STATUS OF BELATED INCOME TAX RETURNS.

A Policy of Leniency Indicated where Excuses are Good.

Washington, March 17th.—Persons who neglected to pay the first installment of income taxes last Saturday have lost the installment payment privilege and must now pay their entire tax upon demand of a revenue collector.

To avoid the penalty of 25 percent in addition to the regular tax, persons who failed to file returns Saturday may now submit belated returns with a sworn statement of the reason for delinquency. Without this the penalty will be imposed.

These policies, announced today by Internal Revenue Commissioner Roper, are intended to grant a degree of leniency to those who, for some legitimate reason, failed to file their returns when they are due. By law, however, the installment payment privilege is removed from all failing to make payments on time, and the Internal Revenue Bureau has no authority to change this provision.

A Revenue Bureau statement, in explanation, follows:

Revenue collectors will accept all delinquent returns presented after March 15 and deposit any payment made therewith. Under law failure to make first payment by March 15 automatically makes the whole tax payable immediately. Taxpayers filing income returns subsequent to March 15, therefore, must pay in full, but if the taxpayer submits a partial payment he will be notified of the balance due later in the regular procedure of listing and sending notices. In reference to the penalty of 25 percent additional tax for all delinquents, the policy will be to proceed sympathetically in accordance with the regulations permitting the taxpayer, if he desires, to file an affidavit within 10 days, explaining the cause of delinquency.

The statement was taken to indicate that persons who paid their taxes later than Saturday may have as much as 60 days in which to pay the remaining three-quarters.

Revenue collectors have been instructed to use their own discretion in determining what constitutes a reasonable cause for failure to make returns or payments on time.

In Favor of "The Clock" Ruling.

We have a lengthy communication from Prof. H. E. Slagen, principal of Stephens High School, Lancaster, Pa., in which he takes exceptions to the opinions expressed in our little article, last week, on "The Daylight Saving Fiction." The article is condensed somewhat, for the reason that we do not want to enter into any controversy over the matter. He says in part:

"Doubtless it is true, as you say, that those who work 'from Sun to Sun' will still do so, no matter what the clock may say. But, such a condition of labor exists only in agricultural sections, and, as your own statement admits, those who so work have no regard for the clock."

"The Record's assertion that 'the law does not regulate the hours for beginning work' is simply ridiculous. Evidently the Record forgets that in all the larger towns and in the cities, where industrial and commercial activities flourish, all work does proceed on a strictly observed time schedule. The worker has a fixed time for beginning and a fixed time for quitting and during the long, pleasant days of summer it means much for those thousands in factory, store and office, to get their work started an hour earlier in the morning and finished an hour earlier in the afternoon."

"The Record's argument that 'there is no law to prevent employees from changing the hours of work under the present time' has no force. True, there is no such law. But the Record will need to reflect only a moment to realize the difficulty of securing such action co-operatively by all manufacturers and merchants of a city."

"The Record's stand that 'the scheme, for meritorious at all, should stay in force winter and summer,' is equally untenable. For in the short, cold days of winter it is advantageous to begin work later in the morning, while the gain of an hour in the evening would be practically useless, because during that season outdoor recreation and avocational pursuits are for the most part abandoned."

Soldiers' Letters.

Some papers have discontinued the practice of publishing "Soldiers' Letters" on the ground that the war story, as they tell it, is very much alike, and it has been told over and over again, practically a duplication of individual experiences. We have made no decision in the matter, but think hereafter it will be our policy to confine the publication of such letters to those containing new features, or which may be of more than usual local interest, eliminating portions more or less commonplace.

A RED CROSS ACTIVITY.

An Opportunity to Join a Class in Home Nursing.

Now that many activities in connection with the war have ceased, the Red Cross is using their extensive organization to develop an interest in public health in every community. To this end, an extensive program is being developed, in which one of the most useful features is the Course in Elementary Hygiene and Home Care of the Sick.

The purpose of this is to instruct women in the simple principles of personal and household hygiene, so that the homes of our country may be guarded from disease and prepared to meet intelligently any future epidemic, such as we have recently suffered from influenza.

This experience has taught us how valuable even a slight knowledge of practical nursing may prove. It is estimated that ten times as many people died in the last year, in the U. S., from influenza as were killed in the American army during the war. Preventable diseases, such as ordinarily attack children, annually cause thousands of deaths.

What woman would not give anything to purchase good health and strength for her family? The best way to do our part to this end is to take advantage of every opportunity to increase our knowledge on this subject.

This Home Nursing Course is to be given for the benefit of women in this vicinity, beginning about April 1st.

The course will be of real value to those now doing practical nursing, or who think of taking up such nursing in the future.

It consists of 15 lessons. The charge will be very small, expenses being met by the Red Cross Branch. All those wishing to join these classes, or who know of any other persons, will please send in their name at once. Information will be gladly given by Miss Anna Galt, or by the Secretary, Eliza R. Birnie.

A Missionary Tour.

(For The Record.)

Dr. E. C. Bixler, of the Blue Ridge College Faculty, and Elder Wm. E. Roop, District Missionary Educational Secretary, recently made a tour of the Eastern Shore and Delware, in the interests of Missions and other church work. The trip took several days, covering several hundred miles.

At Denton, Elder Roop installed their newly chosen pastor, Elder Levi K. Zigler, of Lancaster Co., Pa., while Dr. Bixler gave a discourse to the congregation of that place on the "Simple Life." At the Green Hill church, near Pocomoke City, Dr. Bixler repeated his discourse, and delegates were arranged for, both for District and Annual Meeting.

At Greenwood, Del., two deacons were elected to assist in the prosperous Mission at that place. They have recently purchased a substantial concrete block building, which has been dedicated for church and S. S. purposes.

Parcel Post Eggs 35c Dozen.

Eighty-five crates of eggs, from Lancaster, Pa., were delivered in Philadelphia, this week to customers, at 35c per dozen. The eggs cost 32c in Lancaster, plus 3c per dozen postage, and had been ordered by householders from farmers whose names had been secured at the postoffice. The market price of eggs in Philadelphia, the same day, was from 50 to 60 cents a dozen. The demonstration was made by the motor truck service connected with the Postoffice, apparently showing how it can be operated to reduce living costs.

The Navy Wants Young Men.

Commander Leahy, Navy Recruiting Officer for Maryland, has been urged by the Navy Department to make special efforts to obtain men for the Hospital Corps, Seamen, Machinists Mates, Firemen and Colored Mess Attendants.

During the past few weeks Maryland's quota for the Hospital Corps has not been filled, and this branch of the service offers an unusual opportunity to men with ordinary school education, who are active and desire quick advancement.

All branches of the service are open for enlistments, and the opportunities for promotion were never better. Men who enlisted for the duration of the war are being rapidly disenrolled or discharged, and their places must be filled in order to man the ships which are needed to bring the soldiers back from France.

Young men can enlist between the ages of 17 and 35 and can work their way from ordinary seamen to the highest rank of the American Navy. One hundred young men each year are picked from the enlisted force and sent to the Naval Academy at Annapolis to be trained as Officers, and this opening gives every young man a splendid opportunity, if he is energetic enough to take advantage of it.

