SOME SAVING IDEAS HOW AND WHAT TO SAVE.

Suggestions from the Savings Division of the U. S. Treasury.

Higher rates of wages paid during the war have opened to workers the choice of various new standards of action—they cannot all be called standards of "living." The near-sighted have used their unusual wages to indulge in all sorts of extravagance which gave little real satisfaction and contributed nothing to permanent family stability. Where they are not harming themselves, they cultivating tastes which cannot hope permanently to gratify.

Others, the far-sighted ones, have used their increase in wages to improve their comfort up to the full efficiency point for themselves and their families, and are thinking carefully before they spend their surplus. Many are investing wisely in homes or working other well-considered investment-purchases. The wisest of all are putting a large share of their earnings into War Savings Stamps or earnings into war savings Stamps or savings banks to provide for necessi-ties that may arise, for the education of children, etc., and particularly to establish a "turn around" fund that will enable them to meet more comfortably any changes in business or employment that may result from post-armistice conditions. Those far-sighted people have taken the war, and its unusual opportunities for earning, very seriously; just as they did not expect the war to last always, they have not banked on war conditions in employments enduring indefinitely. They are ready for the future. If wages keep up, they are still so much ahead of the game.

An increase of production over consumption is essential to provide to the country and to the individual the capital with which best to solve personal, national and international peace problems. Everyone, within his means, should buy to provide for his real necessities, and each one must wisely define for himself what are those present necessities. At the same time, everyone should make provision for future necessities in the form of savings.

Those who save by going without things they would like to have, but which are not really vital at the mo-ment to their efficiency, which in-cludes real happiness, should do so with the conviction, as a British savings committee put it, that "they are asked only to postpone their expenditures and meanwhile to lend their sur-plus to the nation." By so doing, moreover, they will refrain from us-ing up much labor that is needed for what might be called staple produc-tion the material to the staple production-the production of food and everyday necessities. It is clear that it the well-to-do use their purchasing power to the utmost they will compete with their poorer neighbors for a limited supply of the necessities. There are probably many who have not gained higher wages because of the war, and who therefore feel more keenly the war-time rise in the prices of their necessities. Some postponement of expenditures in the non-necessary field should be of economic help to those who find living over-costly and if the money so saved is invested in War Savings Stamps, or govern-ment bonds, it will both assist the economics of production and help the government carry out its plans. And a healthy social consciousness.

Most people can reduce consumption of expensive foods and luxuries; do less travelling; make fewer un-necessary visits; refrain from buying things not actually needed, cut down on the demands of "fashion" changes; avoid waste and breakage of all kinds, cut out expensive habits. and stop trying to imitate those above us in financial ability.

A Bouquet for the Record.

As the writer of the following is a man who handles big business very successfully his good opinion of the Record is all the more appreciated. This fact, and the fact that we receive "bouquets" rather frequently, causes us to "show off" when we have such a good opportunity.

"I congratulate you on the paper ou are getting out. Taneytown is you are getting out. also to be congratulated on having a man with your progressive methods. The only thing that I am surprised at is that some of the other papers in the State of Maryland do not catch on to your methods, and adopt some of them. With kindest regards,"

Sale Price and Taxable Value.

The State Tax Commission has notified George W. Brown, local supervisor of assessments, that effective immediately after the last General Assembly, all real property in Carroll County will be assessed, for taxation purposes, the sale value of the same, save and except in certain cases Commissioners. In other words, the sale of property will determine the basis on which it should be taxed.

WILL HONOR TANEYTOWN BOYS Permanent Memorial to be Erected and Public Welcome Held.

A joint meeting of the Taneytown District Council of Defense, men and women, was held in the Director's room of the Taneytown Savings Bank Monday evening, for the purpose of discussing the matter of a memorial to the county's soldiers in the late war, as well as some fitting public demonstration welcoming their re-It was the unanimous sentiment of the meeting that a county hospital would be the most appropriate memorial for the whole county to indorse and support; but that each District should erect its own separate memorial as a local historical record, and that each district should provide a public welcome for its own boys. Owing to the very large number of those who entered the service from this county-about 1075-it was thought to be too big a proposition for the county seat to satisfactorily handle, either in the matter of a memorial, or a welcome; and that the districts will be able to raise a great deal more of both money and interest, as well as more appropriately meet the situation, by holding their own events.

These suggestions were popular; that July 4 be the date for holding a "welcome home" program for those now home, and a later date for those who may not be home by that time; that a permanent memorial, of granite and bronze, containing the names of all the district soldiers, be erected, in front of the public school building, or that the triangle at the intersection of the Westminster and Uniontown roads be made into a suitable location, and the memorial placed there.

The committee adjourned to meet again at the call of the chairman. D. J. Hesson acted as chairman, and Rev. L. B. Hafer as secretary.

At a meeting of the County Council of Defense, held in Westminster, on Thursday, it was decided to hold a county celebration of the return of our boys on July 4, and the districts were requested not to plan for like programs on that day. The question of a memorial was also discussed, including the Hospital idea, but no decision reached. The probability is that most of the districts will provide a permanent local memorial, which need not interfere with the Hospital

Income Tax Returns.

Thousands of blanks have been sent out to persons in all sections, on which to make income tax returns. Those who do not receive the blanks are not exempt from paying the tax, but all unmarried persons with a net income of $1000, or more, and married persons with a net income of $2000 or more, are liable to the tax, and must file a return with the collector of internal revenue before March, 15, and failing to do so are subject to neavy penalties.

A Cemetery Improvement.

The Trustees of Pipe Creek Cemetery, Church of the Brethren, near Uniontown, have decided on the erection of a suitable Chapel, or rest house, in the cemetery, for use on funeral accounts and at other timeral accounts. funeral occasions, and at other times when such a building will be a public convenience to members and friends of the church. As the church building is located some distance from the cemetery, and as funerals often come long distances, the present accommodations have long been found to be unsatisfactory, for many reasons; therefore the project to erect the pro-posed building is a very commendable

Liberal contributions are being received by Elder W. P. Englar and Herbert G. Englar and the building will be erected this coming Summer. It will be a substantial one of brick or concrete, and in harmony with its surroundings and use, the size depending largely on the fund subscribed. As the cemetery is one of the largest and best kept cities of the dead in this county, the action of the church in further caring for the cemetery and its future, is one that should meet with the fullest approval, and should serve as an example to be followed by other churches. Elder W. P. Englar, Uniontown, is treasurer of the fund.

