Most Anything At A Glance

- By Abigail -

This week's cool weather brings a refreshing change from the heat wave of just a couple of weeks ago and it sure is appreciated. I ran into one former resident now living in the big city who came back to town to cool off. Many of us living in town fail to appreciate the opportunity to live near the nice cool mountains. It takes a fugitive from the city jungle to point out we enjoy every day many benefits the jungles spend the whole weekend trying to share.

The cool weather brought another benefit to local air conditioning sales and installation merchants — a little breather to allow them to try and catch up with customer demands.

Probably we should all appreciate the fact work has started on the new elementary school, but a look at progress makes me wonder if the county school henchmen down in Frederick who are supposed to follow these projects have taken a summer vacation with the other board employees.

A big project like our school should have one of those fancy schemes for telling everyone if the project is on-time or ahead or behind schedule. What are they called, peck charts, perk charts, or maybe plain old flow charts? In any event, I suggest the town fathers find a way to get hold of a copy and post it in the window of the town office. That way sidewalk superintendents will be able to discharge our duties with some real knowledge to back us up.

When we are on our way to look over recent progress we can stop by and see if the contractor is on schedule. If he is behind, maybe we could put our collective heads together and offer suggestions on how he could get the job done faster. Then too, if the contractor knew everyone in town was checking on him, he might take steps to see he doesn't fall behind.

By the same token, it won't hurt a bit to let those Frederick boys know the local folks are on the ball. I still remember the delays on the Route 97 bridge over U. S. 15 which extended construction more than three times the original estimate.

It is that time of year again when the local firemen are making their solicitation drive for funds to carry them through another year. Very few groups do as much real good for Emmitsburg as the fire and ambulance crews. They deserve our generous support and consideration added to their own contributions of time and effort.

I see the Sixes Bridge Dam continues in the news. I'd be interested in hearing who is for and who is against. Maybe the town fathers could run a little survey. Some people say all older residents are for, and some say they are against. The same goes for the newer residents. It is all pretty confused and makes me wonder if we want that project on our back door step or not.

Letter To Editor

Dear Editor:

The enclosed letter was sent recently to Senator Charles McC. Mathias. Citizens of Emmitsburg should send for Supplement to Final Environmental Statement, Sixes Bridge Dam and Lake, Maryland and Pennsylvania.

On page 66, the Corps of Engineers admits that the 70 family figure applies only to the reservoir area of 5800 acres — additional land will bring the total persons displaced to between 500-600.

Charles Fisher

Dear Senator Mathias:

Recent press articles indicate that you have taken a position in favor of the proposed Sixes Bridge project on the Monocacy River in Carroll and Frederick Counties. Such a dam would be ruinous to social, cultural, scenic, and historic interests in Maryland. According to Corps of Engineers figures (Potomac River Basin Water Supply, page 18) eighty-six per cent of the water would go to the Washington, D. C. area but the taxpayers of Maryland would have to pay over two thirds of the cost.

You have stated that the project is needed for flood control. In a recent conversation with Mr. A. E. Robinson, Jr., of the Baltimore District Office of the Corps of Engineers, a member of this association was informed that there are no flood control provisions in the project specifications.

Engineers with whom this association has consulted, state that the Monocacy Valley is too flat for a reservoir. Even small drawdowns would create a large perimeter of mud flats. Since the reservoir is intended to augment low flow periods in the Potomac River, drawdowns could be expected in the summer months.

This organization consists of concerned citizens from several states who want to see the Monocacy Valley preserved as a scenic and historic open space. The dam would destroy this beautiful piece of historically important America forever.

Since nearly eleven thousand acres of prime agricultural and scenic lands are at stake in this issue, the matter must be decided on the facts of the case alone. There are over one hundred billion gallons of fresh water in the Potomac River estuary. This represents more water than the Washington area can ever use. There is no reason to ask the people of Frederick and Carroll Counties to make such a huge sacrifice in the name of another political subdivision. If funds must be spent, let them be spent to improve the estuary. This will provide an almost unlimited source of water for the Washington area forever.

Last April over five hundred people turned out to voice their opposition to this project at a Corps-sponsored public hearing at Catoctin High School in Thurmont, Maryland. A number of press articles indicating opposition to the dam have appeared in the local press. In view of the overwhelming grass roots opposition to this project, I strongly urge you to reconsider your position in this matter. The taxpayers of Maryland will not stand for another expensive rip-off of this type at the expense of our already pillaged environment.

