

Most Anything At A Glance

- By Abigail -

It certainly was a depressing holiday weekend around most of the country. Those of us who were complaining bitterly about the seemingly never-ending rain can take some consolation in the fact that we were spared the devastation and destruction that so much of the country received.

When the sun finally broke through Monday afternoon, folks around here scurried outside just to marvel at the sight. And it wasn't long before the sound of lawnmowers could be heard all over town, even though a few folks had to wade through puddles while mowing. On the other hand, it has been beautiful here for the last couple of days and most of us are enjoying it while we may. Then, too, I've noticed that some folks must be waiting for a good long dry spell before they are going to get outside and do any yard work. It is surprising how a few unkept yards, though, can spoil the appearance of a whole area.

The last I heard they were still waiting for a dry track up there at the Indy 500—some wise guy suggested that they just skip the whole thing this year and have an Indianapolis 1000 next year. If it doesn't dry out soon they may just have to do that.

I understand that the Jousting Tournament and Antique Car show are again scheduled to take place this weekend— if the weather co-operates. How did Jousting get to be the Maryland State Sport anyway?

In case you haven't already noticed—the Federal Government is confused again. The Mount was one of the colleges cited by the U. S. Office of Education as having sexually discriminatory admissions policy. I'd suggest that someone take a picture of all those young ladies that have been attending the Mount for the last year and send it on to Washington.

And for those of you who would like to know what happens to some of those tax dollars you work so hard to earn: Your tax dollars are at work. Down in Washington $133 million of those dollars just paid for two new office buildings and a parking garage. Then there is the lounge (for House Members only) which is sporting new carpet for only $32,000; new drapes, $22,000, and new chandeliers for only $45,000. I wonder how many Day-Care Centers could be kept open with that much money, or how many illiterates could have been taught to read, or how many other projects could have benefited if the money had been spent otherwise?

Another good example of how hard those tax dollars are working: The Department of Housing and Urban Development (better known as HUD), had a single 45-foot flagpole in front of its Washington headquarters. The neighboring Department of Transportation had a pair of 75-foot poles. Pleased at being "out-poled", HUD officials had two 80-foot poles erected. And it only cost us taxpayers $26,500.

It's a little scary for those of us living in town to suddenly find out that the Town Fathers don't know what our sewer and water capabilities are. Here we are, merrily going about our daily tasks, using water and flushing it down our drain pipes, confident that it is all being watched over by "someone". Now we find that "someone" has had to call in an engineering firm to find out whether our systems are underused, at capacity, or overused. Seems to me like this is an issue that "someone" should have looked into long before now.

Plan Community Day July 4

Members of the Emmitsburg Community have planned for the residents to celebrate the 4th of July safely by staying in the area and enjoying a day together. Plans are progressing for the first annual Community Day to begin with a parade at noon, followed by a baseball game at the Community Field and a picnic in early evening.

The Emmitsburg Council of Churches held a meeting recently with representatives of civic and fraternal organizations discussing plans for a Community Day to honor local doctors, Dr. W. R. Cadle and Dr. George L. Morningstar. The representatives are in hopes of involving the entire community in a public demonstration of gratitude and esteem for these two outstanding citizens who have served the community so long and so well.

It is the hopes of the Council of Churches that this will be a well received event and one which will survive for many years to come. Other activities and plans will be given in more detail as the day nears.

Letter To The Editor

Editor, Emmitsburg Chronicle: I wish to take this means and opportunity to thank you personally and members of your staff for their services and efforts on behalf of the Easter Seal campaign.

May I, also, thank all those who contributed through the canisters that were placed throughout Frederick County by members of the Suburban Kiwanis Club of Frederick. Thanks, also, to the many store owners and businesses for their splendid cooperation in allowing us to place the canisters in their places of business. Without the help of the general public and the Club members, as well as your staff, this could not have been as successful a campaign as it was.

Per chance should there be any canisters that have not been picked up by members of the committee, if those having any in their possession would give me a call, I would be glad to see that they are turned over to the Easter Seal Fund.

Again many thanks on behalf of myself and the Suburban Kiwanis Club of Frederick.

Very truly yours,
Thomas M. Eichelberger,
Chairman, Easter Seal Project for Suburban Kiwanis Club of Frederick.

