Legion to Observe Pearl Harbor Anniversary

Sunday, Dec. 4, is the anniversary of that ignominious and never to be forgotten sneak attack by the sons of Nippon on our military and naval installation at Pearl Harbor. This dastardly act in furtherance of an extremely false ideology will be spoken of in sardonic whispers by free men everywhere until the end of time. However, as a result of that attack we have an even more potent totalitarian ideology whose tentacles have reached over the entire world holding on to their ill-gotten gains with a tenaciousness that is inconceivable to free men schooled in the processes of free government. This monster is Communism whose principles embody a "Sincere and sinister plot to destroy the republic for which we fought and enter us into serfdom," sic. Trained proponents of this ideology are everywhere debasing our government our schools, our business methods and procedures, yes, our very way of life. These agents are extremely subtle in their approach and have caught many an unsuspecting victim in the multi-strand web that they so aptly weave.

Be alert, cautious, thoughtful, and most of all, be American. Anyone whom you suspect of having Communist leanings should be reported to the Federal Bureau of Investigation without delay.

A concentrated effort by all patriotic citizens is required to combat the ever-spreading threat of the subversive elements we refer to above. We of the American Legion have long led the fight against anti-democratic factions and once again we band together with all the strength we can muster in order that we might more effectively combat this most potent of all enemies of democracy.

We feel that the most fitting tribute we can pay to those who have been transferred to Post Everlasting is an unrelenting fight for the preservation of the way of life for which they gave the last full measure of devotion.

To do this job requires united strength, therefore, the Legion in the Department of Maryland has set aside December 4th as Railroad Round-up day. The entire state will be covered by engines of the 40 and 8 (La Societe des 40 Hommes et 8 Chevaux). These engines will stop in each community which has a Legion Post and pick up the membership cards for the new year from the respective Post Adjutants. The Frederick 40 and 8 engine will arrive in Taneytown at 1:40 P. M. coming here from Emmitsburg and will be escorted through town to the Legion home by the Drum Corps of Hesson-Snyder Post 120. All those interested are invited to view the engine as it passes through our fair city,—by Neal W. Powell, Area Commander for Carroll County.

PLANS FOR CHRISTMAS IN TANEYTOWN

The Chamber of Commerce will Present Programs

According to reports from the Chamber of Commerce which met last Monday night, Taneytown will inaugurate the Christmas season on December 9. On that date there will be observed a Festival of lights at 7:30 P. M. Included in this festival will be the following events. Santa Claus will come to town on his sleigh. The Christmas lights will be turned on. Marking the occasion will be a parade followed by ceremonies in front of the Central Garage near the Four Corners. The master of ceremonies will be Merwyn C. Fuss, president of the Chamber of Commerce. For this occasion a loud speaker will be installed in the tower of the Town Hall so that the ceremonies can be heard all over the village. Further possible use of this loud speaker during the Christmas season, was also discussed.

At the October meeting of the Chamber of Commerce a Christmas committee was appointed to bring in a report and recommendations to the November meeting. The recommendations were for their good work. Those who served on the Christmas committee were Rev. Charles S. Owen, chairman, Raymond Perry, Edward Reid, Harry Dougherty, Charles F. Cashman, Curtis Bowers, David Smith and Sam Breth.

The next event in the community festivities will be the annual adult Christmas party, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce. This will be held December 22, at 7 P. M. It will be held this year on Middle Street instead of the High School auditorium. As such it will be a reversion to the custom of a few years ago. To this end committees were designated lighting and amplification, and other needed facilities for the occasion. Tickets for the prizes to be given away, will go on distribution by the merchants on December 10.

The annual Christmas Theatre party for the children, provided by the Earle Theater, and sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, will be held on December 23, at 2 P. M. After the free show Santa Claus will distribute gifts to the children at the exit. Due to the overcrowding, as last year, admission this year will be limited to children up to 12 years of age. Accordingly it is recommended that children too young to come alone, should come in the custody of an older child instead of an adult. Unless this is done and all the adults stay away, many children will have to miss seeing the show for lack of room.

The Chamber of Commerce likewise held the annual election of officers for the new year. Those elected were: President, Merwyn C. Fuss; First Vice-President, David Smith; Second Vice-President, Rev. Charles S. Owen; Secretary, Bernard J. Arnold; Treasurer, Charles Arnold. These new officers will be installed at the December meeting and take up their duties at the January meeting.

Mr. Zimmerman is the Soil Conservationist for Carroll County. Soil conservation is a part of the work of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. He told of the effort being made to keep the top soil on the farm instead of going down the streams and rivers. Contour farming is the answer and he stated that 75% of the Monocacy River in Maryland is carrying good farm land away following heavy rains. 15% to 18% of farmers along the Monocacy are already cooperating to prevent this loss in valuable farm land.

