A total of 157 clothing entries were judged by Mrs. George Harris, Westminster, and Mrs. Frank S. Barnes, Sykesville.

READY FOR SCHOOL? Things to be Done Before Beginners Can Enter

"Boys and girls are not really equipped to enter school unless they are in the best possible physical condition," Dr. R. H. Riley, Director of the State Department of Health reminds the parents of preschool children who will enter the first grade or kindergarten in September. "All children planning to embark upon the new venture of school attendance should be taken to their physicians or to a summer round-up clinic for a complete physical examination, unless they have had such a check-up within the last month or two.

"Prompt attention to the child's physical condition is advised in order to allow time for any necessary treatment or correction of physical defects before school opens. Good health conditions add greatly to the child's enjoyment of this new experience and permit more effective learning. No youngster should meet the new physical and mental demands of school life with an unnecessary health handicap.

"The Law of Maryland has long required vaccination against smallpox before admitting children to school. There must be evidence of successful immunization against this disease before a child can be enrolled in the first grade or kindergarten in this State. Those who were vaccinated in infancy should be immunized again before entering school in order to assure a high level of protection. Parents who have not already done so should have their youngsters vaccinated without delay in order to allow the sore to heal before the opening of school.

"Although it is not a legal requirement, immunization against diphtheria is also strongly advised for all children planning to enter school. It is desirable for all who have never received this protection to be inoculated with toxoid immediately. Boys and girls who received toxoid inoculations in infancy should receive booster doses to maintain an adequate continuing immunity.

"For certain children the physician will recommend other medical attention or dentistry, in addition to the routine immunizations needed by all children. Where special measures are necessary to achieve an optimum health condition parents should follow the physician's advice without delay."

THROUGH THE CAR WINDOW

Part of the Middle West Described by Rev. Enfield

There is an adage to the effect that we see what we look for. But on a journey across the American Continent we see not only what we are looking for, but we also see what is to be seen. This article will deal with what is seen outside the car window rather than inside. The inside observation was considered in a previous column.

We shall begin with Chicago and make a few observations westward to the Pacific Coast. All places and things of interest along the route cannot be featured.

Chicago is 2260 railroad miles from Portland. It is the second largest of all our American cities, a very dirty city, and the center of the transportation systems of the nation. Parks, landscaped boulevards and excellent beaches stretch for miles and miles along the shore of Lake Michigan, giving the city a "front yard" second to none in the world.

After leaving Union Station in Chicago, the Empire Builder, the train named in recognition of the fact that the railroad was responsible for the rapid settlement and growth of the "Inland Empire" or the Great Northwest, passes through a chain of suburban communities, each striving to outdo the others in individual beauty and charm.

At Oregon, Illinois, where the Empire Builder crosses the Rock River, when the foliage is not too dense, one can see the 48-foot figure of Chief Black Hawk, the first and largest statue fashioned in concrete.

At Savanna, Illinois, you get your first view of the Mississippi River and the Mississippi Palisades Park.

Galena, Illinois, was once the head of Mississippi River navigation, and was called "Traders' Point."

The following bit of history belongs to Prairie Du Chien, Wisconsin, the second oldest settlement in the state. Here may be seen the ruins of old Fort Crawford, originally a French military post, which was captured by the English and Indians during the War of 1812, and restored to the United States at the close of the war. It was here that Chief Black Hawk surrendered to Lieutenant Jefferson Davis.

One observes with interest the beautiful golf course as the train pulls into La Crosse, Wisconsin, which city has the honor of having the only fresh water aquarium in the United States. Winesheik Bottoms, the nucleus of the Wild Life Refuge, encircles La Crosse, and here are located the fisheries headquarters.

We have now arrived at St. Paul, Minnesota, one of the most varied industrial and marketing cities in the country, and the home city of Great Northern Railway. The "Seven Hills" on which the city is situated picturesquely, gradually slope back from the "Father of Waters."

