Most Anything At A Glance

- By Abigail -

And we thought that last year was wet! Guess we will just have to take full advantage of the few nice days that we are occasionally blessed with and be grateful that we do get to see the sun a couple of times a week.

The weather certainly did "dampen" the Spring Weekend activities last Sunday. The rain isn't helping the ball players schedules much, either, with both local and big league games having to be postponed. Well, at least it isn't snow; course, we didn't get much of that even during the winter months!

I'm really upset with myself about all those old comic books I threw away so many years ago. Who ever would have thought that a "Superman" comic book would some day be worth $1,800? That's just what some young fellow out in California paid for one. He says it is "the ultimate comic book." Just goes to show that those folks who never throw anything away may be better savers than those of us who put money in the bank for a rainy day.

And Watergate is getting messier and messier. The value of our currency in foreign countries is going down and heaven only knows where it will all end. Unfortunately for the country and our image abroad, every time Mr. President decides to speak out on the issue, he comes out looking worse and worse. No wonder everyone involved in the matter tried to keep it hushed up at any cost—now that the Pandora's box has been opened, I'm doubtful that there is anyone alive who really knows what will eventually emerge.

According to the results of a study of the aging conducted by the Veterans Administration, a normal life expectancy of 120-140 years and retirement at 100, instead of the present 65-70, are predicted. They didn't go into detail as to whether they were taking into account the ways in which Big Brother is starting to look after us, telling us what to eat, not to smoke or drink and fasten our little seat belts. Nor did they say whether they had considered the effects of air pollution and all those other problems the world is facing. Personally, I think 100 years around here would be plenty for me, somebody is welcome to the other 20-40.

As a nation, we have set our sights pretty high as regards our social goals. We want not only to purify the environment of a whole continent but wish to bring all the good things of life to everyone without destroying the need, and therefore the incentive to produce. The level of our expectations has indeed reached the sky. Though we can't be faulted for seeking perfection, the evidence is mounting that as a nation we may have to recognize the fact that perfection in human life is never going to be attainable. Something short of it will probably have to suffice even for the United States and that would be no disgrace.

Glee Club Plans Spring Program

The glee club of Mother Seton School has been preparing for months for its spring show. This year is an extra special one. The first part of the program will present some of the songs from the popular musical, "You're A Good Man, Charlie Brown." These songs will be acted out as well as sung.

The program then turns to "PEOPLE" and thanking them for being themselves. Songs will be dedicated to the young, the elderly, the married and to people of various races. Among the songs in this portion of the program are the modern version of "Joy To The World," "Black and White," "No Man Is An Island," "Sunrise, Sunset," "May the Good Lord Bless and Keep you" and many others. Upper grade children are preparing short skits to go along with the theme of the second half of the performance.

The program will be given on Wednesday, May 30, at 7 p.m. in the Mother Seton School auditorium. Everyone is cordially invited to attend.

Legion To Place Cemetery Flags

For years, the Francis X. Elder American Legion Post 121, has placed flags on the graves of veterans on Memorial Day. This included the veterans of all wars. Each year it has become more difficult to find all the graves, due to names becoming obliterated, and new veterans being buried. This year, with the permission of the Pastors or Councils of the cemeteries, the American Legion has purchased a large flag which will be flown in each cemetery on Memorial Day. This is to take the place of the small flags, although anyone wishing the small grave flag for a veteran, may obtain one from the Legion.

The flags will be flown at the 2 Catholic cemeteries, the Lutheran, Mountainview, St. Anthony's and Presbyterian cemeteries. Small flags will be used this year at Friends Creek Church cemetery.

Dr. Morningstar Rebuts Editorial

Editor, Emmitsburg Chronicle:

Your editorial in the Thursday, May 17th issue of the Emmitsburg Chronicle was an obvious effort to put pressure on the Town Commissioners to reverse their decision concerning the Viking Ventures project. It is of course, your editorial prerogative to state your opinion.

