Animals as Weather Prophets.

The cat sneezes at the approach of rain. The wind will blow from the north the cat faces when she washes her face. It is a sign of rain if the cat washes her head behind the ear.

The dog grows sleepy and dull on the approach of rain. Sometimes dogs chew grass before rain. If the dog digs a deep hole in the ground, or howls when one leaves the house, or refuses meat it indicates rain.

Swine become very restless before rain, and by their snorting and incessant movement predict that rain is close at hand. Pigs often run with straws and sticks in their mouth before cold weather.

Ducks foretell rain by quacking without any apparent cause. Cows usually, before cold and stormy weather, fail in giving their milk.

In winter, if they bellow in the evening, it will show before morning, and when a cow shakes her foot there is bad weather behind her. Bats utter a peculiar cry before rain.

The slug is the best of barometers. At the approach of rain the slug leaves his hole, and will climb trees or walls, so that he may get the full benefit of the shower.

Sheep foretell clear weather by ascending the hills and scattering in many directions; but if snow is coming they will bleat and seek a place of shelter.

Spiders usually live alone or in pairs, but they have been observed to collect on a wall or bank before a rain storm.

When a swan flies against the wind, rain will follow shortly. Rooks fly in a most erratic fashion before a rain storm, and pigeons return to their cotes when a storm is advancing.

The frog croaks more loudly and incessantly just before rain than at any other time. Another sign of rain is the toad's leaving his hole in the daytime.

Usually the toad is an insect eater, and seems well aware that just before a rain storm is the best time for him to obtain his prey.

The farmers look for a change in the weather when the barnyard fowls roll in the dust. Camels, in their journeys across the desert regions of Northern Africa and Arabia, never fail to warn their drivers of the approach of the fatal sand storm.

Their restless, uneasy gait and suspicious sniffing proclaim the approaching danger long before the duller senses of their masters detect anything.

Water for Pigs.

Pigs require a large amount of water. They need it for drink; their hair being thin and short, they require a great quantity of it to keep their skins wet and to counteract the heat of the sun. Pigs are fond of slops of all kinds, but slops will not take the place of clean pure water.

The right place, if it can be conveniently done, is to let the pigs have the run of a woods-lot where there is a stream of water; then give, in addition, a generous feed of slop night and morning.

The slop should be slightly sour, but it should not be rancid. Pigs that are kept up at the barn require very close attention, especially during such hot weather as we are now having.

They should be cleaned out once a week. Have the inside of pen whitewashed. If there is a board floor, wet it down every few days. Then strew over it some wood ashes.

The pigs should have a little coal oil poured down the spine of each one; the oil will kill the lice. After the pigs have had their slops, then pour in a little fresh water for them to drink between meals.

Pigs that are shut up in pens should have sods small cabbage, the specked tomatoes and any other vegetable matter that can be spared. Corn fodder or clover is one of the best green feeds.

A country newspaper publisher sizes up the "span of life," as follows: "A child is born, the doctor in attendance gets a $10 fee; the editor notes it and gets 0; it is christened and the minister gets $5, and the editor writes it up and gets 0; it marries and the minister gets another $10; the editor gets a piece of cake or 000.

"In the course of time it dies; the doctor gets from $5 to $100 and the minister perhaps gets another $5, the undertaker $25 to $50; the editor prints a notice of death and an obituary two columns long, and a set of resolutions of some lodge or organization to which the deceased belonged and receives 0000, and then has the privilege of running a free card of thanks and a lot of poetry besides."

—Ez. A London writer estimates that the amount of British capital invested outside of Great Britain is fully $15,000,000,000.

The most notable festival at Athens was in honor of Minerva. All classes of citizens on this day marched in procession; the oldest went first, then the young men, the children, the young women, the matrons and the people of the lower orders.

When you have a "touch of liver" don't take one of the ordinary liver pills, of which there are a dozen kinds in every drug store, but ask R. S. McKinney, your druggist, especially for Ramon's Tonic Liver Pills and Pellets. He will give you two medicines, one of which cleans out the system and removes all the secreted bile, while the other purifies the blood, restores strength, builds up the appetite and makes you feel like a new person. Only 25 cents for both. Sample dose free.

Dangers in Flannels.

A physician who has given much thought to the hygiene of clothing has come to the conclusion that many deaths are caused by heavy woolen underclothing.

It can be proved that flannels are often the cause of severe colds. To have a cold is to be in a diseased condition, and that means a loss of vitality and a shortening of life. It may even mean sudden death.

