

THE CARROLL RECORD.

Vol. 1, No. 28.

TANEYTOWN, MARYLAND, SATURDAY, JANUARY 12, 1895.

$1.00 Per Year.

LOCALS AND PERSONALS.

Mrs. Wm. H. Harnish who has been ill with pneumonia, is slowly improving.

Mr. Wm. T. Smith of near Bridgeport is reported very ill with pneumonia.

Miss Nina Bonner, of Frederick, is visiting her uncle, Mr. B. S. Miller, on Church Street.

The date on the label of your paper shows the time to which your subscription is paid.

This week has been chock full of disagreeable weather of the first quality—if we are a judge.

Mr. James B. Galt, of Middle St., was kicked in the face by his horse on Saturday and considerably cut and bruised.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. R. Koontz and daughter Edna, and Miss Maggie A. Englar, of McKinstry Mills, visited friends in town on Saturday last.

The question of forming a permanent republican club in this town, is being agitated, and will likely be consummated in the near future.

On account of the change in time of our mail train in the morning, the mail for Harney is now closed at the postoffice at 8.50 instead of 11 a. m.

Any one who wishes to purchase a type-writer, should call at the Record office and see the Hammond, and get information as to price and superior qualities.

The Model Bakery has again changed hands, Mr. Harry G. Sell having sold out to Wagner and Koontz, both of whom have practical knowledge of the business.

Mr. Hickman Solder living near town has a critical case of pneumonia. This disease has been unusually prevalent in this neighborhood this winter.

An effort is being made to establish a convalesce of the Heptasophis in this place, which will likely succeed, as the community can well support one or two more beneficial organizations.

We are indebted to Mr. Harry Eckendorff of San Diego, California, for a copy of the San Diego Union. From what we have seen lately of California papers, they are fully up to those of the east.

Mr. C. G. Sauerhammer will shortly open a cigar factory in Maryland, near the Pennsylvania line, which will be called the "Mr. Dix" cigar factory, an abbreviation of Mason and Dixon.

Mr. A. L. Williams is working hard for a Camp of the P. O. S. of A., with good prospects of success. Mayberry should be as good a point as Pleasant Valley, where they have a large and healthy organization.

Libertytown is trying to decide on one out of several American orders, and a meeting will be held this Saturday night to settle the matter. What is the matter with starting two? The town and neighborhood will certainly support them.

A few more complete sets of back numbers of the RECORD, containing the History of Taneytown, may be had at editor's office. Those who want them should not delay, as some of the issues are almost gone and cannot be replaced. The price is 5 cents a copy.

It seems hardly possible, but nevertheless it is true, that on an average every fifty-fifth person you meet wears W. L. Douglas shoes. Did you ever realize what an immense undertaking it is to supply one article of wearing apparel to over one million people.

The Carroll County Fire Underwriters Association met here on Monday for the transaction of regular business, and will make a strenuous effort to have rates reduced on country and farm property. The next meeting will be held here on the first Monday in February.

The outlook is for a large number of sales in this locality this spring. The RECORD office is prepared to turn out handsome bills on short notice. We not only give a brief notice in our register, but furnish notes sufficient for the sale, free of charge. Call or write for prices.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Reindollar entertained quite a number of friends last week, during the sleighing. Mr. and Mrs. John Hammond of Sykesville; Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Hammond, of Hood's Mills; (bride and groom) Mr. J. T. Hammond, of Woodbine; Mr. J. D. Jones of Libersville; Miss E. E. Hammond of Glenwood; Howard Co., and Mr. Walter Sutton, of Baltimore.

William Hill and John S. Woodyard, colored, were re-committed to jail by Justice Crapster on Monday, for assisting in the escape of Wells and Cost some time ago. They were serving a short term in jail for minor offenses, and claim that while they knew all about the escape, they were threatened with personal injury if they did not keep quiet.

The papers of the country recently contained lengthy articles on the wonderful skill of a noted New York City physician of 232 West 22nd Street. A case of appendicitis was operated on by Dr. Shunk, when the patient was in his death agony, and recovered. This gentleman is a son of Dr. Jeremiah Shunk of Mansfield, Ohio, a native of this place, and a brother of the late Squire Benjamin Shunk.

In some sections persons who intend having Public Sale in the spring are already selecting their date. This is not a bad idea, and the way to do this is to call at our office and have us register your name and date; by doing this others will have a chance to arrange for another day which does not conflict. The printing of the bills need not be done now, but the date can be secured by this plan, just as effectually as if the bills were printed. Such notices will be given free of charge when the bills are printed at our office.

NOTES HERE AND THERE.

Judge Edward Stake treats the talk of running him on the republican ticket for Governor next fall, as a joke.

Col. Wm. A. Boykin has resigned the command of the Fifth Maryland Regiment. His reasons for so doing are strictly of a business character.

There's a Justice of the Peace in Smith county, Kan., whose wedding formula closes: "What this Court has put together let no man put asunder, suffer the little children to come unto you, so help you God."—Village Record.

The committee appointed to arrange dates for the next Hagerstown and Frederick fairs, have agreed upon the following dates: Hagerstown, Oct. 8, 9, 10, and 11th; Frederick, Oct. 15, 16, 17, and 18th. York sent word that its fair would be held Oct. 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5th.

As the result of a clerical error in an election ballot Iowa will, for the first time in its history, have a female justice of the peace. The intention was to nominate her husband, but by mistake his wife's initials were used and she was elected. As there was no legal obstacle to her filling the place she was sworn in.—Keystone Gazette.

A sensation was caused recently at the funeral of Mrs. Stough of Graybills Station, York county, Pa., when the undertaker, J. H. Swartz, after the ceremony at the church, refused to bury the body because it was wet and soft. The corpse was taken from the casket and placed beside a warm stove. Two days later the burial took place, decomposition having set in.

A series of five shooting matches has been arranged between Roswell Erter, of this place, and A. C. Krueger, of Wrightsville. The terms are 100 live birds and $100 a side for each match. The first one was shot at York on New Year's day and was won by Erter by a score of 82 to 81. The shooting was difficult on account of the snow and bad light. The next match will be at Gettysburg. The other places are Harrisburg, Lancaster and Columbia.—Gettysburg Star.

The Frederick Bar association gave a dinner to Judge John T. Vinson, the retiring associate judge in the sixth district, as a tribute of respect and appreciation. The members were in attendance and the affair was a brilliant one. Responses were made to the list of toasts by Judge James McSherry, Judge Vinson, Judge Jno. A. Lynch, Hon. M. G. Urner, Dr. W. H. Hoffman, Mr. C. W. Ross, Mr. E. S. Eichebrenner, Mr. E. C. Norwood, Mr. C. O. Keedy, Mr. P. P. Pampel, Mr. W. H. Hinks and others.

Dr. Steuart, of the state board of health, on a recent visit to the flint mill at Hood's Mills, says: "I found the foreman of the mill, who nine months ago was a healthy robust man, in the last stages of consumption. The disease from which other employees of the mill also suffered was caused by breathing the flint dust. The attorney general of the state told me there was no law on the statute books that would effectively reach the owners of the mill. Mills of this kind in other places are operated with what is known as the wet process."

The office of the R. & O. Railroad at Hood's Mills, on the main stem, was partially burned on Saturday afternoon. The agent and several others had left the building but a few minutes when smoke was seen issuing from the door and roof. With the assistance of a number of persons who were at the store of the Messrs Hammond Bros. nearby, the flames were extinguished, but the building, until most of the furniture, including the desk, which contained a quantity of tickets, had been destroyed. It is supposed the fire originated from a stove which was carelessly thrown into the waste bucket.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE SCHOOL BOARD.

The School Board was in session on Monday. All the members were present, except Mr. Anderson, who owing to sickness in his family, was detained at home.

Bills for repairs at several schools were passed and covered and paid. Mr. William R. Straw, whose resignation, as trustee of Union Bridge school, was accepted at the meeting of the School Board in November last, at the urgent request of the school patrons, resigned, and was reappointed trustee of said school.

