital to choosing the correct treatment. Second, in the right cases, aspirin is superior to any other known medication. Third, the "just-aspirin notion" is wrong because it bypasses all the other aspects of treatment now available. These range through surgery, orthopedic appliances, proper balance of rest and exercise, changes in daily living habits, heat, physical therapy and even implantation of artificial joints. The most effective treatment for arthritis combines everything that will help, from very simple to elaborate measures. Arthritis and its treatment must not be oversimplified. But word must reach all arthritis sufferers that effective treatment programs now exist. Today's therapy isn't perfect—but it is better than it has ever been in the past. It must be used. Every weapon which now exists must be employed to combat the devastation caused by arthritis. The give-up attitude of arthritis patients has to be eliminated. D.M.V. REPORT

By David H. Hugel
Director, Public Information
Maryland Dept. of Motor Vehicles
Why Didn't I Receive A New License Tag This Year?

This question and many other similar questions have been asked of the Department of Motor Vehicles since the Department began issuing tag validation stickers this year instead of the familiar license tag.

Maryland's tag validation program was authorized by legislation passed in 1969. Under the program, a license tag is issued every five years with validation stickers being used for the four intervening years. Since new Maryland tags were issued last year, motorists will receive validation stickers beginning this year.

Although this program is new in Maryland, validation stickers have been used in other states for a number of years. In addition to Maryland, twenty-six states, including New York, California, Massachusetts, and our neighbors, Pennsylvania and Delaware, as well as the District of Columbia, currently use the validation stickers.

Before adopting the use of validation stickers, the Department of Motor Vehicles undertook extensive research to determine the best possible validation system. Information was obtained from other states that have been using validation stickers for a number of years. Their experiences and recommendations were taken into consideration in drawing up rigid specifications which the manufacturer is required to meet. Maryland stickers are printed by the State Use Industries from reflective sheeting furnished by private firms.

The validation sticker itself is printed on this reflective sheeting with a highly adhesive backing. Under these specifications established by the Department of Motor Vehicles, the sticker should be applicable at temperatures down to minus 10 degrees Fahrenheit, without the necessity for heat or solvent activation. It should also be able to resist being pried off at minus 10 degrees Fahrenheit. This means that the stickers are virtually theft-proof since the sticker is designed to disintegrate rather than peel off once it is properly applied to a license tag.

For the owners added protection, each set of validation stickers will have a serial number which will also be printed on his registration card. Other specifications for validation stickers require that they be able to withstand soaking for up to eight hours in water and that they retain their adhesive quality for not less than five years.

For best results, motorists should separate the two validation stickers before attempting to remove the paper backing. The stickers should then be placed in the lower right corner of both the front and rear license tag. Validation stickers have their own self-adhering backing, but license plates must be dry and clean of all dirt or oil for the sticker to adhere properly.

The Department of Motor Vehicles is continually checking stickers to insure that they meet these standards; however, a defective sticker may still be issued. Should a motorist experience any difficulty with such a sticker, it should be returned to the Department so that an adjustment may be made.

centers or nurseries, for two or more dependent children, while the parent is actually working or is actively seeking employment. For one dependent child, the working parent can deduct up to $600 per year. Child care deductions cannot be claimed for children age 13 and older, unless the child is incapacitated or otherwise unable to care for himself.

H & R Block warns that the child care deduction should not be confused with the $625 dependency exemption. The deduction for child care can be taken in addition to the exemption, but it cannot be claimed if the child is taken as a dependent on someone else's tax return. Payments made for child care must actually be made for the care of the children and not such additional duties as dishwashing and light housework.

Working wives are also eligible says Block but combined family income must then be taken into account. Allowable deductions are reduced dollar-for-dollar as the total income of husband and wife exceeds $6,000. To illustrate, suppose you and your wife have one child and your combined family income is $6,400. Your child care deduction must be reduced for every dollar of income over $6,000. Thus the allowable deduction of $600 for one child is reduced to $600 ($600 less $400, the amount by which your income exceeded $6,000). You cannot beat this rule by filing separately, since the law clearly calls for a reduction based on the combined income of husband and wife.

