

THE RECORD

Vol. 1, No. 39.

TANEY TOWN, MARYLAND, SATURDAY, MARCH 30, 1895.

$1.00 Per Year.

LOCALS AND PERSONALS.

Next week—the History of Union Bridge.

Miss Virginia R. Mottier returned from Wilson College, on Thursday for the Easter holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. George Blumenour of Hanover, spent a few days with Mrs. B's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Fink.

Miss Amanda Overholzer, who has been visiting relatives, has returned to her home much pleased with her visit.

Mrs. M. Fink accompanied by her grand-daughter, Gertrude Gardner, left for a week in Baltimore on business.

We have received a copy of the Pittsburg Dispatch, one of the immense Sunday editions, from our friend Mr. Wm. A. Goulden.

Mr. Ephraim Buffington has recently been paralyzed in his left side, and is unable to speak. His condition is regarded as serious.

Mr. James C. Galt of this place has purchased a fine driving horse. There is quite a number of good roadsters here and our "turnouts" are altogether up to date.

Major R. M. J. Reed of Philadelphia, will deliver the decoration day address at this place on May 30th. The Major is a very attractive speaker, and we are fortunate in securing his services.

The Taneytown Creamery Co., elected the following directors, on Friday last, to serve one year: H. D. Hering, Daniel Null, T. H. Eckenrode, McC. Davidson, Jas. D. Haines and John E. Davidson.

The children's Mission Band of the Lutheran church will hold a festival on Saturday afternoon and evening, in the basement of the church. The services will be held at 7 o'clock, and the public is cordially invited to attend.

Mr. John A. Brown, of Uniontown, recently a resident of Washington and an employee in one of the government buildings, died on Wednesday of this week. His body was brought to Uniontown on Thursday evening, and buried on Friday.

Chambersburg has a man (?) who eats three dozen eggs a day, twelve at each meal. Our information does not extend to what kind of eggs they are, but we suppose he would feed sick on the stomach if he would tackle a lot of our big specimens.

Look out for the man with the "scalded arm!" The trick is accomplished by placing a fly blister on the arm, and allowing it to remain overnight; in the morning the blister is pricked with a needle and the arm placed in a sling. A pitiful tale, and a sympathetic public, does the rest.

The RECORD plant has been further improved by the purchase of a 23 inch Paragon paper cutter. This will enable us to check book binding, and work of that character, and also be a great help in cutting special sizes from flat papers, saving the expense of sending to the city for paper, and delaying the job.

Advertisers should call to see our simple book of advertising cuts. These cuts are not expensive, and sometimes serve to illustrate an idea better than words. We furnish them at exact cost to our patrons, and they can be had for either newspaper or circular advertising, and will do for office stationery, representing the different branches of trade.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Angell, of South Broadway, Baltimore, celebrated the 15th anniversary of their marriage on March 25th. Quite a number of guests were present, and the evening was very pleasantly spent in playing games, and vocal and orchestral entertainments, and the occasion. The presents were both numerous and handsome.

On Wednesday afternoon, while Mr. A. Naille, of Bridgeport, was on his way home from town, his team of four horses became frightened, and ran away. Near Mr. Michael Fringer's residence, they struck a wagon belonging to Mr. S. Bricker, driven by Mr. Samuel Baumgardner, and completely demolished it, but fortunately not injuring the occupants.

The annual election of officers of Grace Reformed Sunday school, was held on Wednesday evening last with the following result: Superintendent, C. E. H. Shriver; Assistant Superintendent, Geo. E. Koutz; Female Superintendent, Mrs. A. Bateman and Mrs. W. J. Roberts; Secretary, T. Hockensmith; Librarian, Cora Reid and Charles Clark; Treasurer, Josiah Snyder.

Rev. W. H. Luckenbach of Hudson, N. Y., writes that there are several typographical errors in the poem "Eternity" in our last issue. "Those" in several cases should have been "Thou." He states that he may send us an original piece in the near future, and that he is much pleased with the paper. The errors spoken of, occurred in the article as published in the Observer; we simply "reprinted" it. Will be glad to publish anything from his pen.

A copy of the History of Grace English Lutheran church of Westminister, has been left at our office for examination. It is a handsome cloth bound volume of 283 pages finely printed and illustrated. An appendix contains illustrations of all the Lutheran churches, ministers, and parsonages in Carroll county, which makes the book of interest to Lutherans generally. A limited number of copies have been placed in the hands of Rev. G. W. McSherry for sale at $1.00 each.

Base ball clubs are organizing at different places in the county. Will Taneytown have a club this season? There is a fair amount of excellent material here, which, with proper handling, should make a stiff team. There are, however, numerous difficulties to be met and overcome, and if we cannot have a respectable club, we had better have none. The trouble heretofore has always been lack of perfect organization, and submission to managerial authority. Base ball is essentially a game in which hard work, system, and obedience to and knowledge of rules, is absolutely necessary to success.

NOTES HERE AND THERE.

The mountain peach crop is not as badly injured as was first supposed. Some of the growers expect full yields, while some crops are apparently only partially damaged.

On last Saturday night the barn and wagon shed on the farm of Elijah Wagner, occupied by William Yingling as tenant, were destroyed by fire. The farm is in Bachman's Valley, about 2 1/2 miles north-east of Westminister. Loss about $2000. Insured in Carroll County Mutual for $1200.

The main building of Wilson College at Chambersburg, Pa., was partially destroyed by fire on Tuesday morning. The fire originated in one of the student's rooms on the third floor, and occurred while the two hundred young women were at breakfast. The loss is fully covered by insurance, and the building will be rebuilt during the summer.

Calvin Valentine, who was found lying in an unconscious condition along side of the W. M. R. K. track near Carrollton Station, and who was supposed to have been struck by a freight train, died on Sunday night of his injuries without regaining consciousness. He was a son of Mr. Levi Valentine, at one time inspector of steamboats at Baltimore, and a brother of John Valentine, who shot the burglar John Wolfe after the robbery of J. E. Evan's store at Carrollton.

Notice has been issued from the passenger department of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company that on and after April 1, ticket agents will sell and conductors will accept half fare tickets for the transportation of energetic missionaries, sisters of charity, and officers of the Salvation Army presenting clergyman's permits issued by the Baltimore and Ohio connections. The permits in question will be valid until December 31, 1895. The Pennsylvania, N. Y. Central, and other companies have discontinued issuing these tickets.

