WEEK OF PRAYER

To Begin on Sunday, January 1, 1950

The annual observance of the Universal Week of Prayer in Taneytown will begin next Sunday night at 7:30 with the union service to be held in the Presbyterian Church. The Rev. Morgan Andreas, pastor of the Grace Ev. and Reformed Church, will introduce the observance with a message on the general theme: "A Living Witness for a Lost World." On Monday wight Len 2 the service will Monday night, Jan. 2, the service will likewise be held in the Presbyterian Church. The Rev. Glenn L. Stahl will bring the message. On Tuesday and Wednesday the services will be held in the Ev. United Brethren Church. Rev. Charles S. Owen and Rev. Morgan Andreas will bring the message on these respective nights. On Thurs-day and Friday the services will con-tinue in the Grace Reformed Church. The preachers in order will be the Rev. Glenn L. Stahl and the Rev. A. W. Garvin. On Saturday and Sunday nights the services will be concluded in the Trinity Lutheran Church with the Rev. Charles S. Owen preaching on Saturday night and the Rev. A. W. Garvin on Sunday night.

This observance began 104 years ago. Its purposes was to mark the beginning of each New Year with a prayer for Divine Guidance and blessing for the unseen days ahead. This year the observance will be made a part of the United Evangelistic Advance designed to win American istic Advance designed to win America for Christ. This year each church in which the service is held, will have charge of the musical program.

LOCAL FEED MILL HONORED

A certificate of Mixing Accuracy has been issued to Taneytown Grain & Supply Co., feed dealers, by the Ralston Purina Company, St. Louis, following analysis of samples taken from a regular mix prepared for customers of their mill.

Proper mixing of ingredients has been recognized as an increasingly important factor in the efficient feeding of livestock and poultry. Before the appointment of Taneytown Grain & Supply Co., as an approved Purina Custom Mixing Station using Purina formulas and concentrates, laboratory tests were required to determine the accuracy and uniformity of the custom mixing service rendered. Samples taken from a regular mix passed the Purina requirement that all samples must not vary more than one-half of one per cent in protein content to qualify for the Certificate which is now on display at the mill.

MOST ELABORATE CHRISTMAS Last Saturday night Taneytown

TANEYTOWN OBSERVES ITS

concluded the most elaborate Christmas festivities in the history of the village. The community-wide program, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, was handled by a special committee this year. The festivities began on December 9 when Santa Claus came to town with elaborate ceremony and under proper escort of the Drum Corps of the American Legion. Turning on the lights as he entered the town, he initiated the Festival of Lights which has attracted so much attention.

The newest feature of all, established for the first time this year, was the Festival of Songs. This consisted of a program of Christmas music by the respective Church choirs of the town, broadcast over the loud speaker installed in the Municipal Hall. Each night for 30 minutes, during the week preceding Christmas the community and surrounding country-side, heard beautiful and inspiring music about the coming of Christ. Apparently this undertaking was well received. For numerous people in town and out in the country, have spoken about the joy of hearing the program. The new project was concluded last Saturday night by the Christmas Carolers singing over the loud speaker as well as on the streets.

The annual Christmas party for the adults on Middle Street, and the annual Theater Party and treat for the children, both registered a big success this year.

CHRISTMAS PROGRAM AT PINEY CREEK CHURCH

Despite the inclement weather a goodly congregation gathered at Piney Creek Presbyterian Church, on Tuesday night, Dec. 27, to enjoy the Christmas service by the church school. After the opening service recitations and a group of songs were given by the three lower classes. Then came the service of story and song entitled "The Light of the Ages" presented by the choir with the addition of some of the older pupils. A spotlight was thrown on the Nativity scene while the choir sang "Silent Night." This brought us to part two where the pastor renewing his vows of service called on all to cov-enant with him to spread Christ's light of love and helpfulness. As the Light Bearers passed down the congregation rose to show their promise to walk in the light that others may see His way. Following the benediction all joined in singing 'Joy to the World.' The soloists were Mrs. Sterling Flickinger and Miss Betty Stembauch who was also the pian-Stambaugh who was also the pianist. The offering was for Foreign Missions. In order to show tangible apprecitation of the pastor he, too, received a gift of money.

