PLEASANT THOUGHTS for the waning summer. The tax-man is getting ready to get busy—and coal prices are to take a big jump on September 1st. The former, is sure; the latter, the next thing to it.

THE LEADING Presidential possibilities—
TAYT-KNOX.
BRYAN-JOHNSON.

The political winds must change, very decidedly, if these names are not the all-important ones at the National conventions.

Gov. WARFIELD is a political idealist. His expressed desire to stay "close to the people" in carrying out their wishes and will, is extremely patriotic and proper; but, the sure way to the wishes of the people is to be discovered, for the reason that if the people know what they want, and who they want, they will not come out and say so. Even the "Crawford county" plan, without compulsory participation, leaves much to be desired; besides, the average voter needs to be told who and what he wants to vote for, notwithstanding our boasted general intelligence. Still, we incline to the Governor's ideal, and believe that the people ought to be consulted, and listened to, before they have been in the past. How to get their wishes, is the question.

The County Statement.

We are publishing the County Statement, in the present issue, for the first time, which means that this is the first opportunity for thirteen years that the tax-payers of this county, who subscribe for no other county paper than the RECORD, have had the opportunity of seeing just where and how their taxes are expended. We are naturally gratified that we are enabled to publish the statement; not for the profit that it is in, but for the recognition that it is thus given the RECORD and its subscribers.

We fear that many people do not read such statements. They are published, at considerable expense, for the information of the public; they stand for transactions—aggregating many thousands of dollars—of the public business of the county, and represent about the only opportunity the tax-payers have of knowing whether their affairs are conducted economically, or not. We trust that our readers will appreciate the action of the County Commissioners in giving their transactions wider publicity, and that the same plan will be followed continuously hereafter.

A Significant Gathering.

The great outpouring of farmers and others at the Farmers' Reunion, last Saturday, under so many unfavorable conditions, was a revelation, and the significance of it is worth considering. Perhaps the majority of those who were there were there for pleasure alone, and "see the people," or just to "pic-nic"; but unquestionably thousands were there for more serious and higher purposes. They were there because they are interested in the great awakening which has at last overtaken agricultural pursuits, and because of strong desire to learn more of the science and system of farming.

There is still some who sneer at "book farming" and so-called "theoretical farming"; but they do so without intelligence. None of the lecturers or writers on agricultural topics teach that one can farm successfully from book knowledge, or from reading, alone, nor from mere theory. It is entirely gratuitous and ill-placed to voice any such sentiment. What they do teach and advocate, is, that there is great benefit to be derived from a real demonstration, from the application of the theories of those who know of the natural secrets of plant life, and that general intelligence and inventive ability which will enable one to make the most out of conditions as they actually exist.

Some things can be learned by every farmer, working on his own farm, without any other information, providing he is ordinarily observant; other things are to be learned on inquiring of others of more experience, and certain things are seen to happen but the cause of their happening is not known. Now, scientific farming simply covers and extends these three means of gaining knowledge. Instead of waiting, to learn by experience, why not read, and listen to, the experience of others? Instead of calling into consultation others of like limited knowledge, why not learn from those whose special business and study it is to find out and positively just what you want to know? Instead of taking certain changes and conditions as mere happenings, why find out the exact cause of their happening?

There is nothing "theoretical" about most of the modern agricultural methods. As a matter of fact, very few things happen by chance, and it is for just this one reason that it is as necessary for the farmer to be intelligent and thoroughly posted on his business, as it is for the physician and druggist to be posted on theirs. These, three, indeed, work along practically the same lines. The physician and druggist aim largely to correct the ills of the human body, and to overcome defects and diseases; while the farmer has his land and his stock to treat for the same purposes. The former must detect symptoms and know how best to treat them, in order to be a successful practitioner and save his patients. The latter must be equally intelligent in knowing what is the matter with his land and stock, and how to so treat them that they will thrive best. Simply stated, that is all there is in this question of scientific farming, "book farming," or whatever else you may choose to call it.