The editorial, however, requires a rebuttal, because, besides being inaccurate in its content, its tone infers that the local citizens are so many reactionary provincials. In fact, the most revealing facet of the editorial is that it is obvious that this paper, which should accurately reflect the feeling of the community, does not have an accurate evaluation of the pulse of the community.

The spokesmen for the citizens of this community, namely the Town Commissioners, did indeed express the opinion of the citizens of the town. Make no mistake about it, the citizens of this town are on the whole opposed to this venture; however, not for the narrow minded reasons given in your editorial. We are not opposed to the project because of the fact it is a convention center project. We are opposed to it because we feel that contracting to share our water and sewer facilities may well over-stress them to the point that they would be inadequate for our use. Citizens remember that it has been only within the past 5 years, during a drought, that we were drinking water pumped from Tom's Creek.

To refuse to share these necessary services does not represent narrow minded rural backwardness, but does in fact represent a cogent assessment of the facts.

Very truly yours,
George L. Morningstar, M.D.

Mayor Disagrees With Editorial

Editor, Emmitsburg Chronicle:

We, the Town Council voted 4-1 not to give Viking Ventures sewer facilities for the Convention Center project.

The decision was not based on an expressed desire to confine sewer service to the town limits. The decision was based on the fact that we are operating at our capacity at the present time. Viking Ventures wanted a yes or no. We could not say yes, because we could not handle V.V. at this time. We are doing a feasibility study on our sewer and water facilities at this time, which will take 90 days.

As for the town residents, you talk like they are hiding behind false justification. Well they are not. The only one hiding is the individual who did not sign this editorial. Where you got the idea the Commissioners were reconsidering, I do not know, because I was not aware of it at the time. The commissioners did place themselves in the forefront in actively dealing with changes. Speaking mostly for myself, this is the reason my vote was no!

MSS Students Hold Field Day; Defeat Faculty In Softball Game

Friday, May 18, was the annual Field Day for grades five through eight at Mother Seton School. The day opened with a prayer and the pledge to the flag. Students and faculty gathered around the flag pole for the ceremony. The events followed immediately.

Although the day was cold, the races, high jumps, softball throws, etc., kept everyone warm and busy. Competition for the students ended at noon time. The afternoon was set aside for a seventh-grade soccer game and a student-faculty softball game. The eighth graders managed to nudge ahead of their seventh grade competitors in the soccer game.

The student softball team composed of fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth graders defeated the faculty. Unable to believe that such a thing could happen, the faculty has challenged the students to another game in two weeks. The day was planned by Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Sheaffer and Mr. Jay Dickinson.

Mrs. Jenna Ott crosses first base as John Carson reaches for ball during student-faculty softball game.

Children Receive First Grade Preview

School on Saturday! For most children that would be distasteful. However, for about 40 children who are planning to enter first grade at Mother Seton School in September, school on Saturday, May 19, proved to be a very happy experience. The children and the first grade teachers, Sister Irene and Sister Mary John, spent an hour and a half getting acquainted with one another. Among other activities, they enjoyed a movie and refreshments, which were provided by the Mother Seton School PTA. Hopefully, this experience will help the children to look forward to beginning first grade in September.

FREDERICK COUNTY BACKGROUNDS

BY SAMUEL CARRICK
More Winter Family Notes

"There is a shining wonder where men strive
Through gleaming days of sun and wind and soil.
Forever there lies beyond the commonplace
The imperishable dignity of toil.
There is the splendor of the rugged land
Where stalwarts wrestle with the ancient sod;
The golden silences where men who will
May labor daily hand in hand with God."

—Grace Noel Crowell
Before continuing the study of the Winter family, of Pennsylvania and Maryland, a note regarding the Zacharias family, of Stoney Branch, Frederick County, Maryland.

It will be remembered that the Zacharias' and their family burial ground were dealt with at some length in past columns but at that time the following tombstone inscription, from Elias churchyard, was overlooked.