Equine Chiropodists

According to Joe Young, international secretary of IUIHUSC, the International Union of Journeyman Horseshoers of the U.S. and Canada, who makes his headquarters at Longacres race track, Seattle, there were 317 card-carrying "equine chiropodists" at work last year. There are no doubt as many, if not more, non-union horseshoers handling farm and pleasure animals and, according to figures gathered by Spindletop Research Center in Lexington, Ky., there's not going to be any unemployment problem in this field. Spindletop's equine census found evidence of an equine population explosion. The last count by the U.S. Department of Agriculture in 1960 put the horse population at 3 million.

Spindletop's conservative estimate in 1969 was 6,260,000. Registration of Thoroughbreds alone has almost doubled in the 10 years between 1960 and 1969. The Jockey Club reports 23,963 foals of 1969 and is still counting late registrations. The need for blacksmiths is evident and New Mexico State University recently announced a course in "farrier science" which has attracted students from as far afield as Brooklyn, N.Y. The cost of the course is $150 with an additional $45 "lab fee" for such equipment as hoof nippers, nail clinchers, hoof pick, hoof knife, rasp, hammer, apron, etc. Obviously there'll soon be a need for more "spreading chestnut trees."

RETAINS SWEETNESS

When only one vegetable, among all those entered in the All-America Selections trials, wins an award you can be sure it's extra-special. Early Xtra Sweet corn is just that.

The oft-repeated instruction to have the water in the pot boiling before you pick ears of sweet corn from the garden because the sugar content decreases so fast now can be changed because of a new variety of corn named Early Xtra Sweet.

While its sugar content is higher than that of many other sweet corns and its flavor delicious, the sugar doesn't convert to starch quite as speedily as in other varieties. Thus, instead of having the water boiling before you pick, you can pick first and fill the pot with water afterwards. A new, built-in convenience!

The plants on which the luscious, 8-inch-long ears are produced grow 5 to 6 feet tall, their husks covering the ears tightly. Ears are ready for eating in just 71 days from the date on which seeds are sown—making this an extra-early variety.

It is all these good qualities, described above, that have earned for Early Xtra Sweet the only award given a vegetable by All-America Selections for the year 1971.

There are several things you should consider when planting Early Xtra Sweet, which you will certainly want to do. The first is making a succession of plantings so that you can eat the ears over a long season. The second is that this variety can develop its extra sugar content only if the silks on the ears, which are the female flowers, are pollinated by pollen from its own male flowers, the tassels.

For this reason plantings of Early Xtra Sweet should be kept as far as possible from those of other corn varieties and should be made in blocks of short rows rather than in double long rows. This will insure proximity of pollen to silks and result in a crop you'll surely enjoy.

You can't live on love forever.

Okay, you're young. You've got all the love in the world and you're doing your best to live on it. Retirement? That's for when you're old, right?

It's for when you're old if you can afford it.

The kind of retirement you're after isn't the typical rocking-away-on-the-front-porch variety. You probably picture yourself taking extended vacations, pursuing hobbies, or buying that forty acres and living off the land. Pipe dreams? Not if you prepare now.

There's an easy, painless way to make your retirement dreams a reality. Join the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. That way, an amount you specify will be set aside from each paycheck and used to buy U.S. Savings Bonds. It's an easy way to save.

And now there's a bonus interest rate on all U.S. Savings Bonds—for E Bonds, 5½% when held to maturity of 5 years, 10 months (4% the first year). That extra ½%, payable as a bonus at maturity, applies to all Bonds issued since June 1, 1970... with a comparable improvement for all older Bonds.

Now is the time to start saving. Money's a nice thing to have while you're living on love forever.

Bonds are safe. If lost, stolen, or destroyed, we replace them. When needed, they can be cashed at your bank. Tax may be deferred until redemption. And always remember, Bonds are a proud way to save.

Take stock in America. Now Bonds pay a bonus at maturity.

SOCIAL SECURITY NEWS

March, 1971, is the final opportunity to enroll under Part B for persons born between October 2, 1902, and October 2, 1903.

Carroll A. Jones, manager of the Frederick Social Security Office explained this is also the last chance for persons whose part B coverage terminated in 1963.