The man who sneers at the Grange and the Agricultural Experiment Stations simply displays the grossest of ignorance and the more intelligent, he apparently is, the less he is fit for a responsibility to retard the greatest general movement ever inaugurated for the benefit of our whole country. Farmers may well "take a day off" to attend such events as the one held here last week, providing they intend to listen and to learn, and it is emphatically and unquestionably true that all should subscribe for, and read many more good books and periodicals on agricultural topics than they now do. Let the man who habitually "book farming" follow his own inclinations, if he is bent that way, but don't be influenced by him to do likewise.

Negro "Independence."

The movement of the colored voters of Baltimore toward "independence in politics," whether taken in the light of a threat against the republican party, or as a notice that their old debt of gratitude to that party has been paid, or whether it represents a genuine desire to vote for negro, irrespective of party, is a movement which the majority of white republicans in the state will welcome. Ever since the war the republican party has borne the odium of being the "negro party," without receiving an adequate return, for while it has undoubtedly received almost the solid vote of the negro race (when able, and permitted, to vote) it has lost thousands of white votes, which, but for the negro taint, would have been republicans.

The equal division of the negro vote between the two parties would perhaps have a beneficial influence on disfranchising legislation, which in recent years has been carried to such extremes that thousands of whites have been disfranchised along with the negroes. With such a split there would be no "negro party," because the colored voter would no longer exist as a voting machine in the interest of one party; therefore, he would in all probability be left alone to exercise his political rights without interference. Such a condition, however, might be a long time materializing. There is still another feature to the question. Perhaps the colored leaders of Maryland feel that, as a race, they have not been sufficiently "recognized" by the republican party in this state; that because of their faithfulness they have deserved more of the "loaves and fishes" than they have received. If this be true, then the reason why they should declare their independence, and why such declaration and action would be generally beneficial, is all the more apparent. There is no room in any one party in this country for any one race, whether white or colored, whose political fealty is to be purchased with gifts of office. All in all, the "political independence" of negro voters in this state is a consummation devoutly to be wished.

Mr. Bryan's Lectures.

Considerable discussion is going on at this time, in and out of the press, over the financial features of the lectures given by Mr. Bryan. While critics of Mr. Bryan admit that well known statesmen in the past lectured from one end of the country to the other, argues that much of the dignity and effectiveness of his lectures are lost by the fact that Mr. Bryan, after each lecture, comes over with the managers of the box office, the receipts taken in, and when he departs carries off with him the percentage in cash that may be agreed upon.

Opposition to System.

There is a certain element everywhere, which resists system, especially that system which is adopted by business men for self-protection. No matter how clearly, or how emphatically, a business rule is adopted, and no matter how completely that rule is disseminated, there are some who will try to cause the rule to be broken, using tactics which are best described by the inelegant term "bull-headedness".

Had an Awful Time.

But Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy Cured Him. I have had a severe case of cholera, and I got caught out in a hard rain and the cholera set in. My stomach and bowels were all wrong. I had an awful time and had it not been for the Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy I could not have possibly lived but for it. I am now strong and well. I have written the above through simple gratitude and I shall always speak a good word for this remedy.—SAM. H. GWIN, Concord, Va. For sale by R. S. McKinney, Druggist, Taneytown, Md.

The Fight of the Farmer.

In addressing the Michigan Agricultural College students a few days ago the President insisted that the farm should be made more attractive so that the boys would stay there instead of going to the city, and he said that the hired man must be employed all the year round, for he could not be expected to stay in the country if there were work for him only in summer.

Maryland's Home Week.

The Maryland counties must wake up to a recognition of the fact that the Old Home Week of Next October is to be a state affair and not an event that pertains exclusively to Baltimore city. That is to say, every county in Maryland must have an organized effort toward making the home-making festivities a success. Naturally and properly, the preparatory work will centralize in Baltimore, and it is to be expected that a very large percentage of those who journey back to their ancestral homes will include the Maryland metropolis in their itinerary. But thousands of those who will come back to the old state, in response to the invitation that is to be sent to them, will be a pilgrimage to some farm or to one of the many towns and villages in one of another of the twenty-three Maryland counties. There is no delusion about Maryland hospitality. It is not one of those traditional fictions which we have come to believe in from merely repeating the claim to its existence. Maryland people do know how to give a welcome that has no chilling taint to it. Scouring back her own. No matter if a half century or even a hundred years have elapsed since some offshoot of Maryland stock traveled westward or southward to cast lot in a new country, and no matter if the home-comers be descendants to the third or the fourth generations of these early adventurers, we shall give them not simply the proverbial welcome which Maryland extends to the honored guest, but an accentuated welcome such as home-coming sons and daughters have a right to expect. Every county in Maryland should get into the spirit of the home-coming celebration. The success of the contemplated festivity will be vastly heightened if all of the Maryland counties unite with Baltimore in the endeavor to make the affair a great success.