Perhaps not in this particular way, but in others, there are many country cemeteries that are little less than actually discreditable to churches. The homes of the dead, everywhere, should be cared for and beautified, and represent our love for departed which shall be decided by the County ones-that our memory of them has not grown cold, and that they are not forgotten. PRESIDENT WILSON ENTHUSIASTIC

Thinks Popular Sentiment of the Country Would Support League Program.

President Wilson landed in Boston, on Monday, made a speech there, then left at night for Washington. His Boston speech was an unqualified indorsement of the League of Nations, and a challenge to its opponents to test the sentiment of the American people. It seems improbable that the present Senate will indorse the draft of the League, but that it will be a question for the new Senate to handle, and in the meantime important amendments may be made to the document

The President has been fully apprised of the main points of objection to the League, centering largely around the alleged abandonment of the Monroe Doctrine, the surrendering of American sovereignty and the granting of five votes to the British Empire, as against one for the entire United States. Just how far the President is prepared to go in meeting those suggestions with amendments to the Constitution of the League, remains to be seen. That there must be amendments he already has admitted.

The Senate is evidently not going to be swept off its feet by any influence into giving an indorsement to the present form of the League Constitution. Senator Cummings (Rep.), of Iowa whose opinion perhaps carries more force than any who have spoken against it, says candidly that he is in full sympathy with the purpose to form an International peace tribunal, but is opposed to the present draft because he believes it strikes at American sovereignty, and considers that it contains more bad than good points. He intimates that it can be made acceptable, and both he and Senator Owen (Dem) advanced suggestions in that direction.

Senators Pointdexter, Borah and Cummings (Reps) and Reed and Owen (Dems) have spoken in opposition, and Senator Lewis (Dem) in favor of the plan. Most of the Senators are in favor of the general principles, but not of their first presentation. The President held a conference with both Democratic and Republican Senators, on Wednesday night, but apparently without making any more converts. The President is said to have told the Senators that the Constitution was largely drawn by England, and that other drafts were rejected. Senators say that the rejection of the present form does not at all mean the final rejection of the League itself; that it is unfair to this country to expect that it will accept, without question, or amendment, or without full examination and debate, a proposition that means so much to the future of the world, and this country; that it is far more important, now, to arrange terms of peace and then give all Nations ample time to discuss for themselves, the League proposition. That eventually, a Constitution will be worked out by the Senate embodying the American idea, and that there should be no such impression go abroad that the present objections represent merely political, or anti-Wilson sentiment.

ABNER S. MILLS SHOT.

Gettysburg Merchant Victim of a Discharged Soldier.

Abner S. Mills, a well-know grocer, of Gettysgurg, was shot in the head, late Saturday night, in his store, at the close of business for the day, by a young man named John N. Miller, who but recently was discharged from the army service. Two shots were fired, the one taking effect near the base of

It is belived that robbery was the motive. A young man named Moore came into the store and asked for a package of cigarettes, and as Mrs. Mills started to wait on him, Miller came in and ordered Mr. Mills, who was working at the stove, to throw up his hands, immediately firing at him and quickly firing the second time. Mrs. Mills raised such an outcry that both young men fled from the store without attempting robbery,
Miller was partly masked.
Mr. Mills was formerly in business at Barlow, north of Harney, and was a man of means and excellent standlate George Shriver, and a sister of Mrs. Homer S. Hill.

Both Miller and Moore were arrested on Sunday and are in jail. The arrests were made on descriptions given by Mrs. Mills, the former at his home in Gettysburg, and the latter in Hanover. Both have made signed statements apparently showing their intention to be robbery.

Mr. Mills was still living, at last report, but little hope is entertained of his recovery. He is said to be rational, but is unable to recall any-He is said to be thing connected with the shooting.

PLANS DRIVE FOR CLOTHING.

Red Cross Needs Millions of Gar-ments For War Victims.

Washington, Feb. 22.—According to a statement made public today by American Red Cross headquarters, the clothing problem is one of the most serious yet faced by the liberated peoples in Europe. The American Red Cross representatives abroad and Herbert Hoover, head of the European Relief Administration, have cabled that an immediate supply of every kind of clothing is absolutely vital to the health and very life of the mill-ions of men, women and children who have been freed from the German

The American Red Cross will conduct a drive for used clothing during March, and expects to ship 1,000,000 garments a month. Shoes and blankets are badly needed. Valuable supplementary relief can be rendered by the Red Cross, however, and accordingly its millions of members and the American people at large will be an of means and excellent stand-Mrs. Mills is a daughter of the ing that will prove a godsend to those who have borne the brunt of Germany's assault on civilization.

The field for relief in Northern France, Belgium, Italy, Roumania, Serbia, Greece, Montenegro, Palestine, Albania, Czecho-Slovakia and Poland s so vast that the main problem only can be coped with by the Allied Gov-ernments. The collection will be made at a time when a change is about to be made from winter clothing, much of which would never be donned again by the owner. Thus at a minimum of sacrifice the American people will be able to show in a most substantial way their brotherhood to those who still are suffering.

Prompt Payments for Sale Work.

The Record has had a most remarkable experience, this season, with payments for sale work. There has been practically no credit-no "waiting until the sale is over"—but payment has frequently been offered, even before the work was done. The explanation? The farmers have the money—plenty of it—and there is no need for asking time on the payment. need for asking time on the payment of a few dollars. This indicates that payments for items purchased at sales will be on the same basis, to a great extent. The average purchaser will not ask "How long is the time on notes?" but will hand over the ready

"Apply at Record Office."

We will not, hereafter, accept small advertisements calling for "information to be given through this office; in other words, to "apply at Record office." We do not object to receiving sealed replies to advertisements addressed to some letter, name or number, in care of this office, which we will turn over to the advertiser, but no personal inquiries will be handled, for many reasons that we have learned by experience.

