It is a matter of congratulation that nearly all new dwellings recently erected in this place have slate roofs, and that old shingle roofs are being replaced with slate. This is both economical and wise, especially as it will only be a matter of a few years, in all probability, when the increase of wooden roofs will be prohibited.

On Wednesday morning Mr. Wm. Clason and his sons were coming to Taneytown in a spring wagon, the spindle broke and the horse ran off. None of the party were injured except Mr. Wm. Clason, whose shoulder was severely bruised and sprained. He will not be able to use it for several weeks. No damage was done to the horse; he ran about a mile, and was caught by Milton Crouse.

A correspondent at Walnut Grove sends the following: "The picnic held by the Sabbath school at this place was a perfect success. The day was beautiful, and the address by Rev. A. Bateman, Prof. H. He had been complaining of feeling unwell for a day or two, but was not sick enough to call in a physician. On Sunday morning he walked out into the yard; his niece saw him fall, and ran to him, but he died in a few minutes. His home was in Hanover. Funeral services were held on Wednesday; interment at St. John's church, near Littlestown. Mr. Keefe was about 65 years old.

As the time for setting up stoves for the winter is abo here, it would be the part of wisdom for everybody, before doing this work, to make an examination of all chimneys and flues for the purpose of cleaning and repairing them. Many chimneys, especially above the roof and in the attic, become cracked and lose mortar, thus materially adding to the danger of fire; also, chimneys used for wood burning during the summer are apt to become foul, and need burning out or cleaning by some other means. Don't set up stoves until the above hints have been observed.

Next Tuesday, October 3, is the date of the first sitting of the registers of voters, and the following Tuesday, the second, and last date.

If you have changed your home from one district to another since you were registered last year, you must apply in person where you registered last year, for a Removal Certificate on Tuesday, October 3rd., which certificate must be taken to the Registration Officers in the district or precinct in which you now live, either on the 3rd. or 10th. of October, in order that you may be registered. If you were registered in another county last year and will have been here six months by next election day, you must get a removal certificate from such county and produce it as stated above.

No transfer is necessary if your last voting place was Baltimore city—sixty-six months residence in this county, and proper registration here. Every young man, who will be 21 years of age by the day of election, is entitled to be registered.

Killed near York Road. On last Saturday, J. M. Chambers, a Western Maryland Railroad brakeman was killed by his train about one-fourth of a mile from York Road. He was crushed and mangled in a fearful manner; he lived about four hours after the accident occurred, but was not conscious. Dr. C. H. Diller, of D. P. The deceased was about 34 years of age, unmarried, and is supposed to have come originally from Charlottesville, Va., where his parents are said to reside.

WINTER ENTERTAINMENTS.

Why not have a Lecture or Literary Association?

Would it not be possible to form, in Taneytown, a Lecture, or Literary Association, the object of which would be to provide a course of weekly entertainments in the Opera House, during the coming winter. We might have lectures, mixed entertainments and plays, so alternated as to suit all tastes, which would be both instructive and entertaining, and at the minimum charge of admission.

Such an association might be formed, having only the object in view of furnishing diversion for the citizens of the community, and not of profit. The proceeds to go into a treasury for the purpose of securing, perhaps, better talent, in the way of lectures than we have here; and, should the project meet with great success, the surplus could be devoted to worthy objects of charity, at the option of the members of the organization.

Monday night, say, of each week, might be selected for these entertainments, and possibly an admission fee of ten cents would be ample to meet all expenses and leave a balance. The idea, it seems to us, is worth considering. We now have a very nice place for events such as proposed, a good sized town and thickly populated community, and there does not seem to be any reason why such a course as might be arranged would not be a great success.

Pure amusements, healthy instruction and variety of entertainments, are good for everybody. They indicate, as well as promote, intelligence and good feeling, and elevate the standard of morals and accomplishments of a community. We are fully convinced that Taneytown has ample talent, without considering outside possibilities, to make such an association a success in many ways, and repeat, the idea is worthy of consideration and trial.

Death of John S. Repp. John S. Repp, a highly respected citizen of Union Bridge, and well known throughout Western Maryland, died suddenly at his home, on Sunday last, September 24th. He was on his way to attend Sabbath school, when he was taken ill with a fainting spell, and was removed to his residence, where he expired shortly afterwards.

He was born 77 years ago in Frederick county and resided there and at Union Bridge, Carroll county, all his life. He was best known through his connection with matters of education, having, with the late Dr. Lewis H. Robinson, of the Pratt Library, laid out the districts and established the public school system of Frederick county. He was in early life a teacher. For many years he was a trustee of the Western Maryland College at Westminster and identified with the church and institutional work of the Methodist Protestant church. A widow, son and three daughters survive him. One of the daughters, Mrs. Lewis Dill, resides in Baltimore.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday morning, at 10.30 o'clock, at the M. P. church; interment in Mountain View cemetery.

