BRIEF NEWS NOTES OF GENERAL INTEREST.

Gleaned from the County and State and our Exchanges.

The Governor has set Friday, April 14, as the date for the hanging of Solomon Sudler, the convicted murderer now in Westminster jail.

Gen. T. Coleman Du Pont, National Committeeman from Delaware, has announced himself to be in the race for the Republican nomination for the Presidency. Gen. Du Pont is several times a ----- Elmer D. Buckey has been appointed Postmaster at Littlestown, Pa. The contest has been on for the office since December, when Postmaster Alleman resigned. It is said that Ex-Congressman Brodbeck was the deciding factor in the appointment.

James Leister, of Snydersburg, was severely injured Monday, when a heavy limb from a tree he was cutting down struck him on the head, tearing the scalp and exposing the nerves and muscles of the eyes. It is feared he will lose his sight. His condition is serious.

----Gov. Brumbaugh, of Pennsylvania, will enter the primaries in Pennsylvania as a candidate for the Republican nomination for the Presidency. Should he win, he will thereby displace Senator Penrose in the control of the Pennsylvania delegation at the nominating convention.

----Alphonse G. Koeble, president of the United German Societies of America, says the Germans of the country are in favor of Hughes for President, and absolutely opposed to Roosevelt or Root; but failing to get Hughes would accept Borah or Cummins, or any good man not identified with the Allies.

..... Gist Blair, of Montgomery county, will again be a candidate for the Republican nomination for Congress in the Sixth district, and has made public announcement to that effect. State Senator Kaufman, of Frederick; State Senator Zihlman, of Allegany, and Leo Weinberg, of Frederck, are also candidates.

-...C. ... Miss Sallie Roop, who succeeded her brother, Charles Roop, as clerk in West-minster Postoffice last Fall, was dismiss-ed from the service Wednesday under or-ders from the Postoffice Department, Washington. Miss Roop was the first woman clerk to fill a position in the local postoffice. Her successor has not been postoffice. Her successor has not been appointed.

The temperance people should remember that the McIntosh amendment, which gives a separate vote for the "wet" units of the State, does not necessarily mean that the sale of liquor will be continued. those, even in Baltimore city and county, who believe that the vote to be taken next November will be in favor of the "wets." -Balt. The Department of Commerce in a circular urges the hoarding of both paper and rags to avert a threatened shortage of paper-making materials. A great part of the paper thrown away every day should be used over again, the circular declares, and points to the rising prices of rags. The paper-saving crusade was suggested by paper manufacturers themselves. The lepartment promised to put inquirers in touch with manufacturers. ---- C---

Henry Boyle, the 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Boyle, of Emmitsburg, made a narrow escape on Friday, when he fell into an abandoned well fifty feet deep under the livery stable in the rear of the Hotel Spangler. He was gotten out by his two companions as he managed to cling on to a rock while the water was up to his neck. He was taken to his home and aside from being frightnarrow escape.

Nearly 8,000 automobile speeders were arrested or summoned to court by the New York city police in 1915, and with few exceptions were fined. Imprisonment probably was not deserved in the great majority of cases, but if in each instance the offender had been deprived of his privilege of operating an automobile on the public highways for a period, varying the degree of his recklessness, a punishment would have been inflicted fitting the sidered. crime, and effective as a warning.

Replying to a deputation of the Temperance Council of Christian Churches, David Lloyd-George, Minister of Muni-tions, said the police records showed a reduction of something like 40 per-cent. in drunkenness throughout England. He noped the nation would be convinced that success in war largely depended upon removing the drag upon its efficiency caused by drink. However successful in war the country might be, he added, he was convinced that victory in this matter would be the greatest triumph of all.

The Board of Trade of Mt. Airy, of which B. W. Bowman is president, started a monthly publication devoted to the interests of the town. It is known as the Mt. Airy Messenger. The first issue appeared recently. It is a four-page paper. Ira Watkins is manager of the new enterprise, while the publication committee consists of the manager, M. E. Wat-

Baltimore as Dictator.

If the "rural yote" has no right to force Baltimore to give up its dearly loved liquor business, nor to force on the city any other legislation that its newspapers and taxdcdgers say they do not want, why should the "rural vote" turn in and help Baltimore to take territory away from Baltimore county and Anne Arundel county, in order to make Balti-more bigger and more powerful as a leg-islative factor—as a still greater "boss" over the rest of the state?

The RECORD admits that it has had considerable sympathy with the "greater Baltimore" idea, especially as Baltimore county politics and law-breaking habits have been so notorious; but Baltimore has recently shown such an arbitrary and grasping spirit, that it almost suggests retaliation in the matter of its pet an-nexation scheme, and if some of the legislators feel that way they can hardly be censured. The city, practically, wants to dictate to the counties all of the rules of the game, and to make all of them focus toward giving Baltimore everything it wants. Baltimore wants her own way, always—wants "exemption"—from all 'dry'' legislation, from paying tax on furniture, from paying state license on large stocks of merchandise, from paying its share toward the maintenance of various state boards, etc.

From indications, if it was not for the fact that the city needs a high basis of taxation, for her own needs, it would likely demand exemption for a large portion of its present state tax—an item, by the way, that it delights in "throwing up" to the counties very frequently, and, with very little real justification.

...... A Dress Factory for Taneytown.

H. Shapiro, of Shapiro Bros., New York, and Mr. Bernstein, manager of the factories of the firm in York and Littlestown, were in Taneytown, on Monday, and practically closed an agreement to open a ladies' dress factory here this Summer. The town is to furnish the building, an engine for power and a furnace for heating, free of charge for five years, and to secure, if possible, 50 or 60 girls, but the firm will begin operations with 40.

It is proposed to use the Grangers' building, for the factory. A canvass is being made to find the needed number of being made to find the needed number of girls, and if successful in this there seems to be but little doubt that the firm will decide, very soon, to open up the business. Shapiro Bros. have been in the business for many years, and are located at 514 Broadway. The visitors seemed to be impressed with the outlook, and the town, and those locally interested think such a factory will be a good proposition to all concerned. A public meeting of to all concerned. A public meeting of those interested will be held in Grangers' hall, next Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock.

