Most Anything At A Glance

- By Abigail -

Had a memorable evening the other night. (At my age there aren't too many of those) I went to Mount Saint Mary's college to see the Maryland Ballet Company perform as part of the Mount's cultural program.

Both the adults and the children in the audience were fascinated by the performers. I didn't see one child who wanted to leave early.

I would like to see more of this sort of entertainment at the Mount. It gives us "country people" a chance to see really first rate entertainment.

I wonder how many of our townspeople are aware that these free programs are open to the public? They are well worth seeing.

Would you believe...another accident on the turn on West Main St? Yes, it happened again.

Another car wonder locally...another light pole. (I wonder why Potomac Edison just doesn't keep a pile of poles handy in the alley someplace to use as needed.)

I just can't understand the Highway Administration. How do they think? What constitutes a traffic hazard to them?

I'm tired of these accidents every week. The people of Emmitsburg certainly deserve more cooperation from the highway administration than they're getting. I feel sure the insurance companies that have to pay off on all these accidents are getting pretty sick of them.

I know the people who live in the area of West Main St. are fed up with what has been lately, a weekly occurrence.

It's now time to start circulating a petition to try to get something done. But isn't it terrible that we have to go to such lengths to get something done.

When the highway administration comes to Emmitsburg to check the traffic and speed on that turn, they invariably come in the daytime when there's no traffic. Now that's smart!

I'd like to see them come on the weekend, late at night, and park under the light pole. I think they'd soon put a blinking light up fast.

After all, enough is enough! Do we have to wait until more people are killed? If so, how many deaths do we need till we get some action?

While the forsythia blossomed, the snow fell...and fell...and fell...and fell. It never stopped until eleven inches were deposited on Emmitsburg and surrounding area.

The kids got out their sleds. The adults got out their new snow shovels and I got out my long johns once again.

The kids were happy because they got to go sledding. The adults were happy because snow is pretty and besides, it went away fast. I was happy because I had something else to write about in my column.

No one has registered for either the position of Mayor or Commissioner as yet.

I've heard a lot of rumbling around town as to who is thinking of "throwing their hat in the ring."

I would like to see a really exciting town election this time.

With all the problems confronting Emmitsburg, all of us should give our whole-hearted support to whomever wins this election.

Members of the Town Council met on March 15 to discuss the presentation they will make to the Site Committee of the National Fire Prevention and Control Administration.

Present at the meeting: Council for the Sisters of Charity, Town Attorney, Frederick Bower, President of the Co. Comm. Laurence Dorsey and Commissioner Ernest Rosensteel. Present, but not shown were Commissioner J. Norman Flax, Chairman of the Town Council, and Eugene Myers;

Town to Meet With Site Com

Members of the Town Council met on Monday, March 15, in the Town Office to discuss their presentation that will be made before the site committee of the National Fire Prevention and Control Administration on March 22, 1976 in Washington, D.C.

Present were Chairman, Eugene Myers, Burgess Richard Sprankle, Town Attorney, Frederick Bower, Commissioners, J. Norman Flax, and Ernest E. Rosensteel. Representing the Frederick County Commissioners was Laurence Dorsey, President of the County Commissioners. Also present was Thomas Washbourne, council for the Sisters of Charity.

At that time it was decided unanimously that a concentrated and vigorous effort to secure the location of the National Academy of Fire Prevention and Control should be located on St. Joseph's college campus.

Attorney Bower presented correspondence in connection with the presentation to be held on March 22.

It was decided that it is extremely important and necessary for Emmitsburg to attend and make an active and unified presentation at this meeting.

Burgess Sprankle, Commissioners, J. Norman Flax, Ernest E. Rosensteel, Eugene Myers and Town

Attorney, Bower will be attending and representing Emmitsburg.

Lawrence A. Dorsey, President of the Frederick County Commissioners, has consented to attend along with other appropriate officials who will attend, supporting Emmitsburg's request.

It is hoped that Emmitsburg other members of the Emmitsburg community will be able to attend. Those desiring to attend should contact Eugene Myers at 447-2202.

Mr. Washbourne provided the town with detailed information concerning the college campus, consisting of an offer for lease for the facilities and a comprehensive description and study of the college.

The Fire Academy has a projected enrollment of 44. It would be not only a great asset to the community, but to the county as a whole.

It was also decided to ask, if possible, that the site committee come to Emmitsburg and look over the facilities.

All citizens of Emmitsburg and surrounding area should be proud of the work done by the Town Council in trying to secure the Fire Academy for the St. Joseph College campus in Emmitsburg. Not only will it provide jobs locally, but will also be an economic boon to this area.

Farmers and Consumers Both Face Inequities

Ellen Haas, legislative liaison and former president of the Maryland Citizen Consumers Council, says that consumers and farmers are both being short-changed in our present U.S. food marketing system.

Mrs. Haas spoke last month at the fifteenth annual meeting of the Maryland Council of Farmer Cooperatives, held Feb. 26 in the Holiday Inn at Frederick. Some 115 persons were in attendance, according to Robert J. Beiter, Extension Agricultural economist at the University of Maryland in College Park.

Consumers, said Mrs. Haas, are getting too much money in going to the middle sector in food marketing. The price consumers pay is too high and the return farmers get is too low. The farm-to-retail spread rose 22 per cent in one year, Mrs. Haas noted.

