- By Abigail -

The week beginning April 21st is one to note on the calendar, for during that week, Emmitsburg will be in the limelight! The Frederick County Square Mall merchants have announced that they are organizing a BICENTENNIAL COMMUNITY SALUTE, spotlighting the town of Emmitsburg.

The mall manager sent a letter to the Chronicle office last week, and from it I quote: "We are inviting each of the Emmitsburg organizations to participate in sharing the pride of your lovely community with the entire Frederick County."

"We are pleased to salute YOUR Community as our FIRST SALUTE! Emmitsburg and the surrounding area is blessed with many fine historical sites and landmarks..."

"We will put together a program of activities from your community which will involve something different each day during the week from Monday, April 21 through Saturday, April 26, depicting the life in Emmitsburg from its founding to the present day."

The Community Salute program is recognized by the Frederick County Bicentennial Committee, and according to plans, numerous communities in Frederick County will be saluted on radio stations WFMD and WFRE, and in the Frederick News-Post. And we're first on the list!

You can be sure I'll be reading the Post and listening to the radio that week, for who knows, I might learn something new about our town.

Speaking of things new, the contractor for the swimming pool doesn't seem to be in much of a hurry. Now that we have some sunny (if windy) spring-like weather upon us, I thought for sure I'd see the construction crews out and working.

That Memorial Day deadline approaches faster and faster. However, I'm beginning to understand why the contractor wanted no penalty clause enforced (for incompleteness of the project) until after Labor Day.

I suspect that says, quite simply, don't expect the pool this summer. I hope I'm wrong, for if the pool is finished too late in the season to be used, it will cost the town money... and won't provide any revenue of its own the first year.

I got my bathing suit out of mothballs, already, but perhaps I'm premature. Anyway, the moth got to the bloomers.

Well, another month is nearly at an end. March 1975, however, is something special, for it marks the official start of America's Bicentennial; 200 years of history, custom and tradition. One of the oldest traditions, of course, is the citizen-soldier, the Minuteman. Recognizing this, the National Guard has declared "March is Minuteman Month." A good way to begin the Bicentennial, I think.

Don't forget there are folks in Emmitsburg working on our own Bicentennial project, too. The theme is "Little America: A Small Town Reflects on the Bicentennial," and if you've got any thoughts on that subject — by all means let me know.

Sister Eleanora is survived by a sister, Mrs. A. O'Donnell of Media, Pennsylvania and a nephew, Mr. Michael Monahan of Timonium, Maryland.

Mod. Math Course Hits All Bases

When your children ask for help with arithmetic homework, do you have to admit that you don't know a base from an integer?

When someone says "sets," do you think of onions.

Lots of parents have been groping around in the same mathematical darkness. Now there is a solution.

A free course in Modern Math for Parents is being given at Seton Center, Emmitsburg, starting March 5, at 7 p.m., in the adult education room. It provides an opportunity for parents to review the old math and learn the new.

The course will be given by Mr. William Greco, a teacher in the public school system. Mr. Greco says he frequently talks to parents who want to help their children with math homework but just don't know how. Mr. Greco will explain fractions, decimals, bases other than base ten, integers (negatives and positives), geometry and any other major concerns of the parents regarding the teaching of elementary math in grades one through six.

The six-week course is sponsored by the Emmitsburg Lifelong Learning Council in cooperation with the Frederick County Board of Education. Class will be held on Wednesday, March 5, with a two-week break for Easter.

It's free, it's informal and it may even be fun. In any case, parents have nothing to lose but their confusion.

Further information may be had by calling 447-6102 by day or 447-2928 in the evening.

Local Girl Finalist In Teen Pageant

Miss Teresa Koontz, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles K. Koontz, Sr., Rt. 1, Emmitsburg, has been selected to be a finalist in the 1975 Maryland National Teen-age Pageant, to be held at the Hunt Valley Inn, Hunt Valley, Md., March 29, 1975.

The Maryland National Teen-age Pageant is the official State Finals to the Miss National Teen-age Pageant to be held in Atlanta, Georgia, in August 1975.

Contestants from all over the State of Maryland will be competing for the title of Maryland's National Teen-age Pageant for 1975. The reigning Queen, Linda Lee Potter of Adelphi, will be present to crown the 1975 winner.

Contestants are judged on beauty of face and figure, poise-personality and scholastic achievement. There is no swimsuit or talent competition. Each contestant will write and recite on stage a 100 word "Essay" on the subject, "What's Right About America."

Miss Koontz is being sponsored by Mountain Liquors, Old Frederick Road, Emmitsburg; Irving's Tire Service, Rt. 1, Frederick, and The Thurmont Bank, Thurmont, Md.

Her hobbies include swimming, bike riding, hiking and sports in general. She is a student at Catoctin High School.

