There will be no preaching in either the Harney or Taneytown U. B. churches, on Sunday, August 20th, the pastor Rev. J. O. Clipping being in attendance at Mt. Zion Camp, near Chambersburg, Pa.

There is unusual activity in real estate in this section, more properties being sold at this season than ever known before. This might be regarded as a bad sign, was it not for the fact that satisfactory prices are being realized, as a rule.

T. H. Eckenrode, our road commissioner, says he proposes to finish piking, the whole way, the road from this place to Monocacy bridge. He also intends to make needed repairs to the bridge over Piney Creek, on the same road, which is now in a dangerous condition.

Gust Huebner, the boss baker at the Model Bakery, has Hagersted a position at his trade, in Hagerstown, and left on Monday. Curtis Bowers, who has had considerable experience as assistant, succeeds to the position and will not doubt give full satisfaction. He will be assisted by Thomas Demmitt.

Taneytown suffers from too much economy in the matter of street light, as we have heretofore remarked, especially on Sunday nights. Let us get out of the way of being parsimonious in such little things—we have outgrown it. A town that wants electric lights, ought first have plenty of the kind we want to do away with.

Dr. F. H. Seiss and the Editor of the Record left on Thursday morning for Mountain Lake Park, Garrett county, for an outing of ten days. An excellent Chautauqua course—lectures and music—is one of the attractions of this mountain resort. Among the visitors now there are Rev. and Mrs. D. Frank Garland.

It is a humiliating admission to make, but it seems that there is no bottom to the depravity of some people (not in town, we hope) as it is a fact that a pile of manure was recently stolen from the premises of a citizen of this place. Unless this fellow inherits a load of shov, very soon, we would not be surprised to hear of the larceny of a cistern, or well, or even our standpipe. If he would steal a dozen or so of hog pens, it wouldn't make much difference.

COUNTY AND STATE.

News Notes of General Interest from Various Sources.

Waynesboro has given out a contract for the erection of a firemen's hall at $640.

The party at Mayberry was held at Charles Babylons, not "Nusbaums," as stated in last issue.

Edw. W. Fleagle formerly of this section, now of Yonkers, N. Y., will leave on the 28th, for the Catskill Mountains for two weeks.

An engine standing too close on the Western Maryland Railroad siding in the Hagerstown yards was derailed by the Blue Mountain express. The cab and steam box of the engine were torn off.

Mr. Edna May Hefelbower, wife of Rev. S. A. Hefelbower, of Frostburg, who succeeded Rev. C. A. Britz as pastor of the Lutheran church, at that place, died last week from consumption.

A citizen of Hagerstown rather spitefully remarked, recently, that some of the women of that city used perfume to such an extent that he considered the much pronounced hog pens a secondary nuisance, by comparison.

The Record has received a copy of the Irish Pennsylvanian, containing an excellent cut of Wm. A. Golden, formerly a citizen of Taneytown, now a popular Attorney, of Pittsburg. A complete biographical sketch accompanies the likeness.

All big bugs are not "kissing bugs" as seems to be the disposition to assume, nowadays, and many an ordinary specimen, in following his regular nightly manoeuvres, is likely surprised at the marked attention he receives, and glad to think that even a bug "has his day."

Jefferson Koontz, son of Jacob Koontz, of near Silver Run, had one of his arms torn off by a threshing machine Monday afternoon. He was operating the machine when the accident occurred. He formerly taught in the public schools of Carroll county, but went to farming on his father's farm last spring. Mr. Koontz died on Tuesday morning from loss of blood and shock.

A very pleasant time was experienced by the people who attended the annual picnic of the Marsh Creek (Pa.) Presbyterian church, on the grounds at the church, last Thursday. About four hundred Presbyterians, from various parts of Adams county, were present, many of them being former members of the church or persons whose ancestors worshipped there. The church is one of the oldest in the county.

Governor Lowndes has determined not to interfere with the death penalty in the case of John Alfred Brown, one of the murderers of the Rosenbergs, in Montgomery county. Chief Judge McSherry, and States-Attorney Hinks strongly advised the Governor against interfering, claiming that it would have a demoralizing effect. The execution takes place today, (Friday).

Waynesboro has many inventors who have made fortunes. The last to come to the front is F. F. Ladis, of the Erick Manufacturing Company. He has invented a threshing machine which is without the long spout of the present machines. His invention is only five feet square, but is filled with wheels and rakes and hammers and screens that quickly and thoroughly threshes the grain. It is said to be a proved success, and will soon be manufactured.

