

THE RECORD.

Vol. 2, No. 10.

TANEYTOWN, MARYLAND, SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 7, 1895.

$1.00 Per Year.

LOCALS AND PERSONALS.

Jerry J. Garner of Linwood, is reported seriously ill with typhoid fever.

Mr. Matt Galt has been awarded a free scholarship in the State Agricultural College.

Carroll County schools will open on Monday. The Frederick county school opened on last Monday.

Miss Vesta Myers, of Gettysburg, Pa., who has been visiting friends in this place, returned home on Monday.

Robert C. Thomson and family will return to Marietta, Pa. Mrs. Thomson has a sale of personal effects on Saturday.

Mr. Wilson Crouse, the Middleburg elder manufacturer, made over 3000 gallons on Wednesday, and had 48 customers.

The editorial on "Registering and Voting" should be carefully read. It may contain information not generally known.

Harry M. Harbaugh and family removed to Baltimore, last Saturday evening. The vacated building will be occupied by Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Miller.

The Linwood Union Sabbath school will hold their annual basket picnic in the grove at Winter's church all day on Saturday, September 21st.

Levi D. Reid will attend the National Convention of the P. O. S. of A. as delegate from Maryland, which meets in Indianapolis, Indiana, on the 17th-19th.

Mr. F. H. Elliot of York Springs, Pa., and daughters Bessie and Annie, were in town on a visit during the week. Miss Annie will teach Martin's school again.

The Undine Milling Co., the main office of which is in Westminster, has completed a large elevator at Williamsport, Md., which has a storage capacity of 20,000 bushels.

Mr. Harry B. Buffington has left for West Chester, N. Y., where he expects to secure employment. Harry is bright and active, and should not be waiting long for a situation.

Mr. John E. Shivers writes us that he has changed his address to Alsey, Illinois, and, as he says he wants to keep posted on occurrences in "old Carroll," the RECORD is a necessity for him.

Mrs. Dr. C. W. Weaver, who has been at the Homeopathic Hospital in Baltimore, for the past two weeks, returned home on Wednesday evening, much benefited by her stay at that place.

The eclipse of the moon on Tuesday night, was observed by a very few people in this place. It is presumed that the "man in the moon" stole a few kisses from his girl while nobody was looking.

Mr. D. W. Garner of this place, will exhibit at the Hanover Fair, three different hand Cream Separators, and an assortment of dairy appliances generally. This exhibit will likely be of great interest to farmers.

After the history of Linwood, we will produce that of Middleburg. As has been previously noted, it has been prepared for us by James H. Koons, and will take in surrounding points. Keep this in mind for a future pleasure.

The Lutheran congregation will soon have a hitching ground owned by the church. A lot of ground back of the church has been purchased, and will be properly graded for the purpose, and hitching posts planted. It may be that later on, sleds will be procured for the protection of horses in inclement weather.

Mr. E. M. Dutters of Middleburg, presented the editor with several delicious cantaloupes, the finest we have had this season. We will have them for sale in a few weeks. Miss Ollie Fuss also succeeded in delivering a monster head of cabbage, which was much appreciated; in size it surpassed even the abnormal editorial "cabbage head."

Subscribers to N. Y. World or Tribune, should not be impatient if they do not have their subscriptions begin the same week the money is paid. We do not send in names singly, but prefer to let several accumulate, and fore making a remittance. In order to be sure of not missing any of the issues, it would be well to subscribe several weeks in advance of expiration of present subscription.

The Y. W. C. T. U. will open the public reading room in Mr. Charles Shriver's new room over the store on Monday evening at 8 o'clock. It will be a formal opening with appropriate exercises consisting of an address or two in addition to singing, music, etc. The program is being arranged and a pleasant and profitable time can be expected. The public, ladies and gentlemen, are cordially invited to attend. A collection will be taken up.

The registrars will sit in Carroll county on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, September 16th, 17th, and 18th, from 8 a. m. until 5 p. m. each day for the purpose of registering voters and issuing transfers. They will also sit Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, October 7th, 8th, 9th, and 10th, for registering and transferring, and on Monday October 21st, for revision of the lists, and hearing applications for reinstatement.

Many people wonder why the RECORD does not publish the time table of the Pennsylvania Railroad. The reason is, because the company is not making any new advertising contracts, and declines to accept the same terms on which we publish the Western Maryland schedule. As it is not the intention of the RECORD to do advertising absolutely free, the people who patronize the railroad which runs through this place, will simply have to keep posted on the time of trains, through other means.

NOTES HERE AND THERE.

A colored man dislocated his jaw while praying at a bush-meeting near Catonsville last Sunday. He has been going a little more smoothly since this mishap.

On Thursday night of last week, lightning struck and destroyed the barns of John Stover, two miles south of Woodsboro, and of Dr. Norwood, near Liberty, tenanted by Mr. Etzler. The same night a barn was burned near Waynesboro, Pa.

George Carndo, the umbrella mender, who was caught in the act of assaulting the little daughter of Edward Florence, near Emmitsburg, on the 21st, was tried before a jury in Frederick county court, found guilty, and sentenced to ten years in the penitentiary.

The following county fairs will be held in this state, on dates given: Baltimore Picnic Sept. 17-20; Frederick Oct. 8-12; Washington Hagerstown Oct. 15-18; Prince Geo. Marlboro' Aug. 27-30; Cecil Elkton Sept. 10-13; Harford Belair Oct. 8-11.

The Hagerstown Fair Association has secured Kidd's Wild West Show for the coming fair. They have engaged so far two bands, the Martinsburg City Band and the Columbia Band, and the fair board are making an effort to secure the Ada Rehan silver statue for an exhibit.

Mrs. Margaret Neill, wife of Dr. Wm. H. Purnell, president of the New Windsor College, died on Thursday morning, at the college, of sclerosis of the spinal cord, after a lingering illness of ten years. For five years she has been unable to walk, and her suffering, at times, has been intense.

The six richest men in the world, are supposed to be as follows: Li Hung chang, $500,000,000; John D. Rockefeller, $180,000,000; The Duke of Westminster, $100,000,000; Colonel North, $100,000,000; Cornelius Vanderbilt, $100,000,000; Woh Qua, $100,000,000.

In the York County Court last week, the Grand Jury ignored the bill charging Thomas J. and Charles E. Stable of the Gettysburg Compiler with criminal libel.

The costs to be paid by the prosecutor, Ferdinand Rahter. The prosecution grew out of a publication concerning Rahter's connection with the Littleton Savings Institution trouble.

The railroad yards in Hagerstown are crowded with refrigerator cars to be used in shipping peaches to the west. Contracts have been made to transport many thousands of bushels of Washington and Franklin county peaches, in ice cars to Chicago, Indianapolis, Columbus, Cincinnati and St. Louis. The freight on a car of peaches from Hagerstown to Chicago is $150. Refrigeration is $75 extra.—Waynesboro Gazette.

Dr. James A. Steuart, secretary of the State Board of Health, in connection with local health officer, Dr. T. W. Simmons, and other physicians of Hagerstown, Md., have recommended that the city authorities order the removal of all hog pens and slaughter houses from the city. Dr. Steuart said the city refused to act on the removal of the nuisance, that the county commissioners who have jurisdiction over the city as well as the county should take measures to abate it.

The Brunswick Herald says: "Water works under municipal control, is what this town needs and it will never amount to much until it gets it. Wells, cisterns and spring branches, which are liable to go dry at any day, are all very well for villages, but town that is moving city-ward as fast as our town and one that looks forward to greater business activity must be equipped with this greatest of modern city requisites—a good water system."

Littlestown's sensational cases occupied the time of the Grand Jury at Gettysburg about a day and a half. Over twenty witnesses were heard before a conclusion was reached. The result was true bills against all parties concerned: Augustus Mehling, sodomy; Henry J. Brady, the prosecutor, Hugh C. Hinkle, Esq., his attorney, and Wm. Yount, the Justice of the Peace, before whom the case was originally settled, for conspiracy in a violation of the law.

The trial promises to be the most remarkable and sensational that ever took place in the Adams County courts.—Hanover Herald.

It is an interesting bit of history to know that the first inventor of the wheat reaper was a native of Howard county. His name is Owen Dorsey, and he is the father of Mr. Edmund Dorsey, the present Republican candidate for county commissioner in Howard county. The venerable inventor is now over ninety years of age, and is at present living with his daughter in Baltimore city. For many years the useful farming implement was used in many sections of this and adjoining states, and became discarded after the advent of the self-binder. The old factory at which the machine was manufactured is at Gary, in the Fourth district, now owned by the inventor's son, Mr. Edmund Dorsey.

The Maryland weather crop bulletin issued Sept. 2nd, says of northern central Maryland: "Plowing for fall seeding is well advanced, considering the unfavorable conditions which have prevailed. Corn is being out in some places. The showers came too late to be of benefit, except to the late crop, which shows some improvement. The yield will fall far short of early anticipations, on account of the August drought. A very heavy yield of oats is reported. Farmers are busy gathering cloverseed with a promise of fair returns. Potatoes are yielding well. Tomatoes are late in ripening and they will be a light crop. Buckwheat is fair. Pasture is fair in some places and short in others. Turkeys are improving. Fruit is abundant; apples, in particular, are plentiful."

DISTINGUISHED GUESTS

at H. M. Clabaugh's.

Seldom, if ever, has it occurred, that so large a number of political celebrities have been in Taneytown at one time, as the party of invited guests at the beautiful home of Harry M. Clabaugh on last Saturday evening, represented. As announced in our last issue, the party was as follows: Hon. Lloyd Lowndes, republican candidate for Governor, United States District Judge, Hon. Louis E. McComas; Norman B. Scott, republican leader of the Maryland House; congressman, George L. Wellington, of the sixth district, General Felix Adams, publisher of the Baltimore American, and Mr. George R. Galt, Jr., Mr. Clabaugh's Baltimore law partner.

The gentlemen arrived in carriages from Bruceville about 6 p. m., and were received at their destination by Mrs. and Miss Clabaugh, and Mrs. Burrell, who bade them welcome. The drive across the country was very pleasant, and was one of the events of an outing, which combined rest and relaxation with the most agreeable of social features. At night, after the adjournment of the Republican Club, several hundred citizens of the district, headed by the Taneytown band, gave the visitors a rousing serenade. While the visit and meeting of these gentlemen was purely social, and without political significance or design, speeches of course, could not help but follow this outpouring of the people. General Agnus, and Messrs Lowndes, Clabaugh, Wellington, Galt, and Scott, delivered brief but ringing addresses touching the issues of the state campaign.

Mr. Lowndes sounded the key note which was followed by all; that the coming contest, was not so much a fight between the two parties, as it was a contest for good government. After the speeches, a general hand-shaking was in order, and then, after having apparently spent a very enjoyable evening the crowd dispersed, after giving three rousing cheers for the republican candidates.

Sunday's American contained a condensed stenographic report of the addresses, a reporter being on hand for that purpose, General Agnus presiding correctly that such a collection of attractions would not fail to bring out an appreciative and demonstrative audience, and to give a brief notice. Had the event been known several days beforehand, an immense crowd would have been in attendance.

The visitors with the exception of Mr. Wellington, who left on Sunday, remained till Monday, and expressed themselves as being greatly gratified by their visit. Judge McComas met a number of his old friends, and was urged to make a speech, but declined, saying that he was out of practice, and even though he might add a few remarks on the occasion, of a non-political character, yet it would likely be in aid of some other party.

County Lutheran History

A book of decided interest and value to the Lutherans of Carroll county, is the History of Grace Evangelical Lutheran church, Westminster, published by Mr. Edwin J. Lawyer. The work is not wholly a history of that church, but contains satisfactory sketches of every congregation in the county, as well as half tone engravings of the different pastors, churches and parsonages.

Dr. Morris, says of the work: "I consider it the most complete of its kind ever published in our church or any other. Nothing in our communion approaches it in fullness of detail, richness of illustration and elegance of mechanical finish." It is a work which should be in every Lutheran family in this district, and the small number of copies, (15) which are for sale, should be taken rapidly. The book contains 323 pages of elegant plate paper and is neatly and durably bound in green cloth. The first volumes are on sale at P. B. Englar's store, at $1.00 each. There will be no opportunity for a second issue, as the edition is almost exhausted, and will not be re-issued, as Mr. Lawyer has lost money on the venture.

M. P. Church Notes.

Miss Porrest, at one time a missionary to Japan, now a teacher in the M. P. church in Maryland district, is expected to address the congregation at Pipe Creek M. P. church near Medford (The Brick) on Sunday, 8th inst. (to-morrow) at 10:30 o'clock a. m.—Possibly Uniontown congregation at night.

Providence permitting, the Quarterly Conference of Pipe Creek Methodist Protestant church will meet at Uniontown on Saturday, 14th inst., at 1 o'clock p. m.

DIED.

Obituaries, poetry and resolutions charged for at the rate of five cents per line. The regular death notices published free of charge.

ZENTZ.—On the 4th, near Gettysburg, Mrs. David Zentz in her 70th year. Interment in Lutheran cemetery, Taneytown, on Friday.

SMITH.—In Union Bridge, on September 3rd, Mrs. William H. Smith, aged about 45 years of age. Interment in Mountain View Cemetery.

FRANKLIN.—At the residence of her daughter, Mrs. William Dern, in Union Bridge, Mrs. Elizabeth Franklin, aged about 86 years. Interment in Haugh's Church Cemetery.

BROWN.—On September 2nd, near Union Mills, Mary, wife of Henry Brown, aged 74 years, 6 months and 34 days.

Day by day we saw her fade,
And slowly sink away,
Yet in our hearts we prayed
That she might linger stay.

Farewell, my husband, I am gone
I've crossed the river now,
Your home is sad and lonely
Without a mother's word.

Farewell, my children, you are left
Without a mother now,
Place all your hope in Christ on earth
And we shall meet in heaven.

By her son, J. H. B.

County Nominations.

The nearness of the county nominating conventions, causes more or less speculation as to who the candidates will be for the numerous offices to be filled by election this fall. Owing to the strong possibility of republican success on the state ticket, the county managers of both parties are anxious that the local ticket should be a strong one, and thus aid the state ticket by bringing out the full party strength.

For the democratic ticket, it is said that Senator Bennett may have the nomination for a third term, in fact, considering the situation on all sides, he will likely be asked to accept the place, whether he wants it or not, an almost unusual occurrence. There are a number of candidates for sheriff; among others, Ephraim Haines, of Medford, Oliver Murray, of Hampstead and Albert Crawford of Franklin; James W. White, of Middleburg, is also supposed to be a possibility.

For State Attorney, the contest is likely between George L. Stockdals and J. Milton Reifender, the latter of whom seems to be in the lead. For the House of Delegates, a considerable number have been spoken of: Basil Oliver, Dr. J. J. Stewart, J. Orlyer Wadlow, Augustus Barnes, Dr. George H. Brown, Albert Jones, John E. Masonheimer and others. It is not improbable that either Uniontown, Taneytown or Middleburg will be given a place on this portion of the ticket. The anti-Gorman faction will insist on having all the legislative nominees.

For Orphan's Court, the atmosphere is not at all clear, in fact there is such a strong feeling against a "slate," that but very few candidates on either side can be picked with certainty before the conventions. John W. Reese will likely be given a renomination for County Treasurer. The chief interest in the convention centers in the fight between the Gorman and the anti-Gorman factions, the latter showing a decided disposition to name the ticket.

On the republican side, no one seems even reasonably sure of nomination, except Dr. J. J. Weaver, of Uniontown, for Senator. For the House of Delegates, Dr. C. Birnie of Taneytown can likely be nominated if he will accept; others mentioned in the nomination are: Samuel W. Swigart, William Wood, Charles J. H. Ganter, Nathan Englar, and Walter R. Rudy. Material for States Attorney, among the republicans, is scarce the only persons available being Joseph B. Brooks and Arthur P. Smith, the latter of whom will likely be nominated.

