

THE CARROLL RECORD.

Vol. 2., No. 15.

TANEYTOWN, MARYLAND, SATURDAY, OCTOBER 12, 1895.

$1.00 Per Year.

LOCALS AND PERSONALS.

The first snow-flakes came on Wednesday.

Mr. Ezra Hawk severely injured one of his shoulders by falling from a wagon, one day last week.

Miss Annie Elliott will reopen her school on Monday, after having been closed for a week on account of her father's death.

Misses Virgie Ried, Nora, Hennie and Rosa Hess spent the week in York visiting friends and relatives, and attending the Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Fox of Littlestown, visited friends here on Sunday, and attended the C. E. Union service in the evening.

Seasonable items—stove-pipe and "cuss words," hard cider, red noses, chapped hands, sour-kraut, shell-barks and "punkin pie."

Misses Florence Lindeman and Kate Erb of Littlestown, were the guests of Miss Mabel Lambert on Saturday and Sunday last.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Zumburn and family, and Mrs. Thomas Baile and children of McKinstry's Mills, spent Sunday, at Joseph Kelley's.

Owing to an unusual amount of matter coming in this (Friday) morning, we are compelled to hold over several communications until next issue.

Apples and potatoes would likely sell if brought to town. Of course, the price is low, but if you have them to spare, it is best to take what you can get.

Our merchants are "cleaning up," preparatory to receiving the last installment of their fall purchases. Read their advertisements during the next few months.

The County Commissioners of Frederick have increased the reward offered for Charles Wilson, the colored assailant of Miss Jessie Jeans, to five hundred dollars.

Our legislative candidates are taking matters calmly, and no active canvass will be made. The people know them, and surely do not want to be asked personally for a vote.

The continued dry weather is having a tendency to steady the price of grain. While there has been no real advance in price, the drought is beginning to be a feature in the situation.

There will be no preaching at the Lutheran church on Sunday, on account of the pastor being absent at Synod. Mr. Charles M. Hess accompanied him as delegate. The Synod meets in Rev. C. C. Roth's church in Baltimore.

Master Carroll Reindollar, while on his way from Emmitsburg to Taneytown, last Sunday evening, lost his overcoat out of the buggy, some where between the two places. Finder will please send same to the RECORD-office.

E. C. Sauerhaner has rented a room from John J. Reid, and will open a cigar factory in a few days. Taneytown is coming up in the cigar business, as this makes the fourth factory. Mr. S. is a practical cigar maker, and understands the business, having had long experience. We wish him success.

A child of John A. and Carrie Garner, of Hagerstown, was buried from the Lutheran church this place, this (Friday) afternoon. It was about seven weeks old and died from Hydrocephalus. The body, accompanied by the father and mother, arrived here on Thursday evening by rail.

Governor Brown has removed election supervisor John C. Holland, republican, for incompetency, and has accepted the resignation of Cairnes, democrat. Captain Bians, against whom the charges were particularly directed, did not resign, nor will he be removed, as the governor thinks the charges have not been sustained.

A feature of the fair at Frederick, was the good order that was maintained, and the absence of gambling and swindling devices. State's Attorney E. S. Eichelbenger and the local Society for the Suppression of Vice were largely instrumental in bringing this result about, the members of the Agricultural Society heartily co-operating with them.

Rev. Dr. John G. Morris, the venerable Lutheran clergyman, died on Thursday night, aged 92 years. He had been falling for the past year, and his death was not unexpected. He published a lot of valuable theological and scientific works, and was the founder of the Lutheran Observer and one of the founders of the Lutherville Ladies Seminary.

The republicans held an enthusiastic meeting in Odd Fellows Hall, Westminster, on Tuesday night, at which the state candidates delivered addresses, as well as Wellington and Gaither. J. Frank Supplie and Prof. H. L. Edwards, of Baltimore, rendered a number of campaign songs with great effect, and the meeting was a pronounced success.

The weather continues dry and more wells and cisterns are falling. The farmers are sowing wheat in dust, practically, and grave doubts are expressed as to the chances of its sprouting. What is up, does not look very well. Fellow citizens, allow the RECORD to again call your attention to the water question. Will you not take the matter actively in hand this winter, so that something may be done next year?

The long and extensive litigation growing out of the Brix patent on a process for milling flour has come to an end in the Circuit Court of Appeals by agreement of the parties, whereby a decree has been entered in favor of the appellants, reversing the decree of the Court below sustaining the bill of complaint, and that the letters patent of the United States granted to Samuel M. Brix, for a process of milling flour, are valid and binding. Under the agreement of settlement members of the Millers' Association are exempt from any claim of damages.

NOTES HERE AND THERE.

First Assistant Postmaster General Jones has issued an order giving a ruling that no children under 15 can get any mail without an order from their parents.

The Baltimore club lost the temple cup, as the Cleveland won four out of five first games played. Baltimoreans say the Cup is only a "consolation" prize anyway.

Mayor Keedy of Hagerstown has vetoed the ordinance providing for a city hospital and sanitary regulations on account of imperfections pointed out as existing in the various sections of the ordinance.

One day last week Mr. J. Harman Culler, residing 2 miles north of Jefferson, Frederick county, had a horse to die from colic. While the dead animal was being dragged out to a field another horse saw it, and was so badly frightened that it fell dead.

The oyster crop is said to be one of the finest both in point of quality and quantity that has ever been known. The supply of Chesapeake Bay oysters is equal to the demand which comes from all parts of the land. These oysters have a delicious flavor and are considered by connoisseurs to be unequalled by any other. Only four months during the year are oysters deemed fit for table use, but notwithstanding this, almost any hotel or restaurant has them on the menu all the year round.

Hyattsville is to have water works. Plans for the same have been submitted by Engineer Adelsburg, of Baltimore, and a public meeting will be held on the 14th. instant. The scheme involves the expenditure of something like $15,000, which will have to be raised by the sale of bonds. It is proposed to construct a pumping plant will be erected, and the water pumped through eight-inch pipes to a stand pipe, from which the water will be distributed throughout the town by means of four and six-inch pipes.

J. Arthur Jones, the newly elected cashier of the Littlestown Savings Bank, took charge Tuesday. Although comparatively a young man, he has had wide experience as a banker, having been assistant cashier of the Miles National Bank of Delta this county, his native place, from whence he was called to a position in the First National Bank of Irwin, Pa., being highly recommended by the bank examiner for the position. He remained in Irwin until he was offered the cashiership of the Littlestown institution.—Hanover Herald.

Mr. Noah Schaeffer, a wealthy retired farmer, residing at the residence of Westminster, died at his home on Wednesday, in the seventy-third year of his age. His death was mainly due to a fall about two months ago, in which his hip was broken. He was a son of the late Jacob Schaeffer, and until his wife's death resided on the farm on which he was born. He was related to a large number of prominent and influential citizens of this county. He was a member of the Lutheran church and a republican. Two sons Messrs Ferdinand D. and George K. Schaeffer, of Westminster, and two daughters, Mrs. J. C. Hull, of Westminster, and Mrs. J. Wesley Myers, of Hanover, Pa., survive him.

