

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning Sept. 3.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.
Topic—"The abundant life." How get it? How use it? (Consecration meeting.)

Christianity is a life. It is not simply a religious creed or a set of ethical laws, but the life of Christ in the heart and life of the believer in Christ. No one can become a Christian by subscribing to a code of ethics or by an intellectual acceptance of certain theological doctrines. The Christian is born again; the "I" in living principle of his life is changed. Christ testifies to this fact when He says, "I am come that they might have life," and Paul says, "I am crucified with Christ, and it is no longer I that live, but Christ liveth in me, and the life which I now live in the flesh I live by the faith of the Son of God, who loved me and gave Himself for me." A Christian has well been defined as "one whose soul is in living contact with the Lord Jesus Christ." Christianity necessarily involves ethics and doctrines, but these do not make the Christian. One is a Christian only when he has received the life of Christ into himself, and, as a result of the coming in of this new living principle, the life of self, of sin and of worldliness has been crushed out.

How pitiful are the words of the Lord by His servants to His erring and deceived people, "I have nourished and brought up children, and they have rebelled against me." "My people have forsaken me." "Turn, O backsliding children, for I am married unto you." "O Israel, thou hast destroyed thyself; in this thing help." Isa. i, 3; Jer. ii, 33; III, 14; Hos. xii, 9. Then listen to our Lord Jesus Christ, God manifest in the flesh, "O Jerusalem, Jerusalem, * * * how often would I have gathered thy children together, as a hen doth gather her chickens under her wings, and ye would not!" See him with tears, saying, "If thou hadst known * * * the things which belong unto thy peace." Hear Him say even to His apostles, "Will ye also go away?" and "Have I been making you a sign, and ye have not believed?" (Matt. xxiii, 37; Luke xix, 41; John vi, 47; xiv, 9.) Ask your own heart, Am I rebellious and self-willed or am I willing and obedient before the word of the Lord? The expression "in the sight of the Lord" recalls the word to Abraham, "Walk before Me, and be thou perfect or sincere" (Gen. xvii, 1), and the promise in Ex. xv, 26, that if they thus walked in His sight He would put none of the diseases of the Egyptians upon them. What a record of the development of iniquity and of the wickedness of the human heart this lesson is, the consummation being described in verse 16, "The Lord is showing His wrath and He despised His words and misused His prophets until the wrath of the Lord arose against His people till there was no remedy."

A sign in the form of a portrait, but made in good taste, is shown by Herman August, an umbrella manufacturer at 67 Broadway. This sign is quite large and depicts a man in a black suit, with a white shirt and a white tie. The man is looking directly at the viewer with a serious expression. The sign is mounted on a wall and is a prominent feature of the storefront.

Ps. xvi, 11; xxx, 5; cxxxiii, 1-3; Prov. viii, 32-36; John i, 1-4; 1-27; 39, 49, vi, 47, 48; vii, 14; Gal. ii, 20; 1 John v, 10-15; Rev. ii, 10.

An Australian Idea.

The following suggestion taken from the Australian Golden Link is in point whenever, as often happens, the Christian Endeavor topic deals with the happiness of religion, or it may be substituted for one of the regular topics. In order to get every one to look on the joy side of the pledge, the announcement that the song service will consist of the most joyful songs in the book suggested by the members, to be followed by a season of joyful prayer, all thanksgiving and praise, and joyful testimonies, each telling of the brightest experience in his whole Christian life. "Pass around slips of paper, on which invite the members to write out the most joyful Christian word of which they can think with one word, faith, for thinking it so. Give two minutes for free expressions as to how we may show our joy in service, in face, tone, touch, manner. Give another period to having named the pledge, and the joys to which we look forward in Christ's service in this life and the life to come."

The Society of Spiritual Exercises.

Almost everything else within the work of the church is for instruction, but the Christian Endeavor society stands unique and almost alone upon the platform of training by service for larger service. It is the society of givers and not of the getters, the society of spiritual exercise, the society of doers of the word and not hearers only. If I know anything about the history of the church for the last twenty years, this is the idea that has sustained the blessing of God, that has multiplied that first society sixty-thousand-fold, that has sent it into all the world with its message of constant service and service for all. Dr. E. C. Clark in Christian Endeavor World.

The Society's Needs.

Christian Endeavor needs those who, after having taken the pledge thoughtfully and prayerfully, will throw their best efforts into the prayer meeting and all work of the society, unsatisfied until they have done all and more than has been promised.—W. F. Rea, President Fourth District, New York City.