Residents To Protest Dam

Anxiety over the impending danger of the Sixes Bridge Dam becoming a reality has spearheaded a united effort to alert our national representatives that this project will be not only a local and regional catastrophe but a national embarrassment, as well.

Landmarks and treasured historical monuments, particularly in Frederick County and the Emmitsburg area, will be seriously endangered or entirely obliterated should the Dam be approved.

To register protest against the Dam, local citizens are urged to make known their opposition by letters, telegrams and telephone calls: The Honorable Charles McC. Mathias Jr., United States Senator from Maryland, Senate Office Building, Washington, D. C. 20510.

The Honorable J. Glenn Beale, Jr., United States Senator from Maryland. Same address as above.

Honorable Goodloe F. Byron, United States Representative from Maryland, House Office Building, Washington, D. C. 20515.

Honorable Gilbert Gude, U. S. Representative from Maryland. Same address as above.

To telephone Senators or Representatives: Dial 202-225-3121; when "the Capitol" answers, ask for the Senator or the Representative by name and State.

Assistance in communicating with the Senators and Congressmen is available at Seton Center from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Fire Co. Starts Annual Fund Drive

Once again the Vigilant Hose Company will be conducting its annual fund drive. Having purchased a new pumper in 1971, a balance of $15,000 on a loan must still be paid. With the communities' help this amount can be reduced considerably during the present year. It is for this reason that a goal of $7,500 has been set for the 1973 Fund Drive.

The Vigilant Hose Company, established in 1884, has been the first line of defense against fire for residents of Emmitsburg. Since that time, the service of highly trained and devoted volunteers has been provided. The men of the Vigilant Hose Company must rely on the community for a large portion of their financial support to purchase and maintain the equipment and property necessary to continue up-to-date fire protection.

Fund Drive Chairman, James M. Kittinger, stated that letters are presently being sent to all area residents in the hopes that they will respond as generously as they have in former years and send their contributions in as early as possible.

Carburetor Starts Fire In Auto

The Vigilant Hose Co. responded to a car fire on Business Rt. 15 in Pennsylvania at 7 p.m. Tuesday. Cause of the fire was said to be carburetor backfire. The 1961 Chevrolet, owned by Earl Anderson, suffered minor damage.

GM SOFTBALL PRACTICE

The GM Softball team of the Northern Md. Fastpitch League will practice Saturday, June 2, at 2:30 p.m. on the Middle School field.

Auction Slated At St. Joe's Campus

As St. Joseph College moves towards its closing date and the end of its 164-year existence, college officials have been clearing campus storerooms and attics of antique furniture and other articles in anticipation of a public auction on Saturday, June 2. The sale is scheduled to start at 11 a.m. in the Student Center on campus.

Recalling the college's years as a school for young ladies, the sale will include the gracious appointments of another era—some antiques and other not-so-old valuable and collectible items.

There will be a preview showing on Friday, June 1, from 4 to 9 p.m. in the Student Center.

Lunch will be available on the day of the sale.

There are no plans at present to sell the modern furnishings currently in use in the college's offices, classrooms, or student residences.

The Milton J. Dance Co. of Towson, Md., will conduct the auction. Listed among the sale items are Victorian furniture, a teakwood dining room suite, oil paintings, Currier & Ives prints, Bavarian and English china, glassware, sterling silver and silver plate, an Ernst Irmeler - Leipzig square piano with Mother-of-pearl keys, a wide variety of chairs, tables, benches, candlesticks, candelabra, vases, frames and other valuable items.

The Minutes of the monthly meetings of the Chamber of Commerce are no longer in my possession, but if memory serves me, several committees were formed to investigate existing conditions and to make their recommendations for future action. Phase two also requires the submission of plans and details to some eight or more county and state agencies.

Letter To The Editor

Editor, Emmitsburg Chronicle: Since the Town Council of Emmitsburg is purported to represent the views and best interests of the town, then it should be taken to task for the imbroglia which has developed over the Viking Ventures enterprise.

Some eight or nine years ago, the Emmitsburg Chamber of Commerce was reactivated by concerned citizens of the town who recognized that the growth and prosperity of Emmitsburg hinged on making the town sufficiently attractive in every respect to keep our young people from moving from Emmitsburg to areas promising greater employment and recreational advantages. It has not changed over the years—was "what this town needs is some new industry."

