LADIES NIGHT

Observed by the Taneytown Kiwanis Club

Club and their guests enjoyed a sumptuous turkey dinner at Taney Inn on Wednesday evening, with President John Skiles presiding.

President John Skiles presiding.

The program following the banquet was one of the best balanced programs ever presented to the club. Elwood Baumgardner of the program committee introduced Miss MacDonald, of Hanover, Pa., who sang two numbers "A Perfect Day" and "The World is Waiting for the Sunrise." Mr. Baumgardner next presented Mr. Paul Worcester director of the Hanover Elks Chorus who sang "Homover Elks Chorus who sang "Homing" and "I Love Life." The finale of the musical end of the program was two duets by Miss MacDonald and Mr. Worcester entitled, "Just A Wearing For You" and "Your Eyes Have Told Me So." Mrs. Wallace

Yingling was piano accompanist. Another feature of the program was the fine address by Dr. Paul Robert-son, pastor of the United Brethren Church of Hagerstown, Md., and Past President of the Hagerstown Kiwanis Club. He selected as his topic "You" and his speech was greatly appreciated by everyone present. Following the program announcements were made of the completed plans for the Annual Kiwanis Card Party to be held in the Taneytown High School auditorium, Thursday, November 3, at 8 P. M.

At the meeting next week the Club will elect officers and Directors for the

ANNUAL BANQUET OF THE C. OF C.

Over seventy persons composed of members of the Taneytown Kiwanis To Be Held on Thursday, November 17th

The October meeting of the Taneytown Chamber of Commerce convened in the Firemen's Hall last Monday night with M. C. Fuss, president in night with M. C. Fuss, president in the chair. Announcement was made that the Baust Reformed Church had been awarded the contract of serving the annual Chamber of Commerce Banquet to be held in the High School auditorium on November 17. The ladies of this church are noted for the splendid banquets they serve with skillful felicity, and characterized by abundance of good food, deliciously prepared in amounts far beyond the ability of any hungry audience to consume. With eager anticipation everyone is looking forward to this outstanding social event of the community.

Announcement was further made that this year the program of enter-tainment for the banquet will be in the form of a stage show. This type of program was adopted for this year in response to a survey of the membership to ascertain the type of program most desired. The response

For this reason members of the Executive Committee went to Baltimore recently to book up the best talent available for this purpose. The troupe secured will include the following talent. Heading the troupe will be Mr. Ad Lieder, noted radio entertainer on the C. B. S. Chain. He will act as Master of Ceremonies and lead the audience in the singing of lead the audience in the singing of popular songs. With the troupe will popular songs. With the troupe will come one of the noted magicians of Baltimore who will amaze the audience with his mysterious tricks and acts. Another attractive feature of the show will be two teen age girls who are very gifted acrobatic danc-ers in popular demand. There will also be a male soloist and Marimba player, both of popular radio fame. This will be a well balanced show, strictly clean, highly entertaining, such as has seldom been brought to our community for an occasion of this

This new type of program, secured in response to the expressed wish of the members, is another reason why so many are looking forward to the annual Banquet this year. All members of the Chamber will be presented as a gift two free tickets to the banquet. The chairman of the membership committee, Sam Breth, reports that it is upgent for everyone to renew his it is urgent for everyone to renew his membership promptly so that the Baust Reformed Church may know how many to prepare for at the Ban-following slate of officers for the new but will be a fine opportunity for evyear: President, M. C. Fuss; First Vice-President, David Smith; Second Vice-President, Rev. Charles S. Owen; Secretary, Bernard J. Arnold; Treasurer, Charles R. Arnold. The report of this committee was accepted and the election will be held at the November meeting. The Chamber of Commerce signs at the town approaches were reported in a poor state of repair, and were ordered redecorated that they may betoken the alert and progressive spirit of the community. Also the matter of one united Community Chest for Taneytown, was discussed. The thought was that it might take the place of the numerous various causes during the year. No action being taken, the matter was referred for future thought and dis-

The annual Christmas Festivities for the community as a whole, received attention. The proposed program CHANGE IN DATE OF MEETING for the Festival of Lights, the Adult for the Festival of Lights, the Adult Christmas party, and the Children's Theater Party, were discussed. The recommended date for the Festival of Lights is Dec. 9, for the Adult party, Dec. 22, and the Children's party, Dec. 23. For these purposes a committee was appointed to work out the details and bring back a rec-ommendation at the next meeting. The committee appointed for this purpose consists of Rev. Charles S. Owen, chairman; Raymond Perry, C. G. Bowers, Edward Reid, Harry Dougherty, David Smith and Sam Breth. A publicity committee to publicize the program, was named consisting of David Smith, Edward Reid, John Hoagland, Charles Cashman and Robert Feeser

The Chamber extended a vote of thanks and congratulations to the Town Fathers for the contemplated plan of installing a complete new street lighting system in the town. It will consist of the latest and most up to date equipment.