The following was unanimously adopted: Ordered, That the annual examination of the schools for promotion be held on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, 4th, 5th, 6th of February; that the Winter term of school close on Friday, 1st. February; that the Board meet on Monday 11th, to audit the teachers' reports for the term, which must be sent to the Examiner by Monday following the close of the term, and that the teachers' association be held at the usual place and hour on Friday, February 15th.

DIED.

NORRIS—On the 31st near Middleburg, Emma A., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Norris, aged 12 years.

ROOP—On the 10th, in Baltimore, of paralysis, Mr. David Roop, of Wakefield, this county, aged 72 years.

MARRIED.

WALTZ—NELSON—On the 10th, in New Windsor, Mr. Isaac D. Waltz, of Keswick, Iowa, to Miss Lucy Nelson, of New Windsor. Ceremony by Rev. Bangham.

KOONTZ—ERB—On the 6th, at the Reformed parsonage, by Rev. A. Bateman, Mr. Charles A. Koontz, to Miss Laura V. Erb, both of Silver Run.

DAVIS—BOWERSOX—On the 6th, by Elder Solomon Stoner, Mr. Jesse W. Davis to Miss Clara E. Bowersox, both of Uniontown.

LYNN—BOSTIAN—On the 2nd, by Elder K. Sappington, Mr. Guy B. Lynn of Middleburg, to Miss Emma Bostian, of Centerville.

ECONOMY IN MANAGEMENT.

Demand of an Insurance Company.

Sandy Spring, Md., Jan. 7.—The forty seventh annual meeting of the Montgomery County Mutual Fire Insurance Company was held at Sandy Spring today, with over two hundred members present, the largest attendance in the history of the company. Charles F. Brooke was elected chairman and George F. Nesbitt and Allan Parquhar secretaries. The report of the secretary showed that over 10,500 policies were in force, representing $18,500,000 insurance, on which premiums were received amounting to $63,000. Salaries and clerical services amounted to $6,200. Arthur Stabler offered an amendment to the by-laws, which brought on considerable discussion as to the right of this meeting to adopt by-laws but the question was decided in the affirmative by an overwhelming vote. By-laws were adopted reducing salaries paid from $5,300 to $1,000, though efforts were made to show that the larger amount was justified by the work performed.

Joseph T. Moore, the president of the company for the past six years, said he thought the present management had been most unjustly criticized, and that under his administration would be continued to act as a director or officer of the company. Other by-laws were adopted tending to economize in the management of the company. The opposition to the management was successful in curving all of its points, but owing to the present directors having a large number of proxies they were able to secure their re-election. If Mr. Moore carries out his determination to resign it is thought that Asa M. Stabler will be selected as president of the company.—Sun.

Social near Emmitsburg.

On Friday evening, Jan. 4th, the beautiful and hospitable residence of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Fuss near Emmitsburg, was the scene of a most delightful and enjoyable party, given in honor of their son, Willie, who was the guest of the evening. The guests were cordially welcomed and entertained with generous hospitality. The evening was spent in the enjoyment of both vocal and instrumental music, and the latest and most popular songs were sung. At 11:30 o'clock the guests received summons to the dining hall where they found a large table, trembling under all the delicacies of the season, consisting of ice cream, cakes, fruit, coffee, etc., to which all did ample justice.

Among those present were: Misses Annie Fuss, Maud Oiler, Clara Stansbury, Minnie Fox, Mattie Stansbury, Ora Martin, Florence Stansbury, Gertrude Martin, Maud Maxwell, John Lathrop, Bertha Leatherwood, Bertie Clay, Willie Hawk, Nettie Hawk, Ella Maxwell, Annie Shriver, Carrie Baumgardner, Gertrude Moser, Nellie Bone, Messrs Ira Fuss, Thad Maxwell, Elmer Buffington, Will Maxwell, George Zentz, Harry Dorn, John Buffington, Maurice Troxell, Frank Troxell, Frank Grider, Wm. Martin, Maurice Stansbury, Mahlon Stoner, Samuel Sheely, H. B. Buffington, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Fuss, Mr. and Mrs. Asbury M. Fuss, Mr. and Mrs. Holland Weant, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bone.

With Grateful Hearts.

Rev. and Mrs. R. L. Patterson will ever remember the cordial reception extended them by the congregation of St. James' Lutheran church, Union Bridge, and the friends that gathered at the parsonage on the evening of January 2nd. The festive feast prepared, the elegant and useful gifts bestowed by congregation and individuals, the hearty personal welcome, and the spirit of esteem and devotion that prompted all, have left lasting impressions upon the hearts of those to whom they were given. Accept then, dear friends, the gratitude which we thus poorly express. May the giver of all happiness give his life for us abundantly blessed each one who had the smallest thought or part in this joyous occasion.

In the Master's Name and Service.

REV. AND MRS. R. L. PATTERSON.

Death of Mr. David Roop.

Mr. David Roop, a well known miller and farmer of Wakefield, was stricken with paralysis at his home in Baltimore, on Monday, and died on Thursday at the City Hospital. Mr. Roop was the head of the firm of D. Roop & Son, proprietors of the Wakefield Roller Mills, and was well known in Frizellburg and Wakefield.

During the administration of Gov. Thomas Swann he was a state food inspector, and in 1875 was a candidate for county commissioner on the Reform ticket in Carroll county. He was a devoted member of the Christian Church, who came to America from Germany before the Revolution and settled in Lancaster county, Pa.

He was 72 years of age, and his remains were taken to Wakefield on Thursday for interment at Pipe Creek cemetery on Saturday.

Surprise Sleighing Party.

A very pleasant surprise sleighing party was given to Miss Gussie Oiler by her many friends at her father's residence near this place. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Oiler, Misses Gussie Oiler, Carrie, Nora and Letha Baumgardner, Cora and Minnie Linn, Verlie Harner, Minnie Shriver, Lizzie Newcomer, Rose Shriver, Addie Hawk, Messrs Harry and Birnie Oiler, Harry Baumgardner, William Oiler, Thomas Harner, Herbert Humbert, Edward Harner, James Rudy, John Newcomer, Edward Conover, Martin Conover, Edgar Hines, Samuel Boyd, Lewis Boyd, Luther Hawk. All stayed until a late hour and after having expressed themselves as having spent a very enjoyable time started for home.

CHURCH NOTES.

Communion services will be held in the Presbyterian church, Sunday morning, January 20th.

There will be services in the U. B. church on Sunday at 2 p. m., at which the organization of a Sunday school will take place. Preaching services at Harney at 7 p. m.

A MILITARY RESERVE!

Drill and Discipline in the Public Schools of the Country.

New York City, Jan. 8th, 1895.

In my last letter some allusion was made to military evolutions in the public schools of this city, Lafayette Post No. 140, Department of New York, G. A. R., located at 23rd St. and 6th Ave., this city, deserves the high honor of being the father of this wise and patriotic movement. They adopted resolutions recommending the formation of companies, battalions, and regiments in the public schools of the country, early in 1893, and sent them to the National Encampment in Indianapolis September of the same year. The action of Lafayette Post, an influential body of 700 prominent old soldiers, was unanimously adopted and the state department urged to take the matter up and carry it into execution.

The president of the Association to the National Teacher's Association the same year recommended the proposed movement to the educators of the land. Some efforts were made but little accomplishment until the matter was taken up officially by the New York City Board of Education on resolutions offered by Commissioner J. A. Goulden, commander of Hancock Post No. 259 G. A. R., of New York who was made Chairman of the committee appointed to carry out the movement, inaugurated by the G. A. R. This committee promptly called a meeting of the G. A. R. Posts of the city, numbering fifty-five, of the principals of the sixty-four male grammar schools of the city, and the prominent military men at the Grand Central Palace, a monster building used for public demonstrations, etc.

