WORLD-WIDE COMMUNION

This Sunday the Christian world will be brought just a bit closer together as the tenth annual observance of world-wide Communion takes place. Every Christian, whether he is Evangelical and Reformed, Lutheran, Presbyterian, United Brethren, Methodist, Episcopalian, or any other denomination, should avail himself of the opportunity of uniting with Christians in Canada, Europe, Asia, South America, Australia, and New Zealand in partaking of Christ's broken body and shed blood with the hope that the influence of an humble child of God 2,000 years ago may penetrate the hearts and spirits of the children in God's world today, so peace, happiness, contentment and love may reign supremely as the lasting spirit of Jesus Christ. So go to the church of your choice and enjoy the great sacrament of the Holy Communion.

EXTENSIVE TRIP

IS DESCRIBED

Second Installment of Write-Up Telling of Points Visited

Asti, California, in Sonoma Valley, is the center of the grape and wine industry. The Italian Swiss Colony Winery, is located here. The grape used here have been imported from the European countries vineyards and grow here without irrigation. The grapes are trimmed short and look like a bush and will bear for 75 to 100 years. We traveled for hundred of miles through these vineyards.

From this fertile valley we went across the Golden Gate Bridge, the world's tallest and longest suspension bridge, then into San Francisco, with its high hills, beautiful colored pink, blue, red, yellow and white stucco homes and high wind. We crossed over to Oakland on the Oakland Bay Bridge, from either of these bridges can be seen Alcatraz prison in San Francisco Bay.

After leaving Oakland you enter the Sacramento Valley, here are the great packing houses of Heinz, Hunt, Campbell's and Del Monte Co. This valley is very productive, but has to be irrigated.

On arriving at Yosemite Park we found it very dry and dusty. In spring it is beautiful, when there is plentiful water, but there were no falls to see, so we stayed only a few hours.

On the road to Bakersfield we traveled with temperatures ranging from 121° to 128° hotter than any of the deserts we crossed.

We spent a few days in Long Beach with my niece, who took us into Los Angeles to see the movie colonies, the famous restaurants and Griffiths Planetarium which is on a high hill overlooking the city.

In Glendale we went to Forest Lawn Cemetery and found it more beautiful than before. New gardens were being made around the statues of The Christus, St. John, David and The Mystery of Life.

The Christus Statue was crated and ready for shipment when the war broke out in Italy, the underground Christians smuggled it away and no one knew its whereabouts till after the war, then it was brought to Forest Lawn. This is an exact replica of the De Vinci original painting and sculptured by Michelangelo. To receive the greatest blessing is to kneel at the feet of Jesus and look into the depth of his eyes.

The Garden of The Mystery of Life tells the story of mother love in statues. Different statues portray Mother and Child, Mother's Kiss, Mother's Love, Mother's Caress and Mother's Fortitude and Prayer. In Forest Lawn are three Churches, no-sectarian, ministering to all creeds, they are regularly dedicated churches.

The Little Church of The Flowers derives its name from the masses of flowers which grow the year around in recess on either side of the nave. Amidst the ferns and blossoms, song birds tell songs as the church organ peals forth and the words of the minister are heard.

The Church of The Recessional was built as a sacred memorial to the message of Rudyard Kipling's famous poem from which the church takes its name.

The Wee Kirk o' The Heather is a reconstruction of the church in Scotland where Annie Laurie worshipped. Memories of Annie Laurie and the love song which bears her name live on in this church. Here in the fore court stands the Wishing Chair, built from stones, which formed a part of the original church in Scotland. Tradition tells us that good fortune will forever smile upon the bride and bride groom who sit in the

LIONS CLUB NEWS

Plans Presented for Fund Raising

Assembled at the Taney Inn the Taneytown Lions Club met in regular session last Tuesday evening with 1st Vice-Pres., Robert Feeser, presiding. Invocation was offered by Rev. Edmund P. Welker. While Singleton Remsburg led the group singing with Harry I. Reindollar as accompanist, Tail Twister James Fiskus made himself quite noticeable (to the sorrow of everyone else) as he is the fellow whose word is law and is always taking full advantage of his authority by imposing a fine on any member he catches not singing, speaking out of turn or with his hair not in place.

Preceding a report from Secretary-Treasurer, Rev. Welker introduced as his guest the Rev. Morgan W. R. Andreas, Pastor of the Grace Reformed Church. Vice-President Feeser brought before the club, for a vote, the decision from the Board of Directors which was a plan whereby necessary funds may be provided for sending at least four delegates to our District Convention each year. Lion Feeser also reminded the club of the three-fold contest among the clubs in our District—namely, Membership, Attendance and Visitation. It is hoped that our club will lead all clubs in all three of these contests for the current fiscal year.

Lion Merle Ohler gave a few brief remarks concerning his recent trip to the West Coast and promised to give the club an illustration in pictures of the entire trip in the near future.

Charles Eckard, Chairman of the Attendance Committee, gave a short talk on the importance of 100% attendance at all meetings.

Annual Banquet of Chamber of Commerce to be Held November 17

The Taneytown Chamber of Commerce held its first fall meeting last Monday night in the town hall, after the summer vacation. In the absence of President Fuss who was detained and arrived later, Vice-President, David Smith took the chair and called on Sam Breth to act in place of the absent secretary.

After the opening business session, Rev. Charles S. Owen was presented as speaker. He gave an extensive travelogue on the Southern Highlands which he visited last month with his family. In response to some requests to have the travelogue carried in the local paper it will be given in installments beginning next week.

A letter was read from Mrs. Anna Cunningham, of Westminster appealing to the Chamber for help in stopping the dumping of rubbish on her property along Middleburg road. As the matter was not within the jurisdiction of this body, no action was taken.

On motion it was voted to hold the annual banquet, November 17 was set as the tentative date. The Executive committee was designated to make plans thereto concerning arrangements, banquet and program. Early in the year cards were sent out to every member to ascertain the type and program of the banquet desired. The conclusion of that survey will be incorporated in the new plans this year for the annual banquet which is always one of the biggest social events coming to the community.