One can easily demonstrate in one's own person on a small scale the ill effects of excessive flannels. Bind your hand in thick woolen bandages and leave it in that condition for a night. In the morning you will find it damp and flabby, the pores all open. It is in the most susceptible condition for catching cold. If the whole body were brought to the same state the result of exposure to cold air would inevitably be disastrous.

That the whole body is often brought to a nearly similar condition is certain. The majority of people during the winter encase themselves in heavy, tight woolen or flannel garments. These provoke perspiration and do not absorb it. The result is that the wearer's skin is hot, damp and highly susceptible to the inflammatory effects of cold. A slightly lowered temperature can hardly fail to bring on a cold.

Heavy woolen underclothing is able to do all the more harm because it has the weight of ancient domestic tradition. Few people dare to be wiser than their grandmothers. Woolen underclothing, according to modern experience, should be as light as is consistent with comfort. There are many persons who go through the winter healthily in cotton underwear, and these are probably the most fortunate class of the population. But the warmth preserving qualities of wool are not to be ignored.

One of its great properties is that it is a bad conductor of heat. The heat of the body, therefore, is not given out by it. It also does not absorb perspiration freely. While it is agreeable not to have your underclothing glued to your skin, it is injurious to carry a deposit of moisture which may become cold and do harm in all parts of the body.

The object, therefore, should be to wear underclothing which does not cause excessive perspiration. It should be light and loose. Wool is apparently the best material for the majority of people.

The subject of colds receive too little attention. Many people are resigned to the perpetual possession of them. They should be regarded as disease, dangerous, offensive and unclean. Patent medicine advertisements print eloquent descriptions of their final effects.

These remarks are applicable to those who have neglected themselves too long, and are fit subjects for the hospital or prolonged medical treatment. A wise attention to clothing and the general health is more valuable than all remedies and treatment. Colds are probably the chief cause of illness and disease among human beings. They give little trouble to animals, who wear no clothing.

Arguing from these facts, some enthusiasts would say that the less clothing you wear and the more you expose yourself the healthier you will be.

But a state of civilization of considerable antiquity has made it necessary for man to preserve his natural heat by artificial means. It is not permissible to abandon clothing entirely in this country. Nor is it advisable to wear as little as the public authorities will permit during an American winter.

Neither warm clothing nor artificial heat will satisfactorily replace the natural heat of the body. To preserve this should be the first aim of all who wish to avoid colds. Good food, fresh air and exercise are obviously the principal means.

In the care of the body the skin should take an important place. As far as colds are concerned it is all important, because they rarely occur unless the skin is in a certain condition.

When the pores of the skin are opened the cold air enters where it is not wanted and causes an inflammation. In cold weather the pores should be closed.

Cold water is an excellent vehicle for closing the pores. The weight of experience seems to prove that it is better to use warm water first. Much depends on the individual constitution.

The water cleanses and softens the skin and relieves the body of superfluous moisture, the frequent source of colds. Following this, the cold water will close the pores and put the skin in a sound, normal condition. No one should stay in cold water long enough to feel discomfort.—New York World.

In the British army one soldier in seven is now under twenty years of age. This of course, includes all recruits and band boys.

One night when Mr. Isaac Reese was stopping with me, says M. F. Hatch, a prominent merchant of Quartermaster, Washington, I heard him groaning. On going to his room I found him suffering from cramp colic. He was in such agony I feared he would die. I hastily gave him a dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. He was soon relieved and the first words he uttered were, "what was that stuff you gave me?" I informed him. A few days ago we were talking about this attack and he said he was never without that remedy now. I have used it in my family for several years. I know its worth and do not hesitate to recommend it to my friends and customers. For sale by R. S. McKinney, Taneytown, Md.

Famous Words.

One of the greatest physicians in America said to a lady patient the other day: "If you can keep your bowels active you will never need my services."

Constipation is one of the most dangerous complaints. It creates a disordered liver, and then follow sick-headaches, biliousness, loss of appetite, etc. A physician would first prescribe a Ramon's Tonic Liver Pill to open the bowels and clean out all the poisonous bile. He would then give you Ramon's Tonic Pellets for purifying the blood, stimulating the appetite, and strengthening the system.

HISTORY OF LINWOOD.

BY J. P. GARNER, 1895. PART I.

Progress! Improvement! These are the watchwords of life. "Grapple them to thy soul with hoops of steel."

And all the spheres that roll wrapped by her spirit in their robes of light. "Is forward!"

The Indian made no mark upon him, and though no other exterminating power had been brought to bear upon him, he must ultimately have perished by his own hand.

The paleface came into the midst of this chaos. He could not endure such a state of primitiveness, but at once began to cut down the trees, cultivate the soil, and build roads—sure signs of progress.

