if the older physiologies are in use, the following suggestions may be helpiul: The children should be given a very clear explanation of what tuberculosis is; of the fact that it is simply a wasting disease; that the waste is occasioned by the consumption of tissue by myriads of very small germs called tubercular bacilli. The tubercular bacilli is a microscopical small, rod-like plant. It is probably the smallest and weakest form of plant life, yet it kills more people than any other one cause of death. The germ will live an indefinite length of time in a dark, damp place, but will die within an hour if exposed to direct sunlight; in an hour if exposed to direct sunlight; in fact it may be said to drown in sunshine. conclusiveness that the pay of school teachers is on the average far below that of a long list of mechanics, hence, it is argued that teachers are improperly discriminated against, but such can hardly be established as the case without entering further into the matter.

would be better at rest. For instance, it has been recently shown with apparent

For instance, the average pay of public school teachers in Pennsylvania is something like $360. a year, outside of large cities, while in New York city the average is perhaps $900. a year. In some of the western states the average is much higher than in Pennsylvania Against this it is stated that the yearly pay of bricklayers 1s $1600., a year, masons $1300., carpenters $1400., hod carriers $900., while the pay of engineers of various sorts amounts to $1200, to $1500.. providing, of course, that regular work is had at the current day price in all cases, and at the same union scale. In the first place, the pay of teachers is largely regulated by state law, and a large percentage of them are women who could not earn as much in any other vocation; besides, the supply is usually large. With the trades, the supply of workmen is limited, the demand is great, and labor unions do the rest toward fixing high wages. We have not yet-unfortunately, perhaps- arrived at the stage when wages of this character are fixed by state law, or strikes and labor unions are promptly controlled.

A school teacher is of more value to the country, in most ways, than a hodcarrier, and yet, as long as teachers are plenty and hod-carriers scarce, the inequality of wage between the two must remain. The teachers' pay, too, is low because it comes from the tax-payers who use their influence to keep down the average, while mechanics demand and receive the higher pay in spite of taxes and legislators. Therefore, while figures show certain conditions existing, there is not much to be gained in complaining over them for the reason that there are situations too firmly grounded for us to change by worry or argument.

It is but true to state, too, in this connection, that all mechanics in the classes of wages, nor do they have regular employment the year round. In making a fair comparison, therefore, the pay of for brains faster than they are produced. non-unionists, who work in the country, largely, must be recognized as being very much less than the annual figures given, and as approaching very appreciably close to the basis of the pay of the law-regulated teacher. a man begins to work his head that

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning Feb. 17.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE. Topic.—An easy life versus a hard one. —II Tim. ii, 1-13.

No human life is wholly one of ease, hor is there one perhaps that is entirely characterized by hardness. In the easiest life there are some hardships, and in the hardest one there is some silver lining to the cloud. But in some lives ease predominates, and in others hardness has the supreme place. These principles also apply to the Christian life, of which the apostle writes to Timothy. To some Christians life is easy, or, at least, they take it easy. Their only anxiety seems to be to get into heaven, and they shun as far as possible the difficult places in the Christian's pathway. Their supreme away still He doth love us wherever aim is to be-

Carried to the skies On flowery beds of ease, While others fight to win the prize And sail through bloody seas.

But while to many the easy life may seem the more desirable, yet it is really not so. Ease is not conducive to strength or even to happiness. The men of the world who have made the greatest success of life have usually been those to whom life has been a struggle, a battle, and in their toils and conflicts they have not only won success, but have experienced the greatest joy and happiness. The joys of ease are not to be compared to the joy of victory in battle, success against odds and notable achievement even in the face of adversity. Ease weakens, hardness strengthens; ease is unproductive, hardness produces the best results; ease is selfish, hardness is self denying, and the Christian, above all others, should possess the qualities of hardness rather than those of ease. To live a consistent, conscientious Christian life is not easy. It is easy to become a Christian, but most difficult to live a Christian life. No one should make the mistake of thinking that a life in Christ and for Christ will be an easy life. The temptations of life are to be met and overcome. The enemies and foes of Christianity are to be withstood. The Christian life is indeed a warfare, and not even a warfare against flesh and blood, but against evil spiritual agencies-Satan and his emissaries. But it is such a life that develops true Christian character and that best exemplifies the life of our Lord and Master Jesus Christ. He knew no ease in His life. He was "a man of sorrows and acquainted with grief." Constant conflict was his lot. Satan used all his power to overcome Him. Man opposed Him even to the end of accomplishing His death. Sacrifice, self denial, enduring hardness and bitterest soul agonies were His portion on earth. The servant cannot expect to be better than his Lord nor the disciple than his Master. Let us not, therefore, sigh for a life of ease, but joy in the fact that we also must "endure hardness as good soldiers of Jesus Christ." And in our struggles and conflicts let us be strong, not in our own strength, but "be strong in the grace that is in Christ Jesus." And when the way seems very hard let us be encouraged by remembering that, having suffered with Christ, we shall also reign with Him.

Senator Dolliver was condemning an opponent's argument, says the New York Tribune

"In such an argument," he said, "the logic is absurdly false. It is like the logic of a young woman of Fort Dodge.

OUR SALE CARDS.

We think a great deal of the colored "Sale Cards" which may be mailed, the same as postal cards, at one-cent. Ideals Should Be High. Dissatisfaction with low ideals in your Endeavor society does not mean a contest for supremacy above the societles of your town or city; not a struggle for members and social influence; not a costest for the greatest number of testimonies in a given time, or a banner in a Christian Endeavor rally, or even the greatest enthusiasm in committee work as the sole object of our endeavor. To stop at verse 13 would be to miss a most important part of the lesson, for after Abram had humbled himself and given Lot the first choice, instead of insisting on his rights as the one whom God had called and to whom He had given the land, then the Lord said to Abram, "Lift up now thine eyes," and, commanding him to view the whole land, reassured him that it was all uncle and that he must make his men