The chief centre of interest is in the nomination for sheriff. For this office, the party has never before had so many aspirants, and the convention should show a lively contest. Those most prominently spoken of are, Hattie Baker of Baltimore, who has had a nomination by Guy W. Crabb, William D. Slack, Chauncey E. Jerome, David Cover, Alfred T. Buckingham and George Gummel. In addition to the above "there are others," so that this spot in the ticket is sure to be covered.

For County Commissioner, the general entry is for Samuel F. For Orphan's Court, Albert Schaeffer, one of the present judges, will have strong support, while Joel Myers and Marshall G. Shaw are among the prominent possibilities. Thomas Zepp of Westminster, and William Wood, of Uniontown, are mentioned as County Treasurer. As it is generally considered best not to take so many candidates from one section, the nominees for the latter part of both tickets, will likely be influenced somewhat by the selections for the first half.

Orphan's Court Proceedings.

TUESDAY, September 3rd, 1895.—Objections to the final ratification of the sale of the real Estate of Samuel Warehime, deceased, filed.

John C. Frizell, executor of Ann Frizell, deceased, received order to transfer stock.

Elizabeth A. Buckingham and Dennis T. Buckingham, administrators of Dennis Buckingham, deceased, returned list sales of grain, inventory of money and settled first and final account.

A. A. Koons and James H. Koons, administrators of George W. Koons, deceased, settled first and final account.

The last will and testament of John T. Bond, deceased, admitted to probate.

George A. Davis, guardian of Ray, Helen and Elizabeth Magruder, settled third and final account for each.

Letters of administration on the estate of John Vial, deceased, were granted to Mary E. Vial.

Charles H. Repp, executor of William Repp, deceased, received order to sell real estate.

Decision on Telephone Patent.

In the case of the Western Electric Company, against the Viaduct Manufacturing Co., of Baltimore, a decree was signed by Judge Morris in the United States Circuit Court on Tuesday, declaring that patent on an improvement in telephone switches had been infringed. The decree was signed by consent of the parties interested, and the defendant is to pay the plaintiff $300 damages. A perpetual injunction was also signed restraining the defendants from manufacturing or using instruments to which is attached the improvement. The Viaduct Company manufactures the telephones used by our Western Maryland Company, but we have been unable to learn whether this decision will have any relation to the company's use of the phones.

Candidates Invited.

State Senator Pinkney J. Bennett, of Carroll county, called at republican state headquarters on Wednesday and extended an invitation to the republican candidates on the state ticket to visit Westminster October 4th, to attend a tournament and races to be held there the first week in October. It is expected that the republican candidates will accept.

A similar invitation to visit Westminster October 5th, was given to the candidates on the democratic state ticket, and it is expected that they will also accept.—Sun.

COUNTY CORRESPONDENCE.

UNION BRIDGE.

Mr. Harry Leeds of Baltimore, is spending several weeks with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edw. Leeds.

Mr. Pemberton Wood was confined to his bed several days this week with false pleurisy.

Mrs. Elizabeth J. Franklin, an aged lady, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. William Dern, on last Wednesday morning, from neuralgia of the nerves, with which she had been afflicted for 13 years. She was about 86 years of age. Her remains were interred in the grave yard at Haugh's church on Friday morning, Rev. K. O. Spassard of this place, officiated.

Mr. Updoker, of Johns ville, was undertaker.

The death of Mrs. Wm. H. Smith of this place, occurred on last Tuesday morning from a complication of diseases. The deceased was confined to her bed several months previous to her death and suffered a great deal until death relieved her of the pain. The deceased was about 45 years of age, and leaves a husband and five children to mourn their loss.

The funeral took place from the M. P. church on Thursday morning, interment in Mountain View cemetery. Mr. F. J. Shriner was undertaker.

Children's-day exercises will be held in the Reformed church on Sunday evening, September 8th, at 7:30 o'clock. An excellent program has been arranged and a pleasant evening is anticipated. Come and enjoy a pleasant evening with the children.

A special sermon will be preached to the Order of United American Mechanics in this place on next Sunday afternoon, September 8th, at 2 o'clock, in the Lutheran church, by Rev. R. L. Patterson. The public is cordially invited to attend.

The public schools of this place will open on next Monday. Mr. Wm. J. Crabb, will be the principal, assisted by Mr. Geo. A. Robinson of Harford Co., Md.

The Union Bridge Elementary and High School opened on last Monday with 18 scholars. Mr. Edward Reiser is principal and Miss Lella Reiser, assistant.

PORTERS.

Carroll County No. 114, Jr. O. U. A. M., held its first annual picnic in the grove of Mr. Lewis Ohler, near Freedom, on Saturday, August 31st. The picnic was quite well attended considering the threatening aspect of the weather in the forenoon. Address was delivered by Guy W. Steele of the Westminster bar, Elmer Haran and L. H. Heapes, of Baltimore, in which the principles of the order were clearly defined. Music by the Pataspoc cornet band.

Mrs. Hattie Baker of Baltimore who has had a nomination by Guy W. Crabb, William D. Slack, Chauncey E. Jerome, David Cover, Alfred T. Buckingham and George Gummel. In addition to the above "there are others," so that this spot in the ticket is sure to be covered.

Mr. Charles Beck is erecting a substantial wooden bridge over the creek near his place.

Mr. Jacob Jenkins, our merchant and huckster, is very ill of neuralgia in the head and face. He is attended by Dr. E. D. O'Grady, of Winfield.

The following names were nominated: Mrs. Joshua Leatherwood, Mrs. A. H. Wallace and Mrs. Robert E. Barnes; Mrs. Leatherwood, having received the largest number of votes cast, was declared elected.

MAIDENSVILLE.

Three cows and a bull, belonging to Messrs. Jesse and George Winter have recently died with a malady known as Texas fever.

During the thunder storm last Thursday evening, as Messrs Lee Cramer and G. Edward Waltz were returning from New Windsor, their buggy was overturned at a flash of lightning and ran into a post fence, damaging the harness badly, but not injuring the buggy. The occupants of the buggy escaped injury except being badly shook up and much frightened.

Paul J. Tonp, colored, while working in his workshop, knocked down a scythe which was hanging overhead. The scythe struck him on the nose and made an ugly wound.

James Waltz was visiting friends in Westminster on Friday, and was the guest of Geo. W. Englar on Tuesday evening.

The Greenwood's Sabbath school will hold their annual picnic this (Saturday) afternoon. Linwood band will furnish the music.

Misses Lizzie Spielman and Bertha Matthal, of Baltimore, are spending their vacation at the home of Miss Spielman's parents.

HARNEY.

On last Sunday morning, Rev. W. G. Minnick preached his harvest sermon to an attentive congregation. The altar was beautifully decorated with different grains and all the various fruits of the season.

Mrs. Marion McKabe, of Rock Island, Ill., has been visiting friends in this community during the past week. Mrs. McKabe is the only daughter of Rev. Henry Reek, D. D. Her father's death, however, occurred when she was young.

The Select Castle of the A. O. K. of the M. C. of Maryland, will meet in regular session in this place on Tuesday, September 17th, at 10 o'clock. On Monday evening, the 16th, previous to the meeting of the Select Body, a public parade will be given by Constantine Castle of Hanover, Littlestown Castle of Littleton, Carroll Castle of Silver Run, and Harney Castle of this place. The parade will be headed by Harney cornet band, followed by members of the Select Castle and the different subordinate castles. After the parade, several able addresses will be delivered for the benefit of the public; quite a nice time is expected, and the public in general is invited to attend. The parade will take place promptly at 5 o'clock.

SILVER RUN.

Since the heavy showers farmers are busily engaged in plowing for fall seeding.

Last Sunday a week ago, we had Harvest Home services at both churches. The attendance was large and contributions liberal.

Rev. Dr. Dreisbach and family left last week for Easton, Pa., where the Doctor will spend a short vacation. There will be no services during his absence.

Since our last letter we learn that another new house is to be erected in the near future. Mrs. Mikesell of Littlestown, Pa., has purchased the lot lot on church street and intends building a house this fall.

Mr. Frank Dutterer and family expect to move from here on Tuesday next to Sell's Station, Pa., where he will engage in the blacksmith business. Mr. John Zahn will occupy the house as soon as vacated by Mr. Dutterer.

Dr. D. M. Stultz left on Monday for Catonsville, where he will engage in the practice of medicine. He is a brother to Dr. C. A. Stultz of this place.

RIDGE.

Mrs. T. C. Poole and Master Poole Kerr of Hanover, Pa., are visiting J. T. Troxell.

Reindollar and daughter, Mrs. Leah, and Norman Reindollar from Taneytown; Miss Virginia Motter, Mr. William Crapster and brother, Galt Birnie and brother from Taneytown, and many others. At 12 o'clock they were all invited to supper, which consisted of fruit of all kinds, cake and ice cream, which they enjoyed very much. After all were thoroughly refreshed, they returned to the room where dancing was indulged in until four o'clock. Then "Home, Sweet Home" was played and they all returned home, congratulating Mr. Jones on the delightful dance and much pleased with the evening. Music was furnished by Randolph Williams' Frederick orchestra.—Fred's News.

A Novel Exhibition Scheme.

At the recent Expositions in Antwerp and Amsterdam one of the chief attractions was a transportable giant elephant, constructed completely of iron, and 135 feet high. The interior of this colossus is a splendidly furnished and equipped restaurant. Eight hundred persons could conveniently move about in its large saloon, while two selected orchestras furnished music alternately from an apartment in the head of the elephant. The four staircases leading up the main hall are placed in the legs of the animal and thence the visitor can ascend to the top of a three-story tower placed on its back. On each floor there is a finely furnished pavilion, the highest of which furnishes a splendid view of the Exposition grounds. Surrounding the structure in semi-circular form there is a colonnade which is used for a genuine Vienna Cafe and furnished in opulent style.

The success which the enterprise has met at several Expositions on the continent induced its owners to consider the advisability of bringing it to the Baltimore Exposition. The giant elephant will doubtless be there, and if it is, it will be quite a novel attraction.

Lord Dunraven and the cup committee have gotten together on the international races and announced that they will be best three out of five over a nautical 30 mile course off Sandy Hook lights. The races will be sailed Sept. 7 and alternate days, preparatory gun at 10:50, starting at 11.

ENTERED AT TANEYTOWN POSTOFFICE AS SECOND CLASS MATTER

SATURDAY, SEPT. 7th., 1895.

THE SEVERAL candidates on the state tickets, will act in the capacity of attractions at the county fairs this fall, and at the same time, display their talents for "making fence."

A PAPER issued in Baltimore by negroes publishes the names of some of the candidates on the Democratic ticket in Baltimore county and heads the list thus: "Our Baltimore County Nominees." It also gives some of these candidates warm editorial endorsement, and advises the colored people to support them—Balt. Co. Union.

This seems to show that the color line in politics is being obliterated, as it properly should be. A man's color, dress or any peculiarity of feature or person, should not denote the political party to which he belongs.

THE WESTMINSTER Advocate complains that that town has no public hall large enough for first class entertainments, conventions or lectures. Taneytown is, at present, at least, in the same predicament. Worse, in fact, because there is no hall in the place available for public purposes, either small or large. The Advocate would like the Fire Department to erect a new building, with a large hall above. Why should we not have the same arrangement? Of course, we must have a water supply before a Fire Department, but why can't we have both? We want to know?

Registering and Voting.

As the first sitting of the registrars in the counties, begins on Monday, Sept. 16th, and continues on Tuesday and Wednesday, it may be beneficial to voters and those who may be entitled to register and vote, to review briefly a few points in reference to registering and transferring, and the question of residence. Every citizen should exercise his right of suffrage, and no one should, through ignorance of the law, be deprived of that privilege.

All native born or naturalized citizens, not convicted of some crime which would disbar them, who will be 21 years of age by the day of election, and who have resided within the state since Nov. 5th, 1894, are entitled to register and vote. Persons coming to this state from some other state, having resided in the state one year, do not need any transfer, and persons whose last place of registration has been in Baltimore city, may register in the counties without a transfer.

Ordinarily a voter must register in the district in which he lives; therefore, in moving from one county to another, or from one election district to another, if the change in residence is made prior to May 5th, it is necessary to apply to the registrar in his former district, for a transfer, and have his name entered on the registration books of the district to which he has moved. Voters must apply in person for a transfer. Registrars in this county are instructed by counsel to refuse to erase a name and give a transfer on a written order. The law says: "They shall deliver to any person applying for the same, whose name may appear on the registries of voters, &c.," which is construed to mean, personal application.

At the September sitting, the registrars are by law compelled to notify all voters whose names are to be stricken from the books, on account of change of residence, and every person receiving such notice, must, at the October sitting, apply for a certificate setting forth the fact that his name has been erased, with other particulars, and register in his new district, otherwise he will lose his vote. No voter can be stricken from the books at the October sitting, who has not been so notified at the September sitting, and can continue to vote in his old district even though he may be residing outside of it, if his name be found on the books.

Should a voter receiving such notice above mentioned, claim to be entitled to have his name remain on the books, he must appear before the registrar on the days of the regular October sitting, viz: 7th., 8th., 9th., and 10th., or on Monday, October 21st., a day specially named for the purpose, and show cause why his name should not be stricken off. He has a right to appeal from the decision of the registrar, as is stated in the last paragraph of this article. Should the voter not so appear, however, the registrar may proceed to strike off the name under the law. These notices are required to be sent by mail to the registrar, to the person to be stricken off, to the place from which the voter was registered, and to be served by the sheriff of the county upon all such persons as can be found by him.

Ordinarily a person's residence at any particular time, is where he is in the habit of sleeping, and this rule was confirmed by the legislation of 1890, which attempted to reduce the exceptions to this rule to a minimum. Under that legislation, persons who take up their abode outside of the county in which they formerly resided, can only retain their residence and right to vote, by making certain affidavits before the Clerk of the Circuit Court in the counties, and having the affidavits recorded within ten days after they have so removed.

This does not mean that a person who is only temporarily absent, or who may for several months be employed in another state or county, shall lose his residence, but it does mean that any person who moves with his family, or without it, and takes up an actual home in another place, leaving his home in his former place, loses his right to register and vote in that former place, although he may intend to return to said former place in the near or remote future.

If any qualified voter is improperly refused registration, or if any qualified voter being duly registered, is improperly stricken off the books, or if the registrar refuses to strike off the name of any disqualified person, against whom a proper request in writing has been filed, an appeal can be taken to the Circuit Court, provided such appeal is brought on or before the 28th. day of October.

The Cuban Conflict.

The Cuban patriots have gone through the form of naming the chief officials of a provisional government. Gen. Bartolome Masso is designated as provisional president of the republic of Cuba, while Gen. Maximo Gomez is vice president and minister of war. Gen. Antonio Maceo is general-in-chief of the Cuban army, while Senor Gonzalo de Quesada is secretary of foreign relations, with residence in the United States. The Marquis of Santa Lucia is minister of the interior. Dr. Castillo is expected to serve as diplomatic agent of "Free Cuba," at Washington, and Senor Estrada Palma will act as the general representative of the Cuban clubs and Cuban sympathizers in the United States. The choice of various other officials was left to Gen. Masso.

The selection seems to have won the unanimous approval of the Cuban insurgents, but in due time it is expected to submit the choice of the executive government to a vote of the people. Meanwhile, the Spanish government has found itself in constantly increasing difficulties. Gen. Campos has been obliged to call for large bodies of additional troops, and there have been serious riots in Spain through the unwillingness of the army reserves to be subjected to the deadly climate and other perils of the theatre of conflict. Spanish finances are in the most embarrassing condition, and the prospect of success for Campos and his army does not improve.