As a result of the inauguration of an Old Home Week in Maryland, there will most likely be formed Maryland societies in many of the states. In Ohio there has been in existence for ten years an association of those who were born in Maryland or of the descendants of Maryland ancestors. There is a Maryland society in New York City, and very likely such organizations exist in other cities or states. There should be an association of men and women of Maryland lineage in every state in the Union. Especially in the newer states of the West and the Northwest is there to be made good Maryland stock. We must reach out with an invitation to come back to this Chesapeake land next October. Before another year has passed there will be Maryland societies scattered all over the United States there ought to be.—American.

"THE OLD WORLD AND ITS WAYS."

Col. William Jennings Bryan announces a new book of travel entitled "The Old World and Its Ways," which recounts his recent tour around the world and his journeys through Europe. It is profusely and elegantly illustrated with 240 artistic engravings representing men and things seen in the various countries of the earth during that noted journey. The engravings are made from photographs taken by him or his party specially for this publication. It is the monumental literary work of his life, and is published under his special supervision. He has, by special contract with his publishers, made the retail price low down with the view of putting it into the easy reach of every reader and book buyer.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning Aug. 4.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL. LESSON V.—Third Quarter, For Aug. 4, 1907.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Ex. 1, 13, 34-38. Memory Verses, 34, 35—Golden Text, Rev. 14, 34—Commentary Prepared by E. D. M. Stearns.

As our topic today is "The Tabernacle," let us recall and keep in mind that God said: "Let them make me a sanctuary that I may dwell among them."

The plan of the building, whether tabernacle, temple, church or the life of Christ, is the same. It is a sanctuary that I may dwell among them.

In chapters xxv to xxx we have full instructions for the building of everything, and in chapters xxxv to xxxix we have those instructions literally obeyed, while today's lesson chapter tells of the completion and setting up of the building and its acceptance by God.

God therefore demands our bodies of God, because all phases of man's life are so closely interwoven that weakness in one part means weakness in all.

Monotony is the result of getting into ruts. In some things ruts are good. Indiscriminate condemnation of them is shortsighted.

Compare chapters xxx, 11-16; xxxviii, 25-28, and see how the whole building, which plans of the Spirit, is put into operation.

paper work for awhile and in 1888 was elected auditor of Colorado, an office which he carried out in the duties of superintendent of insurance. In 1889 he entered the New York Life as inspector of agencies. In 1892 he was transferred to the home office as superintendent of agencies. He was elected third vice president in 1898 and first vice president in 1899.

Mr. Kingsley will receive a salary of $50,000 a year, or more than double the amount he has been drawing as vice president.

FOR THE CHILDREN. I sent My Love a Letter. Let the children stand in a circle, leaving one out who is to send the letter.

Post Card Trick. If you should be told that a postal card may be turned into a magnet, you would be surprised no doubt, and yet it is true.

About Holland. Holland is an abbreviation of Holowland. It is a low, flat country on the North sea and is composed mostly of deposits from the Rhine and other rivers and of sand thrown up by the sea.

The Middle Ages. There are two terms, the meaning of which is not altogether clear to boys and girls or to the average adult reader either, for that matter.

Riddles. How many feet have forty sheep; a shepherd and his dog? Two; the dog has paws, the sheep have hoofs.

The Birds and the Crocodile. Two or three species of birds are known to accompany the crocodile whenever he appears above water.

The Colossus of Rhodes. The Colossus of Rhodes was made of bronze and was 105 feet high. It was twelve years in making and cost 300 Attic talents, or in American money over $500,000.

Turkeys as Mothers. The turkey hen cannot well cover more than twenty-one eggs. If possible, she has a brood hen ready to take the same time that she will have all the young to the water turkey.

