

NEWS NOTES OF INTEREST.

Brief items from the County, State, and our Exchanges.

Judge and Mrs. McComas, who have been to Europe on their wedding tour, returned to this country, on Wednesday, and expect to return to their home in Washington, by Monday.

Friendsville, Garrett county, has contracted for a $5000. Acetylene gas plant. The town has granted a fifty year franchise to the company.

Pickpockets have been making good use of "old home week" in Baltimore, by plying their trade on sight-seers. Some of the "slickest" thieves of Chicago, New York and Philadelphia, are believed to have done most of the work.

In Baltimore, both parties are accusing each other of trying to have voters of the other side improperly stricken from the list. Apparently, it is a case of you "do me" I'll "do you." A number of arrests of both Republican and Democratic officials have been made.

The Potomac Synod of the Reformed church met in Washington, this week. The various sessions, which considered numerous important questions, are progressing and becoming more extensive along all lines. The Synod of 1908 will meet in Hagerstown.

It is estimated that $500 of counterfeit money was left in York during fair week. Much of this money was worked off at the fair on the sidewalks and in the street car conductors, who had but little time to examine the quality of the money. The cars were packed with money, sometimes as many as $1000 being carried as high as 135 people.

Governor Warfield is helping his chances for the Senatorship by stumping the state for longer periods. Considering the "cold shoulders" that have been given him, his present course is one which will place the party so greatly in his debt that only the grossest ingratitude can keep him out of the Senate, should his party control the legislature.

Miss Mollie Fox, 60 years old, daughter of Baltzer Fox, near Johnsville, who jumped from a moving train on the Northern Central railroad at Woodboro on Thursday evening of last week, died at midnight at the Frederick Hospital from fracture of the skull. Her sister, Mrs. Margaret Phillips, wife of Alexander S. Phillips, who jumped at the same time, escaped with a few bruises.

There are some kinds of fools who deserve hanging, and one of these is the funny fool who places a pipe in a pipe, thinking for him a great scare. The latest victim of such a fool joke was Justice Milton Scott, of Washington, recently, who was told that a warrant had been issued for the alleged jockey and he is likely to pay dearly for his dirty trick.

The public school building in Middletown, Frederick county, a large two-story, four room brick structure, was gutted by fire shortly before 10 o'clock Monday night. The fire started in some unknown cause in the upper hall or on the roof. The firemen responded promptly and did good work, confining the greater part of the damage to the upper floor and lower hall. The building, however, is ruined.

Fire of unknown origin on Monday evening in the residence and Ohio freight yards at Brunswick destroyed a box car containing, among other things, the traveling tuberculosis expert, Maryland Tuberculosis Association, which was en route to the Hagerstown Fair. Some of the merchandise in the car was saved, but the rest of the car, which was practically a total loss. The car had been side-tracked in the yards and was to have been forwarded to Hagerstown, Monday night.

Wilmer, the partially blind 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Delay, near Gettysburg, was burned to death on Monday. His clothing caught fire while he was playing with matches with which he was playing. In his agony he rushed against a table which threw him underneath a baby carriage in which he was sleeping. The flames from the boy's clothing set fire to the carriage, but the babe was saved by the heroic efforts of his mother. The child's right leg, however, was saved with little damage being done.

A heavy freight train, drawn by three engines, was derailed at the crossing of another freight train of about 15 cars standing on the main track of the Western Maryland railroad at Bissell, 20 miles east of Hagerstown. Engineer Newton Shoemaker, of Hagerstown, jumped, but was injured. Four cars took fire and were burned. Both trains were eastbound. The first train stopped at Bissell to do some switching. While the engine was on the siding the second train came along and struck the cars, which were standing on the main track.

A report issued by the Safe Roads Automobile Association shows that between the dates of January 1, 1907, and the date of this year 41 persons were killed and 213 injured as the result of automobile accidents in the State of Massachusetts. In this State, 21 collisions, an average of 21 daily, and comprised only collisions with wagons, automobiles, street cars and vehicles. Further, the report states that in the same time 345 other serious collisions were reported by the newspaper and that many horses and cattle were killed or injured.

Dr. Jackson Piper, one of the best known physicians of Baltimore county and a man who ranked high in professional skill, died at his home on Alleghany avenue, Towson, at 1.35 o'clock Friday morning, after an illness extending for many days. He was 67 years of age. He was buried in the cemetery shortly after his removal to Towson from his residence in Baltimore, where his family spent the winter season. He is survived by his widow, who, previous to her marriage, was Miss Inogene Shoemaker, whose ancestors came from Holland. A son and daughter, Mr. James Piper and Mrs. Adelaide Piper, also survive. Dr. Piper was born in Baltimore, November 9, 1828.

A Post Card Campaign.

The post-card fund, which has many excellent recommendations and is likely to last indefinitely, has been carried into the present campaign and voters are likely to receive many cards containing photos of candidates who believe in advertising, especially when their face will stand as a recommendation. Some do not use the post-card, but other cards for handing around, the object being the same.

While this is a unique feature, it is a good one. Any solicitation, or reminder, which is attractive enough to be taken home, or carried in the pocket, accompanies more than a visit and a verbal request; besides, it looks like "business" and a real desire to win. On the whole, we regard the card photograph idea an excellent one, and one likely to take with voters.

CANDIDATES FROM TANEYTOWN DISTRICT

A Brief Sketch of our Citizens who are now Asking for Support from the Public.

We give, below, the photograph, as well as a brief sketch, of the candidates for office who are now asking for support from the public service, and each qualified, if elected, to conduct such affairs as may come within their jurisdiction. It is also proper to say that each of them is in favor of a "square deal," no bribery and a fair fight.

E. E. Reindollar, Republican Candidate for State Senator.

Edward E. Reindollar is one of the best known citizens and business men in Carroll County, as well as one of the most successful. He is the only son of the late David Reindollar, who was born in 1853, and has been actively identified with many business interests ever since his school days.

He gives, below, the photograph, as well as a brief sketch, of the candidates for office who are now asking for support from the public service, and each qualified, if elected, to conduct such affairs as may come within their jurisdiction. It is also proper to say that each of them is in favor of a "square deal," no bribery and a fair fight.

He owns and operates several large farms, and is directly or indirectly interested in various other business matters. He is a member of the Lutheran church, and for many years has been its choir director and closely identified with church and society work. He has served in many positions of honor and trust, but has never held an elective political office, having been defeated four years ago as a candidate for the House of Delegates by a small majority. He is a graduate of Pennsylvania College, Gettysburg, and his business and intellectual training has been such that if elected he will serve the people of the state with fidelity and intelligence.

J. Sylvester Fink, Democratic Candidate for County Commissioner.

Mr. J. Sylvester Fink, Democratic Candidate for County Commissioner, is a resident of Taneytown, a blacksmith by trade, and at present a member of the Board of Town Commissioners. He is a son of William Fink, a member of St. George's Catholic church, and well known throughout this section of the county. He has never held any elective office, but for several years was Register of Voters for Taneytown district and has always taken intelligent interest in the affairs of his town, district and county.

In his personal and trade associations he has always stood well in the community, has a wide circle of acquaintances and well-wishers, and is recognized as a man of integrity and honor, and one who will do his best with any trust committed to his care. He is the father of a family of five people, unassuming, and not ambitious to stand for more than he is a good citizen, intelligent, honest and of tried trustworthiness. He would serve the people if elected to the position for which he is nominated.

Taneytown district has been represented almost continuously during the past thirty years on the Board of County Commissioners, by Messrs. James N. O. Smith, Frederick, Md., Oct. 15.—George R. Dennis, chairman of the Republican County Committee, who has just issued a letter on Saturday to Chairman Conley, of the Democratic committee, suggesting that the party should elect a new day and appoint three members from each side to draw up and sign an agreement to bribery and the use of force in the election, and to call for a committee meeting on Saturday to discuss the matter. Mr. Conley's letter shows that the Democrats are very much in earnest and that he desires to have the agreement drawn up by the party.