Sincerely,
Charles R. Fisher
Chairman, Save the Monocacy Association

The award is part of an Education Professions Development Act project which will help provide training for volunteers in reading-help programs serving various Maryland communities.

Mr. William C. McGinly of the Mount Education Department, who was responsible for the application and ultimate receipt of the grant, said the program will train volunteer reading-help instructors for local reading programs around the state. In the form of a 20-30 hour workshop, the program is expected to train from 40 to 60 participants when it begins on the Mount campus in the fall. Mr. McGinly said that while many participants are expected from among Mount Saint Mary's campus organizations, he hoped that many area parents would also be encouraged to participate.

Participants will use their training in reading programs at Emmitsburg-Thurmont area schools.

BUSINESS AND THE STOCK MARKET

The Offshore Industry
By Babson's Reports Inc., Wellesley Hills, Mass., June 21, 1973 — Offshore activity maintained a fast pace last year as the search for gas and oil grew more intense. Many areas throughout the free world are already producing, being explored, or awaiting exploration.

As was expected, most companies within the industry registered good gains last year in both revenues and earnings. Furthermore, with demand expected to remain strong, utilization rates should hold at a high level and most firms are likely to chalk up further good advances in 1973 despite rising costs. The President's energy message to Congress earlier this year contained some good news for the offshore industry. Of primary significance was the proposal to speed up offshore lease sales. The Interior Department, in fact, plans to triple the amount of oil leasing along the outer continental shelf starting next year. Another favorable aspect of the message was the suggestion that an additional tax subsidy be granted in the form of a tax credit for outlays involved in extending exploration.

Investors Turn Hesitant
While most offshore companies enjoyed a good gain in earnings for 1972, the stocks suffered a market setback earlier this year. No doubt this was partly due to a poor market atmosphere and the fact that many offshore issues had risen sufficiently to make them more vulnerable to market fluctuations. But other factors were also involved.

Three Important Considerations
One thing that has worried investors is the possibility that Congress may pass legislation eliminating or drastically reducing the tax advantage on foreign earnings that are not brought back to this country. The tax deferral on such income is important to many companies in the offshore industry, and with foreign operations expected to continue growing at a rapid clip, removal of this tax advantage would have a substantial impact on both current and future results.

Perspectives In Learning

By Hazel Brown, President Harry Lundeberg School Too Many Students—
Crowded classrooms are still a major concern for educators and parents. Most educators believe that better instruction can occur when the pupil-teacher ratio is low, but there is little agreement as to the number of students an individual teacher feels he can handle adequately. Some teachers would be thrilled to only have 30 pupils in the classroom while others feel that 20 is a much more realistic number.

Crowded classrooms are the common problem in almost every school system. There are schools in urban areas and ghettos which have 50 to 60 children in one classroom. Inadequate funding is usually blamed for these situations, but this may not be the only reason. Educational philosophy, available facilities, teaching techniques and community interest may also be involved.

Teacher associations and unions are attempting to negotiate for smaller class size, but with little success. The obstacles are many. Even the statistics and data from educational research does not always prove the merit of small classes. Without proof that a low pupil-teacher ratio gets better results, the administrators feel they haven't reason enough to press the issue with their Boards of Education. In many cases financial difficulties make it impractical to even discuss teacher-pupil ratio at a negotiating session.

After working closely with dropouts from the educational systems of all states in our nation, one begins to see certain patterns of causes or reasons for leaving school. The crowded classroom is almost always mentioned. Students feel that being just a number within a large class is very discouraging.

A certain type of student just cannot function successfully in an extremely competitive situation. He loses his identity and withdraws from competition for the teachers' attention or he becomes the behavior problem. He may be unable to interact with other students in the class, and develops a personality problem.

Teachers have a very difficult, if not impossible, task of getting to know students well in a crowded classroom. As a consequence, the educator teaches the subject matter rather than the individual student. To be a functioning teacher he must be like a doctor. He must get to know the student well enough to know exactly what the student knows and what he needs to learn. Educating is then like prescribing the proper medicine so the student learns. Can this type of learning take place in a crowded classroom?

Being able to give individual attention to each student in a class of 40 is next to impossible. Special techniques of instruction which have been proven to be effective, cannot even be attempted due to the number of students involved.