It was emphasized that the bottleneck last year whereby the food supply did not reach everyone adequately, will not occur again. That there will be abundant food for all and equitably distributed to each one. That the experience gained from last year's mistakes, will result in still better service hereafter. Therefore one of the best served banquets on record is anticipated this fall.

In view of the forth coming banquet, before which the Chamber membership is renewed, the following membership committee was appointed: Sam Breth, Harry Dougherty, Raymond Perry, Clarence Stonesifer, Charles Cashman, W. E. Ritter, Carroll Wantz, Leonard Gartrell, Wallace Reindollar and C. G. Bowers.

Edward Reid showed by means of a stereopticon machine, some interesting pictures which he took on the annual boat trip to Betterton last summer. They included scenic views of Baltimore Harbor and vicinity as well as imposing photographs, taken unawares of some of the dignitaries in the party.

On motion the Chamber adjourned to Central Hotel where refreshments were served in such generous fashion that some remarked that we get back from the Chamber of Commerce more than the equivalent of the annual dues we pay.

Smooth, well-developed feathers, a well-fleshed body, plenty of yellow pigment in beak and shanks and a snappy prominent eye are indications of a healthy pullet. Thin, pale birds should be culled.

Fire Prevention Week has been set for October 9 to 15 this year.

Keeping the coulter blade sharp and properly adjusted will improve coulter operation.

Late blight has been found in commercial tomato fields. Growers north of Baltimore and Washington who expect further pickings from their fields should spray.

TRINITY LUTHERAN CHURCH BUILDING FUND CAMPAIGN

According to a news release given by the council of Trinity Lutheran Church, Taneytown, the current $50,000 anniversary appeal for the building fund is receiving enthusiastic support. For nearly two decades this church has been studying the possibility of a building program to meet the needs of a seriously overcrowded Sunday School. During that time the death of a Pastor and a world war with its accompanying economic upheaval impeded progress. Now with plans under way for an appropriate recognition of two hundred years of congregational life, to be noted in 1950, the congregation voted to set the sum of $50,000 as a minimum goal for an anniversary contribution to the building fund.

During the first week of the present campaign a substantial amount of the campaign goal was pledged with a great many remaining who have not yet had opportunity to submit their pledges. Old and young alike have arisen in this united effort. Children are beginning to fill in their pledge cards with as much enthusiasm as the older folk. A number of out-of-town members have written requesting that pledge cards be mailed to them. Not since the building program of 1897 has such general and wide-spread interest been shown. The program is recognized as a big undertaking but the people are accepting it with determination and a spirit of gratitude for a church with nearly two centuries of active congregational life. This will be the fifth major building program in less than a century and a half. The date for construction to start will be determined by congregational vote after an established fraction of the total cost is at hand and a detailed study of immediate needs is completed.

Appreciation is expressed for the interest shown in this project by the community in general and for the contributions received from non-members.

THEODORE MCKELDIN TO SPEAK HERE

The annual Sunday School Rally Day Service of the Taneytown District, will be held in the Reformed Church on Sunday, October 9, at 7:30 p. m. This service, including the Sunday Schools of the district, promises to be one of the biggest on record.

One of the outstanding features of the occasion will be the address by the incomparable Theodore McKeldin, former Mayor of Baltimore. Mr. McKeldin who has been to Taneytown many times is a widely recognized popular speaker who draws large audiences everywhere. The executive committee is to be commended for the ambitious undertaking of bringing Mr. McKeldin to the churches of Taneytown for the first time.

Another outstanding feature of the Rally this year, will be the presence of the Hood College Choir for the first time in Taneytown. This distinguished choir will give a number of musical selections. Everyone is looking forward with great anticipation to the pleasure of hearing this part of the program.

The attendance banner, won last year by the Piney Creek Church of the Brethren, will be awarded to the Sunday School in the district reporting the highest percentage of attendance of enrolled pupils during the past year.

The new pastor of the Reformed Church in which the Rally is to be held, the Rev. Morgan Andreas, will preside and conduct the program. October 9 is the big day, and 7:30 is the big hour, only a week from next Sunday.

The Church Schools cooperating in the Rally are Taneytown E. U. B., Keysville Lutheran, Keysville Reformed, Taneytown Presbyterian, Piney Creek Presbyterian, Piney Creek Church of the Brethren, Grace Reformed and Trinity Lutheran of Taneytown.

AROUND THE TOWN

With all my heart, I wish you every morning
A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning.
I wish you health—life's greatest wealth!
I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer
Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

That pretty "Blonde" in the window frame at the 'Movies' is still attending school!

And thinking about movies, Don't fail to see, "The Red Menace" which all Americans should have an eye-ful! It will be at your local "Earle" some time in October. That picture shown recently, "The Stratton Story" was simply the best yet. More of these type pictures should be shown and it was a true story besides!

The swimmer, Shirley Mae France should not feel badly about not crossing that old channel! Your Observer thinks it foolish anyway for there are nicer places to swim on this side of the sea!

How come? That nice Manager of the movie is still single!

Talked to several on the busses, you know those "musical sixties" for their point of view and which I understand are there to stay in the big city and this is what they said: "You can't understand half what is said on account of the noise and so much chattering and more than half of the riders don't give a whoop. Just another thing they must endure and get used to it!"

A man with a truck stopped at "Loves Retreat" with it full of bananas and told me they were selling them two dozen for 25 cents. I asked for four dozen and when he brought the bunch to the door, as they were handed to me and after looking at the bottom saw they were all rotten! Immediately, they were handed back with—"No, thank you—no bananas today!" You see what I mean. Folks by putting something over on the public? Now, Your Observer is queered of purchasing from the door and there will be many housewives just like that! Eh?

The recent "Passing" of the Composer in Germany of the Opera "Salome" brought back the scenes with "Mary Garden" at the Metropolitan Opera House, in Philadelphia—which was a tremendous success in that city.

