

FROM THE PHILIPPINES.

Extracts from an Old Comrade's Letter to Sergeant Baumgardner.

We are permitted to present extracts from a letter received by Harry L. Baumgardner (late Sergeant of the 17th U. S. Infantry) from a chum of his, Harry C. Hovey, who is in the Philippines. The letter is dated May 24th.

"I was glad to hear from you and to know that you are in good health and have not been re-enlisted. Every member of the Company is in good health, and everything in the Philippines is lovely. The natives seem to have come to realize the error of their way and are becoming American subjects."

General MacArthur is in Command, now. The peace commission has not yet arrived, however, and they are expecting them daily. The troops all over the island are working very hard and their efforts are crowned with success as they are capturing a large number of arms. There has already been 22,824 arms captured, and the arsenal at Manila. A few nights ago a small armed party went out from Tarlac (9th Inf.) surrounded a barrio and captured 117 rifles, 100 cartridges, 100 insurgents, together with several officers, came into Tarlac and surrendered that number of arms; they came in by torch light, surrendered in military fashion, saying that they were tired of fighting."

There is not much change since you left, only the island looks more like civilization, although we have gone back to their farms and seem to mean business, as they are planting extensively. On each side of the railroad from Dagupan to Manila, it is not the barren country of a few months ago, but a garden spot growing all manner of grain and vegetables. We are not particularly in love with Dagupan, although we have good quarters, for the dirt is something terrible; I actually believe it's the filthiest town in the island. Give my best regards to all, and tell me if you see him, and tell him I am still patiently waiting for that discharge which I expected ten months ago. I never come back to the army under any circumstances. I am a member of the Company sends their best regards to you. I have less than a year now to serve, and when I return, God willing, I want to find you doing well."

Armenian Missionary Meetings.

Dr. O. H. Yeremian, an Armenian by birth, and a minister in the German Baptist church, will preach in the Armenian Baptist church, Sunday night, July 5th. Sunday morning and night, and Monday night at New Market. On Tuesday night, Frederick; Thursday and Friday nights and Saturday afternoon at 8 o'clock. Double Pipe Creek, Saturday night and Sunday morning and night, July 12th and 13th, at Old Pipe Creek church; Monday at New Windsor, Wednesday at Meadow Branch, Friday at New Market, July 25, in Baltimore. His subjects will be "Life and Religion in Armenia" and missionary service. He is yet a young man and intends to go back and working among his own people as soon as the Father wills.

Hicks July Weather Forecast.

Hicks makes the following weather predictions for the month of July. The first four days of July constitute the Vulcan storm period. Moon is in apogee and on the equator on the 2nd. Look for warmth, falling barometer, black rain, and thunder. On the 3rd, change to cooler will follow, but reaction to warmer, with tendency to storminess will center on the 6th and 7th, followed again by a rise of the barometer and cooler.

Another period of marked heat will arise during the Vulcan period, 10th, 11th, 12th, 13th, 14th, 15th, 16th, 17th, and near the equator at this time. Look for low barometers, some very threatening storm clouds, with high bluster and local rain and hail storms. We do not calculate that rains will be sufficient for practical needs in all sections at this or other July periods.

Waterspouts and "clondrubs" are very probable in most regions contiguous to the gulf and ocean coasts, with local downpours in some interior localities; but the great grain producing regions of the line from the southwest to the northeast, we fear will experience a very marked shortage in moisture. A period of great seismic probability is from the full moon on the 13th until after the Moon passes the celestial equator on the 16th. General warmth, low barometer and threatening weather will probably continue over the 15th, and through the reactionary storm days, 17th, 18th and 19th. A change to a few days of much cooler weather is expected on the 20th, the passage of the equator on the 16th. Although this is contrary to the usual order, with Moon moving from South to North.

THE NOMINATION OF BRYAN.

Trouble over the Money Plank, but 16 to 1 Free-coinage Re-affirmed.

The Democratic National Convention of 1900, which met in the new convention hall at Kansas City at noon Wednesday, developed a decided opinion.

Not only was the plan of the leaders for a one-day convention spoiled, but nothing beyond the actual work of organization was accomplished, notwithstanding that the convention was in session until 10:30 o'clock at night. Three sessions were held—from noon to 3:30 p. m., from 4:43 to 6:15 p. m., and from 7:30 to 10:30 p. m. At the last-named hour an adjournment was taken until 10:30 o'clock Thursday morning.