"Since 1972 consumers have seen their total food bill skyrocket," she said. "In 1972 the U.S. Department of Agriculture estimated that an annual market basket for a family of four cost $1,310.82. The same market basket cost $1,719.56 in 1974. That's an increase of nearly 31 per cent in two years," she pointed out. Mrs. Haas said she expects the 1975 figures to be just as dismal.

The hardest hit sector of the population is the low-income consumer, she said. He spends 40 per cent of his income for food. Consumers realize, she said, that the spread between what the farmer gets and the consumer pays has increased greatly.

The farmer is frustrated, too, she said. "Spreads between the farm gate and the supermarket counter have increased even more dramatically than food prices," according to Mrs. Haas.

The reason for this spread, she said, can be found somewhere in the middle sector. The farmer's share of the consumer's market basket dollar is only 40 cents and has been so for a long time, she said.

But until adequate information about the various components in the middle spread and profit margins on specific products are available to agencies like the Federal Trade Commission, no action can be taken by the government or consumer groups, said Mrs. Haas.

Mrs. Haas, who is also consumer coordinator for the Community Nutrition Institute, advocated the proposal for a Consumer Protection Agency. She disagreed with the Administration's plan to create instead con-

Draft Board Offices to Close

Colonel Jack D. Kaufman, the State Director of Selective Service for Maryland, has announced the closing of all local draft board offices.

Colonel Kaufman said this is the result of a drastically reduced budget recommendation for the Selective Service System, and will cause what the National Director, Byron V. Peptone, recently termed "a dramatically altered structure" of the agency.

In Maryland, 20 employees were terminated on February 28, 1976, and 3 more will be separated on May 8, 1976. Throughout the entire Selective Service System, 1400 employees left the agency in February and another 200 will leave in May. By the end of Fiscal Year 1977, the entire agency will employ only approximately 100 people.

This reduction in the work force of the draft agency made necessary the termination of all registrant processing on January 27, 1976. State Director Colonel Kaufman said: "This means there will be no registration or lottery drawing in the foreseeable future, no classification actions, and young men will no longer have any

And Yet Another!

Another accident took place last Saturday night at 11:30 on West Main Street bringing the total number of accidents since December to 10.

A car driven by Scott Charles Rice of Carlisle, Pa. was proceeding east around the turn at Beagle's Apartments at an apparent high rate of speed when it collided with a light pole, crossed the road and struck an unattended parked vehicle owned by Charles Lewis of Emmitsburg.

Both the driver and a passenger in his auto, Dwight Keller of Camp Hill, Pa., were unhurt.

Both automobiles suffered disabling damage.

Penna. Woman Killed In Local Accident

A Mill Hall Pennsylvania woman was killed last Friday evening south of Emmitsburg at the intersection of Rt. 15 and Orndorff Road when the car she was a passenger in was struck head-on by a car driven by Perry Lynn Edwards of Williamsport, Pa.

The deceased, Mrs. Helen Seeber, was a passenger in a car driven by her husband, Mark Seeber. Other passengers in the Seeber auto were the couple's three children, Michael Paul, age 20 mos., Stephen Mark, age

5 years, and Maria Ann, age 3 years. According to Maryland State Police, the Edwards auto was proceeding north on Route 15 when she attempted to pass a car and a truck. Seeing that she didn't have enough time to pass, and still in the south-bound lane, she drove to the left shoulder, lost control of her vehicle and collided head-on into the Seeber auto.

Mark Seeber, Michael Paul Seeber, and Ms. Edwards were transported to Warner hospital in the VFW ambulance, treated and released. The other children were uninjured.

Cause of accident was listed as improper passing on the part of Ms. Edwards.

It was noted by the State Police, the use of seat belts could possibly have lessened the injuries to Mrs. Seeber. The son, Michael Paul, was saved from serious injuries because of the restraining straps on a toddler seat he was sitting in.

Ride a Bike For Retarded

"If you like fun, fresh air and people, then we want you on Sunday, April 4, at 1 P.M. The hopes of three thousand retarded Frederick County Citizens will be riding on your bicycles."

So encourages the Frederick County Association for Retarded Citizens as Ride-A-Bike for the Retarded Day approaches. "This year's Ride-A-Bike effort is fast growing into a county-wide effort," stated Charles E. Tressler, II, executive director of the FCARC.

He added that besides the tremendous support from county schools and student councils, such groups as the Brunswick Jaycees, the breakfast and evening Optimist Clubs, the evening and luncheon clubs of the Frederick Citizens, the county PTA, local citizen band radio clubs, the Frederick Pedalers Bike Club and the Youth Association for Retarded Citizens are contributing their time and energy to this annual project.

"We have had unbelievable support from the Frederick Pedalers Bike Club. Three of its members, Mary Margrave, Jane Abrecht and Rolly Atkinson, Sr. used their professional cycling skills to plan six of the seven routes that will be used on Ride-A-Bike Day," commented Tressler.