Ex-Senator Snader for Goldsborough.

According to a dispatch from New Windsor to the Baltimore American, Ex-Senator Snader of this county has come out in favor of Ex-Gov. Goldsborough for United States Senator. Mr. Snader said:
"I know Mr. Goldsborough to be possessed of executive ability high above the average of public men. He proved to the citizens of the state during his term as Governor that he exercised his ability with an eye single to the upbuilding of the state, and is held in high esteem, not only by his own party but by the rank and file of the citizens of Maryland. The ex-Governor has a number of warm friends in the county, and I find, after consulting with them, that they are favorable to his candidacy for the United States Senatorship, and I feel sure that we can put Carroll county in the Goldsborough column at the primaries in May. -10-53-0-

Teachers' Meetings.

Instead of the regular meeting of the Carroll County Teachers' Association at the close of the Spring term of school, separate meetings of the teachers of each election district of the county will be held, in which certain matters of interest to all the teachers as well as to every one interested in public education, will be taken up and discussed.

The report of the survey commission ened, was none the worse off from his appointed two years ago to investigate school conditions in Maryland, was received, and contains many interesting facts worthy of serious consideration by all who are in any way connected with the public school system of our county. Some of the suggestions and criticisms of the report will furnish material for discussion at these meetings, and in order that the teachers may become familiar with the proposed changes for the improvement of the public school system of the State, they should be present when the various features of the report are con-

Cavalry posts have been relieved by infantry in most cases in order to furnish a more mobile force in the pursuit of Villa, al-though in the expedition that went in to-day there is a considerable force of artillery, which can be reinforced at any time by several more batteries that now are held on the American side within easy distance of the border.

The Carranza government of Mexico does not relish the invasion, and fears are expressed that the movement on the part of this country may lead to general war with Mexico. For the present, however, Carranza appears to be co-operating with the U. S. forces, and unless his own forces commit some unfriendly act of invasion or otherwise, the compaign against Villa may limit the hostilities.

.... The American, on Dr. Hare.

Monday's Baltimore American contained a lengthy article, no doubt largely for home consumption, presenting the present situation relative to Baltimore's liquor interests, and a large portion of it was devoted to a picture of Dr. Hare—a sort of warning to Baltimoreans that the fighting Doctor is "after 'em." It will now be interesting to watch the Baltimore papers. Heretofore, they have been arguing largely for "home rule" and the "square deal" and various more or less attractive and indirect side lights.

to those who stand behind the liquor traffic. To those Baltimoreans who want the saloon abolished he is a crusader. He has conducted his fight in the counties, in the rural regions, where the liquor traffic, because of lack of police protection and for economic and other reasons, has been an issue that has successfully appealed to voters. Dr. Hare made no fight in Baltimore. He did not have among its 24 members of the House and four members of the Senate from Patrians of the Senate from Baltimore a single representatives of his

Dr. Hare has not surrendered. He will must constantly arm against him, or sincerely been in favor of the statewide referendum bill which has been the burning issue before the Maryland legislature. He came to Maryland from West Virginia to succeed Mr. Anderson as the superintendent of the Anti-saloon League. West Virginia, after activities covering six or more years, he succeeded in inserting in the constitution of the state a most drastic clause against saloons.

How West Virginia would like to get rid of that law is another story. The fact is, however, that Dr. Hare came to Maryland obsessed with the idea that could and would inflict the West Virginia law upon Maryland. Two years ago the proposition before the Maryland legislature was an amendment to the Constitution prohibiting the sale and manufacture of liquor. He failed. He will come back to the people of Maryland with his original proposition, a liquor-prohibiting clause in the Constitu-If he had carried through a statewide referendum, which was forced upon him by the supporters of the Anti-saloon League, he would have come back the next session with his original idea, an amendment to the Constitution forbidding the sale of liquor. If he had won with this proposition he could have

State-wide Local Option Law.

The prohibion, or local option bill, was finally passed in both Senate and House, last Friday. The bill provides for a local vote in all "wet" units, but does not interfere with any section already "dry." It also provides that distilleries and breweries now in operation pays continue. breweries now in operation may continue in business it the sections go "dry," but shall sell their products only in "wet" territory.

Under the bill as passed, Baltimore Under the bill as passed, Baltimore city, Allegany, Washington, Frederick, Prince George's and Baltimore counties, and Ellicott City, in Howard county; Havre de Grace, in Harford county, and Annapolis and the "wet" precincts of the Fifth, or Curtis Bay, district of Anne Arundel county will vote as units, each for itself for itself.

for itself.

The vote will be held in these units at the Presidential election in November. If a majority of those voting in any of the units decides in favor of prohibition, the unit will become "dry" on May 1, 1918. Intoxicating liquors may not thereafter be sold in any unit which may go "dry" except for sacramental, medicinal, pharmaceutical or mechanical purposes.

Maryland Troops Ready.

No orders for the mobilization of the Maryland National Guard have been re-ceived at the office of Adjutant General Henry M. Warfield from the War Department. Officers of the brigade do not think it probable that they will be or-dered to Mexico or even for patrol duty along the border, yet they would not be surprised to be ordered into a mobilization camp to hold themselves in readiness for a call.

Should such an order be issued the entire brigade would be living under canvass within 48 hours, and once in camp the men would be ready to move at a moment's notice. There is one brigade in Maryland consisting 2,300 men and the National Guard of this state stands high on the list of militia organizations.

There are 20 physicians and surgeons in the Maryland National Guard occupying positions for which they were selected especially because of their training in medicine and surgery. There are other physicians and surgeons among the of-ficers and the privates.

The strength of the First Brigade is as follows: First Regiment, 49 officers, 761 men; Fourth Regiment, 43 officers, 544 ficers, 545 or less attractive and indirect side lights.
From now on, newspaper influence must come out more openly, and take sides—for or against the liquor business. The American says of Dr. Hare:

"Now a word about Dr. Hare and his future activities. As far as Baltimore's interests are concerned, he is a menace to those who stand behind the liquor of the lights.

