Sentiment Against Miners.

The Editor of the RECORD, during a conversation with several prominent men of the coal regions of Pennsylvania, learned that public sentiment-especially in the cities of the state, such as Scranton, Wilkesbarre, Shamokin and Reading-is forming as strongly as it dare, against the Mine Workers Union. One of the gentlemen referred to, especially dwelt upon the fact that capital was now leaving one of these cities-Scranton-and that contemplated enterprises had been abandoned and in some instances established in other

The fact was also emphasized that it was not so much the fight for higher wages which rendered the unions objectionable to the operators, as the fact that they could not employ whom they pleased as their workmen; that labor was not only operating a trust in its own interest, but was working to make a servant of capital and capitalists in taking from both their individual rights and preferences in the conduct of their own business. This was positively stated as being the greatest objection to union-

These opinions, while not new, are chiefly valuable because they represent business sentiment in the mining district, which proves to be very much the same as in any other section.

About Dollar Wheat.

A convention of representatives of farmers' co-operative associations has been called to meet in Chicago September 8. It can do much good if it does not attempt too much. It may, for example, suggest more accurate reporting of crops, markets and prices. It may also promote the formation of co-operative agencies that will save the farmers expense by eliminating unnecessary middlemen. But the idea that farmers can by any sort of organization do what one of the apparent promoters of the proposed convention seems to think possibleget $1 a bushel for wheat, 50 cents for corn, and 40 cents for oats through out the year"-is a delusion, when conditions are considered.

The prices of farm products are like all other prices-the result of demand and supply. The field of competition between farmers is world wide. No country has a natural monopoly of food products of general use and importance. Any attempt then, to fix minimum prices is doomed to failure. Wheat affords a convenient illustration of this general truth. Several tropical and sub-tropical countries, such as China, find it cheaper to buy wheat and flour of us than to raise it. But wheat can be grown in those countries, not so well as in our Northwestern prairies, but still produced. Now, if American farmers should succeed by any sort of organization in pushing the price of wheat up to a certain point, they would simply ty, the same having been sent to us, force these countries to buy elsewhere or grow it themselves. "The Examiner" pointed out the other day the columns several weeks ago that these effect of the present bull movement in cotton which has so run the prices up that mills are either stopping or been mailed haphazard with the hope toreign countries are trying to raise the fiber in other places. Make wheat artificially high and less will be eaten, We take it as a bad sign that such less exported and so in time prices will documents must go begging. They fall, and sometimes to our general discomfort.

No sort of organization, call it trust or what you will, can permanently override the laws of demand and supply. When wheat is worth $1.00 a bushel in the world's market, which our Lancaster county farmers would like to see the price, then we will get it and not before. When the world at large will not give this price no organization or bull movement in the grain exchange will get it for the farmer. No difference how firmly farmers may believe they should get $1.00 (and we all do long for the oldfashioned price), they will not get it unless it is worth that price. They are no friends of the farmer who preach a different logic.—Lancaster

Topic.—The allied forces of righteousness.—John xvii, 20-23; I Cor. i, 10-13. The unity of the Christian church, for all practical purposes at least, such as the extension of Christ's kingdom and the overthrow of evil, is indeed "a consummation devoutly to be wished." Organic unity, as men are so differently constituted, is a dream impossible of realization, but unity in Christ and against evil is a possibility, and should speedily become a reality.

A toothsome and nutritious article of food is made from sour skim milk or buttermilk by allowing the casein to coagulate by the action of acid already naturally formed and then expelling the water by the aid of heat. A considerable number of products locally distinct and different in the degree of dryness of the curd are made in this way. The general process of manufacture, according to the United States farmers' bulletin No. 166, is to take sour buttermilk or skimmed milk which has coagulated, heat it gently from 85 to 125 degrees F., according to circumstances, and drain off the whey through a cloth strainer. Then reduce the texture of the resulting curd by kneading with the hands or a pestle; salt is added, and the product is improved by the addition of a small quantity of cream or butter. ment to season by the use of one of the more common spices, as nutmeg, caraway, etc. It is largely made only for domestic consumption, but in most cities and villages, especially during the summer months, there is a considerable demand for fresh cheese of this sort, and its manufacture is often a source of revenue to factories suitably located. COOL CURED CHEESE.