This meeting, numbering two hundred prominent veterans and leading educators, unanimously elected the chairman of the committee of the Board of Education, President of the Advisory Council, with a full corps of officers and an Executive Committee of fifteen, of which Generals Nelson A. Miles, N. W. Day, and George Wingate, Admirals Gherardi, and Osborn, and other well known men, are members.

Bills have been introduced at Albany providing for the equipping and arming of the boys of the higher grammar grades, so that within twelve months the New York State will have 100,000 cadets, going through military discipline and ready for field service. The boys are being formed into companies, battalions, and regiments, numbering respectively sixty, one hundred, and three battalions in a battalion, and three battalions in a regiment. The city has now forty 5000 boys drilling, and on Decoration Day, 1895, it is expected that a line of fifteen full regiments of 768 cadets each, making a corps of three divisions in the line, proudly marching down Fifth Avenue.

The movement is one of the most popular ever introduced, and G. A. R. invite the cadets for guard duty at their public encampments and right royal duty. Physical culture, gymnastics, etc. have long been a part of our educational system, but the military drill will take the place of these exercises, doing better and more effective work in developing the physical man of the future. The military drill will be the correct system (The Sargant's law has been adopted here) will remedy the defects in the boys and make them more manly, with better figures, and generally tend to their well-being physically.

In taking the patriotic view of the matter the 10,000,000 of drilled and disciplined young men in the next ten years will prove a reserve in case of foreign invasion or domestic trouble equal to every emergency. The following table shows the area, population, and military strength of each of the six leading European states, with the corresponding data of the United States for comparison:

United States for comparison:
	Area.		Military Strength.
	sq.-mi.	Pop.	Peace.	War.
Germany.	238,732	59,000,000	531,538	2,700,000
France.	201,992	39,000,000	513,755	2,711,570
Great Britain.	93,646	45,500,000	299,150	1,520,820
Italy.	110,623	31,000,000	247,248	1,900,000
Austria.	262,483	11,000,000	977,000	2,722,400
Spain.	193,703	18,000,000	230,500	701,000
U. S. of A.	3,581,000	65,000,000	250,000 regulars 12,000 militia.

Great Britain's peace strength includes 76,721 in India.

What would become of the country in event of serious complications abroad or at home? A total force of 132,000 soldiers scattered over nearly four millions of square miles of territory. Our National Guard, outside of New York and Pennsylvania, is little or nothing of brigade or division strength, and its actual experience and their mobility would be anything but speedy and effective. The battalions already organized here are neatly uniformed in blue, with real rifles, bayonets, hospital appliances, and general field equipment. The G. A. R. intend pushing the matter all over the country, with 50,000 earnest tried old soldiers, success is an assured fact, doing incalculable good to the rising generation and reflecting great credit on our common country.

VERITAS.

Keysville.

On Friday last, Mr. Joseph Harner the school teacher of this place, took his school quite a fine sleigh ride. At 9 o'clock they all left the school house in sleighs and with the merry jingle of bells soon found themselves in Double Pipe Creek visiting Mr. W. J. Arthur's school. Then they called upon the Franklin school taught by Mr. Jas. Galt, and last of all they visited the Ridge school where the care of Mr. Smith, where they were heartily received, and after spending some time in skating and social conversation, they all left for their respective homes much pleased with their trip.

Mr. Harry Dorn and sister Allie, spent Friday last visiting friends at Woodsboro, Md.

Rev. C. L. Ritter and wife, of Fayetteville, Pa., who have been visiting relatives here, have returned home.

Misses Nora and Lulu Forney, who have been spending some time in Baltimore with their sister, have returned home.

Due to the inclemency of the weather, the revival services did not begin Sunday evening, but will begin this Thursday evening.

Miss Dora Harner has returned from a visit to Baltimore.

COUNTY CORRESPONDENCE.

Manchester.

The holiday season just closed will be one to be long remembered for the many social events that have transpired, brought about, no doubt, by the fine sleighing our people enjoyed for ten days. The hills and valleys were resounding continuously with the merry jingle of sleigh bells, and the happy laughter of the sledders echoed upon the midnight air even until Saturday night. The early Sunday morning brought with it a downpour of rain that continued all day, and with the moderation that set in soon undermined the solid roadbed, and by night sleighing was numbered with the things of the past. At this writing this whole section is again wrapped in snow of several inches in depth, but the soft condition of the roads has spoiled sleighing.

A pleasant social event was given in a surprise party to Mrs. E. W. Fuhrman, on York St., by her children and a number of invited guests, who greeted her with their best wishes as she stood at the 70th milestone. Her greatest surprise was the presence of her son Henry, of Parks, Ky. The social features introduced soon entertained the company to the full enjoyment, until the halt for refreshments was called, when the generous hospitality of the family was displayed upon a long table decorated with ivy, mistletoe, and chrysanthemums, among which was a bountiful supply of cakes, confectioneries, sandwiches and fruit. It was a very enjoyable evening, and the good things were much enjoyed and not till a late hour did the company break up.

Grand Lecturer Graham Dukehart, of Baltimore, and Grand Inspector J. Milton Reifsnider, of Westminster, installed the officers of Lebanon Lodge, A. F. and A. M., of this place for the current year, on Friday evening, as follows: H. S. Musselman, W. M.; Chas. Brillhart, S. W.; Edward Brillhart, J. W.; Chas. W. Motter, Sec.; Samuel Miller, Treas.; J. P. Baltzore, S. D.; Jno. E. Masenheimer, J. D.; Jacob Wink, Tyler. After installation the members and visitors from Door to Virtue Lodge, No. 46, were banqueted at the home of Mr. C. W. Motter.

On Saturday evening, G. W. J. Everhart, Dist. Dep., installed the officers of Daniel and Jacob Lodge, No. 23, I. O. O. F., as follows: G. S. Shultz, N. G.; A. Hoffman, V. G.; H. M. Smith, Rec. Sec.; Ed. Oursler, Sec.; G. W. J. Everhart, Pres. Sec.; G. H. Trout, Wm. W. Hensgen, S. D.; Jno. E. Masenheimer, O. G.; Boose, I. G.; E. Buchman, R. S. S.; W. R. L. S. S.; J. E. Masenheimer, R. S. to N. G.; J. E. Leese, L. S.; G. Motter, R. S. to V. G.; J. Houck, L. S. The members were prepared to the City Hotel and enjoyed a fine oyster supper, served by nine host, J. A. Frederick.

Mr. L. H. Hoffacker entertained a company of Hanover friends at supper on Thursday evening, at his home on the corner of Main and York Sts.

A number of friends went to Glenville on Thursday night and gave a surprise to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Smith. They were royally entertained, and returned home about midnight.

The sleighing party to Mr. Leonard Kreitzer's enjoyed a fine dance, and after enjoying the hospitality of the family, came home O. K. in the "wee sma' hours."

Mr. Benton Burgoon and wife, while returning home from Bible class at Mr. Wm. Gonder's, south of town, at about 11 o'clock on Friday night, were run into by several young men who were coming up Main St. in their sleighs, in a dead run. Mr. B. was thrown out of the sleigh and the occupants were broken and the occupants were about the face, and bruised up. At present she is much improved but still keenly feels the terrible shock.

Mrs. Cornelius Miller is confined to her room with a bad case of quinsy.

Mr. Andrew E. B. Myers has the grip.

Mr. Howard Lewis is suffering with pleurisy.

The gypsies are still encamped on York Hill.

York Road.

Wednesday morning Mr. Joel Myers took his milk up to the station, and was going to hitch to the lamp post for a few minutes, when one of the men told him not to hitch there. He asked him why he should not, and was told that the horse would pull the milk up to the station, and Mr. Myers got Mr. Sharrett to hold the horse while he purchased his tickets. When he was ready to start, some one within the office pulled the signal to scare his horse, and the horse would have been one that would have scared him, if he might have ended in a serious accident. This trick was not becoming to railroad employees, and they should be very careful how they behave themselves.

Frank Reindollar has returned home from Hampstead, where he was visiting friends.

A large sled load of our citizens went to D. P. Creek, this evening to attend the meeting which is being conducted by the Rev. Long, of York Pa., in the German Baptist Brethren church.