J. N. O. Smith, Republican Candidate for Judge of Orphans' Court.

There is no better known man in the northern half of Carroll County than James N. O. Smith. As an auctioneer and band leader he has been heard on every square mile of ground north of the Western Maryland railroad, and in many sections elsewhere in the county, wherever a popular and successful band leader is in demand. He has lived most of his life in Taneytown district, is a close observer and has acquired a general knowledge of affairs far above the average.

Mr. Smith is the owner of a very easy and desirable small farm, just outside of Taneytown, on the Westminster road, where he is usually to be found when not professionally engaged. In his church connection he is United Brethren, being a trustee of the Taneytown church. He is a director of the Taneytown Mutual Fire Insurance Company, also leader of the Taneytown Band for the past twenty years. In fact, everybody knows "Jim Smith." As a careful and successful business man in his own interests, he can safely be trusted to properly care for the interests which would come before him, should he be elected to the office for which he has been nominated.

WORMAN—CRONISE. BE HONEST IN VOTING.

In all political contests, such as the present one in Maryland, the temptation is strong, and is generally submitted to, to magnify one's own party and leaders, and to minimize the opposite side. This is an extreme example, but there are others which may be applied to the Democratic party, as well as to the Republican party. The people see and know them, and in recent years have been applying the proper remedy—turning boss-ridden, self-interest, parties out of power, at least long enough to properly chastise them and bring them back to the point of representing honest majority sentiment. It is a fact that one is often the best lover of his party who goes against it, at times.

Those who take pride in singing the praises of Republicanism have only to look over into Pennsylvania—the State Capitol seat—to bring a blush to their cheeks. This is an extreme example, but there are others which may be applied to the Democratic party, as well as to the Republican party. MARRIED.

MYERS—SPANGLER.—On Oct. 3rd, 1907, by Rev. W. G. Minnick, at Mt. Joy Parsonage, Mr. Vernon Elder Myers, of near Silver Run to Miss Annie Catherine Spangler, of Adams county, Pa.

SMITH—MARTIN.—On Tuesday evening, Oct. 15th, 1907, at the Lutheran Parsonage, by Rev. Wm. E. Wheeler, Mr. Leroy A. Smith and Miss Mary H. Martin, both of Taneytown.

CHURCH NOTICES.

St. Paul's Lutheran church, Hagerstown. Services next Sunday, 20th, at 10 o'clock. W. G. MINNICK, Pastor.

Anti-Bribery in Carroll County.

We have been reliably informed that a distributed speech had been given, which is awaiting final adoption by both county committees, the prime feature of which is carrying on present laws against bribery, the securing of evidence against violators, and the pledging of candidates and committeemen to furnish the State's Attorney with all evidence coming to their notice, for the purpose of making prosecutions.

This is all very well, as far as it goes. It is a very laudable aim, and one that is better than no agreement at all, but it does not go far enough to be entirely satisfactory. It is not enough to secure absolute honesty. In addition to carrying out the laws there should be a definite, binding agreement not to spend money for illegitimate purposes, and no candidate, committeeman and candidates should agree, on their honor, and over their names, not to spend money, either directly or indirectly, for the purpose of influencing voters, whether or not means may be found of doing so, not more specifically covered by law.

All money spent in a campaign should be spent by and through the county committees, and a strict sworn account should be rendered at the close of the campaign, and such expenses be limited to a very few purposes.

The Senatorial primary election should be taken very decided account of. Any agreement which leaves that out, would be practically worthless. In this election the laws which apply to regular elections could not be construed to cover bribery, or the improper use of money to secure votes, or the use of money to influence voters, which is to be held on the same day, and at the same place as the regular election. There could be no longer a "split ticket" later, and while there is a certain paid-for thing at the regular election, without it being possible to secure evidence, or to get into the minds of voters, or candidates for a violation of the agreement not to bribe voters under the laws applying to regular elections.

C. E. Rally at New Windsor.

A District C. E. Rally will be held in the new Methodist church, New Windsor, during the afternoon and evening of Oct. 22. The following program will be rendered. Dr. James E. Shreve, Jr., President of the Carroll Co. Union Presbytery.

Afternoon Session, 2 p. m. Prayer and Praise Service. Rev. J. E. Garner, Minister of Music. Miss Carrie F. Gardner, Soloist. Rev. L. E. Bennett, Confession. How can we increase the efficiency of our Societies? Mrs. S. Cover, Prayer. Mrs. E. H. Brey, Soloist. Miss M. E. Offering. Recitation. Solo. Offering. Reading of the Privileges of the Sabbath. Rev. D. L. Greenfield, Evening Session. 7.30. Executive and Praise Service. 7.45. Devotional Service. Dr. Jas. Fraser, Minister of Music. Rev. Richard A. Harris, Address.

Anti-Bribery Agreement in Frederick.

Frederick, Md., Oct. 15.—George R. Dennis, chairman of the Republican County Committee, who has just issued a letter on Saturday to Chairman Conley, of the Democratic committee, suggesting that the party should elect a new day and appoint three members from each side to draw up and sign an agreement to bribery and the use of force in the election, and to call for a committee meeting on Saturday to discuss the matter. Mr. Conley's letter shows that the Democrats are very much in earnest and that he desires to have the agreement drawn up by the party.

The adoption, by Baltimore, of a country idea, "old home week," was a subject which has been discussed for some time in surprising numbers, the greater portion of the crowds being drawn together by excursion rates, from Baltimore, and many very large and fine, and the illumination and decorations attractive.

Old Home Week in Baltimore.

The military parade, on Tuesday, was probably the best of the week, but not the largest; about 3500 men were in line, and at night the sham bombardment of Fort Mifflin was a striking pyrotechnic display.

The fraternal orders parade, on Wednesday, was one of the largest pageants ever witnessed in the city. It consisted of about 15,000 persons, male and female. There were about 60 floats and 35 bands and drum corps in line. At night, a grand display of fireworks was seen from the city, and on the streets a number of carnival scenes were in evidence.

Automobiles Whiz Through Emmitsburg.

The Emmitsburg Chronicle comments, as follows, on fast automobile travel through its town, and in doing so makes use of some unanswerable logic: "Sunday afternoon automobiles whiz through town at an average speed of 20 miles an hour, and the owners of the machines may determine upon a nothing is done by the authorities to carry out the provisions of the ordinance referring to motor cars, etc. A very natural question is, how are the owners or operators of such machines to know what the speed is if there are no signs calling their attention to the matter? And after all what can be done to enforce the ordinance if it is not to be enforced?"

Publicity For Candidates.

The RECORD, this week, is giving space in its news columns to the three candidates from Taneytown district, without charge, feeling that the contention is proper, for local reasons. All others, whether party or non-party, who may desire the same publicity, will be accommodated on our fourth page, at regular advertising rates, the only restriction being that we will not publish, even for pay, anything which reflects on either the character or ability of candidates. All candidates must furnish their own cuts.

POWDER MILLS BLOWN UP.

Wreck and Ruin Where Formerly Stood A Busy Thriving Town.

Fontanet, Ind., Oct. 15.—Probably 400 persons died, almost as many fatally burned or hurt, 600 others more or less seriously injured and a prosperous town leveled to the earth—such was the harvest of a series of terrifying explosions at the Dupont Blasting Powder Mills, near Fontanet this morning.

The explosion which followed one another with ghastly effect, came fire, and what the one horror left undone the other completed. Thus many lives were lost, and many more were dragged from the ruins and revived were victims of the flames. How many bodies have been exploded is not known, but the shock and detonation were so intense that the ground in places was cracked and buildings rocked as if fired by a seismic wave. Cities, towns and farming communities, some as much as 200 miles away, were shocked and alarmed. Through the surrounding country, in farmhouses and country schools, where women and children sat, buildings were cracked and persons in the open walking in the road far from the powder plant were hurled off their feet by the passing blast. Persons in the Big Four railroad, nearly five miles from the magazine, was all but thrown off the rails. Every window in the several houses was broken and the windows of passengers were cut by flying glass.

