Around The Town" column.

A paragraph should have read—
"Last week, Your Observer did this very thing and when I walked into that home of the Composer, Francis Scott Key, I somehow left all else behind me and felt I was living years ago. The atmosphere is truly one of real 'olden times' to every detail. The house was rebuilt about a hundred years ago and the bricks lately had been "pointed up." There were wide deep window sills in the three very large rooms on the first floor where the artistic doors immediately drew my attention. As I stood in the wide centre hallway which separated the living and dining rooms I noticed the electric pulls which were installed. Due to the solid stone walls of the house wall switches could not be installed. Then I faced the huge lawn in front of the house with the monument to Francis Scott Key way out in front so as it could be seen by the visitor from the road. Gazing out, thought of Washington's Home in Mt. Vernon. All my life, I have wanted and desired to visit such an old home. As I walked from room to room I actually felt as though the original dwellers would arise to greet me! The front door was charming with its original quaint lock and large solid-brass key which was still in operation. The outside kitchen was then shown to me where all the canning and preserving is done."

SOCIETIES MEET AT PINEY CREEK SOCIAL HALL

As has been the custom for a number of years the August meeting of the Piney Creek and Taneytown Presbyterian Missionary Societies has been in the interest of the work done for hospitals—"overseas." On Wednesday, August 10th, one of the hottest days we ever experienced, 60 or more valiant women, with some husbands and children, came to the Social Hall at Piney Creek and enjoyed the very delicious supper. The Emmitsburg part of the parish augmented by guests from Washington, D. C., fellowshipped with us.

The feature of the evening was the lovely picture of our "Home for the Aged" at Towson, Md., showing the house from all angles; the beautiful gardens at all four seasons, the interor and also some of the inmates. Six of whom are over 90 years. The pictures were shown by Mr. Dix, of Charges la Roland Park Church, Baltimore. Mrs. Dix, a member of the board of managers, told of the problems and pleasures incident to her office. Miss Alice Jones, daughter of Rev. Mr. Wynne Jones—one of the well known Presbyterians of days of yore, was one of the Baltimore guests

St. Paul's Sunday School, Harney, operative and members served by Wilbur L. Reifsnider, Taneytown, Md., cooperative Agency, the meeting will be presided over by David Hess, chairman of the local Southern States Advisory Roard people including men, women and children of all ages from Mt. Joy, Keysville and people from our own local church.

We were very fortunate to have two modern busses owned and operated by Mr. Harvey Leister, Westminster, Md. He exercised the best of care and comfort all the way to Baltimore. He is not only a skillful property of hyperse but also a fine operator of busses but also a fine christian man.

On our way to Baltimore people seemed to be still sleepy but when we came to those fine one-way streets we became very much alive and ready to see houses, people, and most of all those big boats that bring comfort to thousands of people during the summer months of each year.

We arrived in Baltimore about 9:05 A. M. giving ourselves plenty of time to survey the water front. Al-most in front of the pier owned and operated by the Tolchester Steamship Co. stood a large building on the opposite side of the street, which is known as The Spice and Vanilla Factory. We should all know that Baltimore is the gate-way to the South, and in order to preserve food in the South more spices are consumed.

Our committee in charge of the excursion went to work as soon as we arrived to purchase tickets for all in our company, and all that was with us and many more people from the other localities went on board.

When the hands on the wharf clock came to 9:30 A. M., the large whistle blew, and it was not long until we were "cruising down the river on a Saturday morning," with seven hun-dred and fifty-one passengers. It was our pleasure to ride for the first time on the Tolchester boat. This boat holds 22,000 people. It is 210 feet long, 86 ft. wide and has a 1250 horse power motor run by

I personally was glad as we went down the Chesapeake Bay to focus my eyes on a number of Historical spots, such as Fort McHenry, Fort Carroll, Sparrows Point, The Maryland Dry Docks and last but not least The Old Ice boat La-Trabi owned and operated by Baltimore City for many than anyone on board.