Saturday night previous to Labor Day, My Minister and Your Observer were right in back of that awful accident at the cross roads of Finksburg where the two men were killed. We got out of the car to see if we could render any assistance and it was just under the worst accident that I have ever seen. I talked to the one lucky man who had only one little bump near the two dead men with the car banged up on the side of the house next to the highway. Another man stated that the driver did not stop at all coming out on the highway! "Dead men tell no tales" as the saying goes and one of those men who was the driver is dead!

The very nicest lady stopped by from Middleburg on her return from the 'Peach Orchard'. She was really a "Peach" herself!

Did you know that Mt. Clare station was the birthplace of America's transportation and communication systems? Mt. Clare station was built in 1830, the first passenger and freight terminal in the Western Hemisphere. It was here also that the first telegraph message was received on May 27, 1844—"WHAT HATH GOD WROUGHT!"—sent from Washington by Samuel F. B. Morse! Abandoned as a terminal almost a hundred years ago, Mt. Clare Station, the oldest building of its kind in the world is still used by the B. & O. R. R.

Those beautiful horses right near "Around The Town" at the first farm have always interested me ever since coming to Carroll County. They are as sensible as Humans almost. That reminds me, a lady wrote to the Editors of The Ladies' Home Journal stating that dogs do actually weep. The lady is 100% correct in that statement. I had a very fine "Scottish" a few years ago and she gave birth to a little puppy which was born dead. When I went to her bed, she was lying there crying with one paw across the little dead puppy and that look that she gave me as she raised her eyes, I never will forget. The tears were running down her face! It was many months before she stopped grieving for that little puppy!

An interesting letter arrived from that nice boy "Around The Town" who is now stationed in Tokyo, Japan.

A lovely colored picture of "Lincoln" with the girls marching in front was sent to Your Observer by a very nice gentleman from "Around The Town" which was taken on "Decoration Day."

A little girl was seen to carry her Mother's picture to her bedroom and when the Mother makes the bed daily, she sees freshly cut flowers in a small glass standing beside the picture next to the little girl's bed on the night table! Only God knows what is in the mind of a little child!

So long Folks. Be good and be careful, for you will be glad tomorrow that you have been good today! Have a grand week-end. Go to church—to any church for there you will always find God! See you next week. Until then.

Faithfully,
Your OBSERVER.

THE CRIME WAVE

The best age of the world is now. We have perfect freedom to do as we please so long as we do not injure others. Let crime persist and seems to grow worse from day to day, and strange to say crime seems universal, the more pronounced in warm than in cool climates, Russia excepted. In the United States the Mason and Dixon line seems the dividing line. Maybe this is due to the heat. Hot weather produces hot tempers. The South seems to be plagued with the Ku Klux Klan.

True the negro predominates in the South. There are many noble negroes, but the fringe has its low down degenerates.

Perhaps the remedy I am about to suggest may be too drastic, but lynching, hanging and imprisoning the culprits does not seem to lessen the crime.

"MAKING MORE DRINKERS DRINK MORE"

Washington is headquarters for the Board of Temperance of the Methodist Church. It has been supplying us with its "clipsheet" for years. A few days ago the Temperance Board issued an article with the above headline.

Now, which ever way you think about prohibition it is well to consider some of the statements approved by Editor Deets Pickett of the Clipsheet. It carries an attack on the advertising manager of National Distilleries who reported in print that "wine and spirit advertising does not increase the consumption; it is intended only to popularize brands."

It is painless to agree with the Board of Temperance that "no greater nonsense was ever placed before a group of intelligent people—the makers of alcoholic beverages are doing as much as they can to get as many drinkers as they can."

Most local, family newspapers in the United States refuse to advertise beer, whiskey or any other liquor in their newspapers. That's one important reason why the local newspapers of America are the leading force in creating public opinion. Meantime the metropolitan newspapers and magazines are encouraging drinking and drunkenness in their advertising pages.

One of the advertisements that has been widely published in the United States and in England "fesses up" as follows: "The chief customers of the public house today are the elderly and middle aged men. Unless you can attract the younger generation to take the place of the older men, there is no doubt we shall face a steadily falling consumption of beer."—National Industries News Service.

ON BEING A GRAND-DAD

The holder of the title should be what the word says, a GRAND DAD. Not every one can be a GRAND-DAD. This honor is reserved only for DADS. Here is one instance where DADS are the privileged class. And what a privilege it is! It is a privilege that comes after DADS get their own children out of the way so as to have more time to give attention to the grand-children. Also, by that time, a child's wants make a greater appeal to GRAND-DAD'S heart.

Being a GRAND-DAD is a grave responsibility. Can't you see what responsibility it is! I don't suppose that anybody else than DADS ever thought of becoming GRAND-DADS! It seems to me that others would not have the proper training and experience. Nor would they give the little tot the same consideration as a REAL GRAND-DAD. Of course GRAND-DAD wouldn't want to cross conventional lines and not be considered a typical GRAND-DAD. That would blight his career as a GRAND-DAD.

While GRAND-DAD would not spoil a grand-child, he does take him on an occasional detour. The ways of Father and Mother become monotonous and GRAND-DAD thinks the Little Fellow might enjoy a change of scenery. And doesn't he! And who has more to offer a GRAND-SON than GRAND-DAD! Ice-cream, candy, balls, trains, haircuts, and almost anything else that the Little Chap wants. Grand-children were made to express their wants to Grand-dads. They come at a time when Grand-dad has more leisure time to listen to them. Ah, GRAND-DADS are great Guys!

GRAND-DAD doesn't approve of too much sophistication for his GRAND-SON since he didn't bring up his own son according to such recipe. GRAND-DAD is just too wise to tolerate too much modern tomfolefy. He now, has become older and his heart has grown more mellow with the years, that he would rather see the Little Tot in the shade than being exposed to a sun bath in his play pen. What kind of a GRAND-DAD would he be who wouldn't slip the Little Rascal out of the pen to the shade! GRAND-DAD regards this as one of his responsibilities. GRAND-DAD looks at it in this light; the Little Fellow will have time enough when he becomes older to take a sun bath, and then he can decide for himself whether he wants it.