The opening session was devoted chiefly to the selection of Gov. Chas. S. Thomas, of Colorado, as temporary chairman, a speech by Governor Thomas, the reading of the Declaration of Independence, and the appointment of committees. The second session transacted no important business, as the committees were not ready to report. The third session, which was held on Thursday morning, was devoted to the platform, which was still debating the money plank.

John A. Richardson, of Tennessee, was elected as permanent chairman, and made a speech. Ex-Gov. John P. Altgeld, of Illinois, also spoke. As the committee on resolutions was not ready to report, the convention adjourned until 10:30 o'clock Thursday morning.

Our Change in Make-up.

At the time the Record first talked of the change in the beginning of the present volume, conditions were different, especially with reference to cost of paper. We have therefore concluded to change the present size, but have introduced a change in make-up which will have practically the same effect as a larger sheet, as it will enable us to present more news matter in the same space.

Aside from the change in the typographical appearance, the only other change is the removal of the local editorial from the fourth page. This is done in order to best meet the requirements of the changing character of our patronage. At first, it was largely local, now, while the local support has waned, it has diminished, it has grown and widened until the Record is no longer a Taneytown but a county newspaper.

The change in the make-up, therefore, is a simple business proposition, which will not lessen the value of the paper to home readers, but simply allow for looking to the future, and for the purely local small news items.

General Crop Results.

The high temperatures hastened the ripening of wheat and rye, while the absence of heavy rains made the weather ideal for harvesting purposes and for the cultivation of corn and other growing crops. The cool weather at the close of the week was not unfavorable, but the brisk winds at the time took up the moisture from the soil, leaving the surface dry and hard. Rain is now beginning to be needed for corn, tobacco, potatoes, tomatos and pastures.

In portions of the extreme western counties the wheat harvest is well begun, but cutting is well under way in the northern-central districts, and is practically over in the southern and southeastern parts of the Section. A few fields were badly damaged by the fly last fall, and these now afford cause for complaint, but in many places the crop is the best for years, while generally throughout the section the yields have been pronounced above the average. The straw is short in most localities, but the heads are plump and well filled. The thing has made good progress in the south and east, and the results show fine well-formed grains, unusually free from chaff and chaff, which has yielded well in all districts. Outcroping and will give good returns in many places, although in others the crop will be light; the harvest has begun in some of the southern districts. Clover and mixed hay is still being cut, with poor returns. Timothy continues to make good progress, promising considerably better than several weeks ago, but as a rule, not more than half a crop is expected. Corn is growing well and now shows tassels in some fields; the crop is promising and well cultivated, but will soon begin

Local and Personal.

This is meant to be a purely LOCAL News column, to which the Record invites contributions. Events of local importance—whether current or in the near future, accidents, cases of extreme illness, society and church news, marriages, deaths, etc., should be reported to the Editor in writing; otherwise they may not appear.

Judge Clabaugh and family arrived at Antrim, last Friday evening, for the summer.

Always scan our columns for new advertisements. News may be found there, as elsewhere.

Geo. H. Birnie expects to attend the Inter-state Christian Endeavor Convention at Mountain Lake Park, July 24-30th.

The celebrated Mr. Hicks, who makes a lot of money out of his weather-guessing, hit on the wrong kind of goods for this section, so far in July.

James H. Reindollar and Frank H. Bowersox are preparing to start a livery business here, and have commenced the erection of a large building for that purpose.

The general verdict is that wheat is yielding well. T. H. Eckenrode threshed 210 bushels from 6 acres, and fields that will average 25 bushels are thought to be numerous.

June is a dull month in postal business; still, the three carriers attached to the Taneytown office, and Harney station and carrier, collected 2761 pieces of mail matter and delivered 10,933. This does not include the collection and dispatch of matter from the main office.

Thursday was the hottest day of the season, the thermometer ranging from 95° to 102° until evening when it became somewhat cooler, owing, no doubt, to heavy showers which passed this section within a few miles. Potatoes, especially, are suffering for want of rain.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Waesche, and grand-daughter, of Baltimore, passed through this place, on Tuesday, on their way to visit their daughter, Mrs. Morrison. Mr. and Mrs. W. have charged but little in appearance since their residence in this district, sixteen years ago.

Joe Durbin, clerk in N. B. Hagan's grocery, met with a severe accident last week, caused by the bursting of a bottle of ginger ale, pieces of which struck him in the left eye, almost destroying that member. Although painful, the injury is not likely to leave any permanent defect of vision.

The RECORD is indebted to W. Jesse Roberts for a copy of the Washington Star; in it, we observe mention of the fact that Justice Clabaugh, of the Supreme Bench, has presided over all the important murder trials, except one, during the past year, of which there has been an unusual number.