Reception at York Road. (For the Record.) Wednesday evening, Sept. 27th., the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. F. Cover, of York Road, Md., was the scene of one of the most brilliant social events of the season, the occasion being a reception in honor of the marriage of their daughter, Nellie Louise, to Miss Cover, a bright and attractive young lady, and Mr. Smith, son of Mr. W. A. Smith, one of the most prominent citizens of Woodsboro.

The yard was beautifully decorated with Japanese lanterns, and the benches and chairs scattered invitingly around, suggested a delightful retreat in some quiet corner. The house was made resplendent with potted plants and cut flowers, and the table and dining room was voted a work of art. The decorations were in green and gold, which idea was carried throughout the table decorations. The chief beauty was found when the guests, seated at the table, were made aware that beauty sometimes is useful as well as ornamental, and all paid hearty compliments to the tempting fruits, candies, cakes, lemonade and cream.

Misses Clara Stambaugh, Marcie Adams, Mattie Koons and Nettie Greager, four intimate friends of the bride, acted as waitresses, and looked very sweet in their dainty dresses of white. The bride was gowned in white organdy, trimmed with ribbon and lace to match, white slippers, and wore a lace train. The groom wore a dress suit of the conventional black.

"The gifts were numerous and useful, and many represented the best wishes of those unable to be present. Among them was a large quantity of silverware, china and glassware, clocks, chairs, and other useful articles."

Mr. and Mrs. Smith were married in Camden, on August 23rd., but owing to the illness of the bride, the reception was unavoidably delayed.

(The above article was received at 9.15 this (Friday) morning, and included a large number of names of the guests present, which we are compelled to omit for want of time and space.—Ed.)

A Slight Mistake. (For the Record.) In reply to the Cockle picking held at Mr. Bradley Stiffely's, I would just state, that in a slight mistake that came out in last week's issue that I was not the champion picker. Anyone person there and Miss Nellie Rowe being the champion pickers, as those two together. They were not only the slowest, but did not do their work well.

As for prizes, I saw none, I think the reporter must have been misinformed or else the champions wanted it to sound well on their side.

County Ticket named on Monday. Judge Bond Nominated.

The republican convention met in Westminster, on Monday, Sept. 25th., and was called to order at 11 o'clock, sharp, by the chairman, Dr. J. J. Hesson, Jr., and proceeded at once to the nomination of candidates to be voted for at the election in November. A motion fixing the following as the nominees was adopted. The first name, and afterwards modified, and the nomination of candidates for the House of Delegates deferred until the next State senator, judges of the Orphans' Court, members of the House of Delegates, sheriff, state's attorney, county commissioner, county treasurer, county surveyor, Dr. J. J. Hesson was chosen State senator by acclamation, on a rising vote.

For sheriff, Jacob Thomson, Charles Elmer Walter and James M. Stoner were named. Mr. Thomson received forty votes out of the sixty-five constituting the convention, and was nominated as the successful candidate.

For state's attorney the contestants were Charles T. Reifsnider, Jr., and Ivan L. Hoff. Mr. Reifsnider was nominated on the first ballot by a vote of forty-five to twenty.

For county commissioner, George C. Richards; for county treasurer, Grove J. Shipley, and for county surveyor, Nelson Hawk, were nominated by acclamation.

For the House of Delegates, John R. Bennett, Weldon B. Wooden, Nathan Englar, Charles J. Flater, Charles J. Flater and Charles J. Flater were placed in nomination. Messrs Bennett, Englar, Shriver and Flater received a majority and their competitors, and were declared the nominees.

County Surveyor—J. William Earhart, of Myers.—American.

On Wednesday, the republican convention of the fifth judicial circuit of Maryland, met at Odd Fellows Hall, Westminster, and was called to order by G. E. Sharrer, chairman of the republicans, and Dr. J. J. Hesson, Jr., president of the Maryland Senate, was elected chairman, and W. W. Burton of Elkoot Creek, secretary. The following resolutions were presented by Jos. D. Brooks, were unanimously adopted:

"Convinced that every good citizen who is the recipient of an impartially administered justice, should be absolutely independent of all political influence and entanglements, and that the best interests of the people of this State are best promoted by the capacity, integrity and legal acquirements, the republican party presents to the fifth judicial circuit, the following names as candidates for party affiliations, the Hon. James A. C. Bond as an eminently suitable candidate for the position of chief judge of this circuit, and having out of view any personal considerations, as a political character, as the republican party has frequently done in dealing with the judicial office, the following names are recommended for nomination: A. C. Bond to be placed upon the official ballot under the republican party emblem as a candidate for chief judge of the fifth judicial circuit of Maryland."