Sour Stomach. No appetite, loss of strength, nervousness, headache, constipation, bad breath, general debility, sour risings, and catarrh of the stomach are all due to indigestion.

TANEYTOWN LOCAL COLUMN.

Items of Local News of Special Interest to Home Readers.

All copy for ADVERTISEMENTS on this page must be in hand early on Thursday morning of each week, except Special Notices and short announcements.

Mrs. M. J. Gardner has improved her dwelling by having it painted.

Mrs. M. J. Gardner has returned after a two week's visit to friends in Baltimore and Washington.

Mrs. Katherine Blumenthal is at the Church Home Hospital, Baltimore, where she has undergone an operation.

H. S. Hill has put in a gasoline engine, to furnish power for running his ice-cream manufacturing machinery.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith and family, of Washington, D. C., are visiting their "home folks" in town and district.

Albert Sherman, of York Pa., who has been visiting relatives and friends at this place, returned home Thursday.

Prof. Clinton Spurrer and wife, and Robert R. Fair and wife, of Baltimore, are visiting at Mr. and Mrs. Daniel H. Fair's.

Miss Emma Buffington, and niece, Miss Yeager, of Charlotte, N. C., visited the family of J. Henry Lambert, and other relatives, this week.

D. W. Garner is showing a cute little Empire engine, which runs a cream separator and churn, just right. It looks to be a valuable addition to the Empire family.

The log dwelling, at Otter Dale school house, formerly occupied by Mr. Seward Ridinger, burned down, on Monday night, the cause of the fire being unknown.

Rev. and Mrs. Wm. E. Wheeler, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Miller, and Misses Beulah and Margaret Englar, expect to visit the Jamestown Exposition, next week.

Wm. F. Derr, of Baltimore, formerly of Westminster, spent Sunday here on a visit to Mr. and Mrs. John Stouffer, where Mrs. Derr has been visiting for several weeks.

Rev. C. F. Sanders, of Gettysburg, will preach in the Lutheran church, on Sunday, August 18, in the absence of the pastor. There will be no services on Sunday the 19th.

Remember the date of the Catholic Picnic, Wednesday, August 7, at the usual place, Reindollar's grove, on the Emmitsburg road. Dancing, and all the usual attractions.

Rev. D. J. Wolf has arranged with Rev. J. S. Hartman, who will officiate at funerals or weddings in his congregation, should there be any, during his absence on vacation.

By actual count, 584 vehicles of various sizes came into Taneytown from the farmers' picnic, last Saturday, from 3.40 to 7.40 p. m. Of course, some came before and after these hours.

Miss Effie E. Hess returned, this Friday morning, after a six week's absence, during which time she visited Jamestown Exposition, Washington, D. C., Manchester and other places.

Services in Taneytown's next Presbyterian church at 10 o'clock a. m. next Sunday August 4, and in Piney Creek church at 2 o'clock p. m., preaching by Rev. Paul Heiligman of Springfield, Ill.

Mrs. J. E. Smith and son, Chester, of York, Pa., and Mrs. Eugene Miller and son, William, of Hanover, Pa., have been spending some time with relatives and friends in Taneytown and vicinity.

The roof has been removed from the public school building, and the work of raising it two stories, commenced. The object is to have the building completed for the opening of school in September.

Mrs. George A. Mehring, of Kump, and Mrs. Chas. H. Crebs, of Taneytown, will be brought home from the Frederick hospital, this Saturday, both greatly improved and likely on the road to complete recovery.

J. Frank Vesant, the hustling and popular Commission Merchant of Baltimore, was among those from a distance to attend Harvey E. Weant's funeral, on Wednesday. While here, he paid the RECORD office a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. N. L. Landers, of Hopkinton, Iowa, are here on a visit to the former's sister, Mrs. Margaret Reindollar. Mr. Landers is engaged in mercantile business, and has not been East for about fifteen years.

Mr. A. C. Valentine, of Chadron, Nebraska, paid our office a visit, on Saturday, and paid his subscription until 1910. Evidently he is not afraid that the RECORD will "break," and cheat him out of cash paid in advance.

Dr. R. S. Seiss, of Littlestown, Pa., has purchased the property of J. Wm. Hull, fronting on George St., and will remove to Taneytown next Spring. The Dr. made a sale of his Littlestown home, and concluded to come to Taneytown.