CHRISTMAS PARTY HELD BY CARROLL COUNTY MINISTERS

On Monday, Dec. 19, the Carroll County E & R ministers and their wives met at the home of the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Welker, Taneytown, for their annual Christmas party. At this time the 15th anniversary of ordination to the Christian ministry for Rev. Brantley was recognized.

The ministers convened in their monthly meeting at 11 a. m. Following a brief, but important business session, they adjourned to the dining room where their wives had made ready the extended table with goodes they had previously prepared at home and then brought to the Welker nome in covered dishes. After the meal had been heartily enjoyed, a combination of Christmas-motif delicacies were enjoyed as dessert.

Those present were Rev. and Mrs. Morgan Andreas and children, Paul and Cynthia, of Taneytown; Rev. and Mrs. J. Keller Brantley, near West-minster; Rev. J. Edmund Lippy, of Westminster; Rev. and Mrs. Charles Price and children, Robert and Michael, Silver Run; Rev. and Mrs. Miles Reifsnider, Tyrone; and Rev. and Mrs. Edmund Welker.

ALL HAIL-1950

The New Year comes again. Tho the day is no different than other days, there seems to have grown up in humanity a thought or idea that the day is different—a day on which to turn over a new leaf and make resolutions that we will do different and better than we have done in the

These resolutions, tho seldom kept are right and proper.

A good resolution for each of us to make would be to work as tho we were to live forever, but also so to live as tho we were to die tomorrow.

Pessimists to the contrary, notwithstanding, the world is growing better, and the people are improving in morals and habits, even during the life time of those of us now living many changes have occurred. Profane swearing is not now so prevalent as it was in my childhood. The influence of the christian church has doubtless had much to do with this change

Again people are much more charitable toward each other. In those days the churches were divided largely due to the Civil War. In the town where I then lived, there were two Methodist Churches-the old side and the new side located only about one hundred yards apart. The feelings of animosity of each to the other were anything but Christian. In fact the enmity bordered on hatred. Things are different now. People don't hate each other as they then did. But the millennium has a long way yet to go before "the sword is beaten into the plow share, and men learn to war no more."

We can all in the New Year make things better. Anyhow lets try!

THE PRESIDENT CAN STOP STRIKES

The Labor-Management Relation

President Truman vetoed the Taft-Hartley Act in 1947 and his veto was overridden by both Houses of Con-

Still Mr. Truman refused to do his duty in stopping the worst labor strikes in all our Nation's history.

The President has definite authority to "direct the Attorney General to petition United States District Courts to issue injunctions and prevent any threatened strikes or lockouts for eighty days."

President Truman has not taken definite steps to break up strikes in the big industries. His failure and refusal to act brings upon him charges that he is "playing politics", and holding the support of the labor unions-particularly for the purpose of assuring another Truman victory in the next Presidential election.

The present labor act established a joint Congressional committee on Labor-Management Relations, with an appropriation of $150,000 to obtain operation of the law, and to conduct a study of the entire field of management and labor. The committee held hearings and announced on June 1, 1948 that it would not recommend any changes in the Taft-Hartley Act. And there you arewith the American industrial system tied up in hard knots, due to the action, and non-action of the President. _J. E. Jones.

NEW REAR RESOLUTION

"Earth might be fair" Were Christ only there Sharing in world-trouble!

Treaties no more suffice Than a thower of dice Knows he's going to win.

The wisdom of God as in Heaven's reign, In earthly courts could well restrain The perpetrations of greedy men.

Rulers guided by Truth divine, Free men from the confine Of threats, and blood, and war.

In this New Year of 1950, Let's be loyal, alert, thrifty In the ways of God.

Centuries ago, Jesus was born To save the world from accursed Through which it now is passing.

Many keep Him from doing His part By shutting Him out of their heart. And leave the world to its woes.

Americans have been born, not only to enjoy this great nation and its blessings, but to work, and give, and live that they may recognize the rights of every man—life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.

Men seem to fear to let Christ reign lest they lose their power of statesmanship, and their ability to argue in world parliaments. Such fears must not exist! Christ is not an Absolute Monarch. He is a true Demorat. His will is merely to direct mon's talonts in the effects of states. men's talents in the affairs of state. His is a government "Of the people, by the people, and for the people."

How different this world would be, were every government to adopt Christ's program! "Peace on earth, good will toward men." That this might become a eality should be our New Year Resolution!