The "fourth" passed off quietly in this place; the fact is, the day is a "back number," in the country, as it comes at an extremely busy time, and other holidays have given the people a chance for outings. Aside from that nuisance—the fire cracker—and the band turning out in the evening, the "glorious fourth" was just like any other oppressively hot day.

For the benefit of patrons of the Taneytown Postoffice, who may not know, we volunteer the information that there is no use in hurrying mail matter to the office before the departure of the 9.30 a. m., train for any point along the Western Maryland—except York Road or Bruceville—or its connections, as all such matter is held for the 5.15 p. m. train. The reason for this is that no mail train passes Bruceville, east or west, until after the arrival of our evening mail. The 9.30 train carries only mail matter for Frederick and intervening points, Washington and the south. Frequently, people hurry to the office, or this train, with letters that will not leave until the evening mail, as stated.

One of Life's Sorrows.

"Were you the smartest boy in your school?" asked the very bright boy.

"Why-er-no," not exactly," answered his father.

"Did you know as much as I do when you were my age?"

"I don't believe I did."

"Are you, even at this date, able to extract the cube root of a number without referring to a text-book?"

"No-no. I don't believe I can."

"That's all," said the very bright boy as he turned to his books. "Then he heaved a sigh, and with a look of deepest reproach exclaimed: "Parents often turn out to be a terrible disappointment to their children now-days."—Washington Star.

Sam Jones in Kansas City before the Convention.

"You democrats want to have lots of fun out of your hurrah gathering here next week," said Rev. Sam Jones, of Georgia, while talking to a group of politicians. "All you will get out of the next campaign is the hurrah, and you should get out of it there is going. You can nominate Bryan and make any sort of platform that suite your fancy, but when your Uncle Mark Hanna rolls out his barbed wire and yells 'McKinley and prosperity; Roosevelt and the Rough Riders' it will be all over with you and you will find it out too late. He is the man who knows how to win. He is the political general who knows how to do it."

"You democrats can't win with a chairman who is as slow as Senator Jones. Mark Hanna will have as much fun with him this year as he did in 1896. Do you remember that it took Jones two weeks to find out that Bryan was defeated? What do you think of that for a political manager? Mark Hanna knew it just 13 days and 24 hours ahead of that time and every 'big game' politician knew it and had got through hollering over it long before Mr. Jones knew. You can't win anything with that sort of a leader."

"What are your politics now, Mr. Jones?" was asked.

"I am up in a tree watching the crowd go by," was the answer. "I am not mean enough to be a democrat and a republican and not fool enough to swallow the populist doctrines. I just squat up in a tree and watch the things of the Populist, the Democrat and Government ownership of everything, did you ever hear that sort of rot talked by a man who had sense enough to make anything or brains enough to own anything. Never! It's the chatter of men too lazy to work or too improvident to save. The men who have anything are working their way along, and the man who has nothing wants the Government to own it, so that, being a common possession, he may have something."

"Will you attend the convention?"

"No sirree, I won't be on hand. I cut loose from bad associates long ago."

Admiral Philip Dead.

Rear Admiral John W. Philip, commandant of the Brooklyn Navy Yard, died Sunday afternoon of heart disease.

As Captain of the Texas he was a conspicuous figure in the naval annals of Santiago, and when the fleet came up to New York in the summer of 1898, still dressed in war paint, no ship was more eagerly sought out by the vast throngs of sightseers, astounded and afloat, than the fighting monster which he commanded, a ship that had been dubbed a "hoodoo" and that he had made a hero. During the battle of Santiago, when the Spanish ships were already doomed, Capt. Philip was watching the Oquendo's flag go down, when suddenly there was a flash and an explosion on the Spanish cruiser, and in the glass could be seen the arms, the legs and the bodies of Spanish sailors. Immediately the men of the Texas set up a cheer. Captain Philip, who was on the deck, raised his hand.

"Don't cheer, boys," he said, "because the poor devils are dying."

And the men of the Texas kept silent.

The Texas did as steady duty in the battle as any of the ships, and in the cording to her want, was in the thick of the firing and pursuit of the Spanish boats from start to finish. A Spanish shell burst in her smokestack and its fragments were showered into the furnace with the coal.

When the battle was over the veterans of the Texas lined up to give three cheers for their commander. Philip called all hands to the quarter-deck and bared his head in prayer.

"I want to make public acknowledgment," said he, "that I have made so great a victory, and I want to ask you all, or at least every man who has no scruples; to uncover his head with me and silently offer a word of thanks to God for His goodness toward us all."

His Tale of Woe.

