Most Anything At A Glance

- By Abigail -

This summer is a good example of how time flies. Here it is well into August with the summer better than two-thirds over and some folks are just getting away on vacation. Others have returned and find themselves back into the old grind for another year.

The town's summer recreation program winds up as a huge success again this year. That money the County Commissioners provided came in mighty handy as well as the funds donated by the town. Let's hope that adequate funding can be found for next year. It's going to take a team effort. Remember the Commissioners have said there will be no county money in 1973.

Many people think that human nature has gone to the dogs but every once in a while there are occasions that revive our belief in people. This week one of the hippie businessmen on the square was seen helping the Senior Citizens clean up the area in front of their meeting place. That shows most every group in town is interested in the general welfare of all.

This summer we have had much less loitering on the square compared with last. Our town's presentation to the traveling public has been improved by the absence of folks sitting around on the sidewalks, etc. Maybe most of the young folks have jobs. In any event, this problem which seemed so great last summer seems to have solved itself with the passage of time.

Some local residents thought McGovern was going to have to run by himself. However, Sargent Shriver reports that he was in line for the Vice-presidential nomination even before Muskie declined. Just goes to show that we are not going to catch George napping.

Speaking of napping, that is exactly what many local folks are planning to do during the Republican Convention later in the month. One of the biggest jobs the GOP faces is keeping people awake when everyone knows the show's outcome.

I wonder if the President will have his new tank in time to drive it to Miami. That new Continental is reported to have 5,000 pounds of quarter-inch armor plate added to its skin for protection of its occupants. If the promised demonstrations should get out of hand, Nixon might welcome the vehicle.

So far this year, Marylanders have a much better driving record than last year. 466 deaths have been reported in 1972 compared with 501 at this time in 1971. Even so, it is estimated that driver error contributed to fourteen of last week's fifteen deaths. Alcohol, speed and wet roads were the main factors. Let's be extra careful in the last few weeks of the summer and make sure that none of our names shows up on the death list.

SHORB-DAVIS

Miss Joanne Marie Davis, 106 E. Main St., Emmitsburg, and formerly of York, Pa., and James Shorb, R2, Fairfield, were united in marriage on Tuesday, August 1, at St. Joseph's Catholic Church in an early evening ceremony. Fr. Hurler performed the double ring ceremony, with Miss Beverly Davis presiding at the organ.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Louise E. Davis, Hellam, Pa., and the late Robert S. Davis. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Andrew T. Shorb, R2, Fairfield.

Given in marriage by her cousin, David K. Peters, the bride chose a short white lace dress featuring long sleeves and empire waistline. She carried white daisies and rose buds with baby's breath.

Miss Lynn Miller, Emmitsburg, was the honor attendant.

Best man for Mr. Shorb was Michael Orndorff, Emmitsburg.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the VFW Annex in Emmitsburg.

Byard Pitches No-Hitter For Giants

Chris Byard struck out 13 entrants to a no-hit, no-run, 16-0 win against the Dodgers in Emmitsburg Little League play.

Byard also had 3 base hits in four at-bats to help his own cause. His teammates collected ten more hits to insure the victory.

Larry Martinez had a perfect day going four for four at the plate. Charley Glacken, Joe Zanella, Fred Martinez, Dale Adams and Tom Siske, all hit safely for the Giants. Shawn Higgins made a fantastic diving catch in the final inning to save Byard's no-hitter.

Frank Davis went the distance as the Giants beat the Cardinals 5-1 in Little League play Tuesday evening. Davis limited the Cards to five hits and only one run as the Giants took over sole possession of first place with a 4-0 record.

Davis, Charley Glacken and Joe Zanella did all of the Giant hitting—each having a perfect day at the plate.

Larry Martinez did some fancy fielding to back Davis' effort, turning in a double play to stop a Cardinal threat.

Council Hears Need For New Town Code

At the Town Council meeting Monday night, Town Attorney Frederick Bower proposed an updating of the town code. Many of the originally signed ordinances could not be located Bower night.

Attorney Bower also noted that the entire water ordinance needs revision. The Burgess and Board of Commissioners were concerned with fees which would be charged for new sub-divisions desiring water and sewage connections.

The Council discussed the replacement of water lines and raising the cost from the present $50.00 maximum to $100.00 maximum.

The town voting ordinance is being revised by Mr. Bower to conform with recent changes in state laws.