St. Paul began in 1830 as a far out post of civilization, comprising a small settlement and a fur traders' boat landing. It was incorporated as a city in 1854. In October 1841, its first log chapel was dedicated to St. Paul, and thus the city was to acquire its name.

Eleven miles across the Mississippi stands Minneapolis, the other Twin. This Twin has grown faster than its sister, probably one and a half or two times as large. Minneapolis is the largest city in Minnesota, and ranks fifteenth in the nation. We all know that it is an important grain market and flour milling center. Here are the Falls of St. Anthony, and Minnehaha Falls, immortalized by Henry W. Longfellow.

The Twin Cities are joined by many bridges; they form one metropolitan center, and are the Gateway to the Northwest. The historic Stone Arch Bridge, over which our train passes, is the oldest bridge across the Mississippi.

We are still 1822 miles from Portland, Oregon, and the story of other places along the way will be reserved for a later article.

AROUND THE TOWN

With all my heart, I wish you every morning
A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning.
I wish you health—life's greatest wealth!
I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer
Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

Without a doubt, that cute "Village Store" pink circular has caused many to "Laff It Off" with those real jokes which the entire family enjoys in every household. Too bad it does not reach everywhere.

Did you know that the lovely "Square Dancing" is being revived again? Going over in a big way in Hollywood.

One of the most noble characters in Carroll County is that nice little man in the black coupe.

Did you know that the Baltimore Oriole was adopted as the official bird of the State of Maryland in February 26, 1947?

Betcha when you think of this hot weather next winter you will refrain from saying, "it's cold outside." Eh?

Was nice to see the summer "The Business of Farming" magazine. Please don't stop. Thanks to someone who remembered.

Am wondering how many from "AroundTheTown" have not visited the birthplace of Francis Scott Key. Think how many from distant places make every effort to do so and yet we are so near.

Last week Your Observer did this very thing and when I walked into that home of the composer, Francis Scott Key, I somehow left all else behind me and felt I was living all over again. The atmosphere is truly one of real "olden times" to every detail. The house was rebuilt about one hundred years ago and the bricks lately have been "pointed up". There were wide deep window sills in the three very large rooms on the first floor where the artistic doors immediately drew my attention. As I stood in the wide centre hallway which separated the living and dining rooms I noticed the electric pulls es couldn't be installed. Then I faced which were installed. Due to the solid stone walls of the house, wall switches the huge lawn in front of the house with the monument to Francis Scott Key way out in front so it could be seen by the visitor from the road, Gazing out, thought of Washington's Home in Mt. Vernon. All my life, I have wanted and desired to visit such an old house. As I walked from room to room I actually felt as though the original dwellers would arise to greet me. The front door was charming with its original quaint lock and large solid brass key which was still in operation. The outside kitchen was then shown to me where all the canning and preserving is done.

Our State of Maryland can be very proud of the present dwellers. The lady of the house said she had gone there as a bride twenty five years ago. She impressed Your Observer greatly as I entered the home which she kept immaculate in every detail. She surely makes a befitting hostess for such historical facts as the Francis Scott Key Home and grounds. She is a charming hostess. One thing that impressed me as much as anything, folks, around that place. There were four pairs of socks just darned and neatly folded on the kitchen table which surely added to that very "homey" atmosphere for it did bring back days of long ago. Never have I been in any home that was more wholesome. The Francis Scott Key Home and its surroundings will have another visit from Your Observer in September.

Betcha all the stores will gradually have a new front do as the Bakery "Around the Town" transformed the shop which is most attractive.

That nice movie called, "Life In Baltimore" did not show any of the big city. The title was not appropriate for the story, "The Minister's Daughter" would have fitted beautifully and especially when the Minister who was a real father in every sense of the word and his daughter were so very close to each other. Another name which would have been No. 2 choice, "My Father's Daughter". The former would have hit the spot.

So long, folks. Have a nice week end. Will be seeing you next week and if you are a sensitive person don't always imagine the other fellow is treading on your toes.

Faithfully,
Your—
OBSERVER.

