

NOT FINISHED, But coming to the front rank in circulation, where it always has been in quality.

Local and Personal

This is meant to be a purely LOCAL NEWS column, to which the RECORD invites contributions. Events of local importance, whether current or in the near future, accidents, cases of extreme poverty, church happenings, marriages, deaths, etc., should be reported to the Editor in writing, otherwise they will not appear.

Rev. Ephraim Angell left on Wednesday evening for his Iowa home. Dr. R. S. Seiss, of Littlestown, paid our town a brief visit on Wednesday.

Mr. Percy Shriver has been appointed postmaster at Trevanion this district. Mrs. H. Meier is spending some time in Washington, D. C., on a visit to her parents.

Mrs. George Blumenour spent last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. J. Fink. The first of April came and went, and yet, the bills are not all paid. More people are being "April-fooled" every year.

Many changes of residence have taken place in town and neighborhood this week—too many to notice separately. If you have been one of the "movers" this spring, have your Insurance Policy indorsed so as to cover in the new location.

Instead of writing to the RECORD, subscribers should write direct to J. Y. Tribune or World when a change in address of either is desired. The past two weeks have been "growing weather," though very wet and disagreeable for moving. Local crop conditions are generally very promising.

J. Bernard Gardner has returned to New York, to continue his studies. Miss Gertrude Gardner returned from a 10 days trip spent in Baltimore on business and pleasure. Mrs. Elizabeth Klinger, wife of Prof. O. G. Klinger, of Gettysburg, well known here, died on Sunday afternoon last. She was a sister of Mrs. John A. Swope, of Gettysburg.

Calvin T. Fringer has bought from John Stonifer the land he recently purchased from Robert S. McKinney. If Mr. Fringer never makes any worse investments he will never lose any money. A delegation of Heptasophs from this place, composed of N. B. Hagan, W. W. Crayster, Chas. A. Elliot and Prof. Henry Meier, participated in the funeral exercises of Harry Gilbert who was buried in Littlestown on Monday.

Mr. C. G. Sauerhammer, formerly of this place, will remove to Piedmont, Virginia, next week, and engage in the cigar manufacturing business. He thinks there is a good opening at the place, as there is not a factory there, or in the immediate section. Abram Thomson, of Delaware, Ohio, the oldest of the Thomson family of this place, is lying critically ill with slight hope of recovery, owing to his advanced age. Mr. Thomson is the oldest ex-Idor in Ohio, a brief biography of whom was published in the RECORD a year or more ago.

We are indebted to the gentlemanly agent of the Chamberlain Medicine Company for a bottle each of their Pain Balm, Cough Remedy and Cholera Remedy. Now that we have these excellent preparations at hand, editorial troubles will no doubt lie in disgust and hunt up more vulnerable victims. The following local was handed in for publication: "Last Sunday, while Mr. and Mrs. Claudius Long and little daughter Ellen were visiting Mrs. Long's father, a little boy called at their home with a basket, and when asked what he wanted, said he had 'Come for Ellen.' Mr. Long had better look out, if the boys are coming already."

Mr. J. H. Taylor, who has been overseer at Trevanion for many years, has returned to his home in Emmitsburg where he will pass the rest of his days. Mr. Taylor, during his stewardship, has always conducted the affairs of the McFadden estate with pronounced ability, and leaves many friends in this neighborhood. The best wishes of the RECORD accompany him.

If our friends in Harneytown will offer some inducements, aside from subscribing to several 'phones, we think it highly probable that the Western Maryland Telephone Co., will build a line between that point and this. It is often the case that a town can furnish poles, for instance, at a very small cost, while this cost, if assumed by the Company, would be considerable. If undertaken by Harney influence, no doubt many poles would be contributed gratuitously, which would not be the case should the Company make the effort. This idea is worth working out, as telephonic connections for Harney would be a great benefit to the place.

The Southern Railway Company has closed a contract for the transportation of about 300 Maryland delegates and their friends to the annual convention of the Christian Endeavor Society to be held in Nashville, Tenn., next month. The delegates from all parts of Maryland will go to Baltimore, where they will board a special train, which will be provided with every convenience. The route will be via Ashéville, N. C., Chattanooga, Tenn., and other interesting southern points. Stops will be made en route to enable the tourists to see the sights of these places.

COUNTY AND STATE.

News Notes of General Interest from various Sources. Folger McKinney, who has been editor of the Frederick Daily News, has accepted a position with the Evening News, of Baltimore. Mr. McKinney was generally known and appreciated as a man of extraordinary ability.

Edward M. Shindle, democrat, was elected mayor of Hagerstown, on Monday, by a majority of 61 over the present incumbent, M. L. Keedy, republican. The city has usually gone democratic, but Mr. Keedy was twice elected by small majorities, this being his third effort.