A film showing the example of contouring and modernization of a farm was enjoyed by the members. The work as filmed was done on the Thrasher farm, Frederick County, last year by the U. S. Department of Agriculture and other assisting agencies.

SOUTHERN STATES AS SEEN BY REV. OWEN

An Account of Recent Trip Made by Minister and Family

FONTANA

Almost everywhere we went in the Southern Mountains, people advised that we go and see Fontana, that this was one place we could not afford to miss. So we took off a day for this purpose. Fontana is one of the T. V. A. Dams. Around it has been fashioned America's newest scenic vacation paradise. It is located on the southern border of the Great Smoky Mountain Park.

One of the surprising facts was to learn that, on the average, ten thousand and tourists were visiting the place per day. On holidays or other special days, it was not unusual for as many as twenty thousand tourists to come. Fontana is both the largest and the highest dam of the T. V. A. System, and one among the largest in the world.

Of course there are many other noted dams in the general vicinity. There is the Hiwassee Dam on the western edge of the park. This is the highest overflow dam in the world. Also there is the Calderwood Dam, Cheoah Dam. Alcoa Dams, and others. Many of these are passed on the way to Fontana. These picturesque dams, and the blue lakes they impound in the rugged mountains, are attracting tourists by the millions. They come from every state of the union and from all over the world. Observation busses, filled with tourists, are frequently seen on the highway going to or from Fontana. These busses are equipped with removable tops so that the passengers can look up and see the towering mountains rising about them.

Of all the dams in the Great Smoky Mountain Park and vicinity, Fontana is by far the most popular and picturesque. The Government has landscaped it with a beautiful design. This dam backs up the Little Tennessee River for a distance of 39 miles. If you prefer you can park your car at Bryson City, a few miles west of the Cherokee Indian Village, and go to Fontana by the water route. From there by boat the distance is 35 miles. Or, if you drive, the distance will be 70 miles through some of the most rugged mountain formations to be found in eastern America.

A few words about this highway to Fontana, might be interesting. It first ascends the semi-circular bowl of the famed Nantahala Gorge. Far ahead one can see the highway etched in the side of the bowl as it follows the pleated contours of the steep sides. Above, sketched against the skyline on the rim of the bowl, can be seen one sector of the Blue Ridge Parkway being constructed. The hair-pin curves of the bobby-pin type, remind one of the roller coaster as he drives upon it. Also there is presented many dizzy views of natural grandeur. This same highway passes through the Joyce Kilmer Memorial Forests, the largest tract of virgin timber in the East. This is dedicated to the memory of the well-known poet, author of Trees, killed in World War I. The highway continues up and down, back and forth, through narrow valleys until it ends at Fontana.

A fine representative group of Taneytown citizens braved the cold winds and threatening skies to witness the laying of the cornerstone of the new Elementary School building on the Uniontown road, last Friday afternoon.

Mathias, of Westminster, and on one side the date and on the other, "Taneytown Elementary School."

AROUND THE TOWN

With all my heart, I wish you every morning
A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning.
I wish you health—life's greatest wealth!

I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer
Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

They say that every reserved seat has been sold for that wonderful movie in New York called, "South Pacific" until late Spring! Just imagine! Thinking about movies, Your Observer saw just about the "Grandest" one—ever in "That Midnight Kiss" of which I wrote in a recent column. It is just chucked full of fine Classical music and as it started and one after the other of the brilliant Stars came on, I realized I was going to love every second of the entire show. Technicolor was the most beautiful of any picture ever shown as instead of the loud coloring and terrific lighting it was soft and most natural and real. There were Stars galore and wonderful music with the grand conductor, Jose Iturbi who also convinces anyone that he is a real actor, too. Italians are without a doubt the real artists of the world when it comes to music, voice and painting with no other to compare. Kathryn Grayson has never been more interesting in voice and a lot of Ooohs! The First Lady of the theatre none other than as you know, Ethel Barrymore was simply a dream as the wealthy Grandmother in Philadelphia of many years ago. The scene of the home carried Your Observer back to Rittenhouse Square in downtown residential section of that famous city in which the story was founded upon. Then there was Mario Lanza singing "Aida" with his excellent Baritone Caruso voice. Of course, to make the laughs there was Jules Munshin and Keenan Wynn. Yes, folks you will love that picture and demand more of its kind. Continued shows like this will not have the public T V minded entirely. Upon leaving the theatre in Baltimore, there was a mob standing on the pavement for the second show and I whispered to a very tired young girl, "That Midnight Kiss" is worth waiting and standing for!" as we both smiled.

One may see The General (our State policeman) on any road at any hour aiding individuals in distress and that any day of the week! Carroll County is most fortunate and I think you know what I mean!