Rev. Dr. Daniel J. Hauer, of Hanover, Pa., aged 93 years, is the oldest Lutheran clergyman in the United States, and is thought to be the oldest male inhabitant of York county. The committee of arrangements for the county sesqui-centennial celebration early next month is endeavoring to have the oldest man and woman in the county at the celebration, and thus far the venerable Dr. Hauer is the oldest man known. He has been invited to deliver the prayer at the opening services.

Mrs. Letitia A. R. Perot, the divorced wife of William Y. Perot, who was accused of abducting her little daughter Gladys, aged nearly 11 years, and taking her to England, will probably be released from arrest, and the charges against her will not be pressed. Governor Lowndes has consented to ask for the abandonment of the extradition proceedings which were instituted by the State's Attorney's office in Baltimore. The Governor's action was taken upon representation that Mrs. Perot had agreed to give up the child to its grand-father, Mr. William H. Perot, of Baltimore, who went to England to secure the little girl and was accompanied by Detective Al Gault, of the Baltimore force.

Taneytown vs Thurmont. The first game of ball in which our boys have engaged this season, took place on Thursday, between the Taneytown and Thurmont clubs, on the grounds of the latter, resulting in a victory for Taneytown by the score of 24 to 13. The game was a slugging match on the part of our club, in which all participated. Fine catches were numerous, and taken as a whole, the playing of the Taneytown club was good, which, with the result of the game, has created new interest in the sport. The club is on the lookout for grounds and we may expect to witness a number of games this summer. Reinhold and Angell were the battery for Taneytown and Wisotzky and Cassell for Thurmont. The following is the score by innings. Taneytown. 4 0 0 5 1 8 — 24. Thurmont. 1 1 0 3 5 1 1 0 — 13.

MARRIED. SHELBY—WILSON.—On Aug. 16th, at the Mr. Joy parsonage, by Rev. W. G. Minnick, Mr. Charles E. Selby and Miss Maggie B. Wilson, both of Adams Co., Pa.

DIED. EKARD.—On August 16th., in Uniontown, Mr. J. Thomas Ekard, aged 44 years, 4 months and 19 days.

WESTERN MARYLAND COLLEGE SCHOOL CASE DECIDED.

The August term of Court began on Monday, with Judges Jones and Revel on the bench. Judge Roberts still being in a condition preventing his participation. Wm. F. Horner and Pius Ockeroff were appointed shuffling the docket were called shuffling seventy-one trials, twenty-four originals and twenty-one appeals. Nearly all the trial cases were continued and court adjourned.

The case of the vacant scholarship in Western Maryland College from Prince George's county was decided by the court in favor of F. Webb Griffith, of Upper Marlboro.

This case has excited a good deal of interest among school officials because it raised the question whether a Senator, after signing an appointment to a State scholarship, could revoke his endorsement. The School Commissioners of Prince George's county appointed F. Webb Griffith to a scholarship in Western Maryland College in September, 1898. The law requires that such an appointment shall be made by the president of the college, with the consent of the Senator from that county. Senator W. B. Claggett refused to consent to the appointment, and the vacancy remained open until March, 1899, when the Senator consented and signed the appointment. But before the certificate of appointment reached the hands of the president of the college, the Senator revoked his act and notified the president that he disavowed his signature to such paper. The appointment was then held up by Dr. T. H. Lewis, the president of the college, who refused to receive Griffith until it should be legally determined whether the Senator could revoke.

The case came up on this point and the court, Judges Jones and Revel on the bench, in giving its decision said that although the college could be held to have acted with commendable prudence and caution in view of the unusual question raised and the complications of the case, still the plaintiff had complied with all the requirements of the law in the case, having obtained the appointment from the Board of School Commissioners, the consent of the Senator, and having tendered to the college the evidence of these, together with the required bond, and the court must hold that the Senator was not competent to revoke.

Write Proper Names Plainly. Correspondents are requested to be very careful in writing the names of people—much more so than in writing descriptively, using only common names. For the latter, there are rules of spelling, and guess work is fairly good, but for the former, especially when unfamiliar, there is nothing to do but analyze the copy the best we can, with the result that mistakes are often made.

No doubt correspondents wonder why a compositor avoids mistakes with their copy, except in proper names, but there is nothing strange about it. Guess work will only tell one how to spell a name he probably never heard before, and there is no dictionary to help him out.