Judge Bond was then placed in nomination by Colonel George P. King, and received the unanimous vote of the members of the convention. A committee on notification consisting of the chairman of the convention and Messrs. J. J. Hesson, Jr., and J. J. Hesson, Jr., was appointed to notify Judge Bond of the action of the convention. This committee performed its duty at once, and the following letter of acceptance was submitted by Judge Bond:

"Gentlemen of the Committee: I fully agree with the sentiments expressed by you in your address at the judicial convention embody, I do not believe that political considerations should enter into the selection of a judge. I do not believe that he should be selected on any political party basis. These views are held by many, if not by most of the conservative and thoughtful people of the county. I judge that to deal essentially different from those that concern the politician and the voter in an ordinary election, justice can best be done by his high and respectable office when wholly independent of political surroundings. I accept the nomination which is so kindly made me, and I pledge myself, in its very nature, a non-partisan office. I pledge myself, if chosen by the voice of the people, to act with rigid impartiality and with unvarying fidelity, knowing no party, no class and no creed, and devoting my utmost energy to the arduous duties which the position imposes. Yours truly, JAMES A. C. BOND."

The delegates to the convention from Carroll county were Joseph D. Boyer, Charles T. Reifsnider, Jr., and J. Hoff, Arthur F. Smith and John H. Cunningham.

Senator Wellington's Resignation. Senator Wellington was present at the meeting of the Republican State Central Committee on Monday last and tendered his resignation as chairman. His speech on that occasion was mainly a denunciation of Governor Loyd. He asserted his loyalty to the republican party, and urged the delegates to go home and work for the success of the party. His resignation was unanimously accepted, and he left the Hall at once. Most republicans think his action will injure the party at the coming election. The delegates on the other hand are jubilant over his resignation, and think it adds to their chances of carrying the state. The seventh of November next will tell the tale.

OFF TO LONACONING.

Account of the Trip, by our Harney Correspondent.

Last Monday morning D. J. Hesson, Arthur Feeser, Nelson Hawk, O. T. Shoemaker, J. Copenhaver and J. W. Reck, started for Lonaconing, Md., to attend the State meeting of the Select Castle, A. O. K. of M. C. It is needless to say that we had a very pleasant trip, because the boys of Allegany county always know how to show people a good time. Upon our arrival at Lonaconing we were met by some of the members of the organization and escorted to our hotel. After arriving there, each seemed to think that he would be the better for a good wash; this being done all went to the parlor to wait for supper. Soon the gong sounded, and surely, after a full day's travel, we all enjoyed the food very much, and were met by the hostess, who was very kind and showed around over the town.

Tuesday morning, we expected to visit the mines, but before we were ready to start it commenced raining, and our trip was not taken. At 10 o'clock we went into the session of the Select Castle, which proved to be a very interesting affair. Mr. D. J. Hesson was chosen Select Commander of the state; Arthur Feeser, Select Vice Commander; J. W. Reck, Select Treasurer; O. T. Shoemaker, Select Secretary; and Nelson Hawk, Select outside guard. The rest of the officers were chosen from Allegany county, but Carroll county boys can congratulate themselves upon their ability to carry off so many of the honors; all indications point to a very rapid growth of the Order during the next year.

After the session was over, and the next day of meeting was settled upon, and I am pleased to say that Silver Run will have the honor of next year's annual meeting. The program consisted of speeches by prominent members, and the ministers of the town, interspersed with vocal and instrumental music, and we are certainly sure that we will have a most enjoyable time.

While we were enjoying the good things, the committee was busily engaged in preparing for the next year's grand ball that took place afterwards. Every person present seemed to join hands for a general good time, and the people are certainly worthy of our congratulation for their hospitality, and their kind treatment of us during our stay with them; we certainly hope that we may be permitted to enjoy many more such occasions.

Re-union at Emmitsburg. (For the Record.) Four score years and four sit lightly on the erect form of great-grandfather, Daniel Sheets, of Emmitsburg, Friday, September 23rd., was signaled by a delightful home gathering of quite a number of his family. To father and children, and all present, the day was a happy one, spent under the old roof, Iowa, Pennsylvania and Maryland sat down and conversed together. Not least among the day's enjoyments was a sumptuous dinner in honor of the children's home coming.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. David Sheets, and Mrs. Abram Krise, of Lewis, Iowa; Mr. and Mrs. Sentman Sheets, Taneytown, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. John T. Hoppelhorn, Fairplay; Mr. and Mrs. David Weikert, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Krise, Adams county, Pa.; Rev. G. Reinsel and wife, Emmitsburg, Md.; Mr. S. H. Hay, Gettysburg; Mrs. Catherine Sampson, Delbert, of Hoppelhorn, the great-grand-son of Daniel Sheets.

