It is a foolish notion to suppose that the ringing of bells or "tanging" of tin pans will cause a swarm of bees to settle. The real origin of this custom dated back to the reign of Alfred the Great, who, in order to prevent disputes regarding the ownership of a swarm, ordered that the owner should always ring a bell when his bees swarmed; and, ever since then, the good farmer's wife has been rushing out with ringing bells whenever the bees swarmed, and the fact that they settled, verified, in her own mind, the the ringing of bells or "tanging" of tin | merous other enterprises during his life. settled, verified, in her own mind, the belief that the bell did it.

Chase Away the Mosquitos.

It has become a pretty generally accepted theory that mosquitos are responsible for fevers of various kinds, and sible for fevers of various kinds, and several states have taken active steps toward their extermination by banishing their favorite breeding places, such as marshs, stagnant pools, open sewers, etc.

The August Booklovers Magazine contains a lengthy article, on the subject. "Tim," in Farm Journal, gives the A mixture of corn and oats, two parts oats to one of corn, is a good working ration. Cracked corn is preferable to ains a lengthy article on the subject, from which, the following paragraphs are reproduced, as they relate to what gone to waste. THE GASOLINE PERIL.

churches of Maryland, Pennsylvania, Virginia, West Virginia and the District of Columbia was held at Pen-Mar to-day. Life and Property.

Gasoline fatalities are of daily occurrence, now, in the cities, due to the use of the fluid in stoves, notwithstanding its remely dangerous character. So freuent have the accidents been occurring Baltimore, that the authorities are endeavoring to get together on a plan to prevent them, a result which would have en arrived at long ago had it not been for the influence of those engaged in the nanufacture of the fluid. Every small town in the state should nave a Gasoline ordinance, restricting the sale and use of the dangerous stuff. Permits should be required for the use of soline engines and stoves, and neither should be granted except under the most rigid of rules as to their operation. At present, anybody can buy and use a gasoline engine or stove, anywhere on his premises, without reference to the safety of his own property or that of others.

The only protection from gasoline has been furnished by insurance companies, the most of which positively refuse to insure buildings in which it is used or sold, while others issue a use permit, after an extra premium has been paid, the provisions of said permit being as cept that contained in stove reservoirs, shall be kept within any building insured by this policy.

That not exceeding five gallons of such fluid (which shall be contained in an air-tight and entirely closed metallic can free from leak) shall be kept on the adjacent premises.

That no reservoir shall be filled, and that no package containing such fluid shall be opened, or the fluid handled, while any fire, blaze or artificial light is burning in the room or in any adjoining room with open communication. That no can or package from which fluid has been emptied shall at any time be brought into any building insured (or containing property insured) by this

In addition to the above, the following caution notice is added;
"The principal danger from gasoline stoves is in having gasoline about. At ordinary temperature gasoline continuously gives off inflammable vapor, and a light some distance from the material will ignite it through the medium of vapor. The vapor from one pint of gasoline will make 200 cubic feet of air explosive. Voting for Presidential Electors.

Attorney-General Bryan has again stated as his opinion that a mark opposite the names of the candidates for President and Vice-President carries with it a vote for the groups of Presidential electors under that name.

The opinion of the Attorney General is not only important, because it has also the binding force of law, but also because it makes the ballot less liable to errors in marking on account of the lack of multiplicity of names. If the voter were required to place his marks oppo-site the names of all the electors has site the names of all the electors he would have to make eight marks in order to vote for the presidential and vicepresidential candidates of his selection. Under the opinion of Mr. Bryan it will be necessary to make only two marks. pected by the operation of the Wilson act, which removes party designations opposite the names of candidates, the C. F. Shryock, our thresh act being effective in republican counties

In arriving at his conclusion, Attorney General Bryan has given much thought to the state election law, as he realizes the far-reaching effect of his opinion. In a letter to Mr. H. L. D. Stanford, law partner of Hon. Joshua W. Miles, at

"The Twelfth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States," says Mr. Bryan, "requires that the president of the United States Senate shall in the resence of the Senate and House of epresentatives open all the certificates (of the votes of the several presidential electors) and the votes shall then be counted. The present Senate and the lemocratic on the face of the returns, and if, as was the case in 1876, the electoral vote of Maryland was sufficient to change the result, is it not conceivable that the republican House of Representatives and Senate might throw out the vote of Maryland as having been attempted to be ascertained at an illegally conducted election?'

As figuring on the electoral vote this all will be entertaining pastime to many of our politically inclined readers, we give below the vote received by Bryan and McKinley, as well as the present vote of each state in the Electoral College, which will be used for the first time this year. Four years ago the number of votes was 447, requiring 224 for a choice; this year the vote is 476, which equires 239 for a choice.

The increase in the number of electoral votes is 29, of which, the states carried by Bryan receive 10, and those carried by McKinley 19. This increase is one of the facts to be considered in the present campaign. Assuming that all the votes given to Bryan will be given to Parker THE Centreville Observer laments the this year, and by adding 10, the gain of fact that the town cannot, or does not, these states, we have 165 votes, which support a "white" barber. Probably still leave 74 to be secured from the Mcour unterrified political brethren of Kinley column before Judge Parker can

National Campaign Notes.