Dr. J. H. Billingslea, health officer for this county, with a committee of citizens, have before the Mayor and Common Council of Westminster on Monday night and urged the passage of an ordinance to prohibit the keeping of hogs within the city limits. A special meeting will be held on Monday evening next to consider the ordinance. It is believed that the council will make it unlawful to keep hogs within the corporate limits after the first day of January, 1896. The Mayor and Council made the annual levy for the support of the city government last night, fixing the rate at twenty-five cents per $100 for general expenses, and five cents for water tax.

The Belt Line motor No. 1 on Sunday last hauled the heaviest load ever moved by any locomotive on earth. This was the pulling through the tunnel of forty-four loaded freight cars and three dead locomotives at the rate of twelve miles an hour. The weight of the train was 1,900 tons, and it consisted of the regular north-bound freight and the Canton local, the train containing seven more cars than any train previously pulled by the motor. The start was made on an upgrade, and required a pull of sixty thousand pounds to start and forty thousand pounds to keep moving on level. The load pulled was greater than could be moved by three steam locomotives. Electrical locomotive No. 2 will be completed in about two weeks.—American.

The seventy-sixth annual session of the Maryland English Evangelical Society was held at Grace English Evangelical Lutheran Church, Broadway and Gough street. No business whatever was transacted, but Rev. Edwin Heyl Delk, of Hagerstown, retiring president of the Synod, preached the synodical sermon. The occasion being the seventy-fifth anniversary of the organization of the Synod, a celebration was held in the basement of the church after the sermon, a collation being served, and several appropriate addresses being made. The business of the Synod began on Friday morning.

New Windsor, Md., Oct. 10.—Mr. Charles Devilliss was injured in a runaway here to-day. While engaged in hauling coal in a one horse wagon he placed his grandson, a child of five years, upon the horse, giving him the reins, while he took a seat in the wagon. The horse took fright and dashed down the street. Mr. Devilliss, while attempting to seize the reins, was precipitated from the vehicle and sustained a severe scalp wound, and, it is feared, internally injured. He has since been in a semi-conscious condition. The horse ran into a corner provision store, completely demolishing the show window and throwing the child under the pile of debris, over which the vehicle rapidly passed. The child escaped with little injury.—Cor. American.

SEMI-ANNUAL CONVENTION.

Carroll Co. C. E. Union.

The Carroll County Christian Endeavor Union will hold its ninth semi-annual convention in the Methodist Protestant church in Westminster, on Thursday and Friday, Oct. 17th, and 18th.

A preparatory meeting will be held in the Lutheran church on the Wednesday evening previous, at 7:30 o'clock. The topic for this meeting will be "Fitness for Service."

The convention sermon will be preached Thursday morning, in the Methodist Protestant church by Dr. W. H. Danbar, of Baltimore; subject, "Pledged Service." There will also be an address entitled "Personal Work for Souls" by Rev. C. A. Oliver, of York, Pa.

Thursday afternoon there will be the Secretary and Treasurer's report; an address on "Christian Endeavor" by Dr. J. W. Hering, of Baltimore; also a Temperance Address by Rev. Dr. Tagg, of Baltimore.

On Friday morning, reports from the Boston convention; committee conference, and an address on Missions by Dr. J. W. Hering, of Baltimore.

In the afternoon, the Junior Rally, with an address by Miss Laura J. Graddick. Also an address on "Individuality" by Dr. C. B. Birnie, and one on "Christian Endeavor Possibilities" by Rev. T. O. Crouse.

At night there will be an open conference to get the history of a Christian Endeavor Prayer Meeting; also a Temperance Address by Rev. Dr. Tagg, of Baltimore.

On Friday morning, reports from the Boston convention; committee conference, and an address on Missions by Dr. J. W. Hering, of Baltimore.

The new C. E. hymn book will be used at this convention.

Next week—Middleburg.

As has been previously announced, the History of Middleburg will be commenced in the next issue of the RECORD. After Middleburg, under the same heading, will come Bruceville, Keyesville, Double Pipe Creek and York Road.

James H. Koons of Middleburg is the history editor, and will be assisted by E. O. Want, John Rowman, E. H. Sharretts, George Dorn, Sr., Charles F. Roop, F. J. Shorb and W. W. Sweigart. For the convenience of persons who wish to subscribe for the RECORD, T. F. Birley will receive contributions and send to J. Shorb at Double Pipe Creek, and W. E. Kolb at Bruceville.

Every citizen of Middleburg district should subscribe for at least 3 months, at 25c. Single copies may be had at 3c each, providing those who desire to receive the paper, will notify one of the agents named, previous to Tuesday the 15th., as we do not print a large number of extra copies, and, unless ordered in advance, they may not be had. This history will be amply worth reading and preserving.

Miller—Hering.

An interesting wedding occurred in Westminster on Wednesday in the Methodist Protestant church of the city, the bride and groom, the junior partner of the firm of Miller Bros., and the bride was Miss Grace Etta Hering, daughter of Dr. J. Hering, cashier of the Union National Bank of Westminster. The wedding drew a large crowd, and the capacity of the church was greatly taxed to accommodate the friends of the bride and groom. The church, altar and pulpit platform were decorated with cut flowers, palms and ferns. Promptly at 11 o'clock, as the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march pealed forth from the organ, under the touch of the organist, Miss Anna E. Shriver. The ushers were Charles E. Hering, brother of the bride; E. Edgar Thomson, of Baltimore; William B. Burke, J. Shorb Neale, also of Baltimore. The bride's gown was of olive-green novelty cloth, with Persian and Indianescent trimming, hat and gloves to match, and she carried a large bunch of Bride's roses. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. D. Melvin assisted by the Rev. Calvin S. Magin. Immediately after the ceremony a luncheon was served at the residence of the bride's parents.

DAVIDSON.—On the 7th., near Linwood, Ellen, wife of Robert Davidson, aged 62 years and 7 months.

DEATH OF FRANK H. ELLIOT.

The news of the death of Mr. Frank H. Elliot, which reached here late last Saturday night, was received with universal sorrow and regret. The report spread rapidly, and the community was shocked as it probably never has been before. Mr. Elliot and his family was so well and favorably known, and so many family connections and warm friends had been made in the twenty seven years of his residence in Taneytown, that it followed as a natural consequence that his death, particularly as it was so sudden, should awaken the general sorrow that it did.

He had been unwell to some extent for several years, but not seriously so at any time, and always gave his business close and careful attention, not taking the amount of recreation necessary for his own good. The early part of last week he went to the store, and, as usual, called on Thursday, where he was attacked with cramps so severely that the attention of a physician was necessary. He was advised to take rest and be careful in diet for a time, but was well enough to start home, on Friday evening, which he did, going as far as Gettysburg, then to York Springs on Saturday morning, where he arrived about 9 a. m.

