TANEYTOWN GIRL REPRESENTS 4-H CLUB AT CHICAGO

Caroline Shriner, a seventeen year old 4-H girl from Taneytown, Carroll County, Md., wins an educational trip to the twenty-eighth National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago on her 4-H Achievement Record. Caroline has been an active member of the Taneytown 4-H Club for six years. During this six year period she has completed many projects in the fields of foods, food preservation, home furnishings, and an outstanding record in the clothing field. She has made much of her own clothing for sewed her complete school wardrobe. Caroline has always taken the 4-H Motto "To make the best Better" very seriously. For example, one of Caroline's 1948 clothing projects was a wool suit which she styled in the county 4-H style review and won a blue ribbon, but was not chosen as one of the three county winners to compete in the state style show. members of our local service clubs on Wednesday next when "Charlie" Keller, New York Yankee star speaks before a joint meeting of both clubs at Taney Inn. Mr. Keller, as you know, is a native Marylander having lived most of his life in the Middletown valley area of neighboring Frederick County. He is a graduate of Frederick High School and the University of Maryland.

It was while attending U. of M. that he caught the eye of several "Big League" scouts, finally signing with the New York Yankee organization.

As a member of the Yanks he acquired the nickname of "King Kong" because of his power at the plate. Charlie has been having more than his share of tough luck for the past two seasons centered around a back ailment. He will bring an interest-"Big League Star."

Mrs. Harley Holter, of York Taneytown is a sister of Mr. Keller and it is through the efforts of Lion Harley Holter that this event is possible. Several selections by, a well known bass soloist, Mr. William F. Peltz, of Baltimore, will round out the evening's program.

God for it all! In another bus on a previous trip met a young girl residing in West-minster who stated while in one of the big department store, her handbag was taken from her which she had laid on the counter. She reported it to the floor walker who told her to return within an hour. It was most interesting to know all about the place which was built sixty years ago. As she sat in the dining room looking out across the many acres in the direction of Keysville, her thoughts were rolling back the years when she lived here when she was ten to thirteen years of age. She told me that she sewed dresses for a lady who was a dressmaker at the time 'around the town' and work-ed for $1.38 a week! Now, Folks that dressmaker is no longer on earth but would it not have been much nicer if she had given the proper salary ac-cording to those times? Mrs. Irene de Leon Love spent the week-end in Philadelphia with her family. Mrs. Florence deLeon Fleckl of Germantown, who is the neice of Mrs. Love and a recent bride gave an "At Home" and reception at the bride's new home in honor of Mrs. Love. Besides meeting friends of many years standing, there were many members of the immediate family present.

There were about 56 present from Taneytown and district. Keysville and Emmitsburg. Miss Katherine Smith, newly appointed Home Service Advisor, very ably demonstrated her skill. Those who were fortunate enough to carry home a dish made were: Mrs. Winfield Ridgly, Mrs. Clare Null, Mrs. Gilbert Stine, Mrs. Robert Stine and Mrs. Harry Dougherty. Two of the dishes made were sampled by all.

Mrs. Lewis Elliot, York Springs, Pa., was one of the eight who received awards for 50 or more years of continuous teaching service in Sunday School. The awards were presented by the Penn State Sabbath School Association at the Adams Co Council of Christian Education's Rally and Planning Conference held Sunday evening, November 6th, at Bethlehem Lutheran Church, Bendersville. Eleven of those years of teaching were in Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church, Taneytown, from 1904-1915. Those who were privileged to be in her class remember her as a very fine teacher. Because of sickness Mrs. Elliot was not able to be present.

It was announced today by C. Ray Fogle, County Savings Bonds chair man, that for the first nine months of this year, sales of "E" Bonds in Carroll County amounted to $304,345. against $298,350. for the same period last year.

The State as a whole, he said, ranked 15th among the States in percent-age of increase in "E" Bond sales for 1949 over 1948. Also, he advised there will be a publicity and informational campaign, without quotas, from November 7th through December 10, to maintain the interest created by the recent opportunity drive.