THE TAFT VICTORY

The fair-haired boy in the Republican party right now is Senator Taft of Ohio, who prevented the repeal of the labor law that bears his name. The principal changes in the law are those that have been proposed by him. Ask any of the Republican top notchers in Washington about Taft and they will tell you that he will be re-elected to the Senate, with every possibility that he will be the Republican nominee for the Presidency in 1952. Taft has IT—National Industrial News Service.

TOO MUCH MONEY

It is not often that a government agency has more money than it needs but that, obviously, is the position in which the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation finds itself. As a result, there are legitimate demands that the corporation either reduce its assessments on the banks whose deposits it insures or raise the top limit of insurance on each bank account from $5,000 to $10,000 or even $15,000.

In the 15 years that the corporation has been in existence, it has paid off $25,000,000 in deposit losses, taken care of some $50,000,000 in administrative expenses, returned the $289,000,000 starting capital provided by the Treasury and now has a reserve of more than $1,000,000,000. This huge backlog against losses is regarded as ample for anything short of an unprecedented depression.

While the course for doing something is well-founded, the likelihood of action during the present session of Congress seems remote. That is because the banks themselves are not in agreement as to the proper course to pursue. Some want lower assessments and some want the maximum deposit guarantee increased. An effort is now being made to get them together.—The Frederick Post.

With so many conflicting stories making the rounds about all lines of merchandise and their prices, you may be wondering about the true value of today's appliances.

The fact is, you get more real value for your money in a good electric appliance today than in almost any other purchase you can make.

AS an example, we have a new 1949 Hotpoint 6-cubic-foot Refrigerator that you can buy for $189.75—only $10 more than the same size and kind cost in 1939—yet it's a great deal better. With today's dollar worth just 60 cents in terms of the 1939 dollar, we can honestly say that the actual cost of this new, post-war refrigerator is really a lot less.

By comparison, look at the price increase in automobiles, houses, or almost anything else you buy—up from 50 to more than 100 per cent.

If you are thinking of buying a new appliance, we see no reason for you to wait. We honestly believe that at today's low prices you will get the greatest dollar-for-dollar values in appliance history.

Quality is at an all-time high. From new post-war factories, Hotpoint brings you new, modern appliances that are as fine as technical facilities and human skill can produce, and we sincerely believe that you'll never buy a poor appliance with the Hotpoint name on it.

At your next opportunity, look over the new Hotpoint ranges, refrigerators, automatic washers, dishwashers and other appliances. We think you'll agree that you can "Look to Hotpoint for the Finest—First"—and be sure of the most for your money—right now!

Famed Exhibition Shooter
Bettered Score of Oakley

Annie Oakley, legendary sharp shooter, had an equal! The world famous marksmanship of the woman whose steady trigger finger shot her to international renown was equalled by the late Elizabeth (Plinky) Toepferwein, outstanding exhibition shooter, according to E. B. Mann, in an article in The American Rifleman.

So thorough was the build-up given Annie that her reputation almost eclipsed all other women shooters.

Plinky, with her famous marksman-husband, Ad, held American audiences spellbound by feats of shotgun, rifle and revolver prowess in 40 years of barnstorming.

She was regarded as the greatest trapshooter of her time. On November 11, 1916, she established the still unchallenged woman's record in this field by smashing 1,952 of 2,000 16-yard clay targets in three hours, 15 minutes actual shooting time.

It was Ad Toepferwein, held by many experts to be the best marksman America has ever produced, who taught his wife to shoot. The day Plinky first saw him he was a quiet Texan visiting the Winchester Repeating Arms company in New Haven, Conn., where she was an ammunition maker.

Korea's Isle of Amazons Lives on Ocean Harvest

As shallow-sea divers for pearls, shellfish, edible seaweed, and various items of commerce, women of Oriental coasts for centuries have outdone the men.

Those of Cheju, 50 miles off Korea's southern tip, have been notably adept. An estimated 10,000 today live by harvesting ocean acres, while their men in some cases tend the children and prepare the meals, notes the National Geographic society.