One of the outstanding events of the meeting was the address by Dr. A. R. Koontz. Dr. Koontz is a surgeon of note, chairman of the Committee of Public Education of Baltimore Medical Society, and Assistant Prof. of Surgery at the Johns Hop-kins Medical School. Speaking on Socialized Medicine, he pointed out the sorry results of this system wher. ever tried, and warned against the adoption of this type of socialistic program in our country. In reponse to the address a motion was adopted conveying to our Representatives in Washington our insistent demand that they oppose such a move.

After adjournment refreshments were served to the members present in the form of ice cream and cake.

Both of these gifted leaders prove that we have in Taneytown talent equal to anything that can be brought in from the outside.

The local churches and pastors showed the accustomed spirit of fine cooperation, for which Taneytown is noted, working together to make this community service a splendid success. Charles S. Owen, pastor of the host church, presided at the observance. Glenn L. Stahl, Pastor of the Lutheran Church, offered the pastoral prayer, and Arthur W. Garvin, pastor of the E. U. B. #### The Lion's Club Meeting

Robert Thomas, President of the Taneytown Lions Club, in addressing the club at its meeting Tuesday evening at the Taney Inn announced that all arrangements are nearing completion for the 2nd annual Amateur show being sponsored by the club at 7:59 p. m., Dec. 1. The show held last year was well attended and many remarked afterward of it being the best Amateur Show they had ever witnessed. Vice President Don R. Webb, who is the able Chairman in charge of arrangements for the Amateur Night Program for this year, has been carefully planning the show for some time and expressed a belief that this show is expected to be even better than last year's. It should be, without question, one of the best Amateur Shows ever held in this community and from the sale of many tickets already it is expected to have a large crowd in at-Miss Mary Louise Alexander, of Arlington, Va., spent the week-end at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. There will be prizes awarded the three most outstanding performers and the show will be divided into two classes-those under twelve years of age and those over that age.

All of the club members feel somewhat indebted to our Immediate Past President, Merle Ohler, who furnished this meeting with one hour of entertainment. By way of beautiful colored pictures shown on the screen of America's natural beauty spots, Mr. Ohler shared with us his recent trip through the "Golden West". He showed a large number of pictures of which a few included such interesting places as the Painted Desert and Grand Canyon in Arizona, Holy City and Yellowstone National Park in Wyoming, the Golden Gate Bridge and others in California as well as places in Oregon and other states. These pictures were inspira-tional as well as educational and by witnessing such beautiful pictures one cannot help but believe that America still offers, to the sightseeing tourist, the most beautiful natural scenery of any country in which one could travel. President Thomas announced that our next meeting on Nov. 8 will be conducted by our Committee on Community Betterment with Merwyn C. Fuss in charge. The following meetig will be held on the third Wednesday of November instead of the usual meeting night of the fourth Tuesday. This is due to plans that have been made for a joint meeting with the Kiwanis Club. Everyone is urged to attend as the guest speaker from New York will have a treat for everyone.

P. E. TO RESUME COOKING DEMONSTRATION

Miss Katherine Smith, newly appointed Potomac Edison Home Service Advisor for this area, will continue the popular series of cooking demonstrations on Thursday, Nov. 10, when she presents a program featuring "Reddy Made Recipes and Menus" at the home service hall of the Taneytown Potomac Edison office.

The public is invited to the demonstration, which will start at 2:00 p. m. Free recipe booklets will be distributed and refreshments served.

Westminster's Annual Mummers Parade will be held on Tuesday, Nov.