We travelled 27½ miles one way on the boat and it is in operation every day from June 10 to Labor

Day. We arrived back in Baltimore about 5 o'clock and it was no time until all were safe in our busses sailing for home sweet home, singing on our way the songs we learned by memory back in the old Sunday

LIONS CLUB MEMBERS ATTEND AMERICAN LEAGUE BALL GAME

In place of the regular meeting of the Taneytown Lions Club last Tuesday evening, 23 of the members left by auto about six o'clock and toured to Washington where they witnessed the night baseball game between the Washington Senators and the Philadelphia Athletics. The game was interesting and ended with a score of 8 to 3 in favor of Philadelphia. Even though it was a rather warm evening it is reported that all who attended enjoyed the game as well as the trip.

Our next meeting will be held at 6:29 P. M., Tuesday, August 23rd at the Taney Inn, and will be in charge of the Club's Health and Welfare Committee.

Remember way back when it was the biggest thing to go to Niagara Falls on a Honeymoon? Although, many still go on such an important trip, it isn't as it was in those years due to so many other places to hon-eymoon. The time, I visited this famous place was the first and last time and although it is wonderful to see, I have no desire to visit there again. After walking around through the park and viewing the Rapids, we took an elevator which is 140 feet underground and is actually run by the power of the Falls. We ventured the trip in the little boat called, "Maid of The Mist" first bematching hats which appeared like the Klu Klux outfit used in "The Birth of a Nation." We went on upper deck to get a good view of the American Falls and the Horse Shoe Falls which is an inspiring sight in itself. One can't describe this marvelous sight and do it justice. We appreciated its beauty from various viewpoints before going on lower deck. The constant rush and roar of the Falls and Papids was actually the Falls and Rapids was actually terrorizing and inspiring. Return-ing, the boat landed to discharge a few passengers on the Canadian side who were English subjects. The rubber outfits surely came in handy as we were wet from head to toe on account of the force of the Falls. Returning to land, we were again taken up in the elevator. We boarded a bus which drove around the park to Goat Island, Cave of The Winds, Three Sister Islands, Canadian Falls and Niagara River. That was what everyone called a thrill of a lifetime "Coire to Nicesor Falls!"

'Going to Niagara Falls!' How many times have you said, "It was a lovely party and all the guests so nice" That is just what your Observer found in visiting, "The Village Store" over in Detour Satur-day evening two weeks ago. DOG DAYS

Dog days are here and sultry weather seems to be the order of the day. St. Swithin's Day came in with showers, and according to legend we will have forty days of rain. Well so far there have been showers, but no real downpour but we have thirty days remaining for the old saint to make good. Personally I don't believe very strongly in these old saws of our grandmothers.

August is a good month usually with warm days and cool nights. Besides don't it bring us roasting ears, and what is better than that! Fruit of all kind is ripening on the trees. Harvest time is over and threshing season is here.

After all this old world of ours is a pretty good place in which to live, and best of all this good old U.S. A. is the finest place in which to

A SPIDER IN THE PAPER

Many years ago Mark Twain was editor of a small-town newspaper. A reader wrote in saying that he had found a spider in his paper, and wanted to know if that was an omen of good or bad luck. Mark Twain answered: "Finding a spider in your newspaper is netiher good nor bad The snider was merely looking over our paper to see which merchant was not advertising so he could go to that store, spin his web across the door and lead a life of undisturbed peace ever afterward."

Retailing has come a long way since those days, and the art of advertising has undergone great development. And advertising, by stores or any other kind of business, is a typical outgrowth of the competitive system. It is the best possible means of reaching the people who want goods and services, of urging the merits of one brand as against another, and of encouraging the consumer to go to some particular retail outlet. That it benefits the consumer goes without saying. No storekeeper could long charge an excessive price with pompetitors offering in print the same or an equivalent product at a lower price. And deceptive advertising always defeats its own purpose. The wise merchant advertises aggressively, but he bases his story on appeal, not lfiction.

The growth of the chain systems did much to encourage retail advertising. The chains advertised their merits in the search for trade-and the independents did the same thing in order to hold and to expand their own business. This was good for all concerned—consumers, stores and newspapers. Salesmanship is a driving force in keeping the American economy running. Advertising is the heart of it. -Industrial News Review.

SOCIALIZED HOUSING

At long last, thanks to the lethargy and "I don't believe it will happen here" attitude of the average uninformed American and businessmen in particular, the government's social planners have their foot in the door of our private lives by reason of the bitterly fought, recently passed, subsidized, socialized housing bill.