From this feminine monopoly has grown the tradition of Cheju as an Amazon isle. It took positive form in the West about 1900 when a traveler brought back the tale that the island until 1850 had been populated solely by women and young children in storied Amazon style.

In the 1946 census, Cheju counted 276,148 inhabitants, virtually all on the coasts of the 45-by-20-mile oval of land. There were 113 women to each 100 men on Cheju in 1946, whereas on the Korean mainland men outnumbered women.

Cheju port on the north coast is the island's capital and chief center, counting 30,000 inhabitants. They live largely in crude, thatched-roof huts of mud and stone. Ancient walls to defend against pirate attack still stand along the shore.

From Son-Up to Son-Down

Day and night, electricity plays a big part in baby's life. Dependable electric clocks keep him on schedule. Electric service prepares and refrigerates his food—heats water for his bath and endless laundry—helps wash and iron his clothes.
Electricity plays a big part in the family life as well. It's always ready to save steps for mother, and lend a willing hand with heavy chores. It provides comfort and convenience and even entertainment for the whole family.
But when it comes to cost, electricity's a very small item indeed. Your friends and neighbors in this company—under sound business management—are continually using their skill and experience to keep electricity the biggest bargain in your family budget.

OPEN ROAD, OPEN SKY
Scenery, Sport, Leisure Lure
U. S. Vacationists This Summer

Although many Americans with sufficient lucre and leisure will be running off abroad for their vacations this year, Mr. and Mrs. U. S. for the most part will seek their vacation somewhere in their own 48 United States.

And there will be no lack of scenic grandeur, entertainment, excitement, scope of vacation-time activities or choice of "where-to-go" for the vacationer who plans to spend his seasonal leisure period inside the U.S.A.

Air lines, bus lines, rail lines and filling stations throughout the nation, together with hotels, campsites and resorts, are anticipating the biggest vacation season since the war. With all the postwar shortages erased in transportation and fuel, and virtually in accommodations, the summer visitors will be taken care of in such a manner as to erase from memory all the inconveniences and discomforts during the war years and immediately thereafter.

Both the east and west coasts of the nation, offering beach and surf fun in myriad forms, will be thronged by those who love to hear the roar of the surf and bask in clean sand on sunny shores.

Others who prefer the cool and quiet of a mountain retreat will have thousands of choice spots for the renting, and in most of our national parks will have to pay nothing for a site on which to pitch their tents, if that is to be their mode of outdoor living.

In most of these parks, however, where scenery and entertainment facilities are matched nowhere in the world for the outdoor vacationists, there are comfortable cabins for the renting and usually a small store or trading center not too far away from the remote wilderness areas. In other national parks, particularly in the northwest, there are primitive areas where only the sturdy will want to venture, as all gear and supplies must be packed in by horseback.

The cool, green hills and slopes of New England, and its famed seacoast will lure many vacationists, for here is a section of America where the gentleman of temporary leisure, and his wife and kiddies, too, can find almost anything in the realm of vacationing. Swimming in crystal clear lakes or in the sea, hiking, riding, fishing, or just lolling in a rocker on the porch of some rustic resort all offer the vacationist a bit of the best in summer joy.

The southeast and the Gulf Coast have their devotees, too, where swimming is the chief pastime of the vacationist, with fishing probably ranking next as anglers ply the fecund Gulf or go inland for leisurely, grateful calmness of the country; where a hot tennis game or the splashing of the swimmers in the nearby lake or stream provides the noisiest interlude.

The American man, woman or child—or the combination thereof—who fails to find in America this year all the heart's desire in vacation delights, will have no one but self to blame; the places, the opportunities, the facilities are all there for those who know what they want in a summer vacation and where to go to get it.

Couple that with some vision and imagination and Mr. and Mrs. U.S. can turn their noses at the rest of the world as they start in right here at home on the grandest vacation they have ever had.