SOUTHERN STATES AS SEEN BY REV. OWEN

An Account of Recent Trip I wish you always near so that I may Made by Minister and Family

THE BLUE RIDGE PARKWAY The Federal Government is opening the Southern Highlands to the One of the pleasing features of the service was the special musical selections by local talent. One was the well known Men's Chorus of the Lutheran Church under the direction Lutheran Church under the direction ways can be seen cars from almost every state of the Union. One of the every state of these Federal highmost extensive of these Federal highways is the Blue Ridge Parkway. It begins nearby at Front Royal Vir-ginia where it is called the Skyline Drive. From there it is to continue for a distance of nearly 500 miles linking the Shenandoah National Park with the Great Smoky Mountain Park.

You will recall that as you come in from the coastal plains the Blue Ridge is the first range of Mountains that rise up like a great wall. This Range begins over in Pennsylvania, nearby, and extends to Alabama, a distance of about 800 miles. So far as possible the Blue Ridge Parkway runs along the top of this wall. The southern end reaches its highest altitude where it is to be called the Phoenix Highway, named apparently after a constellation of stars. We traveled over some portions of this sector. Parts of it give the best balcony view of the world below one can see in eastern America.

The Blue Ridge Parkway should not be confused with the Appalachian Trail. The latter is a foot path, the paradise of hikers. This Trail runs from Maine to Alabama, a distance of parks 1000 miles through the most nearly 1000 miles, through the most rugged part of mountain wilderness. It crosses the Blue Ridge Parkway at many points where hikers can be seen with packs on their backs on their way from Maine to Alabama or Alabama to Maine or intervening points. points. At many intervals along this Trail, representing a day's journey, are camping facilities to accommo-

On our first day in the Southern Mountains we learned that the Government had recently completed and opened up the new highway to the top of Mount Mitchell, the highest peak east of the Rockies. We were invited to go with a party on that trip. It was one of the most dizzy highways I have ever driven upon. It is so new that the guard rails had not yet been placed along the edge of the cliffs out of which much of it is carved. So the temptation to drive on the left side of the road, in many places, could not be resisted. This new road branches off the Blue Ridge Parkway which crossed the Blue Ridge Mountains in that vicinity, and runs like a crooked finger to the top. It is there that the Blue Ridge and the Craggy Range and Black range collide and push up the highest alti-tudes in the east. The general plan of the Government is to run off prongs from the highway to the scenic peaks in the area. For example at the Pisgah reservation a prong will be run off to Mt. Pisgah, the most scenic peak in the area. And like-wise at the Smoky Mountain Park a prong is run off the main highway up (Coatinued on Fifth Page.)

4-H CLUB NEWS

The Taneytown Agriculture 4-H Club held their annual "Parents Night" in connection with their reg-ular club meeting Monday, Oct. 24. We had nineteen guests and twentyseven members present. The members answered to roll-call by naming a breed of dog.

Following the reading of the minutes we had our old business. We plan to have a square dance practice some time in the near future. The club members stories and pictures were handed in, so they could be arranged and placed in our club scrap

In our new business we appointed a committee to inquire about kinds and prices of cameras, so our club may get one.

We had a movie and demonstration following our business meeting. Merlin Shank, a county milk tester, gave a very interesting demonstration on "Testing Milk". Mr. Schabinger showed a movie called "Man Made Miracles." He also helped us fill out our club score card for the year. The meeting was adjourned and we had some recreation then. Refreshments were served. Club Reporter M. N.

The Sea Shell Room is available for small banquets which is Bookbinder's most unique dining room. Shells from many shores line the walls of this delightful haven. It was designed and decorated by one of the city's foremost artisans. All this is within walking distance of such interesting shrines as Carpenter's Hall, Independence Hall, Benjamin Franklin's last resting place, the first bank of North America and many others. One day spent above topped off by a sumptuous meal at Bookbinder's is a day long to be re-membered. There is a small section of the antiquated 'Fire Marker' display. NEWSPAPERS NOT FAILING DUTY TO THEIR PUBLIC

"There is a lot of criticism of the press going the rounds today, both constructive and destructive, that deserves more analysis," according to the Arkansas Press Association Magazine. Most of the constructive arguments are being made by sound-thinkments are being made by sound-thinking men; the destructive talk is by those who have axes to grind, or who do not want the public appraised of the sound thinking men; the destructive talk is by those who have axes to grind, or who lamp, electric lamp, Aladdin lamp, do not want the public appraised of the sound talk the the whole truth of government or individual enterprise.