Mr. C. E. Valentine was in Baltimore to-day having teeth extracted, which proved successful, with little pain.

Mr. Wm. F. Cover was in Baltimore to-day on business.

One of the largest and oldest trees of Bruceville, belonging to S. L. Fuss, fell into the creek last night with a very loud crash, which alarmed many persons not knowing the cause. The tree must have been a century old, and the loss of such a land mark is sadly regretted.

Some person has been shooting rabbits since the law is out, because he had not time to shoot when the law was in force. He had better be a little careful and become a law abiding citizen.

An uproar occurred in some families near here last week, brought about by jealousy, which resulted in the casting out of some of them to the charity of strangers.

Mr. F. Mehring has his fine carriage set upon runners for sleighing. This will be a very nice way to sleigh.

We are glad to see the Rev. Chas. Ritter and wife, of Fayetteville, Pa., enjoying themselves in our community.

Have you used any of Mr. E. H. Sharrett's canned tomatoes yet? If not, try them, they are excellent.

Harney.

Our popular merchant, Mr. D. J. Hesson has employed Mr. John Eyer as clerk in his store; this we think is a wise thing for Mr. Hesson to do, because the constant confinement and over amount of work that he was compelled to perform, seemed to have a damaging effect on his health.

On last Friday, Mrs. Geo. Schott, of Baltimore, came to this place to visit her daughter, Mrs. Jacob Yealy, who has been sick for sometime.

On Monday morning, Miss Douglas and Phebe Newcomer left for Mechanicsburg where they have been attending school.

Mr. Chas. Eckenrode also started back to college. Charlie informed us before leaving that he would not be home again before next June.

On last Saturday evening a party of young folks from this place, went down to Mr. David Menchey's near Littlestown; we are informed that they had quite an enjoyable time.

Dr. Geo. Spooner, of Harney, on business, during the beginning of this week.

Messrs. Edgar Staub and Ed. Bishop, who had been home to spend their Christmas, returned to their former place on Saturday, and both expected to go to work on Monday morning.

On last Friday evening the officers elect for the coming term of Harney Castle No. 6, A. O. K. of the M. C. were installed. The officers are: Wm. Reck, Select Commander. The organization was a good set of officers, and is in a flourishing condition, and it is believed that this will be marked in the history of the order as a year of growth and general prosperity.

Our creamery has been apparently been dead for sometime, but has resumed operations and is doing a flourishing business. We are told that it will be run for all that it is made; the company which has it in charge is a solid one and not desiring to sell their milk need not be afraid of losing their money.

Miss Fannie Null has been on the sick list for several weeks, but at present is able to be around again.

Our cigar factory, which resumed operation again on last Monday morning, and the boys, after a two weeks' loaf, seemed anxious to go to work. We are informed that one of the workmen in Newcomer's factory made $5,000 in cigars during the last year; this is not an extraordinary amount but we consider it pretty good during these hard times.

Mr. Daniel Hesson filled his large ice house last week with a reasonably good quality of ice and will be able to supply his trade with all that will be needed during the warm weather next summer.

We are informed that Mr. Andrew DeGroft has traded his pair of little horses to Mr. Hennie Spalding for a black horse and new outer sleigh.

New Windsor.

Quite an excitement was created in our town, on Friday evening last, the cause of it being a mad bull which escaped from Mr. J. N. Stoner, of Medford. The bull owned all the street and showed fight when any person tried to turn him back. Mr. Stoner's hired man captured him on Pike hill, above town. No one was hurt but several were scared very badly.

Messrs. Haines, Becker, Paul O. Dell and William Ehlers, of Baltimore, who spent the past week with Mr. Tiesler's parents, returned home on Tuesday.

Messrs. Howard Englar and John Nusbauer have purchased the green grocery store of Mr. Harry Englar, near the railroad; the young men are popular and we certainly think they will make a success of it.

Mr. Marshall Lambert, our popular drover, purchased a large drove of cattle from Scott M. Smith, of Bridgeport, on Friday. Mr. Lambert handles a large number of cattle every week.

Parties in this town and vicinity are too numerous to mention.

ADVERTISEMENTS and contributions for the inside of the paper should be handed in by Tuesday evening to be guaranteed insertion.

ENTERED AT TANEYTOWN POSTOFFICE AS SECOND CLASS MATTER.

SATURDAY, JAN. 12th., 1895.

THE Banner of Liberty entered upon its 46th. volume with the last issue. The Banner is newsy, and shows a decided disposition to give its patrons full value for their money.

BROTHER ALLEMAN of the Independent has been wearing a "sworn circulation of over 2300" as a button hole bouquet for quite a long time. By the way brother, as this is a season for new resolutions, &c., how would it strike you to make a new "swear" as to the aforesaid 2300.

THE proceedings of the present congress have been very tame, so to speak; or it may be that it is the press, and the country generally, which refuses to recognize its importance, which gives it a lower tone than usual. There is no doubt that the press exerts a powerful influence, indirectly, on legislation. When it applauds and condemns, encourages and scolds, our lawmakers are influenced and spurred on as no other power could compel.

LAST WEEK we had six interesting letters from correspondents which we were compelled to omit, because the mass of matter which came in on Friday morning was too large to handle. So far as we know there is no good reason why, nearly points at least, should not send in their letters on Thursday; we have four correspondents, but there is often late advertisements or local matter, which takes precedence over correspondence, consequently it is not always possible to put up every thing received as late as Friday, much as we would like to do it. We hope that our friends will not trust too much to the ability of the force to "rush" at the last minute.

AN OLD-FASHIONED sea story full of interest and adventure, with a strong love motive, is begun by W. Clark Russell in the January Cosmopolitan. "Ouida" succeeds Frode, Gosse, Lang, and other distinguished writers with an instalment of the "Great Passions of History" series, which has been appearing in The Cosmopolitan. A discussion is aroused by Mr. Edward Bok's article on "The Young Man and the Church," which will consume tons of ink before it is settled. Just preceding the famous Charcot's death he prepared an article for The Cosmopolitan on Pasteur, to be published after Pasteur's death. But Charcot has died first, and so with the consent of Charcot's executors, the article is given now. The present "Theatrical Season in New York" is critically considered by Mr. James S. Metcalfe, editor of Life, and there are stories by Tourgee, Howells, and the famous French writer Francois Coppee.

THE Farm Journal of Philadelphia is the leading monthly farm paper of the United States. It is boiled-down, and hits the nail on the head every time. It has over 200,000 subscribers scattered from Maine to Washington and from Michigan to Texas. It is adapted to farmers' needs in all parts of the United States, and is devoted to stock-raising, the orchard, the dairy, the garden, poultry, the household, the boy and girls, etc., etc. Its breezy, crisp pages contain as much information in the course of the year as many of the high priced weeklies; while its earnest, manly tone and bright common sense way of treating farm matters leave a good and lasting taste in one's month. The subscription price is 50 cents a year.

The publishers of the Record will send Farm Journal one whole year to every subscriber who will pay his subscription one year in advance, with 15 cents additional.

THE JANUARY Review of Reviews, in its "Progress of the World" (editorial) department, discusses present problems in public health administration, municipal reform in the United States, the movement for deep waterways from the great lakes to the Atlantic Ocean, the Nicaragua Canal question, the proposed arbitration of the boundary dispute between Venezuela and Great Britain, the payment by our government of damages to Canadian seal poachers, the prospects of civil service reform, the demand for a bank-note currency, the change in the Canadian Premier-ship, the disposition of English visitors to instruct Americans, and the recent action of the American Federation of labor; among foreign topics receiving treatment in this department are the Armenian question, the war in China, the approaching Parliamentary contest in Great Britain, the London School Board election, South African affairs, the French in Madagascar, and the death of the Princess Bismarck.

Our Candidate for Governor.