Supper Party. (For the Record.) On Monday evening, Sept. 25th., a grand supper was given at the home of Mr. Irvin Bohn, the occasion being his birthday. At 8 o'clock the guests assembled, much to his surprise; the evening was spent in social games and music, which was enjoyed by all. At 11 o'clock the guests were invited to the dining room, where refreshments were served in abundance, after which they departed for their homes, wishing him many happy birthdays.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Bohn, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Hols Bohn, Mr. and Mrs. Scott Haines, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ogle, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Graham, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Angel, Mr. and Mrs. Clay Gilbert, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Haines, Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Bohn, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Hosler, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Prock, Mrs. Lou Smith, Mrs. Kate Hooker, Mrs. Peter Herbert, Misses Minnie and Loraine Hooker, Minnie Nusham, Belle and Italy Bond, Bessie Hooper, Elie Graue, Annie Smith, Leila Moore, Messrs Ray Moore, Howard Bond, Walter Haines, Norman Hasler, etc.

Epworth League Rally. (For the Record.) The rally of the Epworth League Union of Carroll county, at Union Bridge, Saturday evening and Sunday, Sept. 23rd. and 24th., was attended by a large number of delegates and visitors, all of whom expressed themselves highly pleased with the success of the services. The program of Saturday evening consisted of a prayer service followed by an address on "The League Pledge," by Rev. V. N. Ridgely. The love-feast of Sunday morning was conducted by Wilbur Buckincham, and the preaching service by Rev. Joel Brown. Miss M. E. Weaver led the children's meeting in the afternoon, which was followed by addresses on "Christian Activity," by Rev. E. B. Clarkson delivered the evening sermon, and had charge of the evangelistic service. The Epworth League Union has a membership of about eleven hundred in the thirty-one different chapters, a majority of the chapters being represented at this rally.

COLLEGE PARK NOTES.

Interesting Experiments in regard to Ensilage, etc.

The weather here still continues wet, on Monday evening we had a heavy shower, accompanied by thunder and lightning, and quite a heavy storm during the following night; in fact there was more rain falling here than there was the day before. The ground is now so wet that it will be some days before it will be fit to work at all.

We have been busily engaged in filling out two silos at the College farm, which are more than twenty feet high and thirteen feet in diameter, estimated to hold 75 tons apiece. We therefore have about 150 tons of silage. The first one was filled with corn. This corn was planted a little thicker than field corn usually is, and left standing until the corn was in the stage of cutting and shocking. It was then cut, ear as well as fodder, and put in the silo.

The corn was cut with a machine manufactured at Nashville, Tennessee called the "Harding Hummer." The machine forced the cut corn and fodder through a pipe 4 feet long, to the top of the silo. It acts on the principle that the blowers attached to the grain separators do. It saves a great deal of labor that would otherwise be required in cutting and shocking. The second silo was filled with corn and peas in alternate layers. According to Prof. Patterson a cow will eat from 40 to 50 pounds of silage per day, in connection with a little dry feed.

A little practice in figures will soon inform the reader how long 150 tons of this silage will last a given number of cows. This feed was all taken off of less than ten acres of ground—perhaps about eight. In due time the results of silage feeding will be published and the farmers of Maryland will be fully informed with regard to the value of the experiments in this direction.

We now have fifteen hogs and four head of young cattle in a lot near the new engine house. The hogs were turned in, and will be weighed when taken out. We have also fencled off a lot of arcticakes and expect to turn a lot of hogs on them soon. They are much like a potato, and do not commence to grow in the roots before they bloom, and as they are now in full bloom, it will not be long before they can be turned in to help themselves. We will also plow down a few peas in order to try their effects in improving ground, and propose to turn some of them into hay. Among other things that we have added to our stock of machinery is a pea harvester, attached to one of our mowers.

Our new thirty horse power boiler, which this Station recently purchased, is now in position and will be ready for work in a few days. Our new gasoline engine will be ready to run as soon as some necessary fixtures arrive. It will be used to run our dairy machinery. Prof. Doane, very kind and laboring, is giving students instruction in his department. There is a greater number of students at the College than there has been for some time. Prof. Doane is making preparations to give his students more practical work in Agriculture, than he has heretofore.

We have not seen our young friends, Reuben Saylor, for a few days, but are informed that he is undergoing his share of experience that all young students are heir to. He seems to be getting along very well, and we hope that he will make a success of his undertaking. We were gratified to learn through the Baltimore papers that our good friends, Dr. C. Birnie and M. G. Shaw, had both received places on the republican ticket, as well as Mr. Motter on the opposite side.

