Ladies Night Observed on Tuesday Evening

LIONS CLUB NEWS

At their meeting on Tuesday evening the Taneytown Lions Club cele-brated "Ladies Night" by having the wives of the members present. A fine showing of attendance was evidenced. Before getting to business the Lions and the ladies enjoyed a sumptuous dinner of roast chicken and the trimmings served by the Taney Inn. President Robert Feeser was in charge which resulted in a successful and intensely interesting meeting highlighted by Professional entertainment by musician and magician, Dave Hagan, of Frederick, who was introduced by Lion Hoke Ommert. Lion Webb also reported a 97.1 attendance for the month of January. A Board of Directors meeting will be held Monday night February 20th. In conclusion President Feeser announced the Lions District Convention to be held in Baltimore, May 24-27 and expressed his desire to see a large delega-tion from Taneytown in attendance inasmuch as it is so near. In recent years this Convention was held at Atlantic City. The Lions International Convention will be held in Chicago July 16-20th.

SERVICE MAN'S LETTER FROM TEXAS

Dear Mr. Stonesifer: Thought I had better write and inform you of my new assignment in the heart of Texas, namely "El Paso." Eight other fellows and myself arrived here on the base late Sunday afternoon and by Tuesday noon we were on the job servicing B-29's and 50's. I'm assigned to a ground crew consisting of five men our primary purpose being keeping plane number 448 in flying status at all times. Really is same ship having been in combat during "World War Mr. John Shirk, Taneytown, and his daughter, Mrs. Edna Ladanyi, of Buffalo, N. SOUTHERN BAPTIST CAPITOL

This travelogue would be incomplete without some observations about the mountain people. In the remote areas of the Southern High-lands lives the mountaineer. In his veins flows the purest Anglo Saxon Blood of the nation. His people are 100% native

RIDGECREST

We visited what is called the Summer Capitol of the Southern Baptists. It is located at Ridgecrest, about 19 miles from Asheville. As the tourist comes in from the eastern plains, as-cends the wall of the Blue Ridge, and comes on to the plateau above, first community to greet him is the Southern Baptist Summer Capitol. One tourist, coming in by train, thought he was entering a land of geysers. He reported having passed seven of them. But he was mistaken. He had passed only one. That was because the railroad, in looping back and forth up the wall of the Blue Ridge, passes the one geyser seven times. It is called Andrews Geyser crest, Baptist leaders from all over the South assemble for a period of three months. One of them acted as our guide. Last summer, we were told, 25,000 were in attendance. They came from all over the Southern States from coast to coast. The little Baptist City comprises 1200 acres located in one of nature's choicest spots in the Southern Highlands. There are 160 buildings, an auditorium that seats 2200, a dining room that seats 2500 at one time. Palatial hotels, magnificent homes, attractive tourists facilities and cabins, class rooms, assembly halls, are sufficient to accommodate huge crowds.

The guide took us on a tour of the establishment and pointed out many distinguished homes where the most outstanding leaders and executives of the Southern Baptist Convention, maintain their summer residences. We learned that the Southern Baptists were the largest religious body in the South, that there were nearly 61/2 million of them. Before the recent merger of the Methodist bodies, they were the largest religious body in America. They appear to possess great religious energy with a vigor-ous program of organized promotion noted in almost every church. This little Baptist capitol is situated where the Blue Ridge, Craggy, and Black Mountain Ranges, come together to fashion a wonderland of high elevation, scenic beauty, and cool summer climate. Ridgecrest is owned and operated by the Sunday School Board of the Southern Baptist Convention. It was established 40 years ago. BUILDING CODES

Shortly after the war the intense demand for new houses led legislatures and city councils to ease up some of the requirements in their building codes or permit a by-passing of these regulations.

In the main, this was necessary and warranted. It probably had even a wholesome effect in certain instances in allowing the use of newly developed materials and methods. Some of these represented an improvement or an economy as compared with the specifications in archaic but inflexible building codes.

With the benefit of two or three years' construction experience it should be possible now to examine the results of these modifications or exceptions and see where they have worked well or ill.

A case where relaxing of the rules has gone too far crops up in Massachusetts. The Oak Hill Improvement Association in Newton points out that its municipal code is undercut in some instances by minimum safety requirements of a State Board of Standards set up by the Legislature. This would not be too bad, but another provision of the law allows a builder to go ahead regardless of either the state or local board if he can obtain an affidavit from an engineer -apparently any engineer-that the building plans "provide adequate performance for which their use is intended."