At Crawfordville, 35 miles away, a brick wall was cracked by the shock and falling masonry struck a school house, so strongly felt in Greenecastle, 20 miles away, that a general alarm resulted and people in the neighborhood were ordered to take shelter in basements.

The explosion at one time or another during the 30-odd years Mr. Talbot has been running for Congress. Consequently, he has had a pretty close touch with the organization in this section. Only a positive stand in opposition to him on the part of the local Democratic leaders could have prevented the explosion. Some of these ward organizations may, however, be switched away from Congressman Talbot for Ex-Gov. John Walter Smith, and in that event the vote would probably be so well divided that Governor Warfield would prove to be an easy winner in the district.—Balt. News.

Gov. Warfield Organizing his Forces.

Governor Warfield is organizing for a Senatorial fight, in many of the wards he has enlisted the support of Democrats who are willing to take the time to organize each precinct and make an active bid in the campaign in his behalf. Quite a number of his Democratic friends have been apprehensive about the Governor's course as Governor has indicated that in many of the wards he would take the campaign proceed without taking any steps to get his supporters to act in some concerted way in the campaign. It is now the Governor's duty to add the Democratic friends of his from the minds of many.

Mr. Warfield's course as Governor has served from him the sympathy of many of the ultra-organization Democrats. As a result of this condition, it is necessary for him to gather about him practical workers who are versed in the means necessary in enlisting the support of those who are in accord with the Governor's political policies. While only three weeks intervene until election day, the work can, it is said, be done.

First Philippine Assembly.

Secretary Taft formally opened the first Philippine Assembly, Manila, on Wednesday afternoon, in the presence of a large crowd of people. The Philippine Assembly delegates to which were elected on the 30th of July, take over all the legislative power heretofore exercised by the Philippine Commission. It consists of two houses, the upper being composed of the members of the Philippine Commission as named by President Roosevelt, and the lower comprising the additional members of the Assembly.

Authority for the order was contained in an act of Congress approved July 1, 1906, which provided that whenever the President was satisfied that peace had been established he should direct that a census of the population be taken. Two years after the completion of this census, peace still prevailing, the President, it was provided, should issue the election order, applying to all the islands not included by the Moro or other non-Christian tribes.

Orphans' Court Proceedings.

MONDAY, Oct. 14th, 1907.—Letters of administration on the estate of Jesse C. Townsend, deceased, granted unto Lydia E. Grumbine. Letters of administration on the estate of Mary E. Baker, deceased, granted unto Thomas A. Barnes, who received $2000.00 to appraise, also order to notify creditors.

Letters of administration on the estate of Lydia M. Hawn, deceased, granted unto Henry Garret, who received $1000.00 to appraise, also order to notify creditors. Letters of administration on the estate of Silas N. Gorsuch, deceased, returned inventories of personal property, money and debts, and received order to sell personal property. Letters of administration on the estate of Benjamin F. Gorsuch, deceased, returned inventories of personal property, money and debts, and received order to sell personal property.

Funny Baltimore Artists.

Some of the pictures in the Baltimore papers, this week, will not strike farmers as being funny—especially up-to-date farmers. Among those pictured as coming back to Baltimore, after many years, are long-whiskered country yanks, and, according to the city artists, and of their strained and generally flabber-gasted at the greatness of the city, etc., very much as are Baltimoreans who visit New York and Chicago.

Buffington—Portner.

Mr. Howard O. Buffington, of Baltimore, son of Mr. Jacob Buffington, formerly of Carroll county, and Miss Mary C. Portner, were quietly married at the Rectory of St. Mark's Lutheran church, Baltimore, on Wednesday morning. After a trip to Niagara Falls, Toronto, and other places of interest, Mr. and Mrs. Buffington will reside at 3013 Walbrook avenue.

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE

Latest Items of News Furnished by Regular Contributors.

All communications for the RECORD must be signed by the writer's own name; not necessarily for publication, but as an evidence that the matters are facts transmitted as legitimate and correct. Items of a miscellaneous character will be accepted for publication. The RECORD office is connected with the C. & P. office, at the corner of the main street, between 7.30 a. m. to 6.30 p. m. and the office is usually open upon the above hours, except on Sundays, which are also connected with the Maryland phone.

Almost every week we have requests from individuals to keep items referring to them, out of the RECORD, which explains why many items do not appear. Very few correspondents have their personal movements reported, while many, of course, like all the publicity they can get, and between the two the editor and correspondent have rather a hard time trying to please all. As a rule, we think it best for correspondents to omit ordinary neighborhood visits, as well as all items which are so interesting to but a very few people.—EDITOR.

Detour.—The lovefest at Rocky Ridge was well attended, though the communicants were not as large in number as usual. Elders present, E. W. Stoner, W. Philip Engler, C. H. Keltner, of Union Bridge; Rev. Geo. W. Pillsbury, Pa., and Jesse Kline, Beaver Dam. Miss Elizabeth Saylor, of Waynesboro, Pa., and Miss Susie Barnhart, of Hagerstown, were here spending a week with friends.

Mrs. Emma Ott, of near Rocky Ridge, died on 10th, aged 62 years, leaving a husband and three sons. Also three sisters and one brother, Joseph, of Rocky Ridge. Mrs. Rebecca Rinehart, of Union Bridge, and Mrs. Clara Mullendore, of Gapland, called on friends in Detour, on the Rocky Ridge meeting, on Wednesday evening. Harry Boyer's farmer, Frank Shank, rode his horse, Wednesday evening, to Detour, and hitched at the store, and when he wanted to get home, his horse had gotten loose. He supposed the horse had gone home, but he was not there this morning, but he was lying along the side of the road, with a broken neck, a team of four, a young and valuable animal.

Raymond Miller and bride spent Thursday evening with family of Edward Essig, and were tendered a calathump sereenade by the young men and boys of the town. Miss Mary Myers, a daughter of the late David Myers, fuller, of Hunting Creek, died on Monday last, and was buried at the cemetery, by her pastor, Rev. Mr. Brady, of Thurmont Reformed church, officiating. Her age was 88 years, and she leaves one brother George, and one sister, Mrs. Simon Saylor.

Linwood.—Joseph Engler has taken his cook stove and cook (Sadie Toyer) to the mountains for a few weeks. We suppose to roast the chestnuts that are yet to find, as we hear that is his mission. We hope he will not forget his Linwood friends, as we are fond of his visits.

Misses Lotta Engler and Adelaide Messers, and Miss Hagan, and daughters, have gone to Baltimore to enjoy Home-coming Week. Mrs. Albert Gilbert still continues in a critical condition. Her father and sister, her pastor, Rev. Mr. Brady, of Thurmont Reformed church, officiating. Her age was 88 years, and she leaves one brother George, and one sister, Mrs. Simon Saylor.

New Windsor.—Ephraim Repp, of Washington, D. C., was here on a visit for some time, returned home on Thursday. Dr. Sterling Geatty and wife, returned from their trip to St. Louis, Mo., on Tuesday evening.

Quite a number of persons from here and vicinity visited Baltimore, this week. One of a great many went to the Hagerstown Fair. Samuel Root and wife, of Waynesboro, Pa., is visiting his mother, Mrs. Joel Root. Holy Communion will be celebrated in the Presbyterian church, on November 10th, at the Lutheran Preparatory school, at 10 o'clock.

The Small Farm Movement.

How great a revolution has been worked by irrigation in the West is shown in an investigation, just completed, covering San Joaquin County, California, and applying to the whole Central Valley. In 1900 this county had 1,868 farms, averaging 40 acres to a farm. To-day the average has dropped to 28 acres, but that does not tell the statistical whole story. For against 28 acres of less than 20 acres in 1900, there are now 302 of this size and 689 farms of less than twenty acres.