TOPS Program To Begin In March

TOPS (Take Off Pounds Sensibly) is coming to town. Weekly sessions, beginning March 4, will be held in the Adult Education Room of Seton Center in Emmitsburg. It is important for anyone interested in attending TOPS to be present for the first session as its continuation will depend on the number attending March 4th. Dues are $7 annually and should be paid that evening.

TOPS is the popular name for TOPS CLUB, INC., a non-commercial, non-profit weight control organization. TOPS has more than 330,000 members in more than 12,600 chapters in the United States, Canada, and 23 other countries throughout the world.

All TOPS members are required to obtain their individual weight goals from their personal physicians. They are also required to use diets approved by their personal physicians. Group therapy is encouraged by TOPS. Volunteer leaders are elected from the membership. These leaders are then trained through supervision and workshops. Members remain in contact with each other all week long. Phone calls, cards, letters, and personal visits all play a part in the battle against the common problem — obesity. Programs at chapter meetings vary but yet have one thing in common—they contribute in some way to weight-control goals.

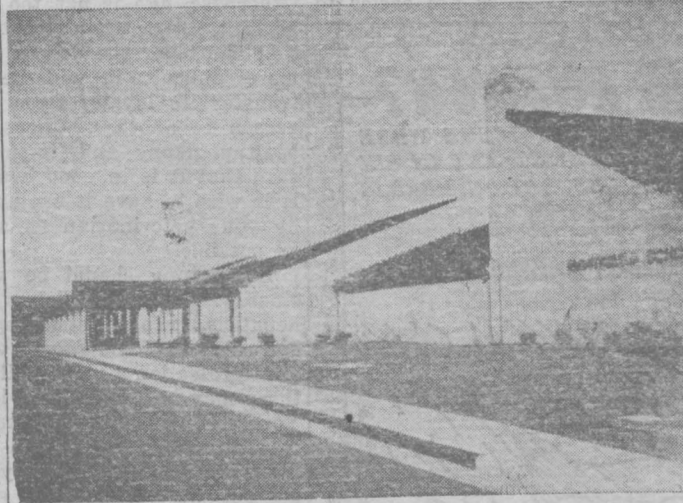

Keen competition in weight losses goes on the year round at chapter, area, state or provincial, and international levels. Contests for each level for greatest weight loss, greatest improvement, and charm and beauty after weight loss culminate in the announcement of international winners each year.

The meeting of TOPS on March 4th will begin at 7:30 p.m. Individuals from surrounding areas are welcome to join. Although run separately, TOPS is being presented in conjunction with the Emmitsburg Lifelong Learning Council and unlike 6 or 8 week courses, will continue throughout the year. At this meeting, officers and leaders will be elected.

Emmitsburg School Chosen For School Architecture Exhibition

Emmitsburg School was chosen for the Exhibition of School Architecture sponsored by the American Institute of Architects and the American Association of School Administrators, it was announced recently. The exhibition will be held this year in Dallas, Texas from February 21 thru 24. The National Association of School Boards Convention which will be held in April in Miami, will also feature the exhibit. Approximately 140 of the most outstanding schools from all over the country are chosen each year. Bushey and Berrey of Hagerstown, architects for the school, have had a school selected for this exhibition each year since the firm was established.

Bushey and Berrey were recently selected as the architects for the highly competitive ten million dollar Southeast Area High School in Carroll County. The Carroll County Board of Education, from a very extensive list of architects, narrowed the group to be interviewed to fourteen and the Hagerstown firm was selected.

Emmitsburg School is designed for Kindergarten through eighth grade use. The uses of space within the building are limited only by the exterior walls and the imagination of the teacher. Portable, versatile pieces of furniture serve as space definers and the same area may be converted for use by groups of different sizes or to accommodate program changes.

Located within a block of the historically significant town square, the design is an attempt to express the local architecture and educational program through scale form.

The fully air-conditioned and carpeted school consists of 45,000 square feet with a construction cost of $1,500,000. Furman Builders of Rockville, was the general contractor.

Dedication ceremonies for the school are scheduled for Sunday, April 6 at 2 p.m.

Charities Receive Funds From Aux.

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary to Emmitsburg Memorial Post 6658, Veterans of Foreign Wars, was held in the Post Home. President Evelyn Ott presided with nineteen members present.

Correspondence was read and bills were presented. The president reported that Jean Crusan, State Chairman for the March of Dimes, had asked Gloria Martin to be Chairman for the upcoming year. Catherine Hodge collected the Community Action works. A motion was passed to donate $15 each to the March of Dimes, Heart Fund, and the Cancer Fund. These monies will be sent to the local chairman.

A motion was passed that we send $50 to the VanBrakle family who recently experienced a fire at their home, and that we donate $10 to the Frederick County 4-H Camp Fund.

For the Loyalty Day Program, the group is planning to purchase flags for both Mother Seton and the Emmitsburg Middle Schools.

