Advertisers, subscribers and all others indebted to the CARROLL RECORD Printing and Publishing Company of Taneytown, are requested to pay all the amounts due the Company, on or before June 22nd, 1895. As the first year of the business of the Company closes with the month of June, it is desired by the Board of Directors that the report which they will make to the stockholders, shall show fully the work of the Company for the year. The report will be rendered on the day of the election of a Board of Directors to serve for one year from the first of July, 1895, which will be held at the Manager's office on Saturday afternoon, June 29th, at 3 o'clock.

By order of
THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

LOCALS AND PERSONALS.

Court is expected to last two or three weeks yet.

It is rumored that Littlestown is to have a National Bank.

Frost on Monday night, and three days later, 98° in the shade. How is that for a change?

Mrs. W. E. Evans, of Brunswick, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. Shoemaker.

A number of new advertisements will be found in our columns this week. Look for them.

The Mt. Pleasant U. B. church was sold at public sale, last Saturday, to Mr. David Trimmer, for $67.50.

Don't forget the old newspapers at 15 cents a hundred. You need them for wrapping and other purposes.

Mr. Jesse M. Buffington is regularly at work in the harness making establishment of Mr. Chas. H. Shriner.

The Pleasant Valley picnic was a failure last Saturday, owing to rain. They will hold a festival on Friday and Saturday evenings of this week.

The family of the Editor is under obligations to the elder Mrs. John Stouffer, and Miss Rebecca Galt, for their kindness in supplying a number of very large and crisp heads of lettuce.

Mr. Artie Angell who has been a compositor on the RECORD since its first issue, has taken a situation with Kootz & Wagner. He was excellent help in every way, and promised to make a good printer.

Our band will visit Littlestown this evening (Saturday) for the purpose of aiding the members of the band at that place, in a festival which they are holding for the purpose of purchasing new uniforms.

Mrs. M. Fogle, who advertised the loss of a pair of gold spectacles in last week's RECORD, had them returned to her on Saturday by the finder, Mr. J. S. Sheets, who saw the advertisement. Does it pay to advertise?

An excellent crayon portrait of Dr. John Swope, a famous Taneytown physician, of bygone days, has been procured for Dr. Samuel Swope, by P. B. Englar, in whose store window it was on exhibition on Saturday.

Mr. Edward Fox, formerly of Keysville neighborhood, now living at Silver Run is in a dangerous condition from a case of bleeding from all the apertures of the body. Cases of this kind are rare, and are seldom cured.

The RECORD is glad to see Dr. J. J. Weaver mentioned for Senator. The Doctor would make an excellent legislator, and it is to be hoped that the conventions of both parties will have the best names in their respective parties to choose from.

Walter, son of Mr. Thomas Angell, was kicked by a horse, in the region of the spinal column, on Thursday afternoon, and was at first thought to be seriously injured, but here he is about again, although he still suffers considerable pain.

The Western Maryland Telephone Company was engaged in stringing its wires on Wednesday, and in a few days the service to our town will be complete. Before our next issue the new order of things will likely be in force, and we will wonder how we ever got along without the little "hear far" instruments.

We have received quite a number of New Windsor subscribers on account of the history, and the lot of single copies sent on sale did not supply the demand, but a few more will be sent. This history, like all the rest, is proving to be an attractive and interesting feature, and the people are not slow to appreciate it.

Some time during the month of July it is proposed to hold a picnic of the four Camps of the Sons of America in Carroll county. It will likely be held near Westminster, and an effort will be made to have an interesting program with plenty of music, speaking and other attractions. A big time is expected.

Mr. Harry Keen closed out the green grocery business on Saturday last, but we were glad to say it was opened again at the same stand on Tuesday, by Mr. Chas. Harner. Our citizens ought to patronize this business, as it is a great convenience to many, and is somewhat difficult to make pay here, owing to the numerous gardens.

Mr. Fred Embry, a youth in the employ of Father Mead had a runaway accident on last Saturday morning which resulted in an arm broken in two places, and a mangled up wagon. The accident was caused by trying to drive down hill without the use of holding-back straps, something which Fred will likely never attempt again.