For further information apply to the Navy Recruiting Station, Calvert & Lexington Sts., Baltimore, or the sub-station in the Auhingbaugh Building, Hagerstown, or 113 Baltimore St., Cumberland, Md.

PEACE TREATY AND LEAGUE STATUS.

President Wilson Forces a Combination of the Two Important Questions.

The news reports from France as to the status of Peace, and the League of Nations program, are conflicting, depending largely on the viewpoints of the correspondents. It has been stated, during the week, that the objections voiced by the Senate and press of this country will receive but little consideration in the amended draft; and also, that the opposition is being considered, and that efforts will be made to overcome most of the objections expressed here.

It has also been stated that England and France had decided on a separation of the Peace Treaty and the League proposition, but that on President Wilson's return he demanded no separation, giving as one of his reasons that this would be playing right into the hands of the Republican opposition in this country.

We are also told that the President wants to "stand pat" largely on the original draft, and come back to this country and make a tour, appealing to public sentiment to back him up and put his ideas through.

The probability seems to be that President Wilson will at least succeed in hitching the two questions together, but that it may not be impossible to separate them when they come before the Senate, which seems to be Mr. Taft's conclusion—that the Peace Treaty, or preliminary pact, can be entered into with Germany, and the League proposition be discussed more at leisure.

There is also much variation as to the probable time when the work of the commission will be concluded, extending all the way from early in April to May 15. There is much criticism in Europe, as here, over the work of the Commission. We are evidently not getting full reports of the situation, just as France is not getting all of the unfavorable comment from this country. Censorship of the cables is held to be a pronounced fact.

The Lodge-Lowell debate, in Boston, on Wednesday night, developed no new facts, and but little new argument. Senator Lodge attacked the constitution as drawn as a "porous instrument" on which the signers themselves would be at odds within twelve months. He denied that he, or the opposition, was opposed to any League of Nations, saying "If the League shall be put in such shape that it will promote peace instead of breeding disorder, I will support it." That he hoped such a League would be framed somewhere, but that it was his belief it will not be done in Paris.

Prof. Lowell said the United States must soon decide whether it shall take its place as an arbiter of the great questions of the whole world, with other nations, or whether it shall turn its face selfishly away. He maintained the correctness of the present covenant, in principle, arguing that while "very defective" in its drafting and "easily misunderstood" it should be "accepted and improved," he advocated permission to withdraw from the League, and that purely American questions should be excepted; all of which is very much just what the opponents of the League are contending for.

Dr. E. J. Dillon, one of the Paris correspondents, says:

"Whether the new ordering of the world will have President Wilson's league of nations for its organ, is still highly doubtful. The covenant, as it stands today, and even when modified by amendments to be proposed by neutrals tomorrow, is no easy dose for Allies, neutrals or enemies. The Japanese, Scandinavians, Russians and Germans all have serious objections to present, and objections which cannot possibly be disposed of in time to insert a workable charter in the preliminary peace treaty. Hence even cordial friends of President Wilson are profoundly uneasy."

"Several delegates have confided to me their dissatisfaction with the covenant on grounds that cannot be dislodged before the presentation of the terms of peace. Even between French and American delegates the divergence is so considerable that while Minister Pichon was telling foreign correspondents Sunday that the league of nations would not figure in the peace preliminaries, American delegates were loudly asseverating to the contrary."

"In fairness it should be acknowledged that President Wilson's tactics to save the league of nations by conjoining the covenant indissolubly with the peace terms are perhaps commendable, certainly permissible, provided the league is what it professes to be, namely, a sheet anchor of safety for the peoples of the world. It certainly appeared to be this when first promulgated, but hardly anybody now believes that the covenant as recently published can solve the grandiose problem of permanent peace. It has too many vital defects too powerful enemies among neutrals, too many Laodiceans among supposed friends."

A league of peoples is indeed become a necessity, but not a league of governments deliberating in secret session, issuing arbitrary decrees and imposing them by a pressure hardly distinguishable from force."

COAL PRICE LIKELY HIGHER.

Consumers Holding off, Despite the Notice of Rise.

We clip the following from the business section of the Philadelphia Ledger, and give it for what it may be worth as applying to the outlook for future coal prices:

"Though signs of activity are by no means wanting, the coal market in general lacks snap. The brakes are still being applied to industry, and until the wheels are unlocked the coal mines perforce must continue to work only half time, and mine employees must continue to complain that the shorter week does not enable them to meet the high cost of living (if they do not take it into their heads to evince their dissatisfaction through the well known medium of the strike.)"

Shortsighted consumers are still of the belief that coal prices will go lower if they hold off their purchases for a while longer, in spite of the fact that every grain of common sense they possess should influence them to the contrary. If labor troubles materialize at the mines, and the possibility is by no means remote, there are going to be many consumers who will wish they had bought coal while the buying was good. Prices cannot come down. The closing of a great number of mines should be proof conclusive that no indiscriminate price-cutting will be practiced by the operators. Either they do business at a reasonable profit or they do no business at all."

As yet, the anthracite trade has not reacted to the announcement that prices would not go lower on April 1. Dealers and consumers will doubtless commence to lay in stocks before May 1, when an increase of ten cents a ton goes into effect. The only demand for anthracite and nut coal, being sold a fair amount of pea is also, while sold. Domestic demand there is none, and it is natural to expect a season of the keenest competition in the steam trade.

Devastated France.

A county meeting in the interest of the American Committee for Devastated France, will be held in the Council of Defense room, Times building, Westminster, on Monday afternoon, March 24th, at 3 o'clock. A speaker from the French High Commission at Washington, D. C., will be present and make a short and informal talk, relative to reconstruction work in the devastated regions of France.

It is important that each district of the county be well represented at the meeting, and all are invited to attend.

HOW THE COWS GET UP.

An Old Question, With Prize Offered For Best Answer.

Zoologists and all who love animals will be interested in an important question asked last week in an advertisement:

"Why does a horse, when it arises, get on its front feet first, and a cow get on its hind feet first?"

A prize is offered for the best answer. Some of those received are: "A cow chews a cud; she does not want to swallow the cud, so she gets up hind feet first."

"It's an example of heredity and evolution. The first cow arose hindmost first and cows have been getting up that way ever since."

"A cow cannot bend its forelegs; a horse can."

"The horse, being intelligent, wants to see where it's at."

"A cow's hind legs are stronger than her fore legs."

"A cow is greedy and wants to keep on eating, even while she is getting up."

"All animals with split hoofs get up hind end first, all animals with undivided hoofs get up front end first."

(Farmers say this answer is faulty. The hog gets up front end first, or, if there is anything to eat in sight, both ends at once.)

"A horse is used to having a bit put in his mouth, so he gets up head first to receive the bit."

"No one smacks a cow on the head to make her get up. She wants to let you know she's getting up."

"A horse arises head first so as to get to his manger quicker. A cow keeps her head down when she browses."

The advertisers ask for answers more scientific. The prize has not been awarded.—Winstead, Conn., dispatch, in N. Y. World.

Editor Wickert Married.