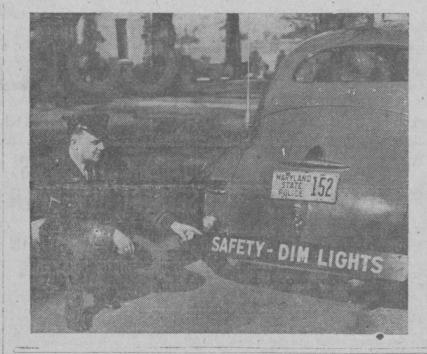

This is entirely too loose. Presumably the situation came about by hasty drafting of legislation to meet an emergency. Such laws-and something of their kind may exist in other states-should be reviewed and re-

Moreover, it is a good time for both states and cities, especially cities, to set study commissions at work on an examination of their building codes. Are these sufficiently up to date? Do they permit reasonable use of new materials and methods without damaging neighborhood property values? Do they respect the right of a house-owner to do his own work except where safety or sanitation requires special skill?

These and other questions deserve review every few years as building methods and circumstances change. -Christian Science Monitor.

Produces RESULTS

Valentines may bring "perfect results" sometimes, but when it comes to cooking, an electric range produces perfect results everytime.

Exact, unfailing time and temperature controls are the secret. Never a little more or a little less - never any guesswork - but always the exact amount of heat for the exact length of time each recipe requires. With that kind of dependability, even the least experienced of cooks can look forward to perfect results everytime. But perfect results form only one of the advantages of cooking electrically.

An electric range is also CHEAPER to use-ever so much SAFER-completely AUTOMATIC when desired—CLEANER, as only flameless, smokeless electicity is clean-and amazingly FASTER than ever before.

You too can enjoy all these advantages—advantages which have caused so many thousands of women in this area to switch to electric cooking, that the number has more than doubled in the last two years.

There are ranges for every purse and every purpose. Drop in and see the 1950 models with their many new features.

MEETING OF THE CARROLL COUNTY TEACHERS

ceived with enthusiam by the teachers and was a very challenging and stimulating approach to the subject. The elementary teachers met during the morning for an additional period devoted to a demonstration to the use of art materials in classroom work. This was in charge of Mrs. Ruth Reter of Reisterstown who has been assisting the teachers of the county in their art work. High school group meetings were held during the morn ing under the direction of selected teachers. Teachers who had been selected for responsibility for leading discussion groups during this period were: Miss Ruth Kimmey, business education, Sykesville High School; Miss Madeline Myers, seventh grade, Taneytown High School; Mrs. Arlene Hamilton, eighth grade, Elmer Wolfe High School; Mr. Janna Randle, senior high social studies, Hampstead High School; Mr. Granville Eaton, senior high school Engville Eaton, senior high school English, Westminster High School; Mrs. Josephine West, Supervisor of Home Economics, Mr. H. M. James, Super-visor of Industrial Education, directed the meeting for the industrial arts teachers. Mr. George Shower was in charge of the mathematics group. Mr. Shower is the principal of the Taneytown High School. The music group was under the direction of Mrs. Estella Yingling, music teacher at the Taneytown High School, and Mr. Stephen A. Lerda presided for the group meeting for the science teachers. Lunch was served by the cafeterias staff in the school cafeteria. The afternoon general session was devoted to first an address by Dr. Roma Gans, Professor of Education at Columbia University who was introduced by Miss Grace Alder, Supervisor of Elementary Education from the State Department of Education in Balti-more. Miss Alder was a former su-pervisor of Elementary Schools in Carroll County. Dr. Gans spoke very effectively on the topic, "Guiding Children's Experiences through Read-She participated in other discussion groups during the entire afternoon, and her contributions were enthusiastically received by the teachers. During the elementary teachers group meeting in the after-noon Mrs. Gladys Miller of Hamp-stead directed the first grade group; Mrs. Clara Stewart of the Sandymount School, the second grade group, Miss Irene Middleton, of the Charles Carroll School, the third grade group; Miss Kathryn Anders of the Sykeswills Kathryn Anders of the Sykes-ville School, the fourth grade group; Miss Teresa Bosco of the Westmin-ster Elementary School, the fifth grade group, and Mr. Franklin Gilds, principal of the Westminster Ele-mentary School, the 6th grade group. Wooden, High School Supervisor, Mrs. Ruth Rinehart, New Windsor, Mrs. Norman Etzler, Mt. Airy, Mr. Gordon Cole, Sykesville High School, Mr. Gerald Richter, Principal of the Westminster High School, and Dr. Gans School, and Dr .Gans.