Part B or Medical Insurance is the voluntary part of Medicare that helps pay doctor bills and other health services, it pays 80 per cent of covered expenses after the first $50. Jones suggested you look at your Medicare card if you aren't certain whether you have Part B coverage. Your card will indicate whether you are covered under Part A and B or just Part A. If you have questions about your coverage, contact the social security office.

Maryland—Sixth District

This regular column serves as another vehicle to keep in touch with all segments of my constituency. It is an open invitation for you to question me on issues, let me assist you with your problems, request information or comment on whatever happens to be on your mind. Letters should be sent to me, c/o U. S. House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. 20515. While space is obviously limited for printing all replies, I shall make every effort to answer each person who contacts me.

The following questions were typical of those asked of me on a recent district tour:
Why can't the $55,000-per-acre limit in subsidies to farmers be lowered?
The limit approved by Congress last year can and should be remedied. Ironically, a sizeable portion of the anticipated savings from the bill may not come about because of the legal loopholes the legislation created. Allotment-leasing techniques and the splitting up of big farms are becoming typical methods used to get around the new ceiling. It appears that legislation to lower the ceiling, and to correct inequities and save tax dollars, will come before the House this year, and it will receive my full support.

Has Congress acted recently on the Prisoner of War situation?
The Communists are moved only through world opinion and so last month I joined approximately 300 of my colleagues in co-sponsoring a resolution condemning the North Vietnamese for inhumane treatment of American Prisoners of War. The bipartisan measure called on the North Vietnamese to comply with the Geneva Convention accords which that government signed in 1957. The resolution specifically requests identification of all prisoners, impartial inspection of POW camps, the release of seriously injured or sick prisoners, and the free exchange of mail between prisoners and their families. Congress is concerned about our soldiers in captivity and every effort will be made to help ensure their safety and early release.

Our family is planning to go on a camping trip this summer. Where can we get information on Federal and State Park facilities? Information on national and state parks and forests, campsites, recreation facilities, scenic and historic tours, accommodations and related matters is available from my office. Just drop me a line c/o U. S. House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. 20515, and I will see to it that your specific request is answered.

I understand that there is a special phone number that senior citizens in Maryland may call for help on employment matters. What is this all about?
A hotline for help for the elderly has been activated in Maryland. The elderly may obtain immediate help and information by dialing toll free the number 1-800-492-0270. The service is available 24 hours a day and supplies information on health, welfare, recreation, employment and education resources for the aged. It also refers them to the local or state agency which can best solve their particular problem. Naturally, my office is also available to aid elder citizens, especially with problems or questions on the federal level.

Are you always going to visit the same places on your district tours?
Not at all. Monthly district tours will concentrate in the larger cities and towns for practical reasons, but several new and less-populated communities are usually included on the trips each month. In April a special tour of smaller towns is scheduled and will include Flintstone, Corriganville, Mt. Savage, Lonaconing, Westernport, Kitzmiller, Adamstown, Myersville, Smithsburg, Clear Spring, Sharpsburg, Boonsboro, Middletown, Brunswick, Walkersville, Union Bridge, Manchester, Patapsco, Woodstock and Mount Airy.

St. Joseph Alumnae To Hold Reception

The Alumnae Association at St. Joseph College is planning a daisy reception for this year's senior class on March 27 at 1 p.m. The daisy is a symbol of the traditional daisy chain linking the graduating class to the Alumnae Association. Brute' on campus will be the scene of the luncheon.

Besides members of the class of '71, the Alumnae Board of Directors, Alumnae Club presidents, class secretaries, fund agents, past presidents of the association, and college sisters have been invited to the program.

Each year this event is held to welcome new members into the Alumnae Association in order "to foster the growth, development and welfare of St. Joseph College and to maintain through the class and club organizations the close ties of friendship originated at the alma mater."

Mrs. Barbara Speace '64, Cockeysville, Md., and Mrs. Barbara Rudy '59, Gaithersburg, Md., are co-chairmen of the program. The welcome to the class of '71 will be delivered by Miss Barbara Ann

A NEW TWIST — An experimental off-road combat vehicle called TWISTER climbs out of a lake in California after a swimming test. Propelled by water-jets when in water, the two-body, eight-wheel vehicle can swim six miles per hour. Each TWISTER body has its own engine. During this exit from the water, the rear body is pushing with water-jets while the front wheels grab the ground for traction. Lockheed Missiles & Space Co. developed the vehicle and the Army Tank-Automotive Command at Warrenton, Mich., is testing the TWISTER for possible military use.