Through the courtesy of Hon. Jos. A. Goulden, we have been enabled to distribute a number of copies of the Agricultural Year Book for 1906, which contains much valuable information and will no doubt be prized by those receiving them.

A fine concrete extension gutter has been put down in front of the Birnie Trust Co., and the RECORD office, this week, which will be a fine improvement, especially in muddy seasons. The work was in charge of Mr. Harry Bell, of Liberty, and seems to be well done.

It is confidently stated, by those who claim to know, that over 100 gallons of ice cream are often sold in Taneytown, on Saturdays, and that the average from June 1 to September 1 is easy 60 gallons a Saturday. The figures seem rather large, but so are the crowds that gather.

A visitor from Baltimore, who was in Taneytown last Sunday night, said to the editor: "This is the darkest town I have ever seen so strongly agitating the light question." Nearly all strangers, especially those from western towns, think it most remarkable that our citizens appear so disinterested in securing light, and wonder why?

Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Frook, of Fairview Ave., were surprised, last Sunday, by a visit from the families of John W. Smith and James A. Koons, of Ladiesburg. After a sumptuous dinner a fine time was enjoyed talking over "old times," singing and social enjoyment, until about the middle of the afternoon when ice cream, cake and watermelon were served in abundance. At 4.30 the visitors left for home, having spent a very enjoyable day.

The Birnie homestead, on the Westminster road, was sold at public sale, on Wednesday, to Dr. A. M. Kalbach, the lumber dealer, for $12,575. The price is considered a good one, but the timber made it valuable, and this will no doubt soon be laid low by the sawmill.

Mrs. Ella Clark, widow of the late Adam Clark, died at her home in this place at an early hour last Sunday morning. She was a daughter of the late Barney Shoemaker, and the third sister to become the wife of Mr. Clark. Mrs. Clark had returned from a Baltimore hospital, several weeks ago, and no children of her own, but the following step-children, Mrs. Wells, of Baltimore, Miss Ida and Charles E. Clark, of this place, and Samuel B. Clark. Interment took place Monday afternoon in the Reformed cemetery. She was in her 57th year.

How to Choose a Husband.

Choosing a husband is really a more important question than deciding on a more important dance, so that the one's mind about one's new summer hat.

Don't choose him because he is the handsomest man you know, and all the other girls are wild about him. Good looks are not, by any means, always the sign of a good heart.

Don't choose him because he dances well. You don't want the rest of your life in the ball room, and there is a prejudice in society against husbands and wives dancing much together.

Don't choose him because he is a good dancer. You don't want to get much benefit out of his step and yours suit each other exactly.

Choose him because he has a good temper and a kind heart. These outlast all the good looks in the world, and are worth a thousand times more.

Choose him because he is good. That will help to make life with him happier than anything else. The man without principles cannot make any woman happy.

Thomas for Chief Judge.

Associate Judge William H. Thomas, of Westminster, assured of the Democratic nomination for Chief Judge of the Fifth Judicial Circuit, which includes Howard, Carroll and Anne Arundel counties. His nomination was made certain on Wednesday, when the County Convention of Anne Arundel indorsed him for the place. Carroll has his home county, having previously taken a similar stand.

With Carroll and Anne Arundel united, Judge Thomas has a majority of the delegates, even though Howard county should decide to oppose him. There is known to be considerable sentiment for Judge Thomas in that county, although its delegates may be somewhat embarrassed in the Convention by the fact that the county has a candidate of its own in Mr. Hammond.

Mr. Thomas was elected Associate Judge of the Fifth Circuit from Carroll County on November 1, 1904, and has therefore, served only six years of his 15-year term. If he is elected to the Court of Appeals, it is probable that the nomination for Associate Judge will go to Howard County; but the election will not be held until the fall of 1908, and in the meantime an Associate Judge appointed by Governor Warfield's successor will be filling the office.

How to Cure Consumption. Don't waste your money on patent medicines or advertised cures for consumption, but go to a doctor or a dispensary. If you go in time you can be cured; if you wait until you are sick that you cannot work any longer, or until you are very weak, it may be too late. It will in the end mean more time out of work and more wages lost than if you had taken care of yourself at the start.