Rev. R. L. Patterson Resigns. (FOR THE RECORD.) Rev. Robt. L. Patterson, for five years pastor of St. James' Lutheran church, Union Bridge, has resigned, and will close his labors there the first Sunday in October. He separates very reluctantly from this charge, it being his first ministerial labor. The people's reluctance in giving him up is manifested by the unanimous declaration of his resignation by the joint council, to which body it was offered. He takes the step in order to pursue a post-graduate course in theology at the Chicago Lutheran Theological Seminary, Chicago, Ill.

The Birnie Re-union. (FOR THE RECORD.) One of the most notable events of the summer was the re-union of the Birnie family, which occurred Thursday afternoon, August 17th., at the home of Miss Amelia Birnie. All of the eight children were present; Mrs. Margaret Scarborough of Ohio, Mrs. G. W. Clabach of Nebraska, Capt. Rogers Birnie of New York, Mr. R. L. Annen of Emmitsburg, Mr. Upton Birnie of Philadelphia, Dr. C. Birnie, Mr. Geo. H. Birnie and Miss Amelia Birnie; also Miss Fanny Birnie, sole survivor of the Birnie family of Thorndale. Mrs. Upton Birnie, Mrs. Geo. H. Birnie, Dr. R. L. Annen and eight of the twelve grand-children participated in this joyful event. A photograph of the family was taken on the north veranda at four o'clock. To anyone who has ever partaken of Mrs. Birnie's hospitality, it would be superfluous to describe the supper, for she is well known for true southern hospitality. Whilst there was abundant provision to sustain the inner man, that was only a part of the feast, for united in making it an occasion long to be remembered. Later in the evening, a few friends gathered to bid adieu to those who were leaving next day, whose absence will be keenly felt by many friends in the town.

As a fitting ending to this family gathering, a few verses from the Bible were read, and a prayer made by the Rev. James Cattanan. Nine years ago, Mrs. Birnie celebrated her golden wedding. It is wonderful, that with the exception of Mr. Birnie's death, their family circle has more than sixty years remained unbroken. May it remain so, many more. A.

COLLEGE PARK NOTES.

The late Re-union, Storm Damages and Road Making.

We were sorry to hear from Carroll county, the author of the ravages of the recent fearful storm there. In our immediate vicinity we have nothing especially to complain of; with the exception of the wind and tobacco, we suffered but little; they are being badly blown down, and the tobacco will be more or less short in production. In other localities have suffered very much; a large number of houses through a few miles west of us that literally stripped the fields. According to Captain Silvester, St. Mary's county was a terrible sufferer, as he reports that the hail in some cases knocked the roofs off houses and barns and ruined the crops of every description, and strange to say, although his lands lay in close proximity to this destruction, he escaped with comparatively little loss to his crops.

The company who attended the Copperhill Club, on the 15th and 16th, were more than pleased with their visit; it seems to be a revelation to them that any set of farmers could bring such a large number of people together. It appears to us that they will never get done remarking upon the plentiful supply of provisions provided for the inner man, and the fine vehicles, that were used for the occasion. It is not strange, for the contrast between the appearance of vehicles and teams, as well as the number of people, is a revelation to the city-freemen who have not been allowed to have imperiled their lives simply to amuse people. The most surprising thing about the whole matter is that they were killed; to our mind, there was a total disregard of the dreadful nature of the occurrence. The exhibition was continued as if nothing had happened just at the outset of the performance, there was a total disregard of the dreadful nature of the occurrence. The exhibition was continued as if nothing had happened just at the outset of the performance, there was a total disregard of the dreadful nature of the occurrence.

The Governor of the province of Havana, in whose honor the event was being held, was greatly censured for allowing it to continue under the circumstances he had taken place. He saw the accident but did not consider it of sufficient importance to put an end to a thing that he thought would be repeated in a hurry.

General Ludlow, military governor of the city of Havana, is not by any means a newsworthy man, but he certainly has displayed his knowledge of what newspapers should not be. Since the first of the year, there has been a constant stream of articles, called El Reconocido. It was a most obscene, indecent and scurrilous paper, and its principal object was to do nothing but to insult and vilify the press of the United States. It was a most vile and unbecoming paper, and its principal object was to do nothing but to insult and vilify the press of the United States.