Frank Brengle, residing near Frederick had the family horse in the yard grazing, when the animal suddenly turned around and kicked him on the right hip. The animal then started toward the stable at a lively gallop. In passing the stable it struck a wire fence with such force that he was thrown to the ground and broke its neck.

A new frame dwelling in Frizellburg built by William Warner, was destroyed by fire last Saturday morning, together with a lot of new furniture. The loss is said to be $800, with insurance of $570. Mr. Warner had bought the furniture, intending to surprise his wife on her return from a visit. The fire is supposed to have been caused by an overheated stove.

Mrs. Anna Day, wife of the late Dr. David A. Day, who was for many years director of the Lutheran Muhlenburg Mission in Africa, will return to Africa on April 6, to take up the work her husband laid down. She will be accompanied by Sister Augusta Schaeffer, of Delaware, Ohio, a Lutheran deaconess, and Miss Mary Van Leer, of Bridgeton, N. J. Mrs. Day is now in Baltimore.

If the appropriation bills pass as they have been reported to the legislature, the sum allotted to the public schools of the state will be $650,000. This is an increase of $125,000 over the figures of each of the two years preceding. Of this sum $150,000 is to go to the aid of the colored schools, an increase of $25,000 over the amounts for the two years before. These figures mean that the state intends to do its duty to the cause of public education, and also mean that the men charged with the management of the state's finances are convinced that the increase can be made without any danger of increasing the public debt.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company controls 140 distinct corporations. It operates 8,800 miles of track with ramifications in eleven States. It employs an army of nearly 100,000 men. With its adjuncts it represents an investment of $815,000,000 and an annual revenue of $135,000,000. It controls more wealth than any one twenty-two States of the Union that might be named. It controls more wealth than the aggregate wealth of seven States of the Union. It commands the admiration of every traveler, holds first rank among railroads of the world and serves as a type and model for other carrying companies.

Harvey Reiff, who is only sixteen years old and who weighs 360 pounds, created a big sensation last week when he presented himself at the Hagerstown High School for admission. The boy is six feet one inch tall and measures exactly one yard across the stomach. In the past week he gained eight pounds. There was no desk in the room big enough for him, so he had to be provided with a chair. He is excessively warm all the time and his inclinations are to go in his shirt sleeves, even in the coldest weather. His parents were both of ordinary proportions, but one of his grandfathers was a giant. He has spent a great deal of money in antidotes and went through all sorts of exercise to keep himself down, but the medicine and exercise only seemed to make him fatter.

Death of Peter Perry.

Peter Perry, an old and much respected citizen of this country, living near McKinstry, died on Thursday last and was buried at Beaver Dam on Sunday afternoon. Mr. Perry resided in this section all his life except ten years which he spent in Baltimore county as superintendent of the farm of Clark & Jones. His death was caused by cancer of the mouth and larynx which developed rapidly after its first appearance about six weeks ago.

He was twice married, his first wife being Elizabeth Brown, a sister of Mrs. Mary A. Englar, of McKinstry, and the late Mrs. Susan Weybright, of Double Pipe Creek; from which union, seven children survive; Mrs. Laura Bankard and Mrs. Frank Englar, of New Windsor, Mrs. Maggie Stoner, of Baltimore, John and Isaac Perry, of Illinois, William H., of Union Bridge, and Melvin T., living near Linwood.

His second marriage was to Miss Rachel Fox, daughter of the late Baltzer Fox, and four children from this union are living; Mrs. G. M. Zumburn, of McKinstry, Mrs. Harvey Shorb, of near Keyville, Harry L. Perry of Union Bridge, and Edward, of Baltimore. All of the children are married. In addition to those named, Mr. Perry was the father of seven children who have died.

If you are not a subscriber to the RECORD, try it 3 months for 25c!

LATE SOCIAL EVENTS.

A Taneytown Society celebrates its Second Anniversary. (For the RECORD.) Quite a goodly company gathered at the home of Mrs. Crouse on Baltimore St., last Saturday evening. The occasion was the second anniversary of the Mite Society of Trinity Lutheran church, Taneytown. After singing, and prayer by Rev. Garland, the company enjoyed a season of very pleasant social intercourse.

Refreshments in the shape of cake, coffee, popped corn, and ice cream were served. Judging from the number of rounds made by the fair waitresses, these same refreshments were very much enjoyed. A glass bowl occupied the place of honor on the center table, and all present were invited to drop a "mite" therein. The mite was the smallest of the Jewish coins, and two of these were all the poor widow had, but Christ commended her, saying, "For all they did cast in of their abundance; but she of her want did cast in all that she had, even all her living." By the monthly collection of mites this society has been enabled to do "mighty" things.