No greater calamity could have befallen the Nation. It marks the KOONS FLORIST first premeditated step toward the despised obnoxious welfare state, where men can no longer be free men but only servants of bureaucratic government. It marks the begingovernment. It marks the beginning of a breakdown in our moral fibre,-a gradual sapping of our strength and independence-a slow but sure way down the road to economic and spiritual bankruptcy. And to what poor purpose?

Untold billions will be spent for the wrong kind of housing over the next few years. No one can figure or even guess anywhere near what the cost will be in dollars-to say nothing of the demoralizing effect of such a one-sided, share-the-wealth program of helping those few who won't help themselves at the expense oi the many, courageous, thrifty individuals and businesses who have contributed so much towards building and keeping America strong!

This something-or-nothing philosophy has ruined many nations in the past. It has caused the decline and decay of great peoples in other ages and countries. God grant that we in America awaken to our individual responsibilities before it is too late and that we make the necessary effort and personal sacrifices to keep our freedom and our free enterprise system intact.

This blank-check housing bill should never have been passed. In the final recorded vote, the majority for the bill was only 5 votes! If every business man had done his duty and protested this terrific tax burden which has been forced down the taxpayers' throats, it never would have passed. But somehow or other, lazy, short-sighted top-management has been so busy playing busy that they won't even turn on the water when their own house is burning down.

How long can this situation go on? And what must be done to shock people into a realization that government can't go on spending and spending and spending and taxing and taxing and taxing without eventually collapsing-economically, spiritually, and completely? You be the judge. You make the decision.-Robert A Jones, Editor of Plan.

Confused About Appliance Prices?

The Message May Help You

In terms of quality and new worksaving conveniences, leading electric appliances like our own Hotpoint Refrigerators, Ranges, Dishwashers and other products are far superior to prewar models.

But that's only the haif of it! In terms of today's cost of living and the price increases of other commodities such as automobiles and houses, our 1949 Hotpoint Appliances actually cost a lot less than the corresponding models of 10 years ago.

For example, you can buy a new Hotpoint Refrigerator now for just $189.75—only $10 more than the comparable 1939 model, which gave you far fewer advantages. When you stop to think that the dollar today is worth only 60 per cent of what it was ten years ago, you can readily see how low appliance prices really are now.

The appliance industry has done a great job of building new and better products, while still maintaining the low prices you want. Hotpoint, for example, has accomplished this by careful planning—having completed the industry's greatest postwar expansion program to provide for more efficient production facilities.

Because you get record quality at such low cost, we can say sincerely that now is the time to buy an appliance. In the making your selection, however, be sure to look them all over, compare values and ask your friends who know from experience.

We think you'll choose Hotpoint, because we honestly believe that these appliances are as fine as technical facilities and human skill can produce—and priced as low as any other make of comparable quality.

We invite you to inspect the latest models and see why we say you can "Look to Hotpoint for the Finest—First"—why you can get the greatest dollar-for-dollar values ever of-fered—right now!

As if we didn't have enough trouble along comes "Look" Magazine and threatens us with more women then We're going to know what to do with. The article forecasts that 8 million women in the United States are not going to find husbands. The worst part is that these women are not going to be content without husbands and are going to beg, borrow or steal one that belongs to someone else. The result of this may be men so pampered and spoiled by being fought over that they won't be worth having. So men, don't get any ideas of leading a soft life at the women's expense. You might end up by wishing for an island in the Pacific where the word "female" has never been heard of.

AROUND THE TOWN

(Continued from First Page) I understand is loved by all Detour and quite an accomplished pianist. It was interesting to see all the cars parked on each side of the road of that little Village and then the interest of all as they continued to play, "Bingo". Never have I been in any store which held as large a stock of just about every thing that is need-The proprietor is of the very highest type and such a young man, too! He appears as a most classical scholar. Here's best wishes for the health of his little wife and may "The Village Store" continue with the Saturday evening parties which are enjoyed by all! Now here's to the executive of the State Roads and which I have been wanting to mention for some columns back. Each time I drive over the Detour Road from the 71 Highway meeting so many hills on that road, a number of times, it could have been a "head on collision"! There are no warning signs whatsoever and many cars drive toward the middle of the narrow road. Please do something, Mr. Executive before it is too late! Each time, I drive to Detour, I blow the horn of old Lincoln going over those hills and I am thankful that I have done so a number of times especially meeting cars that do not or have not traveled that road before.

