With all the talk of increase in prices lately, I thought it might be a good idea to look through some old Emmitsburg papers which I've saved for years to recall just what the situation was back in "the good old days." I came up with an issue of the Chronicle dated August 25, 1899, a paper which came out 75 years ago this week, and I found an amusing advertisement. Here it is in its entirety:

"Changes in Prices. We the undersigned, butchers of Emmitsburg, are compelled to raise the price of our meats, owing to the advance in price of cattle, hogs and sheep. The advance in price is well known to all who keep posted on the city markets, and also cured meats of all kinds have risen greatly advanced, which compels us to make the following uniform prices for all meats: All Steaks, 14c lb., Rib Roasts, 10c lb., Roast Beef, 12c lb., All Chuck, 10c lb., All Boiling Meat, 8c lb., Flank and Neck, 7c lb., Soup Bone, 3c lb., Veal Steaks, 15c lb., All Other Veal, 8 to 12c lb., Lamb, 10 to 15c lb., Cured Hams, 14c lb., Shoulders and Breakfast Bacon, 10c lb. The above prices went into effect on Monday, July 31, 1899. The above uniform prices have been agreed upon by the following butchers: H. Hoke, John A. Joseph, E. Hoke, John A. Joseph."

Today the costs of everything, including meat, seem to be skyrocketing. Even the price of soda pop have been going up in leaps and bounds. Seems like every week some product, in addition to cost which sees an increase in cost regularly now, takes a soaring climb. All this in the midst of what is supposed to be a time of price control.

In the same issue which had the butchers' advertisement I found the personals column that used to attract so much attention in those times. Here are a couple of items from it I found to be rather interesting:

"Health Commissioner Jones is making vigorous efforts to stamp out diphtheria in the Northern annex of Baltimore."

"Governor Lowndes will shortly issue proclamations naming September 4 Labor Day, and September 12 Defender's Day, as State holidays."

"It costs about $5,000 per annum to keep the streets of Frederick city in repair. In Hagerstown the cost is about the same."

"Last Friday evening about forty young people of this place, in two large hay wagons, drove to the home of Mrs. Lewis Krise, where they were delightfully entertained. Agreeably to Judge Boyd's decision upholding the city ordinance for the removal of hitching racks from the streets, the merchants of Hagerstown are removing these obstructions."

I understand that the Democratic Candidates Night held Tuesday night was a tremendous success. I was surprised to hear that so many interested voters turned out to meet the candidates. The Democratic Central Committee is to be commended for its sponsorship of this event and for its efforts in making the night such a success.

Now if we can get a big turnout at the polls on September 10 for the Primary Election we will be well on our way to getting our County in shape.

Well, the last holiday of the summer season is fast approaching. I have heard that more gasoline stations are expected to be open than were over the other holiday weekends this year. Also, more gasoline is expected to be available. This should be welcome news to those families planning to take advantage of that last "big weekend" of the summer. For those who are travelling, remember to drive safely.

Anderson To Run For Commissioner

G. Eugene Anderson, well-known engineer and dairy farmer of near Thurmont, is a candidate for the Board of County Commissioners in the Republican primary.

He is the engineer member of the Board of Property Review for Frederick County, and has had an extensive experience in engineering, industrial building and appraisal. He attended Lee College and the University of West Virginia.

As a dairy farmer, Anderson is active in a number of farmers' organizations.

Anderson is a past president of the Thurmont Lions Club, a member of the vestry of Harriet Chapel Episcopal Church, past president of the Thurmont Sportsman's Club and president of the Catoctin Furnace Historical Society. He has also been active in United Appeal and the Cancer Drive.

Sister Eulalia To Be New Principal

Students at Mother Seton School in Emmitsburg, will have as their new Principal, Sister Eulalia McGinness, D.C.

The former Principal, Sister Adele Francis, D.C., has been appointed Provincial Secretary for the Daughters of Charity of the Emmitsburg Province.

Sister Eulalia, who holds her M.A. in Education from the Catholic University, brings a background of administrative responsibility to her new role at Mother Seton School. Her most recent assignment was that of principal at Holy Cross School in Lynchburg, Virginia.

A former Principal of Lourdes School in Utica, New York, Cathedral Academy in Syracuse and Saint Martin School in Baltimore, Sister Eulalia expressed her pleasure in continuing her work with students on the elementary level.

"My first aim at Mother Seton School," Sister Eulalia said, "is to get to know the children and their parents. Once you've established that line of communication, you can work effectively with youngsters."

