LEADERSHIP TRAINING

School for Church Workers and Scholars to be Held

The Taneytown District is to be congratulated on being the only district in Carroll County that maintains a Sunday School Council organized for service and leadership and bringing all the Sunday Schools in the district together in cooperative undertakings. In addition to the Annual Rally this Council brings to the community an Annual Leadership Training School second to none in the State. This School this year will be held six nights as heretofore beginning October 31 to November 1 and 3 at 7:30 to 9:45 P. M., according to the announcement of the general dean, the Rev. Glenn L. Stahl.

The courses offered this year are very attractive and practical indeed. And the teachers are the best that can be secured anywhere. These courses and teachers are as follows:

(1) "Teaching Juniors" to be taught by Miss Mabel Dawson, of Baltimore. Miss Dawson is the Director of Religious Education of the Council of Churches of Maryland and Delaware. The committee is fortunate to secure such an outstanding teacher for this course. It was made possible by booking up Miss Dawson six months ahead of time for she is in great demand in both Maryland and Delaware.

(2) The next course will be on "The Life of Christ," a favorite subject with everyone. This subject will be taught by Prof. Edward Stipe, Professor of Bible at Gettysburg College.

(3) The third course offered will be on "Personal Living," a subject much needed in our day. This will be taught by Dr. John Aberly, Professor of Theology and missions at Gettysburg Seminary. Dr. Aberly past president of the Seminary, was for many years a missionary to India.

It is to be noted that the name of the school this year is changed from Teacher Training to Leadership Training so as to include all those interested in leadership of any kind.

With such an attractive course of study to be taught by such a splendid faculty, it is anticipated that the school this year will be one of the largest on record.

The following persons have been appointed in each Sunday School as representatives to receive registrations. Mrs. Ellsworth Feeser for Taneytown E. U. B.; Clyde Withide for Keyville Lutheran; Glenn Groshon for Keyville Reformed; Mrs. R. S. McVaugh for Taneytown Presbyterian; Mrs. Charles Stambaugh for Piney Creek Presbyterian; Mrs. John Teeter for Piney Creek Church of the Brethren; Miss Helen Bankard for Taneytown Grace Reformed; Mrs. Robert Clingan for Taneytown Trinity Lutheran.

During the business session health and safety measures for the school and medical aid to injured pupils will be discussed. Musical entertainment will be furnished by a quartet, the 4-M's. Light refreshments will be served by some of the parents of the sixth grade pupils.

I. O. O. F. LODGE MEETS

The first Fall meeting of Taney Lodge, I. O. O. F., held on Thursday evening, Oct. 13, was well attended, and a very inspiring meeting was enjoyed by all present.

Much constructive discussion was indulged in, and many suggestions were made for future activities and entertainment and fellowship this ensuing season. The enthusiasm displayed indicated that Odd Fellowship here, as well as elsewhere, is vigorous and on the move; and the general theme is to go forward numerically, traditionally, and characteristically. At the conclusion of the meeting refreshments were served by the appointed committee.

Special features and refreshments are planned for the next meeting on Thursday evening, Oct. 27, and it is hoped that more of those who have not been attending lately will be present then.

DO NOT DAMAGE PROPERTY DURING HALLOWE'EN

The Board of Education of Carroll County requests the cooperation of town and community authorities throughout the county to assist in the protection of property from Halloween damage. It should be noted that the Board of Education is not in a position to repair or replace waiting shelters on school bus routes and if these are damaged during the Halloween season no assurance can be made that repairs will be made promptly. Citizens served by the waiting shelters should exercise every care to see that damage does not occur to the waiting shelters which are provided as a courtesy to the children transported to the schools of the county.

PROF. DOUGLAS R. CHANDLER SPEAKS HERE SUNDAY NIGHT

Dr. Douglas R. Chandler has been secured as guest speaker at the United Reformation Day service to be held in Taneytown next Sunday night. The local churches and pastors will join together in the community service which will be held in the Presbyterian Church at 7:30 P. M.

While services of this kind have been held in many American communities on the anniversary of the Protestant Reformation, this is the first time that such an observance has been planned for Taneytown. These services, evidencing the growing interest in the Protestant heritage, are increasing in popularity.

One of the outstanding features of this observance will be musical selections by the well known Men's Chorus of the Lutheran Brotherhood. Likewise a local chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Wallace Yingling, will also favor the occasion with choice musical selections.

The community is fortunate in having as guest speaker the well known Dr. Douglas R. Chandler, gifted church historian, and Prof. of Church History at Westminster Seminary. He is well known in Taneytown and his many friends look forward to the pleasure of hearing him again.

FALL SYMPTOMS

When hickory nuts are falling, And corn is turning brown, And apple trees once heavy laden Have leaves dancing around.

Then all the world in splendor Is dressed to retire, Their summer duties ended, Their work till spring, expired.

It is like a touch of magic Far beyond the human eye Has touched the earth with brilliance, While it gives a fleeting sigh.

When the works of the miraculous omnipotent Are resounded through the breeze You know the season is Fall By glancing at the trees.

The trees so tall and stately, Point their leaves of color towards the sky, Of crimson, gold and brown they tip To every passer-by.

CATHERINE KEILHOLTZ.