"The strict Regiment, 43 officers, 544 men; Fifth Regiment, 47 officers, 525 men; Battery of Field Artillery, 5 officers and 123 men; Troop A. 3 officers and 57 men; First Separate Company, 3 officers and 60 men and the Field Hospital, the last consisting of 10 officers.

and 60 men and the Field Hospital, the Ambulance Corps, the Brigade Staff, the last consisting of 10 officers.

Company A is ready with 65 men. The company has a complete tentage and an army wagon ready for instant service. In case the Maryland guardsmen were called to war, they would first proceed to a mobilization camp at either the to a mobilization camp at either the State Rifle range or at Halethorpe, Md.

---- C---

Dr. J. Howell Billingslea, one of the oldest practicing physicians in Carroll county, who has been practically blind for more than two years, was operated upon last Wednesday evening at the rather arm against the influences which he can command and does command in the counties. According to those in the confidence of Dr. Hare, he has never confidence of Dr. Hare, he has never consulting the institution. staff of the institution.

On account of Dr. Billingslea's advanced age, little hope was entertained of restoring the physician's sight, but his wonderful vitality has insured the success of the operation and it is expected that he will leave the hospital within a few days. So complete is the success of the operation that Dr. Billingslea will not need glasses to enable him to read.

·•- (G-•-Serious Scarcity of Dyes.

Washington, March 13.-The Governnent declared in a statement today that it will be forced to cease making and paper money within two weeks unless dyestuffs can be obtained from Germany. Nothing is said about the scarcity facing the commercial interests of the country, and the Government is doing nothing to relieve the situation, which will force certain industries to close for the same reason advanced by the Government.

Because of the seriousness of the situation a bill has been prepared by the Treasury Department for introduction in the House proposing that a consignment of German dyes weighing 145,000 pounds brought forward the proposition to enact a law giving the right of search and duty free. The duty on the consignment shall be allowed to enter this country would amount to $12,000.

Baltimore, March 14.—"Billy" Sunday's nerves and throat are showing the day's nerves and throat are showing the terrific strain they are under in his work in this city. This afternoon his voice was husky, the glands in his neck stood out like cords and he frequently clutched at his throat as though in pain. There has been an epidemic of grip in Baltimore, and thousands have bronchial irritation and cannot help coughing. There are others whose coughing is of the nervous, contagious type, but Sunday lost his contagious type, but Sunday lost his temper this afternoon and yelled with

A movement is on foot in Pennsylvania to compel "Agricultural Fairs" more true to name, especially those which receive appropriations from the state. A Buy-at-Home Invitation.

With this issue, the RECORD begins a page of advertisements, running for three months, representing a special invitation from Taneytown merchants to "Buy-at-Home," and thereby co-operate in a campaign of home community protection. We hear a great deal, these days, of "efficiency," "preparedness," and "home rule," and all of these have back of them the principle of building up, protecting and fostering, community interests, as against outside interests.

'Protection to home industries' is at the front now, as never before, and it is a propaganda that needs, and appeals strongly for, a wider co-operation than ever before. Buy at-home, is the very starting point for this, for never before, perhaps, has it been so difficult for local merchants and business in-Taneytown business men are not different from those of other towns—must get their support at home, or nearby. They are always willing, and do, contribute liberally to home objects—to churches, schools, good roads, charities of all kinds to state, county and town taxes. They therefore respectfully enter into this special advertising plan-one willing to help the other-in a spirit of united co-operation, and ask the community in general to stand by them. The RECORD is glad to help this effort. It is not a "money making" scheme on our part, as the rate for space was made very low, and the giving up of a whole page of the paper has its brawbacks; but the Record is first and last a home paper, believes in local betterment generally, and that this effort is a step in that direction. We regret that the space was taken so quickly that all could not be accommodated who wanted to be. It is also but fair to say that the reading matter connected with the cuts, is not ours, but came with the cuts.

WHILE GERMANY and France are desperately fighting each other, it appears almost as though all the other combatants are resting and looking on. What has become of the English army, anyway? Perhaps it has gone back to "Tipperary?"

Col. Roosevelt says he is not a candidate for the Presidential nomination, but intimating that he might get a nomination, says it would be a mistake "unless the country has in its mood something of the heroic-unless it feels not only devotion to ideals, but the purpose measurably to realize those ideals in action.' We wonder whether the Col. means "action" against Germany, or just such general action he-as the hero-might elect to take at any time.

-0.03.0-"All Going Out and Nothing Coming In"

The indications all point to the result in the legislature, of "All going out and nothing coming in." The debt of $2,000,000 has no terrors for applicants erick county might have as far as Fredfor "more," while all bills for anything like a widespread replenishing of the treasury are "black-balled." Perhaps in the wind-up new victims will be found who can't raise an effective protest, but there will not likely be any extensive class of tax-dodgers reached.

Not now, but later on wider fields of productivity must be tapped. Even the mortgage and judgment tax, the very proposal of which causes money-lenders to appeal to the most involved and general attention as being not only a share of the general tax burden, but actually represent one that has already been too long exempt.

If the whole bulk of such investments was held in the hands of one hundred individuals in the state, they would have been taxed long ago. The only reason why they have been slipping clear, is because the banks, and many influential individuals, hold these investments, and have been able, so far, to exert such a powerful influence over legislation-and a species of fear ever many individuals compelled to borrow-that adding them to the tax basis has been a "hands off" proposition, for fear of the retribution that might be handed out.

Putting the screws to those who can't help themselves, is the rule in taxation. It is quite commonly expressed wisdom that the problem of taxation is a most difficult one, but that is true only because of hard resistance to general and fair taxation. It is only another demonstration of the natural propensity among animals for the big to eat up the little, and for the strong to prey upon the weak. Overcome this fact in financial obligations relating to the support of government, and the tax problem is as simple as any the local vote a "square deal," and it may be that in order to capture the city it will be necessary to make the state-wide fight over again, in two years. Speculation at this time, as to how the present unprofitable, but it seems to us that the present situation represents a hopeful ever new.-Phila. Ledger. outlook for a further advance movement.