The late afternoon meetings for The late afternoon meetings for high school teachers were directed by Mr. Simon Tullai, seventh grade teacher at the Hampstead High School, Mrs. Louise Fillion, eighth grade teacher from the Charles Carroll High School; Mr. George Bennett ninth grade teacher from the Charles Carroll High School; Mr. George Bennett ninth grade teacher in the Belleville Research of the Research of ninth grade teacher in the Robert Moton High School; Mr. Fred Engle, Principal of the Manchester High School, and Miss Veneta Wentz, English teacher in the Manchester school Mr. Kenneth Hoyt was in charge of the counsellors and guidance teachers. Mr. Charles Borchers was chairman of the industrial arts group, Mrs. Shirley Starkey, seventh grade teacher in the Westminster High School, directed the mathematics group; Mrs. Josephine West was in charge of the meeting for the school lunch workers, and Mr. Jesse Starkey, Principal of the Elmer Wolfe school was in charge of the science group.

This meeting was the fourth in a series of mid-winter conferences which had been planned to encourage the growth of teachers in service, and the 1950 meeting was a decided success from this point of view. Parents and all interested persons had been in-vited to the meeting, and attended many of the sessions throughout the

On Wednesday we celebrate the birthday of George Washington, first president of the U. S. A. Born, in Westmoreland County, Va, Feb. 22, 1732. He descended from an old English family. At the age of 19 was appointed adjutant general (holding the rank of Major). On Feb. 4, 1789 he was elected to the presidency of the newly constituted nation, and in 1792, re-elected to the same high office. Washington declined a third was a guest over the week-end at king University and Philadelphia was 1792, re-elected to the same high of-fice. Washington declined a third nomination to the Presidency, in 1796, and after a Farewell Address to the people of the United States, the "Father of his Country" sought his well-won repose, passing the close of his day at Mount Vernon, where he died December 14, 1799. Over 150 years ago, he wrote of his home on the Potomac, "No estate in America s more pleasantly situated than this. It lies in a high, dry, and healthy country 300 miles by water from the sea, on one of the finest rivers of the world." The estate was originally a grant to Washington's great-grand-father in 1674. George Washington came into possession of it in 1754, when he was twenty-two. In fortyfive years, he increased its size from 2700 to 8000 acres. You'll enjoy a visit to historic Mount Vernon and also to see the tomb of the general and his wife. The progress that has been made in the past 200 or more years since the birth of George Washington, can be credited to those hardy forebears of ours who had definite plans for living, and established principals that were followed religiously Handed down from one generation to another though they have been, they apply to our lives now as well as to the lives in those early days, if we would apply them.

'Lives of great men all reminds us, We can make our lives sublime, And departing, leave behind us, Foot-prints on the sand of time."

FEESERSBURG

The Elmer Wolfe School P. T. A held its regular monthly meeting on Monday evening in the school auditorium. Due to the rainy evening there was only a fair attendance. There was a round table discussion on the subject "Should children be given home work?" Important points were scored for both sides of question but most emphasis was placed on less homework or for none at Many parents believe that home work is a real burden to their children especially if they are interested in activities outside of the school. Some children have been forced to give up belonging to the Scouts, taking music lessons and church activities because with homework, the schedule on a farm are faced with even a more difficult situation since they are required to help with the chores before going to school in the morning and after school hours in the evening. It seems to some of us parents that a child should learn enough in the hours he spends in school without bringing work home to do after school hours. A child should have some time to call his own—to do just as he pleases without the pressure of thinking about school work. As one child's specialist said "the trouble with our educational system is we try to cram too much in a Regular services in Emmanuel child's mind at one time. THE GREAT MEDIATOR

Washington's task was to reconcile antagonistic forces surging through the people to prevent these forces, in a struggle to destroy each other, from destroying the untried nation.

When the first president took the oath of office, the Constitution had been ratified, but not too enthusiastically. It remained for Washington and the men he selected to give flesh and blood to a skeleton government. A bigoted man would have ruined this experiment in democratic rule. Washington was a fair-minded umpire among his squabbling countrymen—an intermediary among zealots.

His astute handling of political adversaries to obtain the common good is discovered in his treatment of Hamilton and Jefferson. The two most important portfolios in the government Washington entrusted to Alexander Hamilton as secretary of the treasury and Thomas Jefferson as secretary of state.