U.S. 1... in Position To Drop Atomic Bomb Anywhere in Europe

LONDON.—The first American superfortress group with the knowhow for atomic bombing arrived in England and the United States is washdays. Both wanted Mondays. in position to drop an atom bomb

Air force officers revealed that ! the famous 509th "atom bomb" group flew to this front-line Atlantic pact base for training with its specially equipped, specially trained crews.

The group's B-29's, with a bombing radius of more than 2,000 miles, could reach any target in Europe from their base here.

The planes, like the other superfortresses based here, were equipped with the latest radar equipment enabling them to strike even through a complete cloud cover.

The three squadrons of the 509th will be maintained at 90 per cent operational strength in England. That means nine of the 10 planes in each squadron will be kept ready to go into action, real or simulated, at all times.

Suicide

Helper Gets Freedom

NEW YORK .- A grand jury failed to indict an unemployed, 60-year-old immigrant on a charge of helping his best friend kill himself to escape the constant pain of cancer.

Frederick Berwich, an unemployed dishwasher, was indicted, however, on a charge of violating the law against illegal possession of firearms. He was arraigned in general sessions court.

Berwich had been held on a charge of "aiding and abetting" the suicide of Joseph Ziakowski, 65, who had been his boyhood friend in Russia. Police said he confessed giving Ziakowski the suicide gun.

THE NEW CHEVROLET

People here will see the new 1950 Chevrolet for the first time on Saturday, January 7, at the showroom of Ohler's Chevrolet Sales, it was announced today by Mr. M. S. Ohler.

Making its nation-wide debut, the new model Chevrolet will be shown to local residents at the same time it is appearing in dealers' showrooms throughout the country.

In addition to the completely new passenger car models, available in a complete line of styles and colors, the new Chevrolet 1950 trucks also will be on display here.

The Chevrolet dealership will hold "open house" throughout the day and evening as the public views the new car. Residents throughout the area have been invited to attend the special event. "We feel that the 1950 models will prove even more popular than our 1949 cars and trucks which again occupied the Number One sales position HARNEY

TRUCKER'S MERCY MISSION

Super-sized transport trucks blocked the main highway north of Colony shortly after midnight. A truck driver, waving a lighted emergency orch signaled other traffic to stop.

Ahead on the highway, perhaps 300 yards, tongues of flame leaped from glowing outlines of a wrecked car and truck. Two persons had been killed in an accident there a short time before. There was danger from the fire to anyone else who approached too closely.

As I watched, the most noteworthy thing about this grisly night scene was the service given by truck driv-ers who had been delayed by the accident. With the self-reliance that is typical of the average transport operator, they had attended victims of the accident and then protected oncoming traffic.

Over the nation, a scene like this is repeated probably hundreds of times every day. The truck drivers, the most-cussed men on the highway when impatient motorists want to The bride was given in marriage by her brother, S/Sgt. Joseph Brooks roadways, are usually on hand first at an accident, dependably on the job until the doctor, the firemen or the policomen arrive.

An indistinguishable part of the truck as long as he guides and pro-tects his cargo, his mercy mission on the highway when disaster strikes is not unlike that of a Red Cross nurse on the battlefield. The cussed trucker becomes a lifesaver. Because he is on the highway and trained for emergencies, others out on desolate roads at night have fewer fears that, in case of accident, they will be unseen and untended.

Money For Love

LOUIS CUNNINGHAM

"GIRL reporters are the bunk," growled Harriman, the crime expert, in the news-room of the Comet. The pulsing presses that shook the building getting out the last edition brought the toilers under the eye-shades a pleasurable sense of rest after hard work well done. It was the acceptable time for airing theories and grievances.

"As I was saying," continued Harriman, "women in journalism and men in dressmaking are one and the same.

9 - Minute 0 Fiction Now if Brickley, ordinarily a halfintelligent city editor, had shown any sense, we wouldn't be having this Alicia Delano around, making the newsroom a place where you can't swear and . .

But Dale had known Alicia Delano long enough to be in love with her.