The Baltimore papers played the "wet" interests to the limit, and have entitled themselves to all the reward that such action merits. All through the fight over the bill, the specious pleas and in- colds would be as prevalent in midsum- tion.' genious acts of these papers, have fooled but very few people. All pleas for "personal who have used it for many years as occaand morality. All pleas for "personal liberty," a "square deal," and for "home rule," in their last analysis, stand for a divertisement.

defense of the liquor business and all that this business represents, directly and indirectly.

We even admit the possibility of men thinking that they hold honest opinions differing from these conclusions; but even if this be true, they nevertheless actually stand squarely for just what the liquor interests, without any denial or evasion, also stand; and there is no escaping the fact that a very mixed company is working in practical harmony in this one direction, that could not possibly so work, socially, or in any other way.

The thing for the "dry" forces to do, is not to sulk, but to "get busy." The RECORD said at the very outset that it was hardly possible that the whole state was yet ready for actual prohibition, and advocated the further extension of the local option movement. We take no pleasure in the correctness of our predictiction, but feel that it has been demonstrated that progress is still being made, slowly but surely, toward the time when the whole state will be dry. .0.0.0.

Frederick Not Pleased.

The Frederick Citizen editorially voices, no doubt, the sentiments of a good many citizens of Frederick, Hagerstown and Cumberland, when it lambasts the selfishness of Baltimore in almost tearfully begging for a separate vote, as a city, on Prohibition, but was hard-heartedly willing to let Frederick, and other minor cities have a wrestle for their "personal liberty" with voters of the rural districts of the counties in which the said minor cities are located.

We rather looked for a "kick" of this kind, but Baltimore was so intent on saving its own hide, that it kept mum about Frederick and other cities. Trust Baltimore for that! It had weeks of time, and devoted columns of newspaper space, to saving only Baltimore, while it might have helped its partners in distress. But no, Baltimore was afraid to even squeak about any other city-it was intent only on saving itself, and was scared almost to death for fear it could not do that.

The Citizen says, with more or less orrect and applicable logic:

"The people of Frederick City, speaking from a selfish standpoint, are wondering why it is that the amendment to the Prohibition bill, which was adopted by the House the other day, exempts Baltimore city from the provisions of the State wide persecution of the liquor interests, and lets us, as a city, go in to vote against a county with considerably more than half of its districts dry. The amendment also exempts from voting on this matter the dry counties of the State. No matter what these dry counties might do, or what influence the dry districts of Frederick city is concerned, it is a manifestly unjust and discriminating measure.'

The Citizen goes on to lambast the whole proposition, calling the drys "rabid uplifters and sycophants," and the Antisaloon League a lobby that is "demoralizing and detrimental" etc., but we are not concerned about that-it's too late for use this time.

.0.53.0. The Still, Small Voice.

The United States Treasury has just received the largest accession known in the legitimate class of property to bear its history of its "conscience fund" since this was started by the restitution of $5 in President Madison's time. The man who returns $30,000 in cash, bringing the But the real donor of this sum to the fail. Government is a man made famous long according to St. Luke-namely Zaccheus.

The unknown penitent says in his letter that he sends four times the amount he four-fold return, like the Publican of with suspicion.

Zaccheus, it will be recalled, was "the chief among the publicans," and he was with "sinners" in public detestation. get your knowledge first hand. Zaccheus, "little of stature," famously climbed the sycamore tree to behold Jesus as the latter passed through Jericho. Jesus was criticised by the crowd because he accepted the hospitality of this man of evil repute. But Zaccheus defended himself, by declaring that he gave half of his goods to the poor; "and if I have taken anything from any man by false accusation, I restore him fourfold."

It is a long reach across nearly two thousand years from this episode to the right on advancing in price. We do not share in the full disgust of modern instance. It was Huckleberry some on the defeat of the state-wide Finn who made the discovery that a Prohibition bill, for it seems to us that man's conscience takes up more room some progress has been made, though we than all the rest of "his insides," and is "doth make cowards of us all," and virtuous men as well, by the powerful incessancy of its prompting which though still and small refuses to be silent, is shown again by this fourfold restitution wet units may vote, is of course largely on the part of a man whose offense was old though the pricking reminder was Holding for a Rise.

Nearly one-third of the grain crop of the United States for last year has not as yet left the farms on which it was grown. In spite of the export of wheat, popularly supposed to be in excess of all previous records, 23.9 per cent. of the entire crop remains on the farms, as compared with only 17.2 per cent. of the 1914 crop unsold on the first of last March. Corn and oats both show more than thirty-three per cent. of the crop remaining in the individual barns.

Ability to hold a crop for the market in this manner is one of the most convincing evidences of the prosperity and stability of the farming section, and an effective answer to the plea of necessity for a rural credit institution to carry the western farmer over his crop-raising period. The trail of high prices in the grain market ordinarily leads to the speculator and schemer of corners, and proves to be a blind alley so far as remedial results are concerned, but in the present situation, it leads far beyond the speculators, and is likely to be more disappointing in results.

If the farmer is financially able to hold his crops until the market is forced up to his expectations, what is to be done about it, even if the price is an artificial level? The right of the owner of a commodity to his market cannot well be denied until such time as the nation is ready to plunge headlong into the problem of government fixing of prices .-Phila. Bulletin.

.0-0-0-War and Trade.

In the case of every war there is a cause which is fundamental and persisting-and another cause which is immediate and provocative. Back of the young man on the runningboard stretches a long vista of history and politics. Above the miles of bayonets, titantic forces hover. When Austria-Hungary declared war on the little Balkan state of Serbia, it was not because of the archduke's death. Nations do not hold each other responsible for the deeds of maniacs.