Jefferson was founder of the modern Democratic party; Hamilton, of the Republican. The creed of each was anothema to the other. Yet, under Washington's guidance, but each in his own way, these two opponents succeeded in moulding the plastic structure of the young republic.

CHURCH PEOPLE HEAR AD-DRESS ON EVANGELISM

Sunday evening about 75 persons, ncluding ministers, consistory men and laymen and laywomen in general met together in the social room of St. Mary's E. & R. Church, Silver Run, hear the Rev. Dr. Fred C. Schweinfurth, executive secretary of the commission on Evangelism of the Evangelical & Reformed Church throughout the United States.

Following a short devotional period in charge of Rev. Morgan Andreas, Taneytown, the host minister, Rev. Charles Price, introduced Rev. Edmund Welker, of Emmitsburg. Mr. Welker is the synodical area repre sentative on the committee on Evan-gelism. He presented Mr. Schweinfurth who is spear-heading the Unit-ed Evangelistic Advance for the de-nomination throughout the nation during this year when it is hoped that America will be won for Christ.

Said the speaker, "Evangelism is the total task and diameter of the Church of Jesus Christ in the world. It is actually a missionary task at home. It is the greatest challenge confronting the church in our gen-eration. The United States is still not a Christian nation, even though we say it is. Only 53.3% are affiliated with some religious body, leaving 46.07% wholly unrelated to the body of Christ. Of the former percentage 37% are members who give and at tend quite regularly, 14% attend and support the church occasionally, and 49% seldom if ever attend or give seldom if ever attend or give for the extension of the church among men. Therefore, when we boast of our nation as being Christian, it is apparent mockery. The unfortunate thing is that the quality of our Christianity has not kept pace with the quantity of our population. Our semisecular population hampers the spread of the gospel of Jesus Christ with indifference and callousness within these shores."

The inspirational spokesman for Christ said that if America is to be won for Christ every Christian must feel the responsibility to evangelize his fellowmen. "If we want new warm blood to flow in our anemic veins of faiths we must turn to the early Church fathers. Today the evangelistic flame is barely burning and the spiritual fires are banked in pew and-pulpit. We must therefore recover some of the New Testament apostolic evangelism, fervor, power and dynamic. The days of the professional evangelist are past since no one has a perogative to claim people for Christ. It is the job of the ordinary Christian layman and laywoman in the shop, office, store, on the street and over the back fence. There are not enough preachers to reach the 70 million unchurched people in America. We need the spirit of the apostles who showed no signs of reluctance, timidity or hesitancy when called upon to evangelize since they knew on whom they were believing and on whom their faith rested.

Dr. Schweinfurth said. "The soul of evangelism is a yearning for those of evangelism is a yearning for those without a shepherd, and if we love all as Christ loved us, we can't do other then seek and save the lost and least. Unfortunately we are keeping our spiritual experience to ourselves when we should be moving as a solid phalanx; of Christ's Church to impress the lives of the people in our individual communities. We should be moved by the fact that 1 out of every 2 people in America 1 out of every 2 people in America on the street and highway and wherever men meet is not a Church mem-ber. The political, social and economic climate could be changed almost over night if Christians would give themselves to the spirit of evangelism and global wars could be made an altogether impossible thing. We must all be about God's business and win converts for Christ. We must be countless voices crying in the wilder- K. ness and bearing testimony for V. Austin

Christ." In concluding his challenging pre-sentation, the Cleveland minister said, "A man must do one of two things with his religion. If it is false he must give it up and if it is true he must give it away. This is best done by personal testimony and private

Interesting Data On Washington

One of the richest men in the country, George Washington had to borrow 600 pounds for his journey to New York to assume the office of president.

The first medal to be voted by the United States was that ordered by congress on March 25, 1776, for presentation to George Washing-

The painting of Washington crossing the Delaware was done by a German-American artist in Dusseldorf, Germany, with Germans as models and the River Rhine as the Delaware.

America's celebration of George Washington's birthday is just 11 days late, for the first president was born, not on February 22, but on February 11.

Thawing Fillets If you prefer to thaw fillets leave them in the refrigerator and thaw them gradually. Thawing them in water is not recommended as it tends to rob them of flavor and destroy the texture. Plan to cook the fish as soon as it is thawed. Don't attempt to refreeze for there is danger of spoilage.