Further discussion of Alicia was postponed by the turbulent entry of the city editor, Brickley. His derisive eye swept the crowd. "Well, my merry morons." he jeered. "Extend your cobwebbed ears to this: The Prince Bartholdi, a wealthy Roman, has arrived in this city of sin. He is seeking his daughter, a runaway princess. Seems the lady objected to her father's idea of a husband. The old boy offers the modest sum of fifty thousand to the one who finds his little Mariana. We're going to get her for the greater glory of the Comet. It's a general alarm. Here's a picture of the renegade.

"What do you think of it, Alicia?" asked Dale, discovering his lovely neighbor and quickly telling her what it was all about.

"Fifty thousand dollars!" he sighed.
"Just imagine, Alicia, what one could do with that. Why ..."

Later, when he had her alone in the secluded corner of their favorite restaurant, he took a deep breath. 'I'm going after that money," he declared determinedly. "I need it, and if . . . if I get it . . . Alicia, darling, have I ever told you that I love you? If I get the money will you . . . marry me?"

THE girl smiled and raised her head. There was something in the warm blue eyes and the set of the lovely mouth, framed by her reddish hair, that made the palm

Then she twinkled. "Let's do it right away."

Dale and Alicia were married that week and their radiant young faces in the newsroom advertised their happiness. The marriage, however, they kept secret, although they managed to find a small apartment, to be furnished with their joint savings. But how to keep it was a puzzle, unless Dale discovered the princess.

"It seems a hopeless task, Alicia," lamented Dale. "Every-body's giving up. This Princess Mariana is the best little hider imaginable."

She tulled his ear teasingly. "Don't worry. Things will look different in the

The spiritual qualities with which God endows man are intelligence, wisdom, love, integrity, justice, mercy, beauty, goodness, and so on. AHEAD BY GEORGE S. BENSON President -- Harding College Scarcy. Arkansas

Business, Big and Little!

You cannot create a make-believe feud out of the mythical question of Big Business vs. Small Business. It won't hold up, this attempt to make "bad business" out of business that's big. We need many of them small, but we also want some of them big. I recall Emerson's fabled quarrel of the mountain and the squirrel, in which the squirrel made the point: "If I cannot carry forests on my back, neither can you crack a nut." Both big and little enterprises belong in America's system.

Out of the desire of people for goods and for services, our business exists. Private business, generally, is taken for granted. Yet, many unthinking people consider "Big Business" a certain bogeyman. They fail to see that big business is simply a lot of people doing things together that they could not do seperately.

Cut Them Down? We sometimes act as if we expected the government to whittle all big industry down to size. Yet, what would our fate have been after Pear Harbor, without large and wellequipped industries? In war, we relied upon our bigness. And big industry was well-supported by thousands of small firms. Now, in peacetime, America looks to a wellfinanced and managed industrial community for continued prosperity and plentiful jobs. A business keeps growing amid strong competition if it pleases customers by giving them what they want at fair prices. While doing this it must pay its workers a competitive wage, and also earn a profit on the money which owners of the tools have entrusted to it. If a business does these things, it may expect to grow and be of even greater service to its public. In America, any kind of business must merit public approval or fold up.

Each a Customer

Big industry can do some of the big jobs better. Suppose you had to depend upon a one-man workshop for your automobile. Experts say it would cost you $50,000 to have your car built that way. Instead, large companies manage the mass production of thousands of parts (some of which are made by small firms), so that an assembly line rolls out the cars. This requires millions of dollars of capital, and thousands of workers. Not all business should be big. Many needs are best served by small business. Actually, these firms are not always competitors of big business, for the big fellow and the little fellow can be partners in industrial activity. Then each one, big or small, profits from the efforts of the other. Here, we'll find parts used by big firms being made by small ones. There, we'll find the material of a large producer being fabricated by a small mill. Each is a customer of

Pulling Together It is because all of us have worked, and traded together, that living standards in America are the highest in the world. Many of our biggest businesses form the base of this pyramid of prosperity, making it possible for many small businesses to grow and develop. When our enterprises, big and little, have prospered, everybody has shared in the rewards. What system could bring

First Use of Wheel

First intimation of man's use of wheels comes from the Levant States. Archeologists at Tell Halaf, northeastern Syria, unearthed a painted vase of a culture prior to 4,000 B. C. On it was depicted a two-wheeled chariot bearing a man, says the National Georgaphic so-

No New Ida Presenta As Jap Drama Season On

TOKYO.-Japan's theatrical season opened without a single new idea to disturb its hidebound tranquility.