Be not deceived. Jealousy among the nations-mainly concerning trade routes —is the cause of the war in Europe; and this jealousy stretches backward to the time when the fastest mode of transportation was an ox cart and the most deadly weapon was a stone hammer.

The nations are fighting to decide which one has the best right to go to

There are 700,000 gasoline engines working on farms, and 6,000,000 other farms are waiting to buy engines. There are about 300,000 motor boats in the country, using gasoline. The demand for gasoline is increasing by leaps and bounds. The supply of petroleum is decreasing. Before the war we were exporting about 100,000,000 gallons of gasoline annually. Now it is 300,000,000 to 400,000,000, or 30 to 40 per cent of the whole produc-

The Big War Losses.

At the end of November the Germans had lost or killed, according to their lists, deaths from sickness included, something over 600,000; in prisoners, missing included, a little less than 400,000; in wounded, a little under 1,600,000. Their total loss was, then, something under 2,600,000.

The British losses for about the same period were officially announced in Parliament to be 530,000--120,000 killed, 70,000 captured, 340,000 wounded. Compare the two and it will be seen that the percentage of killed to wounded is about the same—a little higher in the German case, but we know that the Germans report only serious wounds, as do the French, while the British report all wounds, however slight. The percentage of captured in both cases is practically the same. It is reasonable to conclude then that the familiar ratio of killed to total casualties, anywhere from one in four to one in five, is holding good in this war.

But the other day a French Socialist deputy was quoted as saying in England that the total French losses in the first 18 months of the war had been 2,500,-000-700,000 killed, 1,400,000 wounded, and 400,000 captured. This was instantly seized upon and used to prove that the French were rapidly approaching exhaustion. The figures were, of course, preposterous. Quite possibly the French actually suffered 2,500,000 casualties in the first eighteen months-this is the figure generally accepted—but if they have we shall find that the ratio of killed to wounded will be about the same as the German; the figure for the prisoners does meet the probabilities.

But if the French casualties were 2,500,-000, then the German figure must be far higher, for the French loss represents a 50 per cent. loss on the highest figure anyone has suggested for French numbers, namely 5,000,000. Now the French have, on the whole, done less steady fighting than the Germans, who have been engaged either in the West or the East or in both fields without interruption since the war began until December last. If the French, then, have lost 50 per cent. of their resources in men, the Germans have lost the same at least, and that would mean around 4,000,000, which is about what has been estimated. Accepting the usual ratio, this would mean: killed, 925,000; wounded, 2,625,000; captured, 450,000.

The last German figures that we have place the Prussian losses alone at just less trade! Commerce has made England than 2,400,000. Bavaria, Saxony, and Wurtemburg issue their own lists and on the basis of population, they would add around 600,000 to the total, making 3,000,000 in all-1,000,000 less than would be expected, on the basis of French losses. What is the explanation of this found in the alleged custom of the Germans to include in their casualties only those who are permanently disabled; that is, they declare that German reports show the permanent wastage only. Colonel Repington, the military correspondent of the Times of London, fixes at 2,700,000 the permanent German loss for In the Family's Money Department of the first eighteen months. - Review of Reviews for March.

A Paper Famine Feared.

The New England paper industry is ushed with orders and confronted by serious shortage of raw materials. Profits that might be made in one direction are eaten up in another, and while it is true that this big business in all its branches is enjoying a very great prosperity as a part of the war boom, earnings are not as large as they would be if they were not offset by restrictions on trade, including various embargoes by foreign Govern-ments and the freight embargo at home. An increase in labor cost of from 5 to 10% due to the extraordinary demands for skilled artisans in other industries, also enters into the bookkeeping. This is a busy season for the jobbers, and some of them carrying large stocks have made exceptional profits. They are offered an unusually large number of orders for the summer and fall trade, without being able to catch up on current business, which is brisk, and uncertainty with regard to prices and deliveries is a. further handicap to be contended with.

Paper mills at Holyoke, Dalton and other great centres of paper manufactur-ing in New England are working at ca-pacity, the slump which followed the war naving been succeeded early last fall by a boom which still continues. Manufacturers are worried by an increasingly serious shortage of raw materials in an advancing market. Belgium and Germany in the past furnished the bulk of the rag supply which has been cut off by the war. In addition, there are in force embargoes on rags in England and on Swedish pulp from Sweden, which formerly exported large quantities to this country.

The difficulty over the rag shortage is becoming much more acute, and further sharp advances in prices seem inevitable. Prices of chemical pulp are abnormal, with the outlook for a continuation of existing conditions. Chemicals and bleaches of all kinds are scarce, and can no longer be obtained at reasonable prices. The domestic production of these raw materials is not satisfactory and the cost is much higher than for the foreign pro-

Paper manufacturers are finding it difficult to obtain their supplies of chemicals in competition with the munition manufacturers, who are making exceptional profits and can well afford to pay fancy figures for the raw materials that they must have. Quotations on bleaching powder, sulphuric acid and casein are at a high level, with the tendency still upward. Some mills are finding it more profitable to make rag pulp for the munition manufacturers, who use large quantities in the production of certain explo-sives, and have consequently withdrawn from the market as paper producers, which has helped to produce a shortage of paper, with consequent stimulation of prices to the jobbers, who will have to pass the extra cost on to the consumers. Paper almost certainly will go to higher figures than those now prevailing, which are in some cases from 20 to 30% greater than they were a year ago.

What O. T. Shoemaker

has to say about cream separators this week

BUYING a cream separator is good deal like hiring a man to work on your farm. A hired man that does poor work and is large is an expension and is lazy is an expensive proposition, no matter how little you pay him. A cream separator that is hard to turn, hard to keep clean and doesn't skim close, would be expensive even if you got it as a gift.

Creamerymen and dairymen all over the world recognize the superiority of the De Laval.

