Dissatisfied Young Men.

country life "more attractive" that we ally discounts real diplomatic ability in are almost led to believe that the farm | favor of mere wealth. and country are becoming quite disreputable, and not at all up to the standard required by modern respectability. We wonder whether this is true? Is it not as likely to be true that we are taking the word of a lot of spoiled children body likes to be imposed on—as it looks for it, that the country is not good enough for them? Are our your menand young women, too-competent to pass judgment on such an important question? Has the country life changed so much, or is it the young people?

Our opinion is that farm life, .and country life generally, is on a higher plane than ever before in the history of the country. That the measure of intelligence, of social opportunities, of chances for amusement and general development has grown wonderfully within the past fifty years. That, with the single exception of scarcity of labor, farm life offers, for the future, even more attractions than at present, especially to those who honestly want to work and make for themselves a modest home and name, and that the same applies to country town life.

What, then, is the cause of all the worry about the young man not being satisfied with his boyhood home? Bluntly stated, we believe it is largely the young man himself. Somehow or other he wants to travel at too fast a pace. He wants to occupy a position of ownership those who suffer impositions and losses, may be killed without our special wonand management, with plenty of money before he has earned them. He can't ital, for the reason that he more strongly wants to "sport around" and spend his earnings. He cannot, or does not, resist temptations to squander his earnings as they come to him, consequently becomes dissatisfied (with the country) because he cannot make money faster than he can spend it.

Perhaps, after all, it is not only the "country" boy who is dissatisfied with litigation, from one court to another son the latter inspires terror is because acquiring extravagant habits and be-

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning March 17.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic.-What is success?-Prov. iii, 1-18. Success in a purely technical sense "is the attainment of a proposed object." In this sense the man who makes it the object of his life to win a great fortune and does so is successful in that he accomplishes what he has aimed for. But the word as used in our topic has a much broader meaning. It refers to success in life. What is a successful life? To this question varied answers would be given by different people. It all depends upon our conception of life. To many people the amassing of wealth is success, to others the attainment of high position, and to others again it is the winning of fame in one form or another. But life is made up of many interests, and the reaching of no one goal will necessarily mean success. Many men have reached positions of wealth, of high honor and fame, and yet their lives have been failures. They themselves in no few instances would be the first to pronounce them so. Let us then get no false idea of success. What, then, is success? If compelled to answer this question simply and plainly, what better answer could be given than that success is the faithful that devolve upon us. God brings evcry human being into this world for a purpose, and he who comes the nearpoor, occupying high or humble posi- Isaac and Lot and Noah, and later he tion or his name be known or un- takes David and Solomon and Jehoshaknown to the world. Faith would not have been accomplishment of his own personal ambitions, cannot be looked upon as successful. We also owe duties to ourselves, and these are not to be neglected or abused.

Solomon was most competent to speak with authority upon the subject of success. His experiences in those things which the world commonly looks upon as success make his words of especial value upon the subject. He had wisdom, wealth, pleasure, power, honor, fame. Perhaps he has never been surpassed in the glory and splendors of earthly honors that were his. And yet he does not declare that these things spell success. He ignores them and exalts especially obedience to God, the right treatment of our fellow men and the cultivation of the personal virtues that make a good character as the of her and to fill her with plans to deessential things in life. As his life drew to a close he looked back upon it all, and, forgetting all earthly splen-dor and glory, he declared: "Fear God deve story on record (verse 16). Score

> How to Make Beef Tea Properly. Every home nurse is supposed to know how to make beef tea, yet it is surprising how many failures are to be recorded in this apparently simple optoo little time is given to the cooking. The point to be borne in mind is that as far as possible the whole of the nutriment of the beef is to be extracted.

> The best method of doing this is to proceed as follows, says the New York Journal: Remove all the fat and skin from one pound of fresh beef, cut it up in small pieces and put it into a stone jar with a pint of water and a little salt. Replace the lid of the jar and let it stand all night. The next morning place the jar in a saucepan of boiling water and let it simmer gently, but never boil, for five hours. Strain the fluid through a colander, but instead of throwing away the residue of the meat pound it in a mortar into a pulp. pass it through a wire sieve and add it to the beef tea. Beef tea made according to this recipe contains all the fiber and albumen of the meat and is therefore much more nutritious than beef tea in the form it is usually given.