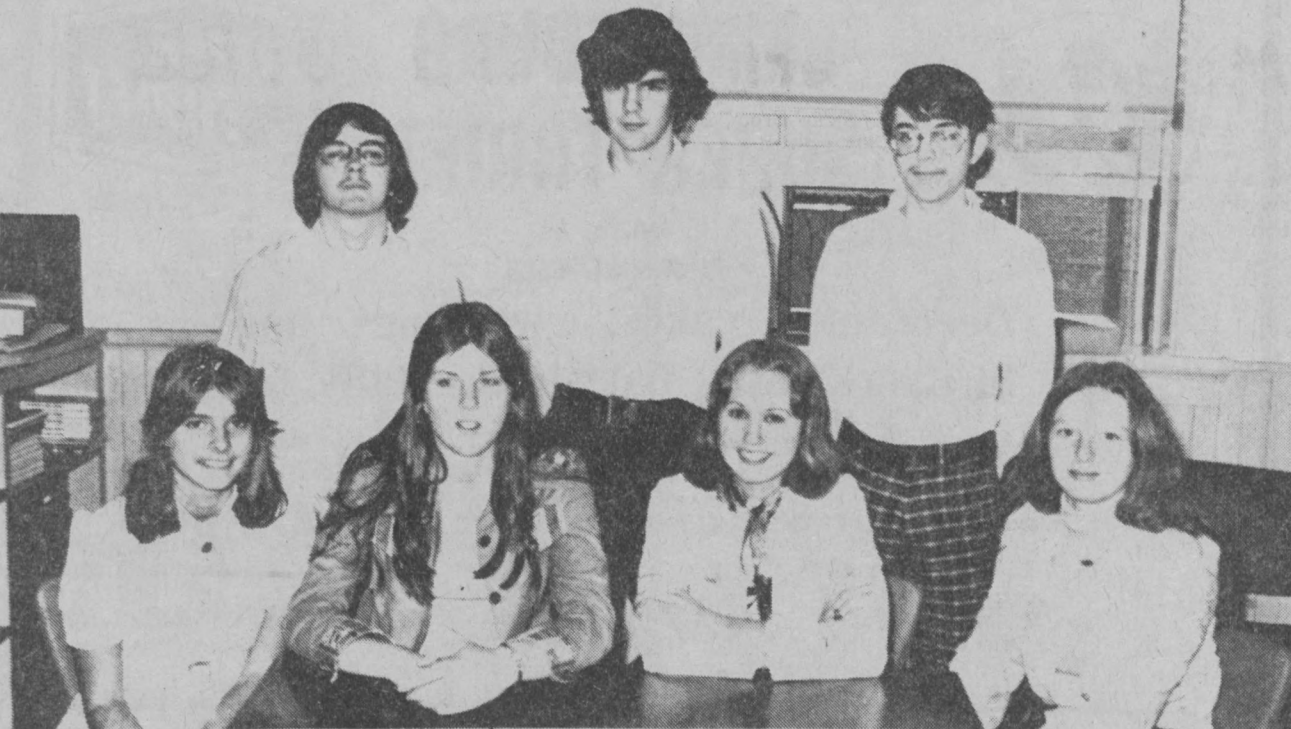

"And then the Brunswick Jaycees have made Ride-A-Bike Day a yearly project. I met with Ron Myers and Steve Smith last week and their enthusiasm was terrific. They feel the Brunswick route on the C & O Canal towpath is the best in Frederick," added Tressler.

Other routes will be located in the Catoctin area, Frederick City, the Linganore area, Middletown, Adamstown and Walkersville. "Of course, each of the routes is special in its own way because they are all located in our beautiful county. However it will be interesting to see which area has the most successful ride," said Tressler.

This year the Frederick County Association for Retarded Citizens is providing a trophy to the school that realizes the largest proceeds percentage-wise. And the Association suggests that younger riders participate in the mini-ride to be held at the Walkersville High School or the Adamstown ride which will begin at the Carroll Manor Elementary School, or the Brunswick ride on the C & O Canal towpath.

Also, safety is being emphasized this year. Riders are encouraged to have their bikes inspected prior to the ride and Frederick Countians can obtain a Maryland Department of Transportation booklet entitled A Bicycling Safety Handbook by stopping by the FCARC office at 431 Carrollton Drive, Frederick, Md. Sponsors and riders are encouraged to contact the FCARC as well or obtain sponsor forms in schools throughout the county. Be on the look out for the seven Ride-A-Bike routes to be published soon.

Mount Concert Tour Scheduled

The Gleemen and Belles of Mount Saint Mary's College, Emmitsburg, Maryland, will spend their spring holidays in a concert-tour of Alabama and Louisiana.

The Glee Club, which consisted of only men until the college became a co-ed institution four years ago, has travelled extensively throughout the United States, Europe, the Caribbean and Panama. The concerts scheduled for this year's tour will be held at McGill-Toolen High School, 1501 Old Shell Road, Mobile, Alabama on Monday March 15 at 10:00 a.m.; Redemptorist High School, 950 Josephine Street, New Orleans, Louisiana on Wednesday, March 17 at 10:15 a.m.; and at Seton Academy, 3222 Canal Street, New Orleans, Louisiana on Thursday, March 18 at 10:15 a.m.

This year's repertoire will include "What's More America", "The Mount Alma Mater", "Sixteen Going on Seventeen" by Rodgers & Hammerstein, Lerner & Loewe's "I Remember it Well" and "Camelot", "George M. Cohan Patriotic Fantasy" and the "Toreador Song" from Carmen. Many other songs, selected from the classics, Broadway show tunes, religious chants, spirituals, and popular hits of the day, will be sung by the Soloists of the group and by the Hill 'N Dale Singers, the chorus' folk group.