Christian Endeavor.

Not dreaming, but endeavor.
Must meet the world's great need;
Not impulse fast and futile,
But swift, unerring deed.
Not prayer alone of longing,
But prayer that answers prayer;
Not dreaming, but endeavor,
With blessed fruit is fraught.
—Edith H. Kelsey in Louisiana Messenger.

Every man complains of his judgment,

but no man complains of his judgment.

The Better Way

The tissues of the throat are inflamed and irritated; you cough, and there is more irritation—more coughing. You take a cough mixture and it eases the irritation—for a while. You take and it cures the cold. That's what is necessary. It soothes the throat because it reduces the irritation; cures the cold because it drives out the inflammation; builds up the weakened tissues because it nourishes them back to their natural strength. That's how Scott's Emulsion deals with a sore throat, a cough, a cold, or bronchitis.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL.

LESSON 3, THIRD QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, SEPT. 3.

Text of the Lesson, II Chron. xxxvi, 1-21; Memory Verses, 10-21; Consecration Text, Num. xxiii, 23; Memorabilia Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns. [Copyright, 1905, by American Press Association.] After the death of Josiah, the last good king of Judah, the twenty-two years that remained to them were the long threatened judgment fell on the king by the following kings: Jehoahaz or Shallum, three months; Jehoiakim or Jebochiah, eleven years; Jeconiah or Zedekiah, eleven years (verses 1-11 and II Kings xlii, xxiv), but all, without exception, did evil in the sight of the Lord and humbled not themselves when the Lord sent messengers to remove them and win them back to Himself.

How pitiful are the words of the Lord by His servants to His erring and deceived people, "I have nourished and brought up children, and they have rebelled against me." "My people have forsaken me." John Rockefeller's Dream.

BY T. C. HARRAUGH.

John Rockefeller dreamed a dream, not to his approbation, He'd raised the price of Standard Oil and also a donation, He'd given half a million for a college's repair and also, And sent a hundred thousand to the land of polar bears.

"Twas a lovely night in summer time, the air was soft and still, And Standard Oil was flowing free on many a lofty hill; He'd worked among his stocks and bonds until his strength was spent And thought his heavenly mortgages would yield a good per cent.

His appetite was not as good as his who tills the soil, He'd over lubricated it with his own Standard Oil, And as he fell asleep that night beneath his many and the skies He saw a thousand colleges and handsome churches rise.

In their shadow—What cared he?—a mother clasped her child, A sickly little starling with a haggard face and wild; From out the church a psalm came, a psalm of salvation, And the preacher prayed loudly of another big donation.

John tho't he went to heaven's gate, he stopped his auto there And listened for a moment to the songs that filled the air; Thid at him he stared at night beneath his many and the skies He saw a thousand colleges and handsome churches rise.

"I know him by his hairless pate, I know him by his smile, 'Tis oleaginous, you know, I'll tell him wait awhile; If no one vouches for him here outside he'll have to stay, Or turn his automobile down the other traveled way."

John thought he hailed St. Peter in a voice not very low, Said he: "I've builded colleges all over earth below, I've planted them on every hill, they cover all the globe, Behold my monuments down there and thanks to Standard Oil."

Said Peter: "Where's your passport? Do you think you've greased your way To paradise with Standard Oil from yonder ball of clay? I've noticed that when'er you gave to city, town or plain, Your Standard Oil went up a cent and paid you back again."

"You can't get in, not yet, dear John; your bribes I must resist, Go back, see Ida Tarbell, ask her if you're on the list; If Ida whispers, 'let him in,' I'll open wide the gate; And in the light—no Standard Oil—I'll let you sit in state."

John studied for a moment, turned his face the hue of clay, And said unto his chauffeur: "Turn the thing the other way; I'm a little bit disgusted, lost all my earthly toil, We'll try 'the other fellow,' maybe he burns Standard Oil."

New York Store Signs.

The average merchant uses his business sign simply as a guide to his local efforts which carry posters made to attract tips from passengers. The following took place at a large station in the north of England: A porter had been attending to the luggage of a lady who had just alighted. He expected donation, addressed the gentleman as follows: "Beg pardon, sir, but if any one asks what you gave me help shall I tell him?" He got his tip.—London Mail.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy Aids Nature.