Michigan's Honey Crop
Michigan's 1947 honey production was estimated at 7,140,000 pounds, 29 per cent above the small 1946 crop of 5,500,000 pounds. According to the Michigan crop reporting service, the state's 1947 honey crop was produced by 204,000 colonies—a decrease of 8 per cent from the record 222,000 colonies a year earlier. Production per colony averaged 35 pounds, 10 pounds more than the record low average of 25 pounds in 1946.

In Washington's Time
Macaroni was so popular in George Washington's time that the name became a byword for anything good or excellent (as in the old song, "Yankee Doodle" . . . stuck a feather in his hat and called it "macaroni").

SCRIPTURE: Psalms 92; 103; 136:1-9, 25-26.
DEVOTIONAL READING: Psalms 116:1-8, 17-19.

Thank God for God!

Lesson for August 7, 1949

WHILE the little children are thanking God for birds and bees and oatmeal, let us grown people rise and offer some adult thanksgivings. Reading the Psalms of praise which are this week before us, we get the impression that these poets were grateful above all not for anything God had given but for God himself. Thank God for God! sings through every line.

Dr. Foreman

Suppose there were no God? He is the Creator of all; without him nothing else can be. The nature of time and space, of molecule and atom and electron, the mighty power that holds all together; the emergence of life, of mind, the possibility of thought, of values, whatever is and whatever can be, is because he wills it so. That there is energy in the atom, light in the sun, refreshment in the rain and power in the lightning—that these things can be and that anything can be, we thank God.

No Unrighteousness in Him

SUPPOSE God were not good? A vast and vicious devil, his immense mind brimming with intelligence and malice, could perhaps have contrived a universe more enormous than this corner of one which is known to us. A creative devil—what pangs he could have invented to torture his creatures!

It may be, indeed, that only on this earth is there rebellion against the Creator, and that elsewhere in God's dominions all is peace. But suppose it were true that all the evil in the world was ordained by some Creative Hatred?—all the goodness in the world only an illusion, a deception?

Suppose it were the intent of some devilish maker of man finally to destroy all his creatures, or worse still, to make every creature long bitterly for death but find none? Let us thank God for God, the God of mercy whose loving kindness endureth forever.

He Knoweth Our Frame

LET us thank God for his providence. He did not create and then forget us, nor give us so much freedom that we could destroy his majesty or bring to naught his mighty plan. Let us thank God for his infinite love and interest that spares and speeds us, his knowledge of our frame, his remembering even the hairs upon our heads. Let us thank God that being infinite he can have a care for the infinitesimal, and that not a sparrow falls to the ground without our heavenly Father. Let us thank God whose care for us is such that without his knowledge not the least of his creatures can fall asleep.

From death and disaster we and the nation and the world have been saved, time and again. Frail is the craft in which the human spirit is launched through this pathless universe; yet it holds, and will hold, because the universe is there by his almighty decree.

In spite of the chaos of men's unruly wills, in spite of we know not what rebellions in the spirit world, he sees to it that not one good is ever wholly lost.

Who Redeemeth Thy Life

LET US PRAISE God for his promise and for his faithfulness. That he has not left us to our sins nor given us up though long we scorned him; that his divine patience outlasts the hasty heart; that he spared not his own Son but freely gave him for our sakes; that none who come to him will be cast out; that the God who creates is the God who redeems, we praise him from a heart of love. As the Psalmist of old knew himself as one of the children of the Covenant, so may every man who takes God's promises and makes them his heart's own.

To take this God for my God—this is the beginning and the end of religion. To step out on his promises as on a bridge that stands secure above all the floods of eternity.

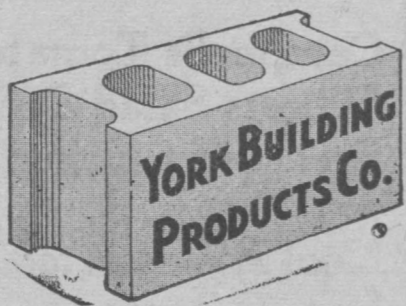

To trust his faithfulness though all the race of man were liars; to look down the vista of the years without fear, knowing that the God of our fathers will be the God of each succeeding race, that his mercy is everlasting to everlasting and that his kingdom ruleth over all—this is to know him, and this is life eternal. Thank God for God!