Founded in 1949 by the late Reverend Peter A. Coad, the chorus is under the direction of the Rev. Dr. David W. Shaum, Professor of Music. In June, 1958, the group sang for the then President of the United States, President and Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower, on the occasion of the sesqui-centennial of Mount Saint Mary's foundation.

Despite the many hours of rehearsal and the difficulties in raising funds for their yearly tour, members of the Mount Gleemen and Belles believe that their efforts in the field of public relations on behalf of the college are more than worthwhile. According to Father Shaum this is evidenced "by the enthusiasm with which they are received by an audience not touched or reached by other collegiate members."

The following members of the Mount Saint Mary's Gleemen and

Belles will travel to Alabama and Louisiana over their Spring break: Roseanne M. Connors, Marie A. Eschmann, Marguerite M. Gorman, Loretta T. Hartung, Cindy L. Little, Diane S. Prata, Margaret F. Davis, Kathryn R. Fazio, Michele F. Gardner, Bernadette S. McLaughlin, Florida E.M. Reid, Marie C. Sitcoske;

Also John W. Arends, Paul F. Monte, Patrick J. Neary, Michael L. Frykman, Joseph B. Roadarmel, Joseph Rushton, William C. Bafford, James F. Bruener, John M. Gerwin, Robert J. Henke, Jr., Timothy J. Kirchner, Michael C. Padazinski.

4-H Scholarships Offered

According to Homer C. Folks, associate dean of University of Missouri-Columbia College of Agriculture, enrollments last fall in 70 of the nation's colleges of agriculture were up 11.9 per cent over 1974.

This soaring interest in higher education for agriculture and related careers is encouraged and supported by private-sector donors to the 4-H program. Five corporations and foundations this year are offering a total of $11,400 in college scholarships to 4-H'ers or former 4-H'ers planning careers in agriculture, agribusiness, animal science, veterinary medicine or forestry.

The five donors are Alpha Gamma Rho Educational Foundation; DeKalb AgResearch, Inc.; Allied Mills, Inc.; Homelite, A Division of Textron, Inc.; and Champion Valley Farms, Inc., Recipe Division.

Alpha Gamma Rho offers one $600 scholarship to a 4-H'er planning to enroll as a freshman in an agricultural college in the fall of 1976.

Four scholarships of $700 each will be awarded by DeKalb AgResearch to young men or women intending to enroll as college juniors in the fall. Candidates must be planning to major in some phase of agribusiness. Scholarship winners also will receive expense-paid trips to study operations at DeKalb's research headquarters.

Allied Mills offers two scholarships of $1,000 each to current or former 4-H members who in the fall of 1976 will be enrolled as college juniors majoring in animal science.

Four scholarships of $1,000 each are granted by Homelite to present or former 4-H'ers who will be college juniors in the fall and who plan to major or minor in forestry.

Champion Valley Farms offers two Lassie-4-H Veterinary Medicine scholarships of $1,000 each to former 4-H members currently enrolled in a college of veterinary medicine.

All scholarships are awarded on the basis of interest in attending college, background in 4-H, scholastic record, leadership ability and financial need.

Scholarships are arranged by the National 4-H Service Committee. Winners will be selected by the Cooperative Extension Service and announced at the 55th National 4-H Congress, Nov. 28-Dec. 2 in Chicago.

4-H'ers and former 4-H'ers who are interested in applying for college scholarships should contact their state 4-H leader or county extension agent for special application forms.

The Studio Band

The United States Army proudly presents its official touring jazz ensemble, The Studio Band of the United States Army Field Band. Recognition of a cultural gap which developed in the last generation and, efforts to parallel the goals of the modern Army, led to the formation of the Studio Band in March of 1969.

The component is fulfilling its obligation as evidenced by the group's growing popularity.

The uncommon versatility of the Studio Band enables it to perform patriotic music, early-era, Big Band jazz, popular music, and the most modern jazz.

The members of this organization are chosen by a highly competitive audition system which insures that standards remain the highest. Studio Band alumni have performed with such name bands as Stan Kenton, Buddy Rich and Woody Herman. Its current members hail from the nation's leading universities and professional orchestras.

The Band is directed by Sergeant Major David J. Wolpe, a native of Pasadena, California. His ability to specially choose selections for each audience, coupled with the prodigious spirit of the Studio Bandsmen, produces an exciting musical experience.

Free tickets are available in Thurmont at WTHU, Myers Radio and TV in Emmitsburg, and Fabers in Gettysburg, Pa.

Notes From the Library

The Library is now situated in the old Middle school building and is easier to get to if you are driving your own car. No parking worries; no meter to pay. If you are walking that's a bit of a hassle in the snow, but by and large it is more convenient in our new quarters.

I quoted some recommendations of books on needlework might be appropriate in this winter weather with so many people staying in. Or maybe the Senior Citizens would enjoy looking at some quilt patterns, or some new idea of how to frame their latest needlepoint. Suggested below are books that are in the collection in the library.