To achieve her goal, Sister Eulalia hopes to interview 4 or 5 students each morning, "to determine attitudes toward school life and to entertain suggestions."

"Getting to know each child on a first-name basis is a gigantic task," Sister Eulalia remarked, "but it's well worth the effort."

Sister Natalie, Assistant Principal at Mother Seton School, noted that the expected enrollment of 550 students will provide Sister Eulalia with a sufficient challenge to test her theory.

In the total student population, 70 of these are first-graders from Taneytown, Fairfield, Fort Ritchie, Camp David and Waynesboro as well as Emmitsburg.

Ambulance Adds New CardioBeeper

A CardioBeeper (emergency rescue mini-monitor) has recently been put into service in VFW Memorial Post 6658 of Emmitsburg at their monthly meeting held recently. The CardioBeeper, as explained by Leo M. Boyle, chairman of the Ambulance Corps, is a portable, battery powered, ECG monitor with instant signal pickup and arrest alarm. Cardiac activity is indicated by both a lamp and beep within five seconds. The CardioBeeper fits into a shirt pocket and provides continuous monitoring at the bedside and during transport.

Chairman Boyle also gave the report of ambulance calls for last month. Of the thirty-one ambulance calls answered, twenty were emergencies, 8 were routines and on three occasions, their services were not needed. Twenty-nine patients were conveyed in the vehicle, while 977 miles were traveled during transport. The number of man-hours used by ambulance personnel was 80 hours.

Recognizing The Reliable Seller

No matter how large or small the purchase you're contemplating, a large factor in your buying decision should be the reliability of the seller, on whom you must often depend for vital specific product information.

A good key to a merchant's reliability is his membership in a responsible national association of businessmen. Generally, this means he is accredited by people in his own field, meeting high membership standards. Most national associations, too, have codes of ethics to which their members must adhere.

One of the toughest codes of business ethics is the pioneering consumer protection code developed by the Direct Selling Association, whose members bring products and services directly to your home.

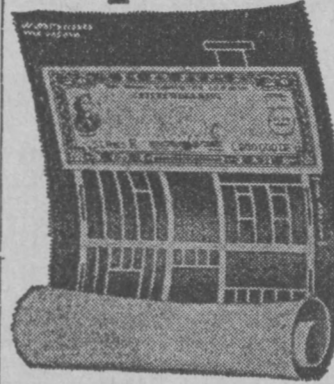

The code, which preceded many state consumer protection laws, requires that products and services offered by member companies are accurately represented; that any guarantee is in writing; and that a written receipt must specify how much the customer must pay and give the name and address of the seller.

Enforcement is strict. A member company must promptly investigate any consumer complaint and take appropriate action. The association itself retains an independent code administrator to judge reported failure to correct proven violations. Where appropriate, substantiated violations are referred to government agencies.

For detailed information on the code, write for the "Direct Selling Association Opens the Door to Consumer Protection" brochure, to: Direct Selling Association, Dept. M2, 1730 M Street, N.W., Washington, DC 20036 — and when it arrives, keep it in a convenient place for ready reference.

HOW MONEY TALKS

Not only does money talk, but it does so in many languages. At times it says more than some people realize.

South of the border, where the Spanish word for money is "dinero," there is an estimated $3.5 billion in foreign investment. This is only about 5% of total investment in Mexico, but what the money says to those who understand international finance is that Mexican regulations provide a favorable investment climate for all capital investments.

A man who is fluent in the language of money, Carlos Yarza Ochoa, president of the Confederation of Industrial Chambers, confirms that Mexico encourages investment by multinational companies which bring in modern technology under equitable terms.

Mexico will continue to be attractive for investors, both Mexican and foreign, predicts Yarza, because the country enjoys a climate of a confidence and permanent, open dialogue between government, business and labor. All sectors are free to present their viewpoints.

Mexico has no fear of multinational companies, because the country has a well-defined judicial system for regulating such investments.

Foreign capital has generally been beneficial. "As long as we have a solid government with popular support and a well-defined economic development policy, the possibility of prejudicial effects of foreign investment are virtually eliminated," Yarza said.

Although money talks Yarza recognizes that it doesn't have the last word. "The problem of Mexican development," says Yarza, "must be founded basically upon the efforts of Mexicans. We must make a constant effort to improve general economic conditions through achieving greater productivity."