Proceedings of Union Bridge Farmer's Club. The club met at the home of David and W. G. Rinehart, Sept. 21st., 1899; members present were, D. Wolfe, wife and daughter, Anna S. Shepherd, Reuben Saylor and wife, Milton T. Haines, wife and two children, George Rinehart and family, P. Wood and family; visitors, Edward Garber and sisters, Emma, Dollie and Fannie. After the arrival of the guests, the men started on their rounds of the farm, which are somewhat shortened since the leaders have passed the month, birthday. We saw a fine lot of nice small porkers, on our way to the orchard.

The first apple tree we examined was sick, right into death. A worm or the blight had about girdled the main trunk at the ground, and the dead bark fitted loosely around the dead wood, yet the tree had apples upon it, and some leaves. Quite a number of young trees were, or were less affected by this disease, although our venerable president has given them excellent care, as is evidenced by the mending and the smooth clean bark of the trees. A new corn crib with a capacity of 100 barrels was noted.

Returning to the house, the club was called to order, and the minutes of the last meeting read and approved. A letter from Mr. Talliaferro was read expressing regret that he could not be with us. D. Wolfe was directed to re-appoint the invitation to some future meeting, and also to ask Prof. Johnson to visit or send some one to the matter with our fruit trees.

The committee on the beautiful habit of looking for the good qualities of those about them, D. Rinehart read from some paper, "Advice on making roads." W. S. Rinehart was away on jury. A call to supper interrupted the proceedings, but no protest was raised, we repaired to the dining room, and partook of an excellent repast.

Resuming business, D. Wolfe read a paper, explaining the term "Ball and Ration"—which may be published, being a subject of general interest. Reuben Saylor and Henry Fess were appointed to inquire about prices of the "League Pledge," by Rev. V. N. Ridgely. The love-feast of Sunday morning was conducted by Wilbur Buckincham, and the preaching service by Rev. Joel Brown. Miss M. E. Weaver led the children's meeting in the afternoon, which was followed by addresses on "Christian Activity," by Rev. E. B. Clarkson delivered the evening sermon, and had charge of the evangelistic service. The Epworth League Union has a membership of about eleven hundred in the thirty-one different chapters, a majority of the chapters being represented at this rally.

MARRIED. GABRIEL—HAINES.—On Sept. 27th., by Elder Solomon Stoner, Mr. Jacob E. Greenholtz to Miss Cora Bell Haines.

Correspondence.

Linwood.

Heavy rains have fallen in this section during the past week. In consequence farmers are not able to work the ground, and very little wheat has been planted. The weather has been quite cool, necessitating light weight coverlets, but as yet no frost.

Open fires are a necessity where persons are fortunate enough to possess a fire-place. Apples are being picked and sateer-traded—reminding us of the last of summer.

Misses Louise and Elizabeth Rinehart have come to Pennsylvania to attend the wedding of their cousin, Mr. T. H. Dell of Baltimore, spent Sunday last with his family at Linwood Shade.

The German Baptist Brethren Mite Society met at Mrs. Alfred Englar's on Wednesday last, and quitted their quilts for the mission in Baltimore. Mr. Ephraim Repp, formerly of this county, but now in the past 32 years a resident of Warrensburg, Missouri, who is on a visit to his son, John, in Union Bridge, paid a visit to this old friend, Mr. E. L. Shriver, on Wednesday last.

Mrs. Jennie Rouzer is in Cumberland, visiting her mother-in-law. Dr. Lee Royer, who has been invalid since last January, was able to visit the Sunday school in the hall, on Sunday last. Although not able to take any part in the exercises, the entire school was pleased to have his presence once more, after giving up all hope of his recovery from his long and very serious illness.

"Linwood and the Record" closed its doors on Wednesday last for the season, Mrs. Dell and daughter and Mr. H. L. Purvis, the remaining guests, having left on that day for their homes in the city.

Miss Mary Messler, a student at the State Normal school, in Baltimore, spent last Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Messler.

Harney. On last Sunday morning Rev. Sumner, a native African, preached in the U. B. church of this place. The announcement attracted great attention, and long before the hour for services had arrived, the church was filled to overflowing. Rev. Sumner gave a general talk on the manners and customs of his native country, which was certainly very interesting. It was a great pleasure to have a greater interest in Missionary work.

Mr. Benjamin Hyser recently brought to town quite a close in the shape of a beet; there are six beets in one, the body being perfectly solid, but it has six separate tops, and six perfect roots, weighing in all 5 pounds.

One Mrs. M. H. Hester, who is getting some new customers. Mr. Hostetter, the proprietor, asks the farmers to give him a trial and let him prove to them that he means to do what is right.