Of course it is whispered around that GRAND-DAD is spoiling the Child. But you don't get GRAND-DAD to acknowledge such rumors. The Constitution doesn't require a man to incriminate himself, and GRAND-DAD stands on his constitutional rights.

Have you ever experienced being a GRAND-DAD? Well, if you have you would never go back to your former status. And those of you who aren't GRAND-DADS just try it sometime! It's the grandest feeling ever. It also affords GRAND-DAD so many things to talk about. He will never run out of subjects as he used to when a young man. And GRAND-DAD never received so much recognition before the GRAND-CHILD arrived. He just naturally works himself right into the core of GRAND-DAD'S heart, and he is there in a big way. You simply can't keep him out. In fact, you wouldn't want to. The LITTLE TOT takes to GRAND-DAD as a duck takes to water.

Isn't it interesting to observe how fast a GRAND-CHILD'S wants multiply when GRAND-DAD is around! It seems they grow as fast as bacteria. And isn't it cute in the Little Rascal that every time GRAND-DAD passes his play pen or crib, the LITTLE TOT will extend his arms for a lift. And he is far more successful than the fellow along the highway who is thumbing his way.

EXTENSIVE TRIP IS DESCRIBED

chair on their wedding day, hand in hand and repeat the verse on the tablet in front.

We then went to the mortuary, here are thousands of crypts, as you walk the marble halls, you can read the names of famous people inscribed on the door of the crypts. In this building in a large auditorium, we had the privilege of viewing the masterpiece, "The Last Supper," by Leonardo da Vinci, recreated in vibrant, glowing indestructible colors of stained glass, this priceless work of Rosa Moretti is recognized as one of the world's great art treasures. From all parts of the world people come to stand entranced before its breath-taking beauty.

Long Beach is a city of oil wells, at Signal Hill the highest hill in Long Beach are hundreds of oil wells, they extend down into the city and out into the Pacific Ocean. From this hill a beautiful panorama of the city and ocean can be viewed.

We went down the Coast Highway to San Diego. Here we stayed a few days with my nephew who took us to places of interest in surrounding community. The first evening there we went across the border to Tia Juana, at night it is very colorful, has a fiesta atmosphere, with its gayly dressed people, open front stores and colorful wares. On Sunday we went to the Zoo, one of the largest outdoor Zoos in U. S. At La Jolla we saw sea divers, fishing with spears and diving for abalone in the rocky bottom of the ocean.

At Scripps Institute of Oceanography are displayed all the queer fish found in the Pacific Ocean.

Another picturesque place is Point Volana, known as Cabrillo Park overlooking the Pacific. It was here that Juan Rodriguez Cabrillo's Spanish Expedition first sighted the Pacific Coast of the present-day continental U. S. on Sept. 28, 1542. It is now given over to the Army and Navy for maneuvering purposes.

Then went to Old Town, Romana's birthplace and museum, also visited the Mother Mission San Diego de Alcala, the first mission established in California.

After leaving California we crossed the Mojave Desert and The Imperial Valley on our way to Phoenix, Ariz. In this section of the desert, the famous Sahuaro, Chollo, Pipe Organ and Barrelcacti grow.

In Imperial Valley, which is irrigated we saw groves of date palms, the dates hang in grape-like clusters and before ripening taste like green persimmons.

In Phoenix, we called on The Schwartz's who will be remembered as the Principal of the Union Bridge High School, they took us on a tour of the date, orange and grapefruit orchards all kinds of vegetables are grown the year around in Phoenix. Then we took the Camel-back road to the Wrigley Mansion and the famous resort hotel Biltmore which overlook the city of Phoenix.

The city of Prescott is situated in the mountains and the high and dry climate has made it famous as a resort for the cure of asthma. The U. S. Veterans Hospital for Asthma is here.

The Grand Canyon, the Earth's Most Sublime Spectacle, has a glory no words can describe. It is 14 to 18 miles wide, 5000 ft. deep and over 200 miles long.

The Painted Desert is the plateaus and high mesa country of northeastern Arizona. This desert shows what nature can do with her paint brush.

Of all the landscapes in the world the Painted Desert is the most unique. It is rightfully named. In places the vermillion cliffs, the colors run into dark and sombre tones and higher places into gray pastels. This desert of color follows mile after mile. The great Colorado River flows to the west side and the little Colorado to the east and the valley is the Reservation of the Navajo Indians, the largest tribe in the U. S.

The Navajo Indians are the most thrifty and industrious of all the tribes. Their great industry is the raising of great flocks of sheep and goats, most of the wool being used in the making of blankets and the weaving of rugs into which they weave the symbols of their tribe. The tending of the sheep the weaving and the building the adobe hut is all done by the Indian women and the children.

The Navajo Bridge crosses the Colorado River 467 feet above the river, this area is called the Kaibab National Forest, here stands the largest area of virgin timber in the U. S. Thousands of deer range the forest and graze. On leaving Jacob's Lake Lodge in the morning we counted thirty deer in twenty minutes time. Forty-four miles north of Grand Canyon is Zion National Park covering an area of 148 square miles, the huge granite monoliths rise 300 ft. above the canyon floor, the colors varying from deep reds to sparkling white. The road tunnels through the mountain with lookouts in the rocks, where the valley floor 4,276 feet below can be seen.

North of Zion National Park is the Bryce Canyon Park, the most forceful blend of beauty ever created by erosion. The color scheme of the rocks are vermillion, red and yellows. Weird formations rise from an amphitheatre. Words cannot describe the beauty of this canyon it has to be seen.

Panquitch, Utah, (an Indian name meaning fish) lies in a beautiful valley between Big Rock Candy and Wasatch mountains, here we saw the most perfect and beautiful rainbow you felt you could dip your hand into the pot of gold.