The second tract being part of "The Resurvey on the Deep" and now in the possession of Mr. John Q. Senseney, contains the oldest house still standing in the immediate vicinity of Linwood.

Forty years will be passed over in silence. It is the hush of the morning before the sun rises forth in his glory. The years 1881 and 1882 are memorable ones in the history of this community.

The late Reuben Haines, then a man prominent in the affairs of the country, at once took hold of the project, became a director in the company and for services rendered was granted the privilege of a building lot.

Wm. Hieshew was the next owner who held it less than a month. Josiah Englar, then doing business in Cumberland, Md., seeing in the location an excellent opening, became purchaser, and moved down in 1866, his brother Jonas, in the mean time taking charge of affairs.

On Oct. 15th, 1889, a people's meeting was held, the object of which was to hear the report of the soliciting committee and their deliberations on the same.

On Nov. 6th, the solicitors gave the following encouraging report of the amount subscribed:

HISTORY OF HARNEY.

BY J. W. RECK, 1895. PART VI.

THE UNITED BROTHERS CHURCH. The history of the U. B. Church in this place dates back to the year 1866, a little more than a quarter of a century ago.

Piney Creek School House was then secured as a place to hold meetings, and it was here that the first class was organized, with Rev. J. C. Weidner, pastor, Jacob Shaffer, class leader, and Peter Forsythe, steward.

The church was rebuilt and enlarged in 1889, at a cost of $1000. It being the only church here until 1890, the congregations were always large.

The following pastors have served the church since 1867: Revs. H. A. Slichter, one year; J. H. Young, two years; J. T. Shaffer, one year; and T. Wagner, who is the present pastor and serving his second year.

ST. PAUL'S LUTHERAN CHURCH. The committee appointed by the Lutheran church council of Mt. Joy, to consider the propriety of building a Lutheran church at Harney, met July 15th, 1889.

On July 19th, the committee met to hear the report of Shriver and Hesson about the lots. Mr. Shriver reported that a lot 100 feet front and 200 feet deep, could be purchased from Mr. George Fream for $150.00.

On Oct. 15th, 1889, a people's meeting was held, the object of which was to hear the report of the soliciting committee and their deliberations on the same.

On Nov. 6th, the solicitors gave the following encouraging report of the amount subscribed:

William Lightner, $1131.00. Abraham Waybright, 455.00. J. L. Hesson, 495.00.

Making a total of $2081.00. The report was very satisfactory to all. Dr. J. C. Bush then made the motion "that we proceed to build a Lutheran church at Harney, and that every member of the church be chairman ex-officio, be appointed a building committee to erect the church, who shall have the power to select a chairman, and elect a sub-committee of three to oversee the erection of said church, in accordance with the purposes and wishes of the committee as a whole, and that this committee of three shall exercise no power not delegated to it by the committee of eleven, and that all business be performed strictly according to parliamentary rules."

Orphan's Court Proceedings.

MONDAY August, 26th, 1895.—John C. Kroening, executor of Elizabeth Kroening, deceased, returned inventory of goods and chattels inventory of money and received order to notify creditors.

The last will and testament of John Berwager, deceased, admitted to probate and letters testamentary granted to Sophia Berwager.

Thomas L. W. Condon, administrator of Richard U. Condon, deceased, returned list sales of goods and chattels.

Put off at the Right Place.

He may have been a hayseed. He looked like it; but way down deep in his eyes the second time you looked you seemed to notice a suspicion of real "slickness" that escaped you at first.

"He held a ticket to Tecumseh, says the Topeka State Journal, when he got on train at Topeka, and he gave it up promptly to the conductor on demand."

When the conductor came through the train after it had left Tecumseh, he was surprised to see the same man sitting complacently in the same seat.

"Ticket," said the conductor. "Haven't got any," said the man. "Then you'll have to pay," said the conductor.

"What, right out here in the country?" asked the man. "Right out her in the country," replied the conductor.

"Come," said the conductor, "I can't fool with you all day. 'Must pay or get off, eh?' asked the farmer.

"I said that," replied the man with the punch. There was another moment's silence. The farmer took another look out of the window.

The waste heat in the blacksmith's forge is now utilized in pumping the belts. A small water tube boiler sits just over the firebox, and an engine of the simplest form attends to driving the bellows.

A VALUABLE FIND. After years of study and labor, there has at last been discovered a sure and never-failing remedy. It has been tested on patients, who have despaired of ever being cured, the results have been, in every case, wonderful.

Mr. C. G. Strong, principal of the public schools at Anderson, Cal., says: "I have used Chamberlain's Pain Balm and have found it an excellent remedy for lameness and slight wounds."