Don't drink whiskey, beer, or other intoxicating drinks; they will do you no good, but will make it harder for you to get well.

Don't sleep in the same bed with anyone else, and, if possible, not in the same room.

Good food, fresh air and rest are the best cures, keep in the sunshine as much as possible, and keep your windows open, winter and summer. Get out in the fresh air, night and day, if good for you.

Go to a hospital where you can be treated as a patient, and get the best treatment—all the rest, all the fresh air and all the food which you need.

The careful and clean consumptive is not dangerous to those with whom he lives and works.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, better than Three Doctors. "Three years ago we had three doctors who they could do seemed in vain. At last when all hope seemed to be gone we got Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and in a few hours he began to feel better. It is as healthy a child as parents could wish for."—Mrs. B. S. McKINNEY, Druggist, Taneytown, Md.

How to Pack a Trunk and Avoid Trouble. In the first place, have the trunk where it can be easily removed by the expressman.

Underwear, shoes and stockings and other things which do not rumple easily should be packed first and articles requiring more care afterward, say the Chicago Record-Herald.

Take each piece of clothing separately, lay it down and fold it neatly and as tightly as possible, avoiding lumps and wrinkles. Begin to pack at the upper left hand corner of the trunk, and remember the order in which you place each separate class of articles.

Lay the sleeves flat and fold silk frocks and others of which you wish to take special care, and lay them in the bottom flat, folded lengthwise and then through the center. Place properly all plates, folds and ornaments and put a newspaper neatly over all.

Before locking the trunk sit down and take a mental survey of the things you have put into it. You may find that something has been forgotten or that you have packed the bottles which are likely to break or that your purse or ticket has been put in.

Wait until the last moment before turning the key and then put the letter at once into the pocketbook you will carry, thus avoiding all possibility of leaving it behind.

How to Treat a Wound. A dirty cut or a suppurating wound must be carefully bathed in carbolic solution (strength one dram to four ounces of water), says the Washington Star. If carbolic acid be kept in the medicine chest, this lotion can be made up at any time with a measure glass. After bathing cut a piece of white lint of size to overlap the cut, soak it in clean carbolic lotion and apply. Cover the lint with gauze percha tissue cut so as to leave a margin of one inch all around the lint, which is just kept moist. No ragged edge of the lint must show, and the margin must be covered with cotton wool and apply a gauze bandage to keep the whole in place. The dressing may be removed in twenty-four hours, and the wound will be found clean. This treatment also removes pain, and the only after-treatment necessary is to cover with a piece of dry clean lint. A little boracic ointment on the lint will prevent it from sticking.

How to Wash Fine Glass and China. When delicate glass, such as Favrill or Bohemian, or frail eggshell china is to be washed, it should receive especially careful treatment. The danger of nicking such delicate ware is very great. To avoid this, use a clean towel and lay it in the bottom of the dish pan, so that it will cover it well, says the New York Telegram.

After this pour in hot and cold water. About three quarts of cold water, a gallon of boiling water will give the proper amount and temperature for this purpose. Add a teaspoonful of ammonia and make a very weak suds with it. The white soap before putting in the glasses or china. Next, the water in soap, especially if cut glass is to be washed. And the sudden change of temperature by adding a dash of hot or cold water after the dishes have been put in the pan should be avoided.

Determine a Martynoom. His Wife—If you are not going to take any vacation this year, why do you spend so much time reading summer resort booklets and circulars? Mr. Meekum—I makes me realize that a self denying I am, my dear, to stay at home in order that you and the girls may go away and have a good time.—Chicago Tribune.

Made Sure It Was Used. An old farmer and his wife, noted for their niggardliness, had a custom of allowing the servant only one match to light the fire with each morning. One morning the match failed to kindle, so the servant went to their bedroom door and asked for another one. A whispered consultation was held between the two, then audibly the wife said: "Will you risk her w' another?" John—"I doo't we'll hae the risk her, Janet." replied John. "I doo't we'll hae the risk her, Janet." said the wife. "I doo't we'll hae the risk her, Janet." said the wife. "I doo't we'll hae the risk her, Janet." said the wife.