Pupil participation is often limited to the more able and aggressive students. The slow or shy student never really participates. Flexibility in the use of varied materials is very difficult to achieve. What usually happens is the acceptance of one standard textbook for the entire class rather than a variety of resources from which to select the best and most appropriate material.

When we speak about the ills of education, let's not forget that class size is a very important factor. The able and well adjusted student can often learn in spite of the atmosphere in the classroom but this is not true of the student with some learning disability or emotional problem. He needs individual at-

LOOKING AHEAD

By George S. Benson, President, National Education Program
Searcy, Arkansas

McCloskey, The Fund Raiser
The first exposures in the Watergate affair came to public attention during the Presidential campaigning in 1972. And the opening disclosures in the biggest political scandal in American history (yet not reported as such) were made during the Presidential campaigning in 1964. One of the first political celebrities named in connection with the machinations of Bobby Baker, Secretary of the U. S. Senate's Democratic majority, was Matthew H. McCloskey, for years Treasurer of the National Democratic Party and its chief fund-raiser. Baker, who was Lyndon Johnson's protegee and intimate, became politically powerful as Johnson's right hand man in the Senate. He amassed a $2 million fortune in two years of wheeling and dealing in fraud, conspiracy and selling legislation.

One of Baker's associates in some of his dealings was Lyndon Johnson's insurance man, Donald B. Reynolds. Reynolds, like the McCord of the Watergate affair, began to "spill the beans" soon after his name was brought into the Baker scandal by Sen. John J. Williams (R. Del.) who first exposed Baker. Reynolds testified under oath at a Senate Rules Committee hearing that he was Bobby Baker's and the Democratic Party's "bag man" in the transfer of $25,000 in Government money to the Democratic Party to help finance the John Kennedy-Lyndon Johnson presidential campaign of 1960.

Democrat Campaign Fund
McCloskey's fortune apparently was much bigger than Baker's. Substantial amounts came from his strangely successful bidding in of Federal Government building contracts such as $60 million in work on the $100 million-plus Rayburn Office Building, V. A. Hospitals, the $20 million D. C. Stadium (later named Kennedy Stadium) and others. According to Reynolds testimony, as reported in the New York Times of January 22, 1964, McCloskey worked with Baker in buying a $14 million performance bond for construction of the D. C. Stadium. The bond was purchased from Reynolds. The premium was $73,631.28. But Reynolds' testimony and his records showed that McCloskey overpaid Reynolds $35,574.32; and "Bag Man" Reynolds said this was a deliberate arrangement so that he could himself keep $10,000 as "extra bag man fee" and kick back $25,000 to Baker to go into the Kennedy-Johnson campaign fund. Later testimony showed that the U. S. Government in which Johnson was a powerful official, had given McCloskey $100,000 (tax-payers money) as a "Progress Payment" out of which came McCloskey performance bond premium and the overpayment described by Reynolds as going to the Democratic campaign fund.

Media Period If Liking LBJ
Most of the ramifications of the far-reaching Baker manipulations were permitted to wind up in dead ends by the Democratic Majority of the Senate Rules Committee (six Democrats, three Republicans), by the claim of "Executive Privilege" by Democratic Attorney General Katzenbach, and by the news media's unusual apathy in the face of sensational leads. Let's look at McCloskey and the Lyndon Johnson of 1964. First President Johnson, who had ascended to the Presidency with the assassination of President John Kennedy: The eastern media, as any examination in its editions of that period will show, had warmed up to Democrat Lyndon Johnson when the very popular conservative Senator Barry Goldwater merged as his Presidential opponent. The blissful period of eastern media support lasted about two years, until President Johnson began doing some things in Vietnam which angered major news media. The honeymoon continued throughout the 1964 campaign and the Bobby Baker disclosures.

McCloskey in 1964 was the recently returned Ambassador to Ireland and still the major money-raiser for Democratic Party campaigning. But he was dealt a blow when the Justice Department was forced to file a claim against him for $4,918,770.00 for the Government's expense in replacing "faulty work" and "serious defects" in the $14 million Veterans Administration hospital in Boston. The hospital, it was revealed, had begun literally to "come apart" shortly after it was occupied. It was revealed also that McCloskey got the contract by out-bidding 13 other contractors. His amazingly low bid was $10 million, although Government estimates had indicated its cost would top $12 million. In fact, with McCloskey building it, after getting the job with his low-low bid, the cost ran to more than $14 million.