I taught a class of young Methodist children and there were thirty-two in number in my first Parsonage when I had this class and to my amazement not one of those children knew that Christ was a Jew! One never hears of Jewish peo-ple speaking ill of Gentiles but many times, I have heard Gentiles speaking ill of Jews! My Minister, during the war when the Jewish people were be-ing massacred by the thousands by the Germans after taking all their wealth, preached in his sermon that Sunday morning that he was ashamed to admit that he had German blood in his veins. He continued with his sermon that the Gentiles were full of jealousy! That reminds me that children do not have no prejudices. Our prejudices are all learned from our elders. This is shown by the little girl mentioned by sociologist, J. B. Gittler in Scientific Monthly. She learned in her Sunday School lesson that Jesus was a Jew. "My," she said. BUSY DAYS_THESE

 This is one of the farmers busiest seasons. His corn is now in shocks, row on row, and inbetween space is being prepared for and sowed in wheat, rye, or barley. Soon corn husking will be in full swing. The pumpkins in the cornfield have already been gathered and stored in the cow barn for part food for the coming winter. The stubble field of last harvest has been deep ploughed and the main crop of wheat sowed. The field work of the season is about over, but is the farmer's done? By no means. He must see that the pigs in the wood lot are well fed and fattened for in six weeks time they must be ready for slaughter.

If the farmer has been wise he has a good drove of steers which he will fatten for market with part of his abundant corn crop, for beef is now expensive and good prices may be expected.

Perhaps he has a field of buckwheat which will soon be ready for the harvester, and if so, if he is wise he will have a goodly number of bee hives with other busy workers who have added extra profit to his account.

Yes the farmer is a busy man, but what life is happier? I spent my first 20 years on the farm and know its chores from planting to harvest and pronounce the life the happiest that there is, but the most responsible. Here's to the farmer, may his buckwheat cakes and sausage lay well on his stomach

RUTHLESS MONOPOLY

W. J. H.

Last year, when the contract between the United Mine Workers and the soft coal mine operators was signed, John L. Lewis declared that it was the best labor contract ever negotiated. He was completely correct-no comparable labor force on earth is so well paid, or has so many other valuable benefits.

That is the identical contract that the operators wish to renew-if the union chiefs will give assurance that the miners will be allowed to work every day on which business is available

What then has caused the present bitter and destructive controversy?

The answer is that the mine owners are not willing to give Mr. Lewis the powers of management, or to let him decide when coal may or may not be produced regardless of public demand or the economics of the industry, or to let him further cement and extend his one-man monopoly power over an industry which is essential to the internal and external security and welfare of the United States.

A spokesman for the Operators' Negotiating Committee has said, "In his mad race for power, John L. Lewis is impoverishing our employees and is willing to destroy the coal industry." Those are hard words ---but how else can Mr. Lewis' policies and actions be described? The country needs the coal. The high-paid jobs are waiting for the miners. But no industry can accept a ruthless labor monopoly that attempts to dictate every decision .--- Industrial News Review.

FEESERSBURG

There is an old Thanksgiving Day custom still observed by some fami-lies around Plymouth, Mass. At breakfast beside each plate are plac-ed five grains of corn. They sym-bolize the pitiful ration to which each of the original Pilgrims were eventually reduced in their first bitter Mass. winter, before the relief ship arrived from England and saved them from starvation. Out of gratitude for the arrival of that ship the Pilgrims instituted Thanksgiving Day and carried on to reap harvests of their own making. They were hungry but their spirits were high.

Love So Amazing Lesson for November 13, 1949

LONG AGO riding in his slow other readers have asked ever since: Does the prophet speak of himself or of some other? The answer given by Philip (see Acts 8) has been the answer of the church ever since: This prophecy can be understood only in the light from Calvary's Cross. Philip did not say, and we need not insist, Dr. Foreman that the prophet had Jesus, and Jesus only, in mind when he wrote.