Since its organization two years ago, it has obtained sufficient funds, to put a large memorial window in the beautiful new church, assist in furnishing the required amount for the carpet in one of the class-rooms, have closets put in the parsonage, and purchase new linen for the communion service. The officers of the society are, president, Miss Eudora Reinhold; vice-president, Miss Joanna Kelley; secretary, Mrs. Lavina Fringer; treasurer, Mrs. John McKelip. A GUEST.

A Clemsonville Surprise.

Quite an informal surprise was tendered Mr. Clarence L. Clemson, last Saturday eve, by his grand-father and aunt, Mr. D. D. Clemson and daughter, Miss Laura, of Clemsonville. Some of Mr. C.'s cousins, who were visiting him at the time, expressed a desire to call upon his grand-father and aunt, and upon their arrival, Mr. C. found other friends ready to greet him. Appearances were such as to arouse his suspicion, and he soon guessed the secret; but his frequent outbursts of surprise throughout the evening were amusing. Soon all the guests were assembled, and a most pleasant evening was spent in social intercourse. Miss Reinhardt, of Westminster, and Mr. Clarence Clemson furnished both vocal and instrumental music, and Miss M. Gertrude Barnes and Mr. C. O. Clemson, of W. M. College, rendered choice recitations. Then all were invited to surround a table handsomely decorated, and laden with cakes, fruits, confections, lemonade and ices; suffice to say, the table was not slighted. About 11 p. m., the guests took their departure, feeling that Saturday eve, March 26th., would long remain a bright spot in their memory.

A Pleasant Social.

A very delightful pool party was tendered Miss Linnie Cook, of Union Bridge, Md., at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Demmit, near Union Bridge, on Friday eve, March 25th., '98. After indulging in a variety of games the guests were invited to the dining room, to partake of refreshments, consisting of all the delicacies of the season, after which the guests departed for their homes in the wee small hours of the morning, feeling that it would be an event long to be remembered, and feeling thankful to the kind hostess for the enjoyment afforded them.

Among those present were; Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Demmit, Miss Linnie Cook, Stella Smith, Gertie McClellan, Cora Graham, Daisy Poutz, Mattie Crumbacker, Minnie McClellan, Grace Fogle, Florence Hamburg, Nettie Crumbacker, and Elsie and Emma DeJin, of Johnsview; Messrs Clinton Smith, Bernard W. Wilson, Wm. Stover, Archie Graham, Chas. Bankart, Chas. Dobow, Edward Dera, Ehues Crumbacker, Tip Fogle, Wm. Grimes, Murray and James Bohn, of Johnsview, Hayes Grimes, of Woodsboro Md., and others.

Taneytown Should Have One.

An association has been formed at the Priestland public school, this county, composed of the old students and teachers of the school, for the purpose of tracing and placing on record the history of the school since its establishment; and the likelihood is that the association will be made permanent and widen its scope. Taneytown, being a very old settlement, of course has a school history dating back many years further than the school above mentioned; but, owing to the absence of records, the work of securing data must of necessity be from individuals yet living, which of course means a certain amount of inaccuracy as to dates, and incompleteness as to beginning.

We think a Taneytown "Alumni Association" should be formed, and have no doubt that work along this line would be found interesting and of real benefit. Once begun, the chances are that its meetings, which would represent re-unions of boyhood and girl-hood companions, would bring to light many long forgotten frolics and amusing incidents which would rejuvenate the principals, in mind, if not in body. We speak editorially on the general subject in this issue, and think that the beginning already made at Priestland should find many imitators, among the first of which should be, Taneytown.

PRIESTLAND ALUMNI.

Third meeting of this Newly formed Organization. (For the RECORD.) Agreeable to adjournment, the old students of Priestland met on March 26th., 1898. After organization the secretary read the minutes of the previous meeting which were approved. The unfinished business of the two prior meetings was taken up and considerable progress made. The successful meeting of the teachers who had taught previous to 1890 were quite satisfactorily settled. The interval between this date and that of 1895 (the time the present system of public schools was inaugurated) presented insuperable difficulties—no one being able to determine with any degree of certainty who had charge of the school during this lapse of time. In this dilemma, Mordecai C. McKinstry offered a resolution, which was approved: "That the Chair appoint a committee of three to correspond with those teachers who taught between the years 1890 and 1895, and ascertain the times they taught at Priestland, and that the Chair appoint Miss Lizzie Senesey, Mrs. Clara Englar and E. B. McKinstry as the committee."