Robert Rosensteel asked the Board to underwrite the cost of toilet facilities for the Boy Scout Camporee to be held during Colorfest weekend. They agreed to pay for two rentals. Mr. Rosensteel offered the assistance of the Scouts in cleaning up around and in area streams if the town wished.

The council discussed methods of putting more enforcement powers in the town curfew because of complaints of children sitting around the square at night. In some cases the children have returned to the square after being escorted home by the police. The council considered a more vigorous enforcement which would subject the parents to a misdemeanor charge if the children are repeatedly picked up by police. The present ordinance does not put the parent in violation until the child has been picked up at least twice.

The council discussed the water line at the east end of town which had been removed at the request of the State Roads Commission.

It was decided to have Potomac Edison replace 29 of the town's obsolete lights in the alleys and install 2 additional lights.

A meeting will be held with Senator Smelser concerning the need for a district court in this area.

Local officials will attend the Chamber of Commerce meeting at Watson's Restaurant on August 22.

A request for wage raises by town employees was tabled. Town employees will receive holiday and vacation pay based on an 8 hour day.

The council agreed to meet with a Baltimore-Washington based Cable T.V. company who now have the capability to build in this area.

Attorney Bower suggested that problems presented by abandoned properties be attacked through the Fire and Health Ordinances.

The Board approved the purchase of plywood to cover trenches and two blinking lights and stands.

Water meters are to be installed at Seton Center during August.

Council decided to have town employees clean vacant properties and charge the cost as liens against the property.

It was decided to rent the downstairs apartment for $100 per month for a period of six months.

Catoctin Mountain Tourist Council Hears Of Development

Burr W. Beard, a vice-president of Timeless Towns of the Americas, Inc., was an honored guest when the Catoctin Mountain Tourist Council gathered at Charnita, last Thursday, for its regular monthly dinner meeting. Beard described, by means of a slide presentation, the motor inn, convention center and international mall which his corporation is constructing midway between Emmitsburg and Gettysburg on Business Rt. 15.

Ground was broken for the enterprise in late spring after two years of planning and research which included a financial feasibility survey. Phase 1, scheduled for completion by June 1, 1973, promises a 203-bed motel franchised by Sheraton Inn, Inc., a convention center which will seat 1,500, an International Village Bazaar with 66 shops, a Sitting-Bull campground with 100 slips for vehicular trailers and a 14 acre lake.

The mall is described as "an escape place to shop." There will be specialty stores of all kinds in an old world atmosphere and also a theater-playhouse. In decor, the mall will draw upon the cultures of Europe, Asia, Africa and early America. The entire complex is designed for year-round shopping and recreation and is expected to appeal to all age groups. It will be constructed, supervised and maintained by Timeless Towns.

Beard says that many of the shops are leased but that some are still available and that rents are nominal. Inquiries about leasing are welcomed. Conventions have already been booked into the convention center.

There will be parking for 1100 cars on the 120 acre tract as well as bicycle trails and a four-hole golf course. Visitors, shoppers and bus tours are expected to come from within a 100-mile radius.

Phase 2, with a 1974 target date, will include a Jolly Town, a western frontier town and a settlement with Yukon territory atmosphere.

Beard stressed that Timeless Towns seeks compatibility rather than competition with surrounding towns and merchants. In this locality of great potential growth, he feels that there is plenty of business to go around and mutual advantages can be gained from a cooperative stance. He also emphasized that Timeless Towns is geared to provide year-round accommodations rather than focusing on the summer tourist trade.

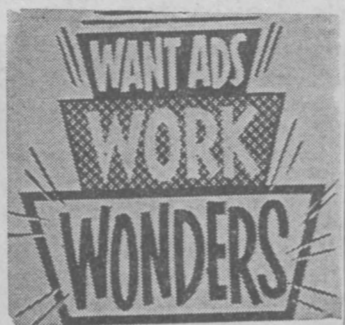

In other business, CMTC heard a progress report from Donald Fitzgerald, co-chairman of the Ninth Annual Colorfest. The Colorfest will be held this year on Oct. 13, 14, and 15.

The council has acquired an office and storeroom at 12 West Main St., in Thurmont.

Present plans call for the office to be open to provide tourist information on peak weekends.

It was announced that the tourist council on August 6, terminated its three-year-old agreement to run the country store at the folk culture center at Catoctin Mountain Park.

The next dinner meeting will be held on Aug. 24 at Cozy Restaurant.

Again, choose a fixed point down the road — a bridge, crest of a hill—at about the distance you normally concentrate your attention.