PART III

THE LAND OF THE SKY

The next part of the travelogue is through the Southern Highlands. This includes the mountains of Western N. C. and Eastern Tenn. The City of Asheville is the social capital of the area. It is called the "Land of the Sky." This name was first given that section by one of our novelists, Christian Reid. He was so captivated with the scenic beauty and grandeur of the towering mountains that he gave it that attractive title. It includes in its boundaries the highest peaks in the East. There is Chimney Rock, rising like a chimney for a thousand feet above Lake Lure, Mount Mitchell, the highest peak in the Appalachian System, Mount Pisgah, the most scenic peak in the East and the center of a vast game preserve, Blowing Rock, a natural phenomenon, the Great Smoky Mountain National Park, Natural Virgin Forests of great extent interspersed with trails and picnic facilities. The Joyce Kilmer Memorial Forest, dedicated to the Author of "Trees," is the largest tract of virgin timber reserve east of the Rockies.

KEYSVILLE MISSIONARY MEETING HELD

The Missionary meeting of the Keysville Lutheran Church was held Tuesday evening, Oct. 11 with twenty-eight present including five visitors, Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Warner, of Detour; Mrs. Glenn Hahn, Walkersville; Mrs. Laverne Keilholtz, near Keysville and Miss Held from Mt. Joy Parish.

An interesting program was arranged by the capable leaders, Mrs. Ruby Dilley and Mrs. Carroll Dougherty.

The "Call to Worship" was given by Mrs. Dilley followed by the Lord's Prayer and the song "Dare to be Brave." The Scripture lesson John 15:1-8 was read by Mrs. Carroll Dougherty. The topic used was "The Lutheran Student." Those taking part in the discussion were Mrs. Stine, Mrs. Harner, Mrs. G. Kiser, Mrs. L. Withide, Mrs. C. Withide, Mrs. Trout, Mrs. Wiley, Mrs. J. Cushon and the leaders Mrs. Dilley and Mrs. Dougherty. The discussions were very informative regarding Christian Higher Education.

We closed by making use of our memory hymn "What a Friend We Have in Jesus" and the Missionary benediction.

A short business meeting was held and the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Carroll Withide; Vice-President, Mrs. Charles Devilbiss; Treasurer, Mrs. Harry Claiborn; Secretary, Mrs. Edward Cushon and Statistical Secretary, Mrs. Charles Cluts.

Announcements were made concerning the 67th annual Convention of the W. M. S. of the Evangelical Lutheran Synod of Md. to be held at Catonsville, Oct. 19-20 and the District Fall Rally at Burketsville, on Nov. 3rd.

The social committee consisted of Mrs. Grier Keilholtz, Mrs. Virgie Chler, Mrs. Lloyd Withide and Mrs. Charles Trout. The refreshments were in keeping with the Halloween season and were enjoyed by all.

P. E. NEWS CELEBRATES 25th ANNIVERSARY

The Potomac Edison News, employee publication for the Potomac Edison System—of which the Potomac Edison Company is a part—this month celebrated its 25th year of publication.

Winner of several public utilities Advertising Association awards, the Potomac Edison News each month carries news about Potomac Edison Company employees from this area. Staff correspondent, Mr. H. H. Hartsock gathers news items from fellow workers here, and writes them in a column form. This is then sent to the News offices in Hagerstown, printed, and distributed to all employees once a month.

In addition to the personal news that is carried in each issue—the News stresses stories of company activity, sales and safety programs, personnel changes and other features that are of interest to employees.

Mr. Hartsock was praised this month by the editor of the company publication, who stated, "Our reporters do a fine job of collecting and writing news items for other Potomac Edison System employees to read. Without such fine coverage, our newspaper would not be able to do the job for which it is intended."

ART WORK IN THE 4th GRADE

The pupils of the Elementary schools of Carroll County submitted their art work to our elementary supervisor Miss Ruth DeVore. This work was judged by an art critic.

The best work is on exhibit in the Armory, Baltimore, Md. Here it will be viewed by the teachers of the Maryland Teachers' Association at their annual meeting held on Oct. 20-23.

AROUND THE TOWN

With all my heart, I wish you every morning
A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning.
I wish you health—life's greatest wealth!
I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer
Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

There was a young man seated in the Movie at The Earle who went sound asleep before the show started. There were many giggles amongst the patrons who appeared very interested wondering if he would fall out of the chair but as soon as "The Stratton Story" was shown, he woke up!

Thinking about that chap brought to mind the little girl who said, "Why does Mama make me go to bed when I'm wide awake and wake me up in the morning when I'm sleepy?" Cute?

The finest school bus drivers are in Carroll County. Your Observer has driven behind the bus on many instances and they all are most alert and cautious!

Lots of luck and best wishes to the nice new Gasoline Station owner. Here's a tip! Have some one there at all times when you are not!

It is a real treat to attend any 'sale' where that nice Auctioneer is. Did you know that the Fluorescent tubes that are lighting many homes these days contain a highly poisonous substance and one should be very careful in handling a broken tube. They give more light and are less expensive to operate than the electric bulb.

Did you know that the State of Maryland is setting the pace for other states in settling displaced persons and solving its farm-labor problem? Nearly 700 displaced persons found a secure life in agriculture in Maryland and 2,000 more are expected by Fall.

Returning to "Around The Town" one late evening, saw the most attractive window of a Beauty Salon in Westminster on the right hand side. There were dark draperies as the back ground of a highly colored basket of flowers which was beautiful and full of simplicity with its high lighted from the side lights thrown against the display. The window is small but appeared most artistic.

It won't seem just the same at Westminster around Christmas time with that huge Christmas tree gone which was the most wonderful Christmas tree in any state. I feel just like that song when I pass or drive that way, "I'll Never Smile Again." Am wondering if that was a necessary idea and just the story behind it, and I mean the true story. Even the nice plump gasoline operator with whom I talked was sad about it as I heard a real sigh escape his lips as we discussed it.