There were suggestions made that certain members should make a list of pupils attending the school in the '40's but no committee was appointed for that purpose. The meeting adjourned at 11 o'clock. A hearty invitation is given to all who are interested in our good work. The editor of the RECORD was kind enough to honor us with his presence. His visit was highly appreciated by all, and we extend to him a standing invitation to be with us in our future meetings.

There were suggestions made that certain members should make a list of pupils attending the school in the '40's but no committee was appointed for that purpose. The meeting adjourned at 11 o'clock. A hearty invitation is given to all who are interested in our good work. The editor of the RECORD was kind enough to honor us with his presence. His visit was highly appreciated by all, and we extend to him a standing invitation to be with us in our future meetings.

There were suggestions made that certain members should make a list of pupils attending the school in the '40's but no committee was appointed for that purpose. The meeting adjourned at 11 o'clock. A hearty invitation is given to all who are interested in our good work. The editor of the RECORD was kind enough to honor us with his presence. His visit was highly appreciated by all, and we extend to him a standing invitation to be with us in our future meetings.

Something about "Sainfoin."

For the benefit of the Bark Hill community and others interested in agriculture, I copy the following article, "Something about Sainfoin," from American Agriculturist, dated April 1893, furnished by Mr. John H. Babcock, of New York. It shows that many farmers are not altogether satisfied with clover, and are looking for other sown and satisfactory peculiar soils. Many have recently asked about sainfoin, a plant which at one time occupied so important a place in the agriculture of England; that it is highly valued as a hay and should keep a certain portion of the land in sainfoin every year. The plant belongs to the same family with clover, and is a native of Europe, possibly of England and has been in cultivation for several centuries.

It has a long and large root, its branching and spreading stems, about two feet high, are furnished with compound leaves, and are terminated by the old-fashioned trifoliate leaves, which are variegated with crimson and white, are very showy. The pod, which has but a single seed is much pitted and is highly valued as a hay and should keep a certain portion of the land in sainfoin every year. The plant belongs to the same family with clover, and is a native of Europe, possibly of England and has been in cultivation for several centuries.

It has a long and large root, its branching and spreading stems, about two feet high, are furnished with compound leaves, and are terminated by the old-fashioned trifoliate leaves, which are variegated with crimson and white, are very showy. The pod, which has but a single seed is much pitted and is highly valued as a hay and should keep a certain portion of the land in sainfoin every year. The plant belongs to the same family with clover, and is a native of Europe, possibly of England and has been in cultivation for several centuries.

Quick Telephone Transaction.

At about 8:30 Tuesday night the editor of the RECORD made a contract, by telephone, with Mr. A. H. Huber, manager of the W. M. Telephone Co., for a desk telephone to take the place of the rural station at Trevanion, on Wednesday morning, by 11 o'clock, Mr. Harry Irwin had it placed in our office in working order; thereby completing a satisfactory telephone transaction. Through the use of this instrument we will be able to receive, and commit to "copy," news items from all who will be kind enough to favor us in this way. Telephone subscribers all over the county are requested to send in news items of importance up to 11 a. m., Friday, of each week.

Church Notices.

The preaching in Taneytown U. B. church next Sabbath will be at 10 o'clock a. m., and in Harney at 7:30 p. m. Subject at Harney, "Intemperance." All are cordially invited to attend. J. O. CLIPPINGS, Pastor.

Christians of next Sabbath at Double Pipe Creek M. Church, 10:30 a. m. Sabbath. Sermon on the United States and Spain—"Peace, not War." The Junior Order of Mechanics of New Windsor are invited to be present. A service of the same character at Uniontown 7:30 p. m. The orders of the town are invited to attend.

B. W. KINDLEY. Taneytown Lutheran church, Sunday, April 3rd., 10 a. m., Confirmation services; Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings, preaching services at 7:30; Friday evening, Preparatory service and congregational meeting, 7:30 p. m.; Sunday, April 10th., morning, Lords Supper; Evening (Special Service) Easter music and sermon.

Obituaries, poetry and resolutions, charged for at the rate of five cents per line. The regular death notices published free of charge. PERRY.—On March 24th., '98, near McKinstry, Mr. Peter Perry, aged 73 years and 13 days. HYDE.—On March 24th., '98, near New Windsor, Mr. Elmer Hyde, aged 71 years, 11 months and 20 days. HAUGH.—On March 21st., '98, Miss Mary Elizabeth Haugh, aged 61 years, 10 months and 11 days.

HARNEY HAS A BROTHER.