Birth Defects Children Learn While Playing With Parents

By ATHLEEN GODFREY, R.N.
Nurse Consultant
March of Dimes Birth Defects Center
Primary Children's Hospital
Salt Lake City, Utah

When Mama and baby play "pat-a-cake," they are doing more than having fun; they are filling an important role necessary for the baby's development. Games can be a vital part of a baby's life.

The earlier a child is stimulated with new learning experiences, the better are his chances for early development of his potential. Social and language abilities have been shown to develop at a more rapid rate when the sensory and motor skills are stimulated. These concepts are the basis for many pre-school programs, such as Head Start, as well as a special program for children with birth defects at Primary Children's Hospital.

Dr. Garth Myers, director of the hospital's March of Dimes Birth Defects Center, and I have long been concerned with the slow development of sensory and motor skills in children born with spina bifida and hydrocephalus, and other defects of the central nervous system. In addition to malfunction of their legs, bladder and bowel, many of these youngsters have varying degrees of neurologic impairment which interfere with their development.

Parents Learn to Help

A child's development can be further hampered by certain parental reactions. The mother who is nervous about her child's health may consider the infant fragile and delicate. She may tend not to cuddle or play with the baby for fear of hurting him or to keep the house quiet in order not to disturb the baby.

This approach can be more damaging than helpful, because the child with neurologic impairment—even more than a normal baby—needs extra sensory and motor stimulation to help him develop his potential to its fullest.

The program at Primary Children's Hospital uses a combination of elements taken from other programs in effect around the country. Our program differs somewhat in that it is the child's parents who provide the stimulation in the home on a daily basis.

HOW TO PROVIDE a child who can't walk with the feeling of motion? Athleen Godfrey (left), nursing consultant at the March of Dimes Birth Defects Center at Primary Children's Hospital in Salt Lake City, has found an answer with a whole new ball game.

One little girl who entered our Sensory Motor Stimulation Program at the age of 11 months had only reached the sixth-month developmental level—or only 55 per cent of potential—in the use of her large muscles. Yet this child, who had been lagging behind by almost half in this area, achieved a full five month development in gross motor ability in the following five months of active stimulation, bringing her to almost 70 per cent of her potential for her age.

Although parents are instructed in a program individually designed for their child by a medical professional, most of the materials involved are not expensive and are available in the ordinary household.

Stimulates Baby

For example, to stimulate the baby's sense of touch, we explain that he needs to feel many different textures. We recommend that he be allowed to put his hands into snow, pudding, cookie batter, sugar, flour, and other things.

To sharpen and enlarge the sense of smell, mothers are encouraged to offer the baby the odors of spices, soaps, perfumes and fruits. Visual stimulation can be provided with colored or patterned sheets and blankets, moving the baby's bed to different parts of his room regularly—especially near a window—and weekly changes of inexpensive, home-made mobiles over his bed.

Parents are also advised to provide constant sound stimulations. Most important, we recommend that they use every opportunity to talk to their child. Varying the tone of voice, even to a whisper sometimes, singing, and babbling with the baby are all important. Another source of sound stimulation can be provided by a radio or phonograph in his room.

Creativity Important

We emphasize that parents must be creative and think up other ideas as well, and that it is essential for the baby to have at least one new sensory experience every day.

Helping the baby to develop his back and neck muscles is the other important phase of our program. One approach involves placing the baby on his stomach on a slightly deflated plastic beach ball, with his parents making a game of holding his limbs and rolling him back and forth. Helping him to do sit-ups, rolling him over and over across the carpet and swinging him in a blanket, are other techniques we recommend to make the baby utilize his muscles and to provide a sense of movement needed by the child who cannot walk.

Mrs. Godfrey holds a Master's degree in Child Nursing and is a nurse consultant in birth defects for the Utah State Division of Health.

SOUND ADVICE

Hearing Tests Necessary

A scientific, electronic hearing test should be part of every one's annual physical check-up, according to the Beltsone Crusade for Hearing Conservation.