Hereafter our market reports will appear on the fourth page, and will represent prices prevailing at Friday noon. Heretofore when they appeared on the inside of the paper, they stood for Wednesday prices. This change is made partly by request of Mr. Stonessifer of Harney, whose new Roller Mill advertisement appears in this issue. The suggestion is a good one.

NOTES HERE AND THERE.

Two new consolidation freight locomotives, Nos. 55 and 56, have been ordered by the Western Maryland's equipment.

An excursion train of Pullman cars passed over the Western Maryland railroad one day last week with about 80 passengers from California and the far west.

Gov. Brown has signed the death warrant of Marshall E. Price, who is to be hanged July 5th., in Caroline county, for the murder of Miss Sarah Elizabeth Dean.

Cecil county farmers are complaining of the great damage done by the cut-worm, and also the great quantity of sorrel in the grass-fields, caused by the cold, wet weather.

A York coultian has carried the heart of a red bat in his purse for over two years, and says that he has had good luck ever since, and the ladies like him much better. Telephone for the fool killer!

Rev. George W. Kiracofe, who has been a minister of the United Brethren in Christ for a period of twenty-five years, has withdrawn from that church and was on Sunday baptized by Rev. E. E. Ayers in the First Baptist church, Hagerstown.

At a recent meeting of the managers it was decided to hold the 22nd. Annual Grangers' Picnic Exhibition at Williams Grove, Cumberland Co., Pa., August 26th. to 31st., 1895, inclusive. It was also decided to make quite a number of improvements to the buildings and grounds.

Mr. Thomas F. Shepherd, a well known resident of Uniontown district, is reported dangerously ill. He is president of the New Windsor National Bank, and director for Carroll county of the Montgomery County Insurance Company. He is eighty years of age and not likely to recover.

Since the withdrawal of Raynor and Lloyd from the democratic gubernatorial nomination contest, Messrs. Jones, Smith and Hayes are those most prominently spoken of. Messrs. Lowndes and Baker are the republican aspirants, each of which to have a strong following, with chances apparently in favor of Lowndes.

On last Saturday 101 car loads of strawberries were shipped from Crisfield. Each car contained 400 crates making 40,400 crates. Each crate contained 32 quarts, making the immense total of 1,292,800 quarts. The cost of picking alone amounted to over $25,000, at 3 cents a quart. For one day's business in berries, this seems rather large.

Rev. G. C. Haskarl, pastor of St. James Lutheran church, Frederick, has resigned the charge and preached his last sermon on Sunday evening. He recommends that the old Lutheran church conduct the affairs of St. James, and keep the church in the synod. The congregation is unable to support a pastor and meet the indebtedness of $6500 which rests on the church.

The annual meeting of the Maryland Homoeopathic Medical Society was held Tuesday evening, the 21st. inst., at the rooms of the society, 16 West Saratoga St., Baltimore. Dr. U. A. Sharetts, who is president of the society delivered an address, in which he recommended the establishment of a homoeopathic asylum in the south for the treatment of the insane. —Examiner.

Jacob Henson, a colored man who was convicted of murder in the Howard county court, and who was in jail in Elliott city waiting to be hanged on June 7th., was taken from the gallows on Tuesday morning, and hanged to the limb of a tree. It is supposed that the lynchers feared that Governor Brown might commute the sentence to imprisonment for life.

The American Sterilized Food Company at Thurmont, which is engaged in condensing milk, is now in full operation, but in a few months will greatly increase its capacity. The price paid for milk during the summer months will be 30 cents per 100 pounds, but for the winter months will be considerably higher. The company will be able to consume 10,000 pounds of milk per day in the near future.

Last week the Gettysburg Battlefield Association held a picnic at the State all of its property and rights, under the provisions of the late Act of Congress providing for national control of the battlefield. The association has existed since 1864 and in the past six years has purchased considerable land, and has in many ways added to the improvement and protection of the historic spot. The funds for these operations were contributed by the various states having troops in the battle.