The Minutes of the monthly meetings of the Chamber of Commerce are no longer in my possession, but if memory serves me, several committees were formed to investigate existing conditions and to make their recommendations for future action. Thus Dr. Raymond Lauer studied the town's economic situation; Mr. Norman Flax assessed the water and sewer and location of such facilities, and a construction time table plan. Phase two also requires the submission of plans and details to some eight or more county and state agencies.

The agreement also states that phase two will be void after two years if phase three has not been completed. This phase required for eligibility for zoning certificate requires written approval for water and sewer from the State Health Department, the County Health Dept. and the Metropolitan Sanitary Commission.

Whereas the planning staff requested a minimum study period of six months for all of the preliminary work to be done, the Board modified this to read "whenever we have all the data available, we will review."

A special attraction of this year's sale will be the Christmas table offering a variety of gift items.

Parking space will be available to the rear of the building. Further information may be obtained by calling Mrs. Allen Underwood, general chairman. The number is 642-5456.

Vandalism At Viking Dairy Farm

Maryland State Police are investigating two incidents which occurred last week on a farm near Emmitsburg. A trooper Gerstner reported that someone opened a valve on a milk tank, causing the contents, 5,700 pounds of milk, to go down the drain.

Before the culprits left the farm, which is located on Mt. View Road, owned by Viking Ventures Inc., Bethesda, and managed by Stanley Wiemer, they turned a herd of 110 cattle loose in a wheat field. A tool box was also stolen, police said.

State Police are continuing an investigation into the farm crimes.

Mary Jo Gardiner, a resident of Frederick, is heading up the office which is located in the Law Building at 5 West Church Street in Frederick. Office hours will be from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday thru Friday, and the telephone number is 662-8322.

What's Ahead For Electric Power

By Babson's Reports Inc., Wellesley Hills, Mass., May 24, 1973 — With "energy" in the forefront, it would seem a good time to take a look at a primary energy form and its future. Conversion of coal and oil into electricity produces an outstanding medium of far greater flexibility than the original and with widespread applications.

Anti-Pollution Usage
One of such application of great importance today is electricity's use in cleaning up our environmental problems, which are as nothing compared with what lies ahead. For example, many waste recycling processes require crushers, presses, and furnaces of great capacity. The motors that operate much of this equipment are electric-powered. And recycling is still only beginning. As for water pollution, sewage and waste treatment plants move effluents through a series of settling tanks, filters, and other systems. The job is done by electric pumps, and, as in recycling, this is only the start.

There may never be an electric aircraft, but automobiles powered by electricity are on the drawing boards—most of them employing the principle of rechargeable batteries. If a practical mass produced car of this sort comes into use, the implications for improving air quality are staggering. Meanwhile, electric-powered mass transit systems are feasible. San Francisco's EART is a long way from the trolley car and is a prime example of a modern electric people-mover.

Self-Cleaning Comes First
The industry has, of course, immense possibilities in the fight to better the environment, but the electric firms themselves come under fire as polluters. Weighing all aspects, however, it would seem that the electric utilities are policing both older and newer plants quite well in order to reduce harmful emissions. Control of air pollution is being accomplished by use of fuels with low sulfur content, lofty smokestacks the better to disperse effluents, air "scrubbers," and a shift to nuclear power generation. All of these, developed over the years, have helped make cleaner air, as have other contributions such as underground transmission and distribution lines in urban and suburban areas. In 1972 the utility companies expended over $2.1 billion in trying to achieve pollution control.

Raising Living Conditions
While industry will continue to be the top user of electric power, the residential customer now consumes about one-third of all electricity sold. He has become accustomed to electric living and owns many of the twenty-two major appliances, plus other electrically operated devices. While there are complaints about high rates, with the companies generally getting the blame, the facts do not justify the criticism.