An Explanation. (For the Record.) I notice in the RECORD that a correspondent from Silver Run, asks "What was it?" I want to say to the inquirer that our organization is responsible for the picnic and not the Reformed church; they only united with us. I speak from authority, and know whereof I speak. About one year ago, a picnic was given at a place that met at Silver Run, organized a convention to be known as I supposed then, a convention of Reformed church churches in the name of the fact, that it included choirs of any other denomination. This was a temporary organization and I was selected as its president. It was a very important matter,

GRANT FORKES are working for the Jew. Dreyfus the martyr. Herzl the patriot, and Zangwill the author, represent these in three of his phases. Zangwill has never spoken so eloquently as in his paper called "Zionism" in the October "New Lippincott." It represents his convictions and his nature; depth of feeling garbed in the parti-colour of pantomime.

SENATOR WELLINGTON has always been a stormy sort of politician, continually furnishing surprises; therefore, the manner of his break with the republican organization in this state is received with comparative freedom from surprise. While the Senator is undoubtedly brilliant and able, in many respects, he is too erratic and dictatorial to long retain the confidence and leadership of any great constituency, whether local, state or national.

WE ARE informed that Admiral Dewey will be presented with a home in Washington, on his arrival there, but whether it will be one worth $25,000 or $50,000, the promoters of the project do not state, for the reason that they mean to buy one with the money they get. Evidently, the Washington market is well stocked with a full variety of Admiral's homes, which may be bought in the morning and delivered the same day, like a horse.

IT HAS BEEN known for some time that Jan Maclean has been critically studying modern church methods, and the results are now to be made public in the Ladies' Home Journal. His first article is called "The Candy-Pull System in the Church," and in this he frankly states what many have felt but have scarcely ventured to publicly assert with regard to social tendencies of the church. The great English author will then handle "The Mutineer in the Church," and after that answer the somewhat startling question, "Should the Old Minister be Shot?"

A Pure Food Law.

It has been suggested to the Editor of the RECORD that it would be timely to begin agitation for a Pure Food Law for the state, to which we fully agree. While we are not posted on the proper provisions of such a law, or the extent of their scope, the title itself, "Pure Food," is sufficient to enlist the active interest of everybody. The extent to which articles of food for man and beast, is adulterated, is commonly misapprehended, and the primary intent of the law in question would be to prevent adulteration, or at least expose it to such an extent that consumers would know the exact character of their purchases, through a plain analysis provided for by law.

Farmers are especially interested in pure food legislation, for the reason that all grain products are counterfeited in one way or another, resulting in a smaller use of pure grain and the substitution of cheaper, and possibly dangerous and less nutritious, material. The law would benefit them not only as producers, but as consumers.

It is said that Maryland is a sort of dumping ground for low grade produce, because we have no laws having a tendency toward requiring higher and purer standards. If this be true, the time is surely present for us to end a condition to which we are in no wise entitled, as the Maryland consumer has a right to know what he buys and eats, and to insist on receiving pure goods when he pays for them.

Keep Cool.

By the time this week's RECORD reaches its readers, the tickets of both political parties will have been nominated, and the annual political campaign begun. Every man worthy to bear the name of "American citizen," ought not only to vote, but to work and use his influence for the success of the party or the men whom he believes will best serve the interests of his state and county. An exciting, hard-fought contest is not necessarily bad; on the contrary if it be true that "eternal vigilance is the price of Liberty," it is a good thing. People can scarcely take too much interest in public affairs; of course, it is possible for a man to neglect his business for so-called politics, but an intelligent understanding of the principles at issue, and a hearty effort to get the best men elected and to see that they do their duty after they are elected, is what good citizenship requires of every man.

But while this is true, it is equally true that passion, personal abuse, and offensive partisanship need have no place in a campaign. They do no good; the man who can keep cool and keep his wits about him, always has the advantage of a passionate man. A man may be a gentleman and a politician, at the same time; he may be an earnest advocate of his own party and its principles, and still allow his neighbor to differ from him honestly. It is by honest, fairly-fought battles and quiet submission to the will of the majority, that English speaking nations have established free government. In some other nations a defeat means a revolution, and a party defeated at the polls, generally resorts to the sword, but with us a defeat only means acquiescence in the will of the majority until we get another opportunity to try conclusions at the ballot box.

Don't think the country is going to destruction unless your party prevails. The American people is greater than any party, is always ready to rectify its mistakes, and while an election is a serious matter, there is a humorous side to it; try to find that occasionally there is also a pleasant side; look for that; don't fret, don't worry, don't get mad, don't abuse any body; do your best for that party or for those men whom you honestly believe to be the best, and then "take things easy."

Very Near Sacrilege.

The following partial description of the scenes at the burial of a pet monkey, in Baltimore, last week, represents an occasion, the participants in which came near, if not quite, being guilty of actual sacrilege.