On Thursday, Feb. 13, some of the Auxiliary members had a party for the patients in Raines Cottage at Victor Cullen Hospital. The ladies took cookies, punch and other valentine treats for the patients. Name tags will be made by Martha Hemler for each patient to help the ladies remember them. It was also suggested that the auxiliary send birthday cards to each patient since this seems to be a great pleasure to them. The names and dates of the birthdays can be obtained from President Ott if anyone wishes to send individual cards.

Dolores Henke asked for volunteers to drive the Senior Citizens to and from the lunch program (Food 'n Friends), held at the Emmitsburg Middle School every Tuesday and Thursday. Diane Pryor, Martha Hemler and Joyce Orndorf said they would be available some of the times.

Judy Larsen spoke about the Buddy Poppy Queen Contest to be held Feb. 21. The prize for the Auxiliary level will be a $15 gift certificate from Tobey's. The winner from the Auxiliary level will go on to the District level on March 1.

Anna Bushman has been appointed Auxiliary Chairman for the American Revolution Bicentennial which will continue through 1976.

A motion was made to purchase a bulletin board to post important correspondence and notices. President Ott will take care of this matter.

Mary Topper's name was drawn for the door prize. The next meeting will be a covered dish social to be held in the Post Home March 6 at 6 p.m. Members may bring guests. The Auxiliary will provide the meat and beverage. Mary Topper will prepare the meat with each member and guest bringing a covered dish.

Letter To Editor

Editor, Emmitsburg Chronicle:
On frequent occasions, you have heard aspirants to political office make reference to the voting records of previous sessions of the Legislature and recommend that you the public, keep a constant and vigilant eye on how your representatives vote on each bill.

First, the general assembly this year voted not to accept a proposed change in their rules, which would have required a recorded vote on all bills in committee and thus make their votes public information. As you well know, most bills live or die in committee. Be that as it may, let's then try to evaluate the legislator from his or her votes on the floor of the House or within the Senate chamber. To set the stage, let's assume that we in District 4B are interested in each and every bill voted upon.

Now, in order to establish a file, the writer made contact with the Department of Legislative Reference, as this Department handles the records of the legislative proceedings. The following information was supplied:

1. A voter can not obtain the computerized vote tally sheet on each bill, unless he or she are physically present in the chamber when the vote is taken.

2. Each year a booklet containing the vote of the legislators on each bill is developed and is then supplied to the public libraries. However, according to reports, this book is available approximately 7 months after the end of each session. The booklet for last year's session (1974) is not yet available. Also, reportedly these booklets can not be purchased by members of the general public.

Based on the information which has been previously stated, several questions come to mind:

a. Do you have the time to visit Annapolis each day in order to obtain voting records?

b. Why can't a citizen obtain a vote sheet by mail in a reasonable length of time?

c. How is a voter to evaluate a legislator's voting record during the session?

d. How is a voter to evaluate a legislator's voting record in an election year, when such record of the previous session is not available until after the election?

e. Why have legislators not tried to initiate a change in this system?

I am not suggesting that our representatives, both passed and present, have had anything to hide, but I am suggesting that what we might be interested in, is not being offered by legislative initiative. In my opinion, legislative representatives should report to the people, not the people to them. Obviously, a free flow of information in both directions is imperative to the establishment of a government as it was originally intended.

Government history will show that we have tackled more complex problems than these with little difficulty. Therefore, it seems to me, that in the interests of an open government, and of providing opportunities for the public to keep informed, the State should move without delay toward developing a workable system which will make this information easily available to the public.

Brass Quintet To Give Concert at Mt.

The Annapolis Brass Quintet, one of America's fine instrumental ensembles, will present a concert at Mount Saint Mary's College on Tuesday, March 4 at 8 p.m. in Flynn Hall.

The quintet performs literature spanning five centuries. Obscure works, rediscovered from the Renaissance and Baroque eras, are contrasted with contemporary repertoire. Much of the music, both old and new, has been especially edited or composed for the quintet.

According to one Canadian review, "The remarkable Annapolis Brass Quintet is an American ensemble which has succeeded in producing brass music in the best chamber style. Their tone has been refined so that only the purest, most silken threads remain. They are crisp, secure and versatile. The feeling you get is that their music is sensitively calculated and every note perfectly controlled."

The quintet is brought to the campus by the Cultural Events Committee. Admission is free and open to the public.

Van Brakle Youth Arrested Thursday

Dennis Van Brakle, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Van Brakle, Emmitsburg, was arrested Thursday evening on charges of drunk and disorderly conduct and assault on a police officer following an incident during which a fight broke out between Van Brakle and Emmitsburg Police Chief Henry Filler.

According to Police Chief Filler, he received a call at 5:55 p.m. notifying him that the Van Brakle youth was "walking down the center line of West Main Street." According to motorists, who later made complaints, Van Brakle cursed, kicked and spat upon their autos as they attempted to drive past him.