Finding a lot of goods waiting to be marked, instead of taking the rest which might have prevented the fatal attack, he promptly went to work in the store. In the afternoon at about half past two, after having eaten a somewhat heavy dinner, and while marking a lot of clothing, a spasm of pain attacked his heart; he was removed to his house adjoining the store, and medical aid summoned, but in twenty minutes life had fled.

The funeral services were held in the Lutheran church Taneytown, on Wednesday afternoon, and the interment in the adjoining cemetery; over five hundred persons being present on the occasion. Mr. Elliot was a member of Carroll Conclave, No. 333, I. O. H., which organization participated in the burial according to its ritual, this being the first death in the Conclave. He held a policy on his life in the I. O. H., for $1000, and one in the Equia for $200.

He leaves a wife and eight children, six daughters and two sons; the family removed to York Springs from this place, last April, and the business established there has been improving, with most excellent prospects. It is believed that the family will remain there and continue the business. He leaves a sister, Mrs. David Middour, of Illinois, and two half-brothers, Charles A., the well known hotel man, and David, who lives in Kansas.

Mr. Elliot, who had a strong desire to return their heartfelt thanks to the I. O. H., and to their numerous friends who so kindly extended their assistance and sympathy in this the saddest hour the family has yet known—the first occasion of the entry of death in its midst.

Resolutions of Respect.

When in the midst of life, vigor and usefulness, the All-wise ruler of the Universe in His goodness, He removed from earth, one in whom we are and have been interested, and with whom we have held counsel and had sympathy, and whose death has evoked in us more than a formal expression of regret and sympathy to those most intimately connected with him, and that the sympathy should be done to give expression to our feelings.

Resolved, By Carroll Conclave, No. 333, I. O. H., that, while we bow in humble submission to the will of our Heavenly Father, and accept what His wisdom decrees, we do hereby record our sorrow for what to us seems an untimely and sudden death of our brother, Mr. Frank H. Elliot, who departed this life, October 5th., 1895, in what appears to us the most useful and important period of his life, and when he was best prepared to be useful to us as a brotherhood, most helpful to the community in which he lived, and most helpful to the cause of his family.

That in the death of Francis H. Elliot, Carroll Conclave, No. 333, I. O. H., has lost a worthy and respected brother, the community and several other places in the town. All Christian Endeavorers are urged to take active part in this new evangelical feature, no matter what people may say; the results justify the work.

The exercises closed with singing of Hymn "Never say Good-bye," and Mizpah benediction.

Orphan's Court Proceedings.

MONDAY, Oct. 7th, 1895.—Charles S. Bond and Samuel W. Bond, executors of John T. Bond, deceased returned inventory of goods and chattels and inventory of money, and list of debts, and received orders to sell goods and chattels, and real estate, and notify creditors.

Michael H. Hoop and D. Meredith Reese, administrators d. b. n. c. t. a. of Michael Bartholow, deceased, returned inventory of leasehold property and received order to sell leasehold property.

TUESDAY, Oct. 8th, 1895.—Letters of administration d. b. n. c. t. a. on the estate of Samuel Winter, deceased, were granted to Isaac Winter.

Letters of administration on the estate of Susan Winter, deceased, were granted to Isaac Winter.

Letters of administration on the estate of Thomas J. Gorsuch, deceased, were granted to Laura T. Gorsuch and Harry K. Gorsuch.

Carroll County Banks.

A statement of the condition of the national banks was called for on the 28th of September. At that time the banks of Westminster had on deposit $293,730.25. This was a total of $152,507.32. First National $146,735.54 and the Farmers and Mechanics' $70,489.40. The First National of New Windsor had $70,358.73. The four banks had a total of $440,088.99.

The Savings Institute Savings Bank had total deposits of $494,458.46—$150,571.61 weekly and monthly and $343,916.85 special. The capital stock is $10,000 and the surplus $21,239.20. Geo. H. Birnie & Co., bankers of Taneytown, have $101,422.46 on deposit.

The Farmers' Savings Bank has a total of $104,458.46—$150,571.61 weekly and monthly and $343,916.85 special. The capital stock is $10,000 and the surplus $21,239.20. Geo. H. Birnie & Co., bankers of Taneytown, have $101,422.46 on deposit.

Look Out for Them!

The Hanover Herald tells of two schemes which are being practiced in Pennsylvania, which it would be well to look out for, though we scarcely think Maryland people are "green" enough to be so easily caught.

The farmers around Sherman's church are being victimized by a "fakir" going around in a stylish team and selling envelopes which are said to contain coupons entitling the holder to pianos, organs, &c. He sells the envelopes at $1 apiece, the money to be returned you try your luck. Of course you are lucky, and he tries to sell you more. After he succeeds in selling you or more, he lets a note with you addressed to "John," who is supposed to come after with a big team and deliver the goods. "John" never comes, you try your luck. "Experience is the best teacher," is brought into vogue again.

A soap agent is traveling through the adjoining counties selling a dozen pieces of soap for a dollar and giving a premium of 28 pieces of china ware. He gets the dollar, the purchaser gets twenty-five cents' worth of soap and the dishes never arrive.

MARYLAND DAY C. E. EXERCISES.

The three C. E. Societies of this place held a union service in the lecture room of the Lutheran church on last Sunday evening. The program, given below, was very interesting, and was excellently rendered. W. H. Harnish, of the Reformed society, conducted the services; Geo. H. Birnie, of the Presbyterian society, and President of the County Union, directed the singing, and H. K. W. Patterson presided at the organ.

Service of Song; consisting of hymns, "Sunshine in the Soul," "Onward Christian Soldiers," and "The Banner of the Cross."

Prayer, Rev. P. Riococo. Hymn, "Send the Light." Scripture reading, by Mr. Harnish, I Peter, 4th Chapter.

Message from the State President, read by Miss Margie Currens. Singing, "Maryland, my Maryland."

Sentence prayer, for State Union, its officers, &c. Hymn, "True-hearted, whole-hearted."

Five minute talks; first, on "Daily Prayer, and Bible reading," by Rev. Batenberg. He said in part—"Godly prayer is necessary, because our dangers continue, and because the loving kindness of the Lord continues toward us. The Bible is a revelation—the map of Heaven—a continual surprise. Cultivate a habit of reading every day, to be strengthened more and more; pray and read daily, whether in distress or not, or whether interesting or not."

Second—"Loyalty to the Church," by H. K. W. Patterson. The unanswerable argument to infidelity, is the consistency of the Christian. It has been examined, therefore, by the time immemorial, but no law has yet been found, and he remains the greatest example of loyalty to a consecrated conviction of duty. The world is seeking for flaws in the character of the Christian. It is not, therefore, to be true and unflinching to our duty to the church. If we gain the respect of the world, then we have their love. Do your duty loyally, whether you like it or not. Reward, is at the end of sacrifice, and is not to be sought.

Third—"Obligations to the Society," omitted for want of time.