"Had the fright of my life the other day and haven't recovered from it yet," declared the drummer, as he passed around the cigars. "My wife had been anxious for some time to see what sort of a life I led on the road, so I took her along with me on the last trip; but I shall never do again. My business takes me over a good deal of the country, and I am forced at times to make pretty long jumps. That explains why one night I found us aboard a sleeper, with an all-night trip ahead of us. When the berths were made up I did not feel like turning in so I went into the smoking apartment for a smoke and a chat with a drummer I knew. I finished my cigar, told him my latest story and then decided to turn in. When I reached my section I thought I would not disturb my wife, so I crawled up into the upper berth. I never sleep very well on the cars, so at daylight I got up and dressed. When I went to her, I pulled the curtains aside and was thunderstruck to discover that she was not there."

"She's gone," said I, making a dash at the sleepy porter, where is the lady who occupied that berth?"

"Got off at a station back on the road about midnight, sah," answered the porter.

"Got off?" I roared. "What in the name of Sam Hill did she get off for?"

"Speets she wanted to see her husband sah; he met her at the train," answered the grinning ape.

"Say, there was a wild-eyed man on that train for a few minutes. I called that porter eye name that I could think of for not letting me know the situation, and probably would have been calling him names yet if a well-known fellow hadn't broken in and asked me what the matter was. I turned and saw my wife's head sticking out of the section adjoining the one that I had occupied. I simply had made a mistake and entered the wrong section. Well, it was all right, but it was exciting as long as it lasted."—Free Press.

NEWSPAPER SCOOPS.

THE BANE AND THE NIGHTMARE OF A JOURNALIST'S LIFE.

What a "Beat" Means to the Man With a "Nose For News"—The Peculiarities of Securing Inside News by Washington Correspondents.

They were all newspaper men, and they were all so united on the proposition under consideration that they did not interrupt the man who was doing the talking.

"Scoops," said the sharp nosed reporter to the others, "are the bane and the nightmare of a newspaper man's life, from the proprietor and managing editor down to the Maltese office cat. Many a man occupies a 'desk' today because of a good 'beat,' and many another man is engaged in a more humble occupation because he failed to see one. Scoops constitute the cessar of journalistic life."

"A newspaper man is as touchy on this subject as a woman on her back hair; justly so, because a standard is formed by which his journalistic talents are largely rated and his salary in accordance. If the city editor asks him too often why he 'didn't get it,' he finally 'gets it' where the fowl gets the ax, and a new man appears on his former assignment."

"Editors, however, are usually considerate with a good man, for the latter will scoop his rival as often as he himself is scooped—perhaps oftener—and this even itself up. Sometimes, however, the wielder of the blue pencil has an attack of acute indigestion, like the rest of us, and things are apt to be unpleasant."

"A good big 'beat' fills the entire office with hilarious joy, and particularly the lucky reporter rejoices. It oftentimes means an increase in salary. The office of the chief rival contemporary is thrown into corresponding gloom."

"The city editor is the adjunct general of the force. Usually he is as considerate as his duty to the newspaper permits. Nearly all are graduates from the ranks. Where the magazine 'newspaper' writer finds the city editor he usually portrays has always been a deep, dull mystery to me. He never meets outsiders (to be kind to the magazine writer) as their stories sometimes relate, but to his force he does not carry a drawn sword in his left hand and a pen dipped in red-hot caustic in his right. He knows that of the men under him many are his peers, and he takes his desk at a moment's notice and muzzling it as well as he."

"The new you have it and now you haven't it in our profession is well illustrated by a little occurrence that happened in Washington a few years ago, and it proves the element of luck in the matter of securing news."

"It was undecided whether congress would pass a read a certain very important national measure. The New York papers were especially 'anxious' about it. The drift of opinion among the correspondents was that it would not so pass. On Monday night, say, the correspondent of one of the metropolitan morning dailies wired his paper that it positively would not go through. This paper had been 'talking that end' of the bill all along."

"The correspondent of a rival morning paper had drawn the same conclusions from his day's investigations at the capitol. He was on his way down the west marble steps when he met a member to whose opinion on the probability of the bill he attached great weight. The member declared that the bill would positively be passed, and amended and unchanged, at the opening of the session the following day."

"The correspondent cast his own contrary opinions and those of the member interviewed to the winds. He wired that night that he positively would pass the following day. It did. Its passage was a surprise to the country."

"Before night the other correspondent was 'relieved' of his position by telegraph. One made a bold hazard against his own judgment and risked another and won. The other conscientiously obeyed the dictates of his conclusions, based largely upon the opinions of men who were in a position to advise him correctly, and lost."