At Least, so says our Versatile Correspondent. We have been under the impression for a long time, that Harney was the only place that people failed to take sufficient interest in the improvement of the town to keep streets and sidewalks in a respectable condition. But we have quite recently learned that Harney has a brother and that his name is Double Pipe Creek. We are told by the best of authority, that in an improved condition of affairs, fall upon their knees and ask the Lord to compel to drive up on an embankment of the Western Maryland Railroad to unhitch their teams, if they do not want the danger of being submerged in a pool of mud, which is always found in the streets. How do you do, brother; we are glad to hear of your whereabouts, and we now know that we have company, and that we are not left in this world alone, but that a sympathizing friend is not far distant to share with us in our many heart-breaking struggles through the streets. But we are, in brother, that in union there is strength; therefore let all who favor an improved condition of affairs, fall upon their knees and ask the Lord to compel to drive up on an embankment of the Western Maryland Railroad to unhitch their teams, if they do not want the danger of being submerged in a pool of mud, which is always found in the streets. How do you do, brother; we are glad to hear of your whereabouts, and we now know that we have company, and that we are not left in this world alone, but that a sympathizing friend is not far distant to share with us in our many heart-breaking struggles through the streets. But we are, in brother, that in union there is strength; therefore let all who favor an improved condition of affairs, fall upon their knees and ask the Lord to compel to drive up on an embankment of the Western Maryland Railroad to unhitch their teams, if they do not want the danger of being submerged in a pool of mud, which is always found in the streets. How do you do, brother; we are glad to hear of your whereabouts, and we now know that we have company, and that we are not left in this world alone, but that a sympathizing friend is not far distant to share with us in our many heart-breaking struggles through the streets. But we are, in brother, that in union there is strength; therefore let all who favor an improved condition of affairs, fall upon their knees and ask the Lord to compel to drive up on an embankment of the Western Maryland Railroad to unhitch their teams, if they do not want the danger of being submerged in a pool of mud, which is always found in the streets. How do you do, brother; we are glad to hear of your whereabouts, and we now know that we have company, and that we are not left in this world alone, but that a sympathizing friend is not far distant to share with us in our many heart-breaking struggles through the streets. But we are, in brother, that in union there is strength; therefore let all who favor an improved condition of affairs, fall upon their knees and ask the Lord to compel to drive up on an embankment of the Western Maryland Railroad to unhitch their teams, if they do not want the danger of being submerged in a pool of mud, which is always found in the streets. How do you do, brother; we are glad to hear of your whereabouts, and we now know that we have company, and that we are not left in this world alone, but that a sympathizing friend is not far distant to share with us in our many heart-breaking struggles through the streets. But we are, in brother, that in union there is strength; therefore let all who favor an improved condition of affairs, fall upon their knees and ask the Lord to compel to drive up on an embankment of the Western Maryland Railroad to unhitch their teams, if they do not want the danger of being submerged in a pool of mud, which is always found in the streets. How do you do, brother; we are glad to hear of your whereabouts, and we now know that we have company, and that we are not left in this world alone, but that a sympathizing friend is not far distant to share with us in our many heart-breaking struggles through the streets. But we are, in brother, that in union there is strength; therefore let all who favor an improved condition of affairs, fall upon their knees and ask the Lord to compel to drive up on an embankment of the Western Maryland Railroad to unhitch their teams, if they do not want the danger of being submerged in a pool of mud, which is always found in the streets. How do you do, brother; we are glad to hear of your whereabouts, and we now know that we have company, and that we are not left in this world alone, but that a sympathizing friend is not far distant to share with us in our many heart-breaking struggles through the streets. But we are, in brother, that in union there is strength; therefore let all who favor an improved condition of affairs, fall upon their knees and ask the Lord to compel to drive up on an embankment of the Western Maryland Railroad to unhitch their teams, if they do not want the danger of being submerged in a pool of mud, which is always found in the streets. How do you do, brother; we are glad to hear of your whereabouts, and we now know that we have company, and that we are not left in this world alone, but that a sympathizing friend is not far distant to share with us in our many heart-breaking struggles through the streets. But we are, in brother, that in union there is strength; therefore let all who favor an improved condition of affairs, fall upon their knees and ask the Lord to compel to drive up on an embankment of the Western Maryland Railroad to unhitch their teams, if they do not want the danger of being submerged in a pool of mud, which is always found in the streets. How do you do, brother; we are glad to hear of your whereabouts, and we now know that we have company, and that we are not left in this world alone, but that a sympathizing friend is not far distant to share with us in our many heart-breaking struggles through the streets. But we are, in brother, that in union there is strength; therefore let all who favor an improved condition of affairs, fall upon their knees and ask the Lord to compel to drive up on an embankment of the Western Maryland