In a community that is being served by but one local newspaper, the publisher has a greater responsibility to his readers than in communities served by two or more publications. It is incumbent on him to present the news in full, as it happens, in as much detail and form as many pertinent angles as it is possible for him to do, mechanically, financially, and otherwise. To fail in his duty would be to invite immediate competition, lose a portion of his newspaper's circulation, and sacrifice much of the prestige of his publication.

Advertisers, both local and national, discovered long ago the highly important fact that their advertising remains alive for several days in their local weekly newspaper. It is read and reread many times because the paper is not bought for sensational or lurid headlines-but is bought and preserved in order that all members of the family shall have the opportunity of carefully reading all of the news of their community. The advertisements, therefore, are seen more times and are studied more carefully.

The weekly newspapers are not failing their readers. On the contrary, reader interest and confidence are growing with each new day.

SOME THINGS YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT COMMUNISM AND RELIGION

Communism cannot make education a weapon in its hands so long as religion is secure in its own right to teach and to educate.

Communism cannot dominate unless it has the power to remake the life of the people. It cannot ignore religion and do that.

So here, then, is a report on what Communism seeks to do about religion in the U.S. A., as judged by what it has already done elsewhere and has SAID it will do here at the first op-

Wearing of Grotesque Masks Antedates Greek Golden Age

advent of group revelry and com- frightful. munal rites. Most savage tribes have used them for supersitious, ceremonial and militant reasons. The old Greeks, separated from savagery by a gossamer web of scant time, knew masks and used them in the ceremonies and orgies attending the worship of Dionysus,

The comic masks were grotesque, laughing countenances; the tragic ones were dignified faces, but sometimes frightful.

the Greek Bacchus, god of drink and male fertility. From these rituals sprang Greek drama, comedy and tragedy, forerunner of the modern play.

The word "mask" derives from the Italian "maschera," traceable to the Arabic "maskharah" (buffoon) and "sakhira" (to ridicule). The Dionysian processions were at first ridiculous parades and carousals by the clowning, wine-imbibing devotees of the god until the songs and wild chants began to depict the deeds of Greek heroes beset by fate. Then, the Greek drama was given shape.

Some of the masks used in ancient plays were like modern ones, merely coverings for the face, but head. They were fashioned from the

> Some of the Greek masks had large, wide-open mouths containing metal bars or other sounding devices to strengthen the voices of the speakers to carry their words across the huge amphitheaters.

Masks which seem to owe their origin to riotous religious observance, were retained by religion after they were discarded generally by the serious theater. After regular drama was divorced from face covering, private theatricals, known as masques, prevailed at the courts of Europe in the 17th century.

They were called masques because of the use of the head masque, representing romantic, his-torical or allegorical characters on occasions of festivity or solemnity. They were akin to the French farce.

Masks find their greatest theatrical use today in the Japanese theater. The sacred dances and dramas of Tibet are carried out; with the aid of extremely ornate and grotesque masks.

In sacred ceremonies of the middle ages, masks and the Dionysian spirit persisted in Christian worship until devout Christians put an end to these relics of paganism. But masquerades, before Christian fast days were sanctioned by the church until the 16th century. And even today, secular mas-querades, not sponsored by divine representative, precede Christian fast days.

"On fast eves," Christian zealots complained, "Chrisians give themselves to voluntary madness, don masks, exchange sexes, clothethemselves like spectres, and surrender to Bacchus and Venus, considering any pleasure allowable." Masks must have been useful in the concealment of identity of those tossing respectability to the winds.

A modern example of a period of masked carnival in which the senses are surfeited on festivity before they are denied to feed the soul is America's Mardi Gras at New Orleans, preceding Lent.

The custom of masking the face at Hallowe'en probably grew from most of them covered the entire the practice of masquerading on the eve of religious observance. bark of trees first, then from leather and wood in the design of the poets of All Saints, or Allhallows, Nocomposing the plays. We have heard and seen blossoms on some fruit trees in the Fall but this is the first year that we have seen the second crop of fruit. Mr. Chas. Cluts, of Keysville, showed us several apples of the Harvest variety that grew on his tree this October. Of course the fruit is small, about the size of a hulled walnut, but we are sure the apple will not reach maturity before the snow falls.

goes up and up for a distance of 16 miles before reaching the top. Some of grades are very steep and the hairpin curves are extraordinary. Sometimes it zig zags straight up the steep mountain sides or tunnels through mountains, or is carved out of precipitous cliffs where you look down on mountain ranges far below or out on many states and cities in the far distance. The road ends in a big level parking lot a few feet from the top of Mount Mitchell. None of the peaks in the east are covered with snow in the summer. But that day, when it was so hot below, we came near freezing and the women put on their wraps.