Here in a locality where a few years ago farming was on a vast scale there are now 127 profitable farms of less than three acres each, and 262 of less than ten acres. This change, due principally to irrigation and the subdivision of farming lands into small tracts, has brought about an era of intensified and diversified agriculture, resulting in much higher land values, more valuable products and amounting to an insurance against general crop failures. The small farmer pursues more scientific methods of culture and gets so much greater profit per acre from his holdings than the old-time farmer. This change to small holdings also has the important results of making settlers, for each needs little capital.

Maryland Lutheran Synod.

The eighty-sixth annual session of the Lutheran Synod of Maryland met in Emmitsburg, Md., on Tuesday, and will continue in session until next Tuesday. Synod was opened with a prayer service, at which the principal speaker, C. S. Albert, of Philadelphia, preached the sermon, followed by an address of welcome by Rev. Charles Reinwald, the local pastor, as well as the Rev. J. S. Albert, of Philadelphia, who presided over the session, followed by an address of welcome by Rev. Charles Reinwald, the local pastor, as well as the Rev. J. S. Albert, of Philadelphia, who presided over the session, followed by an address of welcome by Rev. Charles Reinwald, the local pastor, as well as the Rev. J. S. Albert, of Philadelphia, who presided over the session.

Hagan Shot at Hagerstown Fair.

Hagerstown, Md., October 17.—While walking in a crowd in the fair ground near the main entrance this afternoon Mrs. Harvey Stover, wife of a well-known citizen of the county, was shot in the back and probably fatally injured. She was hurried to the hospital, where tonight attending physician stated her condition was critical. Mrs. Stover was accompanied by her husband and young son when she was shot. The bullet entered the left breast where a wild west show was being given by "Nebaska Bill." Mrs. Stover is a native of Hagerstown, and her husband supported her until several years ago. She was 40 years of age. Dr. O. H. W. Ragan and Dr. W. M. Nilsen, who attended her, were unable to locate the bullet. Six male members of the "Nebaska Bill" troupe and Mrs. William McDonold, wife of "Nebaska Bill," were arrested and lodged in jail pending the outcome of Mrs. Stover's injuries. "Nebaska Bill," who had been arrested a short time before, is now in jail. While members of the company decline to make a statement, they are confident that the bullet came from the tent, where shooting at a mark was in progress at the time, the only background being a line of trees. The bullet passed through, it being on a direct line from where the marksmen stood to where Mrs. Stover was standing when she was shot.

Free Railroad Advertising.

The country press, after all, is "easy" in the matter of giving free advertising to railroads. It permits itself to be "used," under the partly mistaken notion that it must publish railroad information for the benefit of its readers—as news to the public—and this is, in a measure, true; but when the railroad bank on this way, and because of it withhold paying for publicity, we consider it proper and advisable for all country papers to reduce such "news" to the lowest possible minimum.

There should be no newspaper antagonism to railroads because of the abolition of the Editorial pass—which never was a free pass—for in reality that action is a proper one and should be commended, rather than objected to. The payment of full first-class fare removes traveling editors from the snare, if not the insult, of over smart conductors who have not, in the past, refrained from applying the term "dead-head" to pass holders; and there is no reason now why newspaper men should not let the railroads know that they are indeed independent entirely of any obligation to boom the railroad business, free of charge.

The "Old Home Week" celebration in Baltimore, this week, was liberally advertised, free, by many of our exchanges, under the mistaken notion that the affair was in some sort of way a patriotic event, and as such was entitled to the assistance of the press of the state. As a matter of fact, it was admittedly, in Baltimore, a scheme for drawing thousands of people and tens of thousands of dollars there, and in this general scheme the railroads profited immensely. What did the country papers get out of it?

The Baltimore papers, of course, boomed the event, from perfectly natural business reasons. Any scheme for bringing vast crowds of people and vast sums of money, to the city, would of course both directly and indirectly profit the city papers; but these same papers are not in the habit of being so kind, in general. Besides, the city papers have not any revenue from the railroads, because railroad time tables and special notices appear there, in usual, and are well paid for, while on the other hand the country press has as noticeably been "burned down," apparently as of no value.

A Hazy Policy.

It is difficult to imagine that the same man writes all of the political editorials for the Baltimore News, or that they are all marked O. K. by one Editor-in-chief, unless that individual is playing so close to a fine-edge policy that it is impossible for him to prevent keeping himself all on the same side at all times. One thing is sure; the present policy of the News has kept it very busy framing elaborate excuses and explanations to the public, ever since the campaign opened, and this in itself is evidence that its conclusions are hard to follow, and therefore weakened, so far as public adoption is concerned.

Taking it for granted that in supporting Mr. Gaither the News is not exhibiting piety because its advice to the democratic leaders to nominate Mr. Baker was not accepted, nor even considered seriously, and that its support is genuinely honest, it is inconceivable to the average mind how a great paper can support an individual candidate on strictly moral or other high-toned grounds, and at the same time practically repudiate everything that this individual stands for in the campaign.

continuance of bi-partisan election boards, and the full control of the window and the count by democratic partisans, the placing of Mr. Gaither in Gov. Warfield's chair would nip any such scheme in the bud.

There is little doubt that the last legislature would have done this very thing, but Gov. Warfield was in the road—he would not lend himself to any such scheme. It is also a fairly clear proposition that such a condition must be brought about, in order to make the election law work as was originally intended, for in practical results as an aid to its author it is an admitted failure, and there is little use for the party to continue it unless it can absolutely control the window and count, and make the law work from the inside to subvert the wishes, all of which justifies the position of the News in standing for Mr. Gaither.

But, the election law is not good enough as it is, because it deals out injustice to too many thousands of honest white voters. Merely taking a stand to prevent further dishonesty, while letting present dishonesty stand, is only a half-honest conclusion, and this is the position of the News, as it looks to us. It is willing to have Mr. Gaither elected as a wedge to prevent future evils, but it is not willing to have the power to eradicate existing evils, and such a limited indorsement represents a desire to use rather than trust, the man indorsed.

The News has said that the election of a democratic legislature is to be desired, for the reason that it will elect two U. S. Senators who ought to be democrats, and that on the whole a democratic legislature is more likely to be representative of the better elements of the whole people than a republican legislature—or words to that effect. At least, it is not the election of a republican legislature, not a democratic legislature. At the same time, however, it says that the election of Mr. Gaither "will mean, among other things, that our election laws will not be further trifled with, but that on the contrary some of the evils that have been brought about in them will be remedied."

What evils, and how remedied? How can a republican governor, with a Democratic legislature, remedy anything now fixed by law. Mr. Gaither says the particular issue is "to enact a law which will do away with all election abuses, which will restore to all the people of this state the right to vote, and to have that vote counted as cast." He further says that he does not want his success separated from the power to carry out this reform. Still, the News says, in effect, "elect Mr. Gaither but not his reforms." Its effort is about as impossible as riding two horses going in opposite directions.

Temperance Extension.

The enactment of a strong prohibition law by the legislature of Georgia has made a profound impression on the country. In other states the local option idea is popular, but Georgia has come to the front by a law that will go far to drive the saloon out of business. It is backed by a public sentiment that will make it effective. In this there is general rejoicing.

High Prices—The Other Side.

There are many indications which point to the possibility of there being much destitution among the poor, especially in the large cities, this coming winter. The advance all along the line in the cost of food—and especially in meats—with the increased cost of practically everything which enters into comfortable existence, is sure to mean that many will suffer. With those able to work and earn money, the question is not serious, for wages have partially advanced along with increased cost of living; but, there are always those unable to work, and many who are improvident, and these will require help.

To add to the general upward tendency of provisions we must face the fact of short crops in many directions, especially in what is classed as "canned goods," and the dried fruits. Milk, also, will be higher than now, including recent advances, and consequently, butter, while some items have been advanced because of the "pure food" laws.

The "Beef trust" is blamed for the startling advance in all meats, but it is likely true that the greater portion of the advance is due to perfectly legitimate causes. Be that as it may, the condition exists—higher prices. Fuel, also, will be higher, following the general tendency, while flour and bread are apparently getting ready to soar.