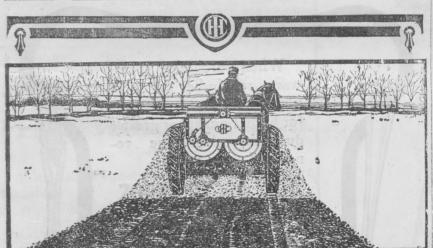

About the only reason why any one ever buys any other cream separator is because they can get it a little cheaper. Then they soon find out they have lost ten times as much from separainconvenience, poor skimming and a machine that quickly wears out, as they saved in the beginning. Remember that a De Laval will soon pay for itself, and if you have no separator now, or an inferior machine, we can sell you a De Laval on such terms that it will pay for itself while you DLEASE note that in the Low Corn King the box is narrow—only 45 inches in width. The Low Corn King can be driven into a modern barn and loaded directly from the stable. That saves work.

The spread is eight feet or wider. That shortens the unloading time. The manure is thrown well beyond the wheels. That enables the driver to match up the edges of his strips without driving on manure-covered ground. You know what a big advantage that is.

The manure gets two thorough beatings. It lands on the ground in a finely-pulverized condition. The soil immediately takes up the fertilizing properties. There is no loss or waste of valuable fertilizing material.

MIGHTY CROWDS AT TABERNACLE

Big Day of Campaign For Trail-Hitters.

Mr. Sunday Hands Out Some Plain Truths, In Unvarnished Language, During His Famous Sermon, "When Chickens Come Home To Roost."

HINTS THAT HE MIGHT HAVE TO QUIT.

Two hundred and fifteen persons hit the trail at the tabernacle Tuesday evening, bringing the total number for the campaign to 3,012. No trail-hitting was invited in the

Mr. Sunday scored the members of his congregation for not coming forward more readily to do personal work, and declared that they were throwing such an added burden on him that he might "have

The day's total of attendance was 23,000, of which number 8,000 made up the afternoon congregation and 15,000 that of the evening. This brought the grand total for the campaign to 458,000. Eleven thousand attended at Trenton on the corresponding day of the campaign in that city.

Baltimore. - The backwardness of Baltimoreans in getting out among the members of the tabernacle congrega tions and urging others to hit the train is giving Sunday much concern, for in all other respects he takes occasion time after time to compliment the residents of this city upon the manner in which they have co-operated to make the campaign a success; upon the size of the throngs that have packed the hugh building again and again, and upon the cordial hospitality that all have extended to the Sunday party.

Baltimore.—Forty-one thousand men and youths attended Sunday afternoor. and evening services at the great tabernacle, the largest two gatherings composed solely of members of the male sex ever housed in one build ing in Baltimore. The afternoon at tendance was 20,000; the evening throng went 1,000 better. Between 8.000 and 10.000 men were turned away from the meetings, being unable to get in. Fifteen thousand men and women and children attended the fore noon service, bringing the day's con gregations up to a total of 56,000. Trail Record Also Broken.

As the size of all these congrega tions broke a record for Baltimore in attendance at religious services, so dio the day's total of trail-hitters estab lish a new mark for the Sunday campaign here.

Eleven hundred and thirty-one per sons hit the trail. At the morning tabernacle service the number who his platform pit was 311, about hali children: 406 men, youths and boys hit the trail at the tabernacle in the afternoon, and at night the number. all men, youths and boys, was 350, a total for the tabernacle of 1,067.

Big Day Of Campaign. It was the "big day" of the campaign in all respects, so far as results were concerned, and Sunday made acknowledgment of the fact when, in concluding the evening service at the tabernacle, he gave thanks to God for "this memorable day in the history of Baltimore.

He preached on "Chickens Come Home to Roost," a sermon based on a text from the one hundred and fourth Psalm, "Let the sinner be consumed out of the earth and let the wicked be no more." Its keynote was an ampli fication of the Decalogue provision: For the sins of the father shall be visited upon the children unto the third and fourth generation."

It was the sermon he had delivered in the afternoon, but his congregation was made up of other men than those who had packed the building for the service that started at 1.15 o'clock, 45 minutes ahead of schedule.

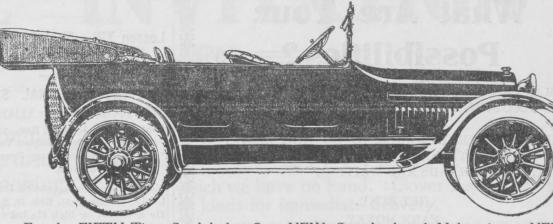

There was nothing sensational as either meeting in the trail-hitting. Men walked forward to the platform, shook Mr. Sunday's hands, then took their seats on the benches reserved for converts, and were held until the after meeting by the secretaries. Most of them appeared somewhat ill at ease, the faces of most of them showed awakened earnestness and a few of them wept.

"Chickens Come Home to Roost' was a sermon dealing with facts and morning. figures, religious, moral, hereditary and pathological in a way that was frank to the point of brutality. Sun day hurled at his hearers statements that made some of them wince and others to show by their faces a distaste for such plain speaking. He flay ed, of course, the saloon, the disorder conduct generally, and particularly

BASEHOAR @ MEHRING,

LITTLESTOWN, PA.

Flays the Liquor Dealer.

He anathematized the liquor dealer, but particularly the man who would give liquor to boys.

"God." he cried, in a very paroxysm of rage, "you kill that old devil and take him out of the world, if he's got to give liquor to boys." He cited statistics to show how the effect of alcohol was suffered by the sons and daughters of drinkers "unto the third and fourth generation;" read a poem by Ella Wheeler Wilcox to prove his point, and hammered in his moral by repeating: "Yes, they'll come home to roost, whether they are vultures or birds of paradise."

Spurred on by the applause that met a mandom shot at the liquor interests, he whirled around, pointed his finger at first one section of the congregation and then at another, and shouted:

"Yes, and I've got something to say about the things that rotten, dirty gang have done in Baltimore to defame my character. I'll cram it down your dirty throats, if you're here.

"If an emetic were thrown into the pit of hell the last imp thrown out would be an archangel compared to some of the hell-spawn of that dirty, God-forsaken gang right here in Baltimore.'