Saw a car on a used car lot below Westminster not long ago which was battered up beyond describing and the driver was not given a scratch after it had turned over three different times and the owner is a man from "Around The Town." He is some lucky, as the saying goes. It is most fortunate there were no other passengers with him.

Near the little town of Finksburg there is a filling station with extremely high and tremendous flood lights built higher than usual and which is dangerous to the pedestrian as well as the driver on the widened highway.

The manufacturer of the Toni wave box is clever as there is now on display and sold in the big city "The Toni Doll" which will teach the adult as well as the young child "just how to give that Toni." Yet, if "Your Observer" was to have a "permanent" I would prefer the experienced hands of the beauty salon operator for like the name it would be more natural and last longer.

One of the most beautiful women in Carroll County is the music teacher in that tiny town of Detour, plus a lovely disposition and an excellent character.

Met two retired school teachers in the big city recently. One on the University bus and the other in a doctor's office. A conversation was held and I was amazed when I heard from both the same statement, "the trouble with the school teachers of today is that they are interested, not in the child but how much money they are going to get." Does that shoe fit you? To think, Your Observer was going to be a school teacher in the city of "Brotherly Love."

Thinking about school children in studying their homework, am wondering how many radios are played at the same time. How awful! A study period at home should be as quiet as the school room.

A lovely and most charming lady called upon me in her colored chauffeur driven car from the big city two weeks ago. She had been stricken with polio when she was but five years of age which left her a cripple to such an extent that she uses crutches at all times and must be assisted many times during the day. Her limbs have a special cast on plus the braces which she unlocks when she is seated. Never have I met a more cheerful and amiable individual. She said to me that God has given her many blessings for which she is most grateful. She derives much pleasure in taking poor individuals on long trips all over the United States with her.

So long, folks. See you next week. Have a grand week end and let's adopt the plucky spirit of that little polio-afflicted lady whose every step is an effort.

Faithfully your OBSERVER.

THE PEOPLE COME FIRST

For the life of me I can't see how Uncle Sam can pull himself up by the bootstraps and look forward to recovery from the present slump that our Nation is suffering, simply by handing out Government money to boost the prices of all the different kind of foods that people are accustomed to eating. From time immemorial the prices on the merchants shelves have been fixed according to the invisible device of supply and demand. The stock and grain markets managed to boost the prices of food and other necessities of life pretty much as they pleased. But when the politicians go off on some other form of adventure the prices go down. Right now the Government is attempting to dictate and predict the cost of all kinds of public necessities especially crops, grains, fruits and vegetables that come off the farms. There are a lot of prescriptions offered by Congress about farm security, but none of them, even though they may have the approval of the ruler in the White House, seem to furnish any evidence that they will make the farmer successful or rich.

The law of supply and demand has bogged down under the weight of the "fair deal?"—J. E. Jones.

SEVENTY YEARS OF LIFE

On October 21, the 70th anniversary of Edison's invention of the incandescent lamp will be celebrated.

The lamp, which is so commonplace today, marked the beginning of the electric age—even as it marked the beginning of a great industry whose service has revolutionized agriculture, industry and domestic life. Today there are nearly 40,000,000 wired homes in the United States. Almost all have radios. The great majority have electric refrigerators, irons, washing machines and other labor-saving conveniences that are virtually considered necessities now—and would have seemed the wildest luxuries not long ago.

Rural electrification got its real start in 1929—a mere 20 years back. At the end of that year, the power companies had brought service to 500,000 farms. Today nine-tenths of all our farms have service available and 82 per cent are using it. In those 20 years, the average farmer has tripled his consumption of electricity—yet his annual electric bill has increased only 40 per cent. Last year according to the Department of Commerce, electricity took less than one per cent of the average family budget—and for that tiny sum it renders miracles of service.

What built the electric industry and gave the nation light and power? The answer to that question is free enterprise. The industry is owned by some 3,000,000 Americans, most of them people of moderate means. It has physical assets worth about $20,000,000,000. It is one of the biggest taxpayers, and its rates and standards of service are regulated by state and Federal commissions which represent the interests of the consumer. It can look back on 70 years of life with pride in a great job well done.—Industrial News Review.

RED CROSS HOSPITAL WORKERS HELP SPEED PATIENT RECOVERY

The job of rebuilding sick bodies and minds of servicemen in military hospitals and restoring them to useful life is carried forward by a team—doctors, nurses, and Red Cross workers. The Red Cross worker may be a medical or psychiatric social worker, a recreation specialist, or a combination of them assisted by a Gray Lady.

Military physicians and nurses find that restoring the health of a sick man requires much more than medicine and food. The will to live and the will to do things must be revived before medical treatment can get in its beneficial work. That's where the Red Cross enters the picture.

A young soldier, only 23, was injured in an accident at a munitions proving ground. Half of his face and neck were blown away. Painracked and frightened, he had little taste for ordinary hospital recreation. He loved music, though, so the recreation worker brought to his bedside a radio phonograph and then, by mere chance, found she could satisfy a greater longing. The boy revealed that he wanted to write to his young wife those tender, personal things that he hesitated to dictate.

Under federal statute and regulations of the Army, the Navy, and the Air Force, the American Red Cross furnishes volunteer aid to the sick and wounded of the armed forces and acts in matters of voluntary relief and as a medium of communication between the people of the United States and their armed forces.