How to Care For Silver.

In the first place, keep it bright. If never allowed to get into a deplorable condition, its cleaning will be no hardship, says the Washington Star. Regularly once a week wash it thoroughly in very hot soapsuds. Remove one piece at a time from the suds, polish it at once and drop into very hot clean water. When ready to dry, take only one piece at a time from the hot water, dry at once and polish with chamois skin or flannel, This method is much better than heaping the wet silver on a tray to get cold before dried. Silver not in general use should be wrapped in white tissue paper and kept in a canton flannel bag. A special kind of tissue paper and flannel for this purpose can be bought at a reliable silversmith's. Mark each bag plainly with its contents. When wanted, silver kept this way will always be found bright

MARKET THE FEATHERS.

Some Facts About a Much Neglected Source of Revenue.

The prices paid for hen feathers vary nsiderably, according to the market, says Dr. P. T. Woods in Reliable Poultry Journal. Hen feathers range from  $3\frac{1}{2}$  to 7 cents a pound, with an average price of about 5 cents for the best quality. Solid white feathers bring higher prices than mixed or dark colored feathers. Duck feathers bring from 25 to 30 cents a pound, the white bringing the highest price. White duck feathers would sell for as high a price as goose feathers were it not for the fact that they have an odor that cannot be removed by any known method. Best white goose feathers bring from 45 to 55 cents a pound, while mixed and colored goose feathers are quoted at from 35 to 45 cents. Goose feathers can usually be depended upon to average about 35 cents a pound the year round. Turkey feathers, for the ordinary body feathers, bring from 3 to 6 cents a pound, while the stiff feathers from the wings and tails bring from 8 to 10 cents a pound when clean and dry. Clear turkey tail feathers, clean and dry, sometimes bring as high as 17 cents a pound, while mixed turkey feathers containing wing, tail and pointers will usually average about 6 cents a pound. ----Worth Knowing About.

If you need a first-class laxative, there is nothing better nor safer than that old family remedy, Brandreth's Pills. Each pill contains one grain of solid extract of sarsaparilla, which, with other valuapurifier of excellent character. If you the singular of "twain" as "worsted." are troubled with constipation, one pill at night will afford great relief.

Brandreth's Pill's are the same fine laxative tonic pill your grandparents used. They have been in use for over a century and are sold in every drug and medicine store, either plain or sugarcoated.

----Distributing the Bible.

The American Bible Society employs a small army of from four to five hundred men of intelligence and ability. These, in turn, employ great numbers of native colporteurs, who travel inland upon waterways, over mountains, through forests with their packs on their backs, or with strange caravans of men or beasts of burden. These "sowers of the seed" can always astonish the natives by reading to them in their own tives by reading to them in their own tongue from the printed book. Most romantic and thrilling are the experiences of those men who receive from headquarters in New York by steamer big consignments of Bibles, to be taken into the far interior of savage lands. The experiences of Messre Bear lands. The experiences of Messrs. Bean and Turner in the Phillippines alone would fill a volume of varied adventure. Night and day they traveled through almost impassable swamps in clumsy carts, and barely escaped drowning more than once while descending swift rapids on rudely built rafts.

In South America, from the equator to Cape Horn, the Bible-carriers are on the march, and political revolutions, wars, storms, poisonous reptiles, and a thousand other obstacles serve only to increase their enthusiasm. The Bible is carried into the camel's-hair tents of the wandering Bedouin Arabs of Syria, and P. S.-J. S. Bower sells our paint. if these men are not able to read classi-cal Arabic, then they have Bibles in their own dialect, for which they pay-coined money being unknown to them-in butter, eggs, milk, horns and brass orna-

In the transportation of these millions of Bibles the fast steamship and train are but the first step. Then come little sailing vessels among the coral islands of the Pacific, canoes and house-boas for Inde-China and the West Coast of for Indo-China and the West Coast of Africa, bullocks and oxen hauling carts in South Africa, dogs and sledges with sentiment is too strong to fight against.