The Baltimore auctioneering firm of Wm. Seemüller & Co., doing business at the corner of Calvert and German streets, has gone into the hands of receivers and the business will be wound up. The firm is composed of Mr. Wm. Seemüller and Mr. Clarence W. Biddle. The former, he alleges, formerly valued at $1000 in partnership was formed in October, 1893, and the latter was to put in $2,500, which, it is said, he failed to do. These differences led to the assignment. Mr. Seemüller is one of the oldest auctioneers in the city and was connected with the business with Mr. D. Buchanan Merriman, now of the firm of Merriman & Pattison.

A tramp who gives his name as James and who was walking along a creek near East Berlin, Pa., found a good breach loading shot gun which had been left there by a boy by the name of Hoppler, who was hunting muskrats. The tramp appropriated the gun and tried to sell it, when the boy, who was on the creek, saw it. The tramp's possession, hunted him up and laid claim to his property, and, on being refused, proceeded to attempt to wrest it from him, with the result that the gun was discharged, the load entering the tramp's abdomen. From the effort, of which he died, but not before making an ante mortem statement exonerating the boys.

Luther Horne, of Jefferson, Frederick county, was fatally injured while attempting to stop his team, which had become frightened and was running away in Frederick city on Tuesday. He had left the team of three horses standing near the Clitzen's National Bank while he stepped inside to transact some business. The horses started to run down Market street. Mr. Horne ran after them and attempted to stop it by drawing the rubber of the wagon, as the team crossed the bridge which spans Carroll creek on the charge of street, he was jammed between the wagon and the division of the bridge. He died from his injuries, several hours later.

Another of the gang arrested. Detectives Ward and Hussey, of Baltimore, on Friday arrested William Eaton, alias "Hun" Eaton, at the home of his aunt, at 4010 Lancaster street, Philadelphia, on the charge of having taken part in the midnight robbery of Mr. Asbury Watts's store and dwelling at Pikeville, Baltimore county, on January 30 of this year.

Eaton, the detectives say, is the last man to be arrested of the bold gang which terrorized the residents of Baltimore and Carroll counties by a series of robberies and shooting cases in December and January. The Pikeville robbery is the only one with which the detectives have thus far associated him, as they say he parted from Wm. E. Walters, the head of the gang in Baltimore on the day after Mr. Watts's dwelling and store were ransacked.

History of Union Bridge. The history of Union Bridge will be commenced in our next issue, and we predict that it, as well as the histories of other towns which will follow, will prove interesting to our readers and a valuable feature for our paper.

This history will be written by Mr. Daniel Wolfe, which is a guarantee that it will be authentic and well done. Arrangements have been made with Mr. Harvey E. Little of Union Bridge (at S. D. Senseney's store) which will enable the citizens of that town to purchase single copies of the RECORD at 3 cents each, or to subscribe for 3 months at 25 cents, 6 months at 50 cents, or for one year at $1.00. He is also authorized to receive subscriptions for any of our combination offers.

A LOT OF FINE HORSES.

The McFadden stock farm at Trevanion will be abandoned as a stock breeding and trading establishment. The horses will likely soon be shipped to Philadelphia to be sold. The shipment was to have been made on Thursday, but they are now to be held for orders.

The shipment will consist of forty-one lots, principally colts, though a number of them are broken and have good records, and all are from good stock. Below we give the pedigree of a number of the animals:

Death of Mr. J. A. Null. (Harvey Correspondent.)

We are very sorry to learn of the death of Mr. J. A. Null of Odessa, Md. Mr. Null was a son of Mr. Samuel Null, who is doubtless well remembered by the older citizens of this community, and a brother of Mr. Henry Null, a well known citizen of Harney. The deceased was born in Carroll county, on May 31st, 1861, on what is known to many as the old Null farm, now occupied by Mr. Tobias Fringer. He was taken by his father to the District of Columbia, and there grew up to be a man loved, honored and respected by all who knew him; he died at his home, March 11th, 1895, aged 33 years 8 months and 10 days.

It is sad to see and hear of those, who in their wildly imagination should be in the full vigor of manhood, being taken from earth, when in our feeble opinions their lives might have been useful for many years to come; yet at best we are all frail beings and must humbly bow to the will of Divine Providence who knoweth and doeth all things well, and accept these sad dispensations as warnings to us to prepare to follow those who have gone before to a brighter and better world than this. Mr. Null leaves a wife and child and several brothers to mourn his loss.

We clip the following from the Odessa Moon. "Mr. James Addison Null died at his home in this city at noon Monday, March 11th, 1895. His funeral was conducted at the Christian church at 2 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon, attended by a large concourse of sorrowing friends and the remains laid to rest in the city cemetery.

Mr. Null was one of our best known citizens, every one who knew him, was his friend. Possessed of a genial disposition, he attracted those about him. The disease which caused his death baffled the skill of the most eminent physicians. He had all the symptoms of a consumptive, yet the physicians doubted that he had this disease. The affection evidently developed into consumption, for it is now admitted that consumption was the cause of his death.

He was conscious until death came. Twenty minutes before the end, he signed a deed of sale of his house in Odessa, and meat market to his father-in-law, Mr. Jacob Snider. He professed faith in Christ some two weeks ago and was baptized at his home on Sunday by Elder Thompson of the Christian church. He was a member of Camp No. 37 Triple Alliance of Odessa and held a policy for $3,000."

COUNTY CORRESPONDENCE.

Linwood.

Mr. John Englar was given a surprise by his many friends last Friday night. The company numbering forty were from Unionville, Union Bridge, McKinstry's Mills, Linwood and vicinity. The evening was spent most pleasantly in various games and music, as the time wore away. The party was invited to the dining room to partake of refreshments, so bountifully prepared by the sister, she being let into the secret. Time flew so rapidly that before we were aware of it, the "wee wee" hours of morn began to appear, and we were made think of the song "We'll not go home till morning."