Railroad to unhitch their teams, if they do not want the danger of being submerged in a pool of mud, which is always found in the streets. How do you do, brother; we are glad to hear of your whereabouts, and we now know that we have company, and that we are not left in this world alone, but that a sympathizing friend is not far distant to share with us in our many heart-breaking struggles through the streets. But we are, in brother, that in union there is strength; therefore let all who favor an improved condition of affairs, fall upon their knees and ask the Lord to compel to drive up on an embankment of the Western Maryland Railroad to unhitch their teams, if they do not want the danger of being submerged in a pool of mud, which is always found in the streets. How do you do, brother; we are glad to hear of your whereabouts, and we now know that we have company, and that we are not left in this world alone, but that a sympathizing friend is not far distant to share with us in our many heart-breaking struggles through the streets. But we are, in brother, that in union there is strength; therefore let all who favor an improved condition of affairs, fall upon their knees and ask the Lord to compel to drive up on an embankment of the Western Maryland Railroad to unhitch their teams, if they do not want the danger of being submerged in a pool of mud, which is always found in the streets. How do you do, brother; we are glad to hear of your whereabouts, and we now know that we have company, and that we are not left in this world alone, but that a sympathizing friend is not far distant to share with us in our many heart-breaking struggles through the streets. But we are, in brother, that in union there is strength; therefore let all who favor an improved condition of affairs, fall upon their knees and ask the Lord to compel to drive up on an embankment of the Western Maryland Railroad to unhitch their teams, if they do not want the danger of being submerged in a pool of mud, which is always found in the streets. How do you do, brother; we are glad to hear of your whereabouts, and we now know that we have company, and that we are not left in this world alone, but that a sympathizing friend is not far distant to share with us in our many heart-breaking struggles through the streets. But we are, in brother, that in union there is strength; therefore let all who favor an improved condition of affairs, fall upon their knees and ask the Lord to compel to drive up on an embankment of the Western Maryland Railroad to unhitch their teams, if they do not want the danger of being submerged in a pool of mud, which is always found in the streets. How do you do, brother; we are glad to hear of your whereabouts, and we now know that we have company, and that we are not left in this world alone, but that a sympathizing friend is not far distant to share with us in our many heart-breaking struggles through the streets. But we are, in brother, that in union there is strength; therefore let all who favor an improved condition of affairs, fall upon their knees and ask the Lord to compel to drive up on an embankment of the Western Maryland Railroad to unhitch their teams, if they do not want the danger of being submerged in a pool of mud, which is always found in the streets. How do you do, brother; we are glad to hear of your whereabouts, and we now know that we have company, and that we are not left in this world alone, but that a sympathizing friend is not far distant to share with us in our many heart-breaking struggles through the streets. But we are, in brother, that in union there is strength; therefore let all who favor an improved condition of affairs, fall upon their knees and ask the Lord to compel to drive up on an embankment of the Western Maryland Railroad to unhitch their teams, if they do not want the danger of being submerged in a pool of mud, which is always found in the streets. How do you do, brother; we are glad to hear of your whereabouts, and we now know that we have company, and that we are not left in this world alone, but that a sympathizing friend is not far distant to share with us in our many heart-breaking struggles through the streets. But we are, in brother, that in union there is strength; therefore let all who favor an improved condition of affairs, fall upon their knees and ask the Lord to compel to drive up on an embankment of the Western Maryland Railroad to unhitch their teams, if they do not want the danger of being submerged in a pool of mud, which is always found in the streets. How do you do, brother; we are glad to hear of your whereabouts, and we now know that we have company, and that we are not left in this world alone, but that a sympathizing friend is not far distant to share with us in our many heart-breaking struggles through the streets. But we are, in brother, that in union there is strength; therefore let all who favor an improved condition of affairs, fall upon their knees and ask the Lord to compel to drive up on an embankment of the Western Maryland Railroad to unhitch their teams, if they do not want the danger of being submerged in a pool of mud, which is always found in the streets. How do you do, brother; we are glad to hear of your whereabouts, and we now know that we have company, and that we are not left in this world alone, but that a sympathizing friend is not far distant to share with us in our many heart-breaking struggles through the streets. But we are, in brother, that in union there is strength; therefore let all who favor an improved condition of affairs, fall upon their knees and ask the Lord to compel to drive up on an embankment of the Western Maryland Railroad to unhitch their teams, if they do not want the danger of being submerged in a pool of mud, which is always found in the streets. How do you do, brother; we are glad to hear of your whereabouts, and we now know that we have company, and that we are not left in this world alone, but that a sympathizing friend is not far distant to share with us in our many heart-breaking struggles through the streets. But we are, in brother, that in union there is strength; therefore let all who favor an improved condition of affairs, fall upon