The Senate did not exactly kill time, waiting for the President to come home and explain matters, but spent it largely in increasing salaries of officials and clerks from $200 to $500 a year though as one Senator observed, most of them couldn't be driven away from their jobs and present salaries with a machine gun. The same gentleman said some of the inexperienced lady clerks were now getting from $1200 to $1500 a year, who never before earned $30.00 a month. Of course, he is an opponent of equal suffrage.

MUST DOFF THEIR UNIFORMS Soldiers Expected to Wear Civilian Attire Soon After Discharge.

Discharged officers of the army are expected to doff their uniforms immediately upon dismissal, and enlisted men should do so as soon as possible after discharge, according to a recent ruling by the Judge Advocate of the Department of the East. The sense of the ruling is that in no case should the change of costumes be delayed for more than three months, and if possible, should take place at once. In the case of an officer it should take place even before he leaves camp for home, although he is not likely to get himself in trouble by leaving it on for the inspection of the home folks, if he does not dally along the way, and is unable to provide himself with civilian clothes at camp.

The ruling was made the subject of a police order in New York recently, when the guardians of the peace declared that many discharged men are retaining their uniforms in order to take advantage of a certain amount of immunity it affords them. The police of the metropolis have been fol-lowing a policy of overlooking a num-ber of minor offenses committed by men in uniform, but their patience is becoming taxed.

The ruling, in plain language, nails the report given wide circulation to the effect that the uniform in many cases might be worn for an indefinite period by former soldiers inclined to America's War Debt.

Washington, Feb. 25.—It will cost America people about $1,200,000,000 a year for the next 25 years to pay off the war debt according to estimates of the treasury, based on incomplete knowledge of precisely what the final war debt will be. This calculation is made on the assumption that the net war debt, with deductions for loans to the Allies, will be in the neighborhood of $18,000,000,000 Interest on this amount at the rate of 44%, would be $765,000,000 a year, to be raised by taxes, and then repaid to bondholders. In addition about $417,000,000 would have to be provided every year as a sinking fund to redeem all bonds in 25 years.

This would require a cumulative sinking fund provision of 2.32%. Congress has not yet authorized establishment of a sinking fund as recommended by Secretary Glass. Treasury officials assert that if this

At a meeting on Thursday, of the Executive Committe of the general committee, which is planning a wel-come to Maryland soldiers on their return, it was decided to abandon the suggestion of a popular appeal for funds with which to purchase medals for the boys in khaki. Instead it was agreed that, in order to make the recognition of the bravery, heroism and sacrifices of the soldiers official, the State Legislature should be asked to make an appropriation with which to buy the medals. Objection was made that the presentation of the decorations would be delayed nearly a year, as the next Legislature will not meet until January. Adjutant General Warfield replied to this objection, stating that all of the Maryland soldiers now in Europe will not have returned within a year.
General Warfield will have charge

Future Plans for the Red Cross.

A meeting of the various branches and auxiliaries of the Carroll County Chapter of the Red Cross was held at the Headquarters in Westminster on Thursday, February 20th., at 2 o'clock. Dr. Woodward, the chairman presided. Final report was made of the results of the membership roll call and reports given of the several branches of the Chapter's activities.

The principal object of the meeting was to hear Miss Anna Cummings, representing the bureau of development of the Potomac Division, who came to give some information as to the plans for the immediate future, and as to the general future of the organization. It was stated that there will be work for the branches and auxiliaries in the preparation of clothing for the temporary relief of refugees and other destitute war sufferers. It is hope to complete what is expected sufficiently by June that work in the hot summer months will not be necessary. This relief work will probably not be completed entirely before the middle of 1920.

Plans are being perfected for the making the Red Cross a great agency for community service, when the stress of the war is over. Classes in home nursing are to be organized. and the civilian relief will be continued, applying many of the principles or organized charity. The profitable lessons of the war are not to be wasted. The details for future work are not yet ready to be announced It was announced that there will probably not be any drive for money this summer. It was also stated that the conditions have improved with regard to the publication of the magazine. Subscriptions for this may now be taken at $1.00 from members, or $2.00 from persons not yet mem-

Pure Nationalism is tremendously strong in this country. We have had a long period of peace and prosperity under it; but, it is a question that must be faced, whether we can continue our pure Nationalism, and not accept the responsibilities that attach to a world power? This country very evidently must decide whether it will continue to follow George Washington's advice with reference to no "entangling alliances" with any foreign country, or whether the time is here when this heretofore good advice must be abandoned because of changed National and world conditions. In other words, whether we shall continue to "attend to our own business," at home, or whether the world's business has become "our own business."

Senators who have spoken against the League of Nations plan, object seriously to the 8 to 1 vote possibility, by which the United States could be sat down on. Of course, all of the other nations would be in the same boat; but, Uncle Sam has been so used to behaving himself and keeping out of trouble, that going into partnership with "foreigners," on an equality-with Japan, for instance—is rather a long step from our well-worn path.

It relieved his cough whole world, as a matter of fact, is right away and before he had finishmade up largely of unbelievers-of those of mustard seed faith-and we place the sins of the world on peoples and rulers without incriminating ourselves in the least.

This is a simple and easy way, but it is not the right way. If we have the proper faith in the truth of God's word, we, here in the United States, are as much responsible for crime, ignorance and general depravity, in the farthest corners of the older parts of the world, as we are for our own part. When we meet with a time like the present, therefore—a perilous time-we must see our own part of the responsibility for it, and realize that "pay day" has at last come for us-our "sins of omission" have at last materialized in a monster.

Getting Rid of Colds.

The easiest and quickest way to get rid of a cold is to take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. This preparation has been in use for many years and its value fully proven. No matter what remedy you use, however, care must be taken not to contract a second cold before you have recovered from the first one, and there is serious danger of this. A man of middle age or older should go to bed and stay in bed until fully recovered. It is bet-ter to stay in bed three days at the start than three weeks later on.

What Germans Did to France.