The sympathy of the American people with the patriots of Cuba grows more pronounced every week, and the popular desire that our government should embrace the first decent excuse for recognizing the belligerent character of the Cubans is very evident. When Congress meets in December, American sentiment will find expression at Washington upon this and several other topics. Many serious observers of the struggle are of opinion that it may soon become the duty of the United States in the name of humanity to remonstrate against Spain's bloody and wicked policy. There are rumors of Republican uprisings in Spain itself; and stranger things may happen than the overthrow of the royal government as a reward for the attempt to exterminate the inhabitants of Cuba.—September Review of Reviews.

Centennial Progress.

From T. D. R.

Mr. Editor:—The work of the Baltimore Exposition, like that of all other great enterprises intended to promote public weal, moves steadily on. During the past week and month many hundreds of names and thousands of dollars have been recorded in the big subscription book, and the Committee on Ways and Means hope soon to reach the $500,000 mark.

When this shall have been accomplished the management will begin in earnest, since it will then have $1,200,000, viz: A gift of $500,000 from the city, $500,000 from the people in the form of subscriptions, and the Hopkins Mansion and Clifton estate, which are valued at $200,000, and which were not included in the estimate of expenditures made by General Manager Brackett at the inception of the enterprise. It is also anticipated that the fence which will surround the Exposition grounds will be erected gratuitously by some advertising firm. This will be the means of saving many thousands of dollars, and, with all of these advantages, it is not incredible that the Baltimore Centennial Exposition will be a great success both financially and otherwise.

Applications for concessions are daily coming in, and the authorities do not hesitate to say that, had it been their purpose to open the gates of the Exposition at the present time instead of '97, every foot of ground could have been disposed of. To exemplify this statement and to show how eager business men generally

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report are for these privileges, it might be expedient to say that no fewer than three persons and firms have already applied for the Oriental and five for the Chinese village. This augurs well for the success of the undertaking, since the manager has estimated the sale of concessions at $1,000,000, and since it will give the authorities an opportunity for choosing what they deem will be most profitable for them, and, at the same time, most pleasing to the people.

While the Exposition will be national and international, it will also be void of all that pertains to politics. This statement has been fully verified during the past two weeks in the passage of the resolutions which were so unanimously adopted by the republican and democratic state conventions. These resolutions appeal to the state for success, and the manner in which they were received is conclusive evidence that the appeal will be conceded. It is anticipated that the state appropriation will be followed by the appropriation of the United States Government.

The Soliciting Committee seem much elated over the achievements thus far attained, and say this has been one of the most successful weeks put in by the Committee in its canvass of the various trades. As the subscription list increases, interest increases, and it is universally admitted that the coming Exposition will be the fairest that shall usher in the greater Baltimore, and give her that distinction which she so justly deserves, being the "Queen of the Chesapeake and the metropolis of the south."

Mrs. S. A. Kell, of Pomona, Cal., had the bad luck to sprain her ankle. "I tried several liniments," she says, "but was not cured until I used Chamberlain's Pain Balm. That remedy cured me and I take pleasure in recommending it and testifying to its efficacy." This medicine is also of great value for rheumatism, lame back, pains in the chest, pleurisy and all deep-seated and muscular pains. For sale by R. S. McKinney, Druggist, Taneytown, Md.

Etiquette for Church Wedding.

For church weddings everything pertains to formality, and the invitation as well as the ceremony is impressive in all details. The names of the parents heading the invitation are now more often written in full, thus insuring a good-looking line at the top of the note. The use of the initials, which are indefinite, is to be discouraged. The "r" and "rs" in "Mr." and "Mrs." are frequently engraved above the line, owing partly to the English custom of so doing and because, when the parents' names are long, more space on the line is gained. With short names the abbreviations are preferable on the line with the other small letters. For the same reason "and" in full is substituted for the abbreviation, although the latter is more often used. The line, "request the honour of your presence," almost invariably appears on a church invitation with "honour" spelled with a "u".

The names of bride and groom are separated by the little word "to" although some consider "and" quite as proper.

The omission of the prefix "Miss" from the daughter's name is customary on an invitation but should never occur when the bride is a sister, cousin or niece of the people issuing the invitations.

If a widow is remarrying she uses the prefix "Mrs." with her Christian name and the sur-name of her deceased husband.

If the bride is an orphan, with no one to issue the invitations for her, the heading reads, "The honour of your presence is requested," etc.

When the bride has more names than one it is customary to use all. The address of a well-known church is generally omitted although it is frequently a convenience for out-of-town friends to know it. Names of churches ending with "s," as Saint-Thomas, are written with an apostrophe s, "'s"—thus, Saint Thomas's.—September Ladies' Home Journal.

Expensive Wall Paper. Register Gales, of the Land Office, tells a story of the most expensive wall paper he ever heard of. It was in a house on College street, Jackson, Tenn. One of the rooms was papered with land grants belonging to one of the volumes of the land grant office for western Tennessee. These papers had been lost since the war, and represented more than $2,000,000 in value. They were carefully detached and preserved for future reference.

Johannesburg, the chief town of the Transvaal gold fields, in south Africa, can show a barber shop and barroom whose walls are covered with gold mine share certificates which had been of great value.

North Bersted, a town of England, has a room in the Rising Sun Inn, the ceiling and walls of which are papered with the stamps of all nations, which, before canceled, had a value of $70,000.

Apart from such eccentricities as those mentioned, the most expensive wall paper is tapestry, some of the older specimens of which are worth thousands of dollars. Only a short time since some magnificent specimens were discovered on the walls of an office in Lisbon, and were sent to the National Museum. They are valued at $85,000, and represent the trial of Marcus Aurelius, Marcus Aurelius rebuking Faustina, and one of his battles. Each had allegories on one side. The letters of the legends are yellow on a brown ground. No sign or mark to show either age or maker can be found, but they are believed to date from the reign of Don Juan V.—1706 to 1750.

How to cool a Cellar. A great mistake is sometimes made in ventilating cellar and milk houses. The object of ventilation is to keep the cellars cool and dry; but this object often fails of being accomplished by a common mistake, and instead, the cellar is both warm and damp. A cool place should never be ventilated, unless the air is cooler than the air within, or at least as cool as that, or a very little warmer. The warmer the air, the more moisture it holds in suspension. Necessarily, the cooler the air, the more the moisture is condensed, and precipitated. When a cool cellar is aired on a warm day, the entering air being in motion appears cool, but as it fills the cellar the cooler air with which it becomes mixed chills it, the moisture is condensed, and dew is deposited on the cold walls and may often be seen running down them in streams. Then the cellar is damp and soon becomes mouldy. To avoid this the windows should only be opened at night, and late—the last thing before retiring. There is no need to fear that the night air is unhealthy—it is as pure as the air of midday, and is really drier. The cool air enters the apartment during the night, and circulates through it. The windows should be closed before sunrise in the morning, and kept closed and shaded through the day. If the air of the cellar is damp, it may be thoroughly dried by placing in a peak of fresh lime in an open box. A peck of lime will absorb about seven pounds, or more than three quarts of water, and in this way a cellar or milk house may soon be dried, even in the hottest weather.

Butter for what it's Worth. One of the reforms demanded in the dairy sections of the United States is in the method of buying butter at the country and village stores, the paying all-one-price for it, and giving store pay for it. In the first place, where this promiscuous buying is practised an average must be struck somewhere, and so buying prices are fixed near the value of the poorest qualities offered and this is made the one-price standard for all the rest, gauging the value of the finest at less than half its market worth. As it is in the central counties of Ohio, and to some extent in the creamery region of the Western Reserve, the corner store pays only 8 to 10 cents for dairy butter, while those who have learned how to make fine butter sell it in a butter market on its merits and are at this date getting 18 cents cash for their offerings. This is simply a result of a "know how" and the avoidance of the barter store; but so long as people will not try to improve their methods, and hold on to primitive methods of selling, there is little chance for reform. To this end I think that the butter buyers should set the pace in this reform at the start. Every one of them knows that there is little or no money in the butter trade as they now allow it to drift on. The man in the great butter markets has been praying, for 10 these years, for reform at the country end of the line, so that the great mass of horrible stuff called butter could be relegated to its rightful place in the butter trade.

The trouble now largely lies in the fact that the merchants stand in fear of each other, if there are two or more of them in a village, from the fear that if they try to buy butter and pay by the quality test, their customers will leave them, and the single country merchant fears the "tongue" of the seller if he intimates that the butter before him is not the finest he ever saw. The pay is low, and that in trade, and a 40 per cent profit on goods over and above what it would be if the whole transaction was scaled down to a cash basis on both sides.

It would seem that this matter could be bettered if a clearing house system could be instituted in each village and country town, something like this: All the stores in a Western town have put the butter department of their trade into the hands of one buyer, who has a separate place and buys the butter for this syndicate. Butter is bought for what it is worth in cash, and is paid for in money or a due bill on any store the seller may designate. This makes the merchant independent of "obligation" and puts the makers onto their "reputation." A nice little set of rules "how to make good butter" is given to each customer, and kind advice given on any point that may be desired. It is quickly shown that the loss falls on the poorest makers. Their price is but little less than the going price that had been paid for all, and those who were making good butter were being paid for it at nearly double price. If the man who could get only 7 or 8 cents did pull out and go over to Callahan's Run to swap his butter and get chicory coffee for it, his trade was not missed, and six men from Callahan's run who did make good butter, finding that it could be sold at Coon's Hollow for cash and its price fixed on quality, instead of stupidity and indifference supreme, came to make up the loss occasioned by the offence of the one, and a large gain was made, instead of an utter ruin of trade by the change of business houses by the one man. When people find that there will be no payment for ignorance and worse than careless methods, there will be reform in butter-making; and, as pointed out, the work of reform can be far more easily inaugurated by the buyers along lines here indicated than the slower way of appeal to the producers.

More than a billion pounds of butter were made in the farmhouses of the United States last year. Every pound of this butter was made of material which when drawn from the cow would have made top-priced butter if it all had been handled as it should have been, when the facts are that not one-fourth of this total amount ever reached the grade of No. 1. This is a fearful waste of good material that cannot be afforded, one for which the cow is not responsible, but one which is chargeable upon the maker first, and second upon the man who buys the butter refusing to take a business stand dictated by business principles, which is to buy butter on its merits and pay for it, as he settles with the bank on the value received plan, a plan that robs no one, but does mete out even justice.—N. Y. Tribune.

Fishing is good now in Buffalo's water pipes. Recently an employe of the water department while flushing out a street hydrant collected a string of good-sized perch and pike.

Mrs. E. E. Davis, of San Miguel, Cal., says: "I am trying in a measure to repay the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for the great good their remedy has done me. For years I was a constant sufferer from weak lungs and bronchial asthma. My rest at night was disturbed by a hacking cough, so that I felt miserable the greater part of the time. Many remedies recommended by friends were tried, none of which proved suitable to my case. I did not expect any beneficial results until I began taking Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. After two bottles of the large size have been used, I am pleased to state, my health is better than it has been for years. The soreness has left my lungs and chest and I can breathe easily. It has done me so much good that I want all who are suffering from long troubles, as I was, to give it a trial." For sale by R. S. McKinney, Druggist, Taneytown, Md.

Sir Walter Raleigh made a wager with Queen Elizabeth that he could reach the smoke from his tobacco pipe. He won by weighing the tobacco, before smoking, and the ashes afterwards. In the same way our readers can weigh the value of Ramon's Tonic Liver Pills by comparing their sallow cheeks and sunken eyes with the rosy cheeks and bright eyes which they have as a result of taking this wonderful tonic remedy. HISTORY OF LINWOOD.

BY J. P. GARNER, 1895. PART II.

(The History of Linwood proper, closes in this part; but, as has been previously announced, a number of historic sketches will appear under the same heading, which will include McKinsty's Mills, and other small villages surrounding Linwood. There will also be given a lot of interesting data concerning the Shriner, Senseless, Engler, Roop, Gantner, Plaine and other families, which were the first settlers of the section. There will be six or more parts. Back numbers may be obtained at this office.—Ed.)

When any new enterprise is begun, there are always those who are able to look into the future and see the result. It was said that one engine and several cars would be able to haul all the surplus produce of the country. The daily scene of produce received for shipment requiring hundreds of cars in the country, and the transportation, is a sufficient comment upon this statement.

The first Post-office was established in 1867 at the suggestion of the late Joel Haines, Joseph Englar, with the same indomitable spirit of progress that has ever characterized his life, induced his father to file the necessary application. The result was the granting of an office with Josiah Englar as postmaster. The first year's commission amounted to $12.00. The postmen in succession have been Josiah Englar, Joseph Englar, Nathan Englar, Mrs. D. F. Albaugh, and the present incumbent, Mrs. E. J. Rouzer.

In 1891, the town and community in general, suffered a severe loss in the death of Howard Senseney, a young man of rare genius. As an architect and draughtsman he had no equal among country workmen. His success, even in the brief time spent in Baltimore and Washington, gave fine promise that he would early become a peer among city workmen.

The ethical and religious elements are not wanting in the town. Many things have hitherto been unfavorable to the establishment of houses of worship. There is not a town of churches, neither is it one of vice. She is unfettered in her upward progress, and the opening of a Union Sunday school during the last year, with the success that has attended it, seem to be the beginning of a great work in the future.

Since the year 1871, the Church of God, Uniontown, has been holding camp meetings a short distance east of this place, along the W. M. R. R., and each year in August, Linwood Camp is held, attended by enormous crowds from miles around, and from points along the railroad. In the summer of 1871, it was held in the woods of Ephraim Garner; it was held there for two or three summers, and was the means of opening the woods, and from there came to the woods of Samuel Haines.

As tending to show that Linwood is progressive, we refer to the fact that we have a very good brass band, now organized several years, which has, during the present season, received numerous calls, and promises to advance in excellence as it grows older. It is under the leadership of John Englar, youngest son of the late Josiah Englar.

Linwood has always been a great shipping point for dairy products. The fine pasture land in the neighborhood has encouraged and made possible, the keeping of large numbers of milk cows, and excellent railroad facilities, combined with progressive farmers, has made this a point at which a large quantity of milk is daily shipped to Baltimore. It is also a popular and convenient point, from which many hucksters ship their produce to the city.

Another reason why Linwood is a bustling railroad station, is because it is the point at which all travellers to and from Uniontown and McKinsty's Mills, arrive and depart by rail, and is also the starting point for two mail routes. One to the Chesapeake & Potomac and the Western Maryland Telephone Companies, have a pay station here, in charge of Joseph Englar. The town is yet in the vigor of youthfulness. In advancement it greatly surpasses its years. It is yet in the steam age, the sun has not yet crossed the meridian. The electrical age is soon to usher in.

PIRESTLAND VALLEY.

Spreading out to the South from Linwood, is the well watered and fertile valley of Pirestland, literally the Priests' land. During the last century a tract of 600 acres in this valley was held by a corporation of the Roman Catholic clergy, from whence the name was derived. The intention was to build a church on this ground, and found a community. The brick were already burned, and the farm now owned by Marshall Hartsock, when a more favorable opening was presented upon the Conecogue in Pennsylvania, and the project abandoned. The brick were subsequently used in the creation of a house recently purchased by Davis Myers in Uniontown, formerly the old hotel property.

Thomas Diggs was the original grantee of this land, made to him on the 25th, day of April, 1743, called Mountain Prospect, surveyed for 600 acres, and includes part of the farms now held by Thomas Haines, John E. Senseney, Dr. Lee Royer, and Marshall Hartsock. In 1793 at the instance of Samuel Godfrey and James Gillingham, it was resurveyed, and bounded by Joel Wright, who, according to Scharff, was a surveyor and school teacher of great prominence in the Union Bridges settlements. According to his own statement, he obtained 6234 acres, a gain of 234 acres over the original survey. Godfrey and Gillingham became the purchasers from the clergy.