The Cover Up
Testimony before the Rules Committee, in the Baker case, also stated that McCloskey had conferred with Bobby Baker about the Stadium contract before it was awarded, and that President Truman also sat in on one such meeting. What went on in the building of the Rayburn House Office Building (some estimates of the total cost running toward $200 million) was a sensational news story that got comparatively little attention in the media. McCloskey, when examined by the Rules Committee, said that his company "goofed" in their "investigation" by virpremium, but he said none of it was intended to wind up in the Democratic campaign fund, although Don Reynolds said it had. The Rules Committee Democrats closed out their "investigation" by virtually "white washing" Baker and refusing to follow up on the most sensational leads, such as McCloskey's amazing methods of securing juicy multi-million dollar Federal building contracts. The media did not follow the leads.

TOGETHER FOREVER
Together forever are the words written there
On the stone that stands by their grave

Two people that shared their lives to the end
Deepest love they to each other gave.

There were troubles and trials,
Sickness and pain
But it seemed to just deeper their love
They never had much of the wealth of this life
Though they shared a wealth from above.

Each day as it dawned would find them there
By the book that guided their life
For the courage and strength they needed each day
To keep them no matter the strife.

Morning and night our Mom and Dad
Would kneel there and pray side by side
And ask of the wonderful Father above
That both their lives and our's he would guide.

As I look on this stone that stands by their grave
Sweet memories keep flooding my heart
And I know that one day when the trumpet does sound
We'll be together never to part.

In Loving Memory
of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Snyder

More Duphorne Notes
"Out of the night that covers me,
Black as the pit from pole to pole
I thank whatever gods may be
For my unconquerable soul."

"It matters not how strait the gate,
How charged with punishment the scroll,
I am the master of my fate;
I am the Captain of my soul."

The data pertaining to the Duphorne (Duhorn) family, of the vicinity of Emmitsburg, but originally from the "Low Countries" of Europe, is continued at this time.

The records of Elias Lutheran congregation:
8. Membership in 1851—Barbara Duphorne, Hannah Duphorne, Samuel Duphorne, Mrs. Maria Duphorne, Mary Hagen Duphorne, and Eliza Ann Duphorne.

The membership tally for 1860 includes Robert Calvin Duphorne, Sarah Duphorne, Ella M. Duphorne, and Calvin F. Duphorne.

Mollie Young Heads Soroptimists

Wednesday, June 13, at 7:30 p.m., the Frederick County Soroptimist Club met at Camp Cozy in Thurmont, for the annual banquet and installation of officers for the coming year. About thirty members and friends attended, including four members from Upper and Lower Montgomery County clubs, three from Westminster, two from Gaithersburg, and two from Cumberland.

The program opened with the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag, followed by the Invocation by Olive Long and the introduction of guests who were presented with corsages.

When the delicious dinner had been served, Denise Everly entertained with several solos, accompanied by her guitar.

The only business transacted was a choice of next year's meeting place which after counting the votes, appeared to be Watson's.

Ruth Fischer, outgoing president, introduced members with perfect attendance for the year. They were Virginia Stevens, Olive Long and Ruth Fischer.

Mrs. Corrine Wastler entertained the group by singing and playing several songs from the past—"Bill Bailey" among them.

The installation was beautifully done by the past president of the Cumberland club, Mildred Fritwell. Installed were: President, Mollie Young; Vice President, Kilty Gastley; Recording Secretary, Virginia Stevens; Corresponding Secretary, Rita Remavege, and Treasurer, Alice Gregg.

Three new members were also installed: Lucille Beale, Emma Thorson, and Edith Scott.

The Frederick County Soroptimist Club was now deemed ready for the year 1973-74.

—Died August 15, 1953—aged 5 years.
Note: A daughter of Samuel and Maria Duphorne—her baptism is recorded in the records of Trinity Lutheran church of Taneytown. This little girl is buried in Elias churchyard and her grave is marked. The inscription was given in last week's column.

10. Buried—Barbara Duphorne—died October 17, 1853—aged 80 years.
Note: Barbara Duphorne was the wife of Simon Duphorne. She is interred in Elias churchyard in the family plot. The inscription follows:

4. In memory of Barbara Duphorne, wife of Simon Duphorne, died October 1853, aged 83 years.
Note: It will be observed that there is a three-year difference in the age of Mrs. Duphorne as given in the church record and on the tombstone. As this late date it is impossible to determine the correct one.