A recording machine was bought to his bedside, and he found the words to tell his longings to his distant wife. It wasn't easy because his injury had damaged his vocal chords and articulation was difficult. But after patient practice with the hospital worker, he finally poured out his heart to the record and sent it off to his wife.

To the arthritic, the tubercular, the rheumatic heart sufferer, doomed to long periods of bed care, the recreational services provided by Red Cross ease their burden of restlessness and discouragement. Nearby chapters in cooperation with other local agencies bring into the hospitals young people from the nearby communities, women who serve as hostesses for parties, young people who dance and play games, all reminding the sick soldier that he is not forgotten by those he served.

America's Wildlife

Our national forests are the home of well over 2 million head of deer, elk, and other big-game animals—about one-third of the Nation's total big-game population. In the western states about 70 per cent of all big game lives part or all of the year in the national forests.

Weed Killers

Chemical weed killers are important to market gardeners, since elimination of hand weeding saves much labor cost.

New Use for 2,4-D

A new angle has developed in the use of 2,4-D to eradicate barberry bushes, the U. S. department of agriculture reports. The bushes are killed by a solution of 2,4-D applied to freshly cut barberry stems. The solution is much stronger than is used in weed killing in lawns or in grain fields.

Palomino Horse

A golden-colored palomino horse is worth over four times the price of an ordinary horse.

Mary Mapes Dodge

The American author, Mary Mapes Dodge, who wrote "Hans Brinker; or The Silver Skates," had never seen Holland at the time she wrote the book, reports The World Book Encyclopedia. Years later, a Dutch bookseller recommended it to her as the best children's book about Holland.

Vitamin A Deficiency

Too much grain in proportion to roughage can cause vitamin A deficiency in livestock.

Plastic Wallpaper

Of all the new plastics, wallpaper probably takes the most abuse. Ink, lipstick, grease, foods, liquor and shoe polish wipe right off with soap and water. You don't have to worry about rubbing through the surface. In laboratory tests, the paper has withstood 25,000 consecutive rubs on the same spot.

Keep Brush Clean

A thoroughly clean paint brush is absolutely essential to good workmanship.

FRIZELLBURG

The bluest bluebird's not so fleet of wing
As these gold autumn days:
So swiftly do they pass I scarce can sing

A word in autumn's praise.
And yet I've found the autumn hours so sweet.

So passing fair,
To woodland ways I turn by restless feet.

To breathe October air.
Upon the pear tree's boughs dance russet leaves

Kissed by October's sun:
Some gold, some red, a magic pattern weaves.

Their work is done.
The domes of cottonwoods are burnished gold.

Like gilded spires,
And banded upon the hillsides, sumacs glow

Like flaming fires.
(By Bertha Horning.)

We are told that the leaves in autumn do not change color from the blighting touch of frost, but from the process of natural decay. They fall when the fruit is ripened, and their work is done. Their splendid coloring is but their graceful and beautiful surrender of life when they have finished their summer offering of service to God and man.

FEESERSBURG

There are some weeks, and this happens to be one of them when I feel that there isn't a thing interesting to write about. Now, this isn't a normal attitude to take for every day is really full of exciting things, if only one can see them or hear about them. Evidently I am unaware of them, for all I hear is the monotonous sound of corn pickers in the distance and my neighbors asking me if I have finished housecleaning, to which I have to answer "no."

Mrs. Raymond Buffington, Mrs. Frank Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bowman and Miss Esther Martin, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Jno. Buffington and family at Germantown, Md.

On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Louis Leitz, Mrs. Cleon Wolfe and Mrs. Edward Dayhoff visited the St. Stephens Church in Baltimore where services were held in commemoration of its 100th anniversary. After the services the group spent the remainder of the day visiting interesting spots in Baltimore, and visiting with the Leitz's son at Brookland.

Miss Barbara Jean Pfoutz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Pfoutz, of Westminster, was selected as Junior attendant to the Queen who will reign over the home-coming festivities at Western Maryland College. The Pfoutzes have many friends in this community.

Justice is dying in this country. So is respect for the old American originality and ingenuity. With downcast brow and troubled heart, we report this week the sad case of Mr. Raymond R. Cole, of Gaines, Pa., who went fishing, caught a beautiful trout with his bare hands, mounted it and showed it to the gaping public—only to be fined $20 for catching trout by illegal methods. What is this country coming to anyway? Didn't we fight two world wars to protect such men as citizen Cole in their nearly-bought freedom to catch trout by whatever method? This is a case for the United States Supreme Court.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Myers and children and Mr. and Mrs. Alton Duderar, of Baltimore, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Russell Bohn.

The ladies of Mt. Union Church are getting things in order for their annual chicken and oyster supper which will be served in the Parish House, Nov. 5, from 4 P. M. to 9 P. M. Mark the date on your calendar.

Mrs. Raymond Buffington, spent Monday with Mrs. Cora Warner, of New Windsor.

The Cleon Wolfes are having a new well dug, but it's a slow job as the area is full of rock a few feet below the surface. Speaking of wells, some areas are feeling the scarcity of rainfall as springs and streams are going dry.

Guests of the Frank Martins over the week-end were: Mrs. Nettie Wilson and son, Raymond, Miss Hartle, Miss Irene Martin and Mrs. Eva Curry, of Hagerstown.

Our dog Mike is still missing and we have about become reconciled to the fact that he will not return. A dog soon becomes a member of the family and when something happens to him it is a real personal loss both in companionship and affection.