Near the close of the last century the tide of immigration was turned in the direction of Lancaster county, Pennsylvania, perhaps contributing most largely to these settlements. The most of the early settlers were of German descent, whose ancestors had landed in Philadelphia and worked their way in a southerly direction, attracted, no doubt, by the fertile soil and milder climate. Among these settlers we have the Senselesses, Roops, Englers, Gantners, Plaines, and Shriners. A sketch of each of these families will be given later. Their descendants are numbered among the best and most influential citizens of the country.

Sturdy people were the first settlers, inured from infancy to the hardships of a new settlement, they grew up with great powers of endurance, and laid hold of life with right good humor, and their toil and thrift were soon rewarded with abundant harvests. By the time, a mile away, was the nearest ready market for their surplus produce; this necessitated the keeping of strong teams. Then, a man was known not so much by his eating, drinking, clothes, or any one thing, so much as by his team—that marked the man. The traits of character displayed by a man's team, were as well known, and as readily discernible, as the man himself. Had the history of these veterans of the road been preserved, it would be read with all the interest of romance, but their history has largely perished with them.

Very few of the third generation of these early settlers remain. Ephraim Garner is the only one in the immediate vicinity. The major part have joined "the innumerable caravan."

The breezy call of incense-breathing morn, The swallow twittering from the straw-couch, The cock's shrill clarion, or the echoing horn, No more shall sound them from their lowly beds.

HISTORY OF HARNEY.

BY J. W. RECK, 1895. PART VII.

LUTHERAN CHURCH. (Continued.) The following were elected a sub-committee: Abraham Waybright, William H. Lightner, and S. S. Shoemaker. It was then decided to build a church with a tower, and have a bell. The sub-committee was then instructed to see about getting stone for the ground, and they, with the pastor, to determine the size of the church, and see where the brick could be procured and at what price.

On Nov. 13th, it was decided to build the church on the west side of the lot, and on Nov. 15th, the committee again to hear the report of the sub-committee, and ascertain the exact size to build at this time. It was decided to build 38 feet wide, 65 feet long and 16 feet to the square.

A resolution was then passed giving the majority of the committee of eleven the right and power to reconsider any question at any time; a center tower was also recommended, this however, was reconsidered later, and the tower built at the east corner. The size of the building was also reconsidered, and quite a number of different plans and views presented, and quite a number of discussions arose before the building was completed. S. B. Florence of near Emmitsburg agreed to put up the stone work for 65 cents per perch, and the brick work for $5.00 per 1000. Mr. Clayton Bucher at first contracted for the carpenter work, but after Mr. Bucher had commenced work, some trouble arose and the committee met and reconsidered the matter and declared Mr. Bucher's contract void.

Mr. Henry Kemper was next seen, and agreed to do the work for $1.37 per day, but, for some reason, Mr. Kemper was unable to do the work, and Mr. Joseph Smith was employed on the following terms: Smith to have $2.00 per day, his foreman $1.75, and his other hands $1.50, allowing the committee to employ as many hands as they wanted, and at any price they could get them for, but Smith to have a general supervision over all. On January 6th, 1890, a congregational meeting was held at Shoemaker's Hall, at which time the constitution was unanimously adopted, and signed by the following persons as charter members: John C. Bush, Abraham Hesson, A. M. Waybright, Jeremiah Meals, J. W. Black, Charles E. Myers, Walter R. Bush, Gordon H. Hess, Martin Slagle, Geo. L. Shriver, C. F. Reindollar, W. E. Myers, D. J. Hesson, S. S. Shoemaker, J. L. Hesson, E. H. Hesson, W. H. Lightner, Annie E. Black, Rachel Radcliff, Sarah R. Lightner, Emma L. Shriner, Mary E. Hill, and Sabina Reek.

From the records kept we learn that the committee of eleven held twenty-two different meetings, before the building was completed. During the summer of 1890, while the church was being erected, Rev. Heilmann, pastor of Mt. Joy congregation, had quite a number at work trying to raise money to help pay for the building. He gave five boys each five cents, and told them to speculate with it, and see how much they could make out of it, until the church was ready for dedication; they were, Morris Bishop, Frank Reindollar, Glenrie Black, Charles Black, and Vernon Black. The boys decided to form themselves into a company, and all work together, this done they were ready for business.

They invested their quarter in eggs; of course they bought as cheap as possible, and sold at a high price as they could; some places they could buy their eggs for five cents per dozen, and Mr. J. W. Black, who was then huckstering, would take them to Baltimore and sell them, and invest in the same amount of eggs and small articles; these they would sell again, and invest again in eggs, and thus they kept on until they had a sufficient amount of money to start a small stand on the street, then they invested in oranges, melons, oranges, candies, &c., and sold on every Saturday evening and were liberally patronized; thus they continued all summer, and in the fall, they held a picnic, and when all was summed up it was found that they had cleared about $200.

Five of the young ladies also started out at the same time, but they took a different plan, as is natural with the gentler sex, they preferred to begin by speculating; of course some did not succeed, such as lead pencils, taffy, &c., the exact amount raised by the girls cannot be ascertained, but they, like the boys, did well, although their amount, we are told, was a few dollars less.

The corner stone of the church was laid on Sunday afternoon, May 4th, 1890, and the building was dedicated to the service of God on October 26th, 1890. The actual cost of the church was $4496.06. The amount to be raised on the day of dedication was $1456.90, and the amount subscribed was $1437.94. Since that time the church has grown from a mere handful of faithful workers, to a membership of nearly 135, and a Sunday school numbering nearly 200, and a Christian Endeavor society of nearly 100.

The first officers of St. Paul's Lutheran church were Dr. J. C. Bush, A. M. Waybright, D. J. Hesson, J. L. Hesson, John T. Ohler and Martin Slagle, who were installed on Jan. 20th, 1890. It was understood that this congregation was to be pastored by Mt. Joy charge, and was organized under the pastoral care of Rev. H. M. Heilmann, which was finally ratified by the Lutheran Synod at Hanover. Rev. Heilmann faithfully served as pastor for several years, when he resigned to accept a charge at Altoona, Pa.

For a short time after this the congregation was supplied from Gettysburg, and finally Rev. Wm. Gardner Mink accepted a call, and began his pastoral work on Dec. 1st, 1893 and to-day, not only does this congregation have a very handsome church, but also a beautiful cemetery has since been added, which contains 90 lots, and is located along the Gettysburg road about 1/2 mile from the church, and is known as Mountain View Cemetery.

Helping the Governor.

I was sitting in a railroad depot in Buffalo waiting for a train when a stranger approached me and said: "It's kinder queer how hard up the best of us may get sometimes, eh?" "How do you mean?" I asked.

"Waal, I jest met the governor of New York out here, Levi P. Morton, and he asked me for the loan of $2." "You don't say!"

"That's what's the matter. Had his pocket picked and wanted to use $2 right away. He didn't know what to do about it till he saw me." "You know him, then?" "Never set eyes on him afore today. He jest picked me outter the crowd for a man who'd do him a favor. He only wanted $2, but I made him take $3. He'll send it back in a day or two. Ever meet the governor?" "I've seen him several times."

"Wonder how he got his nose broke?" "His nose isn't broken. What sort of a man was the chap you lent money to?" "Red hair; side whiskers; broken nose and two teeth out in front." "Governor Morton is no such looking man. You have been swindled by some sharper."

"It can't be. He said he was the governor." "I might say the same thing." "And he called me by name." "So can I. You are James H. Johnson. There is your name on your satchel. Is the man around here, do you think?"

"We went to the door of the depot and looked around, and we went to the depot office and he looked around, but the 'governor' had vanished, as might have been expected. 'You ought to have known better!' exclaimed the officer after giving up the search."

"How had I orter know better?" demanded the victim. "Didn't he pick me out as a man who'd do him a favor? Didn't he say he was Governor Morton? Didn't he praise my confidence in human nature when I made him take $3?"

"You'd better go and soak your head!" "What for? What good will soaking my head do?" The officer turned away with a tired look, and the old man sat down and thought it all over and then said to me: "Yes, I guess I've been swindled, and I guess I'm to blame for it. It's a good experience though. I felt so mighty proud about lending the governor of New York $3 that if a feller had come along and said he was President of the United States I'd handed him over my other $7 and walked 62 miles to git home!"—Detroit Free Press.

A VALUABLE FIND.

After years of study and labor, there has at last been discovered a sure and never-failing remedy. It has been tested on patients, who have despaired of ever being cured, the results have been, in every case, wonderful. Groff's Rheumatic Cure is unequalled as a positive remedy in all cases of Chronic and Acute Inflammatory Rheumatism, Gout, Lumbago, Sciatica, Neuralgia, especially Ovarian Neuralgia, Dysmenorrhoea and all kindred affections. It is also a valuable Blood Purifier, being especially useful in Eczema, Psoriasis, Scrofula, all Glandular Enlargements and diseases of the Liver and Kidneys. It is absolutely free from all narcotics. Severe attacks are relieved in from one to three days and a positive cure effected in from five to eighteen days. For sale by J. 5000 DOLLAR'S WORTH

SEASONABLE MERCHANDISE TO BE SOLD WITHIN THE NEXT 30 DAYS REGARDLESS OF COST.

It is the greatest reduction in prices that has been made in years, and not confined to one, two or three special lines, but extending to every department in the house. We are very much crowded with goods and to make a proper display of them we have decided to enlarge our first and second floors. Now you very well know what tearing down and rebuilding means. It means dust all over the fine as well as cheap goods, and the only remedy we know of keeping the dust and sand from getting into the goods is to get the goods away from it, and to accomplish this we have decided to sell the above amount of

STRICTLY NEW, SEASONABLE AND DESIRABLE GOODS at almost one-half the regular value

We shall make this a "MEMORABLE SALE" to our friends, partners and the public in general in presenting such values, which can only be appreciated by an inspection of the same. When we say that this great "REBUILDING SALE" will surpass all that has gone before, our partners from near and far are aware that

We Mean to Beak all Previous Records for LOW PRICES.

To accommodate those who are unable to visit our store during the daytime we shall keep open at night until 9 o'clock.

LOCALS AND PERSONALS.

Vaccination is in season again. F. M. Yount has been on a business trip to Philadelphia. Grace Reformed Sunday School has made another addition to its library. Mrs. Wolf and her sister, Miss Brown, of Baltimore, are visiting at Rev. A. Bateman's. D. W. Garner received first premium at the Hanover Fair on Cream Separators, and also placed several orders. The Western Maryland Telephone service is improving. It is said that it will be better yet at the end of a year. Wm. J. Arthur will officiate in the public school next week in place of the Principal, L. D. Reid who will be absent. Norman Reindollar left for Baltimore on Monday, where he will take a course at Eaton & Burnett's Business College. Mr. McC. Davidson of this place, has prepared the plans and specifications for heating by steam, the city hall of Frederick.

We would be pleased to hear from a lot of our correspondents, who seem to be suffering from a second attack of spring fever. Miss Anna Wolfe, of Union Bridge, a graduate of the State Normal school, has been appointed teacher for Otter Dale school. Misses Bessie and Rieta Reindollar left on Thursday evening, for Mechanicsville, Pa., where they are students of Irving College. Get registered! Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday next, is the time. Everybody should vote, and it can't be done without registering. Mr. A. H. Zollicoffer attended the annual meeting of the Cumberland Valley Miller's Association, which was held in Philadelphia during the week. Those who attended the Hanover fair from this place, expressed themselves as having suffered considerably from the heat, which has been most oppressive this week. Mr. Thomas Koons, who for the past two years has been residing in York county, Pa., is home on a visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Koons, on Middle Street.

The RECORD acknowledges the receipt of a specially large and fine lot of grapes from John McKelley, and peaches and apples from E. O. Graner. Starvation is not one of the editorial fears. Friends of the RECORD, both here and over the county, send us the news! Don't depend on our regular correspondents to know everything, and besides, they do not write every week. Mr. Gettys M. Myers, formerly of Harney and this place, who has been living in Alexandria, Virginia, for a number of years, is expected to come home on Saturday on a visit to his parents at Harney. The resolutions for the government of Trinity Lutheran church, as adopted in 1867, have been printed in folder form at the RECORD office, and will be distributed among the members of the congregation. The republican county central committee met in Westminster on Saturday last, and named Saturday the 28th, as the date for holding the primaries, and Monday the 30th, the county nominating convention. The democratic primary meeting to select delegates to the county convention, will be held in this district this Saturday afternoon, from 5 to 7 p. m. The county convention meets in Westminster on Monday 16th. Mr. W. W. Sweigart and C. E. Valentine, railroad agents at Bruceville, with their wives, attended the International Association of Ticket agents held in Boston. Their trip was over the P. R. R., via Philadelphia, New York and Niagara Falls. We do not as a rule, send receipts for subscriptions received by mail. The change of date on name slip is sufficient evidence that the money has been received. When this change has not been made two weeks after a remittance, notify us at once. The scholars in attendance at the various district schools this week, so far as heard from, were as follows: Taneytown 98, Shaws 26, Walnut Grove 32, Oregon 31, Pine Hill 24, Friesland school, with Mr. A. L. Williams as principal and Mr. John Null as assistant, opened with 50 pupils. The twelfth semi-annual convention of the Carroll County Christian Endeavor Societies, will be held on Thursday and Friday, October 17th and 18th, in the Methodist Protestant church, Westminster. Evangelism, will be one of the leading topics before the convention, a program of which will be given shortly. The Baltimore base ball club is in the lead for the league pennant, and, unless some unforeseen break occurs in their playing, will again end the season as champions. The Cleveland club has the advantage of playing all the weaker clubs, while the Baltimore must finish with the strong eastern clubs. A collision occurred on the Western Maryland railroad on Wednesday, near Arlington, caused by a misplaced switch. A train of empty passenger cars in charge of engineer Hesson, going east, side tracked, in order to allow a freight train pass. The switch was accidentally left open, and the two engines crashed together before the momentum of the train could be checked. The engine of the passenger train was badly shattered while the freight engine escaped with a broken pilot. Five of the freight cars were derailed and badly wrecked. The shock threw brakeman Keefe and flagman Garwick to the track, the former having his leg broken, and the latter his head out.

NOTES HERE AND THERE.

In Frederick county, the republican nominating convention will be held on the 21st, and the democratic on the 24th. Rev. T. K. Cromer of Lovettsville, Va., has declined the call to become pastor of the Reformed church in Emmitsburg. The demand for both Lowndes and Hurst campaign buttons is active, and clubs over the state are being supplied as rapidly as possible. Wm. T. Malster, the defeated republican candidate for the gubernatorial nomination, is almost sure to be the nominee for Mayor of Baltimore. The directors of the Littlestown Savings Institution have asked for the resignation of Cashier Lefevre, to take place on Thursday of this week. It is estimated that the damage done in Baltimore county by the late flood, will reach $80,000. The county commissioners have taken action as to the rebuilding and repairing of bridges and roads. The Key Monument Association of Frederick have elected the following officers for the ensuing year; President, Wm. C. Birely, vice-president, J. W. Woodson, secretary, J. P. McKinstry; treasurer, Henry Williams.

The first colored Lutheran church in Baltimore, and the second in Maryland, was dedicated last Sunday afternoon, on Spring St., near Townsend. It is built of stone, covered with cement, and will seat 700 people. The Hanover Fair commenced on Tuesday, and continued until Friday. Every department was well filled with exhibits, and an unusual large number of fairs and side shows were on the grounds. The special attraction was the Kemp Sisters Racing combination. Dr. Morris Wooden, a veterinary surgeon, of Hampstead, has been appointed by the United States Secretary of Agriculture as assistant inspector in the Bureau of Animal Industry at a salary of $1,200 per annum. Dr. Wooden is a son of Mr. C. C. Wooden, a prominent citizen of Hampstead. "Defenders' Day" was celebrated in Baltimore by an enthusiastic demonstration on the streets, and patriotic exercises at Clifton. Business was only partly suspended, and the decorations were scanty, yet the day was more generally celebrated than usual. The Junior Order United American Mechanics had 5000 men in parade.