You have done wonders for the 71 Highway and I wonder if you really are aware of the accidents that have been decreased right in front of "Loves' Retreat". It used to be a regular nightmare with the impacts of the cars perhaps never being even reported settling it between selves but all that has been eliminated since you have seen to it and given the excellent care and service on the entire road with the arrow signs, cutting the tall weeds and the deep colored markings on the road halves!

Many along the Highway can say,
"Thank you" as well as I.
The most beautiful, large and heaviest head of cabbage came from the garden of "Loves' Retreat" that Your Observer has ever seen. Am sure it would have taken first prize anywhere! Now, that was a clever idea of a store "Around Our Town" to offer to sharpen three knives of any family just by bringing them into the

Did you know that the home of Mary Young Pickersgill in Baltimore whose Mother, Rebecca Young had made the first flag accepted by George Washington? It was here that the great flag was made that flew over Fort McHenry—a banner measuring 30 by about 42 feet with 15 red and white stripes which known as The Flag House—the birth-place of the banner that inspired Francis Scott Key. Civic interest brought about the purchase of the Flag House as it is known today and is dedicated as a museum and shrine which took place in 1928. Have you visited Taneytown recreation park? Take the children ann make a day of it and at the same time it will give you a rest and change from the everyday routine. Yet you won't have to drive to the big city for it all as you did years ago. The children will be thrilled. That Soldier boy is surely having a grand time out California way from "Around The Town". Best wishes! What next? There will be "music while you ride" in the busses in the big city beginning this week. Just 60 busses will carry them—a variety of news, music, sports, results, weather reports, time signals and special events! The hours will be from 7 A. M. to 7 P. M. so if that employee listening to the "SPORTS" comes so interested that he may ride beyond his destination for workthe employer will have to lay the blame to the Baltimore Transit Co! So long, Folks. Will be seeing you next week. Have a grand week-end.

Much History Made In July And August

More history seems to have been made during July and August than during any other two months in the calendar, judging from this chron-ology of historical dates and data of big, little and no significance:

Saturday, July 2-Continental Congress passed resolution, offered by Richard Henry Lee, declaring the United States to be independent, Monday, July 4-Declaration of Independence, penned by Thomas Jefferson, adopted by Continental Congress, 1776. Bank holiday in every state of the Union and in the District of Columbia, Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, Virgin Islands, Guatemala, Nicaragua and Panama Canal Zone.

Saturday, July 9-Independence Day-for Argentina, that is. Sunday, July 10-Bastille Day in France, a national holiday celebrating storming of the Bastille, 1789. Thursday, July 21—Belgian Independence Day, marking separation of Belgium and Holland, 1831. Monday, July 25—Netherlands declare independence from Spain, Tuesday, July 26-New York admitted to Union, 1788.

Thursday, July 28-Gen. San Martin declares Peru's independence from Spain.

Monday, August 1—Swiss Independence Day. Friday, August 5-First atomic bomb dropped on Hiroshima, population 343,000, on this date in 1945 by U. S. air force. A second bomb was dropped five days later, on Nagasaki, population 243,000. Saturday, August 6-Bolivia's Independence Day, a holiday celebrating partition from Peru in 1825. Wednesday, August 10-Independence Day in Ecuador, marking first action for independence from Spain, 1809. Sunday, August 14-Victory Day, marking surrender of Japanese to Allies, 1945.

Monday, August 29-Brigham Young dies at Salt Lake City, 1877, leaving 17 widows and 47 children.

LEST WE FORGET . . . Ro member this grim giant mushroom, grotesque against the sky? You first saw this now familiar spectacle in your newspapers shortly after the first atomic bomb was dropped on Hiroshima (population 343,000) three years ago Friday, August 5, by the U.S. air force. Five days later a second bomb was dropped on Japan, this time on Nagasaki (population 243,000), marking the end of the bloodiest war in history.

'Woman' Fire Eater Unmasked, Revealed As Fugitive G. I.

BURTONWOOD AIR BASE, ENG-LAND .- Donna, the "woman" fire eater whose act has been wowing British vaudeville audiences for the last three years, has been unmasked as an American GI deserter from Philadelphia.

United States army authorities said "Donna Delbert" of the English stage confessed "she" actually is Pfc. Delbert E. Hill of Philadelphia.