Undoubtedly Simon Duphorne, the husband of Barbara, is buried in the same plot, probably beside his wife, but at the present time his grave is unmarked.

11. Buried—John H. Duphorne—died July 23, 1867—aged 31 years, 1 month, and 21 days.
Note: John H. Duphorne is buried in Elias churchyard his grave is marked. The inscription follows:

5. In memory of John H. Duphorne, born July 2, 1836, died July 23, 1867.
Note: This young man is interred beside Thomas Duphorne and might well be his brother. There is no proof of this, however, at the present time.

12. Buried—Hannah Duphorne—died June 2, 1882—aged 24 years, 2 months, and 22 days. Buried in Lot #5 in the churchyard.
Note: Hannah Duphorne is interred between John H. Duphorne and Samuel Duphorne and is probably a sister of the former. Her grave is marked. The inscription follows:

6. In memory of Hannah Duphorne, died May 2, 1882, aged 74 years, 2 months, and 16 days
Note: It will be noted that the church record states that Hannah Duphorne died in June of 1882 whereas the tombstone inscription lists May as the month of her death; Again no opinion can be given.

13. Buried—Samuel Duphorne—died February 24, 1884—aged 85 years, 6 months, and 16 days. Interred in Lot #5 in the churchyard.
Note: Samuel Duphorne is buried beside Hannah Duphorne, who was probably his daughter. His grave is well marked. The inscription fol-

The very image of athletic prowess, curvaceous comrades Olga Korbut (right) and Liudmila Turishcheva, members of the USSR Olympic Team and gold medal winners at the Games in Munich last summer, take a shine to the Tanqueray Achievement Awards recently presented to them. The award, for outstanding achievement by an amateur athlete, has never been given to two athletes in one year before. Miss Korbut was the winner of three gold medals and a silver medal during the gymnastics competition. Miss Turishcheva won a gold medal for all-around gymnastics. On a seven-city U.S. exhibition tour, they both reflect "gym dandy" accomplishments.

Quilting Demo Planned Sunday

A special demonstration of quilting will take place this Sunday, June 24, from 12 noon to 5 p.m. at the Folk Culture Center in Catoctin Mountain Park.

The women of the mountain wisely saved all their scrap materials and carefully stitched them into beautiful quilts, truly functional items but expressive of their artistry and creativity. The old-fashioned quilting bee was a social as well as productive activity — hours well-spent in a cooperative atmosphere of friendship and teamwork.

Try your hand at quilting!

In addition to joining others around the quilting frame, you may watch demonstrations and participate in mini-lessons on piecing log cabin, T-square and crazy quilt patterns, doing decorative needlework and tufting.

Along with this special quilting event, other craftsmen — the village blacksmith, the leatherworker, the potter, the carpenter, the broom-maker, and the weaver will all be demonstrating their skills as regularly scheduled.

When you visit the Folk Culture Center make a stop in the environmental museum and learn the story of man and the environment here on Catoctin Mountain.

Emmitsburg Homemaker's Club Recalls Fifty Years Of Progress

(Continued From Last Week) 1. Food and Clothing; 2. Making of new garments from old; 3. Tailoring, the Bound Button Hole, the Two Minute Patch.

The children were healthier because of our "Child Study" and Dad was happier because we were buying more wisely and keeping better records. The Emmitsburg Club was listed in "Record Keeping" — 100%.

Our Forties, known as the "War Years" (or our 3rd decade), brought about a widening horizon of our activities. Many foreign countries were studied to create a better understanding of their problems. Letters were exchanged and gifts of food and clothing were sent for five years to a French family (The Pontell family).

Some of the projects at home were:

- 1. The Victory Garden.
- 2. A Red Cross Program.
- 3. Classes in First Aid.
- 4. Donor to the Blood Bank.

Demonstrations were given on the use of the "Pressure Cooker." One was bought and kept in the Extension Office for the use of Club members. (Still on view there).

A Canning Program was held at the high school for the people of the community to help conserve and can all available food.

Simplifying the Work Load. Renovating Furniture. House - Cleaning Hints to save time and labor.

Modernizing our homes to save time and labor. The world was changing so rapidly that new problems arose overnight that had to be met with intelligence. Our way of life and conduct were changing. Training in leadership was needed.