FREDERICK COUNTY BACKGROUNDS

BY SAMUEL CARRICK
The Whitmore Family

"Let us pray to God, the Unconquerable Spirit in Man. Help us to rebuild the world for more splendid lives than ours, add wisdom to the ardor of the young, and loving kindness to the musings of the old; make our eyes aware of things that are too gentle to proclaim themselves; give us emotions far beyond the fret of nerves, free us from fear of our own brothers, and from the triple curse of greed, intolerance and vainglory."

"Lift the dark cloud of war from our future, and grant comfort to all quiet kindly folk who carry peace in their hearts—amidst the stress of conflict strengthen them also to endure what may befall. Bring down the tyrant, befriend the victims of injustice and equate the rewards of labor near to the needs of men; and accustom us to work, not for the snatched profit, but for the common good and for the planned destiny of mankind."

—Sir Winston Churchill
If the great Sir Winston were living today—amidst the great unrest and ceaseless searchings of all men—he could not have better understood or worded his petition with more understanding. When Historian James Helman wrote of the Whitmore family burial ground "on the Carrie Dern farm" he gave the impression that it was quite ancient—as least as old as Tom's Creek Lutheran and Reformed churchyard. This may or may not be true. All evidence, however, tends to the positive view. Undoubtedly the very early graves were either unmarked or designated by fieldstones that in the course of time—in the main—disappeared. When the remaining markers were removed to the David Whitmore plot in Mountain View Cemetery, within recent years, only three native stones—with crude or illegible inscriptions, were included in their number. From the size of the original plot there must have been many other graves and it quite possible that others—not members of the Whitmore family—were also interred here. Mrs. Carrie Fuss Long and Mrs. Rop remember hearing that "a man named Martin, a suicide, was buried in the Whitmore graveyard." There will be more regarding this burial later.

The records of Trinity Lutheran church, Taneytown, of which the Tom's Creek (later Elias) congregation was a part until 1851, records the following facts pertaining to the Whitmore clan of Tom's Creke Hundred:

1. Baptized—George Reuben Whitmore—son of Levi and Mary Whitmore—born June 30, 1844—baptized July 29, 1844.

2. Baptized—Harriet Savilla Whitmore—daughter of Levi and Mary Whitmore—born February 17, 1846—baptized September 6, 1846.

3. Baptized—George Henry Whitmore—son of Samuel and Rebecca Whitmore—born January 7, 1848—baptized September 24, 1848.

4. Baptized—Susanna Elizabeth Whitmore—daughter of Samuel and Rebecca Whitmore—born August 18, 1849—baptized November 18, 1849.

5. Married—August 4, 1847—Samuel D. Whitmore and Rebecca Stambaugh—both of Carroll County, Maryland.

6. Buried—June 7, 1847—Mrs. George Whitmore—aged 67 years, 3 months, and 5 days.

Note: In the burial ground of the old Haugh's church, near Ladiesburg, Frederick County, Maryland, the identity of "Mrs. George Whitmore" is to be found. The inscriptions follow:

1. In memory of George

Whitmore, died April 29, 1848, aged 64 years, 10 months, and 16 days.

2. In memory of Sarah Cover Whitmore, wife of George Whitmore, died June 6, 1847, aged 67 years, 3 months, and 5 days.

It will be noticed that Sarah (Cover) Whitmore was interred somewhat hastily the day after her death. This was the custom in that day.

7. Buried—Mrs. Susan Whitmore—died October 27, 1851—(no age given). Note: No tombstone inscription can be found for Susan Whitmore. It may be that her grave was never marked or the stone has long since disappeared.

The records of Elias Lutheran church give the following data pertaining to the Whitmore family:

8. Baptized—Mary Ellen Whitmore—daughter of Lewis and Mary Lane Whitmore—born July 10, 1856—baptized September 25, 1856.

9. Baptized—William Lewis Whitmore—son of Lewis and Mary Jane Whitmore—born March 10, 1858—baptized June 15, 1859.

10. Baptized—Clara Mary Whitmore—daughter of James and Amanda K. Whitmore—born August 30, 1862—baptized December 20, 1862.

11. Baptized—Anna Ellsworth Whitmore—daughter of Alford and Ann C. Whitmore

Perspectives In Learning By Hazel Brown

Are Schools Held Accountable?

Just what does being accountable mean? The term accountable can be interchanged with responsible when speaking of educator. Can we, as parents, hold the schools responsible for student achievement and failures?