The crusade, sponsored by Beltsone Electronics Corporation, world leader in hearing aids and electronic hearing test instruments, is designed to make persons aware of the vital need to protect their hearing ability.

An annual hearing test is particularly advisable for persons 55-years of age and older, because as people grow older many experience a small but measurable hearing loss. For most people these gradual hearing losses are not significant. However, among older persons, the percentage that have measurable, and frequently handicapping losses, increases markedly.

Most hearing losses appear gradually and frequently the victim does not realize the situation until his hearing impairment has reached the point that he no longer can properly perform his job, or he is experiencing difficulty hearing clearly during social activities.

While an annual hearing test will not protect a person from developing a hearing loss, it will alert persons who undergo significant changes in their hearing ability that they should seek help through medical treatment, surgery or from a properly fitted hearing aid. Also, those who find they are not suffering from a hearing loss will have the peace of mind that comes from knowing their hearing ability is normal.

Hearing tests are available from medical ear specialists, at hearing clinics or from hearing aid dealers.

Q. Studded tires are playing havoc on our pavement. Salt is blamed for power outages and damage to plant life. And sand clogs our storm sewers. Isn't there a more suitable way of enjoying bare pavement without all these problems?

J.J.N., Minneapolis, Minn.

A. Calcium chloride is the best ice and snow control material available. It melts faster than salt (up to 12 times as much ice in the first 30 minutes after application) and at far lower temperatures (below minus 50 degrees F.).

Because of its unusual affinity for absorbing any moisture available, it cannot become airborne to short out power lines or cause damage to trees and shrubs.

While it works best alone, it is most often combined with salt as an economy measure. Mixtures range from one part calcium chloride to four parts of salt, to equal parts of each, depending on temperatures.

Combined with salt, calcium chloride:

- Provides faster deicing action to clear pavement quicker.
- Holds salt on pavement to keep it from blowing.
- Gives off heat and furnishes a brine which triggers salt's melting action when temperatures fall below 25 degrees F. It remains in pavement pores ready to go to work during the next storm.

Because of its intrinsic pollution control capabilities, its effectiveness and its efficiency, nearly every state in the snow belt depends heavily on calcium chloride to help keep roads clear of ice and snow.

IN MEMORIAM William A. Shorb In loving memory of my dear husband who departed this life one year ago, March 26, 1970. One sad and lonely year has passed Since our great sorrow fell. The shock that we received that day No one can ever tell. God gave us strength to meet it and courage to bear the blow; But what it meant to lose you No one will ever know.

It's lonely here without you, We miss you more each day; For life is not the same to us, Since you were called away. It broke our hearts to lose you But you did not go alone For part of us went with you The day God called you home. By His Loving Wife, Edna Granddaughter, Judy Shank His son, William, Jr. ttp

Msgr. Fox To Lecture At St. Joseph's Monsignor Robert J. Fox's lecture on "Social Action" has been rescheduled for March 29 at St. Joseph College; he was unable to appear in February because of illness.

Director of Full Circle Associates, Monsignor Fox will speak in DePaul auditorium at 7:30 p.m. The public is invited to attend. Born and raised in the Bronx, Monsignor Fox attended the St. Columban pre-seminary in Silver Creek and Cathedral College and St. Joseph's Seminary in Dunwoodie. After being ordained a priest in 1955 at St. Patrick's Cathedral, he served as a parish priest in Manhattan and then obtained a master's degree in social work from Catholic University in Washington, D. C. At this time he learned Spanish and began working extensively with Spanish-speaking people in New York's inner city and in Puerto Rico.

In 1963, after spending 18 months as a consultant and teacher in Uruguay under a Fulbright government grant, he was named Archdiocesan Coordinator for Spanish Community Action. Monsignor Fox is known for his efforts to set up language and culture training for New York's Spanish population and for his theories on community action. He has greatly influenced the New York Archdiocese's work with Spanish people. Among his nationally famous programs are "Summer in the City" and a "Thing in the Spring." He was also instrumental in ending the East Harlem riots of 1967.