The Advocate in its last issue says: Westminster did not sit down during the late financial depression and be-wail the hard times. Her citizens were active and made business. Some new firms, of young men, branched out in fine stores, and offered liberalty, and the attractions of large stocks and low prices, brought people here to buy from long distances. A wholesale store was started, an ice factory established, an electric light plant built, $40,000 was subscribed to an electric railroad, and a telephone company organized.

GETTYSBURG, PA., May 26.—The Lutherans of Pennsylvania, Maryland and New York gathered here to-day to attend the dedication of the new building of the Lutheran Seminary. Rev. Dr. Wm. M. Baum, of Philadelphia, presided over the exercises. Rev. Dr. W. H. Dunbar, pastor of St. Mark's church, Baltimore, delivered the dedicatory address, and Rev. Dr. C. S. Albert, of Philadelphia, performed the act of dedication. In the evening the annual alumni address was delivered by Rev. Dr. J. A. Singmaster, of Allentown. —Bullo. Sun.

Decoration Day Services.

Notwithstanding the excessive heat, which caused anything like exertion to be attended with discomfort, the services of Memorial day at this place were carried out without a break, and in many ways was the most successful event of the kind ever held here. There was a crowd of several thousand persons in attendance, notwithstanding the busy time with country people, which shows that the day here is losing none of its interest, and that the desire to pay tribute to the Nation's honored dead is not on the decline.

The parade was formed in front of the school house in a blazing hot sun, the mercury registering nearly 100. The line was headed by the Taneytown band, and was composed as follows: Survivors of the war; little boys and girls with flags and flowers; Camp No. 9, P. O. S. of A., of Middleburg; Camp No. 7, of Pleasant Valley; and Camp No. 2., of Taneytown. The parade was marshalled by Messrs. Wm. R. Unger, Franklin Bowersox, and Scott M. Smith, and was the longest ever out on a similar occasion here.

Each cemetery was visited and the graves of the dead soldiers decorated; loving tributes of flowers were also placed on the graves of two deceased members of the P. O. S. of A. The program as announced last week, was carried out at the school building, on the return of those in line of march, many of whom were nearly exhausted.

After a brief but excellent address by Dr. C. B. Birnie, the orator of the day, Major R. M. J. Reed, of Philadelphia, held the attention of his large audience notwithstanding the discomfort of its being compelled to stand in a scorching sun, and his address, though of the usual length, seemed short to the majority of the people who were impressed with the earnest and glowing words of the speaker. Major Reed saw plenty of active service on the field, and was shot through the body at Gettysburg, yet he did not find it necessary to appeal to sectional prejudice, or flatter those so called "bloody shirts," in order to picture the glories of the day—the soldiers' Sabbath—but his remarks were, while intensely enthusiastic, wholly appropriate to a proper observance of the occasion, and truly patriotic.

The result of the recent examination of applicants for certificates to teach in the public schools, and of candidates for scholarships in the State Normal School, resulted as follows, by announcement of School Examiner Davis:

Fifteen ladies and thirteen gentlemen applied for teachers' certificates and six ladies and one gentleman for the scholarships referred to. Warner Loses His Case.

The breach of promise case of D. Calvin Warner against Mrs. Emma S. Powell, of Double Pipe Creek, ended on Friday in a verdict for the defendant. The second day of the trial commenced with the further testimony of Mr. Miller, who had fainting in court on the first day of the trial. He testified that Warner had once said in his presence that he was the father of an illegitimate child, and that Warner and the woman and her father, had met at the home of the witness' father, and settled the case. Mrs. Powell testified in her own behalf in a plain straightforward manner, and the cross examination while very trying and searching, failed to controvert any of her statements. She said among other things that her engagement with Warner was provisional—that she was not to be bound if it met a younger man whom she preferred; that the defendant had several times visited her under the influence of liquor; which she particularly detested, and that she had heard of the illegitimate child previous to the engagement; that he threatened to shoot her and himself, as well as any young man whom she might prefer to him; that he wanted to borrow money from her, and that she was never anxious to marry him.

After brief arguments by the counsel, the case was given to the jury, which rendered a verdict in about fifteen minutes in favor of Mrs. Powell. The result of the case was anticipated by nearly every one, but few seriously thought there could be any other verdict.