A number of our republican contemporaries have been naming various candidates for the next gubernatorial nomination; among others, Hon. Wm. B. Baker, congressman-elect in this district. This does not seem to be politic politics. Mr. Baker brilliantly carried his district, it is true, but in the event of his nomination and election as Governor, his resignation as congressman would follow, and it is scarcely probable that a republican candidate could be found who would be equally fortunate at the ensuing election to fill the vacancy.

Besides Mr. Baker, the republicans have a goodly number of competent and popular men for the nomination, and the second district has another name to offer who would make a candidate equally as strong and well qualified in every particular as any which could be named, without making any stronger claim, and that man is our own popular and eloquent young attorney, Harry M. Claibough.

That he possesses all the necessary qualifications, no one will deny; that he would make an active and brilliant campaign, his past efforts testify to; and that his work as a party leader entitles him to the nomination, if he wants it, is equally indisputable.

The Record is not a political sheet, and does not propose to be, nor does it desire for political reasons to boom anyone for political office, but local pride alone prompts us to step out of and above mere partyism, when such a position of honor as Governor of the state may possibly be secured by one of our fellow citizens, particularly when he is one who is very much interested in, and has done much towards, the success of our paper.

This endorsement is entirely unsolicited, and is prompted solely by a desire to do honor to one, who, if elected, would not only reflect honor on, but advance the interests of, this community, as well as the whole state.

"We" and "Veritas."

It is probably an old story long drawn out, to say anything more about the recent investigations of the Lexow Committee in New York city, and a review of the subject would likely be out of place in this paper. Police corruption in New York has always been regarded as a matter of course, but no one outside of Tammany ever dreamed that the system of blackmail and oppression had been carried to the extent exposed by the investigating committee. As we have previously stated this has been a matter of universal interest, and not confined to the limits of the municipality; its atrocious story has met with the repugnance of good citizens everywhere, and very few have taken it upon themselves to assail the means, or question the motives, which have brought to light this hideous monster of corruption, because, if ever "the end justifies the means" this is one of the cases.

Our esteemed contributor, "Veritas," is an ably written article in our last issue, seeks to show that the republicans are equally responsible with Tammany for the existence of the condition which has been found to exist; that the proceedings of the committee were "a burlesque on a court of justice," and bitterly criticizes the character of the evidence, and methods of investigation. What has this to do with the result? How is this a defense of Tammany? The republican officials on the police board were there by sufferance, and for a purpose, and were they the best which might have been appointed? More than this the first sittings of the committee were held before the appointment of the present republican commissioners, if we are not mistaken. But what is the use to try to defend an organization which has in one department under its absolute control—for it was absolute, in fact—been shown to be wholly corrupt, by seeking to find fault with minor details?

The Record does not speak against Tammany because it is democratic, but because it has been proven to be unworthy to rule a great city of our country. Is republican Philadelphia in the same situation that New York was? Then we say, let the light be turned on, and we will show that our patriotism is above party.

Now "Veritas," one thing more; it is not yet daylight, and scarcely safe to say that nothing has been found wrong in those other twelve departments of the city. The late committee had no power to investigate any but the police department, and it is just possible that the present state legislature will suspect that such a "managing" head as the namesake of the great Delaware chieftain did not "carry all the eggs in one basket."

Very much more might be said on this subject, but our ability as well as mission, is likely limited to topics nearer home with which we and our readers are better acquainted. A somewhat close reading up on this subject in several New York daily exchanges has probably been the cause of our giving the matter more attention than was called for. We have no desire to "scrap" with "Veritas," for whose letters we have a high appreciation, even if our opinions do not always agree with his.

For our Advertisers.

An exchange says: "When the dull season gets along, and there is no trade, and the merchant wants to sell goods so bad, and can't pay his rent, he takes out his advertisement—that is, some of them do; but occasionally a level headed merchant puts in a bigger one, and scoops all the business, while his neighbors are mortgaged to pay the gas bill.

There are times when you couldn't stop people from buying everything in the store if you planted a cannon behind the door, and that's the time the advertisement is sent on its holy mission. It makes light work for the advertiser, for a chalk sign on the sidewalk would do all that was needed and have a half holiday six days in the week; but who wants to favor an advertisement?

They are built to do hard work, and should be sent out in dull days, when a customer has to be knocked down with hard facts and kicked insensible with bankrupt reductions in prices before he will spend a cent.

That's the aim and end of an advertisement, and if you ever open a store, don't try to get them to come when they are already sticking out of the windows, but give them your advertisement right between the eyes in the dull season, and you will wax rich and own a fast horse, and perhaps be able to smoke a good cigar once or twice a week.

Write this down where you will fall over it every day. The time for a merchant to draw business is when he wants business, and not when he has more business than he can attend to already.

Scarlet Fever and Diphtheria.

Whereas in European cities the battle of the municipal and health authorities, so far as epidemics were concerned, was until a few years ago waged chiefly against small pox, typhus, and occasional outbreaks of cholera, it is now considered that the victory has in the main been won against these bolder and grosser enemies of the race, and the conflict has set in against the diseases which are hostile to child life. Scarlet fever and diphtheria are the chief of these children's maladies, with measles as a less dreaded but extremely mischievous third. Thus far the weapons have been mainly those of vigilance, never-ceasing inspection, immediate isolation, disinfection through the aid of highly organized official disinfecting staffs, and in general the sharp blocking up of those avenues through which infection is most likely to be communicated.

The difficulty of perfect isolation in tenement houses has led to the great extension of public hospitals for the reception of children ill with diphtheria, scarlet fever and measles. The great objects of the administrator of the public health system are (1) to abolish the plague spots which are the sources of infection, and (2) when infection has appeared, to prevent its spread. This of course is the sound policy to be pursued. But, (3) and concurrently, every possible effort is made to save the lives of the poor children actually seized with infectious maladies. If we are rightly informed with regard to the anti-toxin cure for diphtheria, its application is to be beneficial both as a preventive against attack and also, where not previously applied, as a remedy to be administered in the early stages of the disease. Its immediate interest naturally lies in its use as a remedy. A considerable amount of experience, tested in the light of comparative statistics, would be necessary in order to show the preventive value of such treatment, and even then it would be difficult to distribute the honors between a remedial specific of this kind and a generally efficient sanitary administration. As in the case of vaccination, no one could ever tell us conclusively what part particular treatment has played, and what part improved conditions of public and private cleanliness have had in the gratifying diminution of the malady.

DAIRY & CREAMERY.

PLAN OF CREAMERY.

Do Not Go It Blind In Building One, Says Gurler.

The accompanying illustrations of a plan for a creamery are from Gurler's new book, "American Dairying." The author says that a creamery capable of handling 10,000 to 15,000 pounds of milk a day should not cost more than from $2,500 to $3,500, according to location and price of material. The draft of the smokestack must be first class and straight, and the boiler should have a capacity 50 per cent greater than the engine. Drainage should be conducted at least 40 rods away from the building, and further still would be better. Creamery drainage is nasty in hot weather. "Do not fail to put a trap in the sewer," says Gurler. Ordinary sewer pipe may be used for the drain. A wooden trap is most convenient to clean and keep in order. It is put inside the building and is "simply a wooden box which the gutter empties into, the outlet being at least one inch lower than the inlet, with a partition in it which reaches within two inches of the bottom of the box and below the outlet. This box is built or placed under the floor in such a way that the cover forms part of the floor and can be removed readily to clean the dirt out of the trap."

INSIDE VIEW OF CREAMERY.

Mr. Gurler would build a cement floor to the creamery if he could be sure of getting it made by a man who understood his business. He likes a creamery built except the receiving room all on the same level. That should be higher. He says of the creamery in the picture:

"The accompanying plan shows a very well arranged creamery. The driveway and receiving platform should be two feet higher, which would make it much easier emptying the cans into the weigh car. The engine is in the room with the separators. This is as it should be. The engine should not be in the room with the boiler. There is too much dust from the coal and ashes, and it is more convenient to get at it in the room with the separators. The cream vats are in a room separate from the separator room and churn room. The churn and butter worker are in one room. This is a good arrangement. This room should be so arranged that the temperature can be controlled during the time of churning and working the butter.