Fourth—"The Consolation Meeting," by Rev. P. Riococo. The word "consolation" has apparently partly lost its meaning. It would seem from the program, that the meaning of that christian duty consisted wholly of the four subjects mentioned; we may do all these things, and yet not be a better christian. The character of our consecration meeting not all the term implies. Consecration in truth means preparation of soul, mind and heart for further work for Christ, and the acknowledgement of our weakness.

President Birnie made a brief address, in which he spoke of the new plan adopted in York, Pa., by Rev. C. E. Birnie, at a C. E. convention, which consisted in holding noon prayer meetings each day of the convention, in the various large manufacturing establishments of the city. The same idea was put in effect in Boston, at the last great convention, and Dr. Clark, the originator of the plan, is now in this city, and is giving the idea to the various places in the town. All Christian Endeavorers are urged to take active part in this new evangelical feature, no matter what people may say; the results justify the work.

The exercises closed with singing of Hymn "Never say Good-bye," and Mizpah benediction.

EMMITSBURG.

Miss Mary Call, an aged and highly respected lady died at the home of her nephew, Mr. William Sweeney, near this place, on Thursday, October 3rd. Her funeral took place on Saturday morning from St. Joseph's R. C. church of this place, of which she was a member, and evening services were conducted by Revs. Edward McSweeney and Manly, of Mount St. Mary's College.

San Marine better known as the Manning property, was sold last week at public sale. Mr. Jonas Summers, of Jefferson, was the purchaser. The farm contained 194 acres and was bought at $27.70 per acre.

Misses Sue Guthrie and Barbara Beam have returned from St. Joseph, after a pleasant visit of two months.

Rev. J. R. Lewis of Sabillasville, preached morning and evening in the Reformed church, last Sunday.

Mrs. Isaac Annan, E. L. Annan wife and son Ned, are on a visit to St. Louis, Md., where they are visiting Mrs. Annan's brother, Mr. Geo. Landers.

MAIDENSVILLE.

Early Monday morning Ellen, wife of Robert Davidson passed peacefully away from this life. Although she had been very infirm for some years, it was still thought that she would linger on for some time yet, therefore her sudden demise was a surprise to all. She was aged 62 years and 7 months, and leaves a husband and four children to mourn her loss. Interment took place at Winters church, Wednesday morning, Rev. G. W. Baughman officiating. The pallbearers were John Coombs, Emanuel Fisher, George Waltz, Abram Fritz, Reuben Winter and Henry Spellman.

Mr. W. J. Arthur, is able to be about again after being confined by a slight attack of typhoid fever.

Mrs. Mary Crumbaeker returned home on Monday, after a weeks visit to friends in Baltimore city.

Miss Mollie Spellman returned to Baltimore on Thursday, after spending the summer with her father Mr. Henry Spellman.

Mr. Ed Shamer is rejoicing that he didn't die.

The history of Maidensville was "great."

COUNTY CORRESPONDENCE.

HARNEY.

We desire to thank the many persons who so kindly subscribed for the CARROLL RECORD for the three months during which the History of Harney and the churches were published; it is quite a gratification for us to know that our feeble efforts have been appreciated, and we hope to try a new charge dynamite in the future, after having read the pages of the RECORD during this period of time, have decided to continue their subscription for one year. This can be done by sending the editor one dollar, or it can be handed to the Harney correspondent, who will promptly attend to the matter for you. Nearly all subscriptions expire on October 19th., and we have not forgotten our promise to have the paper discontinued at the expiration of the subscription; we would therefore kindly ask those who desire to discontinue, to inform us or the editor in regard to the matter, on or before that date.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hess and her grand daughter Miss Lethia Hess, started on Wednesday morning for a weeks visit to friends in Baltimore, we are informed that the old lady has not been in the city for 14 years, and that Miss Lethia has never been there; we know that the visit will be quite a treat to both, and the old lady being quite a close observer, will doubtless notice many changes.

Mr. J. Newcomer recently tried an experiment on his artesian well, and with good results. The well is about sixty-two feet deep and has been dry for a long time; so he decided that it could not be spooled and determined to try a heavy charge dynamite to the bottom. After the explosion the water began coming in at a very satisfactory rate, and since, there has been sufficient water for use. It is supposed that the rock was very much shattered in the bottom of the well, and perhaps new veins were opened up.

Mr. Clarence Ohler, while endeavoring to place a stone under a wagon wheel to prevent it from running backward, had the misfortune of getting one of his fingers badly smashed.

Miss, youngest daughter of Mr. Grier Shoemaker, has been seriously ill during the past two weeks; we are glad to say however at this writing she is much better.

Mr. Geo. W. Shriner has just completed a new eastern in his back yard. This will be a great convenience—that is if it rains to fill it up.

LITTLESTOWN.

In opening the RECORD last week, the first thing that greeted our eyes was a mark around a paragraph, and on reading it we at once concluded like the boy with the sugar plum, "it is for me," and to profit by it, we send a few items and will try and not have your readers to think again that we went into a hole and took the hole with us.

Mr. J. Arthur Jones, the new cashier of the Littlestown Savings Institution, took charge of our bank the 1st of October. Mr. Jones was recommended to this position by the state bank examiners. We welcome him to our midst, and trust he will aid in making our bank a successful financial institution.

The drought in this section still continues. A number of streams are reported as being dried up, and mills that have no steam power are in a dilemma.

Our Borough treasury was enriched by $10 fine for driving race by Albert Mehring and Edward Basehoar.

The 107th annual meeting of the United Brethren in Christ (old constitution) was held last week in Mount Pleasant church in the Cumberland Valley. Bishop H. T. Barnaby, of Michigan, presided. The report shows quite an increase in membership. In Littleton class there was a net increase over last years report of seven members. Littleton belongs to Chambersburg district of which the stationing committees are as follows; B. G. Huber, P. E.—Chambersburg, A. H. Shank, Greenscastle, W. R. Boulders, St. Thomas, J. C. Coulson; Alto Dale, G. W. Perrey; Rocky Spring, J. A. Hamilton; Mt. Pleasant, S. J. Nicholas; Shippensburg, D. J. Peters; Carlisle, J. S. Sollenberger; Mechanicsburg, S. Diller; Littleton, I. C. Wedler; York Springs, J. C. Pease; Manchester, P. Nicholas; Franklin town, J. A. Burkholder; Eschol, D. M. Hench.

EMMITSBURG.

Miss Mary Call, an aged and highly respected lady died at the home of her nephew, Mr. William Sweeney, near this place, on Thursday, October 3rd. Her funeral took place on Saturday morning from St. Joseph's R. ## The County Campaign.

The political campaign in this county, promises to be a very quiet one, so far as public meetings are concerned, unless there is a very sudden change in sentiment both on the part of leaders and the people. All persons concede that but very few votes are made by political speeches. In fact, they often do the party more harm than good, because a speaker who becomes warmed up on his subject is very apt to say something injudicious, which has a tendency to offend the conservative voter—the very power which both parties are now striving for.