Monsignor Fox announced the formation of the Full Circle Associates, a non-sectarian community action membership, in 1968. His philosophy of urban action is designed not to provide services for the poor but to spark a whole new quality of life in the inner city and in suburbia by making man aware of his environment and teaching him to creatively respond to it in the context of true, strength-providing relationship with other.

Through his work, Monsignor has become convinced that it is necessary to form a community across religious, racial, class, and generational lines and to work not just with the poor community but with the total community. His work and philosophy have come to national attention with articles on him appearing in Life, Time, and Newsweek magazines and in the New York Times and the Christian Science Monitor.

Couple Sues After Wife Hurt In Fall

An Emmitsburg couple has filed suit against a Gettysburg fraternity house claiming damages for injuries the wife sustained in a fall there April 25, 1969.

of between $5,000 and $10,000 from the Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity, for which she was employed as a cook immediately prior to the accident. The fraternity house is a corporation incorporated under Pennsylvania law. The plaintiff charged TKE with "negligence" as a result of a fall down some steps at the rear of the house, claiming that the fraternity members had allowed "garbage and grease to accumulate . . . thus causing a slippery condition." Other items of negligence charged were the alleged lack of a railing on the steps, and lack of a sign warning of a "dangerous condition."

As a result of the mishap, Mrs. Van Brakle claims that her right knee was injured, subsequently causing stiffness and swelling. She was unable to work as a cook or any other occupation for 26 weeks, it is claimed, resulting in a loss of $2,600 in wages, plus continuing pain and suffering.

In the second count, her husband, Clarence Van Brakle, same address, is suing the fraternity house for an amount between $500 and $10,000, claiming $120 in medical bills, and another $120 in wages paid to a housekeeper while his wife was incapacitated, plus lack of companionship as an immediate result of her injury. Attorney for the plaintiffs is Robert E. Campbell.

Urges Support Of Cancer Drive For Kidney Machine

Editor, Emmitsburg Chronicle: The tremendous appeal of little Susan Martz's plight has not left my subconscious since reading the follow up articles and letters in the Chronicle during this past month.

Well, I have contacted all my friends and members of various womens' clubs, etc., to which I belong here in the Timonium, Lutherville, Towson area. Several radio stations have promised to spot announce a request for help. We should collect many, many coupons.

Anyone from my area (I know there are many former Emmitsburgians living here) who has not already sent in the General Mills (Betty Crocker, also) coupons, please do it.

Just in case you missed the issues, allow me:

Susan Martz, a 13-year-old from Houston, in western Pennsylvania (a town much like Emmitsburg) recently lost her brother because of the lack of a Kidney Machine.

Susan, now has a kidney infection. But, she isn't ready to die without a fight for her life.

Susan's life rests on obtaining 600,000 General Mills Products' Coupons.

General Mills will donate and install this life saving Kidney Machine for these coupons.

Susan has presently collected 300,000 or 50% from her community.

She needs our help now for the other 50% by May 31, to reach her goal.

Can you devoted readers of the Chronicle ignore this challenge? I couldn't. Let those coupons pour in for the next several weeks. No amount is too small. Believe me!

I would like to see "People Power" work in Towson, Timonium, Baltimore, Washington, Pittsburgh and all points west, east, north and south. I know a little bit of Emmitsburg is scattered all over these places. Compassion knows no boundaries, my friends.

Finally, congratulations to that little teenager, Linda Siske, for the terrific job she has been doing in Emmitsburg, collecting coupons for Susan, whom she has probably never seen.

Teenagers such as you, Linda and Susan Martz, merit my respect and admiration.

Thanks for being a part of the action, Linda.

Keep us advised, Mr. Editor, via the "press media," of Susan Martz's progress.

Farm Bureau Opposes Legislation

Board members of the Frederick County Farm Bureau attending this month's regular meeting expressed concern over three bills awaiting action by this session of the Legislature.

House Bill 680 would require registration and licensing of farm tractors. Other states already have this kind of legislation, with farm tractors registered and carrying license plates.

"That is the kind of a bill that a city delegate introduces, to squeeze taxes out of farmers instead of his own constituents", said one present. "I hope every farmer sends a letter to his legislators about this."

It might be added that letters to Martin A. Kircher, chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, where the bill currently is, might be helpful.