The school administrators will tell parents that they have always been aware of accountability and that the general concept of holding schools responsible is not new. Certainly, they have carefully checked what went into education. They have recorded and evaluated facilities, instructional materials, hot lunches, and pupil-teacher ratio. What they haven't carefully evaluated is what skills the students have obtained.

If parents continue to emphasize accountability, then the school boards, administrators and teachers will have to accept the responsibility for failures as well as successes. The schools will be forced to recognize that their job is to educate, and the outcome must be learning. Educators will have to stop finding reasons and excuses for lack of success. If a student doesn't learn, the school staff must take some responsibility for the failure instead of saying that the reason is an external one: The student comes from a broken home, he isn't motivated, he has a dialect, he suffers from malnutrition, etc.

Some of the causes for failure just might be inadequate teaching methods, poor pupil-teacher rapport, or lack of communication. The excuses used in the past to cover-up failure will be carefully scrutinized.

Accountability for performance arises out of the desire to justify the "input" of schools in relation to the "output" in terms of student achievement. The progress the student makes should closely correlate with the amount of investment made in him—recognizing that this will vary with the individual student.

One wonders what form of penalizing will occur if poor teaching performance is found to be evident. Will educators and parents insist upon penalties which involve job retention, job advancement, and merit pay? Will there be pressure to fire a school superintendent or principal because students fail to meet certain standards of achievement?

The repercussions of accountability in education may be far reaching. Some school systems have already felt the growing desire by parents to show measurable achievement. The recent National Assessment Studies are an example. Parents want to know how well students are learning and how closely learning correlates with potential or capacity.

The demand for holding schools accountable is continually growing. It is probably one aspect of education which will be with us for a long time.

The Brutal Power

If worldwide Communist apparatus were to give up its goal of world domination and abolish the brutal totalitarian enslavement of people in nations under Communist control, it would be a great day for mankind and the future of man on earth. America certainly could live peacefully in the same world and compete with any movement, any ideology of socialism that forsok aggression and established freedom for its people. This is the ultimate goal, I'm sure, of all the U. S. Presidents who have dealt with the Communist threat to America through the years.

Until there is clear evidence that Communist bosses worldwide are taking steps in the direction of such a goal, America (and people everywhere) must be on guard. Whatever their "concessions" in 1972 and in recent years, the Communist dictators in Moscow and Peking (the two dominant Communist powers) have yet to clearly demonstrate any change in their aggressive plans for an all-Communist world. Meantime Communism in the Leninist concept continues to be, undoubtedly, the most brutal power the world has seen.

"No Killings In Russia" During President Nixon's visit in Moscow, Mayor Vladimir Promyslov told news-men, "You are safe on the streets here, day or night; nobody shoots you in this country, no one kills presidents in the Soviet Union." The irony of such a statement, coming from a Communist old enough to have been on the scene during some of the awful mass killings ordered by his Red comrades in power, was ignored by the American news media who reported it. Yes, Mayor Promyslov, no presidents are shot in Russia; just the innocent lovers of freedom who speak out or try to escape their enslavement.

A recent documented publication of the U. S. Senate Internal Security Subcommittee measures to some extent the cynicism of Mayor Promyslov and the brutal nature of his comrades in power in the Kremlin. The title: "The Human Cost of Soviet Communism." The report was compiled by Robert Conquest, leading British authority on the Communist world. Here is the documented list of killings attributable to Mayor Promyslov's present and past comrades in the Communist hierarchy.

The Human Cost
Executed or died in prison camps during the post-revolution period (1919-23) 500,000
Executed during Stalin terror 2,000,000
Died in camps during the pre-Yexhov period of Stalin's rule (1930-36) 3,500,000

Died in forced labor camps during the Stalin-Yexhov terror (1936-38) 12,000,000

Died in the politically-organized famine during the forced collectivization of the 30's 3,500,000
TOTAL 21,500,000

The documented report did not count 9,000,000 deaths caused by Lenin's revolutionary forces in taking over all of Russia, nor the 5,000,000 who died in the Communist-created famine immediately following Lenin's takeover. This brings the total, according to the report, to more than 35,000,000 killings attributable to Mayor Promyslov's comrades.

Bigger Tool For Mao
A report by the same Committee of Congress estimates with acceptable documentation, that execution squads carrying out the orders of Mao Tse-tung and Chou Enlai in Communist China had killed 34,000,000 citizens of China—and possibly 62,700,000—in military operations, political purges and terroristic slaughter. The report said: "It is worth remembering that at the very moment (of the release of the report) troops of the People's Liberation Army of China were machine-gunning scores of their fellow Chinese who were attempting to escape to Hong Kong from Mao's new Paradise."