The W. C. T. U. Picnic. (FOR THE RECORD.) The W. C. T. U. of Union Bridge held its second annual picnic in Hamilton Hill Park, Monday evening, August 14th. The day was cloudy, and a few drops of rain fell, but it did not keep many persons away. A large platform has lately been erected on the park for the use of the band, which will be used for every Monday evening. The music for this occasion was furnished by the band.

The speaker for the evening, Prof. Simpson, of Western Maryland College, delivered a very fine address. Subject: "The Twentieth Century Woman." He said in part: "That while he did not say as he advocated woman's suffrage, he believed she should have what she wanted."

One of her victories has been to force the colleges to open their doors to her. The old idea that a woman's mind was not capable of receiving the same amount of education as a man's, has been proven otherwise. We said an educated woman was unfitted to be a good wife for man. An intelligent man can enjoy the companionship of an intellectual woman, but she makes a better help-meat than one who is uneducated."

Until late years, only a few occupations were open to a woman, which she could gain her own livelihood. It was expected that the man would support her. Suppose the man would not? At the present time, there are in New York City, a large number of women, not only supporting themselves, but a lot of them in pants, whom they call their husbands.

"A large number of women are property holders. They have stocks and bonds, and they vote this stock in the same way that men hold them. They pay taxes, but when it comes to saving anything about how the laws shall be made that are to govern them, their taxes, they are not in it. The tax-payers are not in it. There is a difference between right and expediency. The man has the same right to go to the sea shore that the woman has, but it may not be expedient for them both to go at the same time. The mother has the same right to her son, as the father has, but it is not safe for his father's hands. If the father is to be cast for the boy's safety, or for party, nine times out of ten, the father would vote for the party, and let the boy go. The mother would vote for the boy."

We are sorry not to be able to give more of this address. The Park was lighted by street lamps, and lanterns. Refreshments were served on little tables, scattered around through the Park. Long live the W. C. T. U., and may its work be blessed of God. R.

A Disastrous Experiment.

A frame barn owned by Postmaster George H. Bowman at Mills, near Leitersburg, Washington county, was destroyed by fire on Saturday afternoon, the 5th instant, along with a lot of hay and straw. The fire was caused by Mrs. Bowman saturating a hen's nest with coal oil and setting fire to it to destroy vermin. The flames leaped up to the hay and straw in the mow, and the building in an instant was enveloped. No one but Mrs. Bowman was at home. The dwelling house, not far away, caught fire, but about this time a storm came up, the wind changed, and a few buckets of water saved the house. Mr. Bowman's barn, which had burned expired a few days ago.—Examiner.

OUR HAVANA LETTER.

A Disastrous Pleasure. Public Questions Clearly Explained.

It is already well known that Sunday in Cuba is a day of frolic and fun, and therefore not to be wondered at that the freemen of the city should select this day in which to exhibit an exhibition of "How they do it in case of fire." They call the exhibition "An Simulacro" we call it by the less pretentious name, "a sham."

Having chosen one of the largest buildings in the city, they arranged to scale it from the outside by means of rope ladders; people were to be rescued from the supposed burning building, and everything was to be carried out so as to excite the wonder and amazement of the gaping multitude and bring applause to the dextrous and energetic fire ladders. But, alas! the imaginary crowd, who came only to see a show, saw a horrible calamity that thrilled it with horror and filled the city with gloom. While the rope ladders were being ascended a fire broke out, and in a few minutes it had reached the top of the building, the support to which the ropes were attached, gave way, and the men were hurled to the ground.

Three firemen who were leaning on the support, fell forward with it into the street below, a distance of sixty feet, and were killed; two others, for a sake, three men lost their lives and nine others were injured, some fatally. Now that the accident has occurred, the opinion is universal that the freemen should not have been allowed to have imperiled their lives simply to amuse people. The most surprising thing about the whole matter is that they were killed; to our mind, there was a total disregard of the dreadful nature of the occurrence. The exhibition was continued as if nothing had happened just at the outset of the performance, there was a total disregard of the dreadful nature of the occurrence.

UNIONTOWN.

Masons are now at work on the foundation walls of Mr. David Booser's new house. Mr. Booser's new house is nearing completion, and will soon be ready for occupancy.

The consistency of St. Mary's Reformed church, have decided to hold an election for Rev. J. Steuart Hartman, of Harrisburg, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Rev. Dr. A. D. Deibisch. The election will be held Sunday afternoon, Aug. 27th.

Rev. Ambrose Schmidt, of Lancaster, filled the pulpit in the Reformed church on Sunday afternoon.