Medicines that aid nature are always most effective. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is one of these. It is a simple, natural remedy, relieves the lungs, aids expectoration, opens the secretions and aids nature in restoring the system to its normal condition. Sold by R. S. McKinney, Taneytown, Md.

Glass Globes.

Glass globes may be cleaned by soaking them in warm water and soda ash. Wash them with a piece of wet flannel, then rinse them in clean cold water, dry with a linen cloth and polish with a piece of old newspaper. After polishing the globes turn the gas on, but do not allow the gas to crack from the heat after washing.

Best For Children.

Mothers, be careful of the health of your children. Look out for Coughs, Colds, Croup and Whooping Cough. Stop them in their tracks. One Minute Cough Cure is the best remedy. Harmless and pleasant. Contains no opiates. Sold by J. McKellip, Druggist, Taneytown, Md.

Removing Cakes Stains.

Cocoa stains on table linen may be removed with oxalic acid when boiling water fails. Spread the stained part on a plate and pour on it a little hot acid. Wash with a soft brush. When the stain disappears rinse the article in plenty of cold water and then in ammonia water to neutralize the acid. A tablespoonful of ammonia to two quarts of water will be the right proportion.

Millionaire's Poor Stomach.

The worn-out stomach of the over-fed millionaire is often paraded in the public prints as a horrible example of evil attendance on the possession of great wealth. But millionaires are not the only ones who are afflicted with bad stomachs. The proportion is far greater among the toilers. Dyspepsia and indigestion are rampant among these people, and they suffer far worse tortures than the millionaire unless they avail themselves of a standard medicine like Green's August Flower, which has been a favorite stomachic remedy for all sorts of troubles for over thirty-five years. August Flower restores the torpid liver, thus creating appetite and insuring a regular and healthy digestion. It is the entire system and makes life worth living, no matter what your station. Trial bottles, 25c; regular size, 75c. For sale by J. McKellip, Druggist, Taneytown, Md.

To See the Back Hair.

Any scheme that will afford milady an opportunity to view her profile or back view with convenience and without trespassing appreciably upon the space in her boudoir is gladly welcomed. The mirror with bracket arm

Cured of Lame Back After 15 Years of Suffering.

"I had been troubled with lame back for fifteen years and I found a complete recovery in the use of Chamberlain's Pain Balm," says John G. Bisher, Gilman, Ind. This medicine is well known to all equal to sprains and bruises. It is for sale by R. S. McKinney, Druggist, Taneytown, Md.

The Ayresbury Duck.

Next to the Rouen duck, the Ayresbury is probably the most popular in England. This is due to its rapid growth and the ease with which it

Homemade Baking Powder.

The following recipe for baking powder is said to be entirely satisfactory. Dissolve one ounce of cream of tartar in a quart of water. Add to this one ounce of soda, four ounces of tartaric acid, three ounces of cream of tartar, half an ounce of cornstarch, eight ounces of pulverized and mix thoroughly, then sift well about twelve times to make it light and fluffy.

Treatment For Eczema.

If your child is troubled with eczema, wash the parts affected with warm water in which you wash the parts affected, and never use a cheap soap. Cheap soaps may contain soda and potash, and these make the spots irritable and cause them to spread.

Washing Silk Lace.

After washing silk lace should be allowed to lie for half an hour in a little warm milk, to which a very little gum water has been added. Dry the lace nearly dry and iron on the wrong side on a board covered with several thicknesses of clean flannel.

Worms In Children.

When children at night will awaken screaming, as they sometimes do when suffering with worms, a drop of turpentine on a lump of sugar, or even the smell of turpentine, will give relief at once.

Fried Green Peppers.

To prepare green peppers to serve with steak dip them into boiling water for five minutes. Dry and then fry them, remove seeds and white veins and fry quickly in a little butter.

Mrs. Clara Ogden, of Gettysburg, is spending the week with Mrs. C. M. Hess.

Miss Lou Renner, of Baltimore, is here on a visit and will remain for several weeks.

Miss Regis Shriner, of Baltimore, is paying her annual visit here, to Mrs. Ellen C. Crouse.

Harvest Home Communion services will be held in the Lutheran Church, on Sunday, Sept. 10th.

J. Thomas Kemp and wife, of Waynesboro, spent several days here on a visit the early part of this week.

Prof. Devillies is meeting with gratifying success in securing pupils, and will open with a satisfactory number.