Circuit Court Proceedings.

The grand jury concluded the investigation of all cases and reported to the court on Monday, as usual, asking to be discharged. The court dismissed them subject to future order in the event of any business requiring their attention before the end of the term. This is a new departure in this county, it having heretofore been the custom to discharge the grand jury upon its report that no further business was before it. The plan is regarded favorably by all concerned. On Monday the body shows that during the thirteen days it has been in session a hundred and five cases of violations of law have been investigated and one hundred and eight witnesses examined. Indictments were framed in sixty-eight cases, and thirty-seven were dismissed. In view of the recent escapes of prisoners, the following item of the report has special interest and importance. Referring to their visit to the jail, the jurors say:

"We further report that we find a number of writs about the jail that ought to be remedied in order to effectually secure the prisoners therein."

The Traub Insurance Case.

The case of Julius Traub & Bro., against the Caledonian Fire Insurance Company, was tried on Monday, the week in the Carroll county court, and excited much interest among insurance people, as well as others who are familiar with the case. Traub & Bro. had been in the Clothing business in Union Bridge, and at their premises in July, 1893, which destroyed a portion of their stock, and damaged the rest more or less by smoke and water.

They held four policies in as many companies, each for $2000. The plaintiffs claimed a net loss of $4600, after disposing of the damaged stock. The companies after investigation, disputed this claim, and offered $850, in settlement of the loss, which was refused. A second attempt at settlement was made by the companies, by offering $1048.09, but this amount was also refused, and the case went to court, Traub bringing suit against each company.

By agreement all the cases were pooled into one, that against the Caledonian Company, and at the trial held in February, 1894, before the jury, a verdict was rendered the plaintiffs for $4200. The companies appealed, and the Court of Appeals remanded the case back for trial again. The plaintiffs then brought suit by Clark, Gaither and Rosenbann; the defendant by Reifsnider & Reifsnider, and James Heives. The case ended on Wednesday in a verdict for Traub, the jury allowing him $4,512.60, which is practically the same as the first verdict, with interest.

Frizellburg.

On Ascension day we had the pleasure of witnessing the first game of ball played at our town. The game was between the Union Mills club and the Frizellburg Stars. Mr. John Nall, brother of our summer school will prolong his term one week for unavoidable reasons. Mr. Nall is conscientious as to giving his service for the worth of the money.

We would say to our genial Tyrone reporter, that our Uniontown wide awake farmers, consider a man of 91 and a horse of 31 as having out-lived their period of usefulness, and are subjects for the retired list. A horse when he has passed the age of 15 years should be moved off and younger blood substituted. There is no profit in holding old horses, cows, sheep, chickens or anything else for the practical wide awake farmer of to-day. He wants to be a hustler, and a hustler wants good stock, stock in which there is always profit, and no loss.

Hot Springs, Arkansas.

EDITOR CARROLL RECORD.—I endeavor to give the readers of the CARROLL RECORD a faint idea of the city of Hot Springs, which is situated in the valley of the Ozark Mountains, and has a population of about 15,000 inhabitants, with a floating population of from ten to twelve thousand, who visit that place for treatment.

The Hot Springs of Arkansas has the reputation of being one of the great wonders of the world. They issue forth from the western slope of the Hot Springs mountain at an elevation of from 700 to 800 feet above the level of the sea; the most of them being only about 30 to 70 feet above the level of valley. These waters are all owned by the United States Government. It is said that at the hot springs an egg can be cooked in ten minutes. All the springs except one, flowing from the eastern side of the mountain, are hot, and on the western side except the great Alum spring are cold. These springs contain quite a number of minerals, such as lime, carbonic acid, sulphuric acid, potash, soda and a number of others, which are beneficial to health.

The waters are conveyed from these springs to the bath houses in pipes, and must be cooled before a person can bathe. The average temperature for a person to begin bathing is most likely 98 degrees F., and from that up, as the patient becomes accustomed to same. It is said that 193 springs flow from these mountains, the hottest being 163 degrees F. These waters are drunk by the invalids as hot as can be endured, with good results, and the hot "douche" is powerful in arousing into action the sluggish and torpid secretions, which it seems that medical aid comes to reach.