The Record congratulates Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Wickert, of Hampstead, on their recent entry into matrimony. Mr. Wickert is editor of the Hampstead Enterprise, and some years ago was a valued employee of The Record. The bride is a daughter of Wm. G. Stone, of Hampstead.

Sweet Corn Growers' Meeting.

There will be a meeting of all the sweet corn growers of Carroll county in the Firemen's Hall, Westminster, on Tuesday, March 25, at 1:30 P. M. The purpose of the meeting is to form a Sweet Corn Growers' Association. The question of production and price will be discussed. All sweet corn producers are urged to be present.

THE TAX-PAYERS' BURDEN.

A Pleasant Prospect for the Next 25 Years to Come.

Hon. Arthur Capper, the new U. S. Senator from Kansas, in a recent article, is decidedly outspoken as to the lavish expenditure of public funds in Washington. He says:

"Americans often are accused of being dollar worshippers, but their administrators at Washington appear to hate the sight of money judging from the manner with which they throw it away and try to get rid of it."

"It is due to this riot of indiscriminate and unexampled spending that the American people at the present time are the most heavily taxed Nation on the globe."

"The Treasurer of the United States estimates it will cost American taxpayers 1200 million dollars a year for the next twenty-five years to pay off our war debt, less the amounts lent to the allies."

"This means we must be taxed every year for twenty-five years to raise 765 million dollars annual interest to be paid to bondholders. Also for an additional 417 millions a year to go into a sinking fund in order to pay off the principal."

"In other words, to lift this debt on the instalment plan—and we now can lift it in no other way—we must pay 30 billions of dollars to square a debt of 18 billions of dollars."

"It is estimated that our total expenditures for the war itself will aggregate 30 billions, or 10 billions more than the combined resources of the twelve Federal Reserve banks."

"For a standing army of 175,000 men $1,070,000,000 would have been appropriated had Congress been able to reach the bill. That ought to give us an army of 175,000 Major Generals instead of soldiers."

"No country on the face of the earth ever spent so much money on its military arm in time of peace as these appropriations for our Army and Navy. The Naval appropriation alone exceeds the combined annual Naval budgets of the three greatest world's maritime powers preceding the war."

Proceedings of the Orphans' Court.

Monday, March 17, 1919.—Clara Smith Billingslea, executrix of Chas. Billingslea, deceased, received an order to sell stocks and bonds and settled her first account.

The last will and testament of David W. Burns, deceased, was admitted to probate and letters testamentary thereon were granted unto John D. Kauffman, who received warrant to appraise and an order to notify creditors.

Letters of administration d. b. n. on the estate of Chas. A. Hartsock, deceased, were granted unto Mary E. Hartsock, who returned an inventory of debts and settled his first and final account.

Tuesday, March 18, 1919.—John D. Kauffman, executor of David W. Burns, deceased, returned an inventory of personal property and money.

Wm. H. Seipp, executor of Eliza A. Seipp, deceased, returned an inventory of personal property, debts and money, and received orders to sell personal property and stock.

Harry M. and Ernest R. Myers, executors of Joseph Myers, deceased, returned an inventory of personal property, debts and money, and received an order to sell personal property.

Lillian E. Roberts, administratrix of Albert N. Roberts, deceased, reported sale of personal property.

George L. Stocksdaile, executor of Eliza J. Stocksdaile, deceased, settled his second account.

Ira G. Lawver, executor of Jessiah Lawver, deceased, reported sale of personal property.

Harry M. and J. Brooks Mellor, administrators of Edwin M. Mellor, deceased, settled their first and final account.

No Reduction in Paper Cost.

Recent indications are that the cost of printing paper of all kinds will stay on its high perch for some time to come. The manufacturers, the pulp industry, and labor, seem to be in control of the situation, and the printer must "pay the price." The following is a brief review of the situation, as given by one of the large paper producing firms of this country:

The cost of paper, as of all commodities, is governed by the prices of raw materials and of labor. The paper mills of the country have bought their wood and sulphite for the first quarter of this year at an advance over the highest prices registered at any time during the war and labor has indicated no disposition to accept a lower wage than that which it commanded as the direct result of the shortage of man-power resulting from the draft. Swedish Pulp, contrary to the common anticipation, has advanced in price and even so, it is practically unobtainable in world markets and will remain so until the ice breaks up and permits the resumption of navigation from northern ports. The bogie of an enormous tonnage of pulp and paper supposed to have been accumulated by the Germans to be released in a world-sweeping deluge at the conclusion of the war, has failed to materialize.

A meeting was held at the Y. M. C. A. building, Baltimore, on Wednesday evening, for the purpose of organizing a "Carroll County Society, of Baltimore," the purpose of the organization being to give prominence to matters of interest to the County, and to promote friendship and social intercourse.

THE GERMAN FLEET MAY BE DESTROYED.

A Queer Way of Disposing of a Troublesome Question.

It now appears highly probable that the German fleet will be destroyed, in order to prevent possible trouble among the allies over its distribution. This is not given as the main reason, but it crops out. The President is reported to be in favor of the plan, as a tendency toward National disarmament; at any rate, America would not be a beneficiary of the divide-up.

The vessels are said to be of varying value and design, the most of them of the obsolete class, and not enough of the better class to "go around." Whether destruction means sinking, or being turned into junk, has not been made clear; in fact, the matter, like most others of importance connected with "peace," has not been decided. It begins to look as though the conference would like to "let George do it" in many of the disputes arising, which is not reassuring as to the general outcome.

Wood Should Be Sold By Weight.

Wood for fuel should be sold by weight instead of by cord measure, for the heating value depends not upon the bulk of the wood but upon its weight, say foresters of the United States Department of Agriculture in Bulletin 753 recently published. A pound of dry wood of one species has about as much heating value as a pound of any other species, but two cords may vary 100% in their value for heating.

It is the custom to sell hardwoods and softwoods at slightly different prices, because of differences in heating values. This is only a superficial classification, however, as two species of hardwoods may have heating value widely different. Where hardwoods and softwoods are mixed together without regard to the proportion of each, the values may be so different that one man may, for the same money, buy twice as much heating value as another. The shape and size of the sticks may also cause great variation in the actual amount of wood substance, and therefore of fuel. If weight were the measure, the species, shape, and size of sticks would make little difference, provided the wood were thoroughly seasoned. It would be necessary, however, to fix certain standards as to time of seasoning of wood, the specialists say.

The Song of the County Agent.

For farmers we labor the whole year thru'

There's nothing that we're not asked to do;

From doctor the soil to doctor the pig,

There's not a job considered too big.

From morn 'till night, we're on the go

Tired out, perhaps—we still run on

"low."

For where there's a need for advice

or aid

We're supposed to go—for that we're paid.

At break of day we hustle around—

Crank the Ford—tear over the ground

At eventide we drive back home;

The wife calls out: "Come answer the phone."

When Sunday comes we plan to stay

Home with the family for one whole day.

Play with the kiddies, talk to the wife

Rest for awhile—get a new lease on life.

But like those "plans o' mice and men,"

Dreams are shattered—the phone rings again.

For "Farmer Bill is all in a worry

And out to his farm he wants you to hurry."

The pigs are sick or they have a cough

The army worm's eatin' the oats all off,

The clover's dying, or the corn won't sprout,

Or the winter has heaved the alfalfa out.