Miss Anna Buffington, of Baltimore, has been spending some time in town and neighborhood on a visit to relatives.

Augustus Reindollar purchased a lot a few days ago, on Fairview avenue, of C. A. Elliot, on which he will build, this Fall.

The Rogers Birnie farm was sold at public sale, last Saturday, to Hon. Jos. A. Goulden, at $33.50 per acre for 252 1/2 acres.

Mrs. T. H. Eckenrode is at present seriously ill with heart trouble. She has been in very delicate health for a year or more.

Don't forget the Piney Creek picnic in the grove adjoining the church, Saturday, September 2nd, 1905. Everybody is invited to attend.

The farm near Walnut Grove, owned by Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Little, was sold at private sale, recently, to a Mr. Joseph Brown, who will take possession in the Spring.

The United Telephone Company announces that "a new switchboard is ready for Taneytown, and will be installed very shortly." It strikes us that we heard this same promise a year or so ago.

Frank Gardner, who has been working for an undertaking firm in Baltimore, is home on a short vacation. He will leave next week for New York, where he intends taking a complete course at the Remond School of Embalming.

The corn packing business was booming this week, the plant being operated at its full capacity, and Baltimore street, most of the time was crowded with teams. This has been a good season for the growing of corn of a fine quality.

The Record acknowledges the receipt, from Hon. Jos. A. Goulden, of New York, a cloth bound volume on Diseases of Cattle, issued by the Department of Agriculture. It is profusely illustrated and no doubt a work of much value.

Charles C. Eyer, brother-in-law of Harvey E. Weant, of the Republican nominees for the House of Delegates from Frederick Co. He resides at Rocky Ridge and is a law student at the Baltimore University.

As August is the month for taking holidays, it is reasonably probable that we have missed many incomes and outgoings. Those who desire such items to appear in the RECORD should hand them in at the office, as we do not intentionally indulge in partiality.

Miss Blanche Harman and Vallie Myers, of Otter Dale, attended Tom's Creek picnic, and spent Saturday night and Sunday with their cousins, Misses Mollie and Edith Harman, of Motter's Station; also, Mr. Oliver Eyer, of Union Bridge, Cleveland Stanger and Emory Valentine.

Hereafter, the mail carrier at the depot will not hand mail matter on the train outside of the pouches. All who desire to mail letters on the train will be required to hand them, personally, to the route agent. An order to this effect has been given the carrier, and it will be observed.

Rev. D. Frank Garland, of Dayton, Ohio, paid as many as possible of his old parishioners here a flying visit last week. He spent most of his vacation at his old home in Pennsylvania, with his father who is quite ill. At home, Dayton, he is busy with plans for a fine new church.

If there is not an ordinance against leaving teams stand unhitched on our streets, there ought to be. Runaways, due to neglect, in most cases, are entirely too frequent, and those directly responsible for them should be required to pay all damages caused, and be fined besides.

Next Sunday evening, at 6.30, a special program under the management of the Temperance Committee of the C. E. Society, will be rendered in the Lutheran church. Miss Beulah Benson, County Temperance Superintendent, and one or more visiting speakers, will be present. Members of all denominations are specially invited, as the program will be both helpful and interesting.

A two week's vacation, with congenial surroundings and "forgetting all about business," is very nice in contemplation and in actual enjoyment, but the home-coming and "getting at it" again is a decidedly different proposition. We therefore ask a little indulgence on the part of our readers for any and all shortcomings, in a business way, which may have occurred or may yet occur.

Mrs. Curtis H. Reid was operated on, on Wednesday afternoon, for appendicitis, at her home on George St., by surgeons from Johns Hopkins hospital, assisted by Drs. Seis and Birnie. The appearance of the disease was quite sudden and violent, and only the promptness of the operation, which was quite successful, saved her life. Unless complications develop, an early recovery is looked for.

The Lutheran Junior C. E. Society has been holding its meetings, for the past three months, on Friday evening. Beginning with next Sunday, Sept. 3, the meetings will be held Sunday afternoon, at 3 o'clock. Mrs. S. H. Little, Jr. Supt. says: "It is the earnest desire of those interested in the work, to make these meetings interesting as well as helpful and instructive. The presence of every boy and girl whose names are on the roll, is very earnestly requested next Sunday afternoon. We have something nice to tell them about a little outing to be given them in the near future, and we trust they will all come."

Willing to be the Goat.