Buried just west of her father, Samuel Singer, Soldier in the War of the American Revolution, is his daughter, Mary (Singer) Zacharias. The inscription from the well-preserved black slate stone at her grave is as follows:

1. In memory of Mary Zacharias, wife of Mathias Zacharias, and daughter of Samuel Singer, died April 11, 1824, aged 33 years and 15 days.

Note: Mary (Singer) Zacharias was a sister of John Singer and therefore an aunt of Charlotte (Singer) Hoover and Susannah (Singer) Ohler. Since she died comparatively young, it would appear that she was interred with her own people rather than in the Zacharias family burial ground on the home plantation at the Stoney Branch.

There is no further data, at this time, pertaining to this particular branch of the Zacharias family.

The data pertaining to the Winter family, of the Emmitsburg vicinity, is continued at this time.

A listing of the children born to Henry and Mary Ann (Rowe) Winter, as taken from the records of the Lutheran church (Taneytown and Emmitsburg) is concluded — as follows:

3. Baptized—Columbia Winter—daughter of Henry and Mary Ann (Rowe) Winter—born April 15, 1853—baptized July 11, 1853.

Note: Miss Columbia "Miss Lum" Winter, was a milliner in Emmitsburg, in company with her sister, Miss Susan Winter. There are many people still living in Emmitsburg at the present time who remember the sisters as well as their mother, the widow of Henry Winter. They were, apparently, a talented family—somewhat out of the ordinary.

4. Baptized—Jacob Rowe Winter—son of Henry and Mary Ann (Rowe) Winter—born October 19, 1856—baptized January 27, 1856.

Note: On the Winter family memorial stone, in Elias churchyard, is the name and dates of Jacob Rowe Winter:

5. In memory of Jacob Rowe Winter, son of Henry and Mary Ann Winter, born October 19, 1856, died September 23, 1857.

This little boy, the only son born to the second marriage of Henry Winter, was named for his maternal grandfather. The child lived less than a year.

The death records of the Lutheran congregation list the following pertaining to the Winter family:

1. Buried—Mary Magdalena Winter—died April 6, 1856.

Note: The wife of George Winter, the son of Francis Winter, who emigrated from Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, into what is now Carroll County, Maryland.

Both George Winter and his wife are buried in Elias churchyard—in the fourth row immediately back of the church chancel. The inscriptions follow:

6. In memory of George Winter, born in the year 1783, died February 1, 1850.

Note: This stone is badly eroded and difficult to decipher.

7. In memory of Mary M. Winter, wife of George Winter, died April 6, 1856, aged 76 years.

2. Buried—Henry Winter—Died September 22, 1857—Rev. Henry Bishop.

3. Buried—Anna Barbara Winter—Died June 22, 1866—Rev. Gotwald.

Note: The grave of Anna Barbara Winter is in Elias churchyard, in the same plot as those of George and Mary Magdalena Winter. The inscription follows:

8. In memory of Anna B. Winter, died June 22, 1866. (No age or date of birth given).

4. Buried—Henry Winter—Died August 4, 1844—aged 76 years, 3 months, and 13 days—interment in churchyard in Lot #46.

Note: Henry Winter was a soldier in the Mexican War—Lieutenant in a company raised in Emmitsburg and vicinity. By trade he was a "wagonmaker." His first wife, who died young, was Joanna Troxell, his second, Mary Anne Rowe, the daughter of Jacob Rowe.

In his first article written about the Winter family it was stated that Henry Winter was a son of Francis Winter. This was in error. Henry was the son of Jacob and Marguerite (Gerwer) Winter and a grandson of Francis Winter.

The notes on the Winter family will be continued in this series next week and will include information on members of the family buried at Winter's church.

How could you know if she's about to commit suicide or just have a good cry?

You don't.
And most people don't.

That's why there are over 60 thousand suicides every year.

And the real tragedy is the fact that 80% of all suicides could be prevented.

How?