When talking, though the money is called "dinero," it doesn't make a din.

LOOKING AHEAD

By George S. Benson, President, National Education Program Searcy, Arkansas

FDR's Alliance With Communist Unions

MARTIN DIES, first Chairman of House Committee on Un-American Activities, says Franklin D. Roosevelt told him he had to have the help of Commie Unions to win election. Another excerpt from the DIES speech:

He said, "Well, if you expose the communists in the C.I.O., the C.I.O. will turn against the Democratic Party. If we lose the C.I.O. support in the eastern states, we cannot win." Well, I said, "Mr. President, do you mean to imply that the communists have so completely taken over the C.I.O. that exposure of them will result in antagonism to the Democratic Party?" He said, "Yes."

Well, one thing led to another, and finally the President became somewhat impatient and angry with me, and he turned to Senator Sheppard and said, "Senator, what are we going to do with Martin?" Senator Sheppard was a very genial, pleasant man and a good friend of mine. He said, "I don't know. I knew his dad, and when one of these Dies makes up his mind to do something, he usually does it. I am afraid you are going to have trouble in persuading him not to do it."

Well, the interview lasted about 45 or 50 minutes, and finally, I looked at the watch and said, "Mr. President, I have to go because the Committee meets and I have to be there to open."

And I began the hearing, exposing the C.I.O. and showing very clearly that a majority of the unions were dominated and controlled by Moscow. Then began the fight.

I recall for instance, that a man by the name of General Sevinsky, a very able young man who had served with Stalin for a long time, had become disgusted with the brutality of the communist practice and had fled to the United States. I discovered his whereabouts and went to see him. He told me an amazing story of what Stalin had told him a long time ago, about the plan to infiltrate the Balkan states, to build secret armies in every country, to spend millions of dollars for propaganda purposes. He told me the ultimate goal of Stalin was the conquest of Europe and then the conquest of the Americas.

I said to him, "Why don't you come to Washington and testify? The American people ought to have that information." He said, "Mr. Congressman, if I were to come to Washington and testify and if they discovered my identity, the OGPU which is now the NYVD, the secret army of the Politico Bureau, would assassinate me in two days."

I said, "Surely they are not that powerful in the United States." I was very skeptical about it. He said, "Mr. Congressman, I was chief of the Western Division of the Soviet Intelligence and I know that there isn't a country, there isn't a town of industrial importance that members of the OGPU are not there listening, getting and using information and transmitting it to the Soviet Union. They have their agents in the Embassies—even the ambassadors do not know the members of the OGPU."

At any rate, I talked to him at some length and finally, upon the promise that I would protect him and conceal his identity, he agreed to testify.

I called up the Secret Service and I said, "I am undertaking a rather perilous thing. This man is fearful of his life." I undertook to get a commitment from the government that they would help me protect him, but the government didn't want him to testify. He did testify. His name was not given then to the press. Within two weeks after his startling revelations, which predicted almost one hundred per cent accurately the progress the Kremlin has made within the last two years, within two weeks after his testimony he was found shot in his hotel room in Washington, D. C., and not one arm was raised by the Federal Government to discover and apprehend the man or men responsible for his death.

Another former agent of the Soviet Union in New York was persuaded to testify. Shortly after his testimony, he was found dead. They said it was a heart attack. I demanded another examination and discovered that he had been shot with a fine steel had entered his brain and

BUSINESS AND THE STOCK MARKET

A Look At Some Forest Product Companies
 By Babson's Reports Inc., Wellesley Hills, Mass., Aug. 29, 1974—Following a year of excellent sales and earnings gains in 1973, most forest product companies continued to chalk up good results in the first half of 1974. The common stocks of lumber and plywood producers, however, have come under pressure because of general market weakness, a falling off in export demand, and a sagging domestic residential housing market. But 1974 should be a generally good year for forest product firms themselves, and in our opinion long-term prospects remain bright. The industry should flourish when the housing field becomes more lively, and export demand should pick up later on. Hence, the Research Department of Babson's Reports continues to recommend holding the issues of major firms in this line. For investors desiring representation in the industry, we currently favor purchase of Champion International.

Comments on some of the leading producers follow:
 Boise Cascade—Hold. Management of this leading forest products company has made great strides in restoring profitability and strengthening its financial position. Last year profits—before special items—totalled $2.89 a share, compared with 78c in 1972 and a deficit in 1971. Further strong earnings improvement was evident in the first half of this year. Although a month-long strike at several of Boise's paper mills and less robust lumber and plywood prices are restrictive influences, 1974 earnings should compare favorably with last year's.