When we arrived in Salt Lake City and went to the Temple Square we were too late for the organ recital, but made up for it in our guide and lectures on our tour of the Temple buildings. He was a grandson of Brigham Young, 53 son in line and one of the 357 direct descendants of the founder of Mormonism or the Latter Day Saints in Utah. He told how the Temple was used in their worship. No one but a member in good standing in their church is allowed in the Tabernacle. People are allowed in the church auditorium where the largest pipe organ in the world is located and the museum, there are built in an inclosure and is known as Temple Square.

Great Salt Lake is twenty miles from the city and the Bonneville Salt flats and salt refineries and located on each side of the highway.

For a hundred square miles the hard level salt flats form the world's largest and fastest auto course, scene of record speed runs.

At Cisco, Utah, the atomic ore, uranium is mined. We saw a 5-ton truck filled with the ore valued at $250 a ton on the way to the atomic smeltering plant, situated in the desert. We traveled back of this truck for a few miles and able to pick up a stone that dropped from the truck.

The last sight-seeing part of our trip was Pikes Peak, this gravel road goes up the side of the mountain to a height of 14,109 feet. It is very treacherous and winding with hair pin and S curves. After arriving at the top, you are thankful you are up but wonder if you are going to get down alive. There was snow at the top, and on our trip down we got in a snow storm.

From here we started our journey home. Through the State of Kansas we saw 1000's of cattle on their way to the stock-yards. As we entered the cornbelt in Kansas and Illinois, the corn was being cut and put in shocks, which was standing upright and green five weeks before.

The most impressive thing on this trip were the great number of wild animals we saw in their native environment. We saw antelope in S. D., bear, deer, mountain goats, moose, buffalo and elk in the different Western States, besides the smaller animals, the porcupine, jack rabbits, squirrels (red, grey and white tailed) opossums, prairie dogs, prairie hens, grouse wild ducks and geese, eagles and osprey and chipmunk which would come and eat from your hand.

In early days it occasionally happened that the farmer who took a pig to market took also, in another bag, a cat, and when the unsuspecting buyer had paid the price, he discovered on reaching home that his bag contained a cat. If, being suspicious, he investigated before taking his bag home, he "let the cat out of the bag." If he did not look into his bag, he made the discovery that he had "bought a pig in a poke." Hence the origin of these two sayings.

FEESERSBURG

It is curious that our own sins seem less serious than those of others. I suppose the reason is that we know all the circumstances that occasioned our own offenses, and so excuse in ourselves what we cannot excuse in others. To take a trivial instance: how scornful we are when we catch someone else telling a lie; but who can truthfully say of himself that he has never told one—or even a hundred? There is not much to choose among men. They are all a hotch-potch of greatness and littleness, of virtue and vice, of nobility and baseness. Some have more strength of character, or more opportunity, but potentially they are the same. For my part, I do not think I am better or any worse than most people, but I know that if I honestly set down every action in my life and every thought that has crossed my mind, the world would consider me a monster. The knowledge that failings are common to all men should inspire one with tolerance to oneself as well as to others. It is well also if it enables us to look upon our fellows—even the most eminent and respectable—with humor; and if it leads us to take ourselves not too seriously.—W. Somerset Maugham.

The Rev. Charles Price of the Reformed Church at Silver Run conducted church services over the air Sunday morning through the Broadcasting Station at Hanover. Miss Caroline Baker was guest soloist. She sang two hymns titled "My Task" and "Stranger of Galilee." Mrs. Seward Englar played the accompaniment.

The Children's Aid Society of Carroll County will make its annual drive for funds from October 3 to 15. The quota for Union Bridge district is $340.00. This is an increase over preceding years due to the added responsibilities placed upon the Society, by broken homes and underprivileged children. Carroll County is enriched each year by an average of 45 better citizens because of the contributions made to the Children's Aid Society.

Every child who is in conflict with society has the right to be dealt with intelligently as society's charge, not society's outcast. Your generous contribution will help give some child this right. The chairman for the Union Bridge district is Mrs. Truman Myers with the following persons serving on the committee as solicitors for funds: Mrs. Edward Willard, Mrs. Charles Hahn, Mrs. Preston Myers, Mrs. Francis Nushbaum, Mrs. Marty Fleming, Mrs. William Brandenburg, Mrs. Blanchard Martin, Mrs. Paul Niswander, Mrs. Howard Fox, Mrs. William Fritz, Mrs. Charlotte Roop Keefe, Mrs. Robert Green, Mrs. Maurice Gray, Mrs. Charles Messler and Mrs. Geraldine Roberts.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin King's house looks very attractive with its coat of white paint and jade green shutters.

Mrs. Monroe Simpson and Mrs. Sterling Rowe called on the Frank Martins Tuesday afternoon.

The executive committee of the Elmer Wolfe P. T. A. met Monday evening, September 19th at the Elmer Wolfe School to discuss the plans for the coming year. All the standing committees were represented and the ground work was laid for an interesting and it is hoped highly productive program. The new P. T. A. President Frank Bohn presided and the new Principal, Mr. Starkey made a very pertinent remark. It was this: but please make it in person—second hand fault finding is never satisfactory—it only leads to misunderstanding. The first P. T. A. meeting will be held October 10, and it was voted by the committee to hold a regular monthly executive meeting the 4th Monday of each month. A P. T. A. membership drive is on now so if you are a parent be sure to join for your child's sake and if you are just an adult without any little income tax exemptions, join for your community's sake.

Clarence Buffington has closed his house at Mt. Union and will make his home with his daughter, Betty, near Union Bridge.

The members of the Methodist Church of Middleburg dedicated their new chimes Sunday afternoon in a simple but impressive ceremony. The chimes will bring much pleasure to members of the community and members of the church are to be congratulated upon their good taste and civic pride.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dayhoff and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Leister visited Mr. and Mrs. Charles Beckley and son, Richard, in Hagerstown, Sunday.