"The temperature of the cream must be held down during the churning process to secure the best results in quantity and quality of butter. A high temperature will not secure the desired object. The temperature may be controlled from the refrigerator or by having an icebox in the room built so as to obtain a circulation of air about the ice. It is desirable to control the temperature of the creamroom also, and it may be done in the same way that the churnroom is controlled. I do not like the plan of having the separators, cream vats, churn and butter workers all in one room. It is impracticable to control the temperature of such a room in hot weather so as to secure the best results. An ice cooler in a cream or churn room helps to secure a pure atmosphere, as the air deposits impurities when coming in contact with ice, which are carried off with the water. This can be demonstrated by tasting water from melting ice that has impure air circulating about it." The temperature vat should have an overflow to it.

An Ohio Prize Winner.

The Ohio fair butter test is made annually at the home of the competing cows and at the time most convenient for their owners. Three cows were entered for the test—two Holstein-Friesians and one Jersey. The trial was made under the hard conditions of drought and flies, with dry feed. None of the animals was at her best probably. The prize for the largest amount of butter fat was won by the Jersey. She belonged to Ben Ames of Mount Vernon, and her name was Vary Much, a good name under the circumstances. Very Much produced 2.05 pounds of butter fat in 24 hours. The old theory that Jerseys and Guernseys were better breeds, while Holsteins were a milk breed, will have to be given up. It has been knocked out of its place.

Feeding For Winter Dairying.

Many factories are putting in butter apparatus to make butter during the winter. This only commenced two years ago, and though the number each year is increasing rapidly there will still be some sections that perhaps may not have sufficient cows to warrant the change just yet, and therefore the dairymen there ought to make butter at home. To make a success of this see that your stables are warm, as cows cannot give milk in a cold stable with profit. Nor can they give much milk on straw alone. If you are not provided with ensilage, get a straw cutter. Cut your straw and clover, if you have any, as clover is much better than timothy for milk cows. Mix your straw and clover together and steam it if possible 12 hours previously. Feed your cows with this twice per day, and whatever green you give them put it on your steamed feed. It is good summer feed, but there is not heat enough in it, so in winter you must substitute either corn or pea meal for one-half of your bran. A little dry hay or straw should be given in the middle of the day, with roots. Some prefer turnips to any other kind, but there is not much difference in the feeding value of turnips, carrots and mangolds. So you may grow whichever kind you have the best success with. Of course those farmers who have well built silos can produce milk very much cheaper than by the foregoing method of feeding, but ensilage should not be fed alone. Cows, like people, want a mixed ration.

If you have not made arrangements to water your cows in the stable, do so at once. Not that I would not recommend you to let your cows out occasionally in fine weather for a little exercise, but cows must have water every day that are giving milk and should have it at least twice per day. It will not cost much to have a watering trough made before them, and you can arrange to have a connection with the pump. I would advise you to have one or more fresh cows, as you will find it much easier to churn the cream than if your cows have been long in milk.

Another thing. If you have over 12 or 15 cows, it will pay you to buy a separator, as it will pay for itself in two years by the extra amount of butter you will make, and then you have nice sweet milk to feed calves, pigs, etc. Farmers will find it to their advantage to make butter during the winter. Cows have to be fed all the same whether they give milk or not. Give them a little extra feed, and if your stable is warm you can make enough to pay for all they eat, and thus their board will be paid. —Peter Macfarlane.

THE ICEHOUSE.

Should Hold One-fourth More Ice Than You Expect to Use.

As the time of year will soon be at hand for putting up ice and as it is a necessary article about a creamery, an article on that subject will not be out of place. To begin, your icehouse must be large enough to hold about one-fourth more ice than you expect to use, as there is about that much waste in melting, especially if it is not used very fast, but it is wanted as long as the warm weather lasts.

A house 20 feet wide, 32 feet long and 18 feet high will hold 800 tons. I need not say how the house should be built, as you all have one now, but will describe my method of packing the ice. The ice should always be packed on its edge, as it will not melt so fast because the pores run the other way; also when placed on its edge it is easier to get loose when wanted. I used to think that nothing but sawdust would do to pack ice, but for the last three years we have used straw, and I find that the ice keeps as well. The straw is much easier to handle and a great deal cheaper. The same straw will last two seasons. Have the straw on hand before you begin to fill the house. Pack the ice so as to leave eight or ten inches of space for the straw between the walls of the house and the ice. Pack said space solid with straw one layer at a time as the ice is put in.

After the house is full cover the ice with three feet of straw, and your ice will last and keep as well as if packed with sawdust. The straw that is on top of the ice one season does for the sides the next year. When the warm weather comes in the spring, you must go in the icehouse and see that the straw is kept packed down, as it will settle some around the sides. For the ice to keep good you must have good ventilation above the ice. This last year the ice here kept better than it ever did before because I kept the doors on the end of the building above the ice open all the time, so there was no hot air above the ice in the house. The hot air above the ice is what melts it mostly. —G. B. Lawson in Creamery Journal.

Bitter Cheese.

Professor du Freudenreich, who lately traveled to Switzerland, has recently isolated a micro-organism which he regards as the cause of a certain bitter taste often developed in Gruyere cheese. It is known that certain kinds of herbage give a bitter taste to cheese, but this is noticeable as soon as the cheese is made. An analogous taste is, however, often developed in cheese some considerable time after its manufacture. Professor du Freudenreich traces the cause of this latter peculiarity to the bacterium which he has discovered and which he has called Micrococcus casei amari. This body is round in shape, it dissolves gelatin and can be cultivated on strips of potato, on agaragar, and it grows particularly well in both to which milk sugar (lactose) has been added. He is making further researches on the subject, the results of which he promises to publish later. In the meantime, and particularly as the action of this micro-organism may not be peculiar to Gruyere cheese alone—Professor du Freudenreich recommends scrupulous cleanliness against it. Dairies which are infected by it should be disinfected by burning sulphur in them and whitewashing the walls with 50 per cent solution of slaked lime after they have been thoroughly cleaned. Other and perhaps more efficient remedies may be forthcoming when the properties of Micrococcus casei amari have been more fully investigated. —London Dairy World.

Dairy and Creamery.

The cows are the better for having warmed water to drink in extreme cold weather.

Build the silo against the end of the barn. This is the proper place for it. It must not be forgotten that at the butter test at the Indiana state fair the prize was won by a Holstein-Friesian cow, G. A. Stanton's Nabe 2d. In two days she made 8.88 pounds of butter. The next highest record was made by a Jersey, a little over 2.9 pounds in two days.

The foaming of cream in the churn and the consequent difficulty of making butter of it is due to the fact that the cream is excessively sour. There is too much lactic acid in it. The excessively sour condition is sometimes produced by impure water the cows have drunk.

Tuberculosis has been found to the greatest extent in high bred, closely housed cattle. They did not get outdoors enough to give them vigor sufficient to overcome the tuberculosis bacillus, which is in the air and is breathed by man and beast alike.

HISTORY OF TANEYTOWN.

PART XI.

The following is the roll of honor for Taneytown, showing that it was sent 500 men to the Union army out of a voting population of about 500, making about one of every five liable to do military duty. It was furnished by Mr. John T. Reek, who was a member of Co. G., 3rd Reg. Md. Inf., Vol., P. H. B.

1ST. MD. REG. INF. VOLS.
Co. (not known). George Burke, private, died since the war.
Joseph Six, orderly for General Kenley; shot in the arm and arm amputated below right elbow.

2ND. MD. REG. INF. VOLS.
Co. (not known). James H. Pick- ing, private, wounded in 2nd. battle of Bull's Run, Va., by a musket ball passing through the neck, within one-fourth of an inch of the windpipe, and coming out of the right shoulder. He was captured, while unconscious and sent to a Confederate hospital. Died since the war.