And when the war was on full blast,

New duties came both quick and fast,

Reports and blanks and questionnaires

Brought us naught, save more gray hairs.

And so it goes the whole year thru,

Each day brings on more work to do,

But like Pollyanna, we're glad 'tis true;

We're glad we can learn and live and do.

To be of service is our motto now;

We like to be told just when and how

We can help the farmer the world to feed.

To give him assistance in his every need.

E'en though we are busy; we're happy too;

No matter the weather, we're never blue;

We carry a lot of joy and good cheer

For all the folk for all the year.

We used to hear frequently of the Allies "marching into Berlin," and many expressed the desire that Germany should suffer devastation, as well as France and Belgium. These penalties are being suffered now, and perhaps before they end, their severity will be all the greater because inflicted from within.

Too much "waiting for prices to come down" will not bring the advantage sought. Years ago, when everything was cheap, the people did not have the money to buy, even at the low prices. The "selling price," is not nearly so important as "having the price"; and the probability now is, in many instances, that lowered prices will mean lowered ability to buy.

Messrs. Preston and Williams are having a lively set-to for the Democratic nomination for the Mayoralty of Baltimore, and are saying some things likely to curl the hair. After the tug is over, Mr. Broening, the lone Republican candidate may naturally be expected to make use of some of the discarded clubs of the enemy, to try to show the "gentlemen of the jury" their proper verdict.

It is not all "home-sickness" nor mere patriotism, that inspires so many thousands of our boys in France to wish for return to "the good old U. S." They have seen the country "over there," much of it devastated by war, it is true, but they have also seen much in its pre-war state, and by comparison it does not measure up with ours. The boys are telling the truth—the United States is the country in which to live.

The truth is, the European countries are very anxious to add the United States to their police force, to help them quell their own disorders. So doing would not only save them great expense, but give them a greater industrial army, and at the same time permit them to play a hand in American politics and business. Just how far the real obligation of the United States extends in this direction, is the big question. What Europe wants, is not the question.

Wait Until the Evidence is all in Court.

It would be very unfortunate should the Peace League be made a partisan question, or an anti-Wilson issue. It is much too big, and too all-important for that. It is a bigger question, even, than future world peace, because it involves our National freedom and our very sovereignty as a Nation; it means, in its broad sense, whether we shall adhere to our own Nationalism, or whether we shall become one of the units of an International World League—at least, many of our wisest men think it does.

Should the question be made one for a permanent lineup, it would be better that it should split present parties, rather than be a blind party slogan. Better still, it should be discussed and ventilated with as little reference as possible to parties, and the calling of names. Fortunately, the parties are split over the question; but unfortunately there is a considerable element of anti-Wilson sentiment discernible in the split.

Just now, there does not appear to be any need for haste in the average individual reaching his own conclusion. It will be far better to wait a while until the evidence is all in court; until the Constitution of the League appears to be finished; and even then, as in the discussion of legislation in Congress, there should be the opportunity for conferences and final agreements.

There is just one point on which it appears to us that there should be little difference of opinion, and that is that the Peace League, and the conclusion of peace terms with Germany, should not be insisted on as one and the same effort. Holding to this combination, it seems to us, looks like forcing the latter as a "rider" to the former, as though the former was too weak to stand alone.

It is worse than foolish for Peace League enthusiasts to assume that their stand represents pure desire for world peace, and that the opponents stand for future wars. No man big enough to hold an opinion worth listening to, is fool enough to favor war; and it may be absolutely taken for granted that this sort of argument is mere slush. It is the fear that the remedy proposed will be worse than the present dangerous status of world affairs, that impels most people to doubt the effectiveness of the League, that is causing the diverging opinions. It is the full knowledge that man-made agreements—no matter what they may be called—can be man-broken, and that Nations are composed of mere men.

"For Revenue Only."

It is a perfectly safe bet that the next Congress will try a willing hand at tariff making. Republicans have never agreed to abandon their "protection" doctrines, and have simply been waiting their opportunity to get into power again, and write new tariff schedules. The party, in fact, is so thoroughly grounded on the policy of "protection to American industries," that anything less than tariff revision now would be considered abandoning the chief rule and guide—the chart and compass—of the party.

This time, it will be especially interesting to note the course of the Democratic members, for just as religiously and consistently has the policy of that party been one of "Tariff for revenue only," and just now "revenue" is the one thing this country most needs in the way of legislation. As some of the members of the party have heretofore excused themselves for voting for higher duties, claiming that the protection thereby given was "incidental," it will be interesting to see how the urgent need for more revenue may now influence still more of them to agree to a still greater extension of the "incidental" excuse.

As a matter of fact, protection sentiment has been pretty rapidly growing in the South, because of the great increase of manufacturing industries. It may therefore be possible that while, as a party, the old enemies of the word "protection" may put up a strong show of not surrendering their convictions on the subject, they may possibly admit the need of "more revenue" and justify the soundness of their old time shibboleth, and their own consistency.

Another fact that will lend a great deal of interest to the tariff schedules, is the relation it will have to labor and wages. Evidently, under the present very low tariff rates, and considering the intensity of the desire of foreign countries to sell us goods, it is easy to figure on how difficult it will be for our own manufacturers to pay anything like the present scale of American wages, and do business.

It seems to us, that entirely aside from the old conflict, and the relative merits of "protection" and "revenue" arguments, pro and con, it is entirely good business policy and judgment to raise large sums of money through the custom houses. Even if the "tariff is a tax"—which the Democrats affirmed, and the Republicans negatived—why should not a "tax" actually be placed on merchandise, and thereby widely distribute the present great National burden?

Taking the various angles of the question, the distinct probability is that a very old and tiresome bone of contention bids fair develop into a really interesting debate—a sort of rejuvenation of an old story and quarrel that the country, as a whole, had pretty generally become heartily tired of.

Gettysburg's Bad Reputation.

Gettysburg is receiving a great deal of unenviable notoriety, and considerable lambasting for local conditions, due to the recent occurrence there of several murderous attacks on citizens, and the charge is openly made that the authorities and public voices of the town have been "keeping quiet" as to numerous vices that have been capitalized, to some extent, for the financial profit of the noted little city.

Just how much real truth there may be in these "eleventh hour" criticisms, we are unable to determine, but we fear that there is enough to point a moral for future use. Gettysburg has sought the soldier camp, and has in many ways—including Sunday excursions—made a "good thing" out of the battle-field. Very naturally, many questionable characters—men and women—have been attracted to the place to ply their vocations and divide revenues with the local beneficiaries, and it is just as natural that these "attractions" should leave an unhealthy atmosphere of corruption behind to infect local young men, if not others as well.

Booze, women, gambling, pick-pockets, and a more or less "open" town, inviting to all classes of visitors, can not be long continued, anywhere, with safety to public local morals, and it is just possible that there is only too much truth in the charge that the good people of the town have too quietly permitted many things to flourish there—because it "helped business."