When Filler arrived at the scene, he called Van Brakle over to the patrol car. Said Filler, Van Brakle cursed him and swore to "blow his brains out." Filler drew his gun, ordering Van Brakle to "bring his hand out of his pocket with nothing in it." The youth was apparently unarmed, however, and after Filler replaced his gun in his holster, Van Brakle swung at him.

About that time, Jerry Van Brakle, brother to the arrested youth, arrived at the scene, according to Filler. Said the Police Chief, "Jerry was helping me subdue his brother, but became involved in a fight with a spectator."

Police Officer Fuss was summoned to the scene by his wife, who witnessed the outbreak of the fight. He aided Filler in handcuffing Van Brakle who, according to police, tried to rip apart the patrol car radio.

Two State Police cruisers and one Thurmont patrol car also arrived at the scene. Dennis Van Brakle was released on $500 bail pending a trial scheduled for April 17, in court.

BANKING IS EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

New Investment CDs—Big Interest Earners

Are you looking for a new-fangled New Year's resolution for 1975? Something a little out of the ordinary? How about: "I resolve to get more earning power out of my savings dollar in the coming year."

That, says the American Bankers Association (ABA), means not just sticking your money in the old faithful pass-book or statement savings account but considering some new options. And, just in time to help you is a new authorization from federal banking agencies allowing banks to offer a six-year certificate of deposit that will pay 7.5 per cent interest—as compared with the maximum 5 per cent allowed on regular savings accounts.

And don't let the terminology scare you off. A "certificate of deposit" is simply a formal receipt for funds left with a bank as a special deposit for a specified time period. This new "Investment CD"—as it has quickly come to be known—is not just for millionaires, either. It's available for a minimum of $1,000.

Of course, the ABA reminds you, tying all of your savings up for six years would not be good money management. A portion of your funds should be available in a regular savings account for immediate withdrawal to take care of any financial emergencies that might occur.

And what if you do need the money invested in your certificate before the six years are up? You have a couple of options. CDs are available in negotiable or nonnegotiable form. If you invest in a negotiable CD, you may not turn in the certificate for your money before the maturity date, but you may use the certificate as collateral for a loan.

If you purchase a nonnegotiable CD, you may redeem it before the maturity date; but you will be charged a penalty fee. (However, if this occurs, you may deduct the amount of the penalty from gross income on your federal income tax return form 1040.) The reason for these restrictions is tied up with the high interest rate your money will be earning.

Successful bank management—and the safety of your deposited funds—depends on investment for a profit. If the bank knows your funds will be available for a specified time period, it can plan its investments to the best possible advantage and therefore can afford to pay you more for the use of your money. If that certainty is taken away, the bank's potential profits fall, and so do yours accordingly.

Of course, the money you invest in a certificate of deposit, like all funds deposited in insured banks, is protected by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. And don't forget, the amount of protection you receive as an account holder was recently raised from $20,000 to $40,000. So, consider an "Investment CD." It could be the answer to your New Year's resolution.

YOUR VETERINARIAN SPEAKS

The New Puppy

Once you have decided to add a dog to your home, the next question is, what kind of dog? According to the Maryland Veterinary Medical Association, the American Kennel Club recognizes more than 100 purebred varieties and there are scores of mixtures. Obviously, a St. Bernard is not likely to be at his best in a small city apartment. A tiny dog is unsuited for a country estate. When you do choose, suit the dog to his environment, the number and ages of the members of your family and your way of life. Long-haired dogs will require more grooming; short-haired varieties are easier to bathe. Dogs of both sexes are equally loyal but male dogs are more likely to wander and to get into fights. Females, unless spayed, will present other problems. Therefore, the coat, size, and sex of your new pet is a matter of personal preference.

The new puppy should be at least six weeks old and weaned before it is "adopted." Otherwise, age is not too important, other than the fact that the older the dog is, the more difficult it will be to transfer its loyalty from one person to another. Choose a healthy puppy and to make sure that it is in good health. It is wise to have it examined by your veterinarian as soon as possible.

The puppy should be vaccinated against distemper, hepatitis, rabies and leptospirosis. In some areas, vaccine protection against all of these may be required by law. Your veterinarian will know what is needed. Do not needlessly treat your dog for worms. Internal parasites are very common in dogs, but "doctoring" a dog for worms if he does not have them can cause harm. Rely on the veterinarian.

NEXT—New Puppy in the Family.

If you're like most modern American homemakers, you've been shopping around for a few ways to fight the high cost of buying food. Now these Magic Seven from the American Dairy Association may help you to do so.

1. Make out menus with shopping lists so you can balance meals costwise during the week.
2. Make a shopping list, check it twice and stick with it.
3. Shop after eating so you won't be tempted.
4. Shop alone. Children can pressure you into buying items not on the list, adding to the food bill.
5. Shop in quantity if you have the storage and freezer space. Check per unit price. Larger containers or quantities are not always the bargain.
6. Shop comparatively before going to the store. Do this with a chart and ads from all the stores around. Figure in gas cost for stores some distance away.
7. Plan make-overs instead of having leftovers. Keep them in glass or plastic containers so you won't forget them.