The only real good that a noisy campaign does, is, to enthuse the members of the party, and bring them to the polls. If this same effect can be accomplished in some other way, then, there is no use for the regulation stamping campaign, with its attendant expense, and the great discomfort and strain it imposes on the candidates and party workers.

Voters do not wait, nowadays, to have someone tell them how to form an opinion, but read the papers and make a study of public questions, so that they can arrive at an intelligent conclusion without other more personal assistance. In this, as in all other matters, the modern newspaper is a great power in shaping public sentiment, and in educating the people to rely on conclusions, formed more or less gradually and intelligently, from written, not spoken, arguments.

Certainly, it would be incorrect to establish as an inflexible rule, that an editorial contains more of truth than a speech, yet it is safe to say that generally this is true. Most speeches are delivered impromptu, and without careful preparation, designed for immediate local effect, and not for publication and careful criticism. Newspaper articles, on the other hand, are written with the knowledge that they will be criticised, their truthfulness questioned, and any inaccuracies exposed, consequently they form a more reliable basis from which to draw conclusions, than speeches.

Carroll countians are readers and thinkers. The large majority of our voters are intelligent, and not easily swayed by personal argument or cash, yet they are not by any means blind partisans, and are each year found voting for friends and good men in the opposite party. This feeling, which is fortunately on the increase, is a sure indication that good government comes before party, and is a warning to those who make a business of politics, and a weapon of political power, that the people are not yet bound hand and foot to any particular organization which precludes the privilege of "getting" a ticket to vote for a superior man on the other side.

Reassessment as an Issue.

The most important questions before the people of this state, are, reassessment of property, taxation of mortgages and the question of free school books. The first is easily the most important and most talked of, and both the democratic and republican parties, promise in their platforms, that an equitable reassessment bill shall be passed. The only difference apparently between the two is, that the democrats have promised the same thing before, and, while they had the power, failed to keep the promises.

The difficulty in passing a bill satisfactory to all people of the state, is greater than it looks; and, even in the state outside of Baltimore city, there are numerous opinions on the matter, as to details. Of course it is generally understood that reassessment will favor the rural districts, as against the city, yet the leaders in the city are apparently as much in favor of the popular cry as anyone, and it remains for the assembling of the next legislature to show whether they are sincere, or just "playing policy."

The Maryland Journal of last week contained an editorial, on the subject, a portion of which we reproduce. While it is of a decidedly sarcastic character, no doubt it hits the truth pretty accurately, anyway, we give it space as tending to show the various elements in the great question now before us.

"All the fair-minded people in the State demand is a just reassessment of every citizen to be equitably assessed upon all the property he owns, real and personal. The people in the counties cannot escape taxation, for their property is all, or nearly all, visible. The farmer cannot hide his land or his stock or farming implements in his coat pocket, and if he should be so "unfortunate" as to make more than a living off his property, it very often follows that he has a mortgage note or interest to pay his legal friend or city broker, upon a mortgage which is held against his property. It is useless to deny the fact that a large number of people would not pay any taxes if they could get out of it. All want good government and plenty of opportunity to make money, but do not want to pay taxes to secure it. Hundreds of farmers want good macadamized roads, plenty of large comfortable school houses, first class teachers, and are willing to pay reasonably for them.

Quite a number want "first-class roads" constructed after the anti-diluvian mode; no school houses, requiring each citizen to pay for the education of his children at private schools, and do not want county taxes to be more than 25 cents on the $100, as it is useless to waste so much money. We are sorry to say we have some of the latter kind of people in Baltimore county. They are continually "throwing it up" that they remember the time when the road tax was only 15 cents and school tax only 4 cents on the $100, and they don't see why the county government cannot be conducted on such sums now. We are personally acquainted with a few such people, men who own large farms which they inherited, men who believe education should consist of "reading," "ritin'" and "rithmetic," and that it is all nonsense to pay school teachers more than $250 per annum. Men who think the County Clerk, Register of Wills, Sheriff and Treasurer, ought to get along well and make money on $1,000 a year, and they know plenty of persons who would be glad to take those offices at such sums. These are the men who grow with a forked stick because their great-grandfathers did it. Thank fortune, however, there are but few of such people now, but they continue to make a big noise. The march of improvement has swept them to one side, and all they do is to growl. They can teach parties how to run a political campaign, though, as sleek as grease, and are generally the people who stand prominently forward for R-E-F-O-R-M, with a big R. But as the world owes its progress to live men who take things as they are, it is useless to repine over the narrow minded. The big-hearted man wishes an equitable reassessment of property and is willing to have a generous sum appropriated to conduct the government of his State, or county or city. He is not all the time imagining that officers of his State, county or city are rogues, stealing the money of the people, hiding it away, or spending it in riotous living."

The "Eleventh Hour" Trick.

Pennsylvania passed a law at the last session of its legislature, which is aimed to prevent the disreputable practice of the modern politician, in publishing the "eleventh hour" campaign lie. A law of this character should be in force in every state. The provisions of the act are as follows: "That whoever writes, posts or distributes or causes to be written printed, posted or distributed, a circular poster, cartoon or other written or printed paper, which is designed or tends to injure or defeat any candidate for nomination or election to public office by reflecting upon his personal character or political actions, unless the same shall be published in a newspaper lawfully responsible therefor, or unless there appear upon such circular, poster or paper, in a conspicuous place, either the names of the chairman and secretary or at least the names of two officers of the political or other organization issuing the same, or the name of some duly registered elector, with description of his election district, as responsible therefor, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $100, or by imprisonment in the jail not exceeding six months, or both, and if the statement is untrue, the person so offending shall also be deemed guilty of libel, and may be prosecuted in the civil or criminal courts."

Keeping up the Gold Reserve.

This was a matter, it would seem, with which poor Mr. Carlisle and the government of the United States ought to have had no direct concern. It should have concerned only those who were importing and exporting commodities, or who were interested in the purchase or sale of interest-bearing securities; and the agency through which to effect these payments of money due in Europe, ought naturally to have been the banks.

International trade balances are always settled in gold; and since we had balances to settle, there resulted inevitably, of course, what is known as the flow of gold from America to Europe. There is no reason whatever why gold, like iron or bread, stuffs, should not flow to the place, where it is wanted; and if the United States government could only have been kept out of the business there would have been nothing for the average American citizen to worry about in this temporary transfer of gold from New York to London.

But it so happens that it has long been the policy of the United States government to keep lying idle in its treasury vaults the vast sum of at least $100,000,000 in gold for the purpose of making it practically certain that the government will always be ready to redeem in gold coin as many of the outstanding greenback treasury notes as anybody may choose to present. This fact, to a considerable extent, relieves the banks of the trouble and expense of keeping large gold reserves for the accommodation of their customers. Inasmuch as the outstanding greenback circulation is in round figures $346,000,000, it becomes a very simple matter for bankers and brokers, when they want gold to send to Europe, to present greenbacks for redemption at the sub-treasury in New York.