According to the president of the American Bakers Association housewives cannot expect any drop in the price of bread in the near future. We wonder why, since the price of wheat has taken a sharp drop. During the war when wheat was high, the bakers blamed the rise in the price of a loaf of bread on the wheat price, but now they blame the continued price of bread on production costs. The facts show that two cents worth of wheat is needed to make a loaf of bread. It would be interesting to know what the other fourteen cents is for.

The school children will enjoy a vacation from Thursday until Monday due to a State Teachers' meeting in Baltimore.

The Smiling Sunbeam Class of Mt. Union Sunday School are rehearsing a play entitled, "The Little Red School House" which they will present to the public Nov. 18 at the Parish House. No admission will be charged but a good-will offering will be taken up. Refreshments will be on sale.

Two ponds have just recently been built in the community. One on the Merkle Wildlife farm and the other in Middleburg back of the Bowman home. The Soil Conservation Committee plans and supervises the building but the cost of building is paid by the owners of the pond. The citizens of Middleburg built their pond mainly as a source of water in case of a fire but it will also be used for recreation. It is far-sighted community that looks ahead and plans against misfortune. Every farm used to have a pond but for a time they were neglected or filled in. Now, people realize a pond is almost a necessity on the farm for fire protection. Also, they are a source of enjoyment for the whole family. In summer they can use it for fishing and boating and in the winter for skating.

Mrs. Marshall Bell has been solicited in the district for funds for the Children's Aid Society. Some persons complain that there is no reason to continue to support voluntary agencies since the Federal government is able to do it all. There is a simple answer to that. No government agency can create and sustain a system of morals. Even when private charities are not working specifically in the religious field, their works confirm faith and morals. The greatest and, in fact, the only impulse to social progress is the spark of compassion in the individual human being. "But the greatest of these is charity" has been a religious precept from which no civilized people can depart without losing its soul. Governments practice charity solely because it rises from that spark in the hearts of the people. At best, charity by government must be formal, statistical and mechanistic. We need charity in its real sense—from the heart.

COUNTY NATIVE DISTINGUISHED HIMSELF AS U. S. NEGOTIATOR

A very interesting article on John Nelson, a native of Frederick who distinguished himself in public life during the early decades of the last century appeared in the September number of the Maryland Historical Magazine under the signature of Howard B. Marraro. The article deals with John Nelson's mission to the Kingdom of the Two Sicilies in 1831-1832. The mission had to do with certain claims made by the United States against the now defunct kingdom and was a success after two previous ones had failed. The claims by Uncle Sam were based upon losses sustained by American shipping during the Napoleonic wars in Naples. The unsuccessful missions were (1) that of William Pinkney in 1816 and (2) that of John Appleton in 1825-26.

John Nelson, who conducted the successful mission, was born in Frederick in 1791. He was a distinguished member of a family which plays a prominent role in local history. His great-grandfather, also named John Nelson, was a native of England and moved to this country some time prior to 1745. He first settled in Virginia where he acquired possession of large tracts of land. Later he moved to Frederick county and became the owner of several Maryland plantations some of which were along the Potomac river.

His son, Dr. Arthur Nelson, was born a country gentleman who lived and died the owner of large tracts of land not only along the Potomac but elsewhere in Frederick county but who made his home most of the time on his Point of Rocks plantation. He owned a large number of slaves. With the outbreak of the Revolution he became an ardent supporter of the cause of the American colonists; he was a member of the Committee of Safety and of other organizations which helped in carrying on the war with the country of which his own father was a native.

One of his sons, Roger Nelson, born on the Point of Rocks plantation in 1759, and who had studied at William and Mary College, Williamsburg, Va., ran away from home to join Washington's army. He was commissioned a lieutenant and served under Gates at the battle of Camden, in South Carolina. In this battle he, Nelson, was wounded and taken prisoner. Later he was exchanged, served with distinction in other battles including Creek Hill, Guilford Court-house, Eutaw Springs and elsewhere. He was promoted to captain and to other ranks until he was finally made a brigadier general by brevet. After the Revolution he assisted in putting down the Whiskey Insurrection. Returning to civil life he studied law and was admitted to the bar. He lived in Taneytown for a time but finally moved to Frederick. After serving with distinction in the Maryland Legislature he was finally elected to serve out an unexpired term in Congress. Although he supported President Jefferson's unpopular embargo policy he was reelected to three consecutive terms in the U. S. House of Representatives. He left Congress to become Associate Judge of the Circuit Court. He held this post from 1810 until 1815, resigning on account of ill health.

Concerning Roger Nelson, Ella Lonn has the following to say, among other things:

"His persuasiveness was irresistible with a Frederick county jury. As a political speaker he was eloquent and dramatic and was a force in Congress." (Dict. of American Biography, Pg. 422).

His son, John Nelson, subject of our sketch, was born in Frederick June 1, 1791 (There are some authorities give the year of his birth as 1790 and others, 1794; I am following Mr. Marraro in this matter). Mr. Nelson graduated from William and Mary College; studied law and was admitted to the bar. He soon became one of the most distinguished to ever practice in the local court, (I am aware of the fact that is a large claim for few courts have had more celebrated practitioners; in that same court and members of that same bar were Thomas Johnson, appointed by President Washington to be Associate Justice of the U. S. Supreme Court and Roger Brooke Taney, one of the really great chief justices of America's highest court).

In 1820 John Nelson was elected to the United States Congress. He served with distinction from March 4, 1821, until March 3, 1823, and made a most favorable impression upon his fellow Congressmen, especially upon a colleague from Virginia, one John Tyler, who remembered him later as we will soon see.