The older folks, not to be outwitted, cautiously gathered at the residence of Mr. Joe Englar, March 25th, and in a body marched to Mr. Will Messler, to give a surprise, and at the same time celebrate the tenth anniversary of their marriage. We were met at the door by the hostess, who was so much surprised, that she was at a loss what to say, but soon gave us a hearty welcome, and we were seated, when the Linwood band was heard on the lawn, and paid their compliments in the selection of several well executed pieces of music, which was especially appreciated by Mr. and Mrs. Englar. Order restored, an original poem was read by Mrs. E. L. Shriver, from friends who could not be present, which was finely composed, as only J and L can. While quite a number were enjoying crokinole, a few of the older ones took possession of the dining room, and after quite a while, waiting for the "lemonade" in the shade, but not by an old maid! the bride and groom and guests were invited out to refreshments; having satisfied the inner man and replenished the tin kitchen we rostrantly, bade adieu to host and hostess, wishing them a long life of happiness and prosperity. These present were, Mr. and Mrs. Will Messler, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Shriver, Mr. and Mrs. John Q. Senseney, Mr. and Mrs. Al Gilbert, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hoover, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Englar, Mrs. Penie Still, Mrs. Jennie Rouzer, Mrs. Clara Englar, Misses Mary Senseney, Addie Senseney, Nellie Rowe, Annie Messler, Clara Senseney, Mattie and Ethel Senseney and Addie Messler; Messrs. D. P. Englar, Alva Garner and Master J. S. Messler.

Garner Bros. are invoicing this week, preparatory to giving up the store on the First of April, to Mr. N. Englar. We are sorry to have Mr. Garner, a man so well liked and so wish him success in his new location.

Mrs. Jesse Smith and son are under the doctor's care.

Mrs. Caroline Englar has returned from a weeks visit in Baltimore.

Mr. Thomas Haines moved into his new home yesterday.

Westminister.

Mr. Stewart T. Cook, died Wednesday evening at his residence on Liberty Street. He had been suffering with consumption for about eighteen months; shortly after eating supper on Wednesday, he was taken with a hemorrhage and died instantly. He married Miss Lily Frisk, of Baltimore; he was in his twenty fifth year and leaves a widow but no children.

The six young sports who were playing poker in a box car on the siding at this place had better go a little slower if they do not wish to see the interior of the county jail. They had better take this warning ere it be too late. Last Friday night two pairs of eyes were watching every movement and saw more than they would wish an outsider to see.

Sheriff Arnold, received word from Deputy Sheriff Tyler, that Mort, one of the prisoners who escaped from the County jail was in the vicinity of Emmitsburg, on March 22nd. Constable J. M. Chabert telegraphed the sheriff, that he followed Mort into Pennsylvania, going towards Hagerstown. The Chief of Police at that place was promptly notified of the direction Mort has gone. Nothing definite is known of Baumgardner since his escape.

An incendiary fire destroyed the barn, wagon shed, and granaries, with all their contents, consisting of twenty tons of hay, a large quantity of straw, sixty bushels of rye, lot corn and oats, all the farming implements, hony and pressing machine, on the farm of Mr. Elijah Wagner about three miles from this city. The farm is tenanted by Mr. William Yingling. Some time ago some party wrote on the barn, "This barn burns on Tuesday morning with pine monia. His illness lasted only six days, when death claimed its victim. Mr. Phillips was born in England; he came to this country a number of years ago, and was engaged in mining business for quite a while. His first wife died shortly after he moved into the neighborhood of Littletown, and we are informed was buried at Christ church. Several years later he married Miss Agnes Witherow, a well known lady of this community; he was a consistent member of the U. B. church and his remains were interred in the U. B. cemetery in this place on Thursday. He leaves a wife and four children by his second marriage, two daughters by his first, and a number of friends to mourn his loss. We extend to the bereaved our heartfelt sympathy in these hours of sadness.

A rather strange rain and snow storm passed over this place on Tuesday. One of the ladies of our town had just finished hanging up a wash, when the rain came, when it was discovered that the clothes were in the spot on the clothing; this singular occurrence was noticed by quite a number of our citizens. It was also discovered that the windows, and even some of the buildings, were made black spotted from the drops. We have heard of such a thing before, but this is the first time that we have ever witnessed anything of this kind.

Mr. A. J. Lightner moved to Baltimore on last Monday; he was one of our best citizens and we are certainly sorry to see him leave, yet it is supposed that he will be back here. He will please accept the good wishes of his many friends in this community.

Read it in the RECORD. The Union Bridge History. Next week.

Public Roads.

The Agricultural Department has issued a bulletin compiled by Roy Stone, special agent in charge of road inquiry, containing information concerning the use of wide tires on wagons. Mr. Stone regards it of especial importance in the maintenance of the public highways that the vehicles used on them shall have tires of greater width than are now in general use. Extracts from the State laws respecting the width of tires to be used on vehicles are given, some of which offer a rebate of a portion of the highway tax on wagons with tires not less than 24 and 31 inches in width. Ohio makes it unlawful to transport over macadamized, gravel or stone roads, in any vehicle having a tire of less than 3 inches in width, a burden of more than 2,000 pounds. Indiana has a law against hauling on a wet gravel road a load of over 3,000 pounds on a narrow-tired wagon or over 2,500 pounds on a broad-tired wagon.

Kentucky makes a distinction in favor of broad-tired wagons in fixing toll rates. The result of experiments also given. The distance from the stone quarry at Split Rock to the works of the reducing company in Geddes, Onondaga county, New York is about four and a half miles. Three or four years ago the work of improving this stretch of road was accomplished. Rough quarry refuse and for part of the distance field stones were used, all hand-broken to two and three inch sizes. This was covered with fine, unsifted quarry chips, and a crown was given to the roadway with an elevation of about six inches in a width of 16 feet. Wagons with tires of different degrees of width, some of them as much as six inches wide, were built for hauling stone over this road. The constant use has produced a smooth, compact and regular surface between the quarry and the works. Loads of stone varying from eight to sixteen thousand pounds are continually hauled over this road with no perceptible wear. Experiments in other States are also referred to and the opinion expressed that wide tires are not only lighter in their draught than narrower ones under nearly all conditions, but they cut up roads very little; in fact, when six inches wide tend to make the road better continually.

The bulletin concludes by printing extracts from the consular reports concerning the width of tires prescribed in various foreign countries. In France every freight and market cart is said to be a road maker. Their tires are from three to ten inches in width, usually from four to six. The German law of April 16th., 1840, prescribes that wagons for heavy loads, such as coal, brick, earth and stones, must have a width of tire at least four inches. Switzerland requires wagons to be provided with wheels having tires of a width proportional to the largest loads admissible.