Because certain big business corporations are excused from paying all or most of federal income taxes on their business incomes, you and all the rest of us have their share added to what we must pay. These tax-favored corporations are Cooperatives, Foundations and similar organizations that engage in commercial business for profit. Together they dodge almost a BILLION DOLLARS in federal income taxes every year. Co-ops, alone, do close to $17 billion in business volume, the profits from which are largely tax-exempt. It is time to end this injustice.

Right now, Congress is asked to increase income tax rates on present taxpayers in order to meet the mounting cost of government. Yet these tax-exempts still avoid paying their share. It's time to . . .

Fight for Freedom

Lesson for February 19, 1950.

THERE ARE TWO KINDS of problems with living things. One is the kind of problem caused by its growing too fast; the other is the problem caused by not grow-lot of members whom the older Christians found strange. At first all Christians had been Jews; no one. thought of anything else. But in Antioch, as we have seen, and even more as the church Dr. Foreman spread westward around the edge of the Mediterranean, the Christian churches were filling up with non-Jewish members, just as they are today.

It is no secret that in the Masonic order there are 33 degrees. It is not possible for a new member to be taken right into the 33rd degree the first night. Everybody has to go through the lower degrees which are called the Blue Lodge. Now many persons in that early church thought of the Jewish faith as a sort of Christian Blue Lodge.

All the very earliest Christians had been members of that lodge; why shouldn't every one else be the same? So when Paul and Barnabas came back from that historic missionary tour of Cyprus and points north, telling about the large number of new Christians, these old-style Christians shook their heads.

Paul was by-passing the Blue Lodge; he was taking in members who had not gone through the proper preliminaries, the first degrees.

What Makes a Man A Christian?

DAUL KNEW a real Christian when he saw one. So did Barnabas. And the two of them knew, right down in their souls, that they had seen real conversions, genuine cases of persons coming out of pagan darkness into Christian light, without being Jews at all, even for five seconds.

The vital question was simply this: What makes a Christian? The old-style Christians, who had been Jews themselves and still were, for all their Christian faith, said: Unless you are circumcized and keep all the laws of Moses, you cannot be saved-you cannot even begin to be a Christian. Paul and Barnabas—not alone, but as spokes- | tained in the last will and testament -said: You are saved by faith. The Jerusalem Christian said: Yes, you are saved by faith, AND by keeping the law of Moses. Paul said: you are saved by faith, period.

How They Settled It

THE WAY that problem was paign. Second, it was settled after giving both sides plenty of opportunity for full discussion in public. Third, it was settled not informally but by a church council, a group of representative leaders, not by a simple majority vote of all church members indiscriminately. Fourth, it was settled (as the reader of Acts 15 may see) by appeals to fact and to Scripture.

Finally, once the leaders had made up their minds, the church at large accepted their decision promptly, without further bickering. This has been the pattern for the Christian church ever since, though alas! it has not always been followed.

There would have been fewer church splits if the example of the early church had been more seriously taken.

Faith and Obedience

ment overboard. The moral law househows as good as it ever was. But mention

We are not saved FROM obedience. But we are saved FOR obedience. A Christian's obedience to God is not a way of earning God's good-will. It is a grateful response to God's grace. And that makes all the difference in the world.

THE NEED FOR HEROES

The need is a call. Where are heroes needed? We shall answer by asking where they are not needed? What realm can do without them? What realm can do without them? What battle is won apart from them? Heroes are the makers of history. Many heroes, however, are unknown, unwept, and unsung. They are the faithful in the common places of the world's activities. They bear the brunt of the progress of the world

Heroes are not necessarily leaders of thought or action. More frequently they are the faithful in service. Persons they are of courage, is the problem caused by not growing fast enough. The early church had mostly the first kind of problem, at any rate it was taking in a lot of members whom the older insults by the unscrupulous of the world do not daunt them in their labors for the welfare of their fellowmen. Like another. Hero of the first Christian century, they feel they must do the work of Him who sent them, while it is called day (opportunity), for the night cometh when no where are heroes needed today?

Would it not be easier to answer where they are not needed? Is all the work done in the fields of medicine, law, business, education, and religious. gion? Is there no more research to be made before cancer is conquered, tuberculosis chase from man's premises, and heart disease fill no longer the human soul with fear of the uncertainly of life? The modern age stands in need of pulpit heroes like Henry Ward Beecher, Philips Brooks, and Frank W. Gunsaulus. The pew needs men like Robert E. Lee, and John Wanamaker. And how we sigh for statesmen of the caliber of Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln, Theodore Roosevelt, and Woodrow Wilson. And in our recognition of those who help humanity most, we must not overlook the noble women of the present and former generations. And remember with the poet that the bravest battle that ever was fought, was fought by the mothers of men. gion? Is there no more research to men.