For some reason Nelson did not stand for reelection but returned to the practice of law. He did not take the same active interest in politics as did his father but in 1826 he was elected to the Maryland State Senate where he again made a most favorable impression, especially as an authority on most questions of law. And 1826 happened to be the very year that John Appleton returned from his unsuccessful mission to Naples.

The reason for his failure, and also for that of William Pinkney, was the unwillingness of King Ferdinand I, of the two Sicilies, to assume responsibility of Joachim Murat, placed upon the throne of Naples by Napoleon Bonaparte in 1800 and who reigned there, with the assistance of French troops, until 1814 but whose authority never extended to the island of Sicily, the other portion of the kingdom of the Two Sicilies. The fact that Murat had inflicted injuries upon American shipping and that these injuries could not be justified was admitted by the king and his government.

Nelson was a strong backer of President Andrew (Old Hickory) Jackson and, as a result, no doubt of his reputation as one of the leading legal minds of the entire nation he was appointed to the court of Naples as charge d'affaires and instructed to try to make a settlement with the Two Sicilies. The account of the negotiations and of the final success are given in some detail in the article by Mr. Marraro. On only one minor point did this writer slip up. He quotes, with apparent approval, a local paper as saying that the fact that he had the same name as Lord Nelson, the great British admiral, was probably a great help to him. As all readers of Southey's "Life of Nelson," and of "Neapolitan Lovers," by Alexandre Dumas well know, this was if anything a handicap. For Naples was probably the only point along the whole Mediterranean where Lord Nelson was not honored and where he made practically all the serious errors of which he was guilty during his lifetime. (See also the pertinent articles in the Encyclopedia Britannica).

In spite of all this, Nelson's mission was an entire success. He drove home to the Neapolitan king, now Ferdinand II, that a nation was liable for all the engagements made and injuries done by its government de facto. This principle was finally accepted by the government of the Two Sicilies which assumed responsibility for the wrongs done and indemnified the United States government and the citizens concerned.

Mr. Nelson returned to the United States and resumed practice of the law. He had meantime moved to Baltimore. In 1843, in the middle of his administration, following the mass resignation of his cabinet, the now President John Tyler, once Mr. Nelson's colleague in Congress, appointed the latter to be Attorney General of the United States. He played his part in preparing the legal papers which made the annexation of Texas a fact and retired with the President and Cabinet on March 4, 1845. He died in Baltimore on January 3, 1860, and was interred in Greenmount cemetery, that city.

The judges and the bar of the Supreme Court of the United States adopted resolutions on the death of Mr. Nelson on January 20, 1860, when strong tributes were paid to him by James A. Bayard, Attorney General Black, Justice McLean and others.

Mr. Nelson was the half brother of Madison Nelson who was Chief Judge of the Circuit Court of Frederick and Montgomery counties and Associate Judge of the Court of Appeals.—By J. F. Minor Simpson.

SOUTHERN STATES AS SEEN BY REV. OWEN

tains have come into great prominence in our country. Prior to the Revolution much of this area was an unknown wilderness. Now and then adventurous hunters had penetrated the mountain wilderness and brought back fantastic tales of a mysterious paradise beyond the rim of the Blue Ridge with forests abounding in game of every kind, sparkling streams filled with fish. After the Revolution frontiersmen hungry for free land, began to move into the area and build homes.

As our national expansion moved westward the Southern Mountains and the people who lived there, were forgotten and left to themselves. Now the area has been discovered again and has come into great prominence. The first to discover this neglected area was the church. Many religious bodies began to send missionaries down there to establish schools, churches, and mission stations, and other forms of social and religious service. Our church still maintains a number of churches, mission stations, and other services, including two colleges where any worthy student may receive higher education even though he may have no money. And the regular cost is about one-fourth of what it would be elsewhere. We visited both of these colleges.

Next, the Southern people began to discover that the Mountain afforded a good cool summer climate. That began to transform the area into a popular summer resort that matches Florida in the winter except on a much larger scale. Just as people in the areas of cold weather go to Florida for the mild winter climate, so people living in the areas of hot summers go to the Land of the Sky to enjoy the cool summer climate. They come there by the hundreds of thousands from almost every Southern state as far west as Texas. Also tourists from almost every state are seen there for the summer season. This fact has brought much prominence and prosperity to the people.

Also, in more recent times, the Federal Government has discovered the area and moved by establishing a series of great national parks and opening them up to the public by a network of improved highways and camping facilities. The nearest of these parks to us, is the Shenandoah National Park in Virginia through which the noted Skyline Drive has been constructed. This National Park, dedicated in 1936 by Franklin Roosevelt, comprises 194,000 acres of scenic grandeur.

The best known of these reservations is the Great Smoky Mountain National Park located on the border between North Carolina and Tennessee. It comprises nearly half a million acres. It was purchased by North Carolina, Tennessee, and the Federal Government paying one-half, and John D. Rockefeller paying the other half on condition that a memorial be established to his mother at Newfound Gap where the highway crosses the summit of the range. The Memorial Plaque, mounted on a big bronze plate, is located on a high terraced wall, and reads—

"For the Permanent Enjoyment of the People—This Park was given one-half by the Peoples and states of North Carolina and Tennessee and by the United States of America, and one-half in memory of Laura Spelman Rockefeller by the Laura Spelman Rockefeller Memorial founded by her husband, John D. Rockefeller." This Park contains 16 peaks which are among the highest of improved highways, 71 miles of secondary roads, 600 miles of sparkling streams plunging down mountain sides, filled with fish such as Rainbow Trout and Speckled Trout, and Bass. The Federal Government makes no charge for fishing but state license are required.