We are apt to conclude, rather hastily that France is too nervous about Germany-that it magnifies, too greatly, the dangers of the future, and that, in fact, France has a sort of German-phobia, or something, that it ought to forget about, and not be scared, all of which is very easy for us, at this distance, and with our information, to say, but in truth the French trend of mind is not so easily disposed of, when we know more of the facts.

In the first place, there is no discounting French bravery. That country fought as no country, save Belgium, ever fought before, and this fact should render the present French opinion one for us not to lightly turn aside as mere "nerves." In brief, this is part of what Germany did to

BEFORE DAYS OF LINOTYPE

Detroit's First "Newspaper" Used Town Crier to Make Public the Events of the Day.

An item that appeared in this column recently to the effect that a certain Swiss village still retained its "spoken newspaper" for the dissemination of news instead of the modern method of the printed page, recalls to mind the fact that Detroit once had a "spoken newspaper," too, and that here the "spoken newspaper" probably reached its highest development in the United States.

The Rev. Fr. Gabriel Richard, a priest of the Order of the Sulpice, who came to Detroit as resident pastor of the Roman Catholic church of Ste. Anne in 1789, was its conductor, and it was the precursor of journalism in Michigan. To arouse the public and awaken an interest in the affairs of the government, Father Richard appointed a town crier, who every Sunday at the doors of his church, told the public in general, and the congregation in particular, all the news that was fit to speak. In addition to this, the public crier mentioned the auction sales and related other advertising announcements. Later, to supplement the "spoken newspaper," a written edition was posted at a convenient place near the church. Father Richard was assisted in his news enterprise by Thopolis Meetz, the sacristan of Ste. Anne's church, but later a printer and publisher.-Detroit News.

BY NO MEANS BARREN WASTE

Group of Islands Known as Spitzbergen Has Been Found to Be Rich in Minerals.

Spitzbergen, 400 miles northwest of North Cape in Norway, has been looked upon for centuries as a great ice-bound waste not worth the trouble of exploration. It was discovered in 1553 by Willoughby, a British navigator, and nearly fifty years later was visited by the Dutch explorer Barents. It had been known to the Russians and to the old Norsemen years before but they had taken no interest in the place. Its shores have been visited during recent centuries by the crews of whaling ships, and Arctic explorers have used it as a base of operations.

It was not until Sir W. Martin Conway of Great Britain made a tour of exploration in 1896 and 1897 that anything definite was known concerning the interior of Spitzbergen. He made a comparatively complete tour of the six islands constituting the group, but seemed more interested in the glacial aspects of the country than in looking for coal and iron, which are now known to be there in vast quantities. But he established effectively the claim of his country to sovereignty, which seems to be about to develop into a very valuable asset.

Songs That Awaken Memories. Very many years ago a wise man, called Fletcher of Saltoun, said that if he were permitted to write the songs for a people he would not care who made their laws, and the sentiment has gone echoing along the corridors of time. But although we do not know the names of our song writers, says the New York Herald, the songs themselves make an impression on our minds that remains long after they have become trite and passed into oblivion. There is not one of them, however, that will not in later years awaken memories long dormant. Lyrics that catch the public fancy usually voice some passing mood or condition, but there is one theme that never passes—one that served singers and poets before Cadmus invented letters. There is never a season, from mating spring to dreary winter, in which the passion that rules men's lives does not seek expression in some new melody.

Destructive Crows.

Crows are destructive to the melons, pecking holes in them and causing them to rot on the vines. It is no uncommon sight to see small cotton cords encircling and across the melon fields of the south-stretched to keep away the crows, because the crows fear a trap where they see the white strings. They pull young rabbits from their nest, destroy young birds and chickens and even sometimes young pigs. They are very destructive to the pecan groves, and men are employed on some of the big pecan plantations

About "Style." To comprehend the real ugliness of "style" we have only to study out of date fashion plates. Women themselves say "How could we have made such guys of ourselves?" The answer is, it was "the style" and everybody did it. One of human nature's idiosyncrasies is sensitiveness. We may not value the opinion of the person who smiles or sneers at our dress, may know ourselves the superior in intellect, and position, but we resent or feel hurt by the tacit criticism. Thus we pay tribute to convention as established by "style."

Geraniums in the House. Geraniums are among the house plants which like a rather high temperature and sun all day long. On the other hand, they dislike overmuch water and thrive best in pots which are rather small. It is important to keep them pinched back, too, so that they will be short and stalky. This kind of plant blooms much better than one which has been allowed to grow tall and leggy, as the florists say,

The weather man cannot keep the people of our community away from a big treat, for notwithstanding disagreeable weather on Friday night, Feb. 21, Black's school-house was crowded to its utmost capacity, to witness the performance which was given. IT WAS EVER THUS

Another Proof of How Sentiment Rules and Governs Even the Most Dignified.

By ALVAH JORDAN GARTH. Jarnigan sat at his desk in the bank supremely satisfied with himself, with the institution of which he was an efficient and valued official, and with the results of a good day's work.

There was no sentiment about Jarnigan, at least so he told himself. System was his hobby. Face, manner and methods were all made subservient to a dignified unvarying rule. To Jarnigan men fitted into the bank measure, or didn't. In one case they were taken into fostering financial arms protectingly. Per contra, the useless, the delinquent and the utterly bad were cast as rubbish to the

No scheming promoter or "Not sufficient funds" man had ever "put it over" on Jarnigan. He had the record of the bank for sizing up a borrower just right, and shutting him off dead then leaving him to bear the brunt short at the first hint of shrinking deposits or insipid collateral. Two or three cases in this category had passed the shrewd cynosure of the efficient cashier that day. Jarnigan nigan. had been congratulated for discovering a defect in a bond issue the institution had come very near handling. He felt pretty good, and rubbed his hands together with a pleased sense of being a strict follower of banking ethics, with no sentiment standing between his good judgment and the best interests of the bank.

A bank book was passed across the counter slab and directly under his bank man looked up sharply to stare steadily. He was looking into the fairest face he had ever seen. It was that of a young girl, very neatly but plainly dressed. A wistful mournfulness in her eyes seemed to appeal for sympathy and kindly atten-

"What is it, miss?" spoke Jarnigan, a trifle less peremptory than was his custom. "Ah, I see," he added as he opened the book and found enclosed a check for five hundred dollars, signed "Robert Dalziel."