A beautiful wedding was solemnized in All Saints' Episcopal Church, Frederick, on Wednesday afternoon at 1 o'clock. The contracting parties were Miss Janie Hall Maubly Ritchie, daughter of the late Chief Judge John Ritchie, and Mr. Allen Richards Boyd, a prominent and well known young man, formerly of Boston, but now residing in South McAllister, Indian Territory.—News. Executions were issued in Gettysburg on Wednesday at the instance of the creditors against the Gettysburg Heat, Light and Power Company, and against the Gettysburg Electric Railway Company. The claims amount to nearly four hundred dollars. It is the intention to ask for the appointment of a receiver for the delinquent corporations. The Academy of Music, Baltimore, has been leased for five years by Nixon & Zimmerman, Philadelphia theatrical managers, and at the close of the season it will go under the management of its new management. The lease of the present management, Harris, Britton & Dean company, expires next September. They desired to renew their lease, but the Philadelphia firm offered more money. Miss Ollie Bierly, of Highfield, is lying at the point of death, with her throat cut almost from ear to ear, the result of a strange accident. She was carrying four large crocks just purchased at a store, and fell while crossing the railroad track. The crocks were broken and she fell upon them, the razor-like points cutting her throat severely and severing the external jugular vein and several large arteries in the neck. A committee of the Women's Christian Temperance Union of Frederick county have petitioned the board of directors of the Frederick County Agricultural Society to forbid the sale of liquor and gambling on the grounds at the coming fair. The board took no action in the matter, but decided to strictly enforce a resolution adopted several months ago not to sell privileges for any immoral exhibition, gambling device or game of chance. As a result of the recent competitive examination, the school commissioners of Carroll Co. have appointed Mr. C. O. Clemson, of Union Bridge, to the vacant state scholarship at Western Maryland College, and Mr. Matthew H. Galt, of Taneytown, to that at the Maryland Agricultural College. Misses Bertha E. Matthews, Ora Whitmore, Lula E. Norris, Lillian Fleagle and Mr. J. B. Wells, were appointed to scholarships at the State Normal School, Baltimore. The following free county scholarships at Western Maryland College were also awarded: Lillian May Lindsay, Sallie Weeks, Mattie Hook, Margaret A. Boyer, William Engleman, Charles W. Maus, Levi Zahn.

Weather report bulletin for Northern Central Maryland.—The heavy rains of the 6th, put the ground in excellent condition for the fall plowing, which was much delayed by the drought. Corn cutting has begun, and though the crop is good in places it is not so generally. The late crop has been benefited somewhat by the rain. Pastures and garden truck are improving. There will be a good crop of cloverseed. Potatoes are yielding well in some places. Tomatoes are a light crop, but fair in quality. Corn and tomato canning are in progress. The reports of a good abundance of apples continue to be received.

Reading Room Opened.

The ladies of the Y. W. C. T. U. formally opened a public reading room in Shriners' Hall on Monday evening last, with appropriate ceremonies. The band gave an open air concert in front of the building for half an hour, which added very much to the publicity of the affair, giving it the color of a people's meeting, which it properly was, or at least, which it is intended that the evening sessions shall be. The program consisted of the following parts; Organ, selection by Mr. Barton; Prayer, Rev. G. W. McSherry; Male Quartet, "Music in the air" Geo. H. Birnie, Dr. F. H. Seiss, Harry G. Sell and Jesse Hight; Recitation, Bessie Reindollar; Solo, "Old Marie" Virgie Motter; Address, Dr. C. Birnie, on the object of the reading room and the importance of having the young people of the town noted for intelligence, temperance and social purity; Solo, "The Work of the Reading Room," "A Little Mountain Lad," Rieta Reindollar. After the rendition of the program an opportunity was given all present to enter the "Art Gallery," an admission of five cents being charged. Twenty-five works of art were on exhibition, representing their titles to perfection, a few of which were, "A drive through the woods," "A source of tears," "A Pillar of Greece," "A swimming match," "The end of Ambition," "Lovers' dream," "An absorbing subject." It is proposed to keep the room open every night in the week except one, and to have the tables supplied with reading matter of all kinds. A room will also be supplied for playing such games as chess, checkers, etc. After a trial of the effort, other features may be added and regulations established, such as may be suggested by experience.

The W. C. T. U. Convention. [Special to the Record.] The W. C. T. U. of Carroll county held its second annual convention in the Town Hall, Union Bridge, on Tuesday, Sept. 10th. In the morning a business meeting of the Executive Committee was held to plan for the coming year's work. At 2:30 p. m., the convention was called to order by the president, Miss Sarah C. Tramp, of Manchester. Devotional exercises were conducted by Mrs. Mary Haslip, State President, who took as a basis for her remarks, the parable of "The Ten Talents." She exhorted the members to greater faithfulness in their work, and to a more united style. It was found that there were delegates present from four of the seven Unions. Mrs. Ruth H. Little, Rec. Secretary, in a short address, welcomed the convention to Union Bridge. Mrs. Emma Herz, of Westminster, responded in her usual genial style. Reports from the various departments of the work followed; these departments include Literature, Unfermented Wine, Work among the colored people, Sabbath Observance, Purity, Press Work, Scientific Temperance, and the various departments of the work in Carroll county, and all to "be up and doing, to look and live." Next came the queries: "Why wear the White Ribbon?" Mrs. A. B. Dumm said, "It is a thing of beauty and a joy for ever." Mrs. Little gave Mrs. Barney's definition of what the white ribbon means, "Purity, consecration, helpfulness and loyalty." "Sabbath Observance; how to promote it?" Miss Lizzie Herr said, "Personal consecration; prepare manna enough on the sixth day to see you through the seventh; circulate the petition for the Sabbath rest law." Before the close of the afternoon session, the election of officers took place and resulted as follows: President, Miss Sarah C. Tramp, of Manchester; Vice-President, Mrs. Mattie Miller, of Manchester; Rec. Secretary, Mrs. Ruth H. Little, of Union Bridge; Treasurer, Mrs. A. B. Dumm, of Westminster. The evening session was opened with prayer, followed by addresses by Mrs. Haslip and Miss Florence Hammond, of Baltimore, who spoke of a passably good audience. Several ministers were present and gave encouraging words to the ladies; also one of the prohibition candidates. The exercises were followed by music and singing. Several solos were excellently rendered by Miss Bessie Herz of Westminster, and Miss Susie Snavely of Union Bridge. Miss Adda Tramp, of Manchester recited very creditably "The Martyred Mother" and the convention closed with doxology and prayer, by Rev. S. A. Deihl of Westminster.

Orphan's Court Proceedings. MONDAY, Sept. 9th, 1895.—Letters testamentary of the estate of John T. Bond, deceased, were granted to Charles S. Bond and Samuel W. Bond. Eliza J. Fonneller, acting executrix of Mary E. Engleman, deceased, received one-half of the stock. Letters of administration on the estate of Albinus Poole, deceased, were granted to Laura S. Sellman. TUESDAY, Sept. 10th, 1895.—Mordcai C. McKinstry, guardian of Samuel B. McKinstry, settled first and final account. Charles B. Roberts, guardian of Elmer H. Hoppe, settled first and final account.

Surprise Croquet Party. A surprise party was held at Mr. Charles Willhite's, near Bruceville, Wednesday night in honor of his daughter, Miss Vallie, on her return from Frederick. Miss Allie Dern gave some fine selections on the organ, Miss Mertie Weant played and Mr. John Shipley sang "The Pennsylvania Tramp." Bruce Weant recited a selection. The large lawn was lit by Japanese lanterns, and some interesting games of croquet were played by Misses Mollie Cover, Bessie Dern, Mertie Weant and Messrs Geo. Koons, John Shipley, Bruce Weant and Elyin Dern. At 11 o'clock sharp, all were invited to the dining room, where the table was loaded with the delicacies of the season. The happy surprisers left at 12:30 a. m., all expressing themselves as having had a nice time.

California Letter.

San Diego, Cal., Sept. 3rd, 1895. I am sorry there was just one thing the matter with my last letter, but more than sorry you could not read it, and I am glad to hear of sea-breezes. People from other portions of the United States cannot believe that San Diego, being so far south, has such a moderate climate. The thermometer so far this year has not been above 75 degrees. It is considered a winter, and for at least five months in the summer the greater part of the day is so hot that from 10 a. m. until 5 p. m., people must remain quiet and indolent; here it is comfortable at midday, and refreshing at night. There are rarely frosts in winter, and the general clear sky—mirroring itself in the harbor, is like an eternal summer night's dream. The cause of this uniform climate is to be found in the proximity of the Pacific ocean, and the cold sea current which flows for at least five miles from the coast, and the Behring strait southward, bringing some of the cooler waters from the Arctic regions to temper the atmosphere of this semi-tropical spot. Perennial spring may be enjoyed here, and there are three distinct belts in San Diego county, beginning at the coast and extending back into the desert region. From the coast line, seventy-five miles in length, back to the hill country, a distance of thirty or forty miles, are low valleys, with intervening mesas and hills, where the ocean breezes play and citrus fruits are raised. Then comes the mountainous belt, where minerals are found and deciduous fruits are grown. The climate here is bracing and health-giving with an occasional flurry of snow in winter. The third division is the desert. In this country are wonderful irrigation systems. Miss Edith Sessions Tupper, the famous writer, who recently visited here, says of San Diego county, "it is a land flowing with honey and redolent with perfume, and the form of its coloring. To the weary tourist, worn and dusty from the terrible alkali deserts, the sight of the noble blue Pacific with its long line of tumbling breakers, the glimpse of orange and lemon groves, the garlands of gay winter lilacs, form an ensemble like a flash-light peep into fairyland, and when he arrives at Coronado Beach where all the beauties and attractions are concentrated and sublimated and apotheosized, one fancies he has rubbed Aladdin's magic lamp, and the genie, in the form of a dreamy city of Mediterranean color and atmosphere. It dips down to the edge of the marvellously beautiful bay of its own name. The wide stretching mountains guard one side; on the other rolls the ocean, and running far out into its restless billows lies a crescent shaped peninsula—Coronado Beach." I will tell you of a days outing, and a trip to Old town and up the Mission Valley. Here are the ruins of the oldest mission in California, founded in 1769, and of the old Presidio where a military force of seventy soldiers, with few arms and cannon, was quartered for the protection of the Pueblo against Indian uprisings. Here, too, is the long, low, ruined adobe while the gentle Ramona, the heroine of Helen Hunt's novel, is said to have lived while waiting her wedding day, and also the chapel where Father Gaspara, the fighting priest, united her to Alessandro. The story of Ramona was last in the Catholic library when was last at home. Lashed to a huge beam, hang the great bells of the old mission. Strike them and they ring a sweet and true as when Father Jumper first blessed them. Old San Diego is picturesque even in its ruin and decay. Once the sun gladdens with its soft splendor, the breeze steals gently from the bay, and the ruins of Old San Diego are covered with myrtle and roses. Twenty or more miles to the south lies Old Mexico. The little village of Yis Juana, which in plain Yank means "Aunt Jane," is always an attraction to tourists. After the short railroad ride comes a walk or drive, and one is soon surrounded with Mexican curios and soldiers.

The 7th, of September is Admission Day and we are going to have a big celebration. We will try to give you an account of it, we expect a great many visitors. The public schools opened here this morning. We are having delightful weather; fruit and melons are very plentiful, the ranchers are busy drying the raisin crop, which is quite a large crop, and grapes sell for a pound. As this letter has grown to be rather lengthy, I will tell you about silk culture another time. J. C. ECKENRODE.

There being many wicked tongues at work in a certain German town, a society has been formed for the suppression of scandal. Slanderous utterances will be taken up and fought out, the cost being defrayed by the society.

COUNTY CORRESPONDENCE.

HARNEY.

Last Sunday evening while Mr. Hanson Staley was driving home from this place, he had the misfortune to drive into Mr. Charles Haverstock's buggy and upset. Miss Dessie Slagle was accompanying him; fortunately however no one was hurt, but the buggy was considerably damaged. Mr. H. O. Harner opened up the public school in this place, on last Monday morning, with 34 scholars. This opening, we think, should show the school commissioners the great necessity of building a good school house in this place. Miss Jennie Myers of Baltimore, spent last Sunday visiting her parents, at Monocacy Roller Mills. Mrs. Ella Menehey and daughter Oma, are spending the week visiting Mr. Menehey's parents in Germany Township, Pennsylvania. Mr. Jacob Yealy has bought Mr. Schott's store and will continue the business. The Schott family will again move to Baltimore.

Miss Abbie McKinney, who has been visiting friends at Bridgewater, Va., has again returned home, and on Sunday last her many friends were glad to see her in her accustomed place at Messiah church. Mrs. William R. Jenkins and daughter Birdie, of Baltimore, are visiting friends at Porters. Dr. R. O. D. Warfield, of Taylorsville, and R. E. Barnes of this place, made a business trip to Rockdale, Hebbville and Baltimore, during the past week. On Sunday evening last the congregation of Messiah church was much annoyed by a crowd of half-grown youths on the outside of the church making remarks about some of the ladies present. When you come to church, come inside and do not let us have to mention this again. Carroll Council Jr. O. U. A. M. No. 114, which was instituted about one year ago, with fifteen charter members now has a membership of forty. Among its members are some of Frederick District's most influential citizens. On last meeting night they had two initiations, and were assisted in the same by Deputy State Councilor J. O. Arrington of Baltimore and 15 members of Allerton Council, of Howard Co., Md. Bro. Arrington delivered an address extolling the council on its progress and prosperity; after meeting was adjourned the council and visiting brothers remained for the evening of Brother Martin, where a banquet was given in honor of the visitors. I will also state that Brother Arrington is a candidate for the Second Branch city council, from the 14th ward of Baltimore city.

PLEASANT VALLEY.

The recent heavy rains did considerable damage by washing great gullies in fields, sweeping away fences, etc. The balloon, which was sent up at the Sunday school celebration, after the rain, landed in the vicinity of Chambers Roller Mills, and was picked up by some person and again sent up into the air. Mr. R. H. Bankard, who paid a social visit to several of his many lady friends in Pennsylvania, has returned home much elated over the results of the trip. A grand picnic, festival, or demonstration of some character, of the P. O. S. of A., will be given some time in the near future, by Washington Camp No. 7, of this place. More explicit notice will be given later on. The public school of this place opened on last Monday with about 40 scholars enrolled; Benjamin Leister, teacher. Mr. John Stuller, our "big man," known far and wide, who has been lingering between life and death for about four weeks or more, is slowly getting weaker. Several members of the Relief, Prayer Meeting, and other committees of the Y. P. S. C. E. paid a friendly visit to the sick man on Tuesday evening. Mr. Ed. P. Zepp, our specialist in music and art, has purchased a fine new piano of Prof. J. T. Royer, of Westminster, agent for fine grades of musical instruments. Mr. Zepp will continue to give instructions in music at the usual price of 25 cents.

LINWOOD.