Highest of all in Refining Power.—Latest U.S. Gov't Report

The situation seems to call imperatively for two things. First, some way should be found to relieve the treasury from the needless and improper burden of keeping a gold stock that is at the mercy of any one who may find it profitable to draw out gold for export. The cost of this plan of carrying gold is likely, in the long run, to prove almost if not quite as great as the interest upon the whole volume of greenbacks would be if the notes were turned into a part of the bonded debt.

The second thing which it would seem necessary to do, is to adopt, by the simplest means possible, some measure for the increase of the national revenue. It has been suggested by good financiers that an addition to the existing federal taxes on beer and whiskey would quite suffice to make the income equal to the outgo. It will be a republican Congress which will assemble just two months hence. But it ought not to be impossible for a republican Congress and a Democratic executive to agree promptly upon some measure for the relief of the treasury. Patriotism should for once get the better of mere party motives.—From "The Progress of the World," in the October Review of Reviews.

Exposition Notes.

Since our last issue, subscriptions of Exposition Stock have multiplied in a surprising and satisfactory manner, and the people of Baltimore are making a substantial recognition of the great enterprise. Delegates to the National Association of Letter Carriers at Philadelphia, Pa., to the National Association of Railway Post Office Clerks at St. Paul, Minn., and to the National Convention of Foresters at Cleveland, Ohio, all suggested the propriety and desirability of holding the Annual Conventions of said Orders in this city during the Exposition period in 1897. The proposition met with a favorable response in each case, and the present outlook is that in 1897 Baltimore will have an influx of National Conventions never equalled in point of numbers or importance in any city of this country.

Baltimore will have some notable additions to its list of hotels in '97, as negotiations are now under way for the erection of several large hostels. The Exposition of '97, in Baltimore, is now the objective point of the most prominent exhibitors and concessionaires at Atlanta. Many of them have signified their intention of coming here if space can be secured. Clarence Hodson, of Crisfield, Md., offers to exhibit at the Centennial Exposition in '97 an Oyster Museum comprising oysters of all sizes and descriptions. The Exposition Association will probably accept this Museum, as it will play an important part in the exhibits connected with the propagation and uses of the oyster.

Mr. J. K. Fowler, secretary and treasurer of the Corinne Mill, Canal and Stock Co., of Corinne, Utah, in speaking of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy says: "I consider it the best in the market. I have used many kinds but find Chamberlain's the most prompt and effectual in giving relief, and now keep no other in my home." When troubled with a cough or cold give this remedy a trial, and we assure you that you will be more than pleased with the result. For sale by R. S. McKinney, Druggist, TANEYTOWN.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Improving the Quality of Cows.

I believe it is a mistake to claim or urge, as is often done, that the farmer should only keep thoroughbred cows. Such a cow is almost impracticable, as a large class of farmers could not afford to make the sacrifice that would be necessary in selling off all the common cows and purchasing full-bloods.

Selling Farm Stock.

In weeding out the flocks for selling many points must be considered. When the animal has outlived its usefulness it should be sold at once. A cow that is producing more beef than milk and cream when liberally fed should not be wintered.

But there are plenty of common cows that are profitable, that yield a quantity and quality of milk that pay a good profit on their cost and keep, and a really good common cow is as desirable an animal—in fact, more so—than an unprofitable full-blood, because there are unprofitable thoroughbreds as certainly as there are unprofitable scrubs.

The principal advantage in the full or thoroughbred is the ability and certainty of transmitting its qualities to its offspring. When we breed a full-blood to a full-blood we know reasonably well what to depend upon in the offspring, and, while much improvement is possible by selection in breeding the scrub, there is much less certainty in the results.

Fitting a Japanese Room.

A Japanese room in an American house does not mean so much the furnishing of a certain limited amount of space with a large collection of Japanese objects and material, as it does a perfect fusion of Oriental with Occidental ideas.

Whatever is Japanese that will adapt itself to the requirements of our American civilization we may apply to our needs in the furnishing of such a room. I do not think that a plentiful supply of fans, lanterns, vases, umbrellas and screens will properly meet these requirements.

How to Get Rid of Weeds.

Any species of weeds can be subdued and controlled within the limits of an ordinary farm, and unless the value of the land is low from other causes, may be profitably undertaken. If the weed is an annual, reproducing itself from seeds only, it may be subjected by preventing seed production.

A French writer says that every mistake in life may be traced to fear. But there is one mistake which must be traced to ignorance. When one of our readers is suffering with a sick-headache, and does not know the easy method of cure, his mistake is not due to fear but lack of knowledge.

The flocks should be weeded out late in summer. One should not wait too late in autumn for this work. Mark those that are doomed to be killed, and while they are pasturing in the field see that they get plenty to eat. Later in the season they should be kept together in a separate yard. Feed them liberally, and give them as little exercise as possible.

HISTORY OF LINWOOD.

BY J. P. GARNER, 1895.
PART VII.

THE ENGLAR'S.—(Continued.)

A Record, or Log Book, now in the possession of Mr. Samuel Englar, near Linwood, shows that some of the Englar ancestors were ship captains as the book though much mutilated gives partial reports of several voyages. The first date plainly given is Sept. 20, 1771, at the head of the following: "The first part of this 24 hrs., pleasant weather, at 2 p. m. spoke a Brig from New Castle, Geo. Callender, bound to Boston, out 8 weeks. At 4 p. m., saw a sloop standing to the northwest, and at 2 a. m. carried away our Toppinlift, got in the Boom and hauled M. S., at 8 a. m. got it spliced, and set M. S. and in square sail."

A large portion of the writing is in German, and both English and German writing was well executed, and yet plain. The other entries in the book are of the character of the one given. Further on we find the following: "Journal of a voyage from St. Johns, Newfoundland, in the good Sloop, Garland, Adam Englar, Master, and by God's permission bound for Teneriff, Saturday the 10th, of October, 1773." In addition to Adam, we find the names of Philip, Jacob and David Englar, the latter of which, makes the following startling announcement:

"David Englar, his hand and pen, He will be good, but God knows when."

The Jacob Englar mentioned in the last article, had two sons, Aaron and Conrad; Aaron went west and nothing is known of him or his descendants. He also had two daughters, Margaret who married Ephraim Brown and Elizabeth who married a Beam, who for a number of years was flour inspector in Baltimore.

The family of Conrad Englar (who once owned the farm now owned by E. O. Garner at Copperville) is as follows: Henry, now living in New Windsor, Sarah, who married Elder Jesse Fox; Mary, who married Thom as Russell, of Union Bridge; Hannah, who married Elijah Bond, and John and William.

The Frederick Englar, whose descendants live near Uniontown, does not seem to be connected with the other branches in this section. He, with two brothers, came here from Germany when quite young. There seems to be a probability that the correct spelling of the name is with an "e"—Englar, as most of the old records contain the name that way; but, when the change was made, or why, it is impossible to say. It may be possible too, that originally there was two separate families, Enzlar and Englar, and that the two have since become amalgamated.