Our dog Mike escaped death Saturday by a miracle. He has the habit of running in front of or beside the tractor, keeping out of its way by mere inches. Saturday morning he misjudged the distance and was struck by the front wheels. Before the driver could get off Mike ran off in a nearby corn field. The family spent the rest of the day looking for him and when evening came without a trace of him, all of us felt he had been hurt so badly that he had died. To our relief about dusk Mike came home—a very subdued and sad looking puppy. We wrapped him up in a blanket and gave him some warm milk but he was too sick to drink. We put him to bed hoping for the best. The next morning he was still groggy but yesterday he was himself again—busy chasing cats but he gives that monster of a tractor a very wide detour.

If any one missed this column last week and of course I hope they did, the reason for its absence was that the writer was in bed with a virus infection. You know that's what the doctor calls everything when he doesn't know what's wrong with you. No reflection on the doctors for after all they are human and not expected to know everything.

David Buffington returned to Western Maryland College, Friday where he is a third year student.

The Spurrier-Roelke reunion was held at Pipe Creek Park, Sunday, Sept. 18 with nearly a hundred members of the family present.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Roop are spending a few days in New York City, this week.

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Essig have moved from Feesersburg to Union Bridge.

Mrs. Truman Myers and daughter, Carolyn were visitors Tuesday evening of the Millard Roelke's.

The world may owe you a living but you might as well write it off as a bad debt.

GLASS REUNION HELD

The third annual Glass reunion was held Sunday, September 18, at Mt. Tabor Park, with approximately 125 present. The afternoon program began with the song "Gathering Flowers from the Master's Bouquet" by William Null, Jr., with Mrs. Chas. Livesay and Mrs. Forrest Cooke playing guitars and Mr. William Null, Sr., the harp. Prayer was led by Mrs. Ruba Dalton, after which prizes were awarded the following: Door prize, Betty Sue Glass; oldest man, Mr. Charles M. Glass; oldest lady, Mrs. W. E. Glass; youngest baby, Thomas Humbert, age two months; coming farthest distance, Mr. and Mrs. Henry H. Trent, Sneedville, Tenn.; largest family, Mr. Chas. M. Glass.

The previous named quartette rendered another song "Money Won't Buy Back Your Mother." The Treasurer and Historian gave their report at this time. It was decided to keep the same officers that were elected last year which are: President, B. Q. Roller; Vice-President, Wilson Glass; Treasurer, Roy Glass; Secretary, Inus Glass; Historian, George Hahn. The meeting closed with the song "Where Could I go but to the Lord" by Anna Lee Shriver. The remainder of the afternoon was spent playing games and contests of various kinds until the sudden storm brought an abrupt end to the reunion.

LEADERSHIP TRAINING SCHOOL

The Taneytown District is to be congratulated on being the only district in Carroll County that maintains a Sunday School Council organized for service and leadership, and bringing all the Sunday Schools in the district together in cooperative undertakings. In addition to the Annual Rally this Council brings to the community an Annual Leadership Training School second to none in the State. This School this year will be held six nights as heretofore beginning at 7:30 p. m., according to the announcement of the genial dean, the Rev. Glenn L. Stahl.

The courses offered this year are very attractive and practical indeed. And the teachers are the best that can be secured anywhere. These courses and teachers are as follows:

(1) "Teaching Juniors" to be taught by Miss Mabel Dawson of Baltimore. Miss Dawson is the Director of Religious Education of the Council of Churches of Maryland and Delaware. The committee is fortunate to secure such an outstanding teacher for this course. It was made possible by booking up Miss Dawson six months ahead of time for she is in great demand in both Maryland and Delaware.

(2) The next course will be on "The Life of Christ," a favorite subject with everyone. This subject will be taught by Prof. Edward Stipe, Professor of Bible at Gettysburg College.

(3) The third course offered will be on "Personal Living," a subject much needed in our day. This will be taught by Dr. John Oberly, Professor of Theology and missions at Gettysburg Seminary. Dr. Oberly, past president of the Seminary, was for many years a missionary to India.

It is to be noted that the name of the school this year is changed from Teacher Training to Leadership Training so as to include all those interested in leadership of any kind.

With such an attractive course of study to be taught by such a splendid faculty, it is anticipated that the school this year will be one of the largest on record.

The following persons have been appointed in each Sunday School as registrars to receive registrations. Mrs. Ellsworth Peeser for Taneytown E. U. B.; Clyde Wilhide for Keyville Lutheran; Glenn Groshon for Keyville Reformed; Mrs. R. S. McVaugh for Taneytown Presbyterian; Mrs. Charles Stambaugh for Piney Creek Presbyterian; Mrs. John Teeter for Piney Creek Church of the Brethren; Miss Helen Bankard for Taneytown Grace Reformed; Mrs. Robert Clingan for Taneytown Trinity Lutheran.

EXLER—In Loving Memory of my daughter and our sister, VELMA P., who departed this life one year ago, Oct. 2, 1948.

Sad and sudden was the call
Of one so dearly loved by all;
A bitter grief, a shock severe,
It was to part with one so dear.
We often sit and think of you,
And wonder how you died.
To think you could not say good-bye
Before you closed your eyes,
For all of us you did your best,
Oh, God grant you eternal rest.

Loving MOTHER, FATHER and SISTERS and BROTHERS.

Uncle Sam Says

During the years America was growing up, Grandma hid her savings in the old, cracked teapot, the tin canister, or even that old horse-hair mattress. This was the hard way to save and her denials of many things to build those savings sometimes came to naught. Thieves, fire or other hazards wiped out her savings in a jiffy. Today we have the finest and surest way ever invented to build security for the future—the U. S. Savings Bonds way. This means you can put aside, every pay day, part of what you earn by signing up for the Payroll Savings Plan where you work, or, if self-employed, the Bond-a-Month Plan where you bank. Either way, you get back $4 for every $3 invested in just ten years. U. S. Treasury Department

SHORT STORY

Poachers Outwitted

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

IT HAPPENED that young Glen Lloyd was the only warden on duty when Chief Fred Mather received word that poachers were doing a wholesale business in moose meat up in Birchill county.
Glen was a rookie on the job. As yet he'd had no contact with either the hardships or the dangers of a north woods game warden. Chief Mather decided to use discretion.
"You go up there and do some reconnoitering," he told the youth.