The rouged, beskirted Hill was arrested in a theatrical boarding house in Newcastle, England, and turned over to army authorities on charges of wartime desertion.

Hill told military police he went AWOL from his air force ground job in the summer of 1945, fearing he soon would be transferred to the Pacific theater for further war service.

It was a tip from a jealous girl friend that led to Hill's arrest. He was wearing a woman's blouse, slacks, nylons and shoes when taken into custody.

.Police seized his female padding. They left behind three ducks which were part of his stage act.

At the Burtonwood base an army barber trimmed his shoulder length curly brunet locks to army specifications and shaved a day's growth of dark stubble.

The army also provided him with a green fatigue uniform and army brogans before locking him in a guardhouse cell. But he still sported plucked eyebrows and dainty, painted fingernails.

Brigade of Firemen Get Hefty Heifer From Well

CHILWORTH, ENGLAND. -Myrtle, a hefty heifer, fell into a cistern. It took a brigade of fireman to get her out. Norman Ashworth was leading her across his farmyard to a truck. Myrtle was bound for market to become beef.

Her path crossed the cistern cover. She stepped on it. Her hind legs slipped through. The rest of her followed gradually. And there was Myrtle wearing the cistern like a girdle.

She was standing upright in several feet of water. Only her head was above the surface. Ashworth called the Surrey fire brigade. The firemen put a rope around Myrtle and pulled. The firemen pumped out the water. They dug a shaft alongside the cistern and tore down one wall. They put two sets of ropes on Myrtle and eased her out a hundredweight or so at a Mrs. Ashworth looked fondly at the unperturbed Myrtle. "This has so endeared her to us," Mrs. Ashworth told reporters, "that we probably won't sell her at all."

Magician's Spirit Fails Again to Manifest Self

COLUMBUS, OHIO.—The spirit of Howard Thurston failed for the 11th time to manifest itself to a long-time friend of the famed magician. Claude Noble, Detroit, stood for one minute in the mausoleum where the body of Thurston lies and waited for the spirit of the magician to re-

As two newspapermen watched in silence. Noble stepped into the mausoleum at 12:30 p.m., recited the Lord's Prayer, and said:

"Howard Thurston, I am here in response to our pact. If you can manifest yourself to me, do it now." He then held aloft a photograph of Carveth Wells, explorer and friend of the sleight-of-hand artist who died in Miami at 12:30 p.m.

13 years ago. Under the pact made between Thurston and Noble before the magician's death, the spirit of Thurston would have knocked the picture out of Noble's hand. But today nothing happened—just as nothing had happened in the 10 previous at-

Noble silently left the building and walked through the rain to an automobile.

Noble, who missed the date in 1947 and 1948 because of illness, said he would return next year to make another attempt. He said that should he die, the experiment will be continued either by Wells or magician Howard Blackstone.

Lazy Mothers Blamed For Bugs Bunny Faces

LOS ANGELES .- Mother, do you want your child to grow up to look like Bugs Bunny? It's happening, says a University of California professor. Dr. George W. Hahn told a meeting of 4,000 California dentists that laziness of modern mothers was producing more children with rabbitlike faces. Too many mothers, he said, like to sleep. They shove baby's feeding schedules too far apart.

"Like any other mammal, a child wants to nurse when hungry. If he can't nurse his mother, he sucks his thumb."

Thumb sucking, the doctor said, causes protruding teeth and facial deformity so that junior looks something like a rabbit.

That Old Mr. Crane

By ANNA E. WILSON

OLD MR. CRANE sat in a paded armchair before the fire in his room. The pipe and tobacco on the table beside him went untouched. Old Mrs. Cranston had given him the pipe and tobacco, the armchair and the basement room. In return he tended the furnace and sometimes swept the Old Mr. Crane began to think about himself as he'd have liked to have been. He - Minute might dream that he'd had a fine Fiction father and mother, maybe a doctor and a teacher. Someone whose money came in regular and who'd have seen that he got educated; who could have found what he was suited to and maybe given him a start. He'd have married, well, someone like Alda Rich, who used ride her bicycle past his father's house and who sometimes stopped to speak to him. Alda was Dr. Rich's daughter and spoke to everybody. A nice girl, not stuck-

The children would have been like Alda, too. Two boys and two girls. He'd have called the elder girl Alda and one of the boys for himself, Milton Crane, Jr. People would have written it that way when letters. He'd seen it that way when he'd carried in the mail for old Dr. Rich that summer when he mowed lawns for his keep. Dr. Rich had given him many a stray quarter on

"Seems as if such a rich country should be able to give you a better chance, son." Young as he was, he felt something both sorrowful and angry in the doctor's voice.