Rev. W. H. Ehrhart and wife are visiting friends and relatives in York, and there were no services in the Lutheran church on Sunday.

Farmers are now putting their sweet corn and hauling it to the cannery factory at Union Mills. The crop is a pretty fair one.

Rain is needed very much in this section, and the water in many wells and springs is getting low.

Mrs. Ellen C. Duttrera and two daughters, of Chambersburg, Va., are visiting relatives in this place.

Mr. Thomas Jefferson Koontz, son of Mr. Jacob Koontz, met with a painful accident on Monday afternoon about 2 o'clock, which terminated in death on Tuesday morning about 8 o'clock. He was engaged in threshing and stepped from the feed-trough to the side of a machine to gather up the loose grain before stopping. As he reached over to get the shattering lying on top of theresher, it is thought that he caught his knee in the rod caught his clothing, as his suspenders were torn off, and this either frightened him or caused him to lose his balance, and he fell from the machine. His hand was torn off at the wrist, about six inches of the arm between the wrist and elbow crushed into a jelly. He was pulled from the machine instantly, and he bled freely, and staggered away, when the hands came to his assistance and carried him out under a apple tree. Blood flowed freely from the wound, and it is a mystery that he did not bleed to death before medical aid could be procured, as it was about two hours before the physicians arrived. Drs. E. K. Foran and J. Stewart amputated the arm above the elbow, but during the night the weakened him, and he was unable to endure the intense pain, and he quietly passed away.

In the death of Mr. Koontz we lose one of our best citizens. He has been a public school teacher for a number of years, but this spring moved on his father's farm at Longville, where he was a member of St. Mary's Reformed church and also a member of Lodge No. 133, K. of P., at Pleasant Valley. The members of which consigned the body to earth on Wednesday morning, at 10 o'clock. He was about twenty-eight years old, and leaves a widow and one child.

There may be news in this vicinity that would interest some one, if I had the time to look it up; but that has been an impossibility. So I beg to excuse if there is anything missed that should be noticed.

All communications for the Record must be signed by the writer's own name, not necessarily for publication, but as an evidence that the matter and facts submitted are legitimate and correct. Terms of mischievous character are not wanted.

We noticed last week an article in the paper asking for more news from our town, and wondering what had become of the correspondent. The correspondent is not dead or asleep, but who has the ambition to hunt up news during such weather as we have had? And then, no one seems to send much news to the correspondent. If people would bring their little items of news, they would be very thankful to receive, and gladly send to the paper.

Mr. David Holtz started on Saturday for a two week's vacation, and a trip to Niagara Falls and Chicago.

Miss Sallie Adams, of Hagerstown, is visiting her cousin, Miss Linnie Wright.

On Monday night last, the W. C. T. U. picnic was held in the park at Hamilton Hill. The trees were strung with the Japanese lantern, which, with the lighted tables presided over by gayly robed ladies, gave quite a festive air to the place. The snowflakes which stand around like sentinels through the park, looked gravely astonished at the unusual stir and excitement. The chrysanthemums are not "out" yet, so they very properly in their beds, but all the other flowers smiled and nodded a welcome to all the guests. Mr. Repp, the genial proprietor, has erected a stand for the entire evening. Many thanks are extended to the band and to Professor Simpson, of Westminster, who favored the audience with an address on the 20th Century Woman.

Miss Clara Reicher, of Hagerstown, is visiting the family of Mr. J. E. Lambert; also Miss Mary Repp.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Hollenberry, of Westminster, spent Sunday with Mr. John Henry Claggett, of Carrollton.

Compulsory Education.

Whether or not a compulsory education law will be presented to our coming legislature, and whether it will be passed if presented, depends largely on the favorable agitation of the subject in advance of the session, and its popular approval. To our mind, there is but one side to it. The benefit of education to both state and society is a fact so apparent as to require no argument, and, this being accepted, it necessarily follows that the education of all is desirable, in order that the greatest amount of benefit may be derived.

By compulsory education is meant the education of those children, whose parents, either from neglect or desire, elect to allow them to grow up in ignorance. Further, it is meant that foreigners who do give their children a sort of education in their own language, be compelled to have them taught in the English language. Briefly, yet covering the whole ground, it is the object of the proposition to abolish total ignorance of the rudimentary branches entirely, and start every prospective citizen of the United States on the road to intelligent participation in the benefits of the right of suffrage.