As regards to bathing when a person first comes to this place, it is advisable to consult a physician and be examined and given bathing directions, for, if this is neglected, it is in some cases very dangerous, as the heat may be in some way affected, without the patient knowing anything about the same, which might cause a great deal of trouble and in some instances, persons have fainted upon getting into these waters without having consulted a physician.

As regards to bathing in the bath tub about ten minutes, unless the "douche" is used when it requires a longer time. After the patient gets out of the bath tub, he is taken into the vapor bath (if he uses the same) which is a small room 3 feet by 4 feet which is

Memorial Day.

It has been predicted time and again, that memorial day and its attending ceremonies, will soon cease to be generally observed. Just why anyone should think so, or why it should ever be so, there has never been a good reason advanced, and, up to the present, there is no indication that the day is losing interest, or that it ever will cease to awaken in the hearts of a grateful people, a desire to do honor to those who fell in the cause of preserving intact the union of our states.

"Strew the fair garlands where slumber the dead.
Ring out the strains like the swell of the sea.
Heartfelt the tribute we lay on each bed.
Sound the refrain of the loyal and free.
Visit each sleeper and hallow each bed.
Wave the starred banner from season to sea.
Grateful the living and honored the dead."

Robert G. Ingersoll, who is noted for his beautiful word pictures, once said in a memorial day address:

"This day is sacred to our heroes dead. Upon their tombs we have lovingly laid the wealth of spring. This is a day for memory and tears. A mighty nation bends above its honored graves and pays noble dust the tribute of its love. Gratitude is the fairest flower that sheds its perfume in the heart. Today we tell the history of our country's life, recount the lofty deeds of vanished years, the toil and suffering, the defeats and victories of heroic men, of men who made our nation great and free. Today we remember the defeats, the victories, the disasters, the weary marches, the poverty, the hunger, the suffering, the agonies and above all the glories of revolution. We remember all—from Lexington to Valley Forge and from that midnight despair to Yorktown's cloudless day."

A Journalistic Weakness.

About one of the weakest features we know of in journalism, is the persistent criticism of each other by rival newspapers. There are certain papers which invariably contain, editorially, some article which is intended to be either highly sarcastic or utterly pulverizing—aimed at some local or neighboring rival. In some cases it is a one sided contest; the journal which is meant to be annihilated, quietly continues giving its readers new and original matter, accepts the free advertising of the waspish rival with thanks, and continues unflinching on the road of reputable journalism.

There are times, certainly, when it is necessary and proper for one paper to reply to another; all papers, even the best, do it, but it is the one that sings the same old tune week after week, that is as tiresome and silly as anything that can be imagined, and seems to indicate a sort of second-hand quality of journalism, which the better class of readers do not care for.

The editor of a political department who has no ideas except those suggested by what is said in a rival sheet, and who week after week advertises the fact and the rival as well, is much like a third or fourth-class fighter who would derive great pleasure and sweet notoriety in entering the ring against a recognized champion, even though he knew that defeat was sure, and a broken head probable.

In other words, certain newspapers seem so desirous of being quoted, or taken some account of, by other papers, that in order to secure this prize of recognition they attack the object of their covetousness hoping to receive at least a spanking for their pains. This is a method of filling up a paper, which, we think, is practiced too extensively, and is as discreditable as the extent of the practice. Then too, it certainly invites criticism of the originating powers of the person who allows the feature to become habitual, and adds weakness rather than strength to argumentativeness.

Re-assessment the Leading Question.

Next November we elect a new House of Delegates, and Carroll county elects a Senator. The question now uppermost in the minds of the people, and the most important to come before the legislature, is that of a re-assessment of the property in the state. When the assessment under which we are now taxed was made, every kind of real estate was worth more than it is now, and a new assessment would answer a double purpose; it would equalize the valuation of property, and would, or ought to, subject a great deal of property to taxation that is now exempt.