There is an ad in the daily paper appearing ever so often advertising for dogs! Now, I wonder what he really does with those dogs and hope and pray that it is not what Your Observer is thinking! Nuff Sed!

Met a very young Mother of eight children recently. One very seldom hears of big families any more. Perhaps that is the reason she is most patient!

What is nicer than a baby in the house at Christmas? It's a boy! He arrived last week to that nice Dr. and his wife "Around the Town". So, now that big brother will have a real playmate! Congratulations!

A genuine Indian's Arrow was found deep in the ground last summer in the back of "Loves' Retreat". Indians sure were around 'them thar parts'!

Now, this is a true and good one! T V's are grand but they keep you up very late at night! And that reminds me, those in the big city do not object to the late hours which is very evident by the increase in sales of T. V. In less than one year in Baltimore alone the sales jumped from 35,649 to 100,036 sets! In the month of October, the sales were 12,281! T V is only in its infancy but it surely is climbing very fast. A real thing to think about is that hundreds in the country sides will view New York attractions that would otherwise never get anywhere near the farm.

The Original Amateur Hour on TV is worth seeing each Tuesday night at the hour of ten with Mr. Ted Mack taking the place of Major Bowes. That hour makes the "Stars" of tomorrow!

There is the most interesting framed "Discharge" in the year of July 1863 to a soldier from "around the town" and who was the Grandfather of the young dentist in our town. The sword and sash hangs in arch at the door and graces the wall in the living room of the daughter of the soldier and is worth reading!

Calling all hunters! Don't be angry when you are forbidden to trespass on anyone's property! There are many angles to this sort of thing. Your Observer was most surprised to see where a Hunter had gone back in the woods to hunt and there was a cigarette butt between the bark of a tree which had been smoked to the very

PAST EIGHTY

How does it feel to be so old? An old grey haired colored woman past ninety was asked at what age did one lose the yerve for life. Her answer was you'll have axe somebody older dan I is. In childhood time moves as the snail but as age advances the speed of time increases until at length days seem to be but hours and hours but minutes.

One advantage we oldsters have over the younger generation is that we have gone thru all degrees of speed from the ox-cart to the airplane. We have tramped the prairie where plow had never been and have seen the snow fall in November and lay until late March or April. We have ridden in trains over level prairies when the snow had just melted and the ground was covered deep with water and have felt we were traveling on sea instead of on land. We have strolled along the shore of the rock-ribbed coast of Maine and have walked over the sand dunes of Florida and have returned home with the feeling that the best part of the country, after all, is the good old State of Maryland where there is a greater variety of normal products than in any smaller territory in the land.

Our Chesapeake Bay furnishes us with oysters, crabs and a variety of fish unexcelled anywhere while our land produces as wide a variety of grains as does any other land and our maple syrup and sugar rival the far-famed products of Vermont. Yes, I am glad I live in the State of Maryland.

Statehood Is First In Minds Of Hawaiians

ALL THAT REMAINS to remind Hawaiians of a fateful Sunday in 1941 when Japan's air and sea power sought a soft spot in America's Pacific defenses are the rows of white crosses in the cemeteries and the figure "7" under December, on the calendar.

Even the white crosses are vanishing as the bodies of most of the Pearl Harbor dead are being taken home for reburial.

While the name Pearl Harbor is on the tongue of the world as synonymous with surprise and treacherous attack and our defense chiefs are trying to out-guess potential enemies upon the next Pearl Harbor, Hawaiians themselves are concerned with something less military—statehood.

Whether or not the strategic center for control of the Pacific still lies near Pearl Harbor or has shifted elsewhere is not argued in Hawaii.

The people have been keenly interested in statehood since the territory was organized in 1900. The Japanese attack they consider just an event in their history. They'll tell you a long striving to achieve statehood is their history, not to be overshadowed by any one event.

They do not consider it incongruous that Japan's first blow against the nation of which they hope to become a part was aimed at Pearl Harbor. But they are tired of martyrdom and the look of anguished memory that crosses the faces of Americans when December 7 is mentioned. They want equality for their territory with the 48 states.

Health Services At Your Convenience

A few minutes out of a busy day downtown and these people can get a check-up on the health of their lungs. During community-wide chest X-ray surveys to find unsuspected cases of tuberculosis, mobile units like the one above are located at convenient sites so that people can get chest X-rays with a minimum of time and effort. Christmas Seal funds help finance services of this type.

States Open Purses to Aid Old-Age Group

WASHINGTON. — Thousands of old folks are going to get more cash from the public purse. Old age assistance funds or payments have been increased in 11 states so far in the 1949 legislative season. Thirteen other states are studying proposals to give more money to needy citizens who are 65 or older.