Surely, when we consider the great privilege we confer because of mere age and residence, we have a right to demand that this gift be not used as a menace to the giver—at least, not so used because of ignorance of our language and the primary English branches. We ought to have the right, not only to protect people against themselves, but little children against the unwisdom of their parents, especially when such protection means also the protection of the whole people against ignorance and vice.

A number of states already have such laws, and, while they have not been wholly successful, enough has been demonstrated to show the perfect propriety and beneficent influence of the laws, and the conclusion that future results will be all that could be desired. In some cases, the operation of the laws is retarded by insufficient school buildings to accommodate the increased number of pupils, and some friction has been caused by indiscreet officials; but, on the whole, nothing has arisen which disproves the benefit of the laws and their provisions.

In the country, we do not, to any great extent, observe the necessity for compulsory education, as it is rule for all children to attend schools of some kind; and yet, in almost every community there are always a few cases where the situation is different. There the streets and alleys are full of neglected specimens of humanity which are almost sure to become vicious and develop into men who are a reproach to American citizenship and everything else good and honorable.

Education will go a long way toward reducing the ranks of this element, which means a corresponding increase of the industrious, responsible and revenue producing classes. Compulsory education is not a hardship in any particular. It merely stands for a liberal interpretation of the term. Generally, the laws require the attendance of all children, between the ages of six and twelve years, at school for a certain number of weeks each year sufficient to enable them to secure only a very modest learning, with the provision that it be English instruction.

We must indorse such a law, if we believe in an American citizenship, intelligent from top to bottom, divorced from the evils which attend the growing up—rather than the rearing—of the coming ballot wielders of the country. If we believe that free education is the foundation of our liberty and national emence, we must also believe in the certain duty, even to the extent of reasonable compulsion. Let Maryland stand up beside her sister states and do her full patriotic duty.

Hard to Corner.

Those who fear the ultimate control of all branches of business by trusts will likely find out, in the future, that they have underrated both the enterprise of "the others" and the amount of cash they control. Cornering the manufacture of certain lines of goods can only be completely successful when all the cash in the hands of investors and business people is cornered—a most stupendous undertaking.

The combination of all the leading manufacturers, or producers, in certain lines, may be accomplished, for a time, but this cannot, and will not, prevent others from starting up new concerns to such an extent that even the wealthiest trusts will find themselves unable to absorb them, for want of sufficient cash.

The time is coming when there will be a great crash in the trust family, and the signs are not wanting that it will be long coming. Already we hear of new factories being built, new companies being formed and many concerns, which have of recent years been in disuse, being reopened by new people with the intention of making

The Need of the South.

What the South has needed since the war has been a re-establishment of the material basis for civilization. The greater part of the soil had become either very badly cultivated or wholly neglected; and there was needed the application of industry and brains to the agricultural reclamation of what is by nature about the fairest and richest portion of the country—or the planet.

Furthermore, the close of the war found the majority of the mansion houses and better class of homes outside of the large towns completely ruined, while it also found the great mass of the population, including the negroes and the poor whites, living in rude cabins and shanties. There was needed a young population that had both the will and the skill to construct houses and make homes. Slavery had necessarily made every good plantation a training-school in agriculture and in handicrafts.

The negroes of slavery times knew how to raise cotton and tobacco, how to care for live-stock, how to make and mend harness, to do plain blacksmithing, to mold, burn, and lay brick to do the plainer work of joiners, carpenters, and wheelwrights, and, indeed, to work at many other useful trades and crafts. The war destroyed the plantation system, which had provided training in such trades and crafts; and the rapid dying off of the old generation of blacks accordingly left the South with a new generation in its hands devoid of discipline, industry, and practical skill.

What the young negroes of the South needed was not Latin and Greek, but the practical training that would teach them how to mend a mule harness and the moral training that would keep them from drinking whisky. It was the theory at the North that the colored race needed the inspiration of book-learning and of a pure system of religious and ethical instruction. In other words, it was the Northern view that the negroes needed an educated ministry of their own race and the most rapid possible multiplication of negro school-teachers.

There was, of course, a certain amount of truth in all this; but it was, after all, not more than a half truth, and probably considerably less than a half. Some of the institutions which were founded to teach young negroes Latin, Greek, and Theology were in the hands of men who in time came to see the situation as it actually was, and who gradually enlarged the practical and industrial departments of their schools until these features became predominant. Those are the institutions which are now best entitled to Northern support and which have won the approval and good-will of the best and wisest Southern sentiment.—From "The Progress of the World," in the American Monthly Review of Reviews for August.