On top of the peak is the grave of Rev. Elisha Mitchell, at one time Prof. of Geology in the University of He discovered the peak after whom it was named and lost his life in exploring those mountains by falling over a cliff at night. They buried his body on top and erected as a monument to him, a big stone observation tower, around which are located the U-S. weather instruments.

It is expected that the Blue Ridge Parkway will be finished in the near future and opened up to the public. There will be picnic tables and camping facilities at intervals along the way. Often it will widen out into some parking area where one can down upon the world below. Looking toward the east from many Wakefield-Preaching Service, 9:00 of these natural observation towers one can see the coastal plains stretching far away toward the sea. ## Sleep Under An Automatic Blanket

You who have never slept under an automatic blanket still have ahead of you the thrill of discovering true sleeping enjoyment. If that sounds like an exaggerated claim, don't take our word for it. Talk to anyone who has used an automatic blanket. Few, if any, electrical appliances have ever aroused user enthusiasm to such an extent. Here's why!

Set your control and sleep under the same soothing warmth all night, regardless of temperature changes. No getting up for extra covers. The automatic control takes care of more or less heat

Choose The Best!

Lesson for October 30, 1949

IT HURT Isaiah's patriotism, and his religion too, to see how fast his country was going down hill. Most of the troubles Isaiah saw are with us today. Wealthy women spending more and more on them-selves; leaders who are irresponsible, self-seeking and incompetent; poverty unprevented and uncared-for; drunkenness high and low. Isaiah, and other prophets as well, saw in the sin and drunkenness of Dr. Foreman the times the sign and symbol of national decay. To the careless, the selfish and the wild, to those who were "leaders" but were leading in the wrong direction, Isaiah kept saying, in many different ways, Choose the

The Prophets' Successors

THERE WAS A TIME when the church put most of her preaching emphasis on individual religion: Get right with God! was the cry. The church of today has not by any means given up her emphasis on personal religion, but we are learning from the prophets what social righteousness means. The church in our time is the logical and actual successor to the prophet's work.

The church is doing more than ever to awaken the conscience of society, in fact the church itself has a duty to be the conscience of society. One of the problems about which our nation needs to be waked up is one that Isaiah and Jeremiah faced, only we have it in a more desperate form.

We call it alcoholism; they called it by an uglier, more suitable word: drunkenness. Even in those days drinking was a problem; it cut down the national health, wealth and wisdom. Nowadays it is worse because of two factors. One is the higher percentage of alcohol in beverages such as whiskey, unknown in those days. The other factor is advertising.

Where Drunkards Start

A GAINST ALL THIS the church must keep saying and persuading people, Choose the Best! But it does comparatively little good to say this to the confirmed alcoholic. It makes more sense to say it to young people. For the sad feature of alcoholism is that it begins in the high schools.

The Yale School of Alcohol Studies has collected evidence indica-ting that two-thirds of all alcoholics begin drinking habits in the early high school years.

A recent Gallup poll shows the greatest percentage of drinkers to be in the age group 21 to 39. Today, it is estimated, there are four million alcohol addicts or excessive drinkers who are in more or less constant trouble with their families and employers.

Drunkenness costs industry in America no less than one billion dollars a year, and has a lot to do with the break-up of homes and with crime generally.

Allied Youth

SOMETHING is being done to stop this, which you should know about. There is a movement known as Allied Youth, a national educational organization working in high schools all over the country. Its work is positive, not negative. It is not trying to pass laws or to bring back prohibition. What it does try to do-and it is succeeding remarkably well in many places-is to give young people a way of life that will enable them to meet social pressure for drinking without loss of "face." Every Allied Youth post in a school has three aims: I. To meet the social and recreational needs of young people.

Every New Year's Eve, for instance, when millions of Americans are getting sickly drunk, more than 6,000 young people gather in Detroit for the biggest dry party in America, sponsored by Allied Youth.

2. To establish within the school a fellowship of young people who do not think it is necessary to drink to be smart. Such a group can change the attitude of an entire school.

3. To build a solid foundation of sentially, Allied Youth is saying to young people everywhere, "Choose the Best!"