When, concluding his sermon, he asked all those present who believed | rose in a body.

Wins the Little Folks.

At the children's afternoon meeting the Tabernacle was packed by thougrasped Sunday's hand as he stood in sands, and the children had as much to do with preaching Rev. Billy Sunmen, the balance being women and day's sermon as did the evangelist himself. And the vim they put into the meeting struck a new note in the campaign in Baltimore, while it revealed Mr. Sunday in an entirely new light, the light of a gentle adviser, a courteous and sympathetic teacher, a man with a keen insight into child psychology.

Grown-ups who heard him then, who saw the way he stirred the little ones without frightening them; saw them expand, saw their eyes light up with interest, and who heard him again at night when he flayed a great audience, denouncing as fools all those who would not accept Christ, marveled at the difference in the methods of preaching. The children he won with a smile: the men and women be belabored with barbed anathemas.

Both Sermons Bear Fruit. But both sermons bore immediate fruit: At night men and women and youths and girls hit the trail to the number of 103. In the afternoon there was no formal trail-hitting, but 1,566 boys and girls, averaging around ten years of age, were enrolled as those who wished to put their feet upon the who wished to put their feet upon the road of Christianity.

Two novel features made distinctive the boys and the girls' meeting. One of them was the showing, one by one, of flags of nearly all the Christian and a few of the non-Christian nations and the calling out of the names of those countries by the children. "You can't double-cross God with that sort of bunk," Billy Sunday warned thousands at the tabernacle.

"I want to strike the death blow to the belief that a Christian has to hide like a sick pup in a garret, that he has to be a weak, namby-pamby, spineless, sissified effiminate, all-around hothouse proposition. God expects you to be as much of a man outside the church as you are in.

"The average man," he went on, "thinks he can gratify his senses all week and then beat it to church and sit with a glum look on his mug and get the notion in his noodle that he is fooling God. He thinks that God is not wise that he's been leading a rotten life six days of the week." later, "some fellow asked me if I believed in a literal hell. I told him: 'Do I look like a fool?' By the time I dust out of Baltimore, you'll know that I believe in hell all right."

Lesson XIII.-First Quarter, For March 26, 1916.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Rev. vii, 9-17, Quarterly Review-Golden Text, Rev. vii, 16, 17-Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

LESSON I.—The Ascending Lord, Acts i, 1-14. Golden Text, Eph. iv, 8, "When He ascended on high He led captivity captive and gave gifts unto men.' During the forty days after His resurrection, when He showed himself alive many times to His disciples, He always spoke of the Kingdom of God which He will surely set up on earth with Israel as a center when He shall come again in His glory. Now we are to witness to Him by the Holy Spirit.

LESSON II.—The Coming of the Holy Spirit, Acts ii, 1-13. Golden Text, I Cor. iii, 16, "Know ye not that ye are a temple of God and that the Spirit of God dwelleth in you?" He said that when He reached home He would send the Holy Spirit, who would bring to their remembrance all that He had ever said to them and take of His things and show them unto them and show them things to come and guide them into all truth.

Lesson III.-Peter's sermon at Pentecost, Acts ii, 14-47. Golden Text, Acts ii, 21, "Whosoever shall call on the name of the Lord shall be saved." While we wait for the coming of the kingdom which was postponed because rejected, the Spirit has come to testify of a risen living Christ at God's right hand and to gather unto Him all the 'whosoevers' who are willing to receive Him, follow Him and suffer with LESSON IV .- The Spirit of Life, Rom. viii, 12-30. Golden Text, Rom. viii, 14. 'As many as are led by the Spirit of God these are sons of God." This is the great Spirit chapter indorsing the necessity of the new birth and teaching that all such are children and heirs of God and can never be separated from His love-that the Father, Son and Spirit are all for us and that in Christ all things are freely ours.

LESSON V .- The Lame Man Leaping. Acts iii, 1-12. Golden Text, Acts iii, 6, "Peter said, Silver and gold have none, but what I have, that give I thee. In the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, walk." This man, over forty years of age, who had never walked a step in all his life, is seen, by all who knew him to be incurable, walking and leaping and praising God, and Peter testified that this was the work of the unseen living Christ.

Lesson VI.—The Boldness of Peter and John, Acts iv, 8-21. Golden Text, I Cor. xvi, 13, "Watch ye, stand fast in the faith, quit you like men, be strong." Peter and John, after a night in prison, being brought before the high priest and the council to answer for the healing of this man, do not hesitate to say before the council what they said before the people in the temple that it was the work of Jesus Christ, whom they crucified, who LESSON VII.-Humbled and Exalted, Phil. ii, 1-11. Golden Text, II Cor. viii, 9, "Though He was rich, yet for your sakes He became poor." Despised and rejected of men, but chosen of God and precious, the only Saviour, willing to save proud Pharisees as well as confessed sinners if they would only come to Him.

Lesson VIII.-The Brotherhood at Jerusalem, Acts iv, 32; v, 16. Golden Text, I Pet. i. 22, "Love one another from the heart fervently." The power of the risen Christ drew the believers close to Him and to each other, at least some of them, and for a time, but soon deceit and murmuring became manifest, and we have still to wait to see a company of believers, however few, continuing with one accord. Whole hearted surrender to God is rare.

Lesson IX.—The seven helpers, Acta vi, 1-7. Golden Text, Gal. vi, 2, "Bear ye one another's burdens and so fulfill the law of Christ." That the apostles might continue in prayer and the ministry of the Word a committee of seven spirit filled men was chosen to attend to murmurers and to see that no one was neglected.

LESSON X.-The death of Stephen. Acts vii, 54; viii, 3. Golden Text, Rev. 10, "Be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee the crown of life.' Being filled with the Spirit produces different results; in the case of Peter 3,000 souls from one sermon with persecutions; in the case of Stephen not such manifest results in soul saving and persecuted to death, but he saw heaven opened and Jesus in glory.