It is claimed, and no doubt with truth, that a large proportion of the personal property all over the country escapes taxation, and people are clamoring for a law that will reach it. Any assessment that fails to do this, is of very little value, for it will lower the amount of the assessment, and certainly raise the rate per cent. Real estate already bears the largest part of the burden of taxation; no man can hide his farm, or his house, from the tax collector, nor can he remove either of them to escape taxation.

There is a very general opinion that mortgages ought to be taxed, and it is surely right that they should be, if any plan can be devised by which the mortgagee can be made to pay tax, at least on the amount he has invested in the property. Many persons say that cannot be done, and advocate a tax on the mortgagor for the full value of the property, and a tax on the mortgagee for the amount of his mortgage; they argue that it will increase the basis of taxation, and make lower taxes for everybody. If the mortgagee can always be made pay this additional tax, it would not be unjust, but it puts additional burden on real estate, and if the mortgagor, who is already taxed to the full value of his property, has to pay it, the situation will be no better than it is now.

It is undoubtedly true that much personal property escapes taxation; notes, bonds, and other securities often escape assessment; the only way to reach them seems to be by making every tax-payer give a list under oath to the tax collector every year. This was one of the provisions of the Hayes bill, which Governor Brown vetoed after the last meeting of the legislature. It is warmly opposed by many business men, and advocated as warmly by most of the country people. The influence of the capitalists in Baltimore seems to have defeated it; their opposition was based on the idea that the government has no right to pry into a man's private business; that such a law would drive away capital &c. &c., but a number of other states, and countries have laws of the same kind, that are a great deal more stringent than any that was ever proposed in Maryland, and they are still prosperous.

It is absolutely necessary that some means should be devised by which large corporations and very wealthy men should be made to bear their fair share of the public burden. The Record hopes that the next legislature may be patriotic enough to consider this question without any partisan spirit, and wise enough to pass a law that will be an improvement on the present law.

Woman's Desire for the Ballot.

A desire for the ballot, which distinguishes what is probably quite a small minority of our feminine population, is motivated by one or other of three considerations, writes the Rev. Charles H. Parkhurst, D. D., in the June Ladies' Home Journal. The ballot is claimed by some because of the mistaken notion that suffrage is a right inherent in personality. Other women are suffragists not because they care anything for the ballot in itself considered, but because possessed of those masculine prepossessions that make them restless at seeing men do anything that they are not themselves allowed to do. Many of this class probably are not so anxious to vote as they are anxious to know that they can vote if they want to. It would be interesting to know how many of such women would be converted from their views if it should seriously be proposed to pass a bill requiring women to vote. Human nature is a peculiar thing, and it certainly will not be ungallant to say that all the peculiarity is not monopolized by the male sex. Probably the particular stripe of suffragists I am commenting on just now would find the virulence of their distemper measurably relieved by having the coveted privilege accorded to them for a time. It would work something as in the case of a jealous child who is cured of his jealousy by being allowed to hold in his own hand a little while the exclusive plaything of the mate it is jealous of. There are, however, in the third place a considerable number of women that are considering with a great deal of honesty and womanly seriousness the question whether the ballot, if put into woman's hands, would not be a means of correcting certain evil conditions in society that could be less easily reached in any other way.

It is very easy to have a pronounced opinion upon the effect which such an extension of the ballot would produce, although the data do not seem as yet to be sufficiently at command to give to such pronounced opinions any particular value. Our uneasy sisters would be making a substantial contribution to the cause they have so closely at heart if they, for instance, would canvass two of the wards in this city, say the Tenth and the Twenty-second, and by the means put themselves in condition to inform the public distinctly and authoritatively just what effect would be produced at our next election by having the privilege of suffrage accorded to the women of those two most important districts.

The Dying Soldier.

(Published by request.)

The sun was sinking in the west, and fell with lingering ray.
Through the branches of a forest, where a wounded soldier lay:
'Neath the shade of the palmetto, 'neath a sultry Southern sky,
Far, far from his New England home, they laid him down to die.

A group was gathered 'round him—his comrades of the fight;
A tear coursed down each man's cheek, as they bade him a last good-night:
One dear friend and companion was kneeling by his side,
And strove to staunch his life-blood, but it was in vain he tried.