Gettysburg owes it to itself, and to the sacred trust confided to it—the National Cemetery—to take at least some warning from its recent lawlessness, and not close its conscience against its just responsibilities. We are of the opinion that Prohibition will be a blessing to the place, and will bring about many salutary changes that the citizens have been slow to invite. The town itself is not bad; it is full of the very best people; but it is just possible that conditions have grown up there, that, for many years, have been accepted as a matter of course—as things evil, yet unavoidable—without much united effort to resist or rectify.

Waiting For Somebody Else.

The following letter to the Philadelphia Ledger, from Mr. Evans, its Chicago market and financial reporter, is of interest as showing the temper of the business situation, which apparently is one of waiting for the "other fellow" to "start something." He says:

"Everybody wants somebody else to do it. That is one of the most serious obstacles to a forward movement in business. Wages have not come down and material has declined little because the contractor is afraid wages will not go lower. Such spectacular declines as those in the copper market do not impress experienced men because copper has always been subject to rapid changes."

In this city recent prices of material have been near the top figures. A Chicago company, whose operations extend to many parts of the world, announces a 25% price reduction in boilers, radiators and vacuum cleaners, but this looks small to the builder, who has seen prices advance 100 per cent. from the normal and who cannot figure out a good income on the capital he would have to invest.

An organization of municipal contractors in this state, first frightening those to whom it addresses its appeals with predictions of "strikes and revolutionary turbulence," asks us to encourage migration to the far northwestern states, where there is room "for millions." Chicago builders and capitalists are urging the development of special localities, but the former do not make any considerable sacrifices and the latter prefer to keep their funds in securities yielding 6 to 7 per cent.

The government announces that the amount of money available for federal aid in highway building is the largest ever set aside by any nation, but co-operation with the states appears not to have been attained, and there are no active preparations for this work. Clearly there is need of a leader who will smash something.

The tax payments and the pendency of the great loan come at an unfortunate time for these purposes. It is in the spring that such operations are commonly initiated. One case illustrates many. A capitalist of this city would like to make an investment of $200,000 in an enterprise which, under ordinary conditions, would yield 30 per cent income, but he figures that of that 30 per cent, he would finally get 4 per cent, taxes getting the rest. He will not go in. He and other persons find that axes are now discouraging improvements everywhere.

Hardly can he blame the government, however, we must fall back on the barbarism of Germany. He perhaps has ground for complaint because he has not received his tax blank and has been obliged to go to a broker's office for one. Meanwhile, he wonders at a system which obliges a busy man to make out his schedule within a period of ten days. He wonders, too, how much the productivity of the country, and consequently the federal income, will be reduced by the absorption of millions of able men in this work of disentangling a complicated document calling on them for money.

There is a tremendous yearning for somebody to give business the word, "go." Naturally, the government, as the greatest business organization, is looked to, but the puzzled citizen glances toward Washington and sees neither President nor Congress. He asks if there is not some defect in a system that would lead to such a state of affairs. Little disposition exists to blame anybody for these conditions, but there is considerable lamentation over their existence.

Forgot What He Needed.

From the Republican, Mt., Gilead, Ohio: The editor had an interesting experience some time ago, when a young gentleman came to this office and asked for a copy of the Morrow County Republican. He scrutinized it carefully when a copy was handed him, and then said: "Now I know!" "What is it you are looking for," we inquired. "My wife sent me after a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and I forgot the name. I went to several stores and the clerks named over everything in the line on the shelf except 'Chamberlain's.' I'll try again, I'll never go home without Chamberlain's Cough Remedy." The Republican would suggest to the proprietors of stores, that they post their clerks, and never let them substitute. Customers lose faith in stores where substituting is permitted, to say nothing of the injustice to makers of good goods and the disappointment of customers.

The Seattle Strike.

This strike was unique as being the first sympathetic strike in which all the industrial workers in a large city quit work to enforce the demands of one industry, which had been out on strike some days without securing its demands. The original strikers, those who demanded higher wages, were employed in the shipbuilding yards.

This demand was that the $4.50 a day rate be raised to $6; the $6 men to $7, and the $7 men to $8. When I visited these yards last July, the $4.50 work consisted of unskilled labor, such as moving a few pounds of bolts in a wheelbarrow, etc., and at that time was largely performed by boys of high-school age. The really skilled artisans, with some overtime, were earning as high as $30 a day.

The total number of workmen in the Seattle shipyards at the time of strike was about 21,000. The total number employed in shipyards and boat-building plants, combined, in the entire United States at the time of the last census was only 40,506. Shipbuilding in this country did not begin to "awake" until the Spring of 1917.

From whence, then, did the shipyard men of Seattle come? Some were trained artisans, but the large majority were miners from Alaska, men from small repair shops, clerks or proprietors of small stores, such as jewelry, candy, dry-goods, and similar stores in Washington, Oregon, Montana, and Idaho, most of whom saw a ship for the first time when they entered the Seattle shipyards, where they earned more in one week than in a whole month at home. In view of the fact that the Government shipbuilding program since the armistice was signed lost all its emergency aspects, and is being conducted largely as a matter of honor and with the certain prospect of enormous loss, the demand of the Seattle strikers was at least a bit unreasonable and selfish. It certainly does not add new luster to the fine record of the preceding 12 months.

There really is no reason why the taxpayers of this country, already facing enormous war bills, should in peace times be required to pay more than the already highest wages paid shipbuilders in the history of the world, and which had been justified at the time, as a war measure. However, the strikers apparently thought only of themselves, and had no regard for either conditions or the ability of the country to pay. Having failed in their demands, their leaders proceeded to enlist the help of all other workers in the city, which is a good deal as if you should stop eating because I demand a higher grade of coffee, even though the coffee I now drink is perfectly good and better than I ever had in all my life. It is not a demand based on reason or argument, or in any way logical, but merely an attempt to force a condition by might, which is the very thing we have been fighting the Huns for. No one can imagine the Hun attempt at world domination had any element of benefit to the rest of the world; on the contrary, theirs was essentially a selfish motive, and also equally impossible if the world was to continue with any degree of well-being.

Such a sympathetic strike is in its nature unfair and unreasonable, just as much as a sympathetic lockout, in which every employer of labor in a city would be unfair and even cruel, to combine and close every avenue of employment, to help some other employer reduce his payroll. The Seattle episode reflects no credit on labor unions, nor is it likely that the more intelligent members approved of it, even though forced to take part.

A great many employees believe, many doubtless conscientiously, that they, or a combination of them, could conduct the industry of which they are a part, better than, or at least as well as, the "old man." So far as I know, all such efforts, and there have been not a few, have absolutely failed. The most of us can work more successfully for someone else than for ourselves. The labor unions themselves recognize this, for they will not permit their members to take any chance, nor allow the wages paid to be conditioned wholly on the larger or smaller volume of profits the plant in which they work may make in any one year. The effort at coercion in years past has not been entirely on either side, but now that a better realization of the rights of labor has come to be appreciated and adopted, cannot labor best promote its own well-being by an effort to better understand the conditions which surround the employer, many of which are beyond his control?—By H. H. Windsor, in the April Popular Mechanics Magazine.

MARRIED

ANGELL-FINNEY.

On Thursday, March 20th., at 5 P. M., at the United Brethren parsonage, by Rev. D. J. March, pastor, Edward Angell, of near Taneytown, and Mrs. May Finney, of York, Pa.