"I see. And this is his bank book. Very good," continued Jarnigan. "He wishes to draw out his entire balance and the check is made out to you.'

"I do not wish the cash," explained the young lady. "I would like to have the account carried in my namenow.'

"Could not your brother come with you-for purposes of identification?" "My brother," replied the girl in a voice very near to tears, "is-in prison." Jarnigan did not reply. He felt a strange wave of pity sweep over him. Then, methodically, as usual, he made out a new book, and presented it with the necessary documents to the girl. "H'm," he soliloquized, as she thanked him in a low tone, and he watched her graceful form clear to the door

Somehow the incident lingered in the mind of the bank man. Some how, too, he hoped the girl would come again. Several days passed by, and one morning an elderly lady presented a check for twenty dollars, ing how far the candles have been consigned by "Ida Dalziel." The receiving teller sent her to Mr. Jarnigan. "That is all right," observed Jarnigan, scanning the signature, "but you will have to be identified." "I fear I do not know anybody down town," said the lady. "I live to a cook, can write'a good play. This with Miss Dalziel."

a strange mood. He went to the bank last seven years, a total of seven thoufiles and got the card address of the sand and out of that number we have fair depositor. He caught himself thinking of her in the very midst of Anybody can write a play but mighty important business. Then he arrived few can write it right."-The Popular at a decision. money to Miss Dalziel himself. Why

Everything about the little flat and its two occupants bespoke refinement as Jarnigan entered the Dalziel apartments. He was asked to sit down. Before he knew it. his mission of business ended in an hour's stay.

Miss Dalziel told a pitiful story. Her brother, Ernest, had been for years the trusted employe of a large diamond house. One day he was arrested. Forty thousand dollars worth of gems were found missing. Dalziel was accused. A few small diamonds were found in his desk, placed there by some one, he declared. The stolen gems were not found, and he was sentenced to the penitentiary for ten

"Innocent!" insisted Ida, in tears.

"And we know the guilty one."
"You are sure of that?" inquired Jarnigan, eager and interested.

"Yes, it was James Hope, the chief clerk. He placed the guilt on my brother. Ernest says he knows that Hope has hidden the gems away until Graduate of Maryland Universty, Baluhe can safely dispose of them. Hope is a bad man. My brother found a letter to him, in which a convict in the Ohio penitentiary charged him with getting him into trouble, and of the crime. He wrote that he lived for but one thing—to escape, and then he swore to kill Hope."

"Have you that letter?" asked Jar-

"Yes," replied Ida.

"Give it to me. I want to think over the case." Somehow the progress of "the case" furnished an excuse to the bank man to call twice during the next week. The one following he appeared with suppressed excitement and satisfaction in his manner. "Miss Dalziel," he said, as they were seated alone, "I have good news for you. The missing diamonds and James Hope, the man who stole them, are in the hands of the police."

"And my brother?" cried Ida, clasping her hands in suspense.

"Will be a free man within a few days."

There the overcome young lady fainted away, and, holding her in his arms and gazing on her lovely face, Jarnigan took a final step-he kissed

"That letter," he told her later, "gave me a clue. I acted upon the theory that Hope was in mortal terror of the man he had sent to prison. I bribed a newspaper friend near the Ohio penitentiary to print a story of the convict's escape. I saw that Hope got it. Our bank detective shadowed him. He went to a lonely house and secured the stolen gems. Thence he proceeded to a railway ticket office, and then we nabbed him, finding the gems upon him. The chain of evidence was complete."

"Oh, how shall we thank you?" cried Ida, her eyes suffused with mingled tears of joy and gratitude. Jarnigan, the man with no sentiment, looked her in the eyes.

FIRST OF WORLD'S MOSQUES

Interesting Legends That Are Connected With Famous St. Sophia in Constantinople.

"Famed throughout the world for its beautiful architecture, the mosque of St. Sophia has a legend that acquires sudden interest now," writes a European correspondent of the Daily "Originally the mosque was a Christian church. The priest was in the act of celebrating mass on that memorable 29th of May, 1453, when Sultan Mohammed rode his horse into the sacred edifice, followed by his victorious Turks, and began slaughtering the Christians. The priest fled from the altar, passing through a small door behind it, but when the pursuing Turks reached the spot, intending to follow the priest. they found but a blank wall-the door had disappeared, and all traces of the fugitive were gone. But the story goes that when once again the mosque of St. Sophia becomes a Christian place of worship, the wall will open of its own accord and reveal the secret door out of which the aged priest will step forth to conclude the celebration of the mass at the altar.

"Another legend, recounted even by the Turks themselves, tells of two monumental candles built into the apse of the mosque. On every high Christian festival these candles are supernaturally set alight. When these candles are quite burnt down into their sockets the Turkish domination will be over, and the mosque of holy wisdom will be a Christian church once

THAT GOOD OLD RAIL FENCE

Ancient and Honorable and Convenient Institution That Held Honored Place on the Farm.

Among the once necessaries of farm life that reflected prodigality in the use of valuable timber was the old rail fence, observes the Columbus Dispatch. Like many other almost bygones of rural life, its place in farm wastefulness now is well established and yet it had its uses for which the present straight line wire fencing cannot qualify.

The old rail fence's serrated stretches were the homes of small animal life that now are rapidly disappearing. Around its timbers there grew the uncultivated blackberry, with its sister, the raspberry, and among its recesses there thrived the elder whose fruit once was coveted pie material and whose blossoms were the foundation for elderberry wine that matrons served of a winter evening when the neighbors gathered.

The rail fence, with its invariable undergrowth, was the favorite protec-tion for Bob White in winter, and from its top he sang in the warmer seasons. Beneath, the little ground squirrel burrowed. From safe retreat he chattered if some intruder came near to annoy him as he was busily engaged in gathering his store of food for the snow time.

To the harvest hand it afforded protection at the end of the long row for a brief respite and its corners formed shaded nooks under which the water jug might be kept.