Cash help for the old folks runs into millions. Before the 1949 legislative sessions began, about 2,500,000 men and women were getting such aid. The average payment for the United States as a whole was $41.50. The monthly total topped 100 million dollars.

The funds go to needy people 65 or over—oldsters such as those who are not covered by the federal old age and survivors insurance system.

Federal and state governments both contributed money to the old age assistance programs. The federal government shares in payments up to $50 a month.

Minimum Hiked

In the current legislative session, North Dakota increased the minimum payment from $40 to $60 a month in cases where there is only one recipient in a family, and from $30 to $45 when there are more.

The minimum was set at $50 in New Mexico. In Maine, maximum benefits were increased from $40 to $50 a month. Nebraska raised the ceiling from $50 to $55. Montana provided for a hike of $7 in monthly grants that had averaged $45.

The Illinois legislature decided to boost the ceiling from $50 to $65 a month with the provision that it would be adjusted up or down as the cost of living rose or fell in the future.

Higher appropriations also were voted in North Carolina, Idaho, Arkansas, West Virginia and South Dakota.

But the traffic wasn't all one way in the 14 capitals where decisions already have been made. Indiana, Utah and Wyoming made no changes.

California Highest

None of the measures adopted thus far this year has hit the high target raised in California. The voters there last fall approved a proposition to increase benefits for senior citizens from $60 to $75 a month. To meet the added costs, for the rest of the fiscal year ending June 30 and for the next fiscal year, the governor has asked an extra $118,235,000.

Proposals now being considered in 13 states vary quite a bit. But in half of them appropriations would be increased without raising the limits on benefits.

Among the many bills in Massachusetts are some seeking a $75 minimum.

A move is under way in Connecticut to remove the $50 ceiling and base payments on actual need. Minnesota's governor favors removal of limits.

Proposals to increase the maximums from $50 to $60 a month have been made in Michigan and Wisconsin.

Pilots Cheat Coyotes Out of Antelope Meal

CRAIG, COLO. — Two civil air patrol pilots cheated a pair of coyotes out of an antelope dinner near here recently.

The fliers, Jay Brinker and P. Jones, were making a routine flight north of Craig. Brinker noticed two coyotes pussyfooting around a buck antelope which seemed to have its hind foot lifted high off the ground.

Brinker and Jones buzzed the area a couple of times and discovered the antelope's foot was caught between two strands of barbed wire.

The fliers returned to Craig and told game warden Bill Roland what they'd seen.

Then the three of them bundled into Roland's car and drove to within three miles of the antelope. They traveled the rest of the way on snowshoes, rescued the antelope by cutting the barbed wire. Taking it back to Craig, they nursed it overnight and the next day the animal seemed in good shape. The animal was freed near a huge herd of antelope.

Churchill 'Siren Suit' Brings Stylists' Sneer

LONDON. — Winston Churchill's famous "siren suit" brought a sneer from London's style arbiters.

Garbed in a "sort of something" closely resembling a pair of baggy summer flying overalls zipped up the front, loosely belted and with a floppy open collar, Churchill predicted in America that it would be the dress of the future.

The magazine Tailor and Cutter, which has been setting men's fashions since Victorian times, said the wartime prime minister was "off the mark there."

The siren suit lacks artistic appearance, said the weekly, and "structurally it is wrong; it makes for untidiness."

FEESERSBURG

Thanksgiving service held in the Union Bridge Methodist Church on Thursday morning for the community drew a record attendance. The ministers from each of the three churches took part. The Rev. Donald T. McIntosh, Methodist pastor gave the invocation and read the Scripture. The Rev. R. S. Poffenberger, Lutheran minister, offered prayer and led in the responsive reading. The Rev. Samuel Harley, pastor of the Brethren Church, delivered the sermon, and related a children's story for the benefit of the children's choir. This choir was made up of 50 children which sang two Thanksgiving hymns—"We Thank The Heavenly Father" and "Thanks be to God." Soloists were LaRue Devillbiss and Ernest Colwell.

As far as auto accidents were concerned Carroll County has been a comparatively safe place to drive in. There were only 16 accidents for the month of October, with eleven persons sustaining injuries. Sunday is the day when most accidents take place and Saturday the least. The majority of collisions result from exceeding 70 miles per hour. The most dangerous hours to drive are around noon and 5 P. M.

Just like any other doting parent, President Truman, nervous and anxious attended the concert in Washington Sunday to hear his daughter, Margaret sing. The audience gave her a warm reception even if some of the music critics didn't. I have often wondered why its found necessary to have critics at an opening of a concert or a play. Surely the audience reaction should be enough. But it seems that one isn't supposed to trust one's own judgment. First, you must read the critics reviews and then decide whether its safe to like a certain play or a certain artist.