Millions Given Away.

It is certainly gratifying to the public to know of one concern in the land who are not afraid to be generous to the needy and suffering. The proprietors of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, have given away over ten million trial bottles of this great medicine; and have the satisfaction of knowing it has so completely cured thousands of hopeless cases Asthma, Bronchitis, Hoarseness and all diseases of the Throat, Chest and Lungs are surely cured by it. Call on R. S. McKinney Druggist, and get a free trial bottle. Regular size 50c. and $1. Every bottle guaranteed, or price refunded.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury.

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system, such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten times as great as any benefit they can possibly derive from them. Halls Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. It is the only safe and effective remedy for Catarrh. It is taken internally, and acts on the blood. Sold by Druggists, price 50c per bottle. Halls Family Pills are the best.

Man a Habitual Liar.

"Through its emphasis of the superlative our age is in danger of losing all power to tell the truth," writes Rev. Newell Dwight Hillis, D. D., of "The Diffusion of Happiness Through Conversation," in the August Ladies' Home Journal. "The modern colloquial has reached such a state of culture that the positive and comparative degrees are unknown. It is no longer possible for the schoolgirl to find either an adjective or an adverb to express her ecstasy of feeling. Abstinence and sobriety in speech are rapidly passing away.

"David Swing once expressed the fear that through excess in the use of adjectives our generation would lose all sense of proportion and symmetry in the statement of facts. He noted that the adjectives most loved by our age are in themselves gross exaggerations. In studying the history of language he found that very early men began to say that 'the sun went down in a bed of gold; the moon turned all things to silver; the eye darted forth flames; the face was brighter than the sun.' Having used such expressions for twenty years man awakens to find himself a habitual liar.

"We must also note that the modern school of wit does not deal in the pure, delicate humor of Sydney Smith or Charles Lamb, but for its effects depends upon gross exaggerations and word-pilings. Thus, not only the language of teaching, but the language of literature is being so strained that it is style is best which leaves adjectives and adverbs, and dealing in the simplicities. That charming and founded on frankness and truthfulness."

You assume no risk when you buy Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. R. S. McKinney will refund your money if you are not satisfied after using it. It is everywhere admitted to be the most successful remedy in use for bowel complaints and the only one that never fails. It is pleasant, safe and reliable.

There is no need to provide such a great variety for our families at any one time, unless we educate them to look for it. Plenty of good wholesome food, and not so many pickles, pies and cakes, and my word for it, you will not have much need of a doctor.

Hints on Etiquette.

We will imagine that the bell has rung, and that the servant has opened the door in proper form, this being an improper attention, seeing that her servant opens the door quietly, without making a fuss, and to its fullest extent, not as boisterous servants or ill-trained ones often do.

Men, on the other hand, unless asked to do so, when calling on strangers, would take their hats with them into the drawing room, leaving, however, their overcoats, umbrellas, etc., in the hall, for fashion decides that a man should not present himself in a drawing room with his overcoat.

Should the room be empty the guests should sit down, rising immediately their hostess enters; but if cards on a special day have been sent the room should on no account be empty, for nothing is so unpardonable or leaves such an unpleasant impression as tardiness in a hostess.

when people who are entire strangers to you call on philanthropic guests, or to ask for a servant's reference, in which case you bow to them politely and they leave the room.

The hostess should see that all her lady visitors have seats before she herself seated, but it is not considered good form for her to say, "Take a seat," or "Be seated."

When you intend going, avoid signaling the fact too patiently to the friends with whom you came, but rise quietly, when they should all follow your example. In no case should a man or a daughter, or a younger member of the party rise first, or precede an older woman out of the room.

It is disgusting to hear some people speak scornfully of girls who have to work for a living. No sensible man is dazzled by the glitter of a jeweled hand, a gold bracelet or a watch bought on "tick."

Sweet Watermelon Pickles.

Take off the green rind and cut off the pink portion from the inside of a watermelon. Wash and to each seven pounds allow four pounds of sugar, a pint of vinegar, two teaspoonfuls of allspice, the same of cinnamon, half the quantity of cloves, half a teaspoonful of ground mace and a teaspoonful of ginger.

The soothing and healing properties of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, its pleasant taste and prompt and permanent cures, have made it a great favorite with the people everywhere.

An Appetizing Hot Weather Dish.