(During the campaign we will give, on culated merely for effect's sake, many of which will bear little relation to the truth.-Ed. Record. Jackson, Mich.. July 17.—Thomas E. Barkworth, chairman of the democratic state central committee, tonight announced that he had decided to take no further action as state chairman and would not attend the committee meeting preliminary to the state convention. Mr. Barkworth characterizes Judge crats. He expresses the belief that he would stultify himself by acting as state chairman when he is not in accord with in both state and nation.

New York, July 16.—The New York For the first time in 12 years Demo Parker's supporters in the financial and business districts have taken stock, and counties, if unused, are reapportioned that contributed toward the election of William J. Bryan in either 1896 or 1900. The Republicans, on the other hand, have discovered that if they raise a sum one-half the amount collected by Mark quick, or get left," and it is up to our Hanna in each of the McKinley campaigns they will be doing exceedingly

> Mr. William Rockefeller is said to have been most emphatic in his announcement that he would not support the President for re-election and is reported to have said he would have supported heartily any other candidate the Republican party might have named. The reported disaffection of Mr. Rockefeller and the vast interests he represents and would control in the matter of campaign | weighs over 200 pounds and has light contributions will be a severe blow to the reddish hair and blue eyes.

> New York, July 16.—The radical and anti-Hill element up the state are going to oppose Parker in the coming Presidential election. The Peoples party in 1892 polled more than 16,000 votes in the state of New York for Weaver, their the state of New York for Weaver, their heart. This crowds the heart and shortcandidate. In 1896 they fused with the Democratic party, but polled nearly 7000 ens the breath. Rapid heart beats and heart disease is the final result. Kodol votes for Watson their candidate for Vice-President. The entire strength of the People's party was thus thrown to ment will break away, and in connection with the anti-Hill element up the State will refuse to support Judge Parker. The candidate of the People's party, Thomas Watson, of Georgia, when a candidate on the ticket in 1896, with Bryan polled unward of 1,500,000 with Bryan, polled upward of 1,500,000 votes

The Good Old Summer Time!

The Wheat Supply.

The population of the United States has been increasing in late years far more rapidly than the agricultural production necessary for food and clothing. This increase in population has taken place mainly in the cities, where the peo ple are consumers of such things and not producers. The result of this has been better prices to the farmer and threatened reduction of the surplus for export. The value of the agricultural exports from the country in 1903, how ever, was $878,479,451, an increase o $250,000,000 over the exports of the year

1890. But during those years there was a steady and rapid increase in the acreage devoted to producing wheat and meat by bringing the virgin prairies under the plow. That increase in the area of cultivation has now stopped. Except on the arid plains nearly the whole of the United States fit for agriculture has been divided into farms or ranches. One of the reasons why the production of wheat has not increased ore rapidly is that during a succession of years in the decade from 1890 to 1900 there was an enormous surplus left each year for export. This brought prices down to so low a figure that the production of wheat became unprofitable except where it was raised wholesale, as on the great Dakota farms. People could not afford to grow wheat for from 50 to 80 cents a bushel on land worth $75 an acre, and as a result the Eastern farmers turned their attention as much as possible to other crops.

There need be no fear, however, of a scarcity of breadstuffs in the United States. The increase in the crop does not depend entirely upon any increase in acreage. Better cultivation can accomplish the same result, and is doing so. In most of the Eastern wheat-growing states the average yield to the acre has greatly increased in recent years, and this will also take place in the Middle West after the farmers cease to rely exclusively upon the natural fertility of the soil. Although there are no more virgin prairies to be brought into cultivation, the acreage in wheat can be greatly increased, and will be as soon as high prices justify it. Each farmer can sow another field in wheat if he finds it profitable to do so. The demand for export wheat is largely dependent on the price. When the price is low the peasant classes of various countries of Europe begin to eat wheat bread. When prices go up considerably they take to rye bread, which was their constant food before wheat became cheap in recent years. When that takes place the price of wheat falls because of lack of export demand, and so the equilibrium is main-

In the meantime no one need be alarmed about the sufficiency of the food suply. The United States will continue to produce all it needs and have a good lot this page, from time to time, such news left over for less favored lands. If Texas notes as refer to the great battle now were as well cultivated as England it opening. They will be selected from alone would produce enough bread, Parker's Life in Outline.

Born on a farm in Ulster county, New York, May 14, 1851. His grandfather was a soldier under Washington. Worked on a farm and attended school until the age of 16, when he began teaching.

Later entered a law office, at 22 graduated from the Albany Law School, and began practice in Kingston, N. Y. In 1870 married Miss Schoonmaker, daughter of a prominent lawyer. In 1877 was elected Surrogate of Ulster county, the only Democrat on the ticket who was successful.