PIPE CREEK CONGREGATION of the German Baptist church. (The material for this sketch was contributed entirely by Dr. Lee Royer, who is a member of the congregation, and fully conversant with its history.)

As near as can be ascertained this congregation was organized about the year 1770. In the quite early history of the church no records were kept, and after a lapse of a century and a quarter, many dates and interesting facts are obliterated. The best sources of knowledge extant on the subject lead to the conclusion that this date can not be far wrong. Certain it is, however, that it was the first German Baptist church in Maryland, and is the great pioneer of all the churches of this denomination in the eastern district of Maryland. Her founders were plain earnest people, and their work has been abundantly blessed.

Prominent in the "earliest" history of this congregation were Daniel Saylor, (or Seiler as the name was then spelled) and Philip Englar. The first meetings were held on the farm of the latter, either in a log school house or in his home, and were known as the Pipe Creek congregation. Daniel Saylor came from Pennsylvania. He was baptized by Michael Pfoutz in the old Onestogo church on the 27th of November, 1750, and shortly afterwards moved to Maryland within the limits of the Pipe Creek congregation, where he was for many years bishop. Later on when the Beaver Dam congregation was organized, the Saylor's all emigrated thither, leaving the work in the hands of Philip Englar, who was an Elder during Saylor's administration, and in warm sympathy with the work.

The ministers of the annual meeting show that he succeeded Saylor as bishop, and continued in office until his death in 1817. David Englar of Priestland Valley, son of Philip, was the next bishop. Jonathan Plaine and Christopher Johnson were ministers about this time. Following David Englar is a period of a few years in which the congregation seems to have been without a bishop, probably under the oversight of a bishop of a neighboring congregation. Then came Philip Boyle, who was ordained bishop in 1844, and served for upwards of 30 years. He was assisted during this period by Jesse Roop, Michael Petry, Jesse Rover, David Miller, Howard Hillery, Hanson Senseney, Stamer and others. Hanson Senseney followed Boyle as bishop, and served until 1880, when he disagreed with the church on doctrinal points. The ministers of this period were Solomon Stoner, E. W. Stoner, Wm. Franklin, Amos Caylor, Joel Roop, and Uriah Bixler.

Solomon Stoner was the next bishop, and still continues in office. E. W. Stoner, who has served in the ministry since the 20th of April, 1880, was ordained a bishop in 1885. The present ministers are Greenbury Ecker, and Philip Englar, a great grandson of the honored founder of the church. It is a matter of rejoicing that he has taken up the ministerial work, leaving a gap of one generation in the Englar line of ministers. It is the ardent hope of the church, that he may be a worthy successor of his predecessors, and in labors more abundant than they.

In 1806 a brick meeting house was erected to meet the demands of the increasing congregation. In 1800 the building was remodelled and enlarged. It was then a plain brick structure with a seating capacity for 600 people. In 1891 this was found too small for the membership, notwithstanding the half dozen congregations already formed from it. The present brick building though not pretentious in point of architecture is commodious and substantial, in full harmony with the plainness of their belief. It now furnishes seating capacity for over 1000 persons.

Eleven years ago a Sunday school was organized with Greenbury Ecker, John E. Senseney, and Uriah Englar as Superintendents. This was somewhat of a venture at the time and was not approved by some of the more conservative members. It has succeeded admirably and has continued under the control of the same officers till this spring, when Philip Englar was elected superintendent; the school numbers nearly 300. From this parent congregation have sprung, Beaver Dam, Rocky Ridge and Locust Grove congregations. The Rocky Ridge church was organized by Daniel P. Saylor, a man widely known and honored. It is the original Pipe Creek congregation numbering nearly 700 members, was divided into three congregations with the home one, the new points being Meadow Branch and Sam's Creek.

The following are the congregations with their respective bishops: Beaver Dam, George Sappington; Rocky Ridge, Dan. R. Saylor; Meadow Branch, E. W. Stoner; Sam's Creek, Wm. Franklin; Locust Grove, Samuel Utz; Frederick, George Bruner; Pipe Creek, Solomon Stoner. Thus from one small congregation in a new country, have grown seven flourishing ones, with a membership in the aggregate of nearly 1500.

A large cemetery is near by; recently it has been enlarged and surrounded with a substantial iron fence. Of late years a large number of young people have been brought into the church, who have increased its strength and activity. Foreign mission work is beginning to claim their attention. This denomination has mission points in India and China, also in Denmark and Sweden, of which the Pipe Creek congregation is a liberal supporter.

They are also actively engaged in home mission work. James Quilan is conducting a successful mission school and a Bible class in Baltimore; likewise in Chicago active work is being done. Two annual meetings have been held at this point, the first in 1827 and the second, in 1867.

With this we close our sketch, imperfect and limited as it must necessarily be, and we ask the gentle criticism of those who could have done it better, and return thanks to those who willingly contributed to make it what it is. We are under special obligation to Dr. Lee Royer, who has been a tireless worker in the collection of material.—J. P. G.

(The history of Linwood, and all that has appeared under this heading, has been very interesting to many of our readers, and particularly satisfactory to the Editor of the RECORD, both personally, and as a representative of the paper. We return thanks to Mr. Garner for his efforts, and to Nathan Englar, for his kindness in forwarding many new subscribers, and to all others who have in the slightest contributed to the success of the work.—Ed.)

GENERAL AND POLITICAL.

Amelia Rives Chandler, has secured a divorce from her husband, simply on the grounds of "incompatibility." There was no opposition on the part of Mr. Chandler.

General William Mahone, of Virginia, died on Tuesday afternoon at the Hotel Hamilton, Washington. He had been stricken with paralysis on Sept. 29th., and his life ebbed gradually away from that time.

U. S. Grant, Jr., has purchased the Hotel Grant in San Diego, and will convert the property into a first class hotel. This is the third considerable investment made by the Grants in business property in that city, where they also own three fine residences.

Ex-Congressman Benjamin Butterworth has been engaged to deliver a series of lectures on the patent statutes and the general principles of the patent law before the students of the Columbian University at Washington. Mr. Butterworth was once commissioner of Patents.

The records of the Treasury Department show that 1,322 persons paid income taxes aggregating $77,130 before the adverse decision of the Supreme Court in its constitutional ruling was rendered. Of the whole number 709 have applied for and been refunded the amount paid, aggregating $48,545.

A fusion ticket has again been agreed on for New York city, by all the opponents of Tammany, and all the factions are represented on it. The "straight-ticket" republicans are much disappointed, but the decision largely guarantees the defeat of Tammany. The convention adopted the local option idea.

Reports from the rebellion in Cuba continue to be somewhat conflicting. The fighting seems to be of the character of raids, made by comparatively small bodies, in which both sides win and lose engagements. The Spanish government has decided to send a new lot of generals, and more troops to the island. Immense loss has been inflicted in the Vuelta Abajo by flood and cyclone.