One of the heaviest rains of the season visited our locality last Saturday. The meadows of Messrs Smith and Haines were covered several feet with water. With considerable difficulty the bridge at Linwood was crossed by persons going to Uniontown. Our Public School opened last Monday with a fair attendance, Miss Jane Ecker, teacher. Mrs. Lou Messler's private school has sixteen scholars on the roll. Mrs. Emma Busby, of Des Moines, Iowa, and Miss Alice Englar, of Wakefield, made a short call at Mrs. E. L. Shriners' on Tuesday. Mrs. Busby and her mother started for their home today. Linwood Band went to Baltimore on Thursday to help celebrate the 12th of September. We have every reason to feel proud of our band. Mrs. Charles Utz, of New Market, is visiting her father, Mr. J. C. Shriners. Mr. Lou Messler has made over 200 gallons of cider. A few guests still linger at "Linwood Shade." Mrs. Rouzer, of Cumberland, is visiting at Linwood. Dr. Royer and wife gave a dinner on Monday, to a few of their many friends.

BRIDGEPORT.

Last Friday night, as Mr. Samuel Sterner was assisting in bringing his new traction engine from the Frick Shops at Waynesboro, Pa., he met with what might have been a very serious accident. It appears that he was walking in front of the engine carrying a light, and not perceiving how near he was to it, he was caught by one of the front wheels and thrown to the ground with great force, the wheel passing over his left foot which was badly bruised and only saved from being mashed by having on a shoe with a very heavy sole. At this writing he is better, and is now able to move about again.

The M. E. Sunday school of Tom's Creek held their annual picnic in Mr. A. Valentine's grove last Saturday, and was well attended. The Grace-horn cornet band furnished some choice music for the occasion. Mrs. Matilda Allison, relict of Robert Allison, died rather suddenly last Sunday at her home a few miles west of this place. Mrs. Allison was a very estimable lady and leaves a large circle of friends to mourn their loss. She was about 83 years of age. Her remains were buried at Piney Creek, where her husband was buried many years ago. Mr. R. F. Weirick and sister, Miss Bettie Weirick, of Charlestown, West Va., are visiting Mr. E. F. Smith and family. Mr. Joseph Harner, has opened our school with 24 pupils, and from his past record as a teacher, we may safely say we believe he will properly instruct the young ones, and co-operate with his parents in starting their children to school, wash their hands of all duty, and think the teacher ought to do all the good moral and manners are never so much as thought of by some careless and indifferent parents. When a pupil devoid of any home training enters a school, the teacher is confronted by a most onerous task—that of teaching good manners to a boy or girl who has a stock of home manners is scarcely perceptible. Let all who have any desire for good schools, co-operate with the teacher and make his a pleasant duty.

EMMITSBURG.

Died of consumption, in Colorado, Mrs. Ellen Lester, youngest daughter of the late Mr. Wm. and Eliza Annan, formerly of this place. She left one child. Mrs. S. N. McNaair, Mrs. Wm. Zepp, Mrs. Ephraim Bankard and Mrs. Clara Balnes are at Atlantic City. Mr. Bald of Baltimore, preached in the Reformed church last Sunday, both morning and evening. Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Speed have returned to their home in Baltimore. Mrs. Matilda Allison, wife of the late Robert Allison, died at her home near this place on Saturday morning. She left three sons and one daughter, who is the wife of Rev. John M. Titzel, D. D., of Lancaster, Pa. Her funeral took place on Tuesday; interment at Piney Creek.

UNION BRIDGE.

On last Monday 12 members of O. U. A. M. Council No. 50, O. U. A. M. of this place, went to Philadelphia to attend the Semi-Centennial of the Order, anniversary of the organization of the Order. They also visited Atlantic City, where they enjoyed the cool breezes of the ocean. The children's-day exercises held in the Reformed church on last Sunday night were of fine character. The children did excellent in every particular. The church was filled to its utmost capacity and many had to stand in the aisles. The program "Beautiful Zion," was well rendered by all who took part, and consisted in part of the following: Opening Song, "Marching on," by school; prayer by Rev. K. O. Spessard; Solo "Sweet Story," by Miss Myrtle Gilbert, a pleasant little maiden of 13 summers; Singing "Hail the Blessed Trinity," by school; recitation, "Coral Builders," by several of the little ones; Singing, "Christ the Foundation Stone," by school; recitation, "Do you know what we are Building," by primary class; Singing, "The Sabbath Bells," by primary department; Address by Pastor; Singing, "There's a friend for little children," by primary department, and closing with Singing by school "Beautiful Zion Built above" and Doxology. The church was decorated with cut flowers, potted plants and ferns. Mr. Wm. F. Townsend, an employee in the Y. P. S. C. E. shops, accidentally caught his foot between two rails and badly bruised it. He has, however, returned to work but a few weeks from recovering of having the same foot mashed. We wish him speedy recovery. Rev. Charles Ritter and wife, of Fayetteville, Pa., spent last Tuesday with Rev. and Mrs. R. L. Patterson. On account of inclement weather on last Saturday, the M. P. Sunday School did not run their excursion to Baltimore, but will have it on Saturday, Sept. 28th, rain or shine. Fare for round trip one dollar. Train will leave here at 7:15 a. m., returning leave Baltimore at 3:30 p. m. The net receipts of the firemen's fair which closed on Thursday night of last week, amounted to about $115. Mrs. W. O. Hiltabride and daughter, after having spent several months with Mr. Eli Hiltabride and family, returned to Baltimore on Tuesday. Mrs. Mary Malambre and daughter Mrs. Bertie, are visiting Mr. Samuel Graham and family, near Kump P. O. Quite a number of people from here took advantage of the excursions which ran on Thursday to Pen-Mar, Baltimore, and Hanover Fair. It being a holiday, special excursions were run on that day to the above places. The C. E. Union prayer meeting will be held in the M. P. church on Sunday evening, Sept. 15th., at 7:30 o'clock. The marriage of Miss Zosara Cashman, daughter of Mr. Philip Cashman, of this place, to Mr. Nelson Lookingbill, took place on Thursday afternoon at the residence of Elder Solomon Stoner, near Uniontown.

MIDDLEBURG.

School began here September 9th. with a fair attendance, having Miss Cross of Westminster, and Miss Epply of Union Bridge, as teachers. A pleasant surprise was given at the Otto Hotel last Sunday evening, between six and seven o'clock. Misses Amy Walton, Nellie Rowland, Carrie Wentzer, and Master Eric Walton arrived from Baltimore on their bicycles, much fatigued from their long ride. Inclement weather caused them to return to the city on the train on Tuesday evening. Quite a number of our people proceeded to the railroad last Saturday morning, anticipating a pleasant day in the city, but on account of the hard rains and washouts along the W. M. R. R., the excursion was put off, and after waiting about two hours at the station and the train had not made its appearance, our excursionists decided to return to their homes and pass the time in their own refreshments, determined to try it again at some future time. Mr. Harry Newman, wife and child, who have been visiting relatives here, left on Tuesday morning for Baltimore, where they will visit relatives for one week and then return to their home in Landon. Mrs. George Petry and family returned to Baltimore on Wednesday evening, after a visit of two months with her parents. Miss Annie Miller has accepted a school at Hagerstown. Mrs. Martha Landis, of Harford county, is visiting friends near Middleburg, and will soon visit her friends in our town. Miss Florence Lynn paid a flying visit to her parents here this week. Miss Mary Ann Woodhouse, who has made her appearance in our town, so far as we have been very successful. We would advise the young ladies to continue on talking "sweet" to the young men, in order to get their spare change. Miss Bessie Wilson is visiting friends in Pennsylvania. The young man who packed his valise some time ago, preparing to take a visit to Bethlehem, Pa., has again made his appearance in town and we are glad to see him back looking so well, indicating that he has had a safe and pleasant journey. (From another correspondent.) Rev. K. G. Murray who has been ill for about eight weeks, is now rapidly improving.

The Republican club, which was recently formed here, has perfected a regular organization, with officers and regulations and has about seventy-five members. It meets again next Saturday night. One of the most eloquent oratorical efforts ever heard in Middleburg, was delivered in Walden's Hall on the evening of the 2nd, by H. K. W. Patterson of Philadelphia, the occasion being the anniversary of the Camp meeting of P. O. S. of A. of this place. The subject was "American Citizenship," and was very much enjoyed by the large audience present. Miss Minnie Buckey who has been threatened with Typhoid fever, is very well, and it is believed will likely soon be in her usual health. A gentleman of this vicinity is apparently in the matrimonial market, and the fair ones should be on the look out, as chances of this kind do not grow on trees for the picking. The children's-day exercises on Saturday under the auspices of the Reformed church, promise to be hotly contested, as we learn that two strong tickets will be in the field, and both will be in to win. The P. O. S. of A. has decided to donate a flag to the public school here, in the near future. It will also hold a fair and festival some time in November, and gives notice this early, that the ladies of the neighborhood who rendered such valuable assistance at a former one, may be thinking of what they may be able to do this time, with more time for preparation.

BRUCEVILLE.

We are glad to learn that Mrs. S. Angel is improving. Miss Vallie Willhite is home from her visit to Frederick and Middle-town. Mr. and Mrs. Q. E. Weant, and baby Clarence are visiting in the neighborhood. An apricot croquet party was held at Mr. Charles Willhite's, Wednesday night. About 24 young people spent the evening in singing and playing croquet and other games. All left for their homes 12:30 o'clock. Mr. S. Weant had a valuable mare get caught in a wire fence, severing one leader, and cutting her breast. Dr. George Roop was summoned and dressed the wounds. UNIONTOWN, Dr. Luther Kemp lost a very promising colt on last Saturday. We wish Dr. Zollicoffer is down with typhoid fever. Miss Emma, oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Hitesher, died of consumption on last Sunday. Interment on Tuesday afternoon in the Methodist Protestant Cemetery, Rev. J. T. Russell officiating. Mr. Josiah Sullivan, an old resident of this neighborhood, died on Wednesday afternoon, at an advanced age. His widow, three sons and three daughters survive him. He was for many years an active member of Sadsen L. O. E. of Westminster, and who will have charge of his funeral. The Picnic of the Independent Order Mechanics to be held to-day (Saturday) promises to be a pleasant affair; arrangements are being made to have a big time, and we hope old Uniontown will look her best on this occasion. Democratic primaries on Saturday. A hot fight is looked for, and from present indications the regulars will win by a safe majority. School opened last Monday, Miss Jessie Matthews teacher, with a fair enrollment of pupils. In his annual report upon the public buildings and grounds in Washington, Colonel Wilson says that he has thoroughly overhauled and repaired the White House. It was found that the flooring in front of the state dining-room, where the crowds are gathered during receptions, had become weakened and sunk. The beams were found to be giving way, and these were renewed and strengthened.

A — of modern enterprise and a — of wise use of newspaper advertising will solve the 7 of profit and produce an 1 of satisfaction.

A CERTAIN manufacturing concern in this state, which is said to have recently increased the wages of its employees ten per cent, has very likely received enough free advertising from the various county papers, to re-imburse it in large part for its action. In these days of smart advertising, a free news ad. of this kind is not bad for a change.

ANOTHER STAR, the forty-fifth, is to be added to the flag. The new star will represent Utah, and the order for its addition to the National colors was issued by Secretary Lamont a short time ago. The star will be placed to the right of the fourth row from the top. Utah will not attain statehood until the fourth day of next July, but all the flags hereafter contracted for and issued will contain the star, heralding the admission of that territory into the Union.

A Worthy Organization.

The initial step which was taken in this place on Monday night, in the direction of promoting self-culture among our young people, by the opening of a public reading room, is one which should be encouraged and supported by all good citizens, both financially and otherwise. The ladies who are at the head of the movement, are thoroughly in earnest in their efforts to produce good results from it, and it will be no fault of theirs if it does not prove to be a great success.

Certainly this reading room will not escape criticism—if it did, it would not likely be of much account—but, because it will not meet the approval of all, is no reason why anyone who does believe in it should be discouraged. There was a time when we had quite a reputation for the failure of local institutions, but we believe that the time has gone by when there are not enough partisans here to keep a worthy undertaking afloat, and when anything which tends to promote education, temperance and patriotism can be either frowned down or starved out of existence.

The leaders in this project, to make it a great success, must make it popular, and, to do this, it must be non-exclusive to a large degree. It must, moreover, be not too intellectually conducted, if the word is allowable, and be a place where all persons can meet with a feeling of perfect welcome from any cause. The object of this reading room is good; to so conduct it that it may attain its object, is not so easy. It will take careful management on the one side, and an honest trial on the other, then, if both are forthcoming, we may expect the newcomer to be long lived and popular.

Our Histories.

Bacon said this of History; "Industrious persons, by an exact and scrupulous diligence and observation, out of monuments, names, words, proverbs, traditions, private records and evidences, fragments of stories, passages of books that concern not story, and the like, do save and recover somewhat from the deluge of time."

It has been almost a year since the RECORD commenced its series of local histories, and present results, which will likely many years later, prove to be the lesser, have been a source of great gratification not only to our paper but to its readers. The work produced in our columns, even though imperfect in many particulars, has excited widespread interest and comment, and, instead of being bored and dissatisfied, the continuance of each separate writing in more complete detail, would have been generally acceptable to the many.

It is probable that we will continue the work during the whole winter, as there is still considerable territory to cover, even without arranging for the lower portion of the county, which has not as yet been contemplated. It is our desire that what is published shall be as correct as possible, and to that end, solicit contributions which will correct any errors of fact which may have been, or may yet be made.

Construction of Houses.

The regulation of the construction of buildings in New York and Chicago is receiving much attention from municipal officials and others, and it is altogether probable that before the end of another year, contractors and owners will be restricted by law from erecting the immense buildings of unlimited height and size, often of cheap material, which are little more than regular death traps for their occupants, and monuments of criminal design on the part of avaricious landlords.

While the cities are talking of regulating by ordinance, the erection of their "sky scrapers," the subject of building in general is one to receive the attention of every small town. Possibly certain restrictions might properly be defined in a state law, which would be neither very objectionable, or add to any extent to the cost of building. One of the principal defects in our houses, is the hollow partition, open at the top and connecting with hollow floors. This is the reason why a house burns so rapidly, because once the fire eats into a side wall or partition the hollow space acts as a flue and carries the flame rapidly all over the building.

If town houses were all required to be built with filled in walls and partitions, and be covered with slate or metal, then, with a good water supply, the safety of property and life would be considerably enhanced. This filling might be of the cheapest kind of material, as anything which would prevent rapid circulation of air would do. A house so built, would not only be protected in part against fire, but would be a better house for other reasons. The way to build, is worth agitating here, as well as in the cities.

A New Champion.

America has a new champion of the world, in the person Mr. Pillsbury, who recently won highest honors in the great chess tournament in England, against the world's best players. A chess champion is rightly one to feel more pride in than one of the Corbett kind. Chess is a game absolutely without luck or chance. From beginning to end it is a contest of brain against brain, in the deepest kind of calculation of future possibilities, and for a culmination of situations which will result in the desired checkmate.

Possibly but little notice will be taken of the result of this contest, for the reason that chess is not a popular game, in the sense that it is well known and generally played, and in this is the reason why the greatness of the victory of Pillsbury will excite but little general satisfaction. It is certainly to the discredit of the American people, that a champion prize fighter, who of necessity must be more than less a brute, is more lionized and honored—at least become more famous—than one who carries off the highest honors in a mental contest.

While all may not play at chess, or indulge in mental gymnastics or scientific accomplishments, it would be well if all would lend aid in suppressing the growing desire to make heroes of participants in brutal contests, and objects of admiration of criminals. It can be taken as almost infallibly showing the trend of one's mind in reference to amusements preferred—moral or otherwise—by finding out whether he can tell most about the last chess tournament or some event of like kind, or whether he knows the exact number of rounds and the details of the last great prize fight.