"His body was placed in a neat satin lined white casket and dressed in a white silk gown, with his front paws crossed over his breast, flowers and ferns were strewn over him and two small silk American flags were placed at the head of the casket. On a stand nearby were a number of large bouquets of flowers, sent by friends, with cards of sympathy attached. There was an "empty chair" design, a "Gates Ajar," a broken column from the Nonpartisan Social Club, and organization of which the monkey had been made a member, &c. With great solemnity Joseph Miller, wearing a linen duster and carrying the casket, took off his hat, and held a short service, during which he recited Macco's history. The pall bearers, and devotion, &c. The pall bearers, and others filled four ladders, and in procession moved to Middle river, where the monkey was buried between two cedar trees which he had often climbed while alive. Each pall bearer was given a quart bottle of rye whiskey by Mr. Bennett to keep up his spirits on the trip, and a case of champagne was also taken along."

That American citizens can be found, willing to adopt so many of the customs that prevail during burial ceremonies for human beings, at the burial of an animal, and to add there to, whisky and champagne, is a sorry spectacle indeed. It indicates more than mere levity; it seems to be a play with the common burial rites of our civilization to an extent that should be indictable. Probably the "quart of whisky to each bearer" explains why such a demonstration was possible; if so, further comment is likely unnecessary, and the only surprise is that the Bible, instead of an "almshouse," was not used.

State Vaccination Laws.

As it is probable that there is almost a general ignorance of the vaccination laws of the state, we reprint the following from the Maryland statutes, Art. 43, code of 1888: SECTION 30.—It shall be the duty of every parent and guardian to have his or her child vaccinated within twelve months after its birth, if it shall be in proper condition, or as soon thereafter as practicable; and if such parent or guardian shall have any other person under his or her control or state, not duly vaccinated, he or she shall cause such person or persons to be vaccinated prior to the first day of November of each year. Any person failing to comply with the provisions of this section shall, on conviction thereof, forfeit and pay a sum not less than five nor more than ten dollars for each offense.

SECTION 31.—No teacher in any school shall receive into such school any person as a scholar until such person shall produce the certificate of some regular practicing physician, that such applicant for admission into the school has been duly vaccinated. Any teacher so offending shall, on conviction thereof, forfeit and pay a fine of ten dollars for each offense, and no public school trustee or commissioner shall grant a permit to any child to enter any public school without such certificate, under the same penalty.

King Corn.

In the old ante-bellum days, the people of the South considered cotton king; and in that day and generation they were right. The country has expanded much since then, and we have other products which are quite as important to the country at large as is the cotton crop. Corn is the coming king, if any one product shall be entitled to that eminence. Hardly a generation ago it was merely food for stock, and to a limited extent used as a breadstuff. Now its field of usefulness has been enormously increased.

It is now the raw material for at least a score of articles of commerce, the use of which is extending rapidly. The New York Commercial enumerates the following list of products manufactured from corn: Mixing glucose, crystal glucose, grape sugar, anhydrous grape sugar, special sugar, pearl starch, powdered starch, refined grade, dextrine, British gum, granulated gum, gum paste, corn oil, corn oil cake, rubber substitute, gluten feed, chop feed, gluten meal and corn germ. The pith of the stalks is used to make cellulose, the cobs have a commercial value, and experiments are now making, with a fair degree of success, by which corn oil is transformed into an excellent substitute for India rubber. The supply of the latter is decreasing, while the demand for rubber goods is increasing enormously. Within a very few years, it is believed, the substitute made from corn will replace rubber almost entirely. Corn is certainly the coming king.—Toledo Blade.

A Narrow Escape.

Thankful words written by Mrs. Ada E. Hart, of Groton, S. D.—"Was taken with a bad cold which settled on my lungs; cough set in and finally terminated in Consumption. Four Doctors gave me up, saving I could live but a short time. I gave myself up to my Saviour, determined if I could not stay with my friends on earth, I would meet my absent ones above. My husband was advised to get Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. I gave it a trial, took in all eight bottles. It has cured me, and thank God, I am saved and now a well and healthy woman." Trial bottles free at R. S. McKinney's Drug Store. Regular size 50c. and $1.00. Guaranteed or price refunded.

Prosperous Country.

No country can be prosperous unless all classes and all sections have the fullest opportunity for the development of their natural possibilities and their spirit of enterprise. If a hundred trusts could make 10,000 men richer than our 70,000,000 are, they should use their wealth for the noblest purposes, for the promotion of education, the development of art and the sciences, the alleviation of human suffering and the beautifying and ennobling of human life, the country would be neither prosperous or happy, if the rest of the 70,000,000 of people were pauperized.

There will be no contention upon this point. It is a self-evident truth. Trusts may make New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Boston, Chicago, or any other city or town as beautiful as Babylon and as fabulously rich as all the wealth of the earth could make them, and may fill their streets with a throbbing life that would be the wonder of the world, but if all this splendor was at the cost of destroying other towns and cities, it would be a disaster and not a success.