Gov. Hughes, at Gettysburg.

The following is the address recently delivered by Gov. Hughes, of New York, before the Gettysburg College students, which has been so much commended for its sparkling sentences and splendid aid to young men:

"Boys, I am very glad indeed to have an opportunity to say a few words to you. I have been in school for the last few days; I have had the rare opportunity of attending a school of patriotism. I have had a chance to see something of the battle of Gettysburg from the men who played so important a part in it, from General Meade, General Webb, and others. But, boys, here on this heroic field you have opportunities every day which I have now had for the first time in my life. I tell you boys, history is nothing except as those who grow up to take the part of the old actors on the stage, have the manly courage and the will to continue the work so nobly begun by them.

Prophets of Optimism.

What with unstable stock markets and professional attempts to create a panicky feeling in Commercial and industrial circles generally, utterances of optimism are not only welcomed, but necessary lest the people through their own fear bring about that which they dread most. In the current issue of their weekly financial circular, Hambleton & Co., of Baltimore, give thoughtful attention to the situation and conclude that the outlook warrants a feeling of cheerfulness. Politically, the circular maintains that there is nothing to fear in the policy of President Roosevelt. While not in sympathy with many of his policies, yet Hambleton & Co. believe that there will be harmony between Congress and President and fair consideration will be given to the business interests of the country.

burdens of life are right on top of you, you have not allowed that day of thoughtlessness and carelessness to rob you of your vitality and energy. You are unequal to the opportunity which every American young man expects to have. It is a splendid thing for any young man to have a good time, to enjoy the pleasures of good fellowship, to know what friendship and comradeship of youth means. It is a splendid thing to have all the fun and frolic of college life, and yet at the same time if a young man, in later life, finds all his strength and energy spent, there is something the matter with him.

We have learned that, on this battlefield, in a few moments the decisive steps were taken. A man cannot in a few moments change the results of a wrong life. No man can expect to go through carelessly, and without any reference to the results, and then in a great emergency expect to play the part he ought to play. What a man does in a critical emergency, when he is put to the severest test, is an almost certain index to his previous life. It is a splendid thing to know that is worth while physically and mentally, to get all the capital of information one can, so that a fellow has something to work on.

It is not a simple thing, this, that a man should start right. It is not simply that a man should furnish himself as well as he can, to become just as keen and just as well equipped as he can, and then to see how many men he can do. That sort of thing will make a man popular in some quarters for a short while—he will have been better than his fellows of the delightful experiences he has had, and all that, but as time goes on the men that have ideal have to keep to themselves; they are not inclined to laugh. Whereas the fellow who is willing to keep his manhood right, and has a notion that his object in life is to enrich others and to make the best of himself, with the desire to give of his best to the service of the community in which he lives—that is the lesson we have to learn from Gettysburg.

It is not all there. We must not think of it as a closed book. That battle was fought for its own sake. It is not that we might have a country where every man should have a fair show. And none of the many changes that have taken place could have helped us, had it meant for our fathers to go out in order that we might have equal opportunities. That is what it means, that we have the results of such living, so necessary to our development. These results can scarcely be estimated. At all events we need to forget past and to live in the present. We can never realize the Nation's ideals—we can never enjoy the fruits of the pure democratic spirit—unless we, the individual members of the community count service to state and honorable conduct of greater value than the amassing of riches, or the obtaining of a title, or distinction; and the man who will cheat the public, or play the hypocrite in legislature or any administrative position, ought to be run out into the public house of punishment."

Anti-Bribery Agreements.

The Sun took occasion Monday morning to urge the Democratic committee of Washington County to meet the proposition of the Republican committee for an anti-bribery compact in a spirit of complete frankness. It is bad policy for any party to hold back in this movement against corruption. There is an aroused public sentiment which must be respected, and the parties that disregard it or run counter to it will surely suffer. Any delay in this matter is a tendency to quibble or hold back, on the part of the Republican committee in Harford County. The Democrats have expressed their willingness to do the strongest and most binding compact. If the Republicans should now hold back, they will lay themselves open to a charge of insincerity, and an intention merely to bluff—to put the Democrats "in a hole."

ton crop has proved satisfactory, as have those of other products, such as hay, vegetables, fruit, etc., combining to make the aggregate yield greater than in any previous season. Speaking of the financial situation, Hambleton & Co. blame the currency system of the country for much of the prevailing money stringency, and urge the necessity of the enactment of some legislation for relief from the present unsatisfactory system.

The commercial and industrial outlook is discussed with the greatest optimism. They point to the fact the gross earnings of railroads are increasing, and predict a decrease in operating expenses during the coming year. While some temporary economies are necessary in the business world owing to money stringency and shrinkage in values, yet the outlook warrants cheerfulness on the part of all concerned. There is no room for the prophets of disaster, and it is but another voice added to those who believe there will be no letup in the prosperity of the country when the circular concludes:

Out of the great sacrifices—financial, commercial and industrial—which have been and are being made, only good can come. The causes which produced a period of recession and depression—overtrading, overspeculating and extravagance, aggravated by aggressive foreign and state attacks upon corporations—are now being met by a period of liquidation and retrenchment, and sooner or later we shall receive the full benefit of the remedy which is now being applied.—American.

Thomas A. Edison, the great American inventor, says "Fully eighty per cent of the illness of mankind comes from eating improper food or to much food; people are inclined to over-indulge themselves. This is where indigestion finds its beginning in nearly every case. The stomach does not just swallow food, it digests it, and when you overload it, or when you eat the wrong kind of food, the digestive organs cannot possibly do the work demanded of them. It is a common thing that the stomach needs help; it demands help and warns you by headaches, belching, sour stomach, nausea and indigestion. It is a common thing that the stomach needs help; it demands help and warns you by headaches, belching, sour stomach, nausea and indigestion. It is a combination of natural digestants and vegetable acids in a compact form. It is pleasant to take. It digests what you eat. Sold by J. McKellip, Druggist, Taneytown, Md.

The Cigarette.

Elbert Hubbard is not the best authority in the world on all subjects, but he is unquestionably correct in pronouncing against the use of cigarettes, especially by the young. In a late number of the Philippine he says: "As a close observer and employer of labor for over 25 years, I give you this: Never advance the pay of a cigarette smoker, never promote him; never trust him to carry a roll to Garcia, unless you do not care for Garcia and are willing to lose the roll. Cigarette smoking begins with an effort to be smart. It soon becomes a pleasure, a satisfaction, and serves to bridge over a moment of nervousness or embarrassment. Next it becomes a necessity of life, a fixed habit. This last stage soon evolves into a third condition, a stage of fever and unrestful, wandering mind, accompanied by loss of moral and mental control."

Inevitably cigarette smoking impairs health, lessens usefulness and jeopardizes happiness, and all without compensation worthy of the man who smokes, and not affected to the same degree, but there is none who would not be better off without the habit.—Dover (Del.) Index.

In Regard to the Profit in Lime to the Farmer.

The LeGore Combination of Lime is said by practical farmers to pay at the following rate: One ton of lime, before it is worn out, will bring to life or release plant food enough to produce:

1 ton of wheat worth $ 20.00
2 1/2 tons corn " 30.00
4 tons of hay " 40.00

Cost of 1 ton of lime about 4.00

This will leave as a profit to the farmer $106.00

How can the farmer afford to put off liming and expect to make up the great loss in their future crops? The LeGore Combination of Lime is guaranteed to show paying results for twenty years. If the farmer lime for grass, wheat and corn, they will grow good crops and lay the foundation for permanent improvement. The farmer makes more clear money by the use of one ton of lime than the manufacturer does from the sale of 100 tons. Putting off liming is like putting off doing what is right—the longer you wait the harder it will go. It does not pay to put out any crop without liming if the field has not had any lime for 4 or 5 years.

If the farmers wish to grow abundant crops of wheat, grass and corn profitably, they must use a good combination of the salts of lime.