America cannot accept such brutality. Only when the brutal nature and aggressive goals of World Communism are discarded can China and Russia be hailed as friends in a decent and peaceful world.

Shorter Workweek, Earlier Retirement

By Babson's Reports Inc., Wellesley Hills, Mass.—When some major union contracts come up for renegotiation next year, there will undoubtedly still be limitations on wage increases under Phase 2 or some extension of it. Hence, liberalization of working conditions is likely to receive more emphasis at bargaining tables than large-scale raises.

Two important issues will take center stage during 1973: Shortening the workweek and planning for earlier retirement. More controversial of the two demands is that concerning a cutback in the length of the workweek. While leaders in the auto and railway unions have placed the shorter workweek on the agenda for next year's bargaining, there is as yet no great rank-and-file pressure for such a measure. The four-day week has become rather widespread over the past year or more in small industries, and its acceptance has been fairly enthusiastic where it is workable in terms of the industry involved—even though the ten-hour day has generally been retained.

One thing, however, is certain. If the shorter workweek becomes a key bargaining point in autos and/or railways, the demand will be for a three-ty-two-hour week spread over four days but at the same take-home pay. The forty-hour week accepted by many small industrial employes groups is definitely out as far as the big unions are concerned. This would mean a ten-hour day, which is scarcely doing away with job boredom—one of the chief reasons for considering cutting weekly hours.

Machinists Set Pace

Railway union chiefs are not overly enthusiastic about a four-day week, even though Railway Employees Department delegates unanimously endorsed the thirty-two-hour week at forty hours pay. The Machinists Association, pace setter for railway bargaining, has shown little interest in this issue. Nor is it expected to unless there is enough unemployment next year to create local support for the short workweek as a key to more jobs.

Even if there is overwhelming support for a shorter week, most labor officials will fight to the end against a ten-hour day—no matter what the pay situation. They will stress that the eight-hour day was a major goal of organized labor from the time of the first Federation convention in 1886, and surely not a prize to be lightly surrendered, even for the purpose of cutting unemployment.

Workers Want To Retire Early

The United Automobile Workers are not expected to draft bargaining demands in specific terms until next March, just before negotiations begin. But there is little doubt that the issue of early retirement will be one of the prime considerations, possibly with top priority. A major cause of the prolonged strike against General Motors in 1970 was the determined union drive for retirement after thirty years in the plants, regardless of age. After this bitter battle, a compromise was reached, permitting retirement at age fifty-six after thirty years employment, with $500-a-month pension.

Look for renewed pressure at the bargaining table during 1973 to allow retirement after thirty years regardless of age. And there will be a new demand that would be more costly for the auto companies. Next year the union will call for an early-retirement pension of $650 a month, an amount it considers more realistic in terms of the inflationary price pressures since 1970. Even a tough price board would be less likely to object to this pension than to a sizable pay hike.

Trend Will Strengthen

The Research Department of Babson's Reports is of the opinion that both a shorter week and early retirement will be significant objectives of labor for a long while. Each step in those directions will be a consolidation, spring-boarding drives to increase the gains. All of this will keep labor costs in a decided upswing.

Russian Sales Help Feed Grain Farmers

Feed grain and wheat producers in Maryland should benefit from the sale of $750 million worth of grain by the U. S. to Russia over the next three years, says Raymond F. Jaeger, a leading farm official.

The new grain sale to Russia will add substantially to U. S. farm exports which have been running at record levels. "In fact," adds Jaeger, Chairman of the Maryland State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee, "this sale alone will increase our grain exports about 17 per cent for each of the next three years." The Soviet Union will have the option of purchasing wheat, corn, barley, grain sorghum, rye and oats from the U. S.

The State ASC Chairman emphasized that the export agreement will not be a give-away program to Russia. The grain purchase will be made through private U. S. grain traders. The U. S. Department of Agriculture will make available credit terms to the Soviets through the Commodity Credit Corporation at regular interest rates and terms. The total outstanding credit, not to exceed $500 million, is to be repaid in three annual installments.

This three-year trade agreement is the culmination of year-long negotiations by President Richard M. Nixon, Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz, and other USDA officials with leaders in the USSR. The agreement is part of the continuing goal of the U. S. Department of Agriculture to expand export opportunities to farmers.

Rural Development Act Will Create More Employment In Western Maryland

Rep. Goodloe Byron said this week that the House's passage of the Rural Development Act could create jobs and employment opportunities in Western Maryland.

