Funeral of Father Delaney.

Funeral services were conducted over the remains of Rev. John T. Delaney on Monday in the Church of the Holy Name of Jesus, the church of which Father Delaney had been pastor for four years past. The services were of a most impressive character, the offset of the grape drayed acter, the effect of the crape-draped church and altar being accentuated | tabidle by the faint glimmer of the altar candles and the soft, monotonous patter of the rain on the arched roof of the church. More impressive than the draping of black or the wailing chant of the choristers, however, was the uncontrolled a sobbing of the church. Cost tries to Escape.

WESTMINSTER, Md., April 11. Joseph Cost, who is confined in jail awaiting trial for numerous offenses, particularly that of burglary and participating in the shooting of Police Officer Doyle with Wells, and of breaking jail twice, again made an effort to free himself and escape from the severe sentence he expects. Sheriff Arnold had his suspicions aroused that something was wrong, and particularly last night, when the prisoners were unusually noisy and singing at the top of their voices. Upon investigation it was discovered that Cost had improvised a key with which he could unlock his irons. He had also sawed through two of the iron bars of his cell window and was awaiting a favorable chance to wrench them from their fastenings to get at liberty again.

After the sheriff had placed him in more secure quarters he investigated further and found that the prisoners had made a hole in the wall between the jail and the pantry, but the hole was not as yet large enough to admit pathy of the community.

The first and indispensable thing about medicine is that it shall be absolutely harmless and leave no room for reaction. Ramon's Tonc Liver Pill, whose wonderful cures have made so much stir in this section recently, is such a medicine. It is absolutely harmless, and cannot fall to be of benefit to any one who tries it. It is a positive specific for all forms of sick-headache, disordered liver, billousness, etc. The tiny Pellets which accompany the pills are for building up the system. The two medicines together cost only 25 cents. Ask R. S. McKinney, your druggist, for free sample Liver pills have their good and bad side. They cleanse the bowels and clean out the system, but they leave the patient weak, exhausted and unstrung, with no appetite and no strength.

If you were to go to a physician he would tell you that your liver pills were all right but that they did not go far enough. You need something else to restore the appetite, repair the waste, purify the blood and build up the system. He would give you a tonic.

We supply you with the regular physician's medicine for an entire treatment of nearly three weeks. There is one small case of ten of the Liver Pills (the finest in existence) and there is another box containing fifteen of the Tonic Pellets. You get them both for 25e. About the same time, that is to say, about the first decade of the present century, Jacob B. Thomas, then a resident of the town of Union Bridge as it then was, originally conceived the idea that the extremely done, and was not known to be practicable, and may therefore truthfully be said to have been originally invented by him. And as this is a local historical incident of more than ordinary importance it may be pardonable to notice at greater length the details thereof.

In the building and room that is now the front parlor of the dwelling house of what is known as the Shriner premises, (Jno. Six present owner) Jacob B. Thomas constructed a reaping machine with an automatic attachment thereto to gather the cut grain into sheaves, being substantially the self-raker of the present In the summer and harvest of 1811, the machine was so far perfected as to permit of a trial of its operations in a field of wheat then fully ripe, being the field now belonging to John Davis Clemson, (now Clemson heirs) and the spot in the field where the trial was made is very near to the present dwelling of James A. Bostion.

The machine had not yet been furnished with a tongue and other appurtenances for attaching horses to it, but was pushed into the grain by took up Thomas' invention and perfected it so far as to make it an operative machine, and from that McCormick's and all others cutting on the same principle were constructed, (as they all concede.)

The mill property built by Joseph Wright and now operated by E. Engleman, was sold by the Wright heirs GEO. P. EYLER. to Jacob Switzer who took down the old mill and on its site built a brick structure, which has since been enlarged by a frame addition by Joel K. Bollinger; the last of the Wrights that made flour at the old mill was Joe Wright, a grandson of the builder of the mill. After the property was sold, Joe went west, but came back years after and died at his sister's, Mrs. Joel Farquhar.

The only descendants of William Farquhar bearing his nameare, William W., Joseph W., and Catharine Farquhar, who are his great-grandchildren. They are still living on a portion of the land he gave his son William, (their grand-father) and are living in the same house that grandfather built when he first settled on the land; they are also the only persons bearing the name of the old land proprietor who own any of the land that he possessed. A family of Wilsons, cousins of the Farquhars, were large land proprietors and among those who came at an early date. Their estates are now owned by Frank Englar, Shriner Heirs, M. J.

There are many kinds of wire fencing, but none that can compete with the Keystone in price and quality. Send for large illustrated catalogue. See advertisement. S. G. BIGHAM, Agent, Green Mount, Pa.

Last summer I advertised my business for sale, but soon found that I could not secure a purchaser for the large amount of stock I carry. As I still desire to get out of the mercantile business, for a number of good reasons, I have at last decided to begin now to SACRIFICE my stock, having in view the reduction of it to so small an amount that by next April at the furthest, some one will take advantage of the excellent chance to go into a Paying Business which my retirement offers. I therefore announce that from this date, I will sell at retail my entire Stock of Clothing, without exception—AT COST OR LESS, except a few lots which will be slightly bove, making the average about actual cost.