These seven solutions should help you to get back some percentage of the money you've been spending on food.

WHAT'S THE ANSWER?

QUESTIONS ABOUT THE ENERGY ISSUE WERE SOLICITED FROM PEOPLE-ON-THE-STREET IN SIX MAJOR CITIES BY GULF OIL CORPORATION. HERE IS ONE OF THE QUESTIONS:

► HOW LONG IS THE ENERGY SHORTAGE LIKELY TO CONTINUE?

► ANSWER: Probably until we have enough refineries, and enough oil wells on our own land and off our own shores so that we don't have to rely on foreign countries. We must also develop alternate sources of energy if we are to become self-sufficient.

65 Senior Citizens At Annual Dinner

Tuesday evening, February 18, at 6 o'clock, 65 members and guests of the Emmitsburg Senior Citizens Club gathered in the VFW Annex for the annual covered-dish buffet dinner.

After introduction of officers and guests by Mrs. LaRue Harman, president, thanks was offered by Rev. John Chatlos. Following the delicious meal a number of announcements were made. One by Mrs. Martin concerned the Williamsburg trip to be taken by the Community Chorus and inviting anyone interested, to make reservations early.

Six birthdays of club members in February were announced and everyone joined in singing "Happy Birthday."

The program consisted of showing slides of old community houses of Emmitsburg, gathered by Mr. Ernest Shriver, which proved both interesting and instructive. Everyone learned something of the history of the town of Emmitsburg. Many thanks and much appreciation is extended Mr. Shriver for his splendid exhibit.

Rx for your child's safety

Store escalators may be a hazard for young children if shopping parents are not careful, warns Dr. Albert H. Domm, child safety specialist and medical director of the Prudential Insurance Co.

"The most important measure in preventing injuries," says Dr. Domm, "is to convince youngsters that the escalator is not a toy. Too often accidents occur when children engage in horseplay, such as going up the down staircase."

Sitting on escalator steps is an open invitation to painful hand or buttock injuries according to the Prudential medical director. Similarly, riding on the handrail can also lead to mangled fingers or sudden spills.

He cautions parents against placing a toddler's stroller on the moving stairs. The chance of the infant being tipped over is too great to risk.

Always take the child's hand before stepping on the escalator, advises Dr. Domm. Many parents have lost their balance and fallen while reaching back for the youngster.

He recommends that a child never be permitted to carry heavy bundles on an escalator. The packages could obscure his vision or cause him to stumble when he reaches the next landing.

FIRE SAFETY COLUMN

(A message from the Frederick County Fire Prevention Committee).

Clean-Up, Paint-Up

"If your spring clean-up includes paint up, keep fire hazards down," say the Frederick County Firemen's Association Fire Prevention Committee. Water base paints have taken a lot of the fire hazards out of painting, but be sure you know what you're using. For safety's sake, always read the label on the container, and be particularly careful with floor finishes, thinners, solvents, and removers.

Following guidelines established by the National Fire Protection Association, points out that safest paint up products are those labeled "non-combustible or non-flammable". The next best choice has "caution-combustible" on the label.

Avoid any products marked "warning-Flammable and Danger Extremely Flammable" if you can possibly find a satisfactory substitute.

With products carrying the flammable warning, use only in a place well ventilated and well removed from open flames or operating electric or gas heaters and other sources of ignition. Observe the "No Smoking" rule religiously. Store all potentially dangerous products in tightly capped metal cans, never in glass jars, and keep them in a cool place.

When using oil-base paints, linseed oil, turpentine and varnishes, be careful with oily rags. Dispose of them promptly and safely outside the house or if you must store them, place them in a tightly covered metal can.

Always remember the Fire Emergency number for Frederick County Central Alarm is 662-6333. Be sure to give the dispatcher on duty all the information he asks for, this will expedite the nearest fire department to your location.

The problem of any problem is finding the facts.

WILSON BOULEVARD EXXON

"Complete Road Service" Bill Wiles - Owner

The first class station is located at Wilson Blvd. & Potomac St. in Hagerstown where they will wash, lubricate, oil change, and fill your car up with the best in Exxon gasoline. They feature service including: tune-ups, minor repairs, complete brake service, wheel balancing, and accessories.

There is more to lubricating a car than appears on the surface. Sometimes certain lubrication points are almost hidden from view by dirt or placed in a difficult position to reach. When you have your car services you want to be sure that you get a complete job and that all points to be greased are found. There is one way you are sure to get a good job and that is to take your car to a dependable station. This is just such a station. They have built a fine reputation for excellent service and their competent employees care for your car as the manufacturers prescribed.

Know you are getting proper lubrication and the best in petroleum products and stop in at the Wilson Boulevard Exxon. We, the editors, recommend them in our 1975 Review.

