Many conservative Democratic leaders are declaring that the action of the members of the House of Delegates in allowing themselves to be tricked into practically defeating the Haman oyster bill when a majority of the members were really in favor of it has come very near settling the future of the Democratic party in Maryland, unless they do something to retrieve the egregious blunder.

Realizing that if the bill were allowed to go to a vote on its merits it would certainly be passed, the leaders of the opposition are said to have packed the gallery of the House with oystermen from the neighborhood, who were instructed to observe the content of the content of the said to be a support of the was against the measure, and that the vivavoce voting showed a large majority opposed to it.

What is giving the Democratic managers more concern than anything else, apparentily, is the disastrous effect the action of the party will have upon the constitutional amendment intendment intended to disfranchise the colored voters.

The bill, which passed to the third reading in the Senate, on Wednesday, and which eliminates the party designation from the bailot in certain counties, was designed, it is said, entirely with a view to pushing the Poe amendment through when submitted to the people next year. It is thought that enough Republican votes could be thrown out by this means to enable the party to secure the ratification of the amendment.

It is more than probable that the party will find an effectual obstacle in the way, of carrying out this plan, in Governor Warfield.
It is said by close friends of the Governor, that he will promptly veto the bill if it is passed by the Legislature. Governor Warfield's autitude on this question is said to be exactly the same as it has been on all political questions that have come before him.
He will notisign any bill that gives one party a manifestly unfair advantage over the other. He wishes the question of the passage of the franchise amendment to be texted fairly at the polls without any trickery or sharp practice, and he will not tolerate amy bill which gives the Democratic managers an opportunity to manipulate the ballots.

Whichever way the Democratic party leaders turn they see but one alternative by which they can hope to secure continued Democratic supremacy in the state and that is by the passage of the Haman bill, not crippled and emasculated by amendments until it is useless for practical good, but in its original form with all its beneficial provisions intact. Nothing less than this will, it is known, satisfy the friends of the bill, who have the interest of the State at heart and are not blinded by party prejudice.

There are some countries in the world that have had a peculiar power to arouse the love of their sons and to times for it to once in it. inspire them with a deep spirit of patriotic self sacrifice. Scotland is meet. such a country. The Scotchman the world over still loves his native land. Two gentlemen being introduced, one said to the other, "Are you a Scotchman?" The other instinctively drew himself up, raised his hand to his forehead, saluted and replied, "I have that honor, sir." America has also been a land characterized by the intense patriotism of its people. So also was ancient Palestine, the land of God's Risers with perfect safety. They are chosen people. The ancient Jews fondly loved their native land, and the modern ones, scattered worldwide, still look with longing eyes toward the sa- means are never disappointed. They cred land of their fathers. It is a great error to continue to follow these primitive paths with public highways. The proper thing to do is to call in a good engineer and have the location so changed as to throw the roads around the ends or along the sides of the steep hills and ridges instead of continuing to go over them.

The question is, Are we following the 'primitive paths?" If we have not changed them we are certainly doing Enterprising Iowa Farmers. The farmers along a certain road in Scott county, Ia., finding that the ordinary road tax was only sufficient to keep the road in its normally bad condition, voluntarily entered into an agreement to tax themselves an amount that would make it possible to permanently improve the road. Landowners were to pay 25 cents per acre for all the land within one mile of the road, 15 cents for land within one or two miles to $20, but in 1871 males ranged from away and 10 cents for land between $40 to $50, the mares fetching only half two and three miles away. Many roads of this country were originally laid out without any attention to general topography, regardless of grades or direction. Most of them remain today

To illustrate the enormous extra cost of hauling over such unskillfully placed roads and to get an idea of the obstruction that these old highways place in the way of progress and prosperity one may observe the accompanying cut showing the consequences of the hills of these unsurveyed roads.

The enormous excess cost of hauling on these roads over roads on a level is therefore apparent. The legal rate in many sections is 3 to 4 per cent maximum, bego. Grades of even this steepness are the exception, roads being kept to 1 or 1½ per cent as far as possible. By the most ordinary surveying the roads of any section outside of mountain districts can be brought to reasonable grades. Carpets and Mattings.

An entire new line in all goods, is what we have to offer in Carpets and Matting. This season's patterns are all in the novel combinations prevailing for the Spring and Summer. Although cotton is much higher, we are still quoting last year's prices, and in many instances, lower. See our Spring and Summer Clothing.

Patterns and Prices—8c to 85c per yard.

If you look through our line of Clothing, this season, and expect to find a lot of last yearstyles, you will be sadly disappointed. Our line is complete, and we have some really handsome Suits, at remarkably low prices, and we want our trade to know it, and take advantage of the fact.

Trunks and Traveling Bags.

Buying Trunks and Traveling Bags is almost like buying furs and diamonds—you have to place complete confidence in the House you buy from. We ask our customers to pin their faith to our values in these goods, for we know our prices are right, and the quality we will guarantee.

Lace Curtains.

Some of the latest designs and patterns, form a most important part in Lace Curtains, and, in making our selection for a new season, we never lose sight of that fact. In this way, our customers get-not only bigger values, but also styles that are quick to appeal to the eye, on account of their pretty effects. WEANT & KOONS, TANEYTOWN, MD.