Byron termed the House action "a great day for rural America." He co-sponsored the legislation which is now awaiting final approval by the Senate.

"This measure will attack a broad range of rural development problems and can have a significant and positive effect on communities in our area with a population of less than 10,000," he said.

The bill lessens FHA requirements for loans to operate and establish small businesses in rural areas and sharply increases loans for developing and financing business, industry and employment in these areas. Technical assistance, and additional and expanded loans and grants would also be made available for improvement of community facilities with high priority given to water and waste disposal projects.

Byron said he hopes to announce more specific details on how the measure will affect Western Maryland in the near future. He noted that most communities in Garrett, Allegany, Washington, Frederick, Carroll, upper Montgomery and Howard Counties would qualify for aid under the program.

By
Congressman Goodloe Byron
Maryland—Sixth District

The following questions were typical of the kind asked of me on a recent district tour. Letters should be sent to me, c/o U. S. House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. 20515.

Do you favor massive cuts in our defense budget?

I feel that cuts in defense funding will jeopardize national security and I will oppose any congressional proposals weakening the Nation's current military posture. Continued support of a strong military is a necessity and today's defense needs are justified. We're about at parity with the Russians now but massive cutbacks in military spending would signal a lessening American commitment to our real security interest. Our current defense policy seeks to strengthen national defense not only by improving our own capabilities but by encouraging the increased capabilities of our allies. In addition, this policy seeks greater cooperation and burden-sharing from U. S. allies in paying for these increased capabilities.

I am interested in a career with the State Department. Do you have any suggestions?

The Department of State publishes an employment kit on opportunities in the foreign service, listing educational requirements, qualifications, job descriptions and general information on how to apply for the job which most interests you. You may order your career kit by writing the State Department directly or dropping me a line c/o U. S. House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. 20515.

I started college in February and as yet have not received benefits which I'm entitled under the G.I. Bill. Could you assist me on this matter?

Upon receipt of your letter I contacted the Veterans Administration in your behalf. As you are now aware benefits have been awarded for your schooling and a VA payment check was mailed last week. Individuals having similar difficulty gaining G.I. benefits justly due them should feel free to contact my office in Washington.

Is it possible to get a list of the consumer products that are tested by the Federal Government?

Yes. A booklet entitled "Brand Names Identical to Products Purchased & Tested for Use by the Federal Government" is available for 35c from Consumer Product Information, Washington, D. C. 20407.

Summer's Best Pie

Just in time for fresh peach season is this pie recipe. The blushing beauties of the fruit market are always luscious baked in a pie, but their goodness is emphasized in this splendid Struesel Peach Pie.

Peach preserves sweeten the fruit, lemon juice heightens the flavor and a spicy struesel sprinkled atop completes this peach-of-a-pie. Of course, it's the pastry that really makes any pie. You are assured of flaky, tender pastry by using a convenient pie crust mix.

STRUESSEL PEACH PIE

Makes 8 servings

Pastry: One 10-oz. pkg. Flako Pie Crust Mix 3 tablespoons cold water

Filling: 1/2 cup peach preserves 2 teaspoons lemon juice 1 tablespoon cornstarch

4 cups fresh or frozen peach slices, thawed and drained

Topping: 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg 1/4 cup sugar

Heat oven to hot (425°F.). For pastry, place all but 1/2 cup pie crust mix in a medium-sized mixing bowl. Gradually add water, tossing lightly with fork. Form into ball. Roll out on lightly floured board or canvas to fit 9-inch pie plate. Place in pie plate. Trim; flute edges high and prick bottom and sides with tines of fork. Bake in preheated oven (425°F.) 10 minutes. Remove from oven. Lower temperature to moderate (375°F.).

For filling, combine preserves, lemon juice and cornstarch. Add peach slices, stirring just to combine. Pour into partially baked pie shell.

For topping, combine reserved 1/2 cup pie crust mix, cinnamon, nutmeg and sugar; sprinkle over filling. Bake in preheated oven (375°F.) 35 to 40 minutes or until bubbly. Cool on wire rack.

SOUND ADVICE

Water Safety Suggestions
Responsible water sports enthusiasts recognize that observing common sense safety rules can help avoid tragic accidents. However, swimmers and water skiing enthusiasts also should remember to follow good hearing conservation practices while enjoying their leisure hours.

This is the advice of the Beltone Crusade for Hearing Conservation, which points out that because summer, with its long, warm days, is the high point of the water sports season, it also can be the time when aqua fans may be most susceptible to encountering hazards to their hearing ability.