Possibly as much real good can be done in cultivating a taste for refined and elevating amusements, as in any other direction. It is proper and natural that there should be a desire for diversion and play, and those who taboo games of all kinds, except possibly "tip-tap-toe" and "fig mill" are narrow minded beyond excuse. The introduction of this very game of chess, of which America now claims the champion player, will have a tendency to discourage a taste for less objectionable amusements, and will in addition, place a premium on trained and calculating minds which are absolutely indispensable to proficiency in the great game.

The Poster in Politics.

The librarian of the British Museum has issued a special appeal to all candidates in the recent English elections to forward to him for preservation in the archives of that great national library copies of bills, placards and pictures which they have issued for the purpose of influencing elections. Such a collection will undoubtedly be valuable to the future historian, and a glance at this literature, which came into existence during the English political campaign of 1895, may serve as a suggestion to the politicians who are making American history and who so far have not availed themselves as extensively as our English relations of this form of appeal to the voter. The most noteworthy instance of the use of the poster in this country was during our presidential campaign of 1892, when several effective "protection," "free-trade," and "force bill" cartoons were sent out by the National Democratic and Republican committees. These exerted a powerful influence in many quarters, especially the "force bill" poster in the South.

A whole volume of Congressional eloquence may be condensed into a single placard. One effective picture in glaring color or bold black and white may bring home a political lesson or point a moral far better than all the oratory of the platform or af-the appeals of the pulpit. Mural literature has a great advantage over other propaganda. Like wisdom in the Book of Proverbs, the placard cries aloud in the main thoroughfares. It stands at the corners of the streets. It forces itself upon your attention the moment you stir outside your doors. Men can afford to read newspapers, they can absolutely abjure the public meeting, they can bundle the newspapers into the gutter, but unless they shut their eyes they cannot prevent themselves from seeing the pictures, cartoons, and caricatures with which the party bill-sticker may cover the available walls which he must pass when he takes his walks abroad. Mr. Carlyle has told us how in the hot fever of the French Revolution the newspapers preferred the circulation which they obtained by means of the bill-sticker to the circulation secured by the ordinary method of subscription. It would be possible to construct from the placards and pictures issued during the recent English election a very faithful and accurate picture of the condition of the mind of England when the last appeal was made to the country.—From "The Poster in Politics," in September Review of Reviews.

Mrs. S. A. Kell, of Pomona, Cal., had the bad luck to sprain her ankle. "I tried several liniments," she says, "but was not cured until I used Chamberlain's Pain Balm. That remedy cured me and I take pleasure in recommending it and testifying to its efficacy." This medicine is also of great value for rheumatism, lame back, pains in the chest, pleurisy and all deep-seated and muscular pains. For sale by R. S. McKinney, Druggist, Taneytown, Md.

A Valuable Farm AT PRIVATE SALE!

The undersigned offer at Private Sale, that Valuable Farm property, situate on the Middleburg road, about 1 mile from Taneytown, formerly owned by Henry Reindollar, containing 127 ACRES, NEARLY ALL CLEAR. It is in an excellent state of cultivation, a considerable portion of it having been recently limed. The improvements consist of a large Two Story Weather-boarded DWELLING HOUSE, Frame Bank Barn, Wagon Shed, &c., &c. This property is very desirable, and all persons who contemplate purchasing a farm, should investigate this opportunity. Possession given April 1st, 1896. For further particulars call on or address either of the owners, MILTON H. REINDOLLAR, Taneytown, Md. J. J. REINDOLLAR, Fairfield, Pa.

Executors' Sale!

The undersigned, Executors of the last will and testament of James Davidson, deceased, and by virtue of an order of the Orphan's Court of Carroll county, Maryland, will sell at Public Sale, on the premises, on SATURDAY, SEPT. 14th., 1895, at 1 o'clock p. m., that Farm, lying near W. J. Robert's mill and Charles Basehoar's mill, adjoining lands of the latter, Wesley Rodkey and others, about 3 and a half miles east of Taneytown, on the public road leading from the Taneytown road to the Westminster road. This farm contains 104 1/2 ACRES OF LAND, more or less, watered by Big Pipe Creek. This farm is in a high state of cultivation and is improved with a Stone Dwelling House, Large Barn and Wagon Shed, Hog House, Carriage House, Dairy, a Blacksmith Shop now occupied by K. Crouse, and other necessary out-buildings. Persons wishing to view the farm can do so by calling on either of the Executors, or Augustus Myers, who lives on the farm. TERMS OF SALE:—One third of the purchase money to be paid to the Executors on the day of sale, or on the ratification thereof by the said court, and the residue in two equal payments of one and two years from the day of sale, the credit payments to be secured by notes with approved security, bearing interest from the day of sale; or all cash at the option of the purchaser or purchasers. GRAND FALL OPENING!

SEPTEMBER 14, 1895.

ECKENRODE & SON'S,

TANEYTOWN, MD.

We would respectfully announce to the citizens of Taneytown and vicinity, that we have added another line of our already large stock of Gentlemen's ware, that of which will be open for inspection and sale on the above date.

"A word to the wise is sufficient," according to the old adage, and we think the most necessary feature of every business is to buy Merchandise at the

for Standard Values, and this feature is the only interest we desire to arouse among the people with whom we deal. We have no desire, nor do we spend our time in advancing theories to assist other dealers to ruin their business, but confine ourselves solely to the effort to place in the hands of our customers at the Lowest Possible Cost, and if we are able to save you a satisfactory percentage on your purchases, we think we have benefitted you as well as ourselves.

Yours Respectfully,

IF YOU BUY RIGHT, YOU CAN SELL RIGHT.

Having bought our stock of Nets before prices advanced on leather, we can afford to sell them much lower than those who waited too long and bought while prices were raising. Remember, those who come first will get the bargains, for the longer you wait the higher price you will have to pay. We claim to have the cheapest Nets for the money in the country to-day, and the only way to convince you of the fact, is to come and see, for seeing is believing.

The Profession of Utility Woman.

It has been suggested by a clever writer that the "utility woman" is a need of the present day. There are many people who possess no "specialty" who yet have a general all-around skill which would fit them to be of great service to others and bring a reasonable recompense in return.

The "utility woman" must stand ready to help in any capacity where, in an emergency, a housekeeper's services would be needed in the various homes in her particular town or locality. If she is a person of intelligence and has had a family and home of her own, she should understand everything pertaining to the care of children and therefore be able to offer her services with confidence.

The suggestion came originally from a community of summer cottages where there was no one who could be depended on in the various crises which are always occurring, and a list of the duties the "utility woman" would be required to perform was appended.

She should know how to manage a butler's pantry through a dinner party, be able to help occasionally in the care of an invalid who does not need a trained nurse, be willing to look after a child while its mother attends an entertainment, etc., all such services to be paid for by the hour.

To this might be added the ability to pack a trunk properly and with expedition, for there are many cases where, in a suddenly enforced journey, such outside assistance would be invaluable. If this useful member of the community added to her other accomplishments that of being expert with her needle, she could be called in to help with the family sewing in an emergency and even in large cities such help would often be most acceptable.

Only the other day a friend of the writer was greatly inconvenienced because, her own dressmaker falling ill, she had difficulty in finding some one who would undertake to freshen up a gown which she needed hurriedly for an evening.

To the foregoing list might be added the closing of a house after the family had left for the season and its subsequent opening in preparation for their return. A reliable woman who understands airing a house properly after it has been closed for a long period and putting it in habitable condition would be appreciated in many quarters, and if she could be further depended upon to engage the servants beforehand the return to town would be robbed of innumerable disagreeable features.

In the woman's exchanges there is a bulletin where workers advertise their capabilities and give addresses, but this, so far as the writer is aware, is the nearest approach to an effort to bring the work and the worker in this field together. It has been further suggested that some of the many philanthropic organizations open a bureau where this particular demand and supply can be brought in direct communication, and thus afford a chance for the "utility woman" to make engagements and establish herself.—Harper's Bazar.

Secretary Morton's Ability. According to a Washington correspondent of the Chicago Times-Herald, Secretary Morton, of the Agricultural Department, is one of the marvels of Washington. Though the oldest man in President Cleveland's cabinet, he is easily the most active. His own department he manages with an ease and skill quite astonishing to veteran observers. There is not a detail of its operations with which the Secretary is not familiar and which he does not keep an eye on from day to day.

According to a Washington correspondent of the Chicago Times-Herald, Secretary Morton, of the Agricultural Department, is one of the marvels of Washington. Though the oldest man in President Cleveland's cabinet, he is easily the most active. His own department he manages with an ease and skill quite astonishing to veteran observers.

A Wise Insurance Company.

The fire insurance companies that did much New York business were all ruined after the big fire of 1835, when one-fifth of the value of the city went up in smoke, and therefore many merchants who had their stores and goods underwritten obtained nothing. One insurance company, with headquarters in Hartford, which had more policies at risk than its entire capital and surplus would satisfy, had a very energetic president, He called together his stockholders and told them the probable situation of affairs. He suggested that an assessment be laid upon the stockholders sufficient to meet all the losses which had been incurred and that everything be put into money as soon as possible.

The reasoning by which he sustained this argument appeared sound to the directors, and he took the stage the next day, his valise stuffed with bank notes and bank checks. Arrived in New York, he sought a temporary office, and then went to a couple of morning newspapers, in which he inserted an advertisement. The next day, tall stakes, upon each of which was an announcement, were to be found all through the burnt district. These announcements read: "The Stroumbolt Fire Insurance Company of Hartford pays loss on presentation of proof. No waiting."

The moment that the first applicant came in the president shook him by the hand, sympathized with him in his misfortune, looked at his policy, and told him to come in the next day, when he counted out the amount that was due in good New York City notes. If his policy was burned, he made a memorandum of its number, sent that to Hartford and had it verified, when it also was paid. The other companies had little present cash and were disposed to procrastinate. The merchant did not know that he was going to get his money at all. In the meantime three or four of the energetic clerks of the Hartford company were scouring the lower part of the city for more insurance, of course at good rates. They obtained it in such quantities that the president was not obliged to call on Hartford for much of his guarantee fund, and for twenty years after 1835 that company had the pick of all good business that there was in New York city. It had paid its losses when others had not, and there had been no quibbling and no formality. The stroke was a highly successful one.

Winter Window Gardens. No other plants available for window gardens yield so generous a return for the slight care they require, as those with bulbous roots, writes Carroll Watson Rankin in the September Ladies' Home Journal. No other plants are so fascinating or so beautiful, or so easily grown. Most bulbs will thrive and produce an abundant harvest of glorious bloom in a temperature that would reduce a geranium to a state of chronic invalidism, yet many people have an idea that it is a difficult matter to grow them without a greenhouse. That is a mistake. All one needs is a little common-sense—and the bulbs. Bulbs should be ordered early in the fall. The Bermuda Easter Lily and the freesia should be planted in August if they are wanted for the holidays. All other bulbs should be ordered early in September and planted at intervals. After potting the bulbs in good garden soil they must be placed in the dark to make roots. This is of the utmost importance. A dark, cool cellar is the best place, but a dark closet or an cupboard, or even a bureau drawer will do nicely. The soil must be watered occasionally—the aforesaid common-sense will tell you how often—and the pots must remain in the dark for at least four weeks. It will do no harm to have them there for three or four months, provided they are not allowed to dry out.

There are a number of bulbs that may be grown successfully by the enthusiastic amateur, which, if given proper care and treatment, may be relied upon to furnish flowers for Thanksgiving, Christmas, New Year's, Easter and for innumerable birthdays.

Hot Water Before Breakfast. A prominent physician has declared that hot water is woman's best friend. It will cure dyspepsia if taken before breakfast, and will ward off chill when she comes in from the cold. It will stop a cold if taken early in the stage. It will relieve nervous headache and give instant relief to tired inflamed eyes. It is most efficacious for sprains and bruises and will frequently stop the flow of blood from a wound. It is a sovereign remedy for sleeplessness, and, in conclusion, the doctor asserts "wrinkles flee from it and blackheads wrinkle before its constant use."

Mrs. E. E. Davis, of San Miguel, Cal. says: "I am trying in a measure to repay the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for the great good their remedy has done me. For years I was a constant sufferer from weak lungs and bronchial asthma. My rest at night was disturbed by a hacking cough, so that I felt miserable the greater part of the time. Many remedies recommended by friends were tried, none of which proved suitable to my case. I did not experience any beneficial results until I began taking Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. After two bottles of the large size have been used, I am pleased to state, my health is better than it has been for years. The soreness has left my lungs and chest and I can breathe easily. It has done me so much good that I want all who are suffering from long troubles, as I was, to give it a trial." For sale by R. S. McKinney, Druggist, Taneytown, Md.

As a Doctor Does.

The one great fault with all Liver Pills is that they act suddenly and sharply instead of quietly and continuously. They produce a violent relief and then leave you weakened, with an empty stomach and no appetite for food. This is not what a doctor does.

Every physician prescribes a powerful remedy for disorders of the liver, but he then orders also a strengthening tonic, which acts as a purifier, restoring the appetite, toning up the system, and making you feel like a new creature.

This is exactly what is done by Ramon's Tonic Liver Pills and Ramon's Tonic Pellets. Two boxes, two separate medicines, and both at the cost of one. A three weeks' treatment for 25c. Ask your druggist about it.

At all dealers, or mail, for 25c. 5 boxes $1.00. BROWN MFG. CO., New York.

HISTORY OF LINWOOD.

BY J. P. GARNER, 1895.
PART III.

PRIESTLAND VALLEY. (Continued.) SCHOOLS.

The early settlers were patrons of education. The original Priestland school was kept in a log school house on Philip Englar's farm. In this institution, the children were instructed in the problem of "the three R's—reading, 'ritin', and 'rhitmetic.'" Among the early teachers were Mr. Yanis, Philip Boyle, George Jordan, Jonathan Plaine and the late Judge Hayden. Boyle and Plaine were ministers in the German Baptist church; Plaine was also a surveyor. The patrons of a school always built the house, and the salary of the teacher was in proportion to the number of his pupils. In the early history, it averaged about $2.50 per head. It was a custom sometimes in those days to lock the teacher out during the Christmas holidays. It is related of Philip Boyle that, in 1817, this, he would lecture his scholars a few weeks in advance upon the impropriety of such conduct. To use his own words "such things were only done when religion and morality were at a very low ebb."

The first Sunday school in this section was organized by Washington Senesary; this was continued a few years, then succeeded by an intermission of a few years. It was then taken up by Ephraim Garner, John Delaplaine and Alfred Marshall, and continued for many years. This organization was productive of great good. Its pupils have become widely scattered, the most of them have grown to manhood and womanhood, and fill positions of honor. They rise and call it blessed. The Linwood Sunday school was possible because of this one.

THE COMPANY WAGON.

This organization for the better disposal of the weekly marketing must have been formed early in this century; it proved to be a most excellent plan, and is still in existence. David Englar and Philip Englar, were among the early members, and later on, nearly every farmer became a member. One of the early places for meeting, where the wagon was loaded, was at Samuel Haines', grandfather of the Hon. Evan T. Haines, member of the last Maryland Legislature, and framer of the existing road law for Carroll county. A great spring of water is on this place. The butter was carried in pails, in walleys thrown across a horse. At first but a one-horse wagon was used for the Baltimore trip; later on two horses, until the building of the railroad. The lineharts were also among the early members, and have continued in it to the present. They are now represented by Israel Rinehart.

SAM KING'S STORE.

No history of this community would be complete without mention of Sam King and his store. In its day every body knew of this famous store. The property was owned by Sam, and is now a tenant house belonging to Jasper Shriner. Sam was an odd character. Sometimes he exhibited the humorous, and sometimes the tragical sides of life. His store was a great resort for school children, and Sam would always supplement their purchase of candy with some wonderful tale. Among the various commodities dealt in by Sam was one which frequently caused his customers to fall into a stupor; when interrogated upon the peculiarity of this article, Sam would reply, "oh, he ish got a spell." This class of goods was known to some as "Jura Malta."