He thought upon the future, but his thoughts were all in vain;
While from his loved companions the tears flowed like rain.
'Comrades,' spoke the dying soldier, 'comrades, weep no more for me,
I am crossing the dark river, beyond where all lie free.

'Come gather 'round me, comrades, I have something I would say;
I have a story I would tell ere my life-blood ebb away:
Far away in loved New England, in that dear old Pine Tree State,
There is one who, for my coming, with a saddened heart will wait.

A fair young girl, my sister, my joy, and only pride,
My love and care from boyhood, for I've none on earth beside.
My mother she is sleeping beneath the churchyard sod,
And 'tis many, many years since her spirit went to God.

My father too is sleeping beneath the deep blue sea,
And I have no relations—there is only Nell and me;
But comrades, I am dying, I shall never see her more,
She will vainly wait my coming at our little cottage door.

When our country was in danger, and called for volunteers,
She threw her arms around my neck and bursting into tears,
Saying, 'Go, my loving brother, drive the traitors from our shore,
My heart, it needs your presence, but our country needs you more.

Then go, my dearest brother, I cannot bid you stay;
But from our dear old homestead I will wait you, day by day.
But comrades, I am dying, she will never see me more,
She will vainly wait my coming at our little cottage door.

Come gather closer, comrades, listen to my dying prayer,
Who will be to her a brother, shield her with a brother's care?
The soldiers spoke together, like one voice it seemed to fall:
'We will be to heras brothers, and protect her one and all.'

A shade of reddish brightness o'er his marble visage spread,
He gave one convulsive shudder, and the soldier-boy was dead.
By the banks of the Potomac they have laid him down to rest,
With his knapsack for a pillow, and his rifle on his breast.

A Remarkable Cure of Rheumatism

WESTMINSTER, Cal., March 21, 1894.—Some time ago, on awakening one morning, I found that I had rheumatism in my knee so badly that, as I remarked to my wife, it would be impossible for me to attend to business that day. Remembering that I had some of Chamberlain's Pain Balm in my store I sent for a bottle, and rubbed the afflicted parts thoroughly with it, according to directions, and within an hour I was completely relieved. One application had done the business. It is the best treatment on the market, and I sell it under a positive guarantee. R. T. HARRIS, For sale by R. S. McKinney, druggist, Taneytown, Md.

$100 Reward $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one cured disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting on the blood and on the mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address, F. J. THE BALLET SKIRT.

It is a Fussy Frilled Petticoat and May Be Adapted to Ordinary Wear.

The fussy frilled petticoat known as the ballet skirt is now worn by fashionable women under evening and dance gowns, but nearly reaching the ground. First, there is a close fitting yoke of muslin, which is cut in four parts and reaches well below the average corset and very much below the short corset worn for skirt dancings. On to this yoke is set in full gathers or flat plaits a wide skirt of the muslin, edged with a frill of lace put on slightly full. This skirt reaches from the yoke to the full depth required, and over it at the B line another skirt is simulated by a deep frill, also edged lace, and put on so that the bottom edge is half an inch above the edge of the under lace, thus giving an extra full and ample effect. When worn, so wide is this skirt that it gives the appearance of a multitude of lace petticoats, and the dancer usually catches the center with a safety pin or a few stitches about 10 or 12 inches below the yoke and practically converts it into a divided skirt. These ballet skirts are also made for ordinary wear in dark silk.

A Distinguished Woman Oculist.

Dr. Charlotte Ellaby, ophthalmic surgeon to the London New Hospital For Women, Euston road, has won no small personal distinction by her late achievement. At the request of H. H. the Jam Sahib of Jammagar, Dr. Ellaby went lately to India in order to operate upon the maharani for cataract. Both eyes were operated upon in turn, and both operations were completely successful. A correspondent in India says: "The maharani is naturally delighted at recovering her sight, and her joy is shared by all her household, as well as by the English women who have the pleasure of the acquaintance of one of the most charming of the Rajput ladies, beloved for her genial manners and esteemed for her unaffected and sincere piety." Dr. Ellaby's services were retained at the suggestion of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. McClelland, who, for long years resident in Jammagar (Mr. McClelland being state engineer there), are the tried and trusted friends to whom his highness the Jam Sahib turns when trouble invades his household. Dr. Charlotte Ellaby has returned to England.—London.