What we do say is that while be said to run like a scarlet thread through the New Testament. It was in the back of the minds of Paul and John and Peter alike. This great prophecy sheds a light on what otherwise had been a black opaque blot-the death of Christ.

What would otherwise be simply a horrible tragedy, perhaps the greatest tragedy of history, the perfect case of complete injustice, the final evidence that there is no God, in the light of Isaiah 53 becomes a center of glory.

Instead of being ashamed of the cross on which Jesus died, the church sings, "In the cross of Christ I glory.".... "Love so amazing, so divine, demands my soul, my life, my all." We believe that Christ suffered not for his own but for others' sake. Suffering, not forced but willingly undergone, suffering not as mere pain but that others might be saved, suffering on behalf of others and for love of them-this is the key to the riddle of existence, this is the key to the heart of God.

Does it matter who he is? Are not all shepherds alike? No more alike than all men are alike. Some are mere hirelings. They flee when the wolf appears. When danger assails

The Psalmist had a shepherd of whom he boasted in the face of want and danger and death. These three are man's greatest enemies. Never-thalese whon David thought of them whom he boasted in the face of want and danger and death. These three are man's greatest enemies. Never-theless, when David thought of them, he exultingly exclaimed: The Lord is my shepherd. And what confidence he enemies L check of the start of the s manifested in the assertion: I shall not want. Could a person feel more at ease, more secure! Where is there a deeper trust!

What we do say is that while these words might have described some one the prophet knew, might have described the whole nation of Israel, might even have described himself,still the words make but a poor picture of any one else, com-pared with the picture they make of Jesus. CHICKENPOX

Chickenpox is primarily a disease of childhood, and most people have had it by the time they become adults Chickenpox is regarded as one of the less serious communicable diseases, but commplications are possible al-though not common. A child's natural resistance to severe illness is weakened by an attack of chickenpox as it is when he suffers from other diseases tians had been willing to let him carry, alone, the burden of the world's sin and grief, there never would have been any Christianityfor there would never have been any Christians. Peter and James and the rest of the apostles would have refused to die for Jesus' sake. The noble army of martyrs would have been an ignoble army of cowards.

No missionary ever would have left home and comforts and country; no mother would have laid down her life for her children; the unselfish service of those who have cared for the sick and the orphaned would never have been done: indeed, had no one ever been willing to suffer for the benefit of others, one wonders whether the world could have even held together this long.

Christ died that the world might live, yes; but others also had to die to make his death avail. He died for Africa, that Africans might live; but Africans died till men like Livingstone and Schweitzer and many a less famous man and woman also went out and lived there in loneliness and died in pain.

Christ died for the little children of the poor, but until the Salvation Army and others like them went down into the slums and suffered there with and for them, those poor little people died without so much as dreaming that God might love them

Christ died for all the lepers in the world; but until a Father Damien, and others no less Christlike, went among the outcast lepers and became outcasts themselves for the love of Christ, those lepers died in the dark.

"Let Him Take His Own Cross Daily"

YES, Isaiah 53 pictures the selfsacrifice of our Lord, above all. But any one who has any intention of being a true servant of God must be willing to find his own life-direction right here. The world does not need more pain; it does need those who will suffer pain to serve others in Christ's name.

vidual's general health and well be-IF CHRIST'S MEN had refused to follow where he led, if all Chris-ance against infection. Adequate and well-balanced meals at regular hours, sufficient sleep, a moderate amount of exercise and clothing adapted to changing weather add to the body's natural defenses. "To avoid infection it is wise to keep away from all unnecessary contact with persons already suffering from colds. It is generally believed that the disease is transmitted from one person to another by infectious material discharged in coughing or sneezing—either directly or indi-rectly, by means of food or objects have been contaminated. When colds become very widespread in the community it is sensible to stay out of crowds whenever possible.