A Quilter's Companion by Dolores A. Hinson — The most comprehensive book of quilt patterns ever published — over 200 actual-size patterns complete with step-by-step instruction in the art and joy of quilting.

The Mountain Artisans Quilting Book by Alfred Allan Lewis — The techniques, patterns, and designs of the famous West Virginia Cooperative. Over 300 illustrations. The book to-do-it sections of the book feature photographic step-by-step instructions on: traditional patchwork patterns, stitching, applique, hemming, binding, design placement, bordering, quilting; application of the handcraft to making toys, pillows, clothing, and placemats; new approaches to design, with helpful hints on color and placement that will enable the reader to make original designs.

The Perfect Patchwork primer by Beth Cutcheon — Everything you need to know to create your own designs or follow traditional ones — sew quilts by machine or hand and execute 70 other patchwork projects.

National Editors to Judge Local School Contest

If you are in the first through the eighth grade in any school in Frederick County and can write, you have a chance during the month of March to win a great deal of money and have your writing read by some of the top editors in the United States.

The Frederick County Board of Education with Mr. and Mrs. Richard R. Kline, owners of the Barbara Fritchie House are sponsoring two writing contests: in essay form for junior high schools and poetry for elementary grades.

The essay contest (any composition up to 500 words) is titled "Barbara Fritchie: How One Person Can Make a Difference." Judges in the contest will be Terry B. Morton, Editorial Director and Vice President of the National Trust for Historic Preservation; Margaret Dougherty, editor of Maryland Magazine, and Frances Carnahan, executive editor of Early American Life.

The poetry contest (any form up to 200 words) is titled "Who is Barbara Fritchie and Why Do We Remember Her?" Judges will be the editors of the Atlantic Monthly (on whose pages "The Legend of Barbara Fritchie" by John Greenleaf Whittier first appeared); award-winning poet and author Sister Maura, S.S.N.D. of the College of Notre Dame of Maryland; and Robert Wickless, who for the past three years has been teaching poetry in Frederick schools under the Poets in the Schools Program sponsored by The Maryland Arts Council through the National Endowment for the Arts.

Awards in each contest will be a $50 savings bond as first prize; $25 savings bond for second; $15 cash as third; and $10 fourth prize.

Deadline for all entries is April 1, 1976. They may be submitted through teachers or directly to J. Richard Lewis, English Department, Board of Education, East Church Street, Frederick. In each category, consideration will be given to the age of the student in determining winners. Students wishing to go through the Barbara Fritchie House and Museum may do so by calling Mrs. Kline at 663-1393 or Mrs. Clara at 662-3413 or 662-3000.

J. Richard Lewis, in announcing the contest said, "Barbara Fritchie is close to the heart and pulse of Frederick. She is part of our culture and part of the life of Frederick. Many children in our schools have not heard of her and do not know of her courage in a time of crisis. Studying about her life and writing about her will not only help them understand the history of Frederick but help them realize that history is told through individuals as well as books and buildings."

Dick Kline expressed the hope that both contests would result in new viewpoints and original research on Barbara Fritchie's life.

His wife Margaret added, "The image of American womanhood is reflected in the sparkle and strength of Barbara Fritchie. Although her determination is a century old, her spirit and wit is part of our generation. Her free thinking at the age of 96 is refreshing even today."

Serving on the coordinating committee with Messrs. Kline and Lewis are Wanda Summers, Nancy Watkins and Constance Stapleton.

Thurmont School Lists Bicentennial Observances

Thurmont Middle School has celebrated the Bicentennial throughout the current school year. Most observances have focused on Frederick County and have involved children from every level in the school.

Speakers on such topics as "Catoctin Furnace," "Ghosts in Frederick County," "The Continental Soldier," and "The Civil War" have addressed the students, and field trips covering historical sites throughout the county have been conducted.

Yet to come in the Bicentennial celebration is a musical "Tall Tom Jefferson," produced by the vocal music and art department, which will be presented in March. April 1 will see a "craft fair" featuring local people, guilds and community organizations in demonstrations, lectures or displays of various crafts of the Colonial period.

In addition to the school wide observances listed, the sixth grade language arts and social studies teachers cooperated in developing a unit with a Bicentennial theme for use in their classes.

Scout Week Observed

Girl Scout Sunday, March 7th, was observed by the Girl Scouts of Emmitsburg. The front pews of Elias Lutheran Church were filled with girls and leaders as they attended the morning worship together. The pastor, The Rev. Ronald Fearer, greeted the girls and spoke of the devotion and dedication of the leaders and of the ever-present need for more adults to work with the youth of our community.

Following the service, the Scouts and their families enjoyed a covered dish dinner in the cafeteria of the Mother Seton School. A camp film strip was shown and the summer camping program was discussed. The girls received their folders telling of all the resident camping opportunities for this summer available to them through our Central Maryland Girl Scout Council.

On Friday, the 12th, which is the Girl Scout Birthday, over 35 Scouts and leaders joined with thousands of other Scouts of the U.S.A. in a candle-lighting ceremony. Scouts met in the Senior Citizen Center and at exactly 5:00 P.M. the candles were lighted as "flames of freedom" and "sisterhood."

The 64th anniversary of the Girl Scout Movement in the U.S. was recognized, and also the 200th birthday of our country. "Happy Birthday" was sung to the "Scouts" and again to "America." Following the ceremony, each Scout made a luminary which she was to take home and light during the evening. The program ended with the Friendship Circle and the singing of "Taps."