A ducky preacher was lost in the happy selection of his text, which he repeated in vigorous accents of pleading. "Oh, brethren, at de las' day dere's de goats. Who's gwine to be de sheep an' who's gwine to be de goat? Let's all try to be like de 'I' white lambs, bred-der, shall we? I want to see de 'I' New we's gwine to be de sheep. Who's gwine to be de goat? 'Tak' care ob yout souls sistas. Remember, dere's gwine to be de goats an' sheep. Who's gwine to be de sheep an' who's gwine to be de goats? 'Tust' de goat's gwine to be de goat. Go on! tell us de joke, elder. O'll be de goat!"—Lips pincut!

Afraid to take Chances.

Two Jews met on the street. Rosenthal says to Gensberger: "I haven't seen you lately, ver do you lit now?" Gensberger: "I lit in one hundred and fiftieth street." Rosenthal: "Vell, ver vas de matter vit dat boarding house on Baxter street?" Gensberger: "I couldn't stand de meat!" Rosenthal: "Vy?" Gensberger: "De first week ven I vas dere, de cow died, and de he had beet all week; de next week der pet died and he had veal all week; de next week one of de old boarders died and I moved, I didn't want to take chances."

Letter to Henry Hiltner.

Dear Sir: Would you like to hear of a 20 year point? Mr. James O'Neill's horse, Henderson, N. C., was painted 20 years ago with Devoe lead-and-zinc, and never painted again till last year, it then looked better than common paint in half that time. The reason is: Devoe is all paint and true paint, while the common paints are part true and part false. Don't pay to monkey with paint. And Devoe costs less than any of 'em; not by the gallon, of course, but by the house and year. That's how to reckon it. Go by the name. F. W. Devoe & Co., P. O. S. J. S. Bower sells our paint.

His Remarkable Memory.

"Excuse me," said the absentminded professor, "but haven't we met before? Your face is strangely familiar." "Yes," answered the young lady, "our hostess introduced us just before dinner." "Ah, yes," rejoined the professor. "I was positive I had seen you somewhere. I never forgot a face."—De-troit Tribune.

A Remedy Without a Peer.

"I and Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets more beneficial than any other remedy I ever used for stomach trouble," said J. P. McKeen, of Edinburg, Pa. "For any disorder of the stomach, biliousness or constipation, these Tablets are without a peer. For sale by R. S. McKinney, Druggist, Taneytown, Md."

A Exception.

"I don't seem to be able to make you understand," said the professor, "but I have always ascended and could descend." "Well," replied the bright boy, "how is it when I get my feet cold and wet the cold always settles in my head?"—New York Life.

A Poor Theorist.

"She was just crazy to marry him, although she knew he didn't really love her, and she never got the result. He treated her with contempt." "That's just a woman's bad aim. She threw herself at his head and landed at his feet."—Philadelphia Press.

Mr. C. W. Brook, editor of the Aberdeen Enterprise, Aberdeen, Maryland, writes us:

"I need your Colic, Cholera and Diarrhea Remedy some twenty years ago and discovered it was a quick and safe cure. No one can sell something said to be 'just as good' as the Chamberlain Remedy, for in all these years I have used it and recommended it to all in my family and to all my friends. It is in my results when Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhea Remedy was taken for the complaints it cures. Have it handy in the house; don't wait until you need it before you buy it. You don't have time to send for it then—keep it in the house. For sale by R. S. McKinney, Druggist, Taneytown, Md. 8-12-41

Open to an Engagement.

"Little boy," said the teacher of the class, "do you intend to come to Sunday school regularly?" "I guess so, ma'am," answered the urchin with the crooked head and the soiled face, with some hesitation. "Is dere anything in it 'sides de picture cards and de picnic?"—Chicago Tribune.

Good Roads to Get Trade For Eufrata.

The business men of Eufrata, I. T., have adopted a policy to capture trade from territory they consider belongs to other towns. At a meeting recently a fund of $2,000 was raised to build better roads leading into the town from all directions, says the Kansas City Star. Eufrata is in the center of a large cotton section. This year the good road plan will be systematically worked.

Cause of Insomnia.

Indigestion nearly always disturbs the sleep more or less and is often the cause of insomnia. Many cases have been permanently cured by Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. For sale by R. S. McKinney, Druggist, Taneytown, Md.

Fairy Scars For Cool Nights.