their knees and ask the Lord to compel to drive up on an embankment of the Western Maryland Railroad to unhitch their teams, if they do not want the danger of being submerged in a pool of mud, which is always found in the streets. How do you do, brother; we are glad to hear of your whereabouts, and we now know that we have company, and that we are not left in this world alone, but that a sympathizing friend is not far distant to share with us in our many heart-breaking struggles through the streets. But we are, in brother, that in union there is strength; therefore let all who favor an improved condition of affairs, fall upon their knees and ask the Lord to compel to drive up on an embankment of the Western Maryland Railroad to unhitch their teams, if they do not want the danger of being submerged in a pool of mud, which is always found in the streets. How do you do, brother; we are glad to hear of your whereabouts, and we now know that we have company, and that we are not left in this world alone, but that a sympathizing friend is not far distant to share with us in our many heart-breaking struggles through the streets. But we are, in brother, that in union there is strength; therefore let all who favor an improved condition of affairs, fall upon their knees and ask the Lord to compel to drive up on an embankment of the Western Maryland Railroad to unhitch their teams, if they do not want the danger of being submerged in a pool of mud, which is always found in the streets. How do you do, brother; we are glad to hear of your whereabouts, and we now know that we have company, and that we are not left in this world alone, but that a sympathizing friend is not far distant to share with us in our many heart-breaking struggles through the streets. But we are, in brother, that in union there is strength; therefore let all who favor an improved condition of affairs, fall upon their knees and ask the Lord to compel to drive up on an embankment of the Western Maryland Railroad to unhitch their teams, if they do not want the danger of being submerged in a pool of mud, which is always found in the streets. How do you do, brother; we are glad to hear of your whereabouts, and we now know that we have company, and that we are not left in this world alone, but that a sympathizing friend is not far distant to share with us in our many heart-breaking struggles through the streets. But we are, in brother, that in union there is strength; therefore let all who favor an improved condition of affairs, fall upon their knees and ask the Lord to compel to drive up on an embankment of the Western Maryland Railroad to unhitch their teams, if they do not want the danger of being submerged in a pool of mud, which is always found in the streets. How do you do, brother; we are glad to hear of your whereabouts, and we now know that we have company, and that we are not left in this world alone, but that a sympathizing friend is not far distant to share with us in our many heart-breaking struggles through the streets. But we are, in brother, that in union there is strength; therefore let all who favor an improved condition of affairs, fall upon their knees and ask the Lord to compel to drive up on an embankment of the Western Maryland Railroad to unhitch their teams, if they do not want the danger of being submerged in a pool of mud, which is always found in the streets. How do you do, brother; we are glad to hear of your whereabouts, and we now know that we have company, and that we are not left in this world alone, but that a sympathizing friend is not far distant to share with us in our many heart-breaking struggles through the streets. But we are, in brother, that in union there is strength; therefore let all who favor an improved condition of affairs, fall upon their knees and ask the Lord to compel to drive up on an embankment of the Western Maryland Railroad to unhitch their teams, if they do not want the danger of being submerged in a pool of mud, which is always found in the streets. How do you do, brother; we are glad to hear of your whereabouts, and we now know that we have company, and that we are not left in this world alone, but that a sympathizing friend is not far distant to share with us in our many heart-breaking struggles through the streets. But we are, in brother, that in union there is strength; therefore let all who favor an improved condition of affairs, fall upon their knees and ask the Lord to compel to drive up on an embankment of the Western Maryland Railroad to unhitch their teams, if they do not want the danger of being submerged in a pool of mud, which is always found in the streets. How do you do, brother; we are glad to hear of your whereabouts, and we now know that we have company, and that we are not left in this world alone, but that a sympathizing friend is not far distant to share with us in our many heart-breaking struggles through the streets. But we are, in brother, that in union there is strength; therefore let all who favor an improved condition of affairs, fall upon their knees and ask the Lord to compel to drive up on an embankment of the Western Maryland Railroad to unhitch their teams, if they do not want the danger of being submerged in a pool of mud, which is always found in the streets. How do you do, brother; we are glad to hear of your whereabouts, and we now know that we have company, and that we are not left in this world alone, but that a sympathizing friend is not far distant to share with us in our many heart-breaking struggles through the streets. But we are, in brother, that in union there is strength; therefore let all who favor an improved condition of affairs, fall upon their knees and ask the Lord to compel to drive up on an embankment of the Western Maryland Railroad to unhitch their teams, if they do not want the danger of being submerged in a pool of mud, which is always found in the streets. How do you do, brother; we are glad to hear of your whereabouts, and we now know that we have company, and that we are not left in this world alone, but that a sympathizing friend is not far distant to share with us in our many heart-breaking struggles through the streets. But we are, in brother, that in union there