LESSON XI.—Heroes and martyrs of faith, Heb. xi, 1; xii, 2. Golden Text, Heb. xii, 1, 2, "Let us run with patience the race that is set before us, looking unto Jesus." The end of chapter x and the beginning of chapter xii set before us the great need of faith and patience; then in chapter xi we have this great list of those who were notable illustrations of faith and patience, all dying in faith and still waiting for the kingdom.

Lesson XII.-Philip and the Ethiopian, Acts viii. 3-40. Golden Text. Acts viii, 30 l. c., "Understandest thou what thou readest?" Persecution sent out preachers of the Word, and many heard and believed, and there was joy on earth and in heaven. The Lord saw one hungry soul truly seeking, and by an angel and the Holy Spirit and a willing and obedient man He brought him light and sent him on his way re-with sponge-moistener that keeps the tobacco such fine shape—always!

In battle the Aztecs strove to save life so that they could use their prisoners as human sacrifices to the gods. They had the art of ambush reduced to such a science that it was nothing un usual for them to bring home 25,000 prisoners after a campaign. Their bat tles were not fought for the sake of any principle, nor yet to gain territory They fought in order to capture prisoners, and the hot headed young soldiers were given wooden swords, for fear they might in the heat of battle unwittingly slay a foe. A dead enemy was already dead, and hence of no value for sacrificial purposes. Were the Aztecs humans? Well, not so that you could notice. But their destruction of prisoners on the altars of their beautiful temples was done in the name of religion and hence not reprehensible .-St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Test For a Field Glass. Inquiry has it that the absolute and infallible test of a field glass by the purchaser is to see what size letters can be read across the street from the optician's shop.

It isn't. The real test is to climb up a long and bushy hill until the breath comes a hundred to the minute, then snatch for the glass, reposing in a shirt pocket, to see whether the buck is the one you want before you fire. If it won't go in your shirt pocket it is not the glass you want; others are made that will. If it shakes in your agitated hands it is not the glass you want. You cannot see enough more with a high power glass to pay for the times when it is unusable, because you cannot hold it steady .- Outing.

A Literary Coincidence.

"My father, W. Clark Russell," said Herbert Russell in telling of a literary coincidence, "had finished maturing the plot of his novel, 'The Death Ship. which is a version of the legend of Vanderdecken. I was his amanuensis at the time. He said to me, 'Tomorrow we will begin the story.' On the following morning when I entered his study to take his dictation of the opening lines he showed me a letter he had just received. It was from W. S. Gilbert, the well known dramatist, asking him why he did not write a novel about the Flying Dutchman."

Eternal Lamps.

A common superstition that the ancients possessed the art of making lamps which would burn forever for a long time obtained, and it was claimed that one such lamp was discovered in the tomb of Rosicrucius. Science, however, has long set this, together with other superstitions, forever at rest, since it has been demonstrated that fire will not burn in a chamber from which the air has been exhausted.

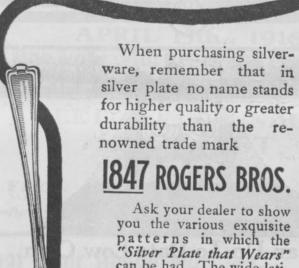

Clear Air.

The air is so clear at Arequipa, Peru, that from the observatory at that place, 8,050 feet above the sea. a black spot one inch in diameter placed on a white disk has been seen on Mount Charchani, a distance of eleven miles, through a thirteen inch telescope.

NE OF THE most persistent advertisers of the history of success was ROBINSON CRUSOE. He knew what he wanted—a ship—and he put up an "ad" for one. The institution was not completed until 1 o'clock Wednesday morning. The Camp starts with excellent material, and promises to be one of the strongest in the

Although this has not been a severely cold winter, it has nevertheless been a hard one on concrete pavements and curbs, and will no doubt suggest improved methods for doing such work. Evidently, the underdraining of pavements, and their relaying with a decided slope to carry off the water quickly, is necessary if concrete work is to stand the winters. Quite a number of curbs, especially, are in bad shape.

The entertainment "Savageland" given by the High School pupils, last Friday night, was a big success before a packed house. The parts were all well executed, especially considering that they were all first appearances. Prof. Morelock gave a brief address, between the acts, complimenting Taneytown on its increased interest in public school matters, and on the acquirement of a second-group High School. The receipts of the evening amounted to $76.00.

U. S. Army to Recruit 20,000.

Congress, this week, authorized that the regular army be at once increased by 20,000 men. There are now in the United States 34,000 regulars in the mobile army, and this emergency legislation will increase the mobile army in the United States to 54,000 men, besides which there are about 15,000 in the Coast Artillery. Of the 34,000 men of the mobile army in the United States 19,000 are on the border and about 4,000 are en route to the border under rush orders. The addition of 20,000 to the mobile army will enable the War Department to more than double the Army border patrol.

It is said that the recruiting will be largely from the border states where there is a long list of waiting applicants that will be utilized at once. The actual operations of armed forces along the Mexi can border are somewhat conflicting and unofficial, as the officers will see to it that as far as possible all dispatches are censored before being given to the public, something after the style of reports from the European war.

The demand for raw material, by reason of the war in Europe, has caused a situation unparalleled. Prices have advanced on nearly every manufactured product.

We anticipated the situation and contracted six months ago for many farm supplies at old prices. Farm supplies of every kind, 40 per-cent higher than a year ago. Merchants are fully entitled to the advanced price on stock bought before the advance. But we have decided to give the public the benefit of the old prices, limited to present stock. Beginning this week, in the special page advertisement, we will weekly price some one article that will interest any one in need. To show the necessity for the advance we will quote figures of increase of some of the raw material. Common Steel, Sheet Steel, 110 Tool Steel, 300 Steel Harrow Teeth, Plow and Harrow Disc, ire Nails, Paint. Foundry Coke.

In view of these conditions it will readily be seen the prices of implements and machinery must absolutely be advanced. Don't fail to look up the Bargains we offer every week, for the next Three Months. CHAS. E. H. SHRINER & SON.