BUSINESS AND THE STOCK MARKET

Utilities In Trouble?

By Babson's Reports Inc., Wellesley Hills, Mass., February 27, 1975—A sector of the energy spectrum which is badly in need of relief is the investor-owned electric utility industry. And the relief may have to be massive and possibly involve government financing. Such a proposal has been advanced with the cautionary note that unless assistance is forthcoming immediately we shall be facing real power shortages within two or three years with resultant construction delays, area unemployment, and sharply higher electric rates.

The nub of the problem is the inability of utilities to attract at reasonable cost adequate capital for construction of expanded facilities, because of several sore spots in the picture. Declining earnings and a sagging stock market saw utility stock prices fall to near-record lows. New common can be offered only at or below current stock prices. Since these are often under book value, companies are reluctant to risk heavy dilution by new stock offerings.

Bond Offerings

The other financing route, debt offerings, also has pitfalls. (Usually the ratio of common stock to bonded debt determines which will be offered.) A principal yardstick in determining a bid for bonds is "debt coverage," which is, simply stated, the number of times that company earnings will cover debt interest liability. In many cases, the past ten years have seen this ratio plummet from a level of extremely good coverage to today's skimpy coverage. With this situation, many bond credit ratings have been lowered by the rating services, and investor interest has waned or at best resulted in lower bidding (and higher interest costs) on new utility debt offerings.

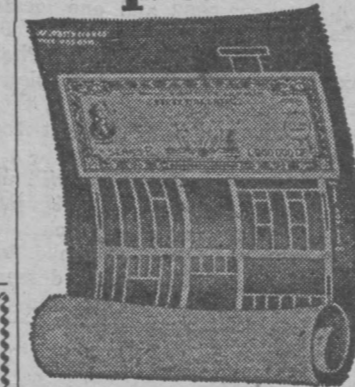

Cancellations And Deferrals

With stock and bond offerings either deferred or bringing inadequate capital, utility managements have had to revise their projections and cut back or defer construction plans. In November 1974 it was estimated that over $16 billion of construction of new generating facilities had been

OUR LIBRARY

January was an extremely busy month in the Emmitsburg Public Library. 200 children filed through the library at one time or another. Story hour is held on Thursday morning at 10:00 and again at 11:00. The basic story hour is formed by children from the Seton Center but other children are welcome. Mothers may bring four-year-olds. Any younger child should have an adult with them. On Tuesday, Jan. 21, the Special Penny Theater visited the schools under the Library Program. On January 14, the First Grade visited the library to celebrate Martin Luther King's birthday. Two committee meetings and meetings with the Historical Group also took place in the local library.

Total circulation for January was 1,479. This total includes tapes, films, records and periodicals. Movies were shown on Jan. 25. 43 children viewed the film on the Harlem Globetrotters and two other short films.

A Board meeting was held on Jan. 28 at 7:30. Those attending were Robert Holmes, Bernard Kaliss, John White, Mrs. John Chatlos, Hazel K. Caldwell, Chata Carr, Miss Martha Reynolds, Director of the Frederick County Library System; Mrs. Vicki Stroh,

The second U. S. Commemorative Stamp of 1975 salutes the unmanned Pioneer space missions which probed the planet Jupiter in 1973 and 1974. Pioneer 10 passed within 81,000 miles of Jupiter on December 3, 1973 and Pioneer 11 narrowed that distance to 27,000 miles on the same date in 1974. Both provided a new picture of the solar system's largest planet, relaying valuable information about weather patterns, atmosphere and radiation belts.
Designer Robert McCall has been closely identified with the space program since 1958. He also designed the twin 8-cent stamps issued in 1971 to mark a decade of U. S. achievements in space, and the Skylab commemorative of 1974.
The first day of issue ceremonies will be at Mountain View, CA, and the stamp will go on sale at our office on Saturday, March 1, 1975.

Romantic Trend In Fashion
A natural kind of beauty is the trend for 1975. Designers are envisioning fashions that cling to the curves and emphasize a woman's personal femininity. The look is definitely romantic, replete with flowing fabrics—aimed at inciting flowing feelings.
The rebirth of femininity extends to every aspect of a woman's look. And this includes her hair. Often a wig is just the fashion touch to make an outfit complete. In fact, Venicelon Wigs of Italy is presenting a new line of wigs which do just that. There are curls galore in long and short versions, each one light and airy, made of superfine threads of fiber. Styled by Maurice Tidy of New York, the new romantic wigs will give a dreamy, soft feeling to fashion.
So join the swing of fashion for 1975 with flowing fabrics and flowing tresses which radiate that romantic image.

you and your FUTURE!

THE LAVETTE... THE CRIB... THE CARRIAGE... THESE ARE THE IMMEDIATE CONCERNS OF MEN AND WOMEN WHO HAVE JUST BECOME FATHERS AND MOTHERS. THERE'S ANOTHER, LESS IMMEDIATE CONCERN THAT PARENTS SHOULD BE AWARE OF, NONETHELESS, — AND THAT'S INSURANCE FOR THEIR CHILD.