After Algy, the smallest, got pneumonia and died, their father had failed. He and Sam had quit school and gone to work, he himself into the grocery business. But he drifted from job to job. Sam put it in words, "It's not that you don't mean right or that you're lazy, but it seems like you have got to be moving." Sam had always been good to him just the same as he had been good to Dad. Sam was dead now. He'd felt bad when Sam

He'd moved around just as Sam said, and when he was young and strong, he'd managed pretty wellharvesting, lumbering, sailing once on a boat. It's a life that's hard on a man, having no proper comforts. Once Sam had come out to visit him. 'You're getting no younger. Maybe you should think of marrying and settling down.'

IN THE end, he'd had to help out Sam. It hadn't been much he'd had to give Sally when Sam died, but until Sam's boy grew up, he'd stayed at that elevator and worked hard. Sally'd asked him to come and live with them, but Sally had a nice house and, after knocking around all over, a man gets kind of rough. It wouldn't have been fitting, and he'd always tried to do what was fitting.

It was in the hospital that Mrs. Cranston found him. She'd given him the room and the chair and yesterday she'd given him the to-bacco and the pipe, although the furnace was black out.

"Never mind the furnace," she'd said, "We'll get someone to look after that —just rest."

She knew. She was his kind. They must have told her that he hadn't long to go. It was nice here, dreaming of Alda by the fire, and, maybe, a kid or two, though he'd known well, it wasn't fitting for him to be looking at Alda Rich after her father died.

He must have fallen asleep and been talking again for old Mrs. Cranston, who had been Alda Rich, came in. She was bolding a glass and there were tears in ber voice when she spoke.

Italian Children Aided by U.N.

A young street musician plays to a cafe on a Naples piazza, while his crippled "partner" collects the money. Sights such as this one are common in postwar Italy, where lack of proper food and treatment is turning many youngsters into professional beggars. To counteract this situation, the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund (UNICEF) is now providing meals, clothing and medicine to almost 1,000,000 children and expectant mothers. UNI-CEF is also inoculating millions of Italians against tuberculosis.

Singing Holidays

Lesson for August 14, 1949

IF A CITIZEN of the U.S.A observed all the holidays that are officially counted as legal, somewhere in his wide country, he would have 43 days off every year. Holidays are a national habit in all countries. Not content with what the law gives us, we take our personal vacations besides. But how many holidays do we sing about? (One might even Dr. Foreman dare to ask, how many are worth singing about?) In the United States, there are known to this writer no New Year songs, none for Decoration day or Labor day, none for Armistice day, none for the various birthdays celebrated hither and yon. (Who ever heard of a song to commemorate Thomas Jefferson?) We may not even sing on our personal vacations, we are too busy working up a suntan. On the other hand, we could hardly think of Independence day, Thanksgiving, Christmas and Easter without being reminded of the songs that go with them-The Star Spangled Banner or America the Beautiful for the Fourth of July, Now Thank We All Our God in November, and all the Christmas and Easter carols.

God and Country

TT looks as if some kinds of holidays produce songs and others don't. It appears to be a general If the holiday is specially patriotic or religious, then people sing; otherwise they don't. God and country, in short, arouse emotion and enthusiasm which (for example) the memory even of a great man like Jefferson, or the planting of a tree, does not. This is generally true throughout the world. It was true in ancient Israel, for many of the Psalms are holiday hymns, festival songs. Some years ago a religious denomination issued a new hymn book. One minister roundly denounced the book because it had introduced a few patriotic hymns. "My Country, 'tis of Thee" has no place in public worship, he said.

If that man had been a closer student of the Psalms, he would not have made such a criticism. Most patriotic hymns are really prayers for one's native land; Psalms 105 and 106 are only two of a number of Psalms which are in the best sense of the word patriotic.

If the reader will look through the Psalms for himself, noting all the references to God and to Israel, remembering that Israel was the name of the poet's country, he will be convinced that in those times as in these, love for God and love for country are singable. . . .