Every student attending Maryland schools will receive a pine seedling from the Maryland Forest Service in honor of the Bicentennial.

Approximately one million trees will be received by pre-kindergarten through twelfth grade students as part of a Bicentennial Arbor Day observance and the seventieth anniversary of the Maryland Forest Service.

Trees are the living connection between America's beginning in 1776 and today. These seedlings, planted with care, will grow out-of-doors, although they can be started in a flower pot indoors.

White pine and loblolly pine seedlings were grown at the Buckingham Tree Nursery to be given to students in 1976. The seedlings will be distributed to coordinators in each school in the state in late March.

April 5 is the seventieth anniversary of the Maryland Forest Service. In 1906, John and Robert Garrett gave to the State of Maryland some 1,967 acres of woodland near Oakland in Garrett County for the purpose of demonstrating forestry practices. Since then, the Forest Service has expanded its efforts and promotes forest-tree programs for the benefit of Maryland citizens.

The Forest Service has worked cooperatively with the Maryland Board of Education in the distribution of seedlings to students.

Bicen Trail Established

Visitors to Maryland during the Bicentennial year will find it easy to locate major points of interest by following the Maryland Bicentennial Trail throughout the state.

Sponsored by the Maryland Bicentennial Commission and its 23 county Bicentennial committees, in conjunction with the Maryland State Highway Administration the trail includes 230 numbered sites, an average of 10 per county.

A recently published map will direct the Bicentennial visitor to both historic and contemporary sites which highlight Maryland's rich culture and heritage. Included are a list of county tourist information centers to assist the visitor in obtaining additional information about these attractions.

A pilot trail program in Western Maryland is now complete with signs identifying sites in Garrett, Allegany and Washington Counties. The signs bearing the familiar red, white and blue ARBA symbol comply with federal highway safety requirements. Numbers on the signs correspond to sites listed on the Western Maryland trail map, which is available at Bicentennial information centers in the three Western counties.

Some of the sites included in the statewide trail are: Casselman Bridge; Grantsville; Washington Street Historic District; Cumberland; Fort Frederick State Park; Big Pool; St. Elizabeth Seaton Shrine; Emmitsburg; Carroll County Farm Museum; Westminster; Hampton House; Towson; the city of Annapolis; Calvert Marine Museum; Solomons; Port Tobacco; Sotterley Planta-

Zoning Ordinance of Emmitsburg

Purpose: The purposes of this ordinance are as follows:

- A) To classify, regulate, and limit the height, area, bulk, and use of buildings;
- B) To regulate and determine the area of front, side, and rear yards, and other open space around buildings;
- C) To regulate and determine the use and intensity of use of land and lot areas;
- D) To classify, regulate and restrict the location of trades, callings, industries, commercial enterprises and the location of buildings designed for specified uses;
- E) To divide the entire town into districts of such number, shape, area and of such different classes as are deemed best suited to carry out these purposes;
- F) To fix standards to which buildings or structures therein shall conform;
- G) To prohibit uses, buildings, or structures incompatible with the character of such districts;
- H) To prevent additions to and alteration or remodeling of existing buildings or structures in such a way as to avoid the restrictions and limitations herein lawfully imposed;
- I) To provide for a Board of Appeals and prescribe its powers and duties.

Article V — Provisions Governing Residential (R-1, R-2, and R-3) Districts:

The R-1 (low density) District is intended to encourage and promote the development of single-family residential neighborhoods free from land usage which might adversely affect such development. Such a district may incorporate large lot sizes in which the green space desired is entirely within the lot or it may encourage the formation of green space communities in which the lot sizes are made smaller and that the area which results from the reduction of the area of each lot below the general standard for the district be provided and maintained as recreation areas to serve the needs of the residents of the development.

The R-2 (medium density) District is intended to provide an attractive, pleasant living environment at a sufficient density to maintain a high standard of physical maintenance and community service. The District encourages the compact development and the optimum utilization of land appropriate for residential use by encouraging higher density green space communities and planned unit developments while simultaneously leaving sloping areas, flood plains and other unbuildable areas open and available for recreational and athletic purposes.

The R-3 (high density) District is intended to make the development of land, having natural and locational advantages, economically feasible by the variety of housing types, while continuing to encourage the provision of the basic amenities of an attractive and safe residential environment. This District encourages green space communities and planned unit development and the increased density of all such developments, making their location at the edge of residential neighborhoods, and with good access to major highways, central shopping areas, schools, and other public facilities most essential.

Section 1.0 — Uses Permitted in the R-1 District (Low Density):

1.01 Single-family dwellings and home occupations in a single-family dwelling.

1.02 Churches, schools, libraries, museums, and parks, playgrounds, community centers.

1.03 Accessory buildings and uses.

Section 2.0 — Uses Permitted in the R-2 District (Medium Density):

2.01 Any use permitted in the R-1 District.

2.02 Two-family dwellings, leasing of rooms by not more than five (5) persons not members of the family residing in the dwelling unit.

2.03 Townhouses. Each townhouse having its own lot and each lot having only one family on it; or, townhouses in condominium form of ownership.