The Smoky Mountains are said to be one of the oldest as well as one of the most scenic ranges in the world. The name comes from the blue haze in the air. Prior to World War I the area was almost unknown to the American public. It was purchased in 1930 and dedicated in 1940. In this short time it has become one of the most popular of our National Parks. In this great forest reserve is found almost every native American wild beast. Bear can be seen almost anywhere along the highway. They come to the camping sites and picnic tables to ransack the garbage cans. One seldom sees the mountain lion called the panther unless he camps out at night in the mountains and fries meat. Then they are apt to pay you a visit. In this park alone are 52 species of American fur-bearing animals.

Hearth Fire
Familiar as is the term backlog, not every housewife knows its practical use. Before laying the fire, put one log on the floor of the hearth against the back wall and behind the andirons. This log keeps the draft from drawing the fire directly into the masonry and wasting heat.

Oscillated Germs
Oscillators are being used today in the chemical and pharmaceutical industries in many instances because of their bacteria-killing properties. As a highly mageto-strictive material for the laminations in this device was needed, nickel was selected. Below its saturation point, nickel has the highest magnetostriuctive value of any material known.

Defense Against Mildew
Sunshine and fresh air are the homemaker's best defense against mildew and mold. A furnace fire also helps rid the house of musty odors.

Cheep! Cheep! Cheep!
Few people realize that the 14 English sparrows turned loose in Central Park in 1866 are the ancestors of the millions of these birds all over the United States.

Statistics On Age
Approximately one-twentieth of our population is over the age of 45 years, and about 8 per cent are over 65 years.

Important Science
Soil conservation is one of man's most important sciences. The World Book encyclopedia states that a number of flourishing civilizations have disappeared because the countries' soil became exhausted or was washed away.

Uncle Sam Says

School bells are again ringing and thousands of children are back in classrooms all over the country. And many of these little boys and girls are crossing the thresholds of learning for the first time, starting the great adventure of beginning an education in a free land. They can go all the way, and that means college, if they learn to save. The School Savings Program teaches them to be thrifty and children who learn to save will certainly be better citizens tomorrow.
You parents—be sure there is a School Savings Program at your school and be sure too, that your children are investing in U. S. School Savings Stamps.

Don't Let "Colds" Ruin Production!

This is the time when infectious coryza (commonly called "colds") hits many a flock.
This disease, caused by a tiny bacterium, can do great damage—in production loss and death. At first sign of coryza, give Dr.
Salsbury's Ar-Sulfa
in the drinking water. Stops losses promptly. Ask for Ar-Sulfa.

Down the Line with Johnny Bell

How not to "see the sights!"
Telephone cables and gunsights should never be seen together! For a single bullet hole in a telephone cable may cut off the service of several telephone subscribers.
Telephone companies are grateful for the fine work now being done by rifle and gun clubs, Boy Scout troops, and others to urge sportsmen to avoid this hazard to the lines.

Biggest barn in the county?
It might seem that way, if you're painting it by yourself. But when several good neighbors work together, things go quickly and smoothly.
It's pretty much the same way on a telephone party line. When you answer your ring promptly, and allow some time between calls so that others may use the line, you're helping yourself and your neighbors to better telephone service. A little co-operation pays big dividends.

This fleet is out every day
You see them often nowadays—these familiar telephone trucks. In town and out on the open road, they're on the job come rain or shine. This company's fleet of hundreds of trucks and cars—manned by skilled and experienced crews—is playing an important part in our program to provide better telephone service for more people.

phone Company of Baltimore City.

Trust God

Lesson for October 23, 1949

SHOOTING WARS and cold wars were going on. A great whirlpool of international intrigue was roaring around and around, and Judah was in the midst of everything. The star of the once-great-empire of Egypt was setting, and the star of the new and powerful nation of Assyria was rising. Judah was only one of 20 or more little countries between those giants. Some of the little nations were trying to take advantage of the disturbed situation by getting up little empires of their own. All of them were scheming and scrambling for a place in the sun. Some were betting on Assyria, some on Egypt; no one knew just what to expect, but every one was afraid.

Dr. Foreman

Cowardly King, Bold Prophet

INTO ISAIAH'S little country of Judah an invading army was marching, and the hearts of king and people trembled "like leaves in the wind." Little Judah was being invaded by a combination of two ambitious powers, Syria and Israel, either one larger and stronger than Judah. Isaiah had to go out and try to calm the mind of the King. It was of no use; it was clear that King Ahaz did not believe the prophet. But Isaiah was right nevertheless.

The foreign army that looked so big would not win the war. The alliance that looked so frightening did not last. It could not last, because God was against it. Military men and others too find such things hard to believe.

Is not God "on the side of the largest battalions"? Is not "Githar fustest with the mostest men" the one and only recipe for victory? Nevertheless, the prophet was right. In fact, whenever a prophet raised a banner inscribed, Trust in God, it was not likely to be at a time when things were going smoothly in the world. That banner most often appeared in times of trouble, of darkness and dismay, of wars and invasions.

Leagues Don't Always Last

The situation had a different angle, later on. The Syria-Israel invasion collapsed, just as Isaiah said it would. But still the little nations jockeyed and maneuvered. It looked like a death-grapple between Assyria and Egypt and every nation wanted to be on the winning side. So it was a great time of treaty-makings, of pacts and agreements and alliances.