Wonderful New Comfort

The Beautiful Chrysler | Silver Anniversary Model

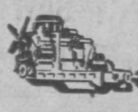

New Yorker 4-door sedan with
PRESTOMATIC FLUID DRIVE* TRANSMISSION
—drive without shifting

New Convenience! Easiest car ever made to get into and out of. Women enter and leave with dignity. Common sense engineering of wider doorways, and natural step-in entrances make it seem absurd ever to have to wrestle your way in and out of a car.

New Wider Chair-Haigh Seats! We don't fold you up like a "jackknife." You sit comfortably in seats the height of your easy chairs at home. We've more headroom, legroom, and shoulder room for you. And no other car has ever been so completely engineered from the fundamentals up for your comfort, your convenience, your peace of mind.

New Easier Steering! In one of the great advances since the war, we give you new "center control" steering. For the first time, tie rods of equal length give you balanced control. There's no wheel fight. There's greater road stability, easier handling, less road shock. Yes, and greater safety, too—for everything about this car is designed for safer driving.

New Smoother Driving! Chrysler's mighty Spitfire engine now has still higher compression for faster acceleration, smoother response. And along with its better all-around performance goes an amazing new Waterproof Ignition System that's exclusive with Chrysler. You can drive through high water but it won't stall. You get quicker starting, even in dampest weather, smoother idling, longer life.

CENSUS OF MARYLAND MANUFACTURES

The U. S. Department of Commerce has just completed sketching Maryland's 1947 industrial profile in various communities and outlined general economic improvement since 1939.

The preliminary studies of the Decennial manufactures census dealing with the Baltimore Metropolitan Area, selected counties and urban places show the state has 2,824 manufacturing establishments, 1,785 of which are in the Baltimore area.

These factories employed an average of 228,552 persons in 1947 and added $1,139,707,000 to the value of the raw products through manufacture. For this effort employees received a total of $612,034,000.

Outstanding progress in increasing the number of industrial establishments was made in Frederick, Washington, Wicomico and Carroll counties. Baltimore City proper and Allegany County showed decreases in the number of establishments.

In the first four counties, production value rose sharply. In Frederick there was an increase in the annual added value from $5,352,000 in 1939 to $12,130,000 in 1947. MARYLAND MUSINGS

Approximately 2,000 people attended events during Southern Maryland Soil Conservation Week.

Swine producers can use pasture and hay crops in their feeding operations. Such forage will result in stronger, healthier sows and pigs and will reduce the amount of grain, protein, supplement and minerals needed.

Dry-cleaners urge us all to search pockets before sending clothes to be cleaned. Lipstick particularly can cause trouble; it, discolors clothes during cleaning.

Run Washer by Clock
Most housewives know from experience that too short washing does not get clothes clean, but many do not realize the disadvantages of over-long washing. Running the machine too long adds unnecessary wear to clothes, wastes electricity, and, if the water is very soiled, may drive the soil into the fabric. The time table for machine washing suggested by the specialists is: two to three minutes for silks, rayons and synthetics; five to 10 minutes for slightly soiled cotton and linen; 10 to 15 minutes for very soiled cotton. If clothes are not clean in 15 minutes, they need hand rubbing of very soiled places or another washing in clean suds.

Serpents gliding on the ground, Everywhere on earth are found From the little garter snake Which in gardens their homes make To the boaconstrictor Which in jungles make their lair All are loathed by mankind Since Adam's days wherein we find The devil in the form of snake From the tree apple did take And to Eve—mother of mankind— Tempted her to pierce the rind Of the apple. She in turn To her lordy man did turn And to him the apple gave. Adam—foolish man—did take Of the forbidden fruit that day And on all mankind did bring Eternal woe that still does cling To all races every where Was this a curse or blessing then Who can say, or where or when? Man bears now a heavy load Greater than the hopping toad. W. J. H.
