

NEWS NOTES OF INTEREST.

Brief Items from the County, State, and our Exchanges.

Oklahoma has the distinction of being the first state to enter the Union as a prohibition state.

Judge Crothers, democratic candidate for Governor, who has been seriously ill with fever, is improving, but will not likely be able to take any active part in the State Campaign.

The RECORD has no objection to booming "old home week" in Baltimore, but it does seriously object to the "old home week" of the railroad companies.

If you did not succeed in getting registered at the sitting of the registrars of your district on last Tuesday you will still have another chance at it, by sitting for registration next Tuesday, October 8th.

The two-cent railroad rate law is now in effect in Pennsylvania, strictly within the borders of the state, and this may operate against Baltimore, as persons going to the southern and eastern portion of the state can travel the greater distance to Philadelphia, at about the same cost as the shorter distance to Baltimore.

In Washington county every legislative candidate on the Republican ticket has replied to the questionnaires prepared by committees appointed by the Ministerial Association to the legislative candidates of both parties in Washington county.

Official announcement was made on Thursday that the Union Station at Washington will be used early next month. It has been the idea all along that the Baltimore and Ohio should give up the station, as the engineers are, of course, especially anxious in this order that the space occupied by the Baltimore and Ohio should be filled in as part of the general improvement.

President Roosevelt made a speech in Keokuk, Iowa, on Tuesday, in which he reaffirmed all of his well known opinions with reference to the railroads and financial corporations, and stated that his course would be continued even though the innocent might occasionally suffer.

As a result of the disabling of the motor of his airplane, the machine started off for an ascension at the Jamestown Exposition Tuesday evening, Prof. Eugene Godley, the French aeronaut, had a thrilling race across Hampton Roads and the Lower Virginia Peninsula to Newport News.

Dr. Elias Nelson Gorsuch, who had long been a conspicuous figure, socially and professionally, in the city, died at his home at that place on Thursday morning, aged 62 years.

Enmanuel Fisher, of Waynesboro, Pa., formerly of Linwood, this county, was seriously hurt, on a wagon, which was driven by his nephew, living near Westminster. He was on a wagon loaded with apples to make cider when in some way he fell from the wagon, which was caught in the bed.

The general committee of the temperance forces of Washington county, comprising all the ministers of the county and three laymen from each church, held a meeting Thursday afternoon in Christ Reformed church, and indicated the public Legislative candidates.

Union Bridge Farmers' Club.

(For the Record.)—The club of milk raisers, the home of Miss Sarah Wolfe and sisters, Sept. 21, 1907, at one p. m. Members present, Sarah Wolfe and sisters, Dr. Haines, wife, P. Wood and wife, W. Dickinger, R. Saylor and wife, W. Ebert, wife and son, Willie; H. R. Foss, wife, daughter Edna, and son Paul, W. T. Haines and daughters, Anna and Bessie. Visitors, Mr. and Mrs. Nichols and son, Bobbie; Mr. O. Wolfe and wife, Samuel Enser, wife and children; Miss Eliza Kestray; Mrs. Margaret Hoffman, Frank and Orville Metcal.

After the enjoyment of a fine supper, Pres. Wolfe called the meeting to order. Anna M. Haines was appointed Secretary pro tem. Minutes of last meeting were read and adopted.

Committee on the subject of the "The Boy on a Farm," H. R. Foss having just returned from the milk meeting in Baltimore, gave us a very interesting talk on some of the principal topics, the chief one being "raising the price of milk."

There was no other business, but the appointment of Committee E., W. Fickinger and wife, J. Smith and wife, to report next at the meeting to be held in October as may be most suitable for the club to be entertained.

First of all, decide definitely before going whether you will take a day or night boat. There are points in favor of both, but the one plan cannot be taken without losing the advantages of the other. The day trip, no doubt, appears to the average person as being most desirable, especially when the sight of the beautiful Chesapeake have not heretofore been enjoyed, and because it costs less than the night trip, but this conclusion is not one to be arrived at without full consideration, and this will likely show that after all, so far as cheapness is concerned, it has no advantage over the night trip.

In order to take the day boat visitors from the country must spend the night before in Baltimore, as the boat leaves at 7:30 a. m. on the day of departure, and except Sunday, three days from Pier 13, and three days from Pier 19. The boats arrive at Old Point at 7:00 p. m., and at Norfolk at 7:30 p. m. They do not run to the Exposition direct. The best plan is to stop at Old Point and take the train for Norfolk, and then by going on to Norfolk time is lost in getting to the Exposition grounds, and the stranger will find that getting from Norfolk to the Exposition grounds, by the proper trolley line, is a very objectionable experience.

The Old Point boat will land you at the Exposition pier, or a half mile from shore, or Pine Beach, and one of the Exposition gates. On landing you can either walk to the pier or take the narrow gauge train. At the pier on the Pier is Pine Beach hotel and the Greystone Inn, and just inside the grounds is the Greystone Hotel, and people have stopped at the Greystone, on account of its cheapness and its convenient location to two gates just outside the grounds. The Greystone hotel is much finer in every respect, but the charges, of course, are higher. Our advice is, on arrival at night, to go to the Greystone Hotel, and take the narrow gauge road rather than do anything else, and for a stay of several days we strongly incline to the belief that it will be the best place to stop. At any rate, if a change later on is desired, it can be made.

THE JAMESTOWN EXPOSITION

A Few Points Which May Interest Those Contemplating a Visit.

The very best time in the whole year to visit the Jamestown Exposition is during this month of October, and for the benefit of those of our readers who may intend taking the trip, we give a few hints and facts which may make things clear in the mind which are now not understood, especially by those who are familiar with the location of the grounds, transportation facilities, points of interest, hotels, etc.

First of all, decide definitely before going whether you will take a day or night boat. There are points in favor of both, but the one plan cannot be taken without losing the advantages of the other. AGAINST ELECTION BRIBERY.

Will Carroll County Follow the Lead of Washington County?

Washington County Republicans have followed the example of Carroll County Republicans in asking for a union agreement with the Democrats against the use of money to influence the voters at the polls. As Washington county is strongly republican, it cannot be said that it is a minority party "playing politics" for the sake of a rubber stamp government in Carroll. The fact is, such acts are in response to public demand representing honest sentiment in both parties.

The Illinois Legislature, despite the protest of State Senator J. A. Wheeler, has placed a price upon the head of the sable bird during the recent session, and since a few years has been worth 5 cents.

County treasuries all over the State are being emptied by applicants for the bounty. The wholesale slaughter has become the bane of the birds and they will make a strong fight at the special session of the Legislature to repeal the law. It is admitted that the crow is some of the robbers of newly planted corn, and also of the young of other birds and chickens, but it is also true that during the summer months the crow subsists largely upon berries which produce the destructive white grub.

The Illinois Farmer's Institute is offering evidence to show how these birds prey upon the crops of the farmer. The coming morning will be a very interesting one, especially to the farmers, as the Institute is offering a bounty of $100 for the head of a crow which has been found to have eaten the seed of a farmer's crop.