And from what royal timber was this old fence constructed! Black walnut logs, chestnut logs and the smooth lengths of the ash tree were cleft by numerous rail splitters for the "seven high" fence that stood the storms of decades. There was many a black walnut rail whose timber would make the manufacturer of gun stocks chortle with satisfaction had he such a present supply of wood at his command.

Nuts as Food.

Many people are just beginning to find out that nuts are a valuable source of food. Most varieties have a high nutritive value, due to their fat and protein content.

Chestnuts stand in a class by themselves, being largely arbohydrate in composition. They ar d boiled and mashed. Serve as poes or use as stuffing for a fowl. Butternuts, black walnuts, English walnuts, filberts, hazel nuts, hickory nuts, pecans and almonds all may be used as fat savers, for they are especially rich in fat. It is certain that if you have on hand a large supply of nuts you can add attractive and varied dishes to your meals at little expense. The protein and fat are combined in the nut much as they are in meat, which makes it a good substitute for meat. Vegetarians have learned to make many attractive combination dishes from nuts, such as nut loaves, croquettes and souffles, which they serve in place of meat.

Wrist Blotter.

In these days of wrist watches there seems to be a call for the simple wrist blotter recently invented by Harland W. Cardwell of Texarkana, Tex. This device consists merely of a curved blotter back, blotter and a wrist strap. sc that the blotter may be worn on the right hand of the user. Thus the blotter is instantly available for use, and the pen does not have to be laid down.

Y. W. C. A. OPENS WORK IN ITALY

Tea and Club Rooms Opened for American Women.

Miss Charlotte Niven, Director of Ital-Ian Work, Prepares for Influx of American Woman Students.

Italy is now included in the war work of the American Y. W. C. A.

Miss Mabel Warner of Salina, Kan., and Chicago left Paris a few days ago for Rome, where she will be in charge of a Hostess House for American girls employed there by the American Red Cross, the Embassy and the new Tuberculosis Commission. Miss Warner has been director of the Y. W. C. A. Hostess House at Brest, France.

Miss Warner will open a tea room and club rooms where the American women can gather for social times Rome is harboring a refuge population of about 40,000 and accommodations are difficult to find.

The work in Rome was started as direct result of the appeal of Miss Charlotte Niven, one of the National Y. W. C. A. secretaries in Italy, who is spending a few months in France as advisor in the French work.

Miss Niven's dreams of Y. W. C. A work in Italy include the maintenance of a residence for non-Italian women, who, she feels, will come to Italy in great numbers after the war to study music and art.

"I believe at this time such a project is particularly important because women from other countries should be encouraged to come to Italy to replace the great numbers of German women who flooded Italy in the past, many of them paid agents of their government," Miss Niven said in discussing her plans. Miss Niven has asked the American Y. W. C. A. to aid the Italian Association in establishing a center, perhaps at Genoa, with two American secretaries, with physical and recreational training, to act as a training school for Italian women. In connection with it her plan would include a Hostess House for girls passing through the city or employed there. Such a center would become eventually the center for all Y. W. C. A. work in Italy, both Italian and foreign. In her formal appeal for help for the Unione Christiana Delle Giovani (the Italian name for Young Women's Christian Association) Miss Niven has emphasized two facts, the poverty of the Italian Association on the one hand and the need and opportunity on the other for an American program in Italy at the present time. Miss Niven's favorite way of illustrating the friendliness of the Italian woman to America is by telling the story of the Italian mother who said she had token down the picture of the Madonna which had hung for many years over her bed and was putting in its place one of President Wilson. "In our work in the Unione we have lacked trained leadership as well as the material resources to give such training. We have had no means to buy modern equipment. Consequently we have not the visible results of American and British work. "Feeble as our work may be, it is not useless. Many girls in all parts of Italy have told us how much the Unione meant in their lives. Italian girls are touchingly grateful for the smallest efforts. They respond eagerly to friendliness.

"There is no other agency doing in Italy what the Association is trying to Miss Niven has spent the past seven years in work with the Italian women, starting as director of a hostel, or boarding home, for Italian women students at Florence. She is an American from New York, where she was one time head of the Christadora Settlement House, Educational courses to prepare women as aides in the rehabilitation of wounded soldiers have been opened at the Germantown, Pa., Young Women's Christian Association.

A reconstruction massage course, lectures in anatomy, physiology, muscle work and remedial movement massage, theory and practice, electrotherapy and hydrotherapy are given by doctors and nurses, who also supervise practical work at the Y. Similar courses have also been opened in the New York City Central Branch Y. W. C. A., where a specialty is made of brush-making with a view to training women as teachers for reconstruction hospitals.

SENIOR AND ADULT TOPIC—Causes

I. The Spies Sent Out (13:17-20). Less than two years have passed since the Israelites were delivered from Egyptian bondage. They are now at Kadesh-Barnea, within sight of the promised land. Moses urges them to go in and take immediate possession (Deut. 1:21) but they fail because of their unbelief (Heb. 3:19).

There was a threefold purpose in sending out the spies: (1) to see whether the land was as God had told them (v. 18); (2) to see whether the people who dwelt there were strong or weak, few or many (v. 18); (3) to see whether the cities were made up of strongholds or tents (v. 19). What folly! If God has spoken, to question his word is simply unbelief.

II. The Commission Executed (13:

They entered the land from the south and traversed it to its northern limits. They spent forty days in this investigating exploration. It is a sad comment upon human nature when men must spend forty days in finding out the truthfulness of God's word. On their return from the north they gathered some specimens of the fruit of the land. Two of them, perhaps Caleb and Joshua, bore a cluster of grapes upon a staff between them as a witness that God had spoken the truth about the land.