The crusade, sponsored by Chicago-based Beltone Electronics Corporation, world-leaders in hearing aids and electronic hearing test instruments, is designed to make persons aware of the vital need to practice good hearing conservation.

Among the hearing ability risks faced by swimmers and water skiers are ear infections or similar maladies such as "swimmer's ear." Such an infection, if not properly treated, could lead to a tragic hearing loss. And proper treatment includes the services of a medical doctor—not the use of self-prescribed medications.

In addition to ear infections, swimmers and water skiers also should be aware of the hearing ability hazards posed by severe head colds, earaches or ear itch. Like infections, these disorders also deserve prompt medical attention. Parents of young children should be particularly alert for signs of ear infections, earaches, or severe head colds during the summer months when many youngsters spend much of their free time in the water, crusade officials stress.

Protecting The Soldier

One of the most interesting duties of the Congress and one of its most important functions is oversight. It isn't possible for Congress to do its job if it simply creates programs or authorizes expenditures and then dismisses the programs from its thoughts with the hope that everything will turn out all right.

What the members of Congress have to do is authorize that the Executive Branch undertake certain jobs for the people of the United States, and the programs and then to check and review to see whether they are effective. "Are the people really getting their money's worth?" is a question Congress should never stop asking.

An opportunity to review a government program came to my office recently because of the Vietnam War. All of us, I think, share a sense of the great tragedy involved in the deaths and wounds inflicted during the war. Fifty thousand Americans have been killed and nearly 300,000 others have been wounded. Many, including me, have called for an end to this war, but too few of us have considered how the casualties of this unpopular war could have been reduced.

"What has the Defense Department done about providing our soldiers in Vietnam with adequate armor—body armor—to reduce the number and severity of wounds that they are suffering in battle?" When we think of armor, I suppose most of us have a mental image of a knight in

County Conducts Reading Training Sponsored By U. S. Office Of Education

Some 58 willing volunteers in the Right to Read Program sponsored by the United States Office of Education, have completed two week training sessions conducted in two county schools.

The volunteers were trained in five different classes, meeting either at Waverley Elementary School or Thurmont Elementary School. Each class met for four hours daily over the two week period. Thurmont was the only geographic center outside the Frederick City area which attracted a sufficient number of volunteers to establish its own local center. Volunteers from other areas traveled to Waverley School.

The Right to Read is a coordinated endeavor of all segments of society—public and private, professional and non-professional—to insure that no person shall be denied a full and productive life because of an inability to read effectively. The national goal for the program is functional literacy for 99% of those people 16 years old and 90% of those over 16 by 1980. As a major objective in the achievement of this goal, 10,000,000 volunteer workers are needed. These volunteers will be recruited, trained and placed in many settings where they can help develop reading skills in presently illiterate individuals.

Volunteers trained under this program will serve in various ways. Some will work with children, individually or in small groups, supervising extra practice in skills or giving confidence and creating a desire to learn. Every effort will be made to utilize each volunteer in a way best recognizing his abilities and interests. Special art, music and other school activities will be conducted by these volunteers in order to provide enrichment for the students. No academic requirements exist for volunteer work in the program, teaching experience is not needed and concern for children is the chief requirement. Volunteers will normally spend 1 or 2 hours weekly on a regularly scheduled basis in their work.

Mrs. Margaret E. Lee and Mrs. Emily Nicholson, reading teachers at South Frederick and Thurmont elementary schools, respectively, shared the instructional chores for the volunteer training. The program was under the supervision of Mrs. Nancy Watkins, Supervisor of Reading for the Board of Education of Frederick County.

The accompanying scenes took place at an evening session at Waverley School. They are typical, however, of those which occurred throughout the program and illustrate the many activities performed by the volunteers.

Experts in the field did not feel that we had made the best use of body armor. Consequently, I asked the Comptroller General, the Chief Investigator for the Congress, to make a special study of the use of body armor to protect American soldiers in Vietnam. His report is an unhappy one. It held that:

1. The armor in use is not as efficient, effective, convenient, and, therefore, as useful as it ought to be. The Army might well find better types of body armor to protect their soldiers.

2. Soldiers in Vietnam have not been adequately trained in the use of body armor. They have not gotten the full advantage from such armor. This means that had we done the things we ought to have done, some of the men who died or were wounded in Vietnam may have been spared. The Congress clearly must exercise its duty and demand that corrective measures be taken to better protect the American soldier.