—Balt. Sun.

Mr. Wilson, the new Postmaster general will take possession of the office on April 4th. He has been familiarizing himself in general with the duties of the position, previous to taking charge.

Bruceville.

Our neighbors are moving. Misses Carrie and Bessie Harbaugh of Middleburg, spent Sunday with their sister, Mrs. S. L. Fuss.

Mr. Emory Hawn of this place and Miss Annie Marshal of Bridgeport, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony at Double Pipe Creek.

The young couple have our many wishes for a long and happy life.

Mr. W. E. Kolb has taken charge of the store which was formerly Mr. W. S. Houghton's. Mr. Houghton expects to move to Washington, D. C., to his former residence, as he will probably have business there, which he is confined in a store.

Mr. Joe Cambell is spending a few days in Frederick.

On Tuesday night, the chimney of the house, occupied for the last eight years by Mr. David Mort, caught fire and caused a great deal of excitement in our village, as the wind was high at the time and the sparks were blown in the direction of Mr. S. Weant's barn. If this building would have caught fire, the town would probably have burned. The people of the vicinity were summoned by the blowing of one of the old time dinner horns, by Mrs. Thomas Myerly, who, notwithstanding her 75 years of age, caused it to be heard for several miles.

York Road.

Mrs. Charles Igenfrid left Saturday, 23rd., for Camden New Jersey, at which place her son, George is lying very ill with typhoid fever.

Mrs. W. W. Sweigart who had been spending a few days with her parents at McCall's Ferry, Pa., has returned home.

Miss Ada Reindollar of Taneytown spent Tuesday with Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Reindollar.

The members of the German Baptist church at Rocky Ridge met in their quarterly council on Saturday last to elect delegates for the District meeting to be held at Meadow Branch this county, April 16th. Rev. T. J. Kolb of Double Pipe Creek and C. Koozitz of this place are the delegates elect from this congregation.

ENTERED AT TANEYTOWN POST OFFICE AS SECOND CLASS MATTER

SATURDAY, MARCH 30th., 1895.

Our Taneytown History.

With this issue, the last instalment of the History of Taneytown is before our readers, after having been running for twenty-two weeks, and the thanks of the RECORD is hereby tendered Dr. Birnie for the time and work he expended in its compilation and editing. There is a great deal of work connected with producing such a history, possibly more than in more elaborate ones, for the reason that brevity is almost always necessary for newspaper articles, and to say everything of importance, in a small space, without resorting to a simple mention of facts, is somewhat difficult to do. The author of these historic articles does not claim them to be perfect, nor absolutely free from errors of fact or omission, but he did the best he could with the time at his disposal and the authorities within his reach. The work as a whole, however, must be pronounced a success, and has well served a double purpose. It has placed in the hands of our people a pretty accurate history of our town and neighborhood, dating back more or less completely for one hundred and twenty-five years, and has served too, to identify the RECORD very closely with the interests of the people and the town, and incidentally to increase its subscription list. Our people, particularly the younger ones, should carefully preserve all the parts, and in order to more permanently and conveniently do so—make them into a scrap book. We are able to supply almost any of the back numbers, but can only supply a very few full sets.

As has been frequently stated, we will continue the History feature, and will publish successively the histories of all the important towns in the county, which may be secured for our readers. Next week, Union Bridge will be taken up, and, while some may think that will not be interesting to people in this neighborhood, it is sure to be so to a great extent, as all the places in the county are more or less connected with each other, and many will find themselves agreeably surprised at the interest which will be awakened in reading other town histories.

PRESIDENT J. C. MANNING of the Southern Ballot Rights League, is now in New York, trying to arouse northern interest in the object of his association, which is, to secure fair elections in the southern states. He says that it is notoriously true, that the elections in nearly all the southern states are simply farces, when it comes to the counting of the votes. In his own state of Alabama, he says that last fall the League employed competent men to count the number of votes actually cast, without attempting to determine the politics of the voter, and that in some counties 2900 or more votes were shown by the returns than were actually cast. He says also that Kolb was honestly elected Governor, and that only the resort to "counting out" defeated him. There is no longer any fear of negro domination, but it is one class of whites against the other which is causing the most trouble now, and which if not prevented will soon cause revolution and bloodshed. After awhile the south will be asking for the much reviled "force bill."

Next week—Part 1 of the History of Union Bridge.

IN AN interview in Baltimore a few days ago Mr. Harry M. Clabaugh, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee of Maryland, said: "In my opinion, the critical period of Republicanism in this State is at hand, and I believe that the success of the party depends almost entirely on the character of the candidates and the way they are nominated. The Republican party is in favor of a rule by the people, and therefore, the nomination of this year's candidates by the people and not by machine methods is essential to success. I believe that the temper of Republicans is such that these demands will be met, and I think it safe to predict that the candidates will be of such a character and standing in the community that they will command the respect and votes of the people." These views coincide almost exactly with those expressed by THE UNION last week. The party, if it would have the confidence of the people, must lay machine methods and machine men aside—figure them entirely—and put its best foot foremost. Old party hacks and hangers on should not be considered. New men and new blood is what the party needs at this time. —Balt. Co. Union.

Baltimore Centennial Investment.

We have received from the Baltimore Centennial Association, a letter and circular in reference to stock subscriptions on the part of the citizens of the state, in the counties. As the whole state is more or less interested in the success of the affair, we append the following statement for the consideration of our readers. Setting aside the question of the general benefits to be derived from the holding of an Exposition in this city in 1897, and regarding which there can be no controversy, let us consider the matter from the standpoint of a money investment, allowing all reasonable contingencies to enter into our calculations. The estimate of gate receipts is based upon six millions of admission at fifty (50) cents for each admission and in making comparisons with Atlanta's estimate and experience, this fact should be borne in mind, as well as the fact that we have within an area of 200 miles, twelve millions (12,000,000) of people or twice the number residing within a like area with Chicago as the centre. The attendance at Chicago averaged 114,130 per day while we have estimated an average attendance of but 32,000. Of course special days would bring large crowds which would offset the days of light attendance. Chicago had an attendance of 7,000,800 during the thirty-nine (39) special days. Bear these facts in mind in considering the following statements.