It is my personal belief that television will break up many a long-standing friendship. I can think of nothing so tiresome as spending an evening looking at a dull television show, when what one really needs is some stimulating conversation. One's only hope is that the novelty will wear off of television as it did with the radio and one will turn it off when friends come to call, as understandingly as one shuts off the radio.

Bill Robinson better known as Bojangles is dead and all that knew him as an artist and as a person will be a little sadder at his departure. For he was a great performer as a dancer and also a great human being who made many lives richer and happier. His whole life consisted of doing the things that he loved to do for the enjoyment and benefit of others.

Tigrants hate cats. Alexander the Great, Caesar, Genghis Khan, Napoleon and Mussolini had the list, which includes any bully you can think of. A bully simply can't endure living with anything he can't boss, and nobody can boss a cat. If you don't believe this just try it some time.

HANSHAW — BUNTY

Miss Shirley Mae Theresa Bunty, daughter of Mrs. Edith Bunty, Taneytown, and Sgt. John William Hanshaw, of the United States Air Corps stationed in Enid, Oklahoma, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hanshaw, of Hummelstown, were united in marriage on Saturday afternoon at 2 P. M. in St. James Reformed Church, along the Harney Road. The double ring ceremony was performed by the pastor, the Rev. Edward R. Hamme, who is pastor of the bride, in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends.

The bride was attended by Miss Dorothy Hanshaw, sister of the groom, as maid of honor. Miss Pearl Hanshaw, sister of the groom, was matron of honor and Mrs. Richard Sentz and Miss Creta Epley, Littlestown, were bridesmaids. The bridegroom in service uniform had as his bestman, Robert Bunty, brother of the bride and Richard Sentz, Littlestown, and George Westenberg, of Lebanon, served as ushers all in full dress suits. The bride who was given in marriage by her uncle, Glenn Mummert, was attired in a bridal gown designed from white Skinner satin with finger-tip sleeves and long flowing train. The shoulder line is fashioned of net with a circle of chintilly lace trim. Matching chintilly lace falls in a pleum effect at the waist. On her head she wore a pearl embroidered chintilly lace halo draped to a silk illusion finger tip length veil edged with matching Chintilly lace. She carried a white Bible covered with white rosebuds from which fell white satin streamers. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

The maid of honor wore an old rose gown fashioned on lines similar to the bridal gown, with off the shoulder effect, and the matron of honor wore Nile green fashioned along the same lines. Mrs. Sentz wore sky blue net over taffeta and Miss Epley canary yellow net over taffeta. The attendants all carried cascade bouquets of chrysanthemums and pom-poms and floral headaddresses of colors contrasting with their gowns.

The flower girls were Belva Lou Fisher, Middlestown, Pa., and Patricia Elaine Smith, Harrisburg. They wore pale pink taffeta floor length gowns, and floral headaddresses and they carried baskets of mixed roses. The ring bearer, was Wayne Sentz, near Littlestown, who wore a tuxedo.

Mrs. Jesse Slick, church organist presided at the console. She played the traditional wedding marches and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Catherine Beamer, who sang "The Lord's Prayer," "I Love You Truly," "O Promise Me" and "Because."

The soloist wore a white taffeta gown and a corsage of mixed rosebuds. The bride's mother wore a black dress with black accessories and a corsage of yellow rosebuds. The groom's mother wore a grey dress with black accessories and a corsage of pink rosebuds.

The church was decorated with white chrysanthemums and pom-poms and candles and the chancel also contained ferns and palms. The bridal party approached the altar on a white carpet. The pews for the immediate families were identified by white satin ribbons.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony, in the social hall of the church, with approximately two hundred guests in attendance. The bride's table was decorated with an arch, under the center which was a large wedding bell and four smaller bells, beneath which rested a five tier wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom. Table decorations included cut flowers and candles. The couple received many gifts.

The newlyweds left on a wedding trip to the New England States and Canada. Upon their return they will reside for the present, at the home of the bride's mother. The bride chose as her going away costume, a navy blue Skinner satin dress with black accessories, and she wore a white rosebud corsage. The groom is a graduate of Hummelstown High school and is serving in the U. S. Air Corps. Mrs. Hanshaw is employed at the Carroll Shoe Company, Littlestown.

SHORT STORY

Artistic Ancestors

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

"I WISH," said Aime Butterworth wistfully, "I only wish there had been some one in our family who really did something, something worth while, something—" she smiled as she said it—"I could brag about."

Fred Butterworth laid aside the morning paper, gulped down the last of his coffee, shoved back his chair and said: "What?"

Aime overlooked his rudeness. "The bridge club meets here this afternoon," she said, "and I dread it because Aggie and Gertrude Wilcox will monopolize the conversation with stories of their ancestors."