Hallelujah

OUR word "Hallelujah" is Hebrew, and comes from the Psalms. It means "Praise ye the Lord!" Incidentally, it is a religious word, and should not be used, as it so often is, irreverently or lightly. Psalms 111-118 in our Bible were sung as a group, and called the Hallel, or the Praise. The Hallel was sung regularly at the three great holiday festivals: Passover (near our Easter time), Pentecost (in early summer, ancestor of our Whitsunday), and Tabernacles (in the fall).

When our Lord had his "Last Supper" he and his friends would sing these very Psalms. The "hymn" they sang before they went out was very probably the latter part of this group, 116-118, always sung at the end of the Passover meal.

The note of praise in these Psalms is very strong. They are not in a minor key.

Parodies

SAD FACT today is that the un-Christian world, which does not understand religion at all, has taken over our religious holidays but leaves the religion out. The result is a parody, something without rhyme or reason. Take a look, next winter, at Christmas greeting cards for sale. You will find scotty pups, all sorts of things, more easily than you will find true Christmas messages.

For people who are not Christians, Christmas is only Xmas, a time for exchanging useless presents, a time for shopkeepers to make money.

And as for Easter, there are cities where the big items are only the bunnies and the parade, neither of which has the slightest thing to do with the real Easter. (Copyright by the International Cou of Relicious Education on behalf of Protestant denominations. Released WNU Features)

Average Man Works Half as Much Now To Clothe Family

NEW YORK .- The average man works only half as hard today to clothe his family as he did in 1914. The national industrial conference board, an independent factfinding organization, in a survey found the working man in 1948 spent the equivalent of less than five hours' work a week to buy clothes for his family whereas he had to work more than nine hours a week in 1914 to get the money.

"The purchasing value of the wage earners' clothing dollar has more than doubled over the 34-year period," said the board. "The threefold rise in clothing prices has been overshadowed by the sixfold increase in wages over the hourly rate of 25 cents in 1914.

"The wage earner could in 1948 outfit himself with an overcoat, gloves, hat, suit, shirt, socks, and shoes and pay the bill by working

"The 1914 wage earner would have had to work 153 hours for the same outfit."

On the same scale, a woman's hat cost one and a half hours work in 1948 and four hours in 1914.

Two factors in the cost difference were pointed out. The average family size in 1914 was 4.88 persons compared with 3.61 persons last wear. But the board found the modern family buys a greater variety and larger amounts of clothing, with the increase in personal consumption amounting to almost 50 per cent in the 34 years.

Furthermore the expenditures for heavy clothing has declined in the period because of advances in home heating and travel in auto-

In the past 34 years, woman have taken over a larger and larger share of the clothing dollar, the board found. In 1914 the man spent than he permitted his wife to spend.
But today, the woman spends 30 per cent more for her outfits than her husband does for his.

Cads Invade Britain To Get Free Dentures

LONDON .- The house of commons got its teeth into a touchy

Are aliens coming over in waves to get free British dentures? Sir Waldron Smithers, 63-year-old Conservative, was the first to bare his uppers. He called the house's attention to a government leaflet which he said offered medical, dental, and nursing care to visitors to Britain under the national health services act. Sir Waldron wanted to know if "I have all sorts of letters of people coming here and getting spectacles and false teeth and going to Antwerp and selling them," he Sir Waldron added that a French doctor told him many of his patients who could afford the fare came to Britain for free treatment and that French doctors were "having a bad time as a result.' All this, he said bitingly, is "part of the Socialist technique of telling the whole world that the Socialist government of England would give free this and that at a time when we were living on the charity of America.

Arthur Blenkinsop, parliamentary secretary for the minister of health, said Sir Waldron's fears "about an invasion of our shores by people who want false teeth and spectacles are a figment of the imagination.'

Hypnotism May Be Used To Lessen Dentist Fear

TROY, ALA.—Soon you may be able to believe that "painless dentist" sign.

Some 35 southeast Alabama dentists learned how it was cone when Dr. James Fraser, head of the Troy State Teachers college chemistry department, hypnotized a patient before he had a tooth

"Didn't feel a thing," said George Hattaway, who agreed to the experiment. "And I needed the thing pulled anyway.' Dr. Fraser is a student of psychology and hypnosis and has suggested the use of hypnosis as an anesthetic for dentists.