"If a cold does develop, its victim should take immediate steps to overcome the disease. Additional rest is always advisable and large quantities of water and fruit juices are usually recommended. When fever is pres-ent-the patient should go to bed and stay there. If a cold persists the family physician should be consulted, to relieve discomfort or possibly to diagnose some more socious discasse diagnose some more serious disease with early symptoms similar to those of the common cold. It is certainly unwise to allow a cold to hang on, especially if it is a second or third cold caught on top of previous in-fection, for a bad cold or a series of colds can undermine strength and lower the body's resistance to further disease.

"Finally, a considerate patient will make every effort to prevent passing a cold on to family, friends and fel-low-workers. It is important to stay away from others when possible or at least to cover coughs and sneezes with a handkerchief, preferably the disposable paper kind. Special care should be taken not to transmit colds to old people or young children."

person who has it to a well person. It can also be transmitted by articles which the infected person uses.

About two weeks after a child has been in contact with the disease, the red, blistery rash characteristic of chickenpox starts to appear. The rash usually breaks out first on the back, chest and face and spreads rapidly to other parts of the body.

Other symptoms of chickenpox are a fever, followed by slight chill, and sometimes nausea and pains in the back and legs.

Although chickenpox in itself is rarely painful and serious, the doctor should be called when there are any suspicions of the disease. If a child has the disease, the doctor is the one best qualified to give sound advice on how to care for the sick child. Care should be taken to prevent the child from scratching the blisters which the disease raises on the skin. There is, first of all, the danger of additional infection. Moreover, the child who scratches the eruptions may be left with permanent scars on his skin. The blisters from chickenpox, if allowed to "run their course," last for a few hours, then dry up and form crusts and the crusts will dis-appear within a few days without leaving any scars. To prevent secondary infection and relieve the severe itching that some-times comes with chickenpox, the doctor will prescribe ointments and antiseptic solutions for the skin of the child who has the disease.

Although chickenpox occurs most frequently in children between two and six years of age, it can strike at any age. One attack of the disease can give a person immunity to future attacks. Doctors believe that adults who have not had the disease in childhood can get it, particularly during an epidemic of chickenpox in the community.

Electric Blanket Weather

Set your control and sleep under the same soothing warmth all night, regardless of temperature changes. No getting up for extra covers. The automatic control takes care of more or less heat as needed.

PRE-WARMED BED

Say goodbye to a cold and clammy bed. Switch your electric blanket on a few minutes before you are ready to get in, then slip in and enjoy a bed that is warmly "just right."

WARMTH WITHOUT WEIGHT

One lovely blanket does the work of many. No need to pile on extra covers when the temperature falls. Sleep warmly without the tiring weight of heavy covers, in spite of sudden temperature drops.

CHOICE OF WASHABLE COLORS

Electric blankets are available in a wide choice of beautiful colors and look like any fine blanket. They are washable too, in your washing machine of course. Just follow simple directions.

Tests prove it costs about 50c a month-little more than Ic a night for the electricity to operate an electric blanket

Knowing THOSE WE SERVE ୫୫୫୫୫୫୫୫୫୫୫୫୫୫୫୫୫୫୫୫୫୫୫୫୫୫୫୫୫ AND THEIR NEEDS When one of our patrons speaks of getting good service from this bank, what does he mean? He means that our officers took the time necessary to give him as nearly as possible the type of banking co-operation he needed. That sounds simple enough. It is simple. But we could not do our best if we did not feel that we are daily performing a really helpful service for those who come to this bank. The Birnie Trust Company TANEYTOWN, MARYLAND. GIRL SCOUTS

Because of our bake sale on Friday (Nov. 4) no meeting was held on Thursday. The sale was a complete cess, and we hope to have more in the future.

The week before this, our leader, Mrs. Pennington, treated us with a Halloween party which was enjoyed by all and business then went on as usual