"You'll find a base camp under a cliff near the headwaters
of the Beaver.
Make this your headquarters until Warden Loomis arrives. He'll tell you how to proceed." Chief Mather drummed with his pencil. "Don't take any chances, son. I've an idea that Moe Stanford's behind this ring. He's a bad actor."

Glen reached the base cabin two days later. The ground was covered with a six-inch fall of snow.
Glen waited two days more and then decided to take matters into his own hands. Armed with his service pistol and a flashlight he concealed himself near the tote road on top of a ridge where the progress of the truck would have to be slow. It was bitterly cold and a brisk wind was blowing. Also there was the promise of snow in the air.

Midnight came and went, and Glen's spirits ebbed low. Cursing himself for delaying action, Glen was about to quit his hiding place when he heard distantly the roar of an automobile motor.

He waited until the driver was shifting gears for the final pull, then stepped out into the glare of the lights. He held his gun in one hand. The badge on his sheepskin coat was plainly visible.

Instead of stopping, the driver bore down on the accelerator. The truck roared straight at the warden. Glen stepped to one side, barely avoiding being hit, and as the heavy machine lumbered by he swung himself onto the running board. He clung there perilously for a moment, then something hit him on the head, he heard an angry

Glenn followed the tracks until they turned into a country road.

curse, and went spinning into space.
Fifteen minutes later he emerged on to the same tote road where it doubled back on itself. The lights from the truck were already sweeping up the incline.

GLEN CROUCHED behind a boulder, glad that the darkness was so intense. He waited until the truck had crawled by, then ran after it. He caught the tailboard and hoisted himself up. Two men were standing up front, leaning over the cab. The noise of the motor had drowned out sounds of his approach.

Reversing his service gun, Glen crept up behind the men, felled one of them and grappled with the other. The scuffle was short-lived.
Taken completely by surprise the poacher was at a disadvantage. Stunned by the blow which he tried to dodge, he fell against the cab and slumped to his knees when Glen struck out a second time.

The warden handcuffed the two men to an upright in the truck, then approached the cab.
There was a small window in its rear. Through this Glen thrust his gun, splintering the glass. The two men inside turned to find themselves staring into the gun's muzzle.

Warden Loomis, trekking northward to join young Glen Lloyd, was astonished to find a truck on the old tote road. The truck stopped and a friendly, boyish voice greeted him.

"Hi, Joe," Glen yelled. "Put some bracelets on these birds in front, will you? My hand's so stiff from holding this gun I can't move it—let alone pull the trigger."

When Chief Mather heard the story he wrote a personal letter to Supervisor Herrick, complimenting the supervisor on his choice of men.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
International Uniform Sunday School Lessons
By DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

SCRIPTURE: Isaiah 6.
DEVOTIONAL READING: Hosea 14.

What is a Call of God?

Lesson for October 2, 1949

IF YOU knew exactly what God wanted you to do, would you do it? Of course you would. The trouble is: How does any one know what God's will is?

For example, a young man is thinking about his life's work; what shall he choose? Most young men would do what they were sure God called them to do, but what is a call?

Dr. Foreman

The story of Isaiah throws some light on this problem. (We are beginning this week a three month's study of the great prophets Isaiah and Jeremiah.) True, he lived some 2700 years ago, and half way to the other side of the world; but human nature has not changed in 2700 years.

From Man about Town To Man of God

ISAIAH was a young man about town, in the small but wealthy city of Jerusalem, about 700 years before Christ. He was a personal friend of all the important people, a man of good education, with wide horizons of interest, of independent means, eloquent, polished, the sort of man who makes a good career diplomat.

He tells in some detail the story of how he came to be a prophet. The story is in Isaiah 6. Perhaps if we had been there with a camera and a wire recorder we might have been able to photograph the seraphim and take down their cries, just as Isaiah saw and heard them.

What we do know is that that experience changed Isaiah's life. Up to that time (on his own showing) he had been a "man of unclean lips," from that time on he began to be a spokesman for the Lord. Let us try to say what the story of that life-changing vision, that call, means in terms of our own experience.

The Flame of God

FIRST there was the overwhelming sense of God's reality and power and holy majesty. No one can ever experience a call who does not take God seriously.

A God "afar off," a God who is only a problem, an idea, a hypothesis, never called any one. God alone can make himself real to man; and only a man with a real sense of a living God is going to hear his call.

Next came Isaiah's realization of his own unworthiness and sin. A man who feels equal to a great task is probably not equal to it. "Them as knows nawthin' fears nawthin'," as the Irish say. A man who feels good enough to serve God, just as he is, is not good enough. A man without a sense of sin is too full of it.

Then comes the burning coal from the altar; Isaiah feels that his guilt is gone. No one can fully do God's will with an unforgiven heart. Isaiah was not sinless at one stroke, of course, yet it is possible to turn from all known sin; it is possible to devote one's loyalty to God; and this Isaiah did.

It was only then that he heard the call: Whom shall I send? In modern and less picturesque language, Isaiah was conscious of a need he had not felt before—that is, of God's need, of his people's need.

What those needs were will come out in later studies. The point is that young Isaiah, who hitherto had lived only for himself, now saw the need of the city and the people among whom he lived.

"Here Am I; Send Me."

THEN comes the last stage—Isaiah's willing offer of himself. His great talent was the ability to use language. He could make words march and sing as few men of any race have done. But up to that time, it seems, his gift of eloquence had been used chiefly in telling dirty stories.

Now he has repented, and been forgiven, and he says to God: Use me. His voice, his knowledge, his eloquence, which he had been using against God (or at best, only for Isaiah) he was now to use for God and man.

So there is a call: A sense of God, near and commanding and holy; repentance; forgiveness; a sense of need; willingness to devote all one's gifts to fill that need.