Re-elected Surrogate in 1883. In 1885 was chairman of the Democratic State Committee, and succeeded in electing the ticket. In 1885 refused position of First Assistant Postmaster-General offered him Rea by President Cleveland. In 1883 and 1885 refused to accept Democratic nomination for Lieutenant-Governorship, and refused to run for United States Senate in 1891. In 1885 appointed Justice of Supreme Court by Governor Hill.

In 1886 elected Justice of Supreme Court without opposition. In 1889 appointed by Governor Hill ustice of New York Court of Appeals. In 1897 elected Chief Justice of the New York Court of Appeals by 60,000

Or look at this contrast: A certain firm in New York City, hearing that one of its customers here was seriously damaged by the fire, sent him his unpaid bills all receipted in full. A wealthy firm in the same business in this city escaped creased trade, as we suppose, for nearly out. This firm sent for one of its regular, promptly-paying customers who was a victim of the fire. The customer went. expecting that some special favor was to be offered him in view of his misfortune,

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week

Beginning July 24. Topic.-How to break down the spirit of twer would be correct. The system of easte or of the separation of the people into classes with impassable gulfs between them has been the curse of India for centuries. Here the system of caste has reached its highest development, to the greatest detriment of the people, socially, politically and industrially. Next to India the caste system has been more thoroughly developed in countries where despotic and monarchical forms of government have existed and do still exist. But let us thank God that the system of caste is being gradually undermined. In England, Germany and France the archy of Europe aristocratic classes are being leveled down, while the common people are being leveled up, with the result that of Christ. God speed the day when it developed caste system. How often roots of its civilization enduringly into we hear the expression "the classes | the soil. and the masses," "the capitalists and the laborers," as if they were separate and distinct classes of people. But the saving grace of this fact in our land is the constant exchange of places. One day a man may belong to the masses and the next day to the classes have yielded results that have astounded and vice versa-one day he may be a the most advanced agriculturists in laborer, the next a capitalist and vice Western nations.—August Booklovers versa. The spirit of industrial caste will not be very ruinous as long as such changes are possible. But we also have a social caste spirit. "Our set" is a common phrase.

shall fall like a house built of sand

But probably the worst form of the caste spirit in our land is the financial one. The rich man is looked upon as a demigod, while the poor man is shown into a back seat, even in our churches. James cries out against it, and so should we. What is more disgusting than to see a man who is ignorant, coarse and sometimes even vulgar wielding undue influence in church, state and society simply because he has sacrificed everything in life to lay up money or because by some hook or crook he has suddenly grown rich? Not that a man, simply because he has money, should have no place in the affairs of life, but only his just place. Why should money ride over character, brains, ability and great achievements in the pursuits of life where money is not a reward for service? It should not, but it has grown in doing so until today it would be a dangerous and threatening element in our national life were it not for two other factors that should be allowed to stand for three or need to be considered—(1) God and (2) | four days. During this time the vinegar

How may this spirit of caste in our land be broken down? Two methods are suggested. (1) The people should not unduly exalt men who occupy important positions or those who are rich. The church, the state and society should treat every man as a man, re- days. The shell will absorb the gardless of whether he is rich or poor and in this way resume its former hard or in high or low position. God is no respecter of persons. Why should we water may be poured off, and in the perbe? (2) Those who for the time occupy high place or possess great wealth should remember that "one is their master, even Christ," and that with God as their common Father all men are brethren. The fatherhood of God dria, Ind., "and could hardly get any and the brotherhood of man should make it impossible for any man to take advantage of his position in life to impose upon his fellow men, to degrade and humiliate them to suit his whims and purposes. The man who does so will find that God will take a part in the game before it is finished. BIBLE READINGS.

Four Ideals. There are four ideals which I know we all have before us in the work of the Endeavor society. One is that we should be centers of Bible study and that each member should be an intelligent and growing Bible student. The country are printed with designs Japasecond is that we should be centers of nese in character, but the great bulk are personal work and that each member should be active individually in winning others to Christ. The third is that we should be schools of Christian giving and that each member should with most artistic effect upon the paper become a systematic proportionate and joyful giver. And the fourth is that we should be centers of missionary interest and activity from which many missionaries would go out to the home and foreign fields and many workers develop missionary interest in the home church.—Robert E. The Niagara Falls Tunnel. The scenic tunnel under the Horse shoe falls of Niagara, which has just been completed, was undertaken for the Niagara falls Queen Victoria park commission in order to provide a perfectly safe view of the cataract from below. A shaft was sunk 127 feet, and from this a tunnel was constructed, curving out under the Horseshoe falls 800 feet. From this laterals were run into the gorge, where large observation rooms will be constructed of glass where tourists can sit in easy chairs and look out. A large electric elevator has been put into the shaft, and from the bottom a large board walk has been constructed to the mouths of the various tunnels.

Indigestion Causes Catarrh of the Stomach. For many years it has been supposed that Catarrh of the Stomach caused indigestion and dyspepsia, but the truth is exactly the opposite. Indigestion causes catarrh. Repeated attacks of indigestion inflames the mucous membranes lining the stomach and exposes the nerves of the stomach, thus causing the glands to secrete mucin instead of the juices of natural digestion. This is called Catarrh of the Stomach.