PIPE CREEK STATION.

Pipe Creek Station, so called from Little Pipe Creek running near by, is situated about midway between New Windsor and Linwood, on the W. M. R. R., and on the farm of Alfred Englar. When the road was built, Hiram Englar, then the owner of the farm, gave the company the right of way through his land, in return for which he was granted the privilege of a siding. He erected a warehouse after the style of the time, and for a while a great deal of grain and hay were loaded here from the adjoining farms; but, as facilities for handling all kinds of produce became better at New Windsor and Linwood, the business here decreased, and finally ceased entirely. With the permission of Englar, the property was taken up, the warehouse has since been turned into a dwelling house, but has been continued as a station, the local trains stopping. A considerable quantity of milk is shipped from this point.

MAIDENSVILLE.

To begin with, things are not all ways what they seem. Maidensville is—suggestive indeed, but disappointing. The country was taken up by an advertiser for a wife himself here in certainty of obtaining the object of his quest. Maidensville is not a village of maidens—they were, but they are not. There is just a sprinkling of these gracious creatures.

"not too bright nor good
For human nature's daily food,
For transient sorrows, simple wiles,
For false hints, and smiles,
To keep the place bright and blooming."

Its situation is on the road leading from Winters' Church to the Linwood and Uniontown road. About the year 1750, Francis Winter, a great grandfather of Reuben Winter, came from Germany and took up the land included in the Winter homestead, the mill property, and the lands of Reuben Winter and John Coombs. John Winter, his only son built the mill. George Winter, father of Reuben Winter succeeded his father in the ownership of the mill. At his death it was purchased by Wm. Englemann about the year 1833. In 1853 he built the present mill. During Englemann's ownership, a great deal of flour was manufactured, and in the years it has done principally chopping. The mill has since been owned by Thomas Haley, E. Fisher, and the present owner George Waitz.

The Crumbacker family at the other extremity of the town are among the early settlers. David and Nathan Crumbacker were grandchildren of Abram Crumbacker, Peter Crumbacker, their father, married a sister of Samuel Plaine and their descendants are residents of the place. Excepting these properties, Cale Pike built the first house in the town on the site of the building erected by Mrs. Louis Shuey, Jonas Ebert built and resided for some time on the place now owned by Mrs. Edward Shamer. Cale Pike was a stone cutter and his headstones are found in some of the old graves. Jacob Little lives in retirement on the property built by Jacob Little, and is the oldest citizen of the town. Many other houses make up the town, all of which are of modern date. (Next week McKinstry's Mills.)

HISTORY OF HARNEY.

BY J. W. RECK, 1895.
PART VIII.

Mt. JOY CHURCH.

On the 25th., of July, 1832, an informal meeting was convened on a spot of ground belonging to Mr. Jacob Gettysburg, on the road leading from Gettysburg to Taneytown, proposed as the location of an Evangelical Lutheran church edifice. The persons present were Rev. S. Sentman, Rev. J. P. Smetzer, and Messrs John Mairing, Jacob Mairing, John Wright, John Engler, Samuel Reck, Henry Gluts, Christian Shriver, Jesse Sharetts, John Hankey, and John N. Hoffman.

These brethren having met upon the spot proposed as the site of said church, and reviewed it, Rev. S. Sentman proposed that the blessing of God be invoked upon the proceedings, and therefore led in prayer. The meeting was then organized by calling Mr. John Mairing to the chair, and appointing Rev. Sentman, secretary, after having read the minutes, and Mr. Robert McKinney. A committee was appointed to draft a report and resolutions for the consideration of the meeting. This committee consisted of Messrs A. Waybright, Samuel Reck and John N. Hoffman. Secretary to the committee. After a short absence they reported the following resolutions.

Resolved, That in behalf of the members of the Evangelical Lutheran church in this vicinity, that in order to enjoy the same of greater utility and conveniently, we deem it necessary to build a house of public worship on the site proposed.

Resolved, That said edifice be built of brick, and be fifty feet long and forty wide.

Resolved, That the following persons, viz: John Mairing, Samuel Reck, Abraham Waybright, John Hankey and John N. Hoffman be appointed a building committee whose duty it shall be to solicit subscriptions, and take such other means as they may deem necessary to carry out the object of this meeting.

Resolved, That the committee report progress to an adjourned meeting to be held on the site of the contemplated church, on Saturday, 9th. of August next at 2 o'clock p. m., and that at the same time, an address be delivered, and such other exercises held, as may tend to awaken an interest in this enterprise.

The Resolutions were discussed, and unanimously adopted; the meeting then adjourned to meet again at the time specified in the fourth resolution. Prayer by Rev. J. P. Smetzer.

August 9th., 1851, an adjourned meeting was held in accordance with the fourth resolution above recorded, and after an address, and other religious exercises, conducted by Rev. S. Sentman, the committee reported that they obtained subscriptions to the amount of $780.00 and that they were otherwise encouraged to go forward with the work. Whereupon Jacob Mairing Jr. was appointed treasurer of the association, and various other preliminary arrangements made with a view to furthering the interests of the enterprise. The meeting then adjourned to meet again at the same place in two weeks, that is on Saturday, August 23rd., at 2 o'clock p. m.

August 23rd., 1851, a considerable number of persons assembled according to adjournment and after a discourse, and other religious exercises conducted by Rev. S. Sentman, about forty persons handed in their names as willing to aid in the enterprise. A congregation was then organized, a constitution adopted and suitable persons nominated as officers of the same, and September, 7th., 1851, immediately after preaching at Greenbush School house, was the time appointed for holding the first election for officers of this new congregation. After the transaction of some other business of minor importance the meeting adjourned.

The constitution and charter of the church are interesting and of value, and a copy will be given at the close of the history.

On September 7th., 1857, after a sermon preached at Greenbush school house, by Rev. S. Sentman, the qualified members of the congregation proceeded in accordance with the following officers; elders, Samuel Reck to serve two years and John N. Hoffman to serve one year; deacons, Jesse Sharetts to serve two years and Arthur McGuigan to serve one year; trustees, John Engler to serve two years and Christian Shriver to serve one year, and until the election and installation of their respective successors. These brethren were the same day regularly installed and instructed to enter at once upon the duties of their respective offices.

During the winter regular religious exercises were held at Greenbush school house by the pastor, and the building committee went forward with the work assigned them, procuring subscriptions and providing materials for the preparation to proceed with the building early in the spring. The various parts of the work were put under contract, and other necessary preparations were made. The bricks were hauled from John Hankey's on sleds during the winter. The lumber was bought at Wrightsville, and hauled from there on wagons; the lime was bought at Woodsboro, and also hauled from there.

As soon as the weather allowed in the spring, the work was commenced, and on the 27th. day of April, 1853, the corner stone was laid with appropriate solemnities. Rev. S. S. Schmucker D. D., and Rev. P. Anstadt, assisted the pastor on this occasion; the former delivered a discourse in the English language, read the service, and performed the ceremony of laying the corner stone which was placed in the brick wall about five feet above the ground, and the latter delivered an address in the German language. The Emmitsburg choir also favored the occasion with their presence and assistance.

After this, the work was pushed as rapidly as possible, and on October 24th., 1853, this church edifice was solemnly dedicated to the service of the Triune God by the same, style and title of the Rev. J. W. Englar, pastor from its organization until June 20th., 1858, and it was owing very much to his active, energetic and untiring zeal, that it was brought into existence. He labored faithfully in endeavoring to win souls to Christ, giving to both saint and sinner their portion in due season. But by the guidance of Divine Inspiration, he saw it to disconnect his pastoral relations with this charge, to accept a call from Barren Hill church, Philadelphia Co., Pa. After this Rev. L. T. Williams became pastor and entered upon his new field of labor at once.

On October 2nd., 1861 the following resolution was passed:
"Resolved, That all persons who are regular members of this congregation, or who do not contribute regularly toward defraying the expenses of the church, shall be required to pay not less than two, nor more than ten dollars, for the privilege of burying in the grave yard, unless in the opinion of the council they are too poor to pay anything." The above resolution was afterwards changed and was made to read as follows: "All persons who are not members of the church shall be required to pay for the privilege of burying in the grave yard. The amount to be paid for each grave shall not be less than one dollar, nor more than three dollars, amount to be determined by the church council."

Killed by a Trolley Car.

Charles Walter, son of Jerome Walter of Gettysburg, was run over and killed by a trolley car on the Gettysburg electric road on last Sunday afternoon; the facts in connection with which are as follows.

Mr. Walter was engaged in showing visitors over the battlefield, and had stopped his team before his house near the Taneytown road, and leaving his horse unhitched went to get a bucket of water. On his return, while the trolley car appeared and used it to become frightened, and in turning suddenly, the buggy was thrown around with great force which struck Walter and threw him on the track just in front of the car. Before he could recover himself he was caught by the car and dragged about one hundred feet, and on being extricated was dead.

A coroner's jury was summoned, and, on investigation, the company and its employees was exonerated from all blame, as it were shown by witnesses that the motorman, W. H. Johnson, did all he could to stop the car. He leaves a widow and five children. The fender in this case did no good, but assisted in cutting the victim's head and body.

GENERAL AND POLITICAL.

The republican campaign in Ohio opened on Tuesday at Springfield. Both Senator Sherman and ex-Governor Foraker declared in favor of the repeal of the tariff on protection lines.

Third term talk for President Cleveland is exciting considerable comment, even if the democratic leaders are almost unanimously opposed to his re-nomination. He is not known to have expressed himself on the subject, and no organized effort is being made by any one, yet it is thought that the people are quietly agitating the question, as it certainly is prominent from some cause.

Secretary Tracy has given orders that work on all ships shall be expedited, as well as on all other vessels for the Navy department. He says that this class of work, has for years, been allowed to progress too slowly, and that there is now no reason why ship building of this character in the United States should not be completed with reasonable dispatch.

The Spanish government has yielded to the representations of the United States in the matter of the payment of the Mora claim, and will pay it in Washington on the date agreed on, the 15th inst. The date named in the agreement falling on Sunday the business will probably be transacted on the following day. As the amount is large the payment will be made in exchange on London and the transaction will be conducted through the State Department.

The Columbian Liberty Bell will start on its trip around the world on Friday morning at 8 o'clock. It will first go to the Atlanta Exposition, to remain two months. Then it will be taken to New Orleans and the City of Mexico, and from there to Runnymede, England, where it will ring in commemoration of Magna Charta. The rest of the journey has not yet been planned, but it is the intention to have the bell reach Mount Ararat in 1900, and ring at a congress of representatives from every religious organization on earth.

Notwithstanding the vigilance of the Spanish authorities, Cuban revolutionaries succeeded in landing supplies for the revolutionists in Cuba. Recently a yacht was fitted out and manned by twenty-one young Cuban, sons of wealthy parents, the cargo of which consisted of arms, chesters of rifles, a million cartridges and 500 pounds of dynamite. A successful landing was made, but before the yacht could get away a Spanish cruiser appeared, and the crew disabled their vessel and struck inland to the camp of the insurgents.

The ninth contest for America's cup has again ended in a victory for an American yacht, the Defender having won in three of the five courses arranged for the race with Valkyrie. The first race was a clean heat with eight minutes to spare. The second was won by Defender by decision of the referees, on account of the fouling of the American vessel by the Valkyrie, which damaged the sails of the former, although the latter was only able even then to win by about one minute. The third was won by simply sailing over the course as Lord Dunsen declined to contest further for the cup saying that there was no guarantee for a clear course.

The annual reunion of the Grand Army veterans took place at Louisville, Ky., this week. It was a very enthusiastic affair, and the reception and the southern city was all that could be desired. Confederate veterans, in response to an invitation from the Grand Army committee participated freely in the various gatherings of the boys in Blue, and were untiring in their efforts to entertain the visitors. On Wednesday the grand parade took place in which about 45,000 veterans participated. The encampment was marred by an accident on the day of the great parade, by the accidental explosion of a caisson containing sixty-six pounds of powder, which killed three members of the Kentucky National Guard, and a colored driver. The accident cast a gloom over the city, and caused wide spread sorrow. It is estimated that 600,000 persons viewed the parade which was over four hours passing a given point. General Isaac N. Walker of Indianapolis was elected commander-in-chief of the G. A. R., and St. Paul was selected as the next place of meeting.

A Book for Young Men.

Edward Bok, the editor of The Ladies' Home Journal, has written a book for young men called "Success: A Young Man's Book for Young Men," which the Revels will publish in a fortnight. The book aims to cover all the important phases of a young man's life: his business life, social life, his amusements, religious life, dress, his attitude toward women and the question of his marriage. This is Mr. Bok's first book.

Since August 1st., any Michigan girl under eighteen years of age, wanting to get married, will have to get the written consent of her parents, or her father intended husband get it for her. A new law going into effect on that date requires that such a document be filed with the county clerk before the marriage license may be issued.

Owing to the scarcity of hay, the farmers in Michigan are curing pepper-mint plants. Experiments have indicated that they give better results than timothy hay, when fed to stock. Growers of pepper-mint have realized over $100,000 this season from the oil. It is fast taking the place in wet lands of other farm products.

The forty-ninth annual meeting of the National Council of United American Mechanics, was held in Philadelphia this week, and was attended by delegates from all over the country. The convention was welcomed by the Mayor, and a response was made by the National Councillor, W. N. Simons.

Last August while working in the harvest field I became overheated, was suddenly attacked with cramps and was nearly dead. Mr. Cummings, the druggist, gave me a dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy which completely relieved me. I now keep a bottle of the remedy handy. A. M. BURNETT, Centerville, W. ENGLAR'S.

Read this column each week during the Fall and Winter. It will be changed every other week, and will keep you posted.

The "Red Mark"

plan will be continued. Probably some people think that ENGLAR don't want to sell out because he still buys goods. The best answer to this is, first, send me a purchaser, then you will find out whether he will sell or not, and second, it is necessary to buy certain goods, in order to sell others, and also to keep my trade together in the event of not selling out.

The "Red Mark"

made the Summer goods go until there is almost none left. It must do the same thing this Fall and Winter. Next Spring I intend that my Clothing stock shall be very low—easy to sell, or leaving me to continue with an almost entire new stock.

The "Red Mark"

will be on every Suit and Overcoat in the store, which means on an average—Five Dollars worth of goods for Four. It is not necessary to take my word for this, as it won't cost a cent to find out by investigation. The chances are that you will investigate. Before you are ready for a Suit you may want a new Fall Hat.

The "Red Mark"

isn't on Hats, but it's about the same as if it was, so far as price is concerned. Eighteen years experience in business has learned me many things; among others, where to buy Hats. I will have more to say about prices later on. Better investigate in the meantime.

—OF—

SEASONABLE MERCHANDISE TO BE SOLD WITHIN THE NEXT 30 DAYS REGARDLESS OF COST.

It is the greatest reduction in prices that has been made in years, and not confined to one, two or three special lines, but extending to every department in the house. We are very much crowded with goods and to make a proper display of them we have decided to enlarge our first and second floors. Now you very well know what tearing down and rebuilding means. It means dust all over the fine as well as cheap goods, and the only remedy we know of keeping the dust and sand from getting into the goods is to get the goods away from it, and to accomplish this we have decided to sell the above amount of

STRICTLY NEW, SEASONABLE AND DESIRABLE GOODS at almost one-half the regular value.

MEMORABLE SALE

We shall make this a "MEMORABLE SALE" to our friends, patrons and the public in general in presenting such values, which can only be appreciated by an inspection of the same. When we say that this great "REBUILDING SALE" will surpass all that has gone before, our patrons from near and far are aware that

We Mean to Break all Previous Records for LOW PRICES.

To accommodate those who are unable to visit our store during the daytime we shall keep open at night until 9 o'clock.