3RD. MD. REG. INF. VOLS.
Co. G. Henry Aulhouse, private, slightly wounded near right ankle in the battle of Chancellorsville, Va. He is now blind, and by two sun strokes which he received during the war. One of the strokes he received on the march to the battle of Gettysburg.

6TH. MD. REG. INF. VOLS.
Co. A. Joseph M. Thomson, file major, captured at Winchester, Va., June 15th, 1863, nine weeks in Belle Isle and Libby prison, Va.
John Miller, private, killed near Petersburg, Va., June 22nd., 1864. Shot in head above right eye.
George W. Miller, private.
Emanuel Shoemaker, private, killed in the battle of the Wilderness, found lying across a path with eight bullet-holes through his body.

Co. C. John E. Buffington, enlisted as a private in August, 1862, was one of the best soldiers in the regiment and at the close of the war was a Lieutenant in the regular army.
John Wolf, private, wounded in the battle of the Wilderness and died on the way to the hospital.

William Crouse, drummer, captured at Winchester, Va., and paroled on the field.

Samuel Kinman, private, killed in the battle of Loudon Grove, Va.
Alfred S. Rowe, enlisted as a private, promoted to sergeant, wounded in the battle of the Wilderness and died two days afterward. He was shot in the side, the ball cutting off one corner of a memorandum book which he had in his pocket.

Jacob Ocker, private, killed by an explosion of ammunition on Maryland Heights near Harper's Ferry, June 30th., 1863.

John T. Bishop, private, died in camp.
Jacob Royer, private, wounded in leg.

7TH. MD. REG. INF. VOLS.
Co. F. Emanuel Hawk, enlisted as private, promoted to corporal. He was one of the color guards of his regiment for sometime. He received nine wounds but only one is now painful. This is a wound in the neck, which he received in the battle of the Weldon Railroad, August 18th., 1864. The ball entered just below the right ear and came out back of the neck, near where the skull is, upon the spinal column. He lay unconscious about 2 hours, on the field, between the two lines. At one time the Confederate lines were only about eight or ten feet from him. The Union forces finally charged over his body and he was recovered by some men of his own company.

W. Frank Clingan, enlisted as a private, promoted successively to corporal, to 4th. sergeant and finally to 1st. sergeant of his company. He was captured April 5th., 1865, near the South Side Railroad, and paroled at Richmond, Va., and sent to Camp Parole, Annapolis. He was wounded at the Weldon Railroad, Aug. 18th., 1864, in right breast and in the battle of the Wilderness May 5th., 1864, in left hip.

Abram Fleagle, private, killed in the battle of the Wilderness.
Jeremiah Fleagle, private, wounded.

8TH. MD. REG. INF.
Co. I. James Shildt, private.
John Newcomer, private, promoted to sergeant.
Tobias Reid, private, promoted to corporal.

Joseph Angell, private.
Nathan Angell, private. He served several months in the 3rd. Md. Reg. P. H. B. Inf. Co. G., about the close of the war.

COLE'S MD. CAVALRY.
Co. C. Charles C. Currens, private, captured near New Market, Va., 13th. of May, 1863, and was seven months in Andersonville, Ga., and Florence, S. C. prisons.

William A. Currens, enlisted as private, promoted to commissary sergeant, wounded by accident.
Alfred N. Fritchey, private, captured at Rectortown, Va., and was seven months in Andersonville, Ga., and Florence, S. C. prisons.

Dayton Kehn private, died since the war.
Henry Reaver, private, died since the war.
Leander Bowers, private.

David Shildt, private.
Alonzo Penner, enlisted as private, promoted to corporal, slightly wounded near New Market, Va., in cheek and ear.

Co. A. Harvey T. Null, private, killed at Loudon Heights, Va., in a night attack.
Co. D. Joseph Good, private.

William Reinhold, private, captured at Rectortown, Va., and died in Andersonville prison, Ga.
Co. E. Elias Reek, private, captured.

Co. Isiah Kregelo, private, wounded in a night attack on Loudon Heights, Va.
Vincent Valentine, private, captured at Rectortown, Va.

John H. Ocker, private, died at home during the war.
Samuel McGuigan, private, captured at Rectortown, Va., and died in Andersonville prison.

1ST. MD. EASTERN SHORE REG.
Co. I. Samuel Clingan, private.

3RD. REG. P. H. B. MD. INF. VOLS.
Co. C. Uriah Heltibridge, private, died since the war.
Christian Dayhoff, private, died since the war.

Co. G. Thomas Eek, enlisted as a private, promoted successively, to eighth corporal, to 2nd. Lieutenant and finally, to captain of the company, captured at Harper's Ferry, Va., Sept. 15th., 1862, and paroled on the field.

Jesse H. Haugh, enlisted as a private, promoted to 2nd. sergeant and afterward to 2nd. lieutenant. He was at one time color bearer. He was captured at Harper's Ferry, Va., Sept. 15th., 1862, and paroled on the field.

William Eek enlisted as a private, promoted to sergeant, captured at Harper's Ferry, Va., Sept. 15th., 1862, and paroled on the field.

Thomas Angell, enlisted as private, promoted to corporal, captured at Harper's Ferry, Va., Sept. 15th., 1862, and paroled on the field.

Joseph Shoemaker, private, died at St. John's Hospital, Annapolis, March 28th., 1863, captured at Harper's Ferry, Va., Sept. 15th., 1862, and paroled on the field.

James T. Kregelo, private, killed by the accidental discharge of his own gun, while on guard at Opequan bridge, Va., July 2nd., 1862.

John Clabangh, private, wounded in the index finger of left hand, in a charge, in the battle of Monocacy Junction, died in the hospital at York, Penna. He was captured at Harper's Ferry, Va., Sept. 15th., 1862, and paroled on the field.

Maldenville.
Mr. Isaac D. Waltz, of Keswick, Iowa, arrived here on a visit to friends and relations on Saturday evening last, after an absence of about 10 years. Mr. Waltz spent Sunday with his brother, Mr. Geo. Waltz, of this place.

Mr. J. E. Beck, of Waynesboro, is visiting here about his place. At present he is a guest of Mr. E. Fisher.

Mr. Frank Lynn and family, of Hawk's Hill, were guests of Mrs. Crumbaker, of this place, recently.

Mr. George C. Crouse, of Baltimore, returned to Hampden, on Monday, to resume work at his trade, cigar making.

Mr. James S. Waltz, of Clear Ridge, was a guest of his brother, Mr. Geo. Wright, on Monday last.

Mr. W. F. Cover has resumed his old position as local freight agent here. He had resigned on account of the wages, but compromised.

Mr. David Mort, captured a large male red bird, and is now in captivity. Some other parties have been trapping for them, but are not so successful.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Fogle, of D. P. Creek, was pleasantly entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Fuss last Saturday night.

The party who was out hunting for a mess of rabbits last week will get himself in a mess if he persists so in hunting now.

Mr. Frank Zentz, and son Harvey, of Rectortown, spent several days last week with friends near here.

Mr. S. Weant, owing to extra orders during the holidays, is compelled to work extra hours in the cigar factory to supply his regular trade.

The entertainment held by the Union Sabbath school was a decided success. The program consisted of music by the Linwood band, vocal music by the school accompanied by the organ. Recitations and a cantata entitled "The Santa Claus club" by the smaller children. Mr. Joseph Englar, in behalf of the school presented the superintendent, Mr. Jesse P. Garner, assistant superintendent Mr. Lindsey, and Dr. Lee Royer teacher of the male Bible class, each with a Bible Dictionary. The ladies Bible class taught by Mr. Jesse P. Garner presented him with a choice book by Moody. The Misses Bible class taught by Miss Mary Senseney presented her with a book entitled "Bits of Pasture" and the Misses Bible class No. 2, presented their teacher Mr. Lewis Messler with one of E. P. Roe's works. Last but by no means least, was the presentation by the school of a book to the organist, Mrs. William Messler. The scholars and teachers each received a box of candy and an orange from the Linwood band. The school was a happy privilege to belong to the Linwood Sabbath school.