PREMIUMS ARE LOWER DURING CHILDHOOD THAN THEY ARE AT ANY OTHER TIME IN LIFE. BY BUYING A PLAN EARLY IN THE CHILD'S LIFE, A PARENT INSURES THAT THE LOW PREMIUM WILL NEVER BE RAISED, AND BECAUSE MOST CHILDREN EASILY MEET THE MEDICAL REQUIREMENTS FOR ISSUANCE OF A POLICY, THERE'S NO BETTER TIME TO BUY IT. WE HAVE NO GUARANTEES FOR THE HEALTH OF A CHILD AS HE OR SHE GETS OLDER, SO IT'S BEST TO BUY A PLAN WHEN THE CHILD IS YOUNG AND HEALTHY. A CHILD WHO HAS A PERMANENT LIFE INSURANCE POLICY, WHICH INCLUDES A DISABILITY WAIVER OF PREMIUM BENEFIT, NEED NEVER FEAR LOSING IT THROUGH DISABILITY.

THE INSURANCE PLANS THE PARENT CAN CHOOSE FROM OFFER DIFFERENT OPTIONS. ONE IS THE GUARANTEED INSURABILITY RIFER, WHICH PERMITS THE CHILD TO BUY SPECIFIC AMOUNTS OF ADDITIONAL INSURANCE AT FUTURE OPTION DATES, AT THE SAME CLASSIFICATION AS THE ORIGINAL POLICY — AND WITHOUT EVIDENCE OF INSURABILITY!

A FEATURE OF CASH VALUE LIFE INSURANCE IS THAT IT BUILDS AUTOMATIC, GUARANTEED SAVINGS WHILE PROVIDING FINANCIAL PROTECTION AGAINST DEATH. BY THE TIME THE CHILD REACHES ADULTHOOD, HE OR SHE MAY HAVE CASH VALUE THAT AMOUNTS TO A CONSIDERABLE SUM. THIS SAVINGS FEATURE HELPS INSURE A BETTER FINANCIAL POSITION THAN MIGHT OTHERWISE EXIST. AND, IT PROVIDES A GOOD START TOWARD MEETING THE EXPENSES OF A COLLEGE EDUCATION — THE CHILD YOU LOOK AT NOW WILL BE CARING FOR HIS OR HER OWN CHILD SOONER THAN YOU THINK. ISN'T THIS A GOOD TIME TO BUILD A STRONG FINANCIAL BASE?

THERE ARE MANY MORE REASONS TO CONSIDER BUYING LIFE INSURANCE FOR YOUR CHILD NOW. YOUR LOCAL METROPOLITAN LIFE INSURANCE SALES REPRESENTATIVE WILL BE HAPPY TO EXPLAIN THEM TO YOU. HE KNOWS THAT THE FUTURE WILL BE HERE BEFORE YOU KNOW IT AND HE'S ANXIOUS TO HELP YOU PLAN FOR IT.

BACKGROUND ON BUSINESS

MONOPOLY THREATENS RADIOTELEPHONE USERS

The National Association of Radiotelephone Systems has called for Senate hearings to investigate the monopolistic effects of a recent, little-publicized federal government ruling which threatens the public access to radiotelephone communications. Unless the ruling is reversed, over 200,000 doctors, professional businessmen, skilled tradesmen and salesmen who now depend on radio paging, mobile telephone, and telephone answering services may soon have to pay considerably more for these vital communications services.

The Federal Communications Commission has recently declared that the manufacturers of mobile communications equipment, including some of the largest corporations in the nation, may now establish their own subsidiaries to sell radio communications services in direct competition with the independent RCCs—smaller firms that must buy their own equipment from these very same manufacturers. This means, in effect, that within the next few years, the giant communications equipment conglomerates will have a choke hold on the entire mobile communications business. Their vast resources will force the radio common carriers, the small independent businessmen who now operate these services, out of business.

The resulting monopoly will have a serious adverse effect on the public interest. Although the new communications monopolies may initially offer personal communications services at lower prices in an attempt to undercut independent competition, the final result will be higher prices for the consumer, who will need more of these personal communications services in the near future as our energy problems become more acute and efficient communications become more critical.

Unless this ruling is reversed, doctors, hospitals and business professionals will soon be paying more for the same level of personal communications service they have been receiving from independent radio common carriers for over twenty-five years.

The independent radio common carriers, determined to resist the trend toward monopoly in their industry, are inviting public and Congressional support for their campaign. If you'd like to learn more about their efforts, write NARS, 1730 Pennsylvania Avenue, Washington, D.C.

The Kitchen Almanac

For a dinnertime change of pace, serve barley instead of rice. Prepare quick or regular barley according to package directions and serve with a favorite topping such as meatballs in tomato sauce or creamed chicken... Diet trick—serve smaller portions on smaller plates.