Orders should be given to the warehouse people early, or send direct to: LeGore Combination Lime Co., LEGORE, MD. 8-17-07

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning Oct. 20. BY REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic.—The duties of the day.—Prov. xiv. 24; Rom. xii. 11. Life is not made of years, but of the smallest particles of time.

No letter words could be chosen as the motto of our lives. The future may be left to itself if we may have the watchful care of God and be kept free from temptations and sin.

I need this every hour. Most grateful to those who have made it possible for me to have this.

The duties of the day may often seem irksome to us, and yet they should be just as willingly performed.

Every gift and every power we possess comes from the Holy Ghost, and no gift of His should be lightly or carelessly treated. No should we be worried because others possess gifts which seem preferable to those bestowed upon us.

Gen. xii. 9; Ps. v. 1-3; xli. 1, 2; cxvii. 12-19; cxli. 1-8; cxlv. 1-5; Matt. vi. 11; John. iv. 4; Acts vi. 11.

Some Shaw Sense.

Take your boy to church and prayer meeting, even if he cannot understand all that is said and goes to sleep.

Make your lookout committee a get-out committee if they do not do their work.

If Sunday is always the coldest day in the week in your community, so cold that you have to suspend Junior meetings during the winter, then have the Junior meeting on a warmer day of the week.

If there are no young Christians in your little village, let a few of the older Christians form a Christian Endeavor society as soon as possible.

Your society should not be a limited Pullman running express and making no stops for new members.

Your social nature is as much a gift of God as your spiritual nature. A face as long and blank as a tombstone is not a compliment.

Success is not a cheap commodity. It cannot be bought at the five and ten cent counter.—General Secretary William Shaw.

Pastors' Testimonies.

The Christian Endeavor society is the salt of a small church and the rudder of a large one.—Russell H. Conwell, Baptist.

There is no such aid to the pastor in his arduous and multifarious work, especially in large cities, as a well-organized society of Christian Endeavor.

Personally no Christian institution or organization has been such a godsend to me as the Y. P. S. C. E. It has torn up the rails of my narrow gauge Christianity and spiked down a wider and heavier track.—F. P. Cowan, Methodist.

There has been nothing like it since the establishment of the Christian church. I rejoice to know that the church of which I am a clergyman is gradually coming to adopt Christian Endeavor, and in every instance it is cordially approved and heartily indorsed as a great God inspired movement.—Canon J. B. Richardson, Church of England.

"The Wizard of Christian Endeavor."

That most brilliant of all Endeavorers or Journalists, Amos A. Wells, writes in his saying to all who go forth in his name, "I am with you all the days." (Matt. xxvii. 20, margin).

See the ark mentioned ten times in this chapter and let the Lord alone be glorified in us. God's word is our strength and our life. Let us have the very essence of prayer in this lesson. Then see in II Chron. xxxii. 20, 21, how the prayers of Isaiah caused the overthrow of a mighty army.

Picturesque Meetings.

Miss Jolliffe of Samoa says that the Christian Endeavor meetings in the islands are "most picturesque, for they are held in the cool nights, and the churches have no lights the members all come with lanterns and Bibles. They then sit on the floor and answer roll call."

Summer School of Agriculture.

From July 1 to 15, the school of agriculture is to be held at Cape May, N. J. The course is in elementary agriculture, home economics and manual training.

Grange Life Insurance.

The committee appointed at the national grange meeting in Denver last year on grange life insurance has reached two or three definite conclusions, and will probably allow the matter to go over until the next annual meeting.

The election of United States senators by popular vote is sure to come. The grange is for it!

The national grange will elect officers this year at Hartford.

Israel is now in the land, they have crossed the Jordan, and every step of the way is most instructive to the believers who really want to "possess his possessions."

Yellow Pine Lumber.

"In fifteen or twenty years, at the present rate of cutting, the supply of the longleaf yellow pine of the Southern States will be nearly exhausted," says the expert of the United States Forest Service.

The lumber of the Southern yellow pine brings $15 to $25 per thousand feet, its turpentine 50 cents per gallon, and its resin $4.25 to $5.25 per 280 pounds.

In the face of these fast increasing prices, people are still finding what there is yet an inexhaustible supply of yellow pine in the South, and that all of which must have value, but at present is, for the most part, simply burned to get out of the way.

There are at present in the woods of the South vast quantities of pine logs and tall stumps left as a result of careless lumbering in the past.

There is a certain type of girl who is unhappy because she lacks a family relationship. She imagines, as all that hinder her, she tells herself, in a higher social stratum, and it is only through some blunder of Providence that she was born in the place she is forced to call home.

This seems to her a sad situation. She is never done pitying herself. Her family, she believes, is totally incomprehensible to her. She chafes against the bonds that tie her to them. If these bonds are easily broken, she breaks them with a will.

The SPORTING WORLD.

Advice to Shot Putters by an Expert.—The velocity of weight throwing champion, Jim S. Mitchell of New York gives the following hints in regard to putting the shot. He says: "Don't stoop too low when starting to push."

Don't delay in the hop to the center of the circle. Always remember to bring the body well around before the arm starts to shoot out. Always use an iron shot in preference to a lead one.

To a right handed putter the main strain falls on the right ankle, and in order to prevent accidents it is best to wear an elastic stocking or rubber bandage while practicing.

The amount of work each day may be explained in a paragraph. An athlete cannot put out enough until he has learned the knack, but as he grows proficient the number of puts should be curtailed by degrees.

The athlete should at all times put in his best style, standing well up on his toes and with all the dash and fire which is capable of throwing into his movements.

Poisoned Water for Trout.—The poisoning of the water in the fine lake of L. V. Harkness' Walnut Hall farm at Lexington, Ky., has given rise to fears that some of the fish trollers may die, as have all the fish that were in the lake.

When a baseball manager has a few moments to spare nowadays he usually uses them in telling how much he admires the ball players of to-day are than those of a decade or more ago.

Fleider Jones, captain of the Chicago Americans, recently announced his ideas on the subject. He said: "It is my belief that the players of to-day are not far in advance of those of twenty-five years ago."

The game has improved in every department. The trouble with any man who contends that the players of old times were better than those of to-day is that he is wrong.

Humor of a Musician.—There are not a few people who possess the idea that the late Joseph Johansen, the celebrated Hungarian master violinist, was a man of somewhat stern disposition, with little or no appreciation of humor.

Joachim was in the habit of interrupting his lessons in violin playing with pointed remarks showing a lively sense of humor, says the Chicago News. One day a pupil who was a native of Königsberg played the adagio from the ninth concerto of Spohr.

Although he played it correctly, it was a poor performance, and Joachim remarked: "My dear B. it is no disgrace to have been born in the 'city of pure reason,' but if I were you I would not show it in my playing."

Another pupil who had played the finale from a Mendelssohn concerto very stolidly and heavily, he remarked: "I beg for this next lesson that the eyes do not come to dance in riding boots."

Another youth could not execute a figure that was ornamented with brilliant shakes to the satisfaction of his teacher. He made the character of the passage clear to the pupil Joachim said: "That passage is meant for a garland with blossoms hanging on it, not potatoes."

The Wrong Spirit.—The late Sir William Henry Perkin, the inventor of coal tar dyes, said a Philadelphian chemist, "had a singularly happy and successful career in the laboratory of the missionary movement."

"Sir William had been for years a warm supporter of this movement, and he praised it highly, but he complained of certain phases of it. Illustrating the point he meant by a quotation from a letter—a letter written by the notable Captain Davis to Secretary Walsingham about the conversion of the Indians.

"The letter ran: 'If these people (the Indians) were once brought over to the Christian faith they might soon be brought to relinquish our native kind of life and to take a more civilized course. They would be thereby induced to consume greater quantities of our coarse woolen manufactures.'"

Falling hair may be avoided by stepping nimbly aside whenever you see it coming your way. The "drowning lark," so much affected by some, may be encouraged by sitting up late at night.

París possesses the largest public gardens and the largest hospital. Cremation costs but 60 cents a body in France.