If you and others knew the clues that indicate a family member or friend may be showing suicidal tendencies. That's what we talk about in our free book called "The will to die."

Send for it.

It could save a life...a life of someone you know. Suicide prevention is another way of showing,

The following questions were typical of the kind asked of me in recent weeks. Letters should be sent to me, c/o House of Representatives, Washington, D.C. 20515.

As a public service, would you please print Interior Secretary Morton's "common sense" ways to conserve automobile gasoline?

Interior Secretary Morton recently called for voluntary cutbacks to conserve gasoline. At your request I am reprinting the nine tips he recommended to consumers: 1) Plan vacations and camping trips closer to home; 2) Use trains, buses or airplanes on long trips rather than automobiles; 3) Use automobiles only for necessary trips; 4) Limit the use of auto air conditioners and other fuel consuming accessories; 5, Drive 10 miles below the speed limit on all super highways; 6) Place greater reliance on small cars, particularly by two car families; 7) Use mass transit systems more extensively; 8) Walk or ride bicycles on short trips, and 9) Keep automobile engines properly tuned and tires properly inflated.

What is the National Flood Insurance Program and what is it designed to do?

The program makes specified amounts of flood insurance, previously unavailable from private insurers, available under Federal auspices. In return for the provision of subsidized insurance to existing properties, State and local governments are required to adopt and enforce land use and control measures that will guide land development in flood-prone areas in order to avoid or reduce future flood damage. Interested communities should write the Regional Office of the Department of Housing & Urban Development, Curtis Building, 6th & Walnut Streets, Philadelphia.

When is the Park Service going to publish its 1973 camping directory?

The new edition of "Camping in the National Park System" is available for fifty cents from the Superintendent of Documents. The pocket-sized guide lists more than 29,000 campsites in 92 areas and specifies the camping season for each area, duration of stay permitted, and facilities available to the camper.

What is Congress doing about airport noise?

Legislation has been introduced in Congress establishing the Airport Noise Curfew Commission. This Commission would be authorized to study and make recommendations to Congress regarding the establishment of curfews on non-military aircraft operations over populated areas of the United States during "normal sleeping" hours. Copies of this bill, H.R. 1073, may be ordered through my office in Washington.

LOOKING AHEAD

By George S. Benson, President, National Education Program
Searcy, Arkansas

Vice President Agnew's
Cutting Blade

The most provocative thrust of Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's "media" speech in Des Moines in November 1969 was its definition of a non-elected elite in journalism acting in a self-appointed role as the conscience and protector of the American public. In his address at the National Education Program's 36th Freedom Forum three and a half years later he touched with his sabre the same tender nerve. He said he and the Nixon Administration were ready at any time to meet with the officialdom of big media to ease the present conflict between Government and the Press.

"There is unquestionably wrong and right on both sides of this controversy," he said as a finale to his Forum speech. "Only reasoned debate and communication between the two parties can lead to a solution or even to an improvement. Because it is a matter of immense importance to the American public that information flow credibly and freely to them, the Government and the media must put aside their visceral reactions and engage in a productive, intelligent discussion of their differences. The Administration is prepared to participate in such a discussion."

Small Number Influence Opinion
His thrust at the tender spot (the Press' self-elected role of public guardian) was projected much further at the Forum than in his Des Moines speech: "Such a small number of network news editors, having common interests and frequently common politics, cannot be aware of the broad interests of the American people. I do not accuse them of any conspiracy, but I do suggest that they are affected by the same peer group prejudices, business interests and loyalties that we are. . .

"It is significant that most of the cries of 'repression' and 'conspiracy' which are being mounted today against the Nixon Administration come from the opinion-making media. Very few editors and station owners around the country share their fears. But again I do not doubt the genuine concern of these critics in the opinion-making media. They do not trust the Government to be fair to them. I assure you that the Nixon Administration wants to be fair to them, but we do not think they have yet diversified their undertaking sufficiently to fairly report the activities of Government to the American people."

Communists Not The Enemy?