Emmitsburg.
Mr. Joseph Welty died very suddenly in Baltimore, on Saturday, Dec. 29th. He was the youngest son of the late Andrew Welty, and was in the fortieth year of his age. He left a widow; his remains were brought to this place Monday morning following and interred in the R. C. Cemetery beside his father and mother. He was a brother of Dr. Geo. Welty, of Brooklyn, N. Y., and his sister, Mrs. Sister of Charity, who has had charge of an institution in St. Louis, for a number of years.

On Friday night, Dec. 28th, the Chataqua Circle held a banquet at the Emmitt House. Speeches were made by different members of the Society. Among the visitors were Miss Anna Motter, of Taneytown, Miss Rose Simonton, Prof. E. B. Fockler and Rev. E. P. Dickinson Seminary, Carlisle Pa. Mr. E. R. Zimmerman was toast master.

New Year's day passed off very quietly. In the evening a party of twenty-five young ladies and gentlemen went to Thurmont.

Union Bridge.
The entertainments held during the Holiday season were well attended and greatly enjoyed.

Mr. Harvey R. Little, who spent the holidays with Rev. R. S. Parsons at his home in China Grove, N. C., returned home on Wednesday evening.

Mr. Frank Russell of New York, who spent the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Russell, returned home last week.

Mr. Frank Wolfe, a student in Cornell University, spent the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Wolfe.

The ice cream men of this place are quite jubilant over the success of their trade. They have about all of their ice houses filled for next season's use. The ice is very clear and is about 9 inches thick.

Misses Vivian and Ethel Patterson, students of the Female Seminary, spent Saturday and Sunday with their brother Rev. R. L. Patterson; they returned to Luther- ville on Monday morning.

The revival services which began in the M. P. Church two weeks ago, have been very well attended, but no conversions so far.

Rev. R. L. Patterson, of the Lutheran church, preached a very good sermon for the benefit of young men in the M. P. church on Thursday evening. The subject was "The young man's eyes opened."

Mrs. Martha Winter, who has been confined to her bed for several weeks with rheumatism, is still in a critical condition.

A grand Ball will be held in the roller rink on Saturday evening, for the benefit of the Union Bridge Orchestra. Prof. J. J. White, director.

Brucerville.
It is a good thing that new year is here so that we may turn a new leaf, as the old one is all blotched.

If times get any harder the men will have to cut their mustaches off so they can smoke their cigars and pipes.

Miss Maggie Mehning has a live tree frog. The frog remained on some flowers that were brought in for the winter. At night the frog hides under a few dead leaves and comes out on the branches during the day; it seems very much at home.

Mr. W. F. Cover has resumed his old position as local freight agent here. He had resigned on account of the wages, but compromised.

Mr. David Mort, captured a large male red bird, and is now in captivity. Some other parties have been trapping for them, but are not so successful.

The party who was out hunting for a mess of rabbits last week will get himself in a mess if he persists so in hunting now.

Mr. Frank Zentz, and son Harvey, of Rectortown, spent several days last week with friends near here.

Mr. S. Weant, owing to extra orders during the holidays, is compelled to work extra hours in the cigar factory to supply his regular trade.

Some parties who tried to start with a new year last night, but failed, made a complete failure. A bad beginning makes a good ending, some times.

Mr. F. Mehning was in Baltimore on Monday on business.

Mr. S. Weant, owing to extra orders during the holidays, is compelled to work extra hours in the cigar factory to supply his regular trade.

How To Buy A Horse.
An old horseman says; If you want to buy a horse, don't believe your own brother. Take no man's word for it. Your eye is your market. Don't buy a horse in harness. Unhitch him and lead him around. If he has a stiff or is stiff, or has any falling, you can see it. Let him go himself a way, and if he walks right into anything, you know that he is blind. No matter how clear and bright his eyes are, he can't see any more than a blind man. Some horses show their weaknesses or tricks in that way when they don't in any other. But, be as smart as you can, you'll get caught sometimes. Even the experts get stuck. A horse may look ever so nice and go a great pace, and yet have fits. There isn't a man who could tell it until something happens. Or he may have a weak back. Give him the whip and off he goes for a mile or two, then all of a sudden he stops on the road. After a rest he starts again, but he soon stops for good, and nothing but a derrick can start him. The weak points about a horse can better be discovered while standing than while moving. If he is sound he will stand firm and squarely on his limbs without moving them. If his legs plump and naturally poised, or if the foot is taken from the ground, and the weight take from it, disease may be suspected. At least, toughness, which is the precursor of disease. If a horse stands with his feet spread apart or straddles with his hind legs, there is a weakness in his loins and the kidneys are in disorder. Evidently, the pulling head of the horse, the bluish, milky cast eyes in horses, indicate moon blindness or something else. A bad tempered one keeps his ears thrown back; a stumbling horse has blinched knees. When the skin is rough and harsh and does not move easily to the touch, the horse is a heavy eater and digestion bad. Never buy a horse whose breathing organs are at all impaired. Place your ear at the heart, and if a whizzing sound is heard, it is an indication of trouble.

The Wise Virgin.
To the wise virgin whose lamps burn undimmed through the long winter evenings I went for advice and inquired of her methods.

"Why do my lamps give a more brilliant light than those in other houses?" She repeated: "Possibly because I take better care of them. Lamps are not to be lighted and looked at merely, neither are they to be of less value than their covering. Most housewives spend their morning hours connecting new shades, making over old ones or fastening fresh flowers to the one in use. That is not my way. I prefer to devote my time to seeing that the lamps are re-warded for their genial help of the night before."

"Few women boil out their burners. This should be done at least once a week. I rub mine off first with paper, then place them all in a saucepan of boiling water and soapsuds. There they remain for thirty minutes, when they are rubbed with a hard brush, laid to drain and afterward carefully rubbed and polished with a bit of flannel. I find this the only way to prevent smoking or unseemly greasiness."

"In my large china lamps, where a brass or nickel bowl holds the oil, I boil out this metal receptacle as well as the burner. I fill the tank itself with warm water, letting it come to a forceful boil on the range. This plan removes every suspicion of dirt, as well as odor from the burners. After rinsing I dip it in a weak solution of ammonia and water, then polish off with chamois skin and silicon."

"This is my systematic weekly washing schedule."

Chollie's Serious Mind.
The dude met a friend of his at the club and sat down by him with a tired air.

"By Jove, Frank," he said, "I may look like a fool, but I'm not one, am I?"

"Well, no," hesitated the friend; "I should say appearances in your case were deceptive."

"Thanks."

"Why?"

"Because," replied the tired youth, not recognizing the relevance of the "why," "I meet so many people who ask so many silly questions. For instance, the day I got home from my summer vacation I met an acquaintance on the street and he greeted me with 'Hi, Chollie! How are you?'"

"Of course my chinneys are polished every morning. They are soured into a generous pan of hot water and soapsuds and polished off with chamois."

"There is no denying," she concluded, "that you are quite a bit of a dandy, but they are grateful and respond in such a brilliant manner that one never begrudges the time spent on them."

Why the Girls Preferred the Demo- cratic Boys.
"Oh, ma!" exclaimed Mary Duffy, "we played a new game at Julia Crimmins' party last night. It was called 'Vote, vote! Who's elected?'" All the boys and girls sit in one room to- gether. One of the girls goes out into the dark hall, puts her head in the doorway and shouts: 'Vote, vote! Who's elected?' All the boys run for the door, and the one who has there first goes out in the hall and kisses the candidate. It's a fine game. We have Republicans and Democrats, just like pa."

"Is that so?" said old man Duffy, raising his eyes to his newspaper. "Now, which do you like best, the Democratic boys or Republican boys?"

"I like the Democratic boys best," replied Julia, with a blush. "The Republican boys vote just the way I go away, but the Democratic boys stuff the ballot box and hide in the hallway for another chance."—Boston Herald.

Roxham—"What did you give your wife for Christmas?" Hardfint—"I gave her a half dollar and told her to go and have the tooth pulled that's been hurting her the last six months."