An army of one legged men are to march shortly to the French home office and ask the government to help them. They cannot work, and the law does not allow them to beg.

Workmen engaged in pulling down an old house in the Latin quarter of Paris were attacked and severely bitten by sixty vultures, which are believed to have bred in the cellars of the house.

AMERICA'S MOUNTAINS.

Greater and Greater in Variety Than the Old World's.—North America has suffered shamefully from Alpine arrogance. Its masters have looked upon glaciated Colorado, the ridges and peaks that rise above the snow line, and upon Popocatepetl and his sister tians reaching isthmuses of the Cascades, and piled up Americans that our lands offer more to the eye than any other.

But on greater in variety, wider in appeal to every sort of mountaineer, Alpinist included, than any other of the world's six areas and among the sunmits physically attainable probably the hardest in the world. The Himalayas, with greater relief elevation, have bases of attack disconcertingly high, and the accepted idea that thin air prevents climbing above 25,000 feet offers greater height and heroic virtue, Alaska requires training in a sport quite new, a subarctic Alpinism for which you must persist and endure in a cold traveler, work ax and rope, cordel or pack axes across tundra. Its ten or more summits between 10,000 and 20,000 feet present the greatest effective height of the longest and ice slopes, in the world.

All but Mount St. Elias and Mount McKinley, 20,300 feet, the highest on the continent, are virgin. Mount Logan, 19,500 feet, is the world's remaining Alpinist problem. Swiss training alone will not win it. Climbers have avoided Alaska, offering acceptance challenges from Asia and the Andes. Alpinists must succeed in this ultimate concession, Alaska lacks only that prohibitive elevation for which you may as well train in a laboratory vacuum.—Robert Dunn in Outing Magazine.

Many birds possess a useful comb in the claw of the middle toe of the foot. This has been noticed in owls, nightjars, herons, bitterns, cormorants, gulls, etc. It has been explained as a means of holding the prey securely. The comb is sometimes replaced by a curved blade with teeth, which run along the inner side of the claw. Such a blade is found in raptors, wild ducks, gulls, starlings and many other birds. Where a comb is required the bird's talons are usually directed into the teeth. Young nightjars or goatsuckers have only the blade, but old ones have a well developed comb.

Appropriately Named.—The boy in the paint store dashed hurriedly up the cellar steps and opened the proprietor.

"There's a barrel leaking in the basement," he cried, "and the automobile stuff is being poured out."

"Why do you call it automobile stuff?" asked the proprietor.

"Because," gasped the youngster, "it's running over everything in sight."

His Preference.—"Now, Patsy, if it should come to a real issue which would you rather lose, your nose or your life?"

"My life, begorra. O'fm s'avin' me money for me old age."—Bohemian.

It is better to be unborn than untaught, for ignorance is the root of misfortune.—Plato.

Keyville.—Charles Kiholtz and wife spent Sunday at Dr. G. W. Roop's.

Mrs. O. J. Stoesifer and Mr. Albert Fox spent a few days at Hagerstown and took in the Fair, the past week.

Mr. Howard Frook, of Keyville, and Miss Bessie Stoesifer, of Uniontown, were quietly married on Saturday last. They are spending the week visiting among his friends, at Keyville.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Young, and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Six spent a few days in Baltimore.

Miss Carrie McNair, of near Eamonts, Miss Emma Clutz, of Monocacy, Mr. Plank, of Taneytown, and Charles Stoesifer and family, spent Sunday at the home of Stoesifer's.

Mr. Dern is nearly 90 years old and he has been husking corn and picking apples as though he was but 50.

Harvest Home Service postponed until two weeks, on account of meeting of Synod.

Letter to O. J. Stoesifer, Taneytown, Md.

Dear Sir: The easiest way we know to make a little money—is if you're going to paint—use the paint that takes less gallons.

Take a small job; say it takes 10 gallons Devoe, two coats; that's an average house. When the job is done and the bill comes in, it's $50; the paint, etc., $17.50; the rest is for labor and carriage; the labor is fixing the surface, shifting ladders, scaffolds, pulleys and ropes, and brushing on paint.

Make another job exactly like that; try another paint; it takes 12 gallons. The bill is $10 more. Take another exactly the same; another paint; it takes 20 gallons. The bill is $100.

There is only one Devoe; there's a dozen 12-gallon paints, and 100 that take 20 gallons to cover a 10-gallon job. The only difference is in finding out how much you save working with Devoe. After that you save working with less work in 10 than in 12 or 20 gallons; less paint to buy and less to brush-on and less wages to pay.

If Devoe were only a little better than others, there'd be some difficulty in finding the difference. It goes twice as far as half the paint; that ought to be easy.

It wears longer, too. You'll wait a good while, you want to find out how long it wears; there are thousands of people who know that the least-gallons paint wears longer.

Yours truly, F. W. DEVOE & CO., P. S.—J. S. Bower sells our paint.

A Little Nonsense.

It was a clergyman with a care for souls in one of the poorest parts of London who went down to provincial town to plead for support for his work. They had a large meeting for him, and he made a most telling appeal, at the close of which he jumped a good man, promising $250 as a start.

The clergyman was overjoyed. "I don't know your name, sir," he cried, "but I thank you. I thank you. May your business be doubled in the coming year."

Then a solemn hush settled down, and the meeting, as it were, looked at itself. "What's the matter?" the clergyman whispered anxiously to the chairman. "What's the matter?"

"Er—well—er—that gentleman is an undertaker."

A little girl was being put to bed one summer night, and after she had said her prayers her mother kissed her good night and said:

"Now, go to sleep, dear. Don't be afraid, for God's angels are watching over you."

In a short time, while the mother and father were at tea, a small voice from upstairs was heard.

"Yes, little one; what is it?" "God's angels are buzzing around, and one's bitten me!"

They were a crowd of married men, reminiscent of the days of their courtship.

"Jim, I don't see how you ever plucked up courage to get married to your wife," were repeated such a bashful sort."

"Well, Jim," she made it pretty easy for me. You know I shined up to her a long time and, of course, she must have known I meant business. But the only time we ever made reference to it was one night we were sitting on the porch. I said to her rather casually, she wouldn't think I meant anything definite."

"Do you think you'll ever marry?" "She said she thought she might, so I said, 'When?'"

"Whenever you do," he grinned, and I said "All right," so he got it up.—Youngstown (O.) Telegraph.

A country boy sat on a fence enclosing a cornfield. A city chap, passing by, remarked that he looked kind of yellow.

"Yes, sir, that's the kind we planted," answered the lad. "It don't look like you'd get more than half a crop," said the city chap. "Nope, we don't expect it; the landlord gets the other half." The stranger hesitated a moment and then he quickly ventured:

"There isn't much difference between you and a fool." "Nope, only a strip of weeds," said the farmer boy; and the city man drove on.

Quinsy, Sprains and Swellings Cured.

"In November, 1901, I caught cold and had the quinsy. My throat was swollen so I could hardly breathe. I applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm and it gave me relief in a short time. All two days I was all right," says Mrs. L. Cousins, Otterburn, Mich. Chamberlain's Pain Balm is a liniment and is especially valuable for sprains and swellings. For sale by R. S. McKinney, Druggist, Taneytown, Md.

The Youngers Were Historic.

A young farmer out north of town who does not believe in patronizing home products, had a mail order house for suits and other goods. One of the pants he found the following note:

"Should this fall into the hands of a good-looking young man who desires to correspond with a young lady of sweet disposition, kindly address, etc." The address mail order man promptly sent a letter to the address, a few days ago received the following reply:

"Sir: My wife has received a letter from you addressed in her maiden name. I am a young man who works in a factory she might of written the note. She is now the mother of 17 children and my lawful wife. I am a trip to your town and make you look like two cents worth of dog meat."

If you take DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills you will get prompt relief from backache, weak kidneys, inflammation of the bladder and urinary troubles. A week's treatment 25 cents. Sold by J. McKelip, Druggist, Taneytown, Md.

Hiring Children for Beggars.