Superintendent Joseph Burgess of the government consolidated illustration station for the cold curing of cheese at Woodstock, Canada, is in receipt of a valuable report from Hotson Bros., cheese importers of Liverpool, in reference to the relative value of cool cured theese and cheese cured in the ordinary

The Canadian department of agriculture forwarded to Hotson Bros. samples of inspection of the two lots. The importers report as follows:

"The cool cured cheese arrived in Liverpool in much better condition than the ordinary cured cheese. It was also of a superior quality and was better in every respect. The ordinary cheese was sold at a figure one-sixth less than the cool cured article, and in this connection we may state that it was the great scarcity of anything below the best full cream cheese which enabled us to get so high a price for the ordinary cheese and so near the price of the cool cured cheese. Generally there would have been a much larger margin, as the ordinary cheese was bad value as compared to the cool cured article. Respecting the paraffining of cheese

It undoubtedly prevents shrinkage and in our judgment preserves the quality of cheese.' From the above report cheese manufacturers and buyers throughout the country will readily concede the advantages to be derived from curing cheese at a proper temperature, as provided at the government cold curing station here, instead of curing the product under the conditions existing in the majority of the curing rooms of the cheese factories of the province today. Already these advantages have been the means of causing several factory managements to build and properly equip their curing rooms for the cool curing of the cheese.-Stratford (Ont.) Beacon.

THE GREAT MEDICINE.

MR. ALFRED BROWN, A Prominent and Popular Citizen, Says: After the Use of Paine's Celery Compound, I Am Now in the Best of Health."

The greatest of modern physicians, Prof. The greatest of modern physicians, Prof. Edward E. Phelps, M. D., LL. D., after years of long practice and close scientific study, gave to suffering and diseased men and women his marvelous, life giving prescription, with the conviction and positive knowledge that it had peculiar virtues and ample powers to cure.

Thousands of the strongest testimonials from the best known and most reliable men and women of our country fully sustain the claims women of our country fully sustain the claims made by Dr. Phelps regarding his incomparable Paine's Celery Compound.

One of the most convincing proofs furnished comes recently from a gentleman widely known in the capital city of the Dominion of Canada. We refer to Mr. Alfred Brown, 91 O'Connor St., Ottawa, Ont. Mr. Brown's letter fully demonstrates the fact that the greatest sufferer may cast off his or her burden of disease and become well, strong, and happy. It proves, too, that the great medicine maintains more fully than ever before its unrivaled place in the estimation of people of wealth and social standing as well as with the masses.

Mr. Brown says:—
"I acknowledge with thankfulness and pleasure the fact that I have been cured of a very painful illness of eight years' standing by use of Paine's Celery Compound. I had during the years of my illness, tried almost al the advertised medicines without deriving any good results. I was also treated by several of the best doctors of this city, hoping to find that one of them, at least, would understand

"I was getting worse, and was told I was incurable. I was indeed in a critical condition. I could not go from the house alone, as I was liable to sudden collapse. I tried hospital treatment, but no relief or good results came to me. I could not sleep; anything that I ate increased my agonies; I was extremely weak, restless, tired, and despondent; was obliged to walk about with my hands pressed firmly into my left side to ease my pains; my feet and hands were cold continually; had inclination to vomit, had profuse, cold sweats, quick breathing, and would be racked with pain for hours at a time. "After the regular use of Paine's Celery Compound for a time, I am now in the best of health, have good appetite, and can use any kind of food. Thank God I am my old self once more, all through the use of Paine's Celery Compound."

How to Cure Rusty Nail Wounds. The Scientific American says that one of the very best remedies that can be applied to a wound made by a rusty nail, and which is almost infallible in its cure, is to take a quantity of peach leaves and beat them to a pulp and then apply them to the wound, and in a very short time an improvement will be noted in the wound.