MONKEYS' DISGRACE

Three monkeys sat in a coconut tree discussing things as they're to be. Said one to the others, "Now listen, you two, There's a certain rumor that can't be true, That man descended from our noble race. The very idea is itself a disgrace!"

"No monkey ever deserted his wife, Starved her babies, and ruined her life; And you've never known a mother monk To leave her babies with others to bunk, Or pass them 'on from one' to another Till they scarcely know who is their mother."

"And another thing you'll never see, A monk build a fence around a coconut tree, And let the coconuts go to waste, Forbidding all other monks a taste. Why, if I put a fence around a tree, Starvation would force you to steal from me."

"Here's another thing a monk won't do, Go out at night and get a stew, Or use a gun, or club, or knife, To take some other monkey's wife. Yes, man deserted, the orneriest euss, But, brother, he didn't descend from us."

TOUR OF CARROLL CO. D. A. R.

The brochure, which has been assembled by Mrs. Donald Shriver, Mrs. Barnes and Mrs. Eckenrode, contains on its blue cover a sketch of "Glenburn," made by Miss Peggy Kerns, a student at Western Maryland College and daughter of Mrs. Chester Kerns, an associate member of the chapter. On its back is a map of Carroll County, showing the route numbers to the eleven homes which will be opened and giving easy directions to the visitors. It also contains interesting facts about the places to be visited, four of which belong to chapter members.

The home of General Lehman Wellington Miller, USA, (retired) and Mrs. Miller on the Uniontown road is a fine example of what can be done with the restoration and modernization of a charming brick house built prior to 1812. They purchased the place in 1947 and named it "Four Winds". The home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Pickens, called "Hidden Valley," was built by Lee Stone in 1868. Furnishings include heirlooms from the Gist family, Mrs. Pickens a member of the chapter, being a direct descendant of General Mordecai Gist of Revolutionary fame.

Just off the road from Westminster to Taneytown, lies "Glenburn," built by Rogers Birnie, son of Clotworthy Birnie, in 1840. The present owners are Mr. and Mrs. Chester Neal. Just beyond here and making an imposing sight from the Taneytown road, is "Thorndale," purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Parrish in 1941. It was built by Clotworthy Birnie in 1832. In Taneytown, the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. Walter Crapster on East Baltimore Street, will be open, Mrs. Crapster being a member of the local chapter. Interesting histories are told about many of the lovely heirlooms which furnish the house, some of which belonged to the Dorsey, Neal and Long families. Glass and china of special interest make a fine collection.

On the road from Taneytown to Uniontown, is the next in line and is a forty-room brick mansion built by David Kephart in 1817, on land bought from Samuel Cookson in 1792. The windows have white marble sills and lintels. The slave dungeon and bake house still stand and Dr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Legg, Union Bridge, the present owners have put the house in sound condition, but have not changed the main features. The house stands about 50 yards from the junction of Meadow Branch and Pipe Creek and was formerly a center of activity for the neighborhood, with a mill, shops, etc., on the grounds.

"Mount Lofly Homestead," near Uniontown, is the next line and is a portion of 250 acres which was sold by George Etzler, of Heidelberg, Pa., to Adam Schweigert for 665 lbs. English money on November 3, 1794. The property is now owned by Mr. and Mrs. Russell B. Pieffer, Waynesboro, Pa., members of Mrs. Pieffer's family, the Roops, having bought it in 1945. "Avalon Farm," near New Windsor was bought in 1935 by the present owners, Mr. and Mrs. F. Donald Shriver, who have re-created the atmosphere of enchantment with furnishings of family antiques and kindred pieces. The circular hanging stairway in the house is of unusual beauty.

Coming from New Windsor to Westminster, the blue arrows, denoting the open houses, will point to "English Chance," the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Morrow, in the fertile Wakefield Valley. This tract is part of the original grant made to John England about 1760. The present house, consisting of an old log house with a frame house joined to it at a later date, has been modernized for convenience to a farmer's wife. Nearby is the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Morrow, the former a brother of Charles Morrow and a business man of Baltimore. The house was built in 1946 as a week-end cottage. On a clear day, its incomparable view gives a view of the Blue Ridge Mountains from Big Round Top at Gettysburg to Point of Rocks in Virginia.

Open in Westminster is the home of Mrs. M. S. H. Unger, a past regent of the William Winchester Chapter. It is a typical Georgian house whose architect was John Russell Pope. Elegant simplicity is the keynote of the plan and a simple doorway, inviting and gracious, urges you to explore the interior. Here will be on display for the visitors rare old books, manuscripts, pictures, furniture, china and silver, which have been cherished possessions of the family for generations. The house was built in 1931 by Mrs. Unger and the late Dr. Unger.

Mrs. G. W. S. Musgrave, state regent, D. A. R., and other officials will join club women and friends of the chapter in making the tour on the tenth.

DRIVE TO CUT DEATH TOLL

Robert L. Leese, of the A.A.A., West Main St., Westminster, Md., was one of 800 Kemper Insurance Agents who joined forces in Philadelphia this week in a drive to cut the tragically high death toll of young drivers.

Robert L. Leese, an agent for AMICO, a Kemper Company, attended the company's annual agents meeting in Philadelphia this week. The young driver problem was one of the topics stressed.

H. G. Kemper, the company's president, told the insurance men at a luncheon that drivers under 25 years of age, with an accident record at least 50 per cent above average, add millions of dollars annually to the cost of private automobile insurance. In Pennsylvania alone, he said, youthful bad driving adds $7,000,000 each year to automobile insurance costs. He emphasized the belief that America's young people could be among the country's best drivers if they were properly trained, and he advocated high school driving courses as a solution to the problem. The accident rate of youngsters graduated from high school driving courses has been reduced 50 per cent, he said.

In addition to discussing highway problems, the insurance men refreshed their knowledge of new developments in the fields of casualty and fire insurance, new insurance coverages available to the public, underwriting principles, claim service, advertising and merchandising, and fire prevention problems.