Quite a flourishing trade is done by the poorer classes of Madrid, Spain, who let out their children to beggars at so much per hour, and the kind of child applies to the parents of a likely child, the price is agreed upon, a small amount paid down as a guarantee for the return of the child, and the beggar, with his set out with his human implement of trade to implore the public charity.

The children, whose task it is to soften the hearts of the passers-by, are required to possess special qualifications. They must have hungry-looking faces, be frigate criers, and not very ugly, for a dollar bill and a silver quarter? Seventy-five cents.

Hidden Gems.

1. Charlie, please bring me that pear lying on the dining room table. 2. Let me rub your hands; they look frost-bitten. 3. See that dog hop along before him? He is hardly 3 years old, and already a bone of contention between the one-eyed man of Yankee Street, and the wooden-legged one of Arabian. As soon as he grows up we'll make a beggar of him!

A CRUEL OLD CITY.

What the Excavations at Gezer Have Disclosed.

Wonderful discoveries have been made in the ruins of the ancient city of Gezer, in Palestine, Professor Stewart Macalister, who is now at work on the site, has discovered the ruins of eight cities or periods of building there, going back to ancient cave dwellers, 3,000 years B. C.

The remains therefore of 5,000 years of apparently almost continuous human life are seen on this little hill. When a dwelling fell down or was destroyed the newcomer did not clear away the rubble, but reared a fresh structure on the ruins of the old one, and digging down through these ruins, the explorer of today has discovered the untouched remains of a cave dwelling race not acquainted with metal, also the undisturbed dead of a Canaanite tribe with bronze weapons; also of a Canaanite "high place" with the bones of newly born infants, sacrificed apparently to some unknown deity or bones of infants buried under the corners of house walls.

These human sacrifices were, it is believed, the "abominations" of the Ammonites denounced in the Old Testament. Human sacrifices were often offered at the commencement of undertakings, and it has been shown that the breaking of a bottle of wine at the naming of a ship is but the survival of the ancient abominable custom. So also the innocent looking Maypole is simply a relic of a pole found in old pagan temples, traces of one having been found in the "high place" or temple of Gezer. Various statements in the Bible are amply confirmed by discoveries made by the explorers of the site.

Developments at Gezer make it possible to understand more clearly how Samson pulled down the pillars of the temple. These pillars were of wood and were braced on the "stumps of stone." The strong man therefore was not to draw the wooden supports together and off the stone, and down came the temple, crashing about the Philistines' ears.—Chicago News.

Mends Tire Punctures.

An Australian has invented something for the prevention of tire punctures. He calls it miraculon. It is described as a semiliquid preparation, made of cream and alcohol, thick, looking like cream and white thick. It is injected cold through the valve into the inner tube of pneumatic tires.

"The revolution of the wheel," writes Colonel Halstead, "spreads the compound on the inside of the tire, so that if the tire is punctured the compound exudes through the hole and, coming in contact with the atmosphere, congeals, completely filling the hole. It is reported that in a motor tire treated with this composition a six inch nail was driven in and withdrawn, the car was then sent on a short journey. On returning its punctured tire was found to be quite hard."

When Tesla Dines.

When Nikola Tesla, the inventor, goes into the dining room of the Waldorf-Astoria in New York after he comes in from his work in the evening the first thing he does is to order his copy of the day's papers. He stacks these upon the floor and table and goes through them like a cyclone while he is waiting for his soup. He marks on the tablecloth with his fingers, fork or spoon curious things that a clerk can make out. It takes him two or three hours to eat his dinner, and he never ceases to stop working for a minute while he is at it, and he always dines alone.

Beloved of a Spinster.

Some time ago, before ever he wooed and won the fascinating Duchess Cecile of Mecklenburg, an eccentric spinster of mature years announced her undying love for the German prince.

The other day the poor lady died and left in her will a sum of money and all her jewelry, valued at $12,000, to the heir apparent. Not only this; a letter was found among his papers in possession of which she made him an offer of marriage. The prince kept the letter, but has sent the money and the jewelry to the lady's next of kin.—London Gentlewoman.

Easy Times For Voigt.

William Voigt, the criminal hero of the famous Kopnick adventure, has a pleasant future before him when he is released from his German prison here in 1910. The committee which was formed last winter to promote his welfare announces that sufficient subscriptions have been received to give him a freehold residence, a workhouse, a pension, a cobbling and a pension. Moreover, no fewer than 138 women have written offering to marry him. The majority of the ladies are German, but two American girls and one English widow are among the number.

Taking No Chances.

German courts appear to take no chances in dealing with applications to presume the death of persons who have disappeared. The principal Vienna papers publish a long official advertisement from the court at Oberdorf, calling upon one Fidelis Rohr, born on April 14, 1870, to appear before the said court some time before March 12, 1908, otherwise he will be declared dead! As Herr Fidelis Rohr would be 137 years old were he alive, it is hardly likely that the court will have the pleasure of seeing him.

How Animals Blush.

Animals blush as girls do, but it is fear and not modesty that in their hearts blush in their ears, especially in the left ear. When a horse is frightened its left ear will be found very swollen. This is also true of rabbits.

Cows and all other cloven footed animals blush just above the neck. Dogs blush in their tails. When a dog is frightened his tail blanches so that it hangs limp, the dog having absolutely no control over it. Insects blush in their antennae.

Conundrums.

Do you know the soldier's definition of a kiss? A report at headquarters.

Of what trade are all the presidents? Cabinetmakers.

What is a put-up job? The paper on the wall.

What is higher without the head than the head? A pillow.

What is the most dangerous kind of assassin? The man who takes life cheerfully.

What is the difference between a dollar bill and a silver quarter? Seventy-five cents.

An old soldier writes about ARIOSA Coffee: "Your coffee is the best and richest coffee I ever drank since I left the service, from '61 until I received your coffee yesterday." A soldier knows coffee by the taste, and the way it makes him feel, and would sooner go without his bread than without his coffee.

ARIOSA Coffee is the first roasted, packaged coffee, packaged for protection of consumers, roasted and the pores of each berry sealed with a coating of fresh eggs and pure sugar, to hold the goodness in and make the coffee settle clear and quickly. Better than "fresh roast." Warming a little develops the flavor and makes the grinding easy. Our enormous coffee business, exceeding the next four largest firms in the world together, reduces our average cost per pound, and enables us to give you better coffee for your money than you can buy in any other way. There are more packages of ARIOSA sold in the United States than all the other coffee packages combined. If your grocer will not supply, write to ARBUCKLE BROS., New York City.

NEW SHORT STORIES

A Boomerang Joke.

"On our return trip to New York on the Minnetonka," said a child, "some one told Mark Twain on a rough, windy morning that he looked seasick."

"I'm not seasick," said the humorist. "You look it," the other persisted. "Then Mark Twain laughed his short, gruff laugh and told us all a story."

"He began by saying that it never paid, either in jest or earnest, to tell people that they did not look well. In a certain New York office, this young man put up a practical joke on the bookkeeper, a quiet, steady, serious chap. The joke was for every one to tell the bookkeeper, that he looked very, very bad indeed. It was wonderful what effect this would have. "It was a hot August morning when the joke began. The office boy started it."

"Ain't ye well, Mr. Quill?" he said. "Yes, of course. Why? Quill asked. "Why, ye look so pale," said the boy.

"I feel all right," said Quill calmly, and he put on his seersucker office coat and set to work. "But when the shipping clerk told him he looked ill Quill frowned and said he had had a bad night—that was all."

"When the cashier asked him what made him have such a queer color he said his heart felt strange. "So for an hour or two Quill was tormented with anxious inquiries, full of gloomy foreboding, about his health. And finally, with an impatient, worried gesture, he threw down his pen and hastened to the office of the chief."

"He was gone perhaps five minutes. Then he came back again in the chief's company. "Men," said the chief, raising his hand to command the attention of all 'as Mr. Quill is most unwell I have granted him a ten days' leave of absence. Please arrange to divide his work equally among you till he returns."