But the tendency of trust combinations is to do these unfortunate things. They turn thousands into practical pauperism; they ruin some of the most prosperous towns in the country. Industries that gave employment to hundreds of men and were the life of towns and their surrounding farming communities, have been abandoned and the prosperity of such sections are paralyzed. The apologists for the trusts, however, calmly tell us that the welfare of these towns cannot be permitted to impede commercial progress. It is not progress; it is retrogradation. It is greed usurping the place of brotherhood, to secure the recognition of which oceans of blood have been spilled and hundreds of thousands of lives have been sacrificed. It is undoing all the splendid results of the mighty effort to establish the eternal truth that "all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness." And the American people will never tolerate the reasonable assault of the trusts upon these sacred principles.—Epitome.

You assume no risk when you buy Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. R. S. McKinney will refund your money if you are not satisfied after using it. It is everywhere admitted to be the most successful remedy in use for bowel complaints and the only one that never fails. It is pleasant, safe and reliable.

Storm Insurance!

Why run any risk when a Storm Policy may be secured, which costs only 25c for each $100.00 of insurance on dwellings, and 37 1/2c on barns? No assessments. A few dollars expended for a storm policy may prove a good investment, and there is no better policy of this kind than the one issued by— The Home Insurance Co. (N. Y.) P. B. DEWEY'S ARRIVAL.

Enthusiastic Welcome accorded the Hero of Manila.

The Olympia with Admiral Dewey on board, arrived in New York harbor on Tuesday morning, two days before he was expected.

There will be a chorus on the water, singing by school children, decorations, fire works and enthusiastic galore, and he deserves it all, not only because he so promptly and completely destroyed the Spanish fleet without the loss of a man, but because of his modesty, his clear-headedness and his ability to hold his tongue.

Visit of Director Amoss.

W. L. Amoss, Director of Farmer's Institute of Maryland, visited the Copperville Club last week.

Upon the arrival in Washington of the train bearing Admiral Dewey on the evening of October 2, an admiral's salute will be fired at the station.

The next morning, W. H. Flickinger, Mr. Amoss and the secretary of the club, started on their tour in the direction of Union Mills, his object was to see personally and find out the kind of cattle kept in our county, and also B. F. Shriver's canning factory and their mode of keeping ensilage.

When through at Mr. Shriver's, we started for home by way of Pleasant Valley; we stopped with the popular merchant, H. T. Wanz, where there was a bounteous dinner awaiting us, to which we did ample justice.

Thursday morning, W. K. Eckert with Mr. Amoss, visited the stables of J. W. Watzel, where they were met by Mr. Walden's son, Robert, who willingly showed them their mode of horse training, stables and equipments.

"That Balance Ration." (For the Editors.) This was the subject of a lecture given at Westminster at the Farmers' Institute last winter.

Foods are divided into two general classes; those containing nitrogen which the lecturer designated as protein substances and those termed carbohydrates, so called because they are largely composed of carbon and water—they are non-nutritive.

The carbohydrates are such foods as sugar, starch, butter, fats and oily substances generally, straw of all kinds, root crops generally, fruits, etc. These are heat producing foods; they are burned up in the body to produce heat and energy.

The "balance ration" means nothing more nor less than a proper combination of the two above named classes of foods.

To those who wish to study the nutritive ratio of their own producing they are using, I would refer them to bulletin 154, issued by Cornell University Agricultural Experiment Station, Ithaca, N. Y.

For a general brazer and nerve tonic, there is nothing better, and more palatable to take than Victor Liver Syrup.

Banker's Mill.

The readers of the Record will excuse me for being late with my communication respecting the picnic at Saint church, on September 15th.

The reason for my delay was that Rev. Bateman was selected to write up and report the same to your valuable paper, and I notice in the communication that he does not give the entire program, which was as follows:

The anthems sang by the different choirs, were choice selections, and were certainly well rendered, and were highly appreciated by the 3000 persons present.

"They were not Friendly."

No President and Vice-President have been inaugurated since Lincoln and Hobart, Cleveland and Stevenson had nothing in common, and for several good reasons were not friends.

The editor is trying to do the best he can for his readers.

A WONDERFUL CURE OF DIARRHOEA.

A prominent Virginia Editor had almost given up, but was brought back to life by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

I suffered with diarrhoea for a long time, and thought I was past being cured. I had lost my appetite, and money and suffered so much misery that I had almost decided to give up all hopes of recovery and await the result of a long and weary life.

John Fox, the aged farmer who married Kitty Zimmerman, a young woman of Washington county, was granted a divorce by Judge John C. Motter, at Frederick, on Tuesday.