The price will be $15.00 and will cover the greens fee, cocktails and dinner in the evening. Any member interested in participating may contact Mr. Danner by August 21.

Council Lecturer William Austin appointed Stanley Lupinski to serve refreshments at the August 21 council meeting. He also asked the members to help him select programs under the lecturer's portion of the meeting that might be helpful and interesting to all concerned during this new year.

The meeting was adjourned with Harold Davis serving refreshments in the social room after the meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Vaughn and family, East Main Street, vacationed in Ocean City during last week.

Five weeks of fun and recreation for area children will end this week with an all day swimming trip to Charnita Ranch Pool. Highlights of the summer activities included 4 other field trips, a carnival day for families which featured a spectacular haunted house, a dinosaur egg hunt (watermelon), and training in trampoline skills, an Olympic Day, and a Costume Day.

Director of the program was Mrs. Jean Backhaus, physical education teacher at the Emmitsburg school. The assistant director, Miss Barbara Myers, managed the Arts and Crafts activities. ### Lifelong Learning Council Establishes Tentative List Of Classes From Suggestions Made By Community

Selection of courses for the fall adult education program was the main order of business when the Emmitsburg Lifelong Learning Council met recently at Seton Center with President Bernard Welty presiding.

A tentative list of classes includes: sewing, typing, beginning and advanced shorthand, home nursing, yoga or physical fitness for women, painting, a shop class of simple home repairs, Basic Adult Education, preparation for the High School Equivalency Test and a course in tutoring methods for area residents who wish to prepare themselves as volunteer tutors in reading and math.

Most of the courses under discussion will begin around the middle of September and continue for twelve weeks. The list reflects suggestions which have been made by members of the community as well as consideration of courses which have been offered successfully before in Emmitsburg and elsewhere in the county.

Also favorably discussed by the Council were classes in knitting, cake decorating, photography and home landscaping. Some or all of these additional courses may be scheduled for the second semester. The Council welcomes suggestions and comments from the community. Anyone wishing to express an opinion or propose a course may phone or write St. Mary Magdalen, Curriculum Chairman, Seton Center, Emmitsburg, Md. 21727. Phone 447-6102.

LLC points with pride to the fact that its course list has grown from two in the fall of 1970 to 11 in the spring of 1972. Several short courses given last year ran for 4 to 6 weeks and drew an unusually large enrollment. Most courses are given in conjunction with the Frederick County Board of Education and require a registration of 10 in order to continue.

In other history, the Council viewed a history-scrappbook of the progress of adult education in the community under LLC. The material, which includes everything from the LLC charter to copies of radio publicity spots, has been assembled by Sr. Margaret Hughes, second vice-president of the Council. Members expressed unanimous approval at the compiling of this record.

Mrs. Robert Marshall reported on a workshop for the recruiting and retention of students in Adult Basic Education which was held at Mt. Airy on May 6. She and Mrs. Thomas J. Seess from Emmitsburg and two other Frederick County adult education teachers attended. Mrs. Marshall also attended a meeting of the Maryland Association for Public Support for Continuing Education at the State Board of Education, Baltimore, on July 14.

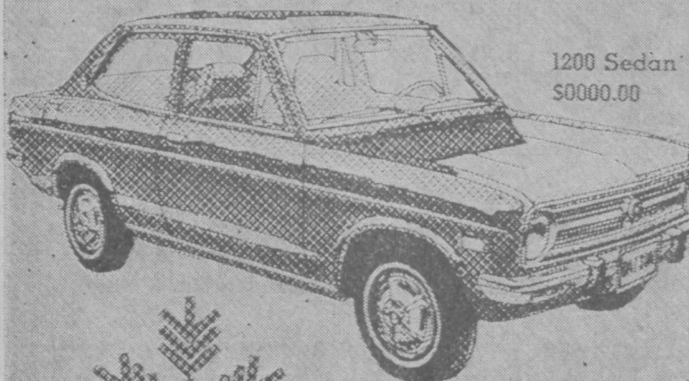

Mrs. William Meredith and children, Michael, Melinda and Fred, W. Main St., recently flew to Lawrence, Kan., to join Dr. Meredith who took an eight-week summer course at the University of Kansas. They later visited with Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Tucker of Salina, Kan. Mrs. Tucker is the sister of Mrs. Meredith. The Merediths returned to Emmitsburg last weekend.

Dr. and Mrs. Paul M. Carter and family have returned from a two-week vacation at Nags Head, N. C.