Kabuki lasts from four to five hours, during which everybody has a crying good time. This is not to scoff at a highly stylized native art form which has its own peculiar beauty for the Japanese.

But it is almost like playing Shakespeare without any change in the original productions and to the exclusion of modern drama.

Among the current productions at Tokyo's 15 leading theaters, only the musicians show a touch of originality or promise. Although they follow the pattern of an American stage show rather than a musical plot, the sets and costumes are gay and ingenious if the routines are not. The music is suspiciously familiar but lively. There is no such thing in Japan as a living modern theater, although scores of timely subjects are crying for dramatic expression. A "hit" play is unknown; there are no top-notch playwrights.

Two Pilots Set New Mark For Endurance Flights

FULLERTON, CALIF.—Six weeks of droning monotonously through the skies ended for Bill Barris and Dick Riedel after they had boosted the world's endurance record to 1,008 hours.

Tired, but smiling and freshshaven, the two Fullerton airport employees were able to walk away from their little Aeronca monoplane, The Sunkist Lady, without help.

"We're pooped, but we'll be all right in a short time," said the 36-year-old, graying Barris. "The worst thing was the monotony of the engine. It just about drove us crazy. We'd never try it again. This is our last try.'

His blond partner, Riedel, 34, was first out of the plane. He quickly embraced his wife, June, and two children, Dickie, 10, in a wheel chair with arthritis, and Barbara, 4. Barris' wife, Betty, and their two children, Patty, 2, and Steven, 1, were right there, too.

An estimated crowd of 8,000 half of Fullerton's population and then some-turned out to welcome the boys back to the field.

Rio de Janeiro

Named for a river that does not exist, the city of Rio de Janeiro is often called, simply, Rio; virtually never called by its full name-Sao Sebastiao do Rio de Janeiro. Praying into Tomorrow

Lesson for January 1, 1950

FOR THE BENEFIT of those who m'ay not be familiar with this column, and perhaps of some who are, a little explanation may be helpful. This column is not expected to take the place of Bible study, nor to be a substitute for the quarterlies and other helps which are furnished by the various denominations. All this column can do is to offer some thoughts which the lesson Scripture has suggested to the writer. Reading this Dr. Foreman column will not make a Bible student out of you; only the direct study of the Scripures can do that. Forty denominations cooperate in this feature. If it helps the reader, we shall all be glad. Limitations of space keep this from pretending to be anything like a complete analysis of the lesson. For those are not at all familiar with the Bible, it is hoped that this column may arouse interest so that the reader will go and see for himself what the Bible

What are Sunday school lessons for? In the words of the 77-year-old International Sunday School Lesson committee, the "ultimate end sought is the acceptance of the Bible as the very Word of God." Practicalthis means Bible study which "will help growing persons (you have not stopped growing, we hope?) increasingly to know its content and to understand its message in the light of their own experiences and relationships.'

The writer of these lines shares in this purpose and this hope, and wishes you a Happy New Year!

The Early Church Faced Its World

FEW PERSONS in their right minds would want to go back down into their babyhood, yet the first years, indeed the first months, of any one's life are immensely im-

So it is with the Christian church. Few sensible people would want to return to the days of the church's infancy in the first few months and 'hirst's resurrection And yet that was a vital era. For Sundays between now and Easter we shall be loking at the early Christian church.

Very early, that is; so early that the name "Christian" was quite new, and even the word "church" was not often used. We shall find that as those untried Christians faced their world, they met with many problems similar to those with which the church of today has to grapple.

How they did it, how they succeeded and how they sometimes failed, is not a mere story of the long-ago, but is valuable as we think about our own times.

Praying Into Tomorrow

THE TEN DAYS between Jesus' ascension and the great event of Pentecost were among the most fateful in all Christian history. The church, if we can call by that name the little group of a few dozen friends of Jesus who lingered together in Jerusalem, did not profess to read the future. But during those ten days of suspense they did three things; they waited, they prepared, they prayed.

They waited because Jesus had told them to wait . . . wait for power, he said. What the power might be like they did not yet know. No doubt some of them had business of one sort or another back in Galilee; but Jesus said, Wait—and so they waited.

They also prepared, by setting apart a witness to take the place of Judas. And above all, they prayed. Tomorrow for them was darkly uncertain, Jesus had dropped hints about persecution; they were not naturally supermen.