YEALY-NULL.

At the United Brethren parsonage, Taneytown, on Saturday evening, March 15th., at 7 P. M., by Rev. D. J. March, pastor of the bride, Enoch David Yealy, of Harney, and Pauline Ruth Null, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Null, of Harney.

DILWORTH-DELDWORTH.

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of the officiating minister, "Brookside Place," near Westminster, at 4 P. M., on March 15th., 1919, the contracting parties being Mr. Raymond Dilworth, a popular young farmer of Baltimore county, and Miss Mabel C. Deldworth, an expert stenographer and a valuable saleslady of one of the most prosperous automobile houses, in Govans, Md.

The attendants were Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Breidenbaugh, of Ravenswood Ave., Govans, which is now included in larger Baltimore. The ceremony was briefly, but impressively performed by Elder Wm. E. Roop. Mrs. Dilworth was handsomely attired in a traveling gown, while the groom wore a going-away suit.

After the ceremony the happy couple was entertained at a wedding supper by the hospitable wife and daughters of the clergyman, who had officiated at the nuptials.

Those present besides the host and hostess and bride and groom and attendants, were Mr. and Mrs. Howard W. Warehime, Misses Lavenia and Ethel Roop, teachers in the Baltimore Co. schools; Misses Martha Fogle, and Helen and Ruth Roop.

After spending their honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Dilworth will be at home, April 1st, at Woodbourne Ave., Govans, Md. They have the best wishes of their friends for a happy and prosperous life.

ROBERT HOFFMAN CURRENS.

Robert Hoffman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Currens, died on Sunday, March 16, 1919, aged 3 years, 4 months and 5 days. Funeral services were held on Wednesday afternoon, by Rev. L. B. Hafer, pastor of the family, followed by interment in the Lutheran cemetery.

In a little snow-white casket, Resting all among the flowers, Sleeps our darling baby brother, Who such a little while was ours. By his Sister, MRS. GEORGE R. BAUMGARDNER.

IN LOVING REMEMBRANCE

of our dear parents, who died four years ago, William and Elizabeth Clutz.

Gone but not forgotten. From a world of pain and sorrow To the land of peace and rest. God has taken our dear parents. Where they find eternal rest.

The month of March once more is here. To us the saddest of the year Because it took from us away Our dear parents four years ago.

Precious ones from us have gone. Voices we loved are still. A place is vacant in our hearts Which never can be filled.

BY THEIR CHILDREN.

IN SAD BUT LOVING REMEMBRANCE

of my dear son, Emory Lockner, who departed this life, one month ago, February 21, aged 36 years, 5 months, and 6 days.

Gone but not forgotten. As the evening sun is setting. Ofttimes as I sit alone. In my heart comes a feeling. That my dear son must come home.

Now that you are dead, dear Emory. And in the quiet cemetery. Out in the quiet shade. My feet still will oftentimes wander Toward that sacred grave. Where sleeps the one I loved so well. The one I could not save.

Dear Emory, you were called away so sudden. Not time to say goodbye. You only left us for a while. Gone in the best of your days. Blighted in manhood's bloom. Gone from the hearts that loved you. To sleep in the silent tomb.

Never no never will I forget you. My soul both kind and true. Beloved by all your friends so well. And kind to all he knew.

BY HIS LOVING MOTHER.

IN SAD BUT LOVING REMEMBRANCE

of my dear little nephew, Carl E. Shorb.

Sad and dreary is our home. Lonely are our hearts today. For one we loved so dearly Has forever passed away.

Oh, how hard we tried to save him. But our cares were all in vain. Angels came and took him from us. He is with the Saviour free from pain.

Days of sadness come over us. Tears of sorrow silently flow. Fond memory keeps our darling near us. Though Heaven claimed him one month ago.

By His Loving Aunt,

CATHARINE OHLER.

Letters From "Our Boys."

We will be glad to publish letters, or parts of letters, from "our boys, over there," as they are bound to be very interesting to all. We will omit all purely personal references from letters, as these are not intended, nor proper, for publication.—Ed. Record.

Miss Ada Geiman, of Pleasant Valley, received the following letter from Private Harry D. Geiman, in France, Feb. 2, 1919:

My dear Sister, and all: I am taking great pleasure in answering your letter which I received yesterday. I think it is the longest one I received from you since over here; they are the kind I like. It has been quite a while since I heard from home—it certainly made me feel good. I know there are lots of little things that happen that don't seem much to you, but it certainly amuses me, for at this time most anything seems to make the time fly, and that is what we want. You know what waiting is—that is all we are doing now—waiting for the day to come to take the boat for good old U. S. A. word from anyone sounds good. It is a terrible thing to sit around and think of the past, and this comes into your mind often enough. The Co. I am in, are drafted boys from Virginia and Pennsylvania. I guess when we return, we will go to Virginia.

If I am spared to get back, I have three classes of people I want to talk to—that is the men, women and children. I think it will be of some interest to them of what I have witnessed in the past two years. For me to express my opinion, it may do them all a little good. I was very sorry to hear that you had the flu; you were in bed as long as I was in the hospital, and at about the same time. I am now as well as can be expected for what I went through with. I have not yet gotten back with my old Co., and guess I never will. I am going to ask for a pass to go back to see them. I think I will get it if the commanding officer has anything to do with it. I certainly think he is a nice man. It would do me lots of good to see the boys that are left—I don't think there are so many left. I was gassed. Well, we know the whole world was glad to hear when the war ceased. I was not able to stay until the end, but the days that I seen there were horrible ones, never before and never again could they be any worse. Some places on the battle field the wounded and dead laid so thick you could scarcely walk for them—that was while the battle was going on—could not be gotten off of the field. When the fire would cease it was but a very few minutes until they had the German prisoners picking up the wounded and dead American soldiers.

There is nothing as lonesome as to wake up and find yourself lying among the wounded and dead. But we are ready, if we must, to go back to it again, and give them a real clean up and a good one.

I was carried off of the battlefield, by a German prisoner. We are in a big barn with one stove in it, it is real comfortable sleeping. It has stopped raining once, and cleared off cold—I believe it will snow, the way the air feels. In January, we had about 6 inches of snow, and a bed of ice. I believe it would have been good sleighing, but I don't believe they know any thing about sleighing. I have not run across Arch yet. I certainly would like to have the pleasure to do so. I was more than sorry to hear of Aunt Elenora's illness. Well she certainly has my sympathy. Will close—Love to all.

"God be with you all, 'till we meet again."

Your Loving Brother, HARRY.

How Will You Raise Your Chicks?

All the big and little breeders all over the country use the Standard Colony Brooder. Will you?

The "Standard" is the most practical and successful coal-burning brooder ever made. Broods 100 chicks or 1000 and at a guaranteed cost of less than 6 cents a day. We know the will make three chicks grow where one grew before. We know it will cut your cost of equipment and operation to less than half, and won't demand one-fourth the time and labor. Besides the "Standard" is guaranteed to raise more and better chicks. Can't break or wear out.

STANDARD COLONY BROODER

You know what a brooder should be and do. Sit down and write it all out; we will sign it and then, if the Standard Colony Brooder fails to meet your every requirement, we'll hand your money back. Come in and get a "Book of Proof"—free, and we'll show you the brooder.