"This case also illustrates the peculiarity of securing news by Washington correspondents. It is full of snafus, which obtain in other cities are impracticable here. Most of the correspondents are picked men, who earn command good salaries. But one of their most important functions is to make acquaintances with men in official and congressional life. It is an important element in his profession to know who to 'see' about a piece of news, and the little interview in question between the correspondent and the congressman on west steps is but an example of everyday episodes in the life of a Washington correspondent."

"You need a change," said the doctor. "I think you should take a trip to Europe."

Sunflowers In Chicago Alley.

Sunflowers will cover a multitude of sins, according to the plans of a newly formed woman's district improvement association in Cuyler, which aims to plant these flowers around garbage boxes. It is proposed to obliterate evidence of refuse receptacles and ash boxes behind a screen of big yellow blossoms. The association which proposes this unique plan for beautifying back alleys is composed of 35 women living in that residence part of the city. Founded by the Northwest Union Mission on the east and stretching west to Western avenue between Addison and Berteau avenues. They organized recently with the aim of improving and regulating the sanitary condition and appearance of the thoroughfares in that district. It is proposed to see that the streets are kept clean and to suppress disturbing noises.—Chicago News.

QUEER EFFECTS OF WHIMS.

Men Who Could Dress Well on Money Wasted For Clean.

"It's a curious thing how some people will sacrifice themselves to their whims," said a man who prides himself upon his study of human nature. "I don't mean wealthy people, for they can usually afford to do as they like. I am speaking now of people in moderate or less than moderate circumstances. I have in mind a young man whose tastes run to expensive neckwear. He wouldn't think of wearing a tie that costs less than $2, and he has stacks of them. Now, he can't afford this luxury, so he has to stifle himself by wearing $3 shoes and $15 ready made suits. He doesn't realize the incongruity of his attire and is perfectly happy if his tie is all right."

"Another chap I know doesn't pay the slightest attention to his personal appearance and is usually rather frayed looking. That's because he spends his money on expensive cigarettes. He smokes only the highest priced imported Egyptian brand, and they cost him 4 cents apiece. He is a fiend and smokes a cigarette every five minutes. He won't live him to smoke a domestic cigarette which costs half a cent, yet if he did he could afford to dress himself as he should. I could cite numerous instances of this tendency to one extravagance which have come under my personal observation, but I will only explain it as a lack of mental balance."—Philadelphia Record.

Washington Church Kodak Fiends.

"The story that a Washington woman sent notices to the ministers of the capital of the opening of her summer home with the request that they be read from the pulpit may be a libel, although I have been told that it is a fact," said a man who has been in Washington for several months, "but I tell you what I have seen there—men and women carrying kodaks into their pews on Sunday. Not to take a snap shot of the minister, but the Washington kodak fiend stops on his way to church to make shots, and after the service he lingers on his way home to do likewise. There is no other place in the country where the kodak fiend is so insatiate as he is in the capital."—New York Sun.

Peculiar Problem.

Subtract 45 from 45 and have 45 left. It can be done, strange to say. Here is the method: Put down the numerals 1 to 9 in a row in reverse order; underneath place the same numerals in regular order. The sum of the figures in each row is 45; subtract the lower row from the upper:

9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 1 = 45
1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 = 45

The sum of the third row of figures is also 45. Thus you have taken 45 from 45 and have 45 as a remainder.

How to Raise Wheat.

MR. EDITOR:—Allow me to make use of a few lines of your paper to advise our farming community how to raise the Best and Most Profitable Crops of Wheat. I will give you my experience and the results for the last four crops. In 1897, from 5 acres I raised 1014 bushels of wheat; in 1898, when the crop was almost a failure, I raised from 3½ acres, 88 bushels; in 1899, when we had almost another failure, I raised 145 bushels from 5½ acres; and this year I threshed from 6 acres, 210 bushels and 35 lbs. I use the old, reliable

O. K. PHOSPHATE, now sold under the name of Dissolved Ammoniated Bone; the kind of wheat I raise is Smooth (Chaff Oats) and White (Chaff Oats). I have been trying this experiment for quite a number of years, and find the result most advantageous. I have on hand yet, 100 bushels of this wheat, for sale at 55¢ per bushel.

The Phosphate I also have for sale; price per ton, $10.00. In order to raise this quantity of wheat, I have always sown 300 lbs. of the phosphate per acre. My experience has taught me that the last 100 lbs. will pay for itself more than double. I advise all those who want a good wheat and fertilizer, to call on the undersigned.