is strength; therefore let all who favor an improved condition of affairs, fall upon their knees and ask the Lord to compel to drive up on an embankment of the Western Maryland Railroad to unhitch their teams, if they do not want the danger of being submerged in a pool of mud, which is always found in the streets. How do you do, brother; we are glad to hear of your whereabouts, and we now know that we have company, and that we are not left in this world alone, but that a sympathizing friend is not far distant to share with us in our many heart-breaking struggles through the streets. But we are, in brother, that in union there is strength; therefore let all who favor an improved condition of affairs, fall upon their knees and ask the Lord to compel to drive up on an embankment of the Western Maryland Railroad to unhitch their teams, if they do not want the danger of being submerged in a pool of mud, which is always found in the streets. How do you do, brother; we are glad to hear of your whereabouts, and we now know that we have company, and that we are not left in this world alone, but that a sympathizing friend is not far distant to share with us in our many heart-breaking struggles through the streets. But we are, in brother, that in union there is strength; therefore let all who favor an improved condition of affairs, fall upon their knees and ask the Lord to compel to drive up on an embankment of the Western Maryland Railroad to unhitch their teams, if they do not want the danger of being submerged in a pool of mud, which is always found in the streets. How do you do, brother; we are glad to hear of your whereabouts, and we now know that we have company, and that we are not left in this world alone, but that a sympathizing friend is not far distant to share with us in our many heart-breaking struggles through the streets. But we are, in brother, that in union there is strength; therefore let all who favor an improved condition of affairs, fall upon their knees and ask the Lord to compel to drive up on an embankment of the Western Maryland Railroad to unhitch their teams, if they do not want the danger of being submerged in a pool of mud, which is always found in the streets. How do you do, brother; we are glad to hear of your whereabouts, and we now know that we have company, and that we are not left in this world alone, but that a sympathizing friend is not far distant to share with us in our many heart-breaking struggles through the streets. But we are, in brother, that in union there is strength; therefore let all who favor an improved condition of affairs, fall upon their knees and ask the Lord to compel to drive up on an embankment of the Western Maryland Railroad to unhitch their teams, if they do not want the danger of being submerged in a pool of mud, which is always found in the streets. How do you do, brother; we are glad to hear of your whereabouts, and we now know that we have company, and that we are not left in this world alone, but that a sympathizing friend is not far distant to share with us in our many heart-breaking struggles through the streets. But we are, in brother, that in union there is strength; therefore let all who favor an improved condition of affairs, fall upon their knees and ask the Lord to compel to drive up on an embankment of the Western Maryland Railroad to unhitch their teams, if they do not want the danger of being submerged in a pool of mud, which is always found in the streets. How do you do, brother; we are glad to hear of your whereabouts, and we now know that we have company, and that we are not left in this world alone, but that a sympathizing friend is not far distant to share with us in our many heart-breaking struggles through the streets. But we are, in brother, that in union there is strength; therefore let all who favor an improved condition of affairs, fall upon their knees and ask the Lord to compel to drive up on an embankment of the Western Maryland Railroad to unhitch their teams, if they do not want the danger of being submerged in a pool of mud, which is always found in the streets. How do you do, brother; we are glad to hear of your whereabouts, and we now know that we have company, and that we are not left in this world alone, but that a sympathizing friend is not far distant to share with us in our many heart-breaking struggles through the streets. But we are, in brother, that in union there is strength; therefore let all who favor an improved condition of affairs, fall upon their knees and ask the Lord to compel to drive up on an embankment of the Western Maryland Railroad to unhitch their teams, if they do not want the danger of being submerged in a pool of mud, which is always found in the streets. How do you do, brother; we are glad to hear of your whereabouts, and we now know that we have company, and that we are not left in this world alone, but that a sympathizing friend is not far distant to share with us in our many heart-breaking struggles through the streets. But we are, in brother, that in union there is strength; therefore let all who favor an improved condition of affairs, fall upon their knees and ask the Lord to compel to drive up on an embankment of the Western Maryland Railroad to unhitch their teams, if they do not want the danger of being submerged in a pool of mud, which is always found in the streets. How do you do, brother; we are glad to hear of your whereabouts, and we now know that we have company, and that we are not left in this world alone, but that a sympathizing friend is not far distant to share with us in our many heart-breaking struggles through the streets. But we are, in brother, that in union there is strength; therefore let all who favor an improved condition of affairs, fall upon their knees and ask the Lord to compel to drive up on an embankment of the Western Maryland Railroad to unhitch their teams, if they do not want the danger of being submerged in a pool of mud, which is always found in the streets. How do you do, brother; we are glad to hear of your whereabouts, and we now know that we have company, and that we are not left in this world alone, but that a sympathizing friend is not far distant to share with us in our many