Isaiah changed the form of his message to suit the changing times, but the core of it was still the same. To King Ahaz he had said: Don't be afraid of hostile alliances; trust in God. To King Hezekiah and others he said, in effect: Don't put all your hope in alliances; trust in God. Egypt will fail you, any alliance you form will melt away in time.

But God will not melt away. You can depend on him. Now in our time the situation is strikingly like what it was in Isaiah's day. People today are tempted to put their trust in what is big and imposing. Big nations, big armaments, big armies, big alliances.

Men once put their trust in the League of Nations, and it died (of cowardice and dishonesty, among other things). Millions put their trust in the Axis, and for awhile it looked as if the Axis powers would overspread the earth. But the Axis vanished under the blows of the Allies.

Are All Alliances Bad?

THIS does not mean that no alliance is good, or that no treaty can be relied on, or that the United Nations (for instance) is bound to collapse. What Isaiah is driving at is this: God has a Purpose to work out in this world, and the name of it is Justice, Righteousness, Peace, Love.

Any nation or combination of nations, any pact or agreement or program, that goes against God's purpose is going against the grain of things and is bound to fail. Pure "power politics" always looks impressive; but the question is: What is the power going to be used for?

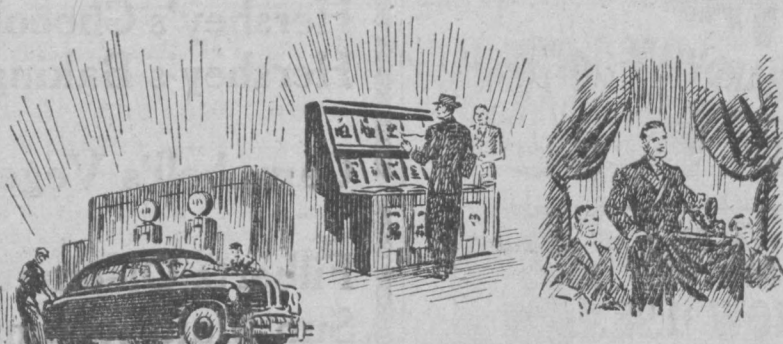

If it is really for the benefit of mankind, God will bless it; but if it is selfish and unjust and against the peace of the world, it will fail, because the God of Justice has set his face against it.

MD. TRUCK WEIGHT LAW "IRONED OUT"

A technical discrepancy which has handicapped enforcement of Maryland's truck-weight laws has been ironed out by joint action of the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles and the State Roads Commission, it was announced Wednesday.

Under one section of the motor vehicle law, truck license fees are determined by the chassis weight of the vehicle. These fees, which range from $17.00 to $250.00 have in the past served to determine the maximum allowable gross weight to be carried by the vehicle. The fees and weights have been divided into nine brackets ranging from 10,000 lbs for the $17.00 fee up to 55,000 lbs for the $250.00 fee.

Weight limitations imposed by the State Roads Commission in accordance with Chapter 99 of the Motor Vehicle Laws are determined by entirely different means and are unrelated to the fee system. The limitations are three in number and are applied independently to each vehicle. The maximum load permitted on any axle is 22,400 lbs, or in the case of two axles spaced less than 50 inches apart, 18,000 lbs on each. The maximum tire load is 600 lbs per inch of tire width. The final factor, known as the "bridge formula", determines the maximum allowable gross weight in pounds by taking the distance in feet from the front to the rear-most axle, adding 40 and multiplying the results by 750.

Since the State Roads Commission intensified its campaign against over-loaded vehicles early this year, many instances have been found where vehicles loaded beyond the maximum legal gross weight restrictions were still under the maximums allowed by their respective registrations. Owners and operators of these vehicles frequently cited the maximum weight established by the fee system, and stamped on their registration cards, as an argument that they should be permitted to carry loads within the limits for which they claimed they had paid a license fee. This argument has been accepted by some trial magistrates as a reasonable basis for dismissal of over-weight charges.

Legal representatives of the State Roads Commission and the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles have had the subject under discussion for some time and recently evolved a joint ruling which has been put into effect. Authority for joint action to remedy such situations is granted by the Maryland Code.

Under the new ruling the system of charging truck license fees will remain unchanged but the maximum gross weights allowable will be limited for each vehicle by application of the legal formulas to that particular vehicle and the amount of such maximum stamped on the registration card. In addition, each truck will be required to display its maximum allowed gross weight and operating weight on the side of the vehicle.

Beginning with 1949, application forms for truck registration have included diagrams by which the maximum gross weight for any vehicle as determined by the weight formulas, could be established. Processing of this data, however, was not possible at the time the current licenses were issued.

Motor Vehicle Commissioner Arthur W. Brice has indicated such data will be required of all new truck registrants and will be processed in each case before tags are issued.

MOTORIST'S PRAYER

"Grant me a steady and watchful eye
That no man shall be hurt when I pass by.
Thou gavest life, and pray no act of mine
May take away or mar that gift of Thine.
Shelter those, dear Lord, who bear
me company
From the evils of fire and all calamity;
Teach me to use my car for others'
need,
Nor miss through love of speed
The beauty of Thy world; that thus
I may
With joy and courtesy go my way."

EVERY FARM WIFE A FIRE CHIEF

Help cut down the number of farm fires.
They kill 3,500 people a year. More than half of these fires start in dwellings. Take every precaution. Have flues and chimney cleaned. Get rid of papers and rubbish.
Don't use kerosene or gasoline when starting a fire in a stove. Fire Prevention Week* begins October 9—a good time to start practicing new safety measures.