Yet in the midst of vague fears, and facing a tomorrow which was one large question-mark, those early Christians-much less wellinformed and "worldly-wise" than we-did the wisest thing they could have done: they spent their time in prayer. A praying church is on the way to power.

So as we begin a new year, the best thing Christians can do is not to make all the noise they can, but quietly to wait in God's presence.

The idea of preserving milk by concentrating it and heating it in sealed cans was brought to this country from Switzerland. Evaporated milk was first prepared commercially in the little country town of Highland, Ill., in 1885. It was only after several years of struggle and experiment that evaporated milk became a commercial success.

Personal Injury Costs

In the dairy industry, the cost of each lost-time personal injury accident is equivalent to profits on 50,000 to 60,000 quarts of milk, or 10,000 to 12,000 quarts of ice cream. This estimate does not include property damage to company vehicles, time lost because of non-deliveries, or the cost of replacing and retraining employees.

Postage Stamps

Railroads have been a favorite subject for postage stamp designers since the iron horse took over from the pony express, which also was depicted on a stamp. More than 65 countries have issued postage stamps picturing locomotives and trains, bridges, tunnels, tracks, mail cars, and other railroad equipment.

Resistant to 2,4-D

Sweet corn and asparagus are the only two crops tolerant enough of 2,4-D to allow its use as a weed control agent. Most other vegetables are injured by the concentrations of 2,4-D necessary to kill the weeds, according to Cornell's vege-

(Continued from First Page) glory looked like the Son of Man. His voice rang through the tomb of the dead. Said he: 'Lazarus, come forth.'
And Lazarus came forth alive again.
Then the faces of the sisters glowed with a radiant joy lit by the Son of January 15 issue of

As we pondered the scene, the Spirit of the Past moved on and disclosed another scene. Suddenly we stood be fore the venerable Apostle condemn-ed to death in a lonely prison. De-serted by his friends and slandered by his enemies, he awaited his exe cution in lonely despair. But there was one friend who stood by to the end. When this friend came he brought a radiant light to the face of the veteran Apostle Paul who spoke and said: "The Lord have mercy on the house of Onesipherous, for he off refreshed me and was not asked." oft refreshed me, and was not asham-ed of my chains."

Here we wanted to tarry longer. But that was not to be. The Spirit of the Past quickly transplanted us back into the time of yesterday. There we saw a farm house in the country and a little boy sick unto death. There were no automobiles then and the nearest doctor lived many miles away. A neighbor took a team of horses and hurried for the doctor. He finally came with his healing drugs and went into the sick room. A little brother waited in another room with troubled anxiety. He peeped through the keyhole to see what the doctor the keyhole to see what the doctor did. After examining the sick child he spoke to the parents. It was good news. Their faces lit up with a radiant joy. The little brother, peeping through the key hole, didn't hear what the doctor said. But he knew by the flood light in the face of his father and methor So improved was father and mother. So impressed was he that he said:

"When I grow up I'm going to bring light to people's faces."
Thereupon the scene changed again. Those two boys had grown up to be the most famous doctors in the land. They were going about bringing light to anxious faces. We saw their names. They were Charles and William Mayo, founders of the worldfamed Hospital and Clinic at Rochester. Minnesota.

As we considered the above scenes, disclosed by the Spirit of the Past, we understood what the guide meant by saying: "The lamp of cheer must be lit by another."

THE ROAD OF GOOD NAMES After this the guide took us down another highway in the Land of Happy New Year. This was called the Road of Good Names. Here was disclosed a peculiar sight. Each person wore a placard on his chest. On it was sketched in very large letters his virtues, all the good things about him. And in very small letters was his faults. We inquired the reason for this phenomenon. He said it was done to compensate for the fact that the faults in a person were so easy to see and the virtues so hard to see. Then he quoted the proverb: "Give a dog a good name and he will live up to it."

Here, on this road, we observed that each person saw the good in the other and commended him for it. And that always proved a transforming joy that lie up the face with a radiant cheer. Just because this was done there seemed to be no loneliness and sadness in the Land of Happy New

There were many other scenes along other roads that we wanted to explore. But time had run out. And instantly we found ourselves right back where we started, and wishing everyone a Happy New Year.