There is a great revival of Spanish lace shawls, and scarfs of all shapes are being worn either in black or cream color, and many of them are dyed in a soft pastel shade. Another fetching lace shawl is of coffee colored silk chun, shaped like a fish with long, tapering ends. Cream colored net is also obtained in fish shape with heavy Arabian lace.

Can You Eat?

J. B. Taylor, a prominent merchant of Chriesman, Tex., says: "I could not eat because of a weak stomach. I lost all strength and ran down in weight. All that money could do was done, but all hope of recovery vanished. Hearing of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure, I concluded to try it. The first bottle benefited me. It brought back my strength, weight and health." Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat and cures the stomach. For J. McKellip, Druggist, Taneytown, Md.

Too Open.

"Do you like an open countenance on a person?" "I thought I did till my mother-in-law made us a visit."—London Post.

Shirring Popular.

Shirring on heavy cords is a favorite means of trimming simple gowns and even when used on handsome costumes is very effective.

HER PENNY'S WORTH

(Copyright, 1905, by T. C. McCutcheon.)
"A penny for your thoughts," said Miriam.

"It's not an original remark," said Howard Creighton, "but I'll take you up."

"It may not be original," she retorted, "but it's better than sitting like an owl, as you have been these last ten minutes."

"Give me the penny."

"Not until you have delivered the goods," she said laughingly.

"Well, to begin with, I was thinking how much I loved you."

"You don't expect a penny for an old story like that, do you?" she asked mockingly.

"It depends upon the value you place upon true love."

"I thought it was the other sort that was valued in dollars and cents. Look at Little Conover."

"Miss Conover," he explained, "is not purchasing love with her marriage settlements. Her father is paying for the privilege of calling his grandchildren by a title."

"Don't you think you have absorbed a lot of Socialism?"

"I am not a Socialist," he defended, "I simply detect this modern device of seeking to bolster up a good American name with nothing worse than bog land upon it with the uncleanly peddling of the sort of love which will marry for money, clearly realizing that it is the title—not the man—which is wanted."

She gravely passed him a coin. "The original thoughts were not worth the price. This is."

He motioned her hand away. "It would be a poor missionary who would sell his gospel," he declared.

"Do you suggest that I am in need of being saved?" she demanded, coloring.

"I hope not," was his quiet answer.

"I think you're just horrid. I never gave Lord Carnavan any encouragement to follow me home."

"Simply because you shrug your shoulders ever so slightly."

"If you think that I even permitted him to imagine—"

"He has no imagination. Only an instinct."

"Howard Creighton," she stormed, "I want you to understand that Lord Carnavan is a friend of mine. I do not permit my friends to be spoken of in that fashion."

"Then he is a friend?"

"Nothing more," she declared hastily. "And very little of that," he finished. "It's your money he wants."

"How do you know?"

"I happened to know he explained to your father that he could not marry unless he could first pay off his debts."

"How did you happen?" she asked, with cutting sarcasm.

"Simply because your father brought the schedule to me to find out if it were exorbitant."

"Very tactful of father to take the schedule to you just because you happen to be his legal adviser."

"Quite natural," he admitted. "You see, unlike Carnavan, I do not advertise my love."

"Do you insinuate that he has been making me conspicuous by his attention?"

"Well," said Creighton mildly, "the only needs a license and a leader to complete the suggestion of delicate devotion."

She rose and turned upon him. "I should have you understand," she said fiercely, "since father has admitted you into his confidence that I am going to marry Lord Carnavan."

"I hope not," he said sincerely. "Apart from all personal feelings, I should hate to see you throw yourself away upon a man who sees in you only a means of satisfying his creditors."

"You know better than that."

"I know more than that," he corrected. "I've loved you Miriam, ever since you were a child. When I was working my way through college and law school and your father was still fighting for the fortune he since has gained, you loved me. You love me still."

"Her lips trembled a little, but she made no sound. She turned away to the window and cooled her flushed face against the icy pane."

"I shall be rich, too, some day. Meanwhile I do not demand that my wife shall pay my debts. I want only you."

"I am engaged to another."

"Scarcely spoke above a whisper."

"But you do not love him, and you do love me. Won't you send him upon his way?"

"He does not!"

He did not see that she was crying, and he urged the question again. This time there was only the mute surrender to his caress, but it was enough to break the decision of Revoltionary days had been repeated and there was another British defeat.

Carnavan was rather glad. He had just gained the favor of a young woman whose father was more wealthy than he, and who had several millions in her own right.