Section 3.0 — Uses Permitted in the R-3 District (High Density):

3.01 Any use permitted in the R-2 District.

3.02 Multi-family dwellings such as duplexes, townhouses and apartments.

Section 4.0 — Special Exceptions (Requires Board of Appeals Approval) in Residential Districts:

A) Nursery school or child care center provided it contains an adequately size play area, fully fenced and enclosed, and the main structure is no closer than 20 feet from any adjacent zoning district line or lot line.

B) Boarding and lodging homes not primarily for transients, provided off-street parking of 1.5 spaces per boarder or lodger is provided and provided yard requirements shall conform to those of a multi-family structure. (R-3 District only)

C) Medical centers, rest and nursing homes provided off-street parking space is provided for each attendant or worker and for each three patients to be cared for therein, and provided yard requirements shall conform to those of a multi-family structure.

D) Laundry facilities located within a multi-family dwelling, for the use of residents of the apartment or apartment complex and not as a commercial enterprise. (R-3 District only)

E) The office of a resident physician, dentist, architect, engineer, attorney; similar professional person located in that person's home; or the operation of a beauty parlor or barber shop having one chair, provided:

- 1) That there is no exterior evidence, other than a permitted sign, to indicate that the building is being used for any purpose other than that of a dwelling.
- 2) That the construction does not produce a show window or display window effect.
- 3) Only one person other than the owner may be engaged or employed.
- 4) Sufficient off-street parking is provided with three spaces being considered minimal. Such parking shall be in the side or rear yard.

5) The total area devoted to the office does not exceed 30% of the square footage of the dwelling unit.

F) Clubs, lodges, hospitals, and sanitariums. (R-3 District only)

Section 5.0 — Required Lot Area, Lot Width, and Yards in Residential Districts:

Section 6.0 — Building Height Regulations in Residential Districts:

No building will exceed two and one-half (2½) stories or thirty-five (35) feet in height, unless each side yard is increased over the required minimum by five (5) feet for every five (5) feet, or fraction thereof, of additional height over thirty-five (35) feet. In no case shall the building height exceed fifty (50) feet.

Section 7.0 — Off-Street Parking and Loading:

Veterans Admin. Provides Markers

The Veterans Administration today announced that special memorial gravestones and markers will be provided to families of deceased Medal of Honor winners as part of the country's Bicentennial program.

VA Regional Office Director Thomas H. Price, Jr., said the Medal of Honor markers "are intended to bear silent witness to a nation's eternal remembrance of the selfless deeds of these brave Americans."

The special markers will carry an enlarged representation of the Medal of Honor in gold leaf on marble or granite headstones and in bronze on the cast metal markers. The words "Medal of Honor" will also be highlighted by one of these methods, Mr. Price said.

The VA official said present headstones and grave markers will be replaced with the memorial devices only with the written approval of the next of kin or the person listed on the cemetery's records.

"Since the VA does not have burial records for many of the Medal of Honor winners who are buried in non-government cemeteries, we are appealing to the families or friends of these men to advise us of their wishes as soon as possible," Mr. Price said.

"It will also be of great assistance to us if local historians, or city, county or state officials who know of the location of a Medal of Honor winner's grave will contact any known relative of the serviceman to alert them concerning this program," Mr. Price added.

"I think it would be fitting if we could have all these stones in place on Memorial Day this year, but to do that we will need the cooperation of everyone who can assist us with information."

Mr. Price emphasized that there will be no cost to the families for the memorial headstones or grave markers.

Relatives of deceased Medal of Honor winners who wish to have the present grave markers replaced with the memorial stone should contact the nearest Veterans Administration office, or they may write to the Director, National Cemetery System, Veterans Administration, Washington, D.C. 20420.

The Medal of Honor, the Nation's highest military decoration was first awarded in 1863. Since that time 3,400 have been awarded.

Arthritis Victims Need Special Activities

"Victims of arthritis always should consult a qualified physician to assure that their home activities are not damaging their joints," reports Dr. L. Myrton Gaines, Jr., President of the Maryland Chapter of The Arthritis Foundation.

While exercise is important to maintain joint mobility, the wrong kind can harm rather than help arthritis victims. And a balance of special rest periods is vital to an overall home care program.

Dr. Gaines indicates that the type of exercise needed also varies from patient to patient. For example, one person might be told to perform some simple movements of the hands, arms, and elbows while another might be called upon to do special stretches and breathing exercises.

"The physician also can provide the arthritis victim with tips to make most activities easier," says Dr. Gaines, "as well as offer a special booklet on home care programs provided free to doctors by The Arthritis Foundation."

The Foundation considers physicians vital partners in their Bicentennial revolution against arthritis, America's No. 1 crippling disease.

If your doctor doesn't have a supply of these booklets, send his name and address to your Maryland Chapter of The Arthritis Foundation, 12 West 25th Street, Baltimore, Maryland 21218.

Draft Board

requirement to report changes of address or anything else to their local boards."

For many years, all men were required to have their "draft" card in their personal possession at all times, but this is no longer required. If a Selective Service Status Card is lost or stolen, there is no need to ask for a replacement card. "In fact," said Colonel Kaufman, "replacement cards will no longer be issued."

Following the closing of local draft board offices in February, all Selective Service records were transferred to appropriate Federal Records Centers.