When electric power was first made available, it cost 25¢ per kilowatt hour. In 1946 it was down to 3.22¢ per kw/h; in 1971 the price was 2.19¢ per kw/h. The reason for larger electric bills is not the price but rather the fact that the average number of kw/h used by residential customers rose from 1,329 in 1946 to 7,379 in 1971, an increase of 450%. Overall sales of kw/h about doubled in a ten-year period, from 720 million in 1961 to 1,466 million in 1971. This has been the trend for the industry, with sales doubling every decade, and this pattern may well continue over the period ahead.

Nuclear Power
By October 1, 1972 the industry had 267 million kilowatts of new generating capacity scheduled for installation in the coming years. Considerable of the planned capacity will be nuclear, but the bright promise of this decade's power supply has dimmed somewhat. Environmentalists and safety groups have slowed progress on the nuclear front, forcing utilities to revert to the less expensive, quicker-to-build conventional generating stations in order to meet the inevitable and increasingly urgent demand for electric power.

FREDERICK COUNTY BACKGROUNDS

BY SAMUEL CARRICK
 The Winter Sisters
 "In Flanders' fields the poppies blow
 Between the crosses, row on row,
 That mark our place, and in the sky
 The larks still bravely singing fly
 Scarce heard amidst the guns below.
 We are dead, Short days ago
 We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow,
 Loved and were loved, and now we lie
 In Flanders' fields."

"Take up our quarrel with the foe.
 To you from falling hands we throw
 The Torch — be yours to hold it high,
 If ye break faith with us who die,
 We shall not sleep though poppies grow
 In Flanders' fields."

—John McRae
 This past week this nation celebrated, with proud but sorrowful pride, Memorial Day—a day set aside to remember those who served their country in time of war and more especially those who gave their lives—not only to bring this great nation into being but to preserve its ideals for all men. Down through the centuries this has been no easy task—the dignity and freedom of man is not purchased in the market place—it is a slow growth. What is your debt to the past? What do you owe to those who secured for you and yours those blessings so taken for granted today? Wake up! The past is ever with us but the heritage of the past can be lost today—with little or no effort.

In the two burial grounds sacred to the people of Elias Lutheran congregation there is interred men and women who served their country in every war this nation has engaged in—that is to say the Provincial Wars (French and Indian), the War of the American Revolution, the War of 1812-14, the Mexican War, the Seminole War, the Civil War, the Spanish-American War, World War I and World War II. This is not to mention several Confederate veterans, who were residents of Emmitsburg or vicinity. Truly a proud record and the memory of these brave men and women should be kept in proud remembrance—not only on Memorial Day—but at all times.

 Notes from the records of Elias church:
 5. Buried—George Winter — died November 17, 1895 — aged 88 years. Interment in Elias churchyard.
 Note: The epitaph of George Winter appears on the Winter family memorial stone. The inscription follows:
 9. In memory of George Winter, son of Jacob and Margaret Winter, born November 16, 1805, died November 17, 1895, aged 89 years.
 George Winter could well have been a brother of Henry Winter—although at the present time there is no proof of this relationship.

6. Buried—Susan Winter—Died April 14, 1807. Interred in Lutheran churchyard.
 Note: Miss Susan Winter was the daughter of Henry and Mary Ann (Rowe) Winter. She and her sister, Miss Columbia Winter, conducted a millinery business in Emmitsburg for many years. Miss Susan Winter and her sister, Miss Frances Winter, are buried side by side in Elias churchyard. The inscriptions follow:
 10. In memory of Susanna Winter, born June 15, 1863, died April 4, 1807.
 11. In memory of Mary Frances Winter, born September 14, 1851, died August 23, 1904.

Note: "Miss Frank" Winter, as she was familiarly known to her friends in Emmitsburg, was apparently named for her ancestor, one Francis Winter, who lived in the vicinity of New Windsor, Maryland, and was one of the donors of the land for "Winter's" (Saint Luke's) church and burial ground, located just south of that community. "Miss Frank" was a teacher and at one time conducted a private school in Emmitsburg. In addition she was an artist of some talent and many of her paintings are well remembered by some of the older citizens.
 7. Buried — Mrs. Mary A. Winters — Died December 5, 1907—Aged 92 years, 2 mos., and 25 days. Interment in Lutheran churchyard.
 Note: Mary Ann Rowe, the daughter of Jacob Rowe, and the second wife of Henry Winter. Mrs. Winter is interred beside her husband in Elias churchyard. The inscription from the marker at her grave was given in an earlier column.
 When Mrs. Mary Ann (Rowe) Winter died the only survivor listed in her obituary was a daughter, Miss Columbia Winter. This last daughter died some thirty years after her mother and her grave is to be found in Elias churchyard beside the Winter family memorial. The inscription follows:

 12. Columbia Winter, daughter of Henry and Mary Ann Winter, born April 10, 1853, died June 23, 1837.
 Note: As stated before, "Miss Lum" Winter was a milliner in Emmitsburg and she is remembered by many of those still living in the community.
 In addition to those members of the Winter family already listed as buried in Elias churchyard the following are also to be found there:
 12. In memory of Jacob Winter, born December 9, 1810, died August 29, 1811.
 The genealogical and historical notes regarding the Winter family will be continued in this series next week.

Caple Files For Delegate Seat

K. Grady Caple, Jr., a Democrat of Silver Run, is the first candidate from Carroll County and the second in the State of Maryland to file for nomination for member of the House of Delegates. Caple filed his Certificate of Candidacy from the new 4B Legislative District of Maryland last week, for the Primary Election to be held Sept. 10, 1974.

"I made up my mind about a year and a half ago to run for this office," Caple said, "after the salary of our legislators was increased. Now you don't have to be wealthy to 'toss your hat in the ring.' A poor man can afford to seek office in the House of Delegates or the Senate. I expect there will be a number of candidates filing later."

"I want to represent and serve the citizens of Carroll and Frederick Counties in the Maryland General Assembly. Having been born and raised in Carroll County, my roots are here. I feel qualified through my diversified background and experience in many areas."

"I'm interested in good government. I promise to hear and represent the people with honesty and integrity, and attempt to restore a morality and conscience in government, and confidence to the voters."

"Issues I'm concerned with include: conservation of our natural resources; crime prevention and law enforcement; and, I'm definitely against any further gun control laws."

Caple has appointed Paul K. Dell, Sr., of Westminster, to serve as treasurer for his campaign.

District 4B is all of Carroll County except Manchester, Hampstead, and Woollys Districts, and includes Emmitsburg and Creagerstown Districts in Frederick County.

Perspectives In Learning

A Mini-Library
A paperback library in a closet? That's correct! Some students have developed their own mini-library in an abandoned supply closet.

The paperbacks for the lending library were collected by the students. They spent several Saturdays and evenings after school knocking on doors and asking for used books. They were amazed to have acquired several thousand in a few weeks time.

The boys made the bookshelves and everyone helped paint the closet walls in lively colors. Pictures and posters soon made it an inviting mini-library.

Several students were trained by the librarian to operate the students' mini-library. It was open before and after school hours so that it was not in competition with the regular school library.

The students recognized the need for a committee to screen the donated books so they selected a group consisting of students and teachers. Books that were in poor taste or quality were discarded before they were processed for lending.

The main purpose of the mini-library is to encourage reading and to develop an interest in reading for pleasure. The books are there just for fun.

Textbooks are taboo in this library. The books that are on the shelves are ones that are read for pleasure. There are books of many different reading levels so that each student can find something of interest at a level he can understand and enjoy.

There are no fines for overdue books. If a student fails to return the book he has signed out, he must replace it with another book that someone would enjoy, not necessarily the same title. Yes, books leave the shelves and never return but isn't this wonderful? It means that books are being read and enjoyed.

This mini-library must exist in many schools and community centers. If not, it should be there. Such an easy way to promote the reading habit and get students involved in a meaningful activity.

Some projects cost thousands of dollars and the results are difficult to evaluate. This project costs one closet, a quart of paint, some bookshelves and some interested young people. Because the students are involved in the entire project, they participate willingly. It is their mini-library so they use it.

There are three ways of getting to South America. By plane, by ship, and by Land-Rover.

Land-Rover was chosen for the Trans-Darrien Expedition, organized to drive overland from North to South America. We remind you there are no roads going into the South American continent. Instead there's the Darrien Gap. Over 200 miles of the most incredible and inhospitable jungle in the world.

It's the kind of terrain the Land-Rover can conquer. Indeed it's the reason Land-Rover was chosen for this adventure.