The estimates of expenditures in connection with the Baltimore Centennial Exposition show as follows: General and Operating Expenses, $1,387,169 Construction of Buildings, Preparation of Grounds, etc., 2,289,710 Redemption of Stock, 1,000,000

Grand Total, $4,676,879

The probable Receipts of the Exposition are estimated as follows: Stock Subscriptions, $1,000,000 Gate Receipts, 3,000,000 Concessions, 1,000,000 Miscellaneous, 100,000 Salvage, 50,000

Total, $5,150,000

1. It will be observed that no estimate is made of probable appropriations by City, State and United States, and yet our probable receipts exceed our expenditures by nearly $400,000. If this result should be realized we should be able to pay forty (40) per cent. premium on all stock.

2. Again, if our receipts are $400,000 less than estimated we shall still be able to return every dollar of stock subscribed.

3. Whatever amount shall be appropriated by City, State and United States, will, if it be available for items included in our estimates, add to the probabilities of large profits, and certainly will render it certain that no loss can be sustained.

4. The method for payment of subscriptions to shares of stock will probably be as follows: One dollar on each share subscribed, as soon as fifty thousand shares have been subscribed (notice to that effect to be issued by the Treasurer of the Baltimore Centennial Association, to whom all payments must be made unless otherwise ordered,) one dollar per share three months from date when subscriptions take effect; one dollar per share six months from such date; one dollar per share nine months from such date; two dollars per share twelve months from such date; two dollars per share fifteen months from such date; and two dollars per share eighteen months from such date.

Good Manners.

One of the most serious defects, we think, in the training of the young at the present time, is the neglect of the proper attention to the manners of children, and the cultivation of that true christian politeness, that refined christian courtesy, which is so charming in youth, and which has characterized the children of the olden time. No better evidence of the general laxity in this important matter can be asked for, than is furnished by the conduct of the children themselves; and in nothing is this serious defect more strikingly and lamentably manifested, than in the want of respect for age, and deference for superiors, and obedience to parents, which generally prevails among the young. In the good old times of christian education, and even in modern times before the venerable christian traditions had been laid aside, children were taught to reverence their superiors, and respect age. In meeting an aged person, children would instinctively manifest their respect by lifting the hat, or making a bow, or courtesying, and the idea of a child sitting in the presence of a gentleman or lady standing, was considered an evidence of low and vulgar breeding. A child who is polite to his father or mother is likely to be polite to everybody else. A boy lacking politeness to his parents may have the semblance of courtesy in a city, but is never truly polite in spirit, and is in danger, as he becomes familiar, of betraying his real want of courtesy. We are all in danger of being too much for the outside world, for the impression we make in society, caring too little for the opinion of those who are in a certain sense a part of ourselves, and who will continue to sustain and be interested in us, notwithstanding these defects of deportment and character. We say to every boy and every girl, cultivate the habit of courtesy and propriety at home—in the kitchen, as well as the parlor—and you will be sure; other places to deport yourself in a becoming and attractive manner. It used to be the custom for a child to ask to be excused when leaving the table before the rest of the family or guests rose to retire, or if it was called out of the room or wished to leave the company, would say: "please excuse me" but now, children never think of doing such a thing. They jump up and "bolt out" of the room, perhaps several times in a short period and take good care to pass in front instead of behind the person or persons who may be sitting near them. They are too thoughtless, or reckless, or impolite, to say "I beg your pardon" if they have to pass before you. Who that can go back in memory to the customs of forty or fifty years ago, does not recall with real pleasure the scenes that were not infrequently witnessed, even in the country places, when children who had been dismissed from school, and on the way home on the approach of a traveller would range themselves by the side of the road, and as the stranger passed would salute him with their rustic courtesies, and their somewhat awkward, yet well meant bows? Simple and rustic indeed, in form, were their manners, but beautiful in significance. We shall, Mr. Editor, be pleased to continue, with your approval, these comments and reflections, in a future number of your excellent weekly.

Women's Editions.

The Albany Argus says: "We notice that the 'women's editions' of newspapers invariably consist of twenty-four or more pages. The supreme test of the women editors would come should they attempt to have their say in a four page edition."

There is a world of truth in this. There has been a sort of epidemic of "women editions," and almost invariably the outcome has been a paper full of signed essays and stories. The ladies uncork with a grand pop the ideas that have been bottled up under high pressure. We doubt if the women themselves would care to read everyday, papers like those they get out. Last week the women published two large papers, the Memphis Commercial Appeal and Atlanta Journal. The women of Atlanta got out really the better newspaper— from a newspaperman's point of view. They made real efforts to collect news, sending a correspondent to Washington, who proved she had "nerve" if nothing else, and assigning a young woman to interview John L. Sullivan, which task she accomplished with considerable credit.

As she closed the interview the champion was moved to call her a "peach," a compliment which she doubtless appreciated. As it is becoming quite a fad for women to get out experimental papers, let the next feminine staff vary the monotony by confining themselves to 8 or 10 pages, and see what the result will be.—Buffalo Inquirer.

A Word About The Eyes.

Should our readers be asked which of their faculties they would be the least willing to give up—speech, hearing or sight, pretty nearly all of them, we are sure, would answer, sight. Blindness shuts one out from so many things—beauties of nature, the faces of friends, books, pictures, and the many other objects which are dear to us, or in which we naturally take interest.

This being so, how highly should we prize the blessed possession of sight, and with what care should we guard our eyes! By instinct, as it were, we close them against dangers threatened from without, such as a shower of sparks from a locomotive, the sudden flaring up of a brilliant light, or a playful pass made at them with the hand. But we are not so ready to protect them from within—that is, from our own abuse of them. By reading in a poor light, or where there is constant vibration, which causes the focus of the eye to be constantly readjusting itself, by straining the sight over fine work or poor type—in all these ways may one injure that which none of us would exchange for the costliest diamond.

When the eyes feel tired from steady application with the pen or the needle, a good remedy is to close them for an instant or two, or else to fix the gaze on some distant object. But if there is a persistent sensation of weariness, glasses adapted to the difficulty should be procured, under the advice of a well recommended oculist.

Beautiful in structure and marvelously well adapted to its intricate duties, the eye is indeed one of the most wonderful works of the Creator as exhibited in man.

An Old Farmer's Letter.

An old farmer, in a letter to the Times-Recorder, of Americus, Ga., thus sums up the causes of hard times in this country:

"We let our timber rot and buy our plow stocks, singletrees, axe handles, hoe handles and fencing.