Fred scratched his chin and contemplated the wistful look in his wife's eyes. Suddenly he banged the table. "By George, I'd almost forgotten it! Darned if I hadn't. You sit here a minute, sweet, till I rummage around in the attic. I'll give you something to brag about!"

Later he returned with a book. "But what is it?" asked Aime. "It's a book of poetry, that's what it is! Written by my mother and published 20 years ago. There's talent in my family, I'll have you know."

Aime's eyes lighted, then glowed with sudden joy. "Fred! You dear! Is it really? Was your mother really a poet? Oh, why didn't you tell me before! It's just too exciting!"

Fred grinned delightedly. En route to the station he began to smile. And by the time he had boarded the 8:15 the smile had developed into an occasional chuckle. Tom Cooke, who usually sat with Fred during the short run to the city, became curious.

"Say what's eating you this morning? Let a man in on it if you've got something that'll fetch a laugh these dull days."

Fred laughed outright. "I'll tell you, Tom. It's too good to keep. But don't on your life breathe a word. It would kill Aime."

TOM MADE SOLEMN promises and cocked his ear. "Well," said Fred, "Aime was upset this morning because she didn't have anything to brag about at her bridge club. The other members, it seems, have artistic ancestors. It made Aime feel bad to think she married into such an uninteresting family, so I dug into an old trunk and produced a book of poems that mother published 20 years ago, and told her to brag about that."

"How'd you come out?" Tom asked. "What did Aime say?"

Tom looked puzzled. "What's wrong with that? I'd say a mother-in-law poet was O.K."

"But here's the rub," Fred grinned. "That book of poems is an old manuscript that belonged to my grandmother. After grandmother died, mother found the script, thought the poems were worthy of publication, added a few of her own choice verses, and submitted the retyped copy to a publisher. Mr. Publisher ate the stuff up."

"Mother was thrilled. She thought she must have real talent, and went down to the library to study up and read the masters. While perusing a volume of Walt Whitman she discovered some of the very poems that mother had supposedly written.

"Of course, mother immediately wired the publisher, advising him to cease manufacturing the book, and explaining that her mother must have copied some of her favorite Whitman poems, in order to save them. But Mr. Publisher had already printed about 2000 copies, which were ready for distribution. Mother bought up the edition and destroyed all but one, which she kept for sentimental reasons. That one is the book I gave Aime this morning."

Tom Cooke arrived at the station a few minutes early the next morning and when he saw the grinning countenance of Fred Butterworth coming down the street, he went eagerly to meet him.

Deer Repellent

Hungry deer shun a field of beans or other vegetables sprayed with a newly created chemical compound. Consisting of two chemicals, the repellent has no bad effects on the vegetables and causes only a temporary palate irritation to the deer.

Rhodium Finishing

Rare and costly rhodium is considered the ideal metal for surface finishing as it does not discolor and resists wear. Inexpensive costume jewelry utilizes rhodium finish, while its precious sisters, palladium and platinum, are selected for fine jewelry.

Help Conservationists

Bird dogs long have been recognized as important allies of the conservationist. By finding and retrieving dead game that otherwise would be lost in brush and grass, they hold down kills and prevent waste.

Enough For All

Two billion acres—less than one half of the area now under cultivation—could produce enough food to feed everyone on earth if proper agricultural methods were used, according to the English scientist, J. D. Bernal.

Elements in Potatoes

A pound of potatoes will furnish a considerable share of the nutrients that are recommended for active people. They are rich in vitamin C, thiamine, iron, riboflavin and protein.

Dairy Product Leaders

New Zealand leads the world in per capita consumption of all dairy products as represented by their fluid milk equivalents. Switzerland is second, and Australia third.

"Russet" Oranges

Oranges with rust-colored spots on the skins—often called russets—sometimes cost less than solid colored fruit and are just as good.

Cause of Worry

Chronic worry actually is a state of mind which results when an inner sense of security is lacking. The turbulence caused by inner anxiety and bewilderment cannot be bottled up and seeks expression through the worry processes. The individual seeks to rationalize this insecure feeling by attributing it to some outside cause.

Cancer Research

Atomic energy commission has granted, through the office of naval research, a fund to the University of Delaware for continued research by Dr. Mary A. Russell on a project with potential significance in cancer control. The project involves a comparison of the effects of x-rays, neutrons and mustard compounds on the growth and development of corn seedlings.

Nickel at the Core

According to certain theories the earth's core is made up of an alloy of nickel and iron. You won't encounter this until you go down 2,000 miles. It is estimated the temperature there would be about 2,000° Centigrade and the pressure so high that a cubic foot of this nickel-iron alloy would weigh 17 times as much as it does at the surface.

Lamb Care

New-born lamb should be dried as soon as possible and get some warm milk. If the mother is short of milk, the milk can be obtained from another ewe or cow's milk given by bottle. During the first few days the ewe and lamb should be put in a small individual pen for them to get used to each other.