III. The Spies Rendered a Report (13:26-33)

On their return this committee of explorers rendered a report to the whole congregation. It was not unani-

1. The majority report (vv. 26-29.

(1) "The land floweth with milk and honey (v. 27). As a proof of it they exhibited the fruit. They all bore witness that this was in accordance with what God had said. (2) "The people who live there are strong" (v. 28). They seemed to stress this fact. Unbelief dwells mainly upon difficulties. (3) "The people live in walled cities" (v. 28). They argued that it was impossible to capture them in such sure defenses. (4) "The land was inhabited by giants" (v. 28 cf v. 33). They saw themselves as grasshoppers. Furthermore, they saw the people so distributed—the Amalekites in the south country, the Hittites, Jebusites and Amorites in the mountains and the Canaanites along the seathat it was impossible to take them. This, no doubt, seemed reasonable from the human side, but they displayed their folly in that they left God out of the question. The same God who said to them, "Go, possess the land," would go along to fight the battles. 2. The minority report (vv. 30-33). In part, this report agrees with the first; it does not ignore the difficulties, nor dispute the facts. It denies the conclusion of the majority. They did not minimize the task before them. but asserted that with God's help they were well able to get possession of the land, and urged immediate action. The ten had their eves on the difficalties, but Caleb and Joshua fixed their eyes upon God. Caleb lived to see his suggestion made real. The decisions of the majority are not always right. Just two men against the many thousands, but the thousands were wrong and the two were right. It is not always true that the "voice of the people is the voice of God."

IV. The Rebellion of the People 14:1-88).

This rebellion began by crying. Having left God out of the question they now weep and howl. This weeping and howling was followed by murmuring against Moses and Aaron. They even wished that they had died in the wilderness or in Egypt. God took them at their word; he sent them back to wander in the wilderness for thirty-eight years, during which time they all died except Caleb and Joshua. This was followed by a proposition to organize for the return to Egypt. They proposed to select a captain as their leader. The protest of Joshua and Caleb against this resulted in the proposition to stone them. At this point God interposed in their behalf. He manifested his glory before all the children of Israel in vindication of the loyalty of Joshua and Caleb.

DOMESTIC SERVICE COURSES PLANNED

Trained Home-Maker Is to Have an Eight Hour Day and Standard Minimum Wage.

Courses for training home assistants, who will go into the home by the day, hour or week and work on a schedule of hours and fixed wages, have been inaugurated by the Young Women's Christian Association as a means for meeting the problem of domestic service.

The object of this course, now being tried out in New York City, is to place domestic service on the same dignified basis as clerical work, trained nursing or other professions open to women.

The home assistant will work eight hours a day for a salary of $15 a week. She will not live in the home of her employer or take her meals there. She will have an hour for luncheon, when she can go to a restaurant or eat a lunch which she has brought with her just as she would were she employed in a factory. The employer will not address the home worker by her first name. She will be Miss Smith or Mrs. Brown, as the case may be.

Applicants for the course are carefully selected, and registrants are appearing in large numbers. With the same independence as to recreation hours, places of eating and living as the factory girl, house-work has a greater appeal, as being a less monotonous and more interesting work to the average woman.

The course is a thorough one in plain cooking, waiting on table and door, chamber work, plain sewing, care of children, making of menus and the washing and ironing of light things. Heavy work is to be done by outside workers. On graduation the student receives a certificate which proves her qualification as a dependable home worker capable of attending to all ordinary duties in a home. The Young Women's Christian Association has been interested in the problem of domestic service both from the standpoint of the employee and from that of the employer for some years. The first commission on Household Employment made its report at the fifth national convention of the Young Women's Christian Association held in Los Angeles, Cal., in May, 1915.

The difficulties of attracting capable women in this field of work were laid to the long hours, lack of independence in arranging recreation hours, lack of opportunities for growth and progress and lack of social standing. Girls have acquired a distaste for the conditions which govern household work since the freedom they have experienced in working in munition factories. By standardizing domestic service it is believed by the Young Women's Christian Association that a higher type of worker may be attracted to the necessary work in homes.

The American Y. W. C. A. has opened a Hostess House in Germany, which will serve as a residence house and social center for American women war workers who have advanced to do canteen, Red Cross and Signal Corps work with the Army of Occupation.

WOMEN BEGIN Y. W. C. A. FOREIGN TRADE COURSES

Courses in New York City Prepare Girls for South American Jobs.

Sensing a sudden call to jobs for American women in South America, the New York City Y. W. C. A. has opened Foreign Trade courses, including classes in shipping, filing orders, trade acceptances, tariff, consular invoices, documents, insurance, mail order trade and other lines of international work hitherto left mostly to men. These classes are designed to meet after-war needs.

South America is receiving particular attention as the Y. W. C. A. is informed of new jobs that are opening the southern countries. Many girls New York who combine a desire to the the world with a craving for finan-Mal independence are registering with the expectation of going there to get positions when their courses in training are completed.

All women in France are looking forward to the findings of the council as of tremendous importance not only to women in France, but all over the world. The purpose of the council is to collect and make available information about conditions and needs of women, to become acquainted with women who are identified with different kinds of work and to develop a few typical illustrations which will set standards for future permanent work.

Y. W. C. A. PROMOTES WORLD FELLOWSHIP

Will Send Industrial Commission to Meet Foreign Labor Leaders.

The War Work Council of the Young Women's Christian Association plans to send an industrial commission of women to England, France and Italy in April to meet prominent labor leaders of those countries with a view to promoting world fellowship among wo-

The commission will be made up of Mrs. Raymond Robbins, representing the National Women's Trade Union League of America: Mrs. Irene Osgood Andrews, American Association for Labor Legislation; Miss Grace Drake, National Consumers' League; Mrs. James S. Cushman, chairman of the War Work Council of the Young Women's Christian Association; Miss Florence Simms, Miss Marie Wing and Miss Imogene B. Ireland, secretary to the commission, all of the Y. W. C. A. and Miss Mary Gilson, an authority on employment management. Miss Florence Simms says in regard to the commission: "The war has forced upon us the bearing of international relationships in all things, and our touch with women in other countries has made us include in our international thinking the industrial life of women. The war has wrought so many changes in this that it seems a timely thing that women interested in the larger life of our women workers should take counsel together and express their interest with the hope that certain minimum standards which seem essential to health and welfare among women may be agreed upon and obtained

Our War Work Council is sending abroad this women's commission from organizations in America directly concerned with the welfare and largest life of industrial women."