Staggering Statistics—In 1974, California devoted 52,000 acres to growing cling peaches. Thirty-five thousand California acres produce 99% of all American grown olives.

Dinner candles add a simple, elegant touch to any dinner table. And, candle wax can be removed from fine tablecloths by carefully scraping the wax with a dull knife. Then, place the stained area between several layers of white tissues or white paper towels and press with a warm iron. Launder the tablecloth in the usual way. It will be as clean as the day you bought it.

The good old days—1970s style: Grandma never heard of packaged muffin mixes or freeze-dried coffee. At her house the aroma of fresh ground coffee and home baked pastries, made from scratch, filled the air.

Today, homemakers can create the same kind of old-fashioned goodness—thanks to the folks who make KitchenAid appliances. Their electric coffee mill grinds fresh coffee beans at the flip of a switch and a grain mill attachment on KitchenAid mixers grinds all kinds of grain to a fine flour or even a coarse meal (depending on what the recipe calls for).

Fresh baked breads, cakes and muffins and fresh brewed coffee—now, that's just plain "better eating!"

Seafood "Don'ts": Do not overcook fish or shellfish. Fish is tender as it comes from the waters. It is cooked to heat or brown, to develop the flavor and to soften the amount of connective tissue present... Do not over-season. Seafood has a delicate flavor that should not be overwhelmed by too much seasoning... Also, do not refreeze thawed seafood or thaw frozen seafood at room temperature.

Medicines Can Increase Need For Vitamins

While most people recognize that illness robs their bodies of vitamins and strength, far fewer know that medications prescribed for illnesses sometimes cause vitamin deficiencies too.

Penicillin, for example, lowers the level of vitamin A in the blood. Diuretics cause excessive losses of the B-complex vitamins and vitamin C. Certain sulfa drugs and some antibiotics alter the vitamin production process in the intestines and can create deficiencies of vitamin K.

Studies have shown that such medications also affect the flora production of biotin, a B vitamin recently recognized as essential for human nutrition by the National Academy of Sciences' Food and Nutrition Board.

Scientists at Hoffmann-La Roche Inc., a leading producer of vitamins, report, however, that their review of the literature indicates that vitamin supplements can assist in maintaining proper vitamin balance within the body during periods of illness and recuperation.

Tested Tips To Help You

Q. My kids wear blue jeans almost everywhere. Their new jeans are stiff and even when the jeans soften up with a little wear, washing makes them uncomfortable again. Is there any way I can wash jeans and make them soft like they get after lots of wear?

A. To add softness to jeans and other denim items, the manufacturers of Coconut NuSoft fabric softener recommend adding 1 to 2 capfuls fabric softener to the final rinse water in the washing machine. Your kids should be happy with the softened, more lived in feel on their jeans right from the first washing.

BACKGROUND ON BUSINESS

Half of the nation's businessmen may be in even greater danger from inflation than they realize.

With so many day-to-day problems, they may be unaware that inflation can be quietly lessening the effectiveness of their property insurance.

Put simply, as construction costs rise so do replacement costs for buildings or portions of them.

Statistics from real estate appraisal firms show a rise of more than 50 per cent in construction costs in the last five years. Equipment prices are up more than 40 per cent. The same statistics show a 10 to 11 per cent increase in the last year alone.

A Potential Penalty

In this environment, insurance coverage should be as close as possible to the actual cash value of the property it protects. If it isn't, a little known part of the policy—called the "co-insurance clause"—can reduce the amount of money paid at the time of a loss.

It works like this: when the policy is purchased, an agreement is made to keep protection at a certain percentage of a building's actual cash value, usually at least 80 per cent. If this percentage is not maintained, there is a penalty in the payout at the time of a loss.

For example, a building worth $100,000 in 1969 should have carried insurance of $80,000, or 80 per cent of its actual cash value. The same structure today, however, is worth $150,000 because of inflation and should have minimum coverage at the same percentage, a total of $120,000.

If the policy still is only $80,000, the payment for a loss today will be only 67 cents on the dollar.

Room For An Update

The best way to keep coverage levels up-to-date is to review them annually.

The second step is to add optional low-cost inflation coverage to the basic policy. Called a "rider," it automatically increases policy limits by a maximum of two per cent a quarter, or eight per cent a year.

One major insurance company, the 164-year-old Hartford Insurance Group, has launched a nationwide program to get people with businesses to reassess their coverages.

The Hartford has developed a special booklet which makes it possible for its insurance agents to make on-the-spot estimates of property values. With the booklet, the agent can update property values by state, and, in some instances, by city.

People with businesses are working hard today to try to make a reasonable profit. They're going to great lengths to check everything which can affect their business.

One of the things that they need to check along with sales and profits is their insurance policy. It is too late to check the value when a loss has occurred.