The Vice President then got into what he called the 'crux' of the controversy. "Recall for a moment," he asked his Forum audience of 2,000, "the quality of the news we became accustomed to receiving from Vietnam and imagine that you are listening to a commentary on the war by CBS correspondent John Hart, who had this to say in an address given last summer: ' . . . we, as a matter of course, refer to the North Vietnamese and the Communist guerrillas in South Vietnam as "the enemy" when they are, in fact, the enemy of the Saigon government and the American executive branch.'"

"Now just consider that statement and decide for yourself whether the man who made it could possibly remain objective in his reporting of the war news. And given a group of men with similar views in control of the news selection process, what chance is there of getting an accurate message across to the people? And this brings us to the crux of the problem, a problem that is one of the most serious we face today. Note carefully the separation made by Mr. Hart between the Executive Branch and the American people. Then analyze the close relationship he suggests between the media and the American people, a relationship almost casually referred to in a recent article by two other distinguished journalists, in which they allude to 'a representative of the public—in the person of the news media.'

Controlling Public Reaction

"That quotation, I believe reveals precisely what is wrong with the way the opinion-making news media view themselves. Their personnel have come routinely to think of themselves as representatives of the people and just as routinely to view the Federal Government as the enemies of the people. Something seems very out of joint about this. Does a man who works for CBS represent the people? Or does he primarily represent CBS? And isn't an elected official, depicted as an enemy of the people, really the person directly accountable to the people who put him in office?"

He said he and the Administration were concerned with the present media performance for this reason: "At the base of our concern lie several interrelated changes in media patterns and attitudes. These changes have . . . led to the emergence of the opinion-making media as a formidable social force in our society. Once journalists believed that their job was to report as much as possible of what happened. Today, the view increasingly seems to be that the media should control the public reaction to what happened." This, the Vice President felt was alarming. Next week: Edith Efron, of TV-Guide, sizes up the problem.

Students Participate In Art Exhibit

Despite a cloudy, rainy day, some 200 parents and friends from near and far came to view the Art Exhibit held on Sunday, May 20, at Mother Seton School.

New Mileage Disclosure Law

The Motor Vehicle Administration this week advised more than 1,700 dealers in Maryland that, effective immediately, they must certify mileage readings to purchasers of their vehicles.

Motor Vehicle Administrator Ejner J. Johnson said the new procedure is required by the Motor Vehicle Information and Cost Savings Act enacted by the Congress last year and which became effective March 1, 1973.

"The mileage disclosure requirements also apply to private sales and requires any person selling or transferring a motor vehicle having a gross weight of less than 16,000 pounds to give the purchaser a written disclosure of the mileage the vehicle has traveled," Mr. Johnson said.

Adometer Mileage Forms (VR-104) are now available from all State Motor Vehicle Administration offices. Sellers of vehicles must execute and attach these statements to their vehicle titles at the time of transfer of ownership. By requiring an odometer statement to accompany each transfer, the Motor Vehicle Administration will be able to retain a history of vehicles and assist purchasers in guarding against fraud. Dealers who violate this regulation will face loss of license.

Mr. Johnson explained that the new regulation would apply to passenger cars and small trucks.

Persons transferring a motor vehicle to a Maryland dealer are required to execute an Odometer Mileage Statement and present it to the dealer. Upon resale of the motor vehicle by the dealer, the dealer must again execute the statement, indicating the mileage at the time of sale and all disclosure statements must be forwarded to the Motor Vehicle Administration with the purchaser's application for title.

There are three ways of getting to South America.

By plane, by ship, and by Land-Rover.

Land-Rover was chosen for the Trans-Darien Expedition, organized to drive overland from North to South America. We remind you there are no roads going into the South American continent. Instead there's the Darien Gap. Over 200 miles of the most incredible and inhospitable jungle in the world.

It's the kind of terrain the Land-Rover can conquer. Indeed it's the reason Land-Rover was chosen for this adventure.