Rehabilitation

A part of the tuberculous patient's treatment is preparation to return to active community life. Rehabilitation of the tuberculous, including vocational guidance, is an important project of tuberculosis associations throughout the nation which receive their support from the annual sale of Christmas Seals.

Lincoln as Inventor

Lincoln was a congressman from Illinois when he received a patent for "a device for buoying vessels over shoals." The invention embodied a set of bellows attached to the hull of the ship below the water line. In shallow water, the bellows would fill with air to buoy up the vessel and float it clear. A wooden model of the invention whittled by Lincoln himself accompanied his patent application.

Tuberculosis

Many people do not know that tuberculosis is contagious and symptomless in the early stages. They are not aware that tuberculosis can be transmitted from one person to another by kissing, inhaling germ-laden droplets of sputum or by handling things contaminated with germs. Many believe that tuberculosis is inherited and that they are immune to it after reaching the age of 45.

Persian Gulf

The Persian Gulf is notorious for its highly poisonous jelly fishes—coffee-colored organisms with very small bodies but with tentacles from two to three feet long. Their stings have been known to be fatal, and they are dreaded by Arab fishermen. Less dreaded are the far more deadly sea snakes. These are so sluggish, however, that few people have ever been bitten by them.

Motion of Earth

A third natural motion of the earth occurs in addition to the two motions, which were unknown before Copernicus' announcement that (1) it rotates on an axis, daily, (2) it moves around the sun along an oval orbit, yearly. The third natural motion of the globe is careening (rolling, reeling), which is a normal recurrent motion at intervals of around 6,000 to 8,000 years.

Lipstick Stains

Lipstick stains on fabrics call for prompt action. At best, such stains are difficult—sometimes impossible—to remove without injuring the fabric. If the material is valuable, first loosen the stain by working glycerine or vaseline into the fabric. Then launder it in the usual way. Don't apply soap or other alkalis before you loosen the stain. They are apt to set it.

Prophets False & True

Lesson for December 4, 1949

GOD is neither silent nor dead. He has his spokesmen today. We hear myriads of voices—preachers, teachers, editors, columnists, poets and politicians, all professing to tell us the truth. When a man claims to speak in the name of truth, is there any way by which his claim can be tested? It is an old problem.

Dr. Foreman

Away back in Bible times every prophet had his rivals, the false prophets. The false were far more numerous, they often had immense prestige and government subsidies besides. How was the common man to tell the true prophets from the false?

Notion of Man or Word of God?

ONE DIFFERENCE between the true and false prophets, of course, was that the false ones passed out their own ideas, while the true ones gave voice to the ideas of God. Some of the false prophets even dug down into what we now call the subconscious, and told their dreams as if they meant something.

The false prophets of our own times are still the people who draw on their own minds, even on their day-dreams, to furnish messages for the people. The gypsy dream-books are still with us. Astrologers flourish, and not always on the side streets. All sorts of queer cults profess to tell us what is coming next and what we ought to do.

Before we take a modern "prophet" seriously we should ask: Is what he is saying his own idea or God's idea? In this 20th century after Christ, it should be easier to know God's ideas are than it was 27 centuries ago in Jeremiah's time.

For now that Christ has come, we can safely check all the self-styled prophets with the message and the mind of Christ.

Is the voice of the people the voice of God?

THE FALSE PROPHETS were always popular, the true ones seldom. Mere unpopularity does not prove a man a true prophet; but you may be sure that if a man says only what people like to hear, always tickling the ears and feeding the pride of his listeners, he is no true spokesman for God.

Not that the true prophet is always insulting his hearers. The Lord's prophets often speak comforting and welcome words, to be sure. But a steady out-pouring of soothing-syrup is not what we would expect from a genuine prophet.

Man is often most proud when he is most wrong; and then God has to sweep the man down. Don't take too seriously the men who merely reinforce your prejudices and shore up your pride; they are more likely fake prophets than true. The voice of the people is not always the will of God.

Time is the Test

That great prophet Moses (Deut. 18) had already given a practical test of a true prophet: Does what he says turn out to be true? Can he really see into tomorrow? Alas, we may have to wait until tomorrow to find out for sure; but tomorrow always comes, and when it comes, the prophets of today will be shown up for what they are, true or false. Time is the test. Not, is it likely?

Truth and Right are Twins

PERHAPS the worst feature of the false prophets who were Jeremiah's competitors was their real immorality. "Their course is evil and their might is not right," he said (23:10, American translation). "They commit adultery and walk in lies, they strengthen the hands of evildoers so that no one turns from his evil ways" (v. 14).