Scott Sullivan has accepted a position with Englar & Sponseller, in Westminster, and will move his family there April 1. Our best wishes go with him.

Canners Are Now Reassured.

The canners have been fearful that the sudden close of the war might cause the government to throw its large surplus of corn, tomatoes and peas, on the market; but it has been announced from the Commissary Department, this week, that the goods will be used in the army rations, which will stabilize the canned goods market, both for the present stock and this year's pack, and contracting for acreage can now go on with a fair degree of assurance.

Bad Taste in Your Mouth.

When you have a bad taste in your mouth you may know that your digestion is faulty. A dose of Chamberlain's Tablets will usually correct the disorder. They also cause a gentle movement of the bowels. You will find this to be one of the best medicines you have ever become acquainted with.

Since Taking Tonall One Year Ago has had no Return of Dyspepsia.

"I had a very bad case of dyspepsia and suffered pain for several hours after eating," says L. K. Sableman, a well-known farmer living near Safe Harbor, Lancaster county, Pa.

"I often had to lie down to relieve my pains. After taking one bottle of Tonall I noticed an improvement, and this encouraged me to continue keeping on using Tonall until I was cured. Now my stomach is as good as ever. I can eat heartily and without any pain or distress. I first began to use Tonall over a year ago, and had no return of dyspepsia since."

This testimonial was given January 15, 1919.

Tonall is sold at McKinney's Drug Store, Taneytown, Md.

NAPANEE—Dutch Kitchenet

The Cabinet that saves Miles of Steps and is a Sound Investment

We Handle the Boone, Green Castle, Hoosier and Napanee Kitchen Cabinets.

And are constantly looking over other lines, but in our estimation, the NAPANEE reigns supreme. More and Better Improvements than the other Cabinets possess—improvements that are not trifles, that will soon get out of order; but that are made to last.

THE NAPANEE is no cheap, thrown-together store-box affair; it is a Cabinet made of selected wood, carefully and artistically designed, and built like only good furniture is built, with a view to giving life-time service.

We can get you a Cabinet at almost any price you care to pay, but if you want a Real Cabinet, one that will be a real convenience—a real time-saver—you can't do better than to buy the NAPANEE-DUTCH KITCHENET. We are selling them at a very reasonable price—a price others ask for cheap Cabinets. We will be glad to show you the NAPANEE, whenever you have time to call. You will be pleased with it.

HARRY J. OHLER,
Wm. T. Smith, Auct. 3-7-3t

Place your order with us now for that Ford car you want, in order to insure yourself of the earliest possible delivery. RUNABOUT, TOURING CAR, COUPE, SEDAN or ONE-TON TRUCK. Production is coming through in limited quantities at present. It takes some time to turn the big factory back from 100 per cent Government work to 100 per cent production of Ford cars. So first come, first served. The demand is big from every part of the country, and the Ford Motor Company will be impartial in the effort to serve fairly every one of the great army of Ford dealers. This means that for some time to come we are not going to have enough cars to supply our trade, so, as above stated, those who place their orders first will have first delivery. Probably in no other line of human activity is there a greater utility than the Ford Car. That's why it is so well named "The Universal Car." It serves everybody, both for business and for pleasure.

Again, we urge your placing early orders. The agent named below will give you prompt, courteous service.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By REV. P. B. FITZWATER, D. D.,
Teacher of English Bible in the Moody
Bible Institute of Chicago.)
(Copyright, 1919, by Western Newspaper Union.)

LESSON FOR MARCH 23

ISRAEL WARNED AGAINST COM- PROMISE.

(May be used with Temperance Applications.)

LESSON TEXT—Joshua 23:1-16.
GOLDEN TEXT—Evil companionships corrupt good morals.—1 Corinthians 15:33.
ADDITIONAL MATERIAL—Numbers
23:50-56; Joshua 9:3-27; Judges 21:3; 3:1-6;
Colossians 2:8.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Loving and obeying
God.—Joshua 24:16-23.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Standing up for the right.
INTERMEDIATE TOPIC—Dangerous
company.

Joshua, knowing that his life was drawing to a close, summoned the leaders of Israel to appear before him.
He knew the tendencies which the nation was developing and the peril which faced it as his leadership was coming to an end. His jealousy for God and solicitude for them prompted him to assemble them and point out the great dangers which confronted them.

I. A Review of What God Had Done (23:3, 4).

1. God had fought Israel's battles
(v. 3). He gave them victory over the strong nations which inhabited Canaan.
Striking evidences of this are the capture of Jericho and victory at Gibeon when the sun stood still at Joshua's command. This victory had been secured quickly, which indicates that God had interposed in their behalf.

2. God by the hand of Joshua had apportioned the land among the tribes
(v. 4) for an inheritance. In chapter 24 Joshua rehearses the wonderful things God had done for the nation extending from Abraham down through the ages.

II. Points Out the Promises as Yet Unfulfilled (23:5-10).

1. "He shall expel them before you"
(v. 5). The actual possession which God had given was the pledge that he would give them full possession. God's promise was the guarantee of this. In view of God's faithful performance of all his promises there should be no room for doubt.

2. "One man of you shall chase a thousand" (v. 10). The reason of this was because the Lord God would fight for them. To have the Lord fight for us is to have the assurance of victory regardless of how few or how many.

3. The condition upon which these promises would be realized. (1) "Be very courageous" (v. 6). At a time like this it required courage to look to God for all the nation's needs. (2)
"Keep and do all that is written in the law of Moses" (v. 6). Fidelity to God's law was essential. Turning aside in any particular would forfeit their claims upon him. (3) "Keep aloof from the Canaanites" (v. 7).
This separation was to obtain with reference to (a) marriage among them
(b) idolatrous customs. (4) Cleave wholly unto God (v. 8).

III. Solemn Warnings Issued (23: 11-16).

1. Take good heed that you love God sincerely (v. 11). Love to God is the sum total of duty toward him.

2. Refrain from intermarriage among the Canaanites (v. 12). For God's people to intermarry among the heathen is to set in motion influences which would issue in confusion and disaster.

3. God will make the heathen snares, traps and scourges instead of giving victory over them (v. 13).

4. Evil things will come upon them just as good things had been done for them even to their destruction (v. 15).

5. The wrath of God kindled against them (v. 16).

Peace and Righteousness.

Righteousness means victory with the help of the Spirit of God over ourselves, over our inclinations, our passions, our tempers, our whole sinful natures. There is no peace without victory in the spiritual life, and I am inclined to think that holds good between men and nations. There is no peace until righteousness is done. The Prophet said: "They have healed also the hurt of my people slightly, saying Peace, Peace, when there is no peace."
There must be righteousness toward God and our fellowmen if there is to be peace and good will on earth.

If We Suffer.

"If we suffer, we shall also reign with him," says St. Paul. What a crown is that for this, O sufferer!
"Thy pains and sickness are all cured;
thy body shall no more burden thee with weakness and weariness; thy aching head and heart, thy hunger and thirst, thy sleep and labor, are all gone. Oh, what a mighty change is this which shines as the brightness of the firmament!"—Baxter.