Miss Fehr met the challenge in our next decade (the fifties). She introduced "Family Life" as an area of study and it developed into a program of county-wide recognition and success. Such topics for discussion were:

- 1. Family Values.
- 2. Take a Walk Around Your Life.
- 3. Living Better on Twenty-Four Hours a Day.

We were shown how to make short cuts for 'Quickie Meals.' To use multi-purpose tools. We studied the Basic Seven and attended Health Panels presented by the Health Department. The importance of 'Good Posture' was stressed.

- 4. Religion is a Family Affair.
- 5. The Ideal Woman
- 6. The word (Empathy) — Putting yourself in the other fellow's shoes.
- 7. Keeping Records.
- 8. Making Wills and Filing Important Papers.

Parliamentary Procedure has been studied and better programs have been planned. Civil Defense has been actively pursued, with visits to our club by informed leaders.

Our study in International Relations has been extensive, interesting and educational. We have had Book Reports — Pictures and Lectures by local friends on many of their visits to foreign countries such as Alaska, Hawaii, Australia, Chile, Finland, Russia, Ireland, Germany, the Middle East and many other places in interest in our own U. S. A. (Our map of the world has been pin-pointed).

Other activities included: Pennies for Friendship.

- 1. The celebration of the 11th birthday of the United Nations with a covered dish dinner and appropriate program. Highlighted by the cutting of the birthday cake.
- 2. Sent packages for Care.
- 3. A revised Red Cross Program in First Aid.
- 4. A mother-daughter banquet held at the VFW with the Thurmont Club as guests.
- 5. We assisted Victor Culen Hospital trimming Christmas trees, making favors for trays, and selling their hand-crafts.
- 6. Sponsored the X-ray machine to our community.
- 7. We are represented on the Community Fund.
- 8. Opened our homes for the County Tour of Homes.

9. Managed the Bi-Centennial Shop during Old Home Week. Sold memorial plates and displayed our arts and crafts. Braided rugs, lamp shades, caned chairs, refinished furniture and flower arrangements. One of our members made the Queen's dress of Old Home Week.

Many of us have helped with the Open House held each year at the Extension Office (later at Rose Hill Manor). Demonstrations have been given on the making of cookies, candles and toys. Also Christmas decorations. We have given demonstrations at the Frederick Fair. We have recognized leading citizens of our community and county by inviting them to speak to our organization. We have taken part in the radio programs for County Homemakers.

Many of us have attended and participated in the Spring meetings of the Frederick Co. Council of Homemakers Clubs held each year at Hood College. We have enjoyed the splendid programs and the musical selections of the County Homemakers Chorus. The well informed speakers and the message they brought us — so well chosen for such an occasion. There was Mark Evans' "Reference For Life", based on his extended tour of Albert Schweitzer's Lambaré in Gabon, W. Africa. United States Senator Margaret Chase Smith spoke to student homemakers. Hester B. Provension's speech, "Patterns For Living," Mrs. Lola Davis (Whitfield's) lecture on Pakistan. The Honorable Charles Mathias, Mrs. Goodloe Byron, Mrs. Homer Remsburg, Dr. John Carmoahan, and Madam Mekholo Jha, wife of the Ambassador of India.

In the early sixties (our 5th decade) the State Executive Committee of the State Council of Homemakers' Clubs was held in Cumberland, Md. Mrs. Russell Dudrow, president of the board, Mrs. J. Homer Remsburg, past national president and Miss Beatrice Fehr, Home Demonstration Agent, shared in planning the program. They stressed the purpose of the Extension Service as being educational and a disseminator of information for all persons who want it. The Extension Program, geared to "Changing Times," aims to satisfy the needs of the home. Members are taught to save and spend wisely. Families tend more to be consumers than producers and are urged to explore needs on a community level, reaching out from the home.

Demonstrations were given the following year on: 1. Furniture arrangement — balance, proportion and rhythm. 2. Artistic use of accessories. 3. What detergent shall I use? (Washer-Dryers). 4. Freezing foods — Freezers etc.

- 5. What wax shall I use?
- 6. The 3 T's of buying meat.
- 7. Clothing and food.
- 8. Safe driving — State Trooper.
- 9. Social Security — Mr. Dunn, leader.