It has come to the knowledge of the civil service commission that funds are being solicited from employes of the government for campaign uses in Ohio. Both democrats and republicans in the government printing office have received copies of circular stating that it has been desired to contribute to the campaign, and states to whom contributions may be sent.

It has been noticed recently that there is great and quite unusual activity in the government dock-yards at different ports of Spain and the workers are busily at work refitting cruisers and gunboats. In addition it has become known that the government has decided to arm the steamships belonging to the Spanish Trans-Atlantic Company and it is believed that these preparations are due to the belief that there is a possibility that the United States may recognize the Cuban insurgents as belligerents.

E. Spencer Bates, United States consul at Singapore, is making an effort to introduce the cultivation of Sumatra tobacco into the United States, in view of the high price it commands, and its superiority for wraps. In a report to the State Department he says that this tobacco is suitable for growing in Lower California and on the southern coast of the United States. Consequently, he has addressed himself to the task of finding seed, and finding it impossible to obtain through official channels, owing to the restrictive laws of the Dutch planters, he has procured a supply from private sources, and will forward it to the Agricultural Department. His report gives a condensed description of the method of culture.

The Florida Athletic Club has moved its headquarters to Hot Springs, Ark., where it will hold its pugilistic carnival of three days, commencing October 31, the date originally selected and already given out. All the parties to the contests, including Robert and Fitzsimmons, have fully agreed and the matter is settled. Governor Clark, of Arkansas, refuses to say anything at this time about the change, but will take such steps as the law authorizes.

H. N. Pillsbury the winner of the chess tournament at Hastings, England, yesterday received word from P. Saszurof, honorary president of the St. Petersburg Chess Club, for mally inviting him to take part in the proposed tournament of chess masters before the club. Steinitz, Tarrasch, Lasker and Schigorin have also been invited. The club proposes to pay all expenses and offers prizes aggregating $1,545.

Dr. Behring at the Lubbeck congress of German physicians read a paper in which he held that his anti-toxin treatment of diphtheria has continued to be most successful. Mortality has decreased in all hospitals where anti-toxine is used. In Germany alone in the last year 1,000 lives of children, he estimates, have been saved by its use. The mortality in cases of diphtheria will ultimately be reduced, he thinks, to 5 per cent. He is of opinion that it is time to begin a general vaccination of children with the serum as a preventive against diphtheria. It is possible to manufacture the serum in such strength that the injection of only half a cubic centimetre suffices to give complete immunity to children who are not already attacked.

The Japanese have expressed confidence in their abilities to construct modern warships. The Cramps and the Union Iron Works had both expected to submit bids for the work, and several of the smaller firms were also hopeful of securing some of the Chinese indemnity fund. Now Japan says that the rehabilitation and rebuilding of her navy will be undertaken at home, and that her mechanics, naval architects, ordnance-makers and armor factories are to receive the contracts. This policy is said to be one of encouragement of home industries, and those parts of a ship and its equipment that can be made in Japanese territory will not be built all. Where she finds that her ordnance plants and armor manufacturers are not equal to the task new plants for the deficiency are to be erected.

Cigar Smoker's Rules.

A few plain directions for cigar-smoking are given in the columns of an exchange by an aged smoker and cigar manufacturer. They are:

First—Buy none but new cigars; the more the better. Old cigars that are dry and brittle are avoided in those countries where smoking is a second nature.

Second—Leave the ashes upon your cigar until they fall off. A cigar not only burns straighter while the ashes remain, but it tastes much better. To keep knocking the ashes off is a misdemeanor.

Third—If your cigar goes out, be sure to blow through it as soon as possible. You will see some dead smoke leave it that would become a nuisance to make your cigar stink if left in it.

Fourth—You cannot tell whether a cigar is good or bad unless you light it properly; that is to say, thoroughly. After you think you have lit all around, do it again to make sure. There is no perceptible difference between a tenement house stinker and a dollar cigar, if both are badly lighted.

Fifth—Don't smoke too much, and don't smoke a good cigar while you are walking out of doors, or while you are driving. All right about general Grant, but don't you mind it.

Sixth—If you think smoking is injurious to your health, stop smoking in the early morning. Two-thirds of the people of this country have their stomachs out of order, and no man can smoke in the morning—before, or after breakfast. I can't explain it, but the body revolts against tobacco until a few hours after getting up. Then you long for a smoke, and enjoy it. I thought smoking was killing me until I quit it in the morning. The best time to smoke is after dinner and after supper, and straight ahead until bedtime. Smoking would not hurt a baby if this rule was followed.

Seventh—Don't make a smokestack out of your mouth by continually puffing on your cigar and spilling its taste by getting it hot. Take your time.

Eighth—Never give anybody a light from your cigar. Carry matches and peddle them out; but, if a man wants a light from your cigar, tell him that you would rather change cigars, since yours would be much harmed, if not ruined, by the crushing and sucking it would go through. Finally, never buy a cheap cigar. There is no economy in the practice. If you can't afford good cigars, smoke less.—The Tobacco World.

They Ate Raw Crabs.

This is the tale that is told of a leading Baltimore chemist and prominent figure in the Maryland naval reserves, who came to Baltimore several years ago from North Carolina and set up his household goods in the western section. He and his better half had heard of the Chesapeake bay crab described in glowing language as a toothsome Maryland delicacy and determined to taste the epicurean delights of the shell-fish.

"We'll have crabs for tea," his wife said as he left home in the morning, and all that day visions of a delicious repast fitted through the mind of the southerner. He came home that evening, took his seat at the evening board and prepared to enjoy. His wife entered the room, carrying a plate on which several crabs, in the sealer's state, were piled and crawled.

"Ain't you going to cook 'em?" said the husband glancing distrustfully at a fat peeler as he stabbed it under the fifth rib and transferred it to his plate.

"Certainly not," was the reply, "they're eaten raw like oysters, you know."

He didn't know, however, and for the next few moments two people engaged in a desperate struggle trying to try the shells off a couple of peelers just hard enough to object to the proceedings. The husband made several remarks regarding a crab's personal condition of cleanliness and said the crustacean ought to take a liver regulator. Then convinced that something was wrong in his wife's preparation he went to the back fence and obtained a neighbor. What the neighbor said and what was promised not to tell is a record preserved in secret by the naval reserve man and his wife but crabs have since been conspicuous by their absence from his table.—Baltimore World.

The "Red Mark" Sale

is altogether a selfish institution. I do not presume to insult the intelligence of the people by intimating that I can afford to sell goods at wholesale prices, or that I am so anxious for the people to buy cheap that I am philanthropic enough to lose money for their sake. My sole idea is to benefit myself by reducing stock so low that I can sell it next spring. If I can do this—the "Red Mark" will have answered its purpose. If no purchaser is secured—then I have lost money which might have been saved. We will work out the plan as begun,