Make Over Their Dresses.

There are often good fashions growing out of national disasters. At the time of the French revolution the style of wearing the hair high on the head was begun and was designated as "a la guillotine." Apropos of this the fashion of the present has entirely done away with the idea that one must appear in a fresh toilet every time one goes to a function of any sort. Mrs. Cleveland and the ladies of the cabinet set the admirable example last winter of wearing the same gown as often as the humor dictated. At the White House receptions Mrs. Olney, Mrs. Carlisle and indeed all of the cabinet ladies have worn the same gown more than once and have even resuscitated the toilets of last year and subjected them to some brightening up and alteration, which, though perhaps not apparent to the ordinary observer, has not escaped the eye of those who know the gowns and the women well. It is now quite allowable for a society writer to state that "Mrs. Blankenbink wore her most becoming gown" and to describe the family toilet. And why not?—Washington Capital.

Julia Ward Howe.

Mrs. Julia Ward Howe has been writing poetry for nearly 60 years. Although this remarkable woman has passed her seventy-fifth year, she has the presence, the demeanor, the expression, the voice and the step of 50. She has a handsome face, is in vigorous health, gives heed to the art of dress and is far more lively than are most women at her time of life. She is the mother besides of Mrs. Richards, Mrs. Maria Howe Elliott and the late Mrs. Julia Annagons, each of whom is well known in the world of letters. Mrs. Howe is also the sister of Marion Crawford's mother—quite a galaxy of talent to be related to by immediate ties of blood, not to mention the late Sam Ward, epicure, and Beau Ward McClelland. It was of Mrs. Howe, by the way, that Oliver Wendell Holmes happily remarked on her seventieth birthday, "She is 70 years young."

"He is the best general," the Great Duke said, "who makes the fewest mistakes." How many persons are poor generals where the battle is a question of their own health and strength. One of the best points of good generalship is to know the value of Ramon's Tonic Liver Pills, the greatest for the nervous and disordered stomach. They cost but 25 cents a box, and a sample dose will be given you free by R. S. McKinney, druggist. The tiny Pellets which accompany them are to build up the system and restore the strength.

The Scent Bottle Fad.

Mrs. Cleveland has given a new impetus to the scent bottle fever. She carries with her at all her receptions the silver and crystal scent bottle that was given her in Philadelphia when she went to christen the big warship. It is set with a beautiful diamond of the purest water and is a thing of beauty. Now it is quite the thing to carry one of the tiny bottles shoved up the palm of the glove.—Philadelphia Times.

A Woman Will Do It.

Probably the most conspicuous instance in this country where a woman has been selected as the sculptor of a figure of heroic size is that of the choosing of Mrs. Theodore Ruggles-Kitsen to make for the city of Providence a bronze statue 7 feet 6 inches high. The statue is to perpetuate the form and face of Essek Hopkins, the first admiral of the American navy and a native of Rhode Island.

Having used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in my family and found it to be a first class article, I take pleasure in recommending it to my friends. J. V. FOSTER, Westport, Cal. For sale by R. S. McKinney, druggist, Taneytown, Md.

That Headache!

You have sick headache occasionally, with sour stomach and biliousness. This all comes from a sluggish action of the liver.

There are three things you can do. You can take liver pills which cleanse the whole system but leave you weakened and exhausted. Or you can consult a physician, which is a good but expensive plan. Now there is a third and better course. You can have the physician's advice and his remedies both for 25c.

Ask your druggist for Ramon's Tonic Liver Pills. He will give you two boxes of medicine. These boxes contain exactly what every leading doctor prescribes. You first take a Ramon's Pill which opens the bowels easily and naturally, without violence. You then take the Ramon's Tonic Pellets daily for a fortnight.

They contain a powerful Tonic and Blood Purifier, which makes a new creature of you. At the same time they keep the bowels mildly active. Try it once.

At all dealers, or mail, for 25c., 5 boxes $1.00