"We throw away our ashes and buy soap and axle grease.

"We give our beef hides away and buy bame strings and shoe strings.

"We let our manure go to waste and buy guano.

"We buy garden seeds in the Spring and cabbage in the Winter.

"We let the wax on our pine and gum trees go to waste and buy chewing gum for our children.

"We build schoolhouses and hire teachers and send our children off to be educated.

"We land a 5-cent fish with a $4 fishing rod.

"We send a 12-cent boy out with a $20 gun and a $4 dog to kill birds.

"We raise dogs and buy wool.

"And about the only thing in this country that there is an over-production of is politics and dog-ties."

The Housewife Should Know.

That a most convenient help to keeping house is a "house cleaning diary," which keeps a record of the times when certain carpets were taken up or wall papers changed.

The man's and woman's linen should not have a polish, but be smoothly ironed to a dead white. At the laundries this is called a "domestic polish."

That if linen is ironed at home great pains should be taken to make the corners of cuffs very sharp. They should be ironed flat.

That for a wrap to wear about the throat when in a decollete gown, the softest thing is a liberty scarf edged with feathers.

That ermine fur may be cleaned with delicate rubbing with a flannel cloth against the grain, and an after application of flour to the most soiled places.

That when papering is about to be done, the walls should be thoroughly cleaned. A whitewash brush wet in warm water will loosen the old paper so that it may be scraped off, and a washing with soda water will clean the plaster.

Beggars are promptly arrested in Vienna if caught begging in the streets.

Women Who Write.

When a man writes he wants pomp and circumstance and eternal space from which to draw. If he writes at home he needs a study or a library, and he wants the key lost and the keyhole padded over, so that nobody can disturb him. His finished products are of much importance to him and, for a time, he wonders why the planets have not changed their orbits or the sunbines acquired a new brilliancy because he has written something by a castiron method.

A woman picks up some scraps of a copy book or the back of a pattern, sharpens her pencil with the scissors or gnaws the end sharper. She takes an old geography, tucks her pencil periodically, and produces literature. She can write with Genevieve pounding out her exercises on the piano, with Mary buzzing over her history lesson for to-morrow, Tommy teasing the baby pulling the cat's tail. The domestic comes and goes for directions and supplies, but the course of true love runs on, the lovers woo and win, and the villains kill and die among the most common-place surroundings.

A man's best efforts, falling short of genius, are apt to be stilted, but the woman who writes will often, with the stump of a pencil, and amid the distractions above mentioned, produce a tender bit of a poem a dramatic situation, or a page of description, that, though critics rave, lives on, travels through the exchanges and finds a place in the scrap-book of the men who know a good thing when they see it, whether there is a well-known name signified to it or not.

A Train Captured by a Rattlesnake.

Henry Andrews, an old engineer on the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis Railway, tells an interesting story about the capture of his engine when he was "pulling" a passenger train. His engine was 56, and he pulled out of Nashville with a full train of passengers bound for Chattanooga. At Stephenson, Ala., they stopped to wood up, which they had to carry in their arms. They started again, and just before reaching Anderson station, Jim Wilson, the fireman, who had turned around to get some wood, sang out, "Great Scott! Look at that rattler!"

"I jumped," said the engineer, "as he uttered the words, and, to my horror, saw a tremendous rattlesnake climbing down from the tender with half of his body over the platform. My hair commenced to crowd my cap off my head, and to say I was scared doesn't begin to express it. Jim gave a yell, and when I looked around two seconds later to see what he was doing, I saw the rattler crawling into the cab. But Jim was no where to be seen. He had jumped off and left me. I pulled back the throttle and leaped over the snake, which rattled as I made the jump, and landed in the tender.

"Standing on a log, I watched that snake take possession of the cab, which he did without any ceremony. The steam was not completely shut off, and knowing that the train full of passengers was at the mercy of that snake, I started back toward the cab with a stick in my hand, when the rattler, hearing the noise I made elevated his tail and rattled in a mighty lively fashion. That settled it. By this time we had crossed the mountain and were sailing along pretty lively. No. 6 was waiting for us at Stevenson, and I knew that if that snake ran the engine till we got there, the coroner of the town would be kept busy for a week.

"Crawling over the tender, and making my way into the postal car, I hurriedly told my story to Charles Henderson, the messenger, and then to Frank Armstrong, the expressman. We held a hasty consultation, and determined that something had to be done, and done quickly. The train was moving along lively, and the thought of No. 6 at Stevenson made us fairly wild. Arming ourselves with pistols, furnished by the postal and expressmen, we carefully crept out to the tender, and looking into the cab, saw that doggoned rattler stretched out on the board by the window. Well, it didn't take more than three seconds for us to put three bullets into his carcass. They struck him so quickly and so thoroughly that, before he could get a chance to rattle, he was dead as Hector. Grabbing a stick, I jumped into the cab, threw the snake out of it, and got hold of the throttle. Well, to make a long story short, I landed old '56' on time at Stevenson; and, strange to say, the first person I saw was the coroner, but, thank Heaven, there weren't any inquests for him to hold."

A Japanese house has, by way of furniture, a few coals in a fireplace of sand, quilts and cushions, low tables six inches high, screens, lamps, cups and dishes of common clay.

Electric lights cause a bright radiance round the carriage of the Emperor of Germany. They shine from the pole, on the collars of the horses and at the sides and back.

R. S. McKinney, Druggist, desires us to publish the following extract from a letter of Chas. M. Gutted, of Reedley, Fresno Co., Cal., as he handles the remedy referred to and wants his customers to know what a splendid medicine it is:

"It is with pleasure I tell you that by one day's use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy I was relieved of a very severe cold. My head was completely stopped up and I could not sleep at night. I can recommend this remedy." A cold nearly always starts in the head and afterwards extends to the throat and lungs. By using this remedy freely as soon as the cold has been contracted it will cure the cold at once and prevent it from extending to the lungs.

HISTORY OF TANEYTOWN.

PART XXII.