FIRST AID FOR DROWNING. How Uncle Sam Would Resuscitate Apparent Victims. Now that the bathing season has commenced the life saving service of the United States has issued directions for resuscitating apparently drowned persons.

After this preliminary treatment person must be taken to the hospital. Place the patient on his back. Keep the tongue out to prevent it slipping back and choking the entrance to the wind-pipe. Grasp the arms below the elbows and draw them up beside the head, so that the hands come as near meeting as possible.

If there are two persons in the work, one gets astride the patient, facing his head. While the first man brings the patient's hands toward his sides, the second man, kneeling behind, pulls the ground, leans over with his whole weight on his hands, the thumbs in the pit of the patient's stomach and the fingers in the groove of the short ribs, get on a great force of body weight, trying to force the contents of the chest out of the mouth. At the end he gives a final thrust as violent as possible.

If no assistance is at hand and one person has to do the work, he should kneel on his back with the shoulders raised on a folded article of clothing. Draw forward the tongue and keep it projecting just beyond the lips. If the lower jaw is lifted, the teeth may be made to touch the tongue in place.

Next lower the arms to the sides and press firmly downward and inward on the lower ribs, drawing toward the patient's head. Repeat these movements twelve to thirteen times every minute. The limbs of the patient should be dried and rubbed firmly toward the body. When respiration returns, the artificial breathing must be continued for some time. The patient should be stripped, wrapped in blankets and put to bed.

How to Cook Appasragus. The oldest method of preparing a bunch for the table is to tie it on its side in a pot of water and boil it, says the New York Press. Most folk cut the binders and allow the stalks to float around in the vessel like dandelion seeds. The stalks should be cut and the tips are as much, while the stalks are too hard for mastication. This is criminal negligence. Worst—it is criminal ignorance. It takes five years to get rid of the habit.

Down on the Farm. The unphilosophical chap from the city had passed his first night in the old farmhouse. "Waal, neighbor," drawled the farmer at breakfast, "how did you sleep last night?" "Sleep?" blurted the city chap in disgust. "Why, man, I was turning and turning all night!" "The old farmer laughed uproariously. "That's all right, neighbor? What I told you that you would sleep like a top."

"Funny, eh? Well, do you know there was so much loose straw in the mattress it kept getting in my ears and nose all night?" "Just so, stranger. When you asked about the bed, didn't I say it would tickle you to death?" "And then the old farmer passed over the left over dip and black coffee.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Exorbitant. "Compared with former years," said the man who did the family marketing, "the price of beef during the past twelve months has been something like that."

"That's what!" agreed the amateur sportsman. "When I was gunning several months ago I shot a cow, and the farmer's charge was frightful."—Catholic Standard and Times.

IT'S ARBUCKLES YOU BET. "The Old World and Its Ways." BY WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN. 25c. The Thompson Publishing Co., St. Louis, Mo.

Notice to Tax-payers! The undersigned, collector of taxes for the year 1907, District No. 1, gives notice that he will be in his office every Saturday afternoon, commencing August 17th, at 10 o'clock in the office every day the last week in August, except Thursday 29th, which day I will be in Harney at Mr. S. Snider's store, from 8 a. m. until 4 p. m., for the convenience of the tax-payers of Harney and vicinity.

All persons wishing to make the rebate are requested to pay their taxes on or before the 31st day of August, 1907. A rebate on state tax of 5 per cent, and on county tax, 2 per cent. If paid in September, a rebate of 4 per cent on state tax. If paid during October, 3 per cent on state, but nothing on county after August 31st.

We still have a few delinquents who owe taxes for 1906. These taxes must be paid, and if not paid by the 1st of September, will be obliged to distrain for the same. We don't want to put any of these taxes on you, but you all know taxes must be paid, so please be prompt and come in and pay your taxes and save all expenses.

T. H. Eckenrode, Collector. 8-15-07

How to Work Buttonholes. When working a buttonhole in a heavy cloth or one that pulls and frays, it saves much trouble to work the hole by basting around it, then stitch close to this on the machine, putting in two rows just the length of the buttonhole to be. Cut with a sharp penknife between these lines and work closely in the ordinary way over the machine, stitching the little buttonhole will keep its shape and remain intact as long as the cloth holds together.