God's spokesman can never also speak for the enemies of God. Whenever you hear anyone talking as if we could now get "beyond good and evil," or as if the Ten Commandments were something we had outgrown, then you may know you are listening to a false prophet.

There are no new commandments but the one which sums up all of them: Love one another. Prophets of hate, prophets of dissension, of lust, these may be speaking for themselves or for the devil—but not for God.

LAS OF THE TVA DAMS

Fontana is the 23th and last of the T. V. A. Dams to be constructed, according to official reports. The name is derived from an Italian naturalist who explored the region about 60 years ago. At that time the whole area was an unknown wilderness. The dam itself is one of the wonders of modern engineering. It is 480 feet high, not far under the height of the Washington Monument. At the base it is 375 feet thick. Across the top runs a double lane highway with side walks. Connecting with this link is a new highway, to be built, the entire length of the water-edge back to Bryson City. This will greatly shorten the distance to the dam for the American tourists, as well as open up to the public scenic grandeur hitherto unknown.

Believe it or not, the distance now from the foot of the dam to the top, is five miles over a winding highway passing through the village of Fontana. This highway approaches the top of the dam from the mountain above. The first sight of the spectacle, therefore, is in the form of a balcony view looking down on the mirrored blue lake below.

The Federal Government has done everything to beautify and landscape this magnificent approach to give the appearance of coming into some mysterious paradise. Parking spaces adorned with shrubbery and flowers, invite the tourist to stop and look. Looking down upon the glories of what God and man, working together have made, presents a wonderful spectacle. As one approaches the headquarters he is greeted with the sign: "Built for the people of the United States." The officials greet you with utmost courtesy. They ask you to register, offer to answer any questions, and assure that it all belongs to you.

The five miles from the foot to the top of the dam, mentioned above, is to be shortened to 480 feet. This will be done by means of an incline railway now being constructed. The car, drawn by a cable, will be run on a track deviating slightly from the perpendicular. By this the tourist will be able to save the five miles by going directly from the top down the abutment to the five story power house below, or vice versa.

At the foot of the dam are two generators. A third is to be installed. Each one has an output of 100,000 horse power. These are said to be the largest in the world. In Niagara Falls called the Power City of America, where we used to live, I frequently had occasion to take friends or visitors through the big power plant. The largest generators there had an output of 70,000 h. p., smaller than those at Fontana.

The primary purpose of these dams is flood control, we were told. The flood control device at Fontana, was another interesting piece of engineering. Two tubes, each 34 feet in diameter, tunnel through the mountain side to let out surplus water through the flood gates. Such a huge volume of water rushing at such a high speed, would devour the bed of the river below. This is overcome by the construction of a spoonlike bowl at the bottom of each tube. This causes the water to shoot 150 feet in the air and to spray itself out on the river bed below. I asked the guide if he would give us a demonstration. He said that he would gladly oblige provided we would get permission from Knoxville.

The secondary purpose of these dams, is electricity. Big power lines go out in many directions carrying 154,000 volts each. Often these huge power lines jump from the top of one mountain to another. What a wonderful place for a tight-rope performer to exhibit his daring?

One of the surprising observations in the Southern Mountains, was the almost universal use of electricity. Much of this is due to the T. V. A. Almost every home we visited, and we got back into some very remote places, we found electricity and frequently electric fixtures in the homes or cabins.

VILLAGE OF FONTANA

Equally interesting was the little village of Fontana, located on the steep mountain side about 2½ miles from the dam. The doll-like houses reminded one of toy boxes pinned on the wall with thumb tacks. These little structures have three rooms each with modern furnishings including running water. They can be rented for $15.00 per day. A trailer can be rented for $5.00 per day. Otherwise you can spread your camping tent for nothing on the public camping grounds. The little town was crowded with tourists. The business area was almost as congested as the down town section of a city.

The village was first built to house the workers who constructed the dam. When the project was completed the permanent operators stayed on to maintain the plant. The other buildings were turned into dwellings for tourists and recreational centers. The Federal Government was called on to operate these facilities as a public service. By this there has been developed at Fontana one of the most unusual resorts in America. The village has about everything plus: Cafeteria, dining rooms, barber shops, beauty parlors, drug store, postoffice, hospital, fire department, police, public school, free picnic grounds, handicraft shops a flood lighted tennis court and baseball diamond, golf courses, facilities for all kinds of games and parties, supervised play for children, and dancing. The water sports of every kind, are in evidence, together with almost every thing else that anyone can think of.

In particular it is supposed to be the fisherman's paradise. It is reported that big mouth bass under seven pounds, are too small to keep, and therefore should be thrown back. The popular moonlight trips on the lake, are said to be an unforgettable journey through superlative scenery where forest-covered mountains rise, like a wall, straight up out of the water. And this is the glories of one portion of America as seen at Fontana.