To prepare blind heat, take a pound and a half of veal cutlet, or one three pound chicken, and a pound and a half of round steak chopped fine; mix and add half a teaspoonful of grated nutmeg, a level teaspoonful of cinnamon, one pint of stale bread crumbs rubbed fine, a quarter of a teaspoonful of pepper and two level teaspoonfuls of salt.

OCEAN CURRENTS.

Our government, at the suggestion of the Geographical society of Philadelphia and with the cooperation of the whaling fleet, will make experiments this year with a view to determining the currents in the Arctic ocean north of America.

It is not likely that any of these vessels will be carried clear across from Bering Strait to the Atlantic ocean, for the intricate channels among the ice lands and the ice masses would probably prevent such a drift.

Of course it was known long ago that the northwest passage for which mariners had sought for centuries really exists. Sir John Franklin, in the expedition of 1845, was the first man in his party, nearly completed the passage, far reaching from the point reached by vessels from Bering sea, in 1850.

Crate Factories as Arsenals. The United States navy department is laying in extensive stocks of naval ordnance, and the bids which are being opened from day to day show that one of the effects of the war has been to build up a large number of small factories capable of producing war supplies.

Patent Hat Cooler. One can wear a silk hat and keep the head cool, says the Cincinnati Enquirer, by adopting the invention of a London hatter.

Of four varieties grown from nine seeds sent to the station by the United States department of agriculture, Fitch's Elite gave the heaviest yield, nearly 22 tons per acre, with a sugar content of 14.3 per cent.

It is a surprising fact, says Prof. Hinton, "that in my travels in all parts of the world, for the last ten years, I have met more people having used Green's August Flower than any other remedy, for dyspepsia, deranged liver and stomach, and for constipation."

Delicate Massaging. Almost incredible as it seems, the largest weight which the government assayer employs in making an analysis of gold bullion is the infinitesimal French half grain, or about seven and three-fourths grains Troy, and the balance used in this work are so sensitive that a weight of one-twentieth of a milligram, which is less than one-thousandth part of a single grain, will cause the indicator needle to deflect a very appreciable distance from the zero point on the graduated scale marking the equilibrium.

SUGAR BEETS.

Upon each of a number of farms co-operating with the Geneva (N. Y.) station in sugar beet experiments, three plants were used, one unfertilized and the others receiving either 500 pounds or 750 pounds per acre of a complete fertilizer.

Special tests, as far as the averages go, indicate that the use of 1,500 pounds or more of a complete fertilizer is at a profit, in the case of the use of 500 pounds, the profit on the tests giving a direct gain of nearly $3 per acre.

On three of the stable manure plots at the station the beets were thinned to six inches apart in the row, on three others to ten inches and on three others to twelve inches.

THE VEANER and THE CAR.

It's a strange thing about women and cable cars when the time comes for them to part. A man or a boy will just naturally drop off the car and start along the street as if nothing had happened, but let a woman attempt to equal him in motion, and she will find that she is unable to do so.

War Department Decides to Continue Enlistments.

NEGRO RECRUITS NOT DESIRED.

Washington, Aug. 15.—It is said there is no longer any question that a stronger military force must be sent to the Philippines, and 50,000 men, possibly more, will be necessary.

So rapidly have the new regiments been recruited with fine material that the War Department has concluded to take advantage of the present rush and enroll all the good material.

All the recruiting stations with the exception of those at Atlanta, Fort Sam Houston and Vancouver, with possibly some others, are to be maintained in full operation.

It is not the intention of the War Department to have any of the new regiments composed of negroes, although General Miles has lately recommended that the five regiments be composed of this class for garrison duty in the islands.

Secretary Root will facilitate in every way the departure of troops for the Philippines. He proposes to forward them, without delay, by every transport available, and in order to expedite their departure, has ordered that four additional troopships be chartered on the Pacific Coast.

A Little Mistake.

"The other evening, just before we changed watch," said the clerk at one of the hotels, "a fat drummer came up and began figuring out his expense account for the day. He took the first piece of paper he could lay his hands on and didn't notice that it was the blank we use for keeping a memorandum of morning calls.

Well, at 3:30 o'clock next morning there was trouble and plenty of it. The night clerk supposed of course, that the calls had been left in the ordinary way, and while he was a little surprised at so many people wanting to get up at such an unearthly hour, he told the boys to wake Nos. 150, 15, 35, 100, 110, 50, 3 and 25 and carry a quart of beer to No. 40.