The State Director said the only Selective Service contact in Maryland will be his office. He may be reached at: Maryland State Headquarters, Selective Service System, Room 1119, Federal Building, Baltimore, Maryland 21201, telephone (301) 962-2670.

Any person participating in President Ford's Clemency Program who wishes to enroll with Selective Service to perform his alternate service obligation must now contact the State Director in person, by phone or by mail.

Colonel Kaufman added that the termination of all registrant processing makes it impossible for any new information to be added to a registrant's file. Selective Service registrations with any valid questions about their status may contact him at the above address.

Offers Defensive Driving

Frederick has been selected as the first site for a series of Defensive Driving courses that the Automobile Club of Maryland (AAA) and the Safety Council of Maryland will offer jointly around the state of Maryland.

The popular eight-hour program will be held at Governor Thomas Johnson High School on four consecutive Wednesdays - April 7, 14, 21 and 28, from 7:30 - 9:30 p.m. The school is conveniently located on North Market Street Extended just east of U.S. Route 15.

Making the announcement was Gene Brothers, manager of the Auto Club's Frederick Branch, and Cody L. Godman, assistant manager of the safety council and state coordinator of Defensive Driving. The council is the non-profit state chapter of the National Safety Council.

Designed for both inexperienced and experienced drivers, Defensive Driving has graduated more than 7 million American drivers, including 200 thousand Marylanders, in the past eleven years, according to Mr. Godman. "We find that the program gives new drivers the confidence and ability they need to cope with modern traffic hazards and for experienced drivers it corrects a lot of bad habits," Mr. Godman said.

Course fee is $10. Auto Club members, however, are invited to attend at no charge upon presentation of their membership card. Pre-registrations are required.

Non-members of AAA should send the $10 fee with their name and address to the safety council at 1401 W. Mt. Royal Avenue, Baltimore 21217. Checks should be made payable to the Safety Council of Maryland, Inc. Five dollars of the registration fee may be applied to a membership in the Auto Club for those who choose to join.

Members of the Auto Club should write to the same address and notify the safety council of their intention to attend. All registrations will be confirmed, and further information is available by calling the council at 462-6678 in Baltimore.

"The Auto Club has always advocated effective ways of reducing the tragic injuries and deaths that result from traffic accidents," Mr. Brothers said, "and Defensive Driving is a proven method of achieving those goals. I sincerely hope that local members of the Auto Club take advantage of this free opportunity to sharpen their driving skills and the motoring public as a whole supports this program as well."

The effectiveness of DDC is so well established according to Mr. Godman that it has been translated into several languages and is now offered in 15 foreign countries. "Additionally," he noted, "many professional fleet operations in both private enterprise and government are using it to train their new and veteran drivers."

Water Resources Develops Training Program

In order to more efficiently enforce the water pollution laws the Water Resources Administration, Enforcement Division and the Natural Resources Police have joined forces to develop a cross training program for the enforcement of Water Pollution Laws.

Two Natural Resources Police Officers have been temporarily assigned to the Enforcement Division of the Water Resources Administration.

In order for the National Resources Police to utilize their authority to issue citations, additions to the existing fine and bond schedule have been developed for minor water pollution violations.

Under current Rules and Regulations, a minor water pollution violator is usually issued a complaint and ordered to correct a pollution violation. This procedure is strictly Administrative.

The Fine and Bond schedule, as approved by Chief Judge Sweeney of the Maryland District Court, would allow Natural Resources Police officers to utilize their authority to issue citations for minor water pollution violations.

Farmers And Consumers

sumer committees in federal agencies.

"Consumers don't need that kind of committee," said Mrs. Haas. "What they need is someone to speak in matters that affect their welfare, their health, and their pocketbooks."

Mrs. Haas said she also would like to see the creation of a national food policy to balance the needs of farmers for an adequate return on

The violator could then pay the designated fine or have his day in court by electing to stand trial.

For example, an offense noted by the Natural Resources Police, such as appropriating surface water without a permit, would carry a fine of $250 for a minor violation.

Other violations carrying various fines would include prohibited discharges, $500 and aquatic life management violation, $200.

In all, the fine and bond schedule covers 24 instances including violations of water pollution abatement, groundwater and surface water violations.

According to Joseph P. Lewandowski, Chief of the Water Resources Enforcement Division, "Water Resources Administration personnel will continue to use the Administrative Enforcement procedure."

"The assignment of those two officers and the utilization of the citation procedure will compliment the current program and put more bite into the water pollution laws."

their investment and those of consumers for fair, reasonable prices.

In addition, this policy would create a food reserve system, she said, and a system of export management for long-range planning to project ahead and determine food needs for the country.

In answer to a question which followed her speech, Mrs. Haas declared that her concept of export management does not infer export controls for U.S. agricultural products.

Andy Nelson, 3 time All-Pro linebacker for the Baltimore Colts, was the Guest Speaker at the Lions Club meeting March 8, 1976. His topic was physical fitness and he gave demonstrations on exercising with the Apollo equipment.

from the Emmitsburg Lions Club to Clayton Anders, Physical Education Director at St. Joseph's High School. The Lions also donated to Frederick County School for the Deaf, bought glasses for a local school girl and will buy a Savings Bond as a prize for an essay contest regarding the Nation's Bicentennial.