THIS HUN REALIZED GERMANY WAS BEATEN

With the American Army, Andernach, Germany, Feb. 10.—How a German cafe proprietor was forced to abandon the sale of beer to the fraus and herrs of the village so that he could serve hot chocolate to the American soldiers as they marched by on their way into Germany is one of the stories of the advance of the Thirty-second Division. It happened at Andernach. C. P. Kelpman, a Y. M. C. A. secretary attached to the Division, could find no convenient place in the village from which to serve hot chocolate to the men as they tramped by, worn out from their long march. Then he came upon a cafe admirably situated by the roadside. But the Herr Bartender and proprietor at first refused to exchange the joys of drawing deep foamed beer for the milder thrill of pouring hot chocolate for the men in khaki.

"Nein, nein!" he remonstrated dis-dainfully. "It is beer I serve. Heise chokolade-that is a drink for old wo-"I guess you didn't get me," the Y.

M. C. A. man told him. "The American soldiers want hot chocolate. And the American soldiers have got to have what they want."

Herr Bartender said no more. Silently he poured the chocolate made by the Y. M. C. A. man, and with resignation he accepted the small fee that he was permitted to charge. But there was a melancholy and a meditative look in his eyes. It seemed to occur to him for the first time that when a man could be torn from beer pouring thus, it must be that Germany had been beaten in the war!

Y. M. C. A. FULFILLING AFTER-WAR TASK

The war work of the Y. M. C. A. has been a gigantic task, but the "peace work" is to be even bigger, both in Europe and the United States, if the need of American troops for relaxation and amusement during the period of demobilization is to be met.

Figures just compiled by the Eastern Department show that since the armistice was signed "Y" service among soldiers and sailors in New York, New Jersey, Maryland, District of Columbia, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Virginia and West Virginia has made an enormous jump, and with these figures as a basis the Eastern Department has set out to provide more and more service for the troops until the difficult period of readjustment is entirely over.

The month following the armistice the attendance at "Y" buildings in these eight states was 6,314,793, making an increase of 184,625 over the month preceding. In the huts the most spectacular jump was, perhaps, in the amount of money orders sold by the The increase here was $558,-645.78 over November, and the total was $742,556.28. In December there were 154 more lectures given under the direction of the "Y" than in November, with a total of 820 during the month, or 205 a week. Library circulation in the huts also was quickened by the armistice; 37,378 more books were given out in December than in November.

Free motion picture exhibitions given by the Y. M. C. A. had their "peak" month in December, when the number of shows was increased by 459, the attendance by 122,467 and the number of feet of film used by 1,988,000. The totals were 2,504 exhibitions, 1,621,465 in attendance and 12,628,000 feet of film used.

Entertainments furnished free to men in uniform in "Y" buildings were attended by 320,944 more men than were those given in November. An additional 176 entertainers were booked at these shows and 281 more shows were staged than during the previous month making a total of 750 entertainers, 1,684 entertainments and 1,116,-094 in attendance.

THE DOUGHBOY, NOT THE "Y," WAS WRONG

The doughboy's lordly indifference to French money-for he simply would not bother to learn about francs and centimes-was one of the prime reasons for the accusation that the Y. M. C. A. overcharged in its canteen service in France. Stories are now coming back to the United States which show that because the American soldier thought in American money while the Y. M. C. A. dealt in French money misunderstandings arose, and the "Y" suffered criticism in consequence.

In appearance the French france looks much like the American quarter, and unconsciously one feels that it should have the same purchasing power. Its actual current value, however, is about seventeen and one-half cents. When used in a Y. M. C. A. canteen to purchase a standard article whose pre-war price had been ten cents, and to whose increased cost the "Y" was forced to add five cents for ocean transportation, it yielded the soldier so little change that unless he took all the facts into consideration he felt he was being robbed.

Also, when a doughboy read the price of an apple, for example, as "25 cts." and thought that the Y. M. C. A. was charging hlm a quarter, he had quite a right to feel abused-until he emembered that "cts." is the French abbreviation for centimes and that twenty-five centimes equals five cents. Often he didn't remember, however, and that is one reason why the Y. M. C. A. has been said to overcharge.

THE REPORT OF THE PROPERTY OF

GOWDY WOULD LEAVE PALACE FOR DIAMOND

Paris, Feb. 10 .-- At the "front" hardships have given place to softships, according to all reports reaching Paris. Consider the case of Color Sergeant Hank Gowdy of Headquarters' Company in the Ohio Regiment, Rainbow Division, the first professional baseball player to volunteer for services with the American fighting forces, who recently nestled in a somewhat insufficient indenture of a hillside near Exermont. He now occupies, with a

Rhine palace. The fittings there are perfect, from silken coverlids and a chaise-longue to a jeweled bedside lamp. The only thing that worries Sergeant Gowdy now is a guidebook which says that "the Seven Hills were placed there by the Giants."

"It didn't happen when I knew them," he says. Sergeant Gowdy's favorite reading, however, is not guidebooks, but a set of clippings quoting General March as saying that all big league baseball players will be recalled from service in time for Spring training. With this set of clippings Hank is able to pass away whole hours, perfectly contented. Gifts of cigarettes and chocolate from Y. M. C. A. men, the loudest enthusiasm of newly arrived doughboys over the luxurious quarters they have found waiting them, fail to rouse Hank from his lethargic state.

The inside facts of the matter are that Sergeant Gowdy is all fed up on whiz-bangs and shrapnel shells and palaces and castles and, in the midst of what some would call delights, cannot help yearning for something with a real thrill in it-the crack of a bat, for instance. Hank would jump at the chance to trade his present abodeieweled bedside lamps and all-for a three room flat overlooking the Boston

Stone Goes the Rounds. A merchant in a little town does business with an illiterate farm woman who comes to town once a month and trades him 20 pounds of butter for 20 pounds of sugar.

She is too ignorant to know the price of butter, but she is smart enough to know other things. The butter she brings him comes in the form of a big roll, and inside the roll of butter the woman always hides a stone weighing three pounds. Every time she brings the butter the merchant cuts open the roll and takes out the stone and puts Pictures sent back by Y. M. C. A. secretaries, who a few weeks ago had no huts save the packs on their backs, now show them entertaining doughboys with all the comforts of a millionaires' club.