Taneytown had an act of incorporation as a Burgess and Commissioners, at two different times before the present incorporation, but it was allowed to lapse. The charter under which the town was organized was passed by the legislature of 1834. I believe a charter had been granted in 1822, but was defective and was amended and passed at the session of 1824. The town is governed by a Burgess and five Commissioners who are elected on the first Monday in May of each year. Of course some persons were opposed to adopting an act of incorporation, as is always the case in small towns, but when the question was submitted to the voters of the town on the 15th of May, 1834, it was carried by a vote of 65 to 21.

The first election for Burgess and Commissioners was held May 4th., 1835, and resulted in the election of Josiah Adelsberger, Burgess; T. H. Eckenrode, B. E. Reindollar, T. Thomson, Nelson B. Harris, and John Renner, Commissioners. They passed ordinances to have the streets graded, the sidewalks paved or gravelled, the gutters paved. Afterwards permission to use gravel was refused and citizens were required to use stone or brick. Mr. Adelsberger was re-elected in 1836 and 1837; in August, 1837 he resigned on account of bad health and Dr. F. H. Seiss was chosen to fill the vacancy. Dr. Seiss filled the office until May, 1838, when James Reindollar was elected. At the annual election in May of that year, Mr. Reindollar resigned in September, 1838, and Dr. F. H. Seiss was again chosen to fill the vacancy. Dr. Seiss was Burgess until May, 1839. At the election held May 10th., 1839, H. D. Mehring was elected. Mr. Mehring now holds the office having been re-elected every year since his first election in 1839. Dr. G. T. Motter, W. Jesse Roberts and Edward Kemper who were elected Commissioners at the same time have also, I believe, been re-elected every year since then; others of those who have served as Commissioners, would no doubt have been re-elected had they not declined to serve. As the offices are entirely without pay and take up a good deal of time, and as they also necessitate a considerable friction and criticism which is not at all friendly, it shows a self-sacrificing spirit to serve the town in these offices.

The first act of incorporation limited the rate of taxation to 20 cents on the hundred dollars. An act of 1835 amended this by allowing the Commissioners to levy an additional sum of 10 cents on the hundred dollars, to be used in grading and stoning the streets, and also empowered them to levy 10 cents more per hundred to put fire plugs along the streets to be used in case of fire. The tax could only be levied in case there was a public water supply provided for the town. This amendment was voted on at the election in May, 1839, and carried by a good majority.

The Burgess and Commissioners soon began to pike the streets after they had authority to borrow $5000, but the arrangement was not satisfactory as they were obliged to borrow the money on a note, according to the legislature of 1834, which was amended to issue bonds for the sum of $6000 which was to be used to pay off the debt and to finish the stoning of the streets; it also provided for a sinking fund by which one-third of the bonds were to be paid at the end of 10 years, another one third at the end of 20 years, and the balance in 30 years, or all might be paid after 10 years if the town council so chose.

This proposition was also submitted to the people and carried by a good majority. The bonds were sold at public auction, and the premium on them amounts to $325.60. Our streets, both roadways and side walks, are now in very good condition.

The commissioners believe that the money put into the sinking fund will pay the debt in about 25 years. They have made arrangements to lend the money belonging to the sinking fund, until it can be appropriated to pay off the debt at the end of 10 years. The town finances are in a decidedly healthy condition.

The last assessment by the town authorities was made in 1852; it showed taxable property to the amount of $330,511.50 and has since increased somewhat. Since the town was incorporated the council has passed 41 ordinances, they have piked 3550 perches of lime stone, most of them crushed, at a cost of $4927.15. Previous to the use of lime stone, something like 3000 perches of our red rock had been used, but proved to be of little account.

The first clerk of the council was Geo. H. Birnie; Levi D. Reid came next when Mr. Birnie resigned; he moved to the country and O. M. Crouse was elected in his stead. When Mr. Crouse moved to Westminster, Mr. Reid was again elected and is at this time clerk. Burgess Miller is Tax Collector and Bailiff. The town is lighted with gasoline lamps; the more hopeful of our citizens are looking forward to the time when we shall have electric lighting, and as it now seems probable that we will have two telephone lines here in a short time, their hopes may be realized.

We have also now under consideration several plans for a public water supply. At present there does not seem to be any plan available by which a public water supply could be made a paying investment, and there has been no proposition to tax the citizens to provide one. The elevation of the town above all visible water courses and springs, and the small number of inhabitants, makes the problem difficult to solve. It has not yet however been fully discussed, and I hope some way will be found to give it to us; it would lessen the cost of fire insurance, and ought to make the town more healthy, as wells and springs in thickly settled districts do not generally contain a pure water supply.

There have never been many lodges or societies in Taneytown; following is a short notice of them. In the early part of this century there was a Masonic lodge known as the Phœnix. Another entry in the records of Door to Virtue Lodge, No. 46, of Westminster. The first meeting of this last named lodge was held under a dispensation June 23rd., 1811, at Pipe Creek, Frederick (now Carroll) county, Md. Among the visiting brethren were Wm. Knox, John Crapster and Isaac Lightner of Philadelphia Lodge, No. 39, Taneytown, Md. Another entry in the records of Door to Virtue Lodge says "Soon after on the 28th. of the same month (January 1822) at Taneytown, the lodge buried with Masonic honors, its late Past Master, Upton Scott Reid. The chaplain on that mournful occasion, was the Rev. Daniel Zollieffer." As there is no mention of the presence of the Taneytown lodge at this ceremony, I suppose it was, at that time, extinct. Some years ago there was a lodge of Knights of Pythias and a Grauge here; both continued for a few years and then surrendered their charters. At present we have a flourishing company of the "Patriotic Order Sons of America," which was started with 27 members, on July 23rd., 1890, and now has 90 members. There was opened here recently a lodge of Heptasophis which has 17 members. We also have a band of the Young Women's Christian Temperance Union, three Christian Endeavor societies, and a Literary society.

The schools in Taneytown, both public and private, have always been fully equal to those in any other part of the county. The public school now has 123 pupils; Mr. L. D. Reid is principal, Miss Sarah Snyder teaches the intermediate department, and Miss G. May Forrest the primary department. There is at this time no private school except the Catholic Parochial school taught by Miss Agnes Arnold with 18 pupils.

For a long time Mr. Andrew McKinney conducted a private school, called Eagleton Institute. It was both a boarding and day school, and was very successful; many of our public school teachers were taught there and others prepared for college. Mr. McKinney is still remembered with reverence and affection by his old pupils. Mr. Darius Thomas also taught a private school here about 45 years ago, in which many of our middle aged men were taught, and he is said to have been a most excellent teacher. Rev. Jacob Bellville conducted a private school in Taneytown about the year 1845 for a short time.