Yes, there are many thousands of heroes and heroines who are unknown, they are not even known to themselves, for they are busy doing for others. They are the ones worthy of being imitated. These are found in the rank and file, and among the rank and file, where the elite dare not tread. A hero is no bigger than that from which he runs. No statue ises high whose pedestal is based on human misery, injustice, and suffering.

'With malica toward none, with charity for all," was the philosophy of the Great Commoner, the Emancipator of a race.

YOUTHFUL DRIVERS

For many years a boy or girl under 18 has had to have some responsible adult sign his or her application for a driving permit, and assume financial responsibility for all damages resulting from the negligence of such youthful driver, before a drivers license would be issued.

Recent studies have indicated that drivers between the ages of 16 and 21 were responsible for a large pro-portion of the motor vehicle accidents occurring on our highways

In order to assure the financial responsibility of all licensed minors (boys and girls under 21) the law is being amended to require that all applications for driving licenses made by anyone under 21 must have the signature of some responsible adult who agrees to assume the financial responsibility for the negligence of the minor.

In addition to raising the financial responsibility provision from 18 year old drivers to 21 year old drivers Senate Bill 9 also imposes more severe penalties on youthful violators of our motor vehicle laws with a possible license revocation, or suspension during minority, of anyone under 21 with two or more convictions. No relief is afforded by this Senate Bill 20 to anyone with an unearned income of over $500.00.

On the other hand, House Bill 35, introduced by Ramsburg (R.—Frederick), Barnes (R.—Carroll) and Clark (R.—Montgomery) would exist the consumer's assurance that a Seth Thomas clock will serve him faithfully.

When you read, "Seth Thomas" on the face of your clock you will know it is a real clock! A clock is a delicate instrument. Treat it kindly and cate instrument. Treat it kindly and it will give you untold service. It empt the first $4000.00 of unearned income from the 5% tax and would tax such income at the normal 2% really will be as precious as a member of the family! The atmosphere in any house without a clock 'Chiming' or the ticking of a clock is not a House Bill 35 would afford tax re- home be it ever so humble. The first home is to set the clock in its place and start the movement whether it is electric or key! At all hours of of the reported accumulated surplus the day, the clock is company and when there are sleepless nights just to hear the clock striking the hour of in the State it is generally conceded night is almost as if something is that the low income unearned income alive in the still hours that rings out in the dark. To hear the ticking of a ing of relief. They are the retired clock and rain drops on the window suggest that they let their wishes be known, immediately, by writing to William Preston Lane, Jr., Governor, State House, Annapolis, Md.; LeRoy Pumphrey, Chairman, Ways and Means Committee, House of Delegates, Annapolis, Md.; and L. Harold Sothoron, Chairman, Finance Committee, State of Maryland, Antonia (1980) and the was on the We The People' programme brought on a stretcher from a hospital. He stated it was nearing his end and he wanted to tell the truth of his life. History says that outlaw Jesse James, while living in Missouri under the name of Mr. Howard was shot to death in April 3, 1882. But now, after all these years along comes a Mr. ter all these years along comes a Mr. Dalton registering at a hotel in New napolis, Md.

There is still time for the administration to change its mind.

Dalton registering at a noter in York stating that the Jesse James was not killed at the time, it was a mother member of Charlie Bigelow, another member of his band. They buried Charlie as Jesse to fool the federals and Jesse escaped and has lived ever since as J. Frank Dalton. To verify it all an aged man of 109 years of age was on Television, too, and it now is a fact that up to this writing Jesse James is still in the land of the liv-

Now you can use electric fence in ways never before possible. This double-duty controller will handle two regular one-wire fences or one two-wire fence. A short on one wire will not affect the other-each circuit is independent.

When used on two-wire fences there's a strong shock from either wire to ground—and a doubly strong shock between the wires. You can hold hard-to-stop animals like hogs, calves and sheep. You can hold all livestock on sandy, rocky or extremely dry soil—soil that does not provide a good "ground" for ordinary

Like all Prime Hi-line controllers, this 2C1 delivers a stronger shock than any other leading make. Yet it bears the Underwriters label-your assurance of safety.