Champion International—Buy. This is the third-largest paper and forest products company in the world, and its U. S. Plywood division is the nation's foremost distributor of that item. In 1973 net sales increased 18% to a record $2,208 million and net income rose 45%, reflecting excellent results in the building materials group and definite improvement in the company's fine paper operations. In the first six months of this year sales advanced 16% over the first half of 1973, and earnings rose 22%. For investors seeking capital appreciation, purchase of the common is recommended. The $1.20 Convertible Preferences, which provides a higher yield than the common, is also favored. Readers may get a free copy of a more detailed report on Champion International by writing to Babson's Reports Inc., Wellesley Hills, Mass. 01281.

Georgia Pacific—Hold. Earnings last year were $3.07 a share versus 1972's $1.85. Additional gains are anticipated this year, with price increases in pulp, paper, redwood, hardwood, prefinished plywood, etc., expected to help offset the drop in softwood plywood and lumber quotes. Management feels that any energy shortages will benefit the forest products industry because of its ample raw material, low manufacturing energy requirements, and its high building insulation qualities. To meet future demand, this concern intends to lay out $1 billion on expansion over the 1973-1977 period.

Louisiana-Pacific—Hold. In January 1973, this significant producer of lumber, plywood, particle-board, and pulp was spun off from Georgia-Pacific Corporation. In its first 12 months of independent operation, it earned $2.52 per share on sales of $416.9 million. For the first half of the current year sales moved up 27% above the comparable 1973 period, and earnings advanced 19%. In spite of reduced demand and a slump in lumber and plywood prices, generally good results are looked for during the months ahead.

Weyerhaeuser—Hold. Second-quarter results fell below

The following questions were typical of the kind asked of me in recent weeks. Letters should be sent to me, c/o U. S. House of Representatives, Washington, D.C. 20515.

Does Maryland operate a camping information office?
 Yes. The Maryland Department of Forests & Parks operates 1,423 "improved" and "unimproved" campsites. These allow room for the parking of one car and a camping trailer or erection of a tent. For instant camping information you may write to the Maryland Park Service, Tawes State Office Building, Annapolis, 21401 or call (301) 768-0895. Be sure to ask for your free copy of its new brochure that outlines recreational pursuits at the 30 state parks and 10 state forests.

Where may I obtain a copy of the Federal Environmental Study Guide?

"All Around You—An Environmental Study Guide" is published as a teacher's handbook by the Bureau of Land Management. Copies may be ordered for $1.50 from the Superintendent of Documents, 5801 Tabor Avenue, Philadelphia, Pa.

What is the U. S. paying to maintain its troops in Europe?
 It is now costing over $7 billion a year to maintain a 1973's very strong 90c-a-share level, but the present year as a whole should compare favorably with last, when Weyerhaeuser earned a record-breaking $2.74 a share versus the prior year's $1.17. The company feels that the housing markets in the U. S. and Japan constitute major near-term uncertainties. But the expectation is that demand for paper and pulp products will continue to be strong through the remainder of the 1970s, while most of this corporation's other product lines will also contribute on the plus side.

The Noffsingers are the parents of four boys and one girl, ages four through ten years. In addition to her role as wife and mother, Lois is very active in her church, the Evangelical Lutheran. VFW TO MEET

The regular monthly meeting of VFW Post 6658, will be held Wednesday evening, September 4, at Kump's Dam Park, beginning at 8:30 p.m.

Immunization Is Required By Law

Parents of school children in Frederick County are reminded that Maryland law now requires immunization of children entering kindergarten through grade 6 for protection against Diphtheria, Whooping Cough, Tetanus, Polio, Rubella (Measles) and Rubella (German Measles). No child will be admitted to school when it opens next week without evidence that such immunization has been completed.

Sources such as birth certificates, health department records, physician or military records will be accepted as evidence of required immunizations. These can be presented to the child's school and the information will be transferred to the Maryland Immunization Certificate. A copy of this certificate is maintained in the school records of all children currently enrolled. Spaces are provided on the form for a doctor's signature if there are medical reasons precluding immunization and for the parent's signature if there are religious reasons for opposing immunizations.

School records have been checked and parents notified of instances in which further immunization is required. Prompt cooperation is urged of parents in obtaining immunizations in order to prevent delays in children entering school.