About 65 or 70 years ago there was an old gentleman named Latham taught school, where Mr. Daniel Fair's home stands, (I believe.) Some of our oldest citizens have still a very vivid recollection of his ability to teach a school, especially if he was awakened on the afternoon nap, which he generally took during school hours; he seems to have elated the first boy he could lay his hands on, whether he was guilty of any offense or not, no doubt going on the grounds that he generally believed in by both parents and teachers, that it did no harm to give a boy a whipping at any time, the boys being comforted with the proverb, "If you don't deserve it now, you will at some other time."

Lansing, Michigan. Editor Record.

I have read several copies of your paper sent me by my good friend, Robert S. McKinney. Kindly put my name on your list for a years subscription. It is certainly more than a usual privilege to the good citizens of your town to have a paper second to none in the county, published at home. Glad that Taneytown is directly in line with the progress of the present age.

You will observe by enclosures that Michigan is attempting to blot out fusion practice and reach a point nearer the pure Australian ballot system. Your Respectfully, G. KUBNS. Private Sec'y to Atty's General. Grant, the Unassuming.

After Gen. Grant had been appointed and confirmed as general of the armies of the United States, says Ben Parley Poore in his "Reminiscences," it was known that his commission had been signed and was awaiting him at the White House. Late one night in honor of the great event, all of the headquarters officers appeared in full dress to accompany their chief, as they supposed, while he formally received his commission. But while they were waiting for him to summon them to attend him, a man attracted their attention by a pair of gray pantaloons and a starched white shirt, in honor of the great event, all of the headquarters officers appeared in full dress to accompany their chief, as they supposed, while he formally received his commission. The Carroll Record has been running a History of Taneytown for over four months, and has found it to be such an interesting and welcome feature, that it has originated, and decided to put in force, the idea of publishing the history of every town of importance in the county—at least in the northern section of it.

A competent writer has been secured for every town, and these Histories will be commenced in the near future. Later on, circulars will be distributed giving the exact date of its beginning, and arrangements will be made with some one in each place for the sale of copies of the paper.

As the History of each town is more or less connected with that of every other, these separate Histories will go far towards forming a and those who feel an interest in the subject should begin a years subscription at once. A few subscribers may secure all the back numbers of the Taneytown History if they desire to begin the year at that time.

The CARROLL RECORD is a non-partisan county newspaper, brimful with county happenings, the most important items of general news in a condensed form, a farmer's department, and a fair sprinkling of humorous and miscellaneous matter.

That the paper is appreciated is shown by its rapidly growing subscription list. A number of new features are in contemplation for the year, and we can safely promise that those who become subscribers will feel that they have made a good investment.

Subscription price is $1.00 per annum in advance. Six months 50 cents. In combination with the N. Y. weekly Tribune only $1.25 for the two for one year. With the N. Y. semi-weekly World, only $1.50. With the Farm Journal, only $1.15. With the Cosmopolitan Magazine, only $2.25.

Sample copies will cheerfully be supplied on application. Our friends are requested to send us news items for publication; while we have a large corps of excellent correspondents, it is desired that everyone shall send us accounts of special happenings in their neighborhood. Send in your subscriptions by mail, if not convenient to call at the office.

Yours Respectfully

To Tax Foreigners. The feeling which once made the so-called Know-nothing party powerful in American politics has cropped up in England, where it is now proposed to place a tax of twenty-five dollars a year upon all foreign workmen. British workmen complain that they are being seriously injured by the numbers who come to seek employment in England, from countries where wages are lower. In London alone, for instance, there are said to be five thousand German tailors, and the native workmen feel their competition severely.

The same sentiment is very strong in France. The municipal government of Paris recently voted a large sum for public improvements, with the provision that none but Frenchmen should be employed on the work. This feeling against foreigners is not unnatural, but it is illiberal and unwise. There are ten times as many in this country as in any other, and yet it is the most prosperous.

A National Lawmaker. "I was a member of Congress for five terms," remarked an ex member to a group of listeners, and I am free to confess that I was proud of my position and thought I stood well in the estimation of my fellow citizens because of the place I occupied. Even a Congressman can learn some things, however, and on one occasion I was given a lesson that really surprised me. I was on a train and near me sat an elderly woman, evidently from the remote section of the country, with whom I got into conversation. She was ignorant, but of considerable native ability, and decidedly sharp of speech. She felt a strong aversion to politics and politicians, and was vigorous in her attacks that I was forced to come to the rescue.

"My dear madam," I said in protest. "I'm a politician." "No, you don't say?" she exclaimed, looking at me with curiosity. "Yes, I do say it; and what is more I am a member of Congress." "She actually threw up her hands in astonishment at this statement. "Well," she said "I never would have thought it. And do you get paid for it?" "I certainly do. The salary is $5,000 a year." "Do tell," she exclaimed. "Well, some men will do anything for money."

ONCE ON A TIME—So Senator Blackburn says—a typical American city convention has held to parcel out the offices. It was agreed in advance that all potent elements should be recognized, so for Mayor an Irishman was nominated, for Auditor a German, for Treasurer an Irishman, for Clerk a Swede, for Street Commissioner an Irishman, and so on. For these valuable adjuncts to American government had been duly and properly recognized there yet remained one small, inconsequential office to fill. A little man arose timidly and said mildly that if some foreign element had no objection, and if the delegation from Europe had been properly provided for, perhaps it would be advisable to give this office to an American. In the midst of the general uproar an Irishman, very red and very angry, jumped to his feet and cried out: "Mr. President, if this is to be a damned know-nothing convention, I withdraw." The force of this observation lies in the application of it.—E.E.

How to Cure Rheumatism. ARAGO, COOS CO., OREGON, Nov. 10, 1893.—I wish to inform you of the great good Chamberlain's Pain Balm has done my wife. She has been troubled with rheumatism of the arms and hands for six months, and has tried many remedies prescribed for that complaint, but found no relief until she used this Pain Balm; one bottle of which has completely cured her. I take pleasure in recommending it for that trouble. Yours truly, C. A. BULLARD. 50 cent and $1.00 bottles for sale by R. S. McKinney, Druggist, Taneytown, Md.