Our social activities included the traditional ones held each year. The annual picnic was at one time held at Braddock Heights, then at the members' homes where we had access to their beautiful yards and gardens. The last years they have been held at Kump's Dam. The families of members are included as well as friends.

A beautiful tea was held in honor of Mrs. Chen, a former member of our club before she returned to Formosa. Mrs. Chen in turn entertained the club at a Chinese Luncheon.

Our Christmas Party has been the best remembered social of our Homemaker's Club. Each year we went to the Green Parrot Tea Room for a super luncheon. The warmth and hospitality of Mrs. McNair will never be forgotten. It was a gay afternoon, playing cards, bingo, exchanging gifts, singing carols and just visiting with members and friends. When the Green Parrot closed, we moved on to Camp Cozy and Mountain Manor.

Not all of us will remember all of these meetings and activities, but we will remember working together and sharing our ideas, recipes, hand-crafts and skills. I'm sure that belonging to Homemakers has enriched our lives and has been very rewarding. We are ready to start the New Year with fresh enthusiasm.

Sewing classes have been conducted by the Extension Service, and interior decorating on a shoe string budget was demonstrated.

Other demonstrations included the following:

- 1. Quick bread and rolls — Everything from scratch!
- 2. Pictures for the home.
- 3. Fabrics and finishes.
- 4. Party cooking — Buffet meals, party foods.
- 5. Be line wise.
- 6. Self-improvement.
- 7. Balanced meals for the family.
- 8. You are the key to good family life.
- 9. Soil and water conservation.
- 10. How to give care to a stroke patient.

Today's Homemakers were taking their places in Tomorrow's World. We were interested in consumer protection and community and local government. The health of our senior citizens and the well-being of our youth. We are always open to change, when it is for the better. (Our 1970 theme was "Helping Others.") Our club won first prize ($15) in the County Membership Drive when 15 new members were welcomed. The club was invited to hold a meeting at the Public Library to become better acquainted with their facilities. From the library the group went to the Senior Citizens Center for the leaders lesson on "Life In The Community and Social Problems of Today." The December demonstration was "Christmas Gifts From Your Kitchen."

Water and air pollution was studied and our club participated in Clean-Up Day. The workers were proud of their accomplishments and thanked all who took part.

Demonstrations were given last year on the "Making of Tote Bags", "Shopping for Rugs and Carpets", "Renovating Your Home", "Low Calorie—Low Cost Meals", "Stain Removal from Fabric", "Carpet and Upholstery", and "Cake Decorating."

Our Christmas Party was held at Mountain Manor Dec. 13 with fourteen members present. We were reminded of our Golden Anniversary coming up in January, 1973. We have experienced and enjoyed five decades of Homemaking.

It has been a Lifetime of Learning that has helped to keep us spiritually and mentally young and therefore better homemakers.

The foundation of your whole life is laid in the home.

Brute Auxiliary Holds Monthly Meeting

Fifteen members attended the monthly meeting of the Ladies of Brute Auxiliary on Monday evening, June 11, with President Loretta Sprankle presiding. One new member, Gloria Martin was voted into the Auxiliary.

Members discussed plans for preparing a float to be in the July 4th parade honoring local doctors. Donations to the Community Day and to the Vigilant Hose Company were approved.

An auction will be held by the Auxiliary in the latter part of July or early August. Details about the auction will be released later. Dolores Davis, Francis Rosensteel and Edith Haley will be in charge of the food stand.

Members of the auxiliary will meet at the home of Helen Oster for the July meeting. Meat, rolls and beverages will be supplied by the auxiliary as a picnic will follow the meeting. Members attending are asked to bring a covered dish along. A change in time should be noted as the meeting will be held at 7:00 p.m. instead of the usual 8:15 p.m.

Grand Knight George L. Danner of Brute Council 1860, installed the new officers as follows:

By doing our part to make it a peaceful, friendly and happy place; we will exalt our family and our community. (This history has been compiled by Mrs. Lillie M. Fieri, Historian.)

Zip Column

Another commemorative 8c stamp will go on sale at our office on Saturday, June 23.

This is the third in a series of four stamps called the Rise of the Spirit of Independence in celebration of the Bicentennial of the American Revolution. The series points to the role communication.

The post rider was a mounted letter carrier. Mail then was expensive and slow in delivery. The best known route was the Boston Post Road which led to New York. A post rider was expected to make a round trip within one month.

George E. Rosensteel, P.M.