Another bill, Senate Bill 388, would stop the funding of the State Fair Board by receipts of parimutuel race tracks. The consensus of opinion was that the withholding of these funds, which now finance premiums and a good share of operational expenses of county fairs and the State Fair, would pretty much make county fairs, an ancient institution and the only real medium of breed improvement, a thing of the past.

House Bill 956, a Montgomery County deferred tax assessment bill, was felt to be of concern because it would spread a precedent that might spread.

Library Offers New Books

The Frederick County Library system has just finished the survey that has been running for the past six weeks. On Saturday morning every adult that entered the library was counted as were the juvenile patrons. Every fifth adult was asked to fill in a survey form about the library service they receive in the Emmitsburg Public Library. This was carried out in every other library in the Frederick County System. Hopefully it will add any desirable services to the system or eliminate those that are undesirable.

The presentation of an appropriation request for the County Library System took place at 1:30 in Winchester Hall on March 17. It was well attended. Mrs. Vernon Keilholtz, Mrs. William Carr and Mrs. Robert Marshall represented the Emmitsburg area. Mrs. John Warthen is currently substitute librarian in the Thurmont Library until the money is available to hire another assistant. A picture story on libraries is tentatively scheduled to be published in the Frederick News and Post on Friday, April 9, 1971. Look for it!

The Annual Friends of the C. Burr Artz Luncheon will be held on April 15 at 12:30, in the Francis Scott Key Hotel. The speaker will be Davy Marlin-Jones, artistic director of the Washington Theatre Club and TV critic. National Library Week will be celebrated on April 18-24. The art contest held by the library through the Mother Seton School, will be the highlight of library week.

The circulation in the Emmitsburg Library this past February shows an increase over the previous year. In February of 1970, circulation was 899. February, 1971, shows 1180. This is a substantial increase and is attributed to the numerous visits from the local kindergarten and the Day Care Center. Many adults in the community do not have a library card. Freedom to read is a privilege not to be taken lightly. Exercise it today by visiting your library.

If you are interested in reading the 1970 Notable books the library has a list (according to Enoch Pratt Staff Reporter) in the library. Ask to see it when you are browsing. We do not have all of them; but we can obtain them through Inter-Library Loan from Frederick or Pratt.

Catoctin High To Present Play

By Roxie Aubol

The Catoctin High School Drama department has announced that the school's first musical, "The Boyfriend", will be presented on Friday and Saturday, April 2 and 3, in the school auditorium.

"The Boyfriend", a three-act musical comedy combination, which was written by Sandy Wilson, is a spoof on the movies of the 1920's. As a comedy situation concerning a rich school girl named Polly, who attends a private girls' school on the Riviera in France, "The Boyfriend" portrays typical school-girl escapades with boys and Polly's own problems with Tony.

Susie Mentzer, a talented member of the freshman class, holds the female lead of Polly. The male lead, Tony, is being filled by Dick Love of the freshman class.

Assuming secondary roles are: Carol Humerick as Maisie, Polly's best friend; Denise Fahnestock as Madame Dubonnet; and Jeff Green as Percival Browne, Polly's father.

Other members of "The Boyfriend" cast include: Mike Schirf as Bobby Van Hussen; Lana Black as Dulcie; Greg Miller as Alphonse; Mary Ann Rice as Nanicy; Bradley Cregar as Pierre; Patsy Brett as Fay; Garry Heier as Marcel; Diane Cooper as Trixie; Mark Curran as Francois and Donna Perry as June.

Also, Tom Williard as Jean; Kendi Fisher as Lady Brockhurst; Charles Gernand as Lord Brockhurst; Linda Broadbent as Hortense; Bob Henke as Pepe; Pam Reed as Lolita; Mike McGee as the Policeman and Narrator and Lynn Goodner, as the Waiter.

Mr. Michael Miller, director of "The Boyfriend," is being assisted by Debbie Ambrose as assistant director; Mrs. Gail Slezak as music consultant; Mr. Richard Tomlinson, French accents; and Mrs. Linda Rocco, who is in charge

Production time is 8:00 o'clock and cost of admission is $1.75 for adults; $1.25 for students and 50c for children under 10. The public is invited to attend.