God's Will.

The kingdom of heaven is not come even when God's will is our law. It is come when God's will is our will.
When God's will is our law, we are but a kind of noble slaves. When his will is our will, we are free children.
—George Macdonald.

Follow Jesus Only.

Let this be thy whole endeavor, this thy prayer, this thy desire—that thou mayest be stripped of all selfishness, and with entire simplicity follow
Jesus only.—Thomas a Kempia.

The Art of Building Character 1 Corinthians 3:10-17.

There are two things to be observed in these verses,—the foundation and the building.

First, let us be sure of the foundation
—Jesus Christ. There is none other.
Precepts, principles, activities, experiences, religious observances, rites, ceremonies, sacraments; all are excluded here. It is Himself with whom we have to do. Nothing else than a personal Saviour can suffice as a foundation. "Other foundation can no man lay."

Now about the building of character.
It is an art and none but God can teach the art. There is a great difference between Christian character and worldly character. A Christian is united to Christ in a spiritual union,
and is indwelt by the Holy Spirit.
The fruit of this indwelling is mentioned in Galatians 5:22, 23. These qualities constitute true Christian character, and this type of character shows forth the virtues of Him "who called us out of darkness into his marvelous light."

The world cannot produce character of this sort. It tries to imitate it in the so-called "ideals" that are now so common, but the imitation is a mere shadow. Human nature is utterly inadequate to the task. Regenerating grace and the infilling of the Spirit alone is equal to the work of producing a character in which God is reflected. True Christian character is produced in the believer rather than by the believer. Under the lash of law, conscience is whipped to every effort to keep the law or to attain the ideal. Under the grace of God the righteous requirements of the law are fulfilled in us who walk not after the flesh but after the Spirit. See Romans 8:3, 4. The one Bible rule for those who would develop Christian life and character is found in Galatians
5:16—"Walk in the Spirit."

The "gold, silver, precious stones,"
and the "hay, wood, stubble" of verse 12, set before us the great contrast between the product of the Spirit and that of the flesh. It is not always easy to discern the one from the other although they are very distinct before God. Some day they will be tried by fire. In that day of testing the works of the Spirit will abide, while that which is of the flesh will be consumed. Our future reward, not our salvation, depends upon the quality of our works, and this is determined by character. But even to those having eternal life there is a possibility of suffering loss at the judgment seat because of not walking in the Spirit.

NEW PORTRAIT OF DICKENS

Engraving of Noted Author, Reverenced by Lovers of Literature, Recently Sold at Auction.

A new portrait of Dickens, hitherto unknown, not only to his friends, but even to his family, is surely a rare discovery, says Christian Science Monitor, commenting on the fact that Dickensians had the pleasure of seeing its reproduction in a recent issue of their paper. The portrait, which is a crayon drawing, is signed W. J. L., initials which are believed to stand for W. J. Linton, the famous wood engraver, the author of several pictures for "A Christmas Carol" and "The Chimes."

It was from Mrs. E. Lynn Linton, W.
J. Linton's wife, that Dickens bought Gadshill place, but there is apparently no record that Linton ever visited Dickens there. It cannot, in fact, be determined whether this new portrait was done from life or not. It evidently has been to America at some time or other, for on the back of it appears:
"New York Transfer Co., Dodd's Express, 944 Broadway, New York." The portrait was recently sold by auction in London, and is now the property of Messrs. Leggatt Bros. of Cheapside.

Easily Arranged.

One beautiful summer night, when the crickets were chirping in the grass and the caterpillars were dropping from the trees, John Henry turned to the charming girl who was sitting on the veranda at his side.

"Edith," said he timorously, "there comes to me a thought, I might say a fear."

"Well, what is it?" queried the fair girl, as the other hesitated.

"I suppose," responded John Henry, suggestively, hopefully, "that were I to steal a kiss you would have me arrested?"

"Perhaps," was the ready rejoinder of the girl, "but you could find somebody to pay your fine, couldn't you?"

Discipline.

"The discipline in base hospitals in France precludes social relations between nurses and enlisted men. This is occasionally carried to extremes, as evidenced by the following incident. A certain nurse was found ringing the doorbell of the officers' quarters early one morning. When asked what she wanted, she replied that the villa in which she and the other nurses were quartered was on fire. After the fire had been extinguished, she was asked why she didn't give the alarm at once, instead of running the long distance to the officers' quarters. Her reply was:
'We aren't allowed to speak to enlisted men.'—From the Journal of the American Medical Association.

Boy Babies Arrive.

From Reading comes the news that Berks county babies are very largely male. If there are those who consider this a phenomenon, they are little acquainted with history. It is the universal experience that immediately after any war the birth rate rises and males are in the majority. This is the way in which nature cares for her own, although no scientist has been able to give any satisfactory explanation of the fact.

Unless this reproduction of the destroyed sex was universal we should soon have a one-sided world in the matter of sex. We have had wars from time immemorial and many of them have been extremely bloody, but the average of the sexes has been maintained to the satisfaction of humanity.

Nature is good to her own and preserves by curious methods a balance which is beneficial to the race. Twenty years from now the world population will be greater than in 1914, even if it is not, as some claim, already greater, in spite of the loss of 6,000,000 or more lives.—Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

Flint Refuse of Value.

A remarkable record of an important prehistoric industry is promised by the archeological survey now being directed by Dr. W. T. Mills, in the Flint Ridge district, between Columbus and Zanesville, O. An outcrop of flint-bearing limestone extends for ten miles or more, and is entirely covered with pits dug by the ancient miners in search of workable flints. The waste fragments chipped from the flints in making arrowheads and other implements form nearby deposits 15 feet deep in places, supplying material of modern value for road building.

Calls for Big Expenditure.

If plans for standardizing the gauge of the railways of Australia as recommended by the chief engineers of the different lines be carried out it will mean an expenditure of $180,000,000.

Carrier Pigeons on Job.

In spite of the competition of wire-

job. They are carrying messages faithfully for French and British naval air-

OLD AGE STARTS WITH YOUR KIDNEYS

Science says that old age begins with weakened kidneys and digestive organs.
This being true, it is easy to believe that by keeping the kidneys and digestive organs cleansed and in proper working order old age can be deferred and life prolonged far beyond that enjoyed by the average person.

For over 200 years GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil has been relieving the weakness and disability due to advancing years. It is a standard old-time home remedy and needs no introduction. GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil is inclosed in odorless, tasteless capsules containing about 5 drops each. Take them as you would a pill, with a small swallow of water. The oil stimulates the kidney action, and enables the organs to throw off the poisons which cause premature old age. New life and strength increase as you continue the treatment. When completely restored continue taking a capsule or two each day. GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules will keep you in health and vigor and prevent a return of the disease.
Do not wait until old age or disease have settled down for good. Go to your druggist and get a box of GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. Money refunded if they do not help you. Three sizes. But remember to ask for the original imported GOLD MEDAL brand.
In sealed packages.

PRINCE ALBERT

the national joy smoke

NEVER was such right-handed-two-fisted smokejoy as you puff out of a jimmy pipe packed with Prince Albert!
That's because P. A. has the quality!

You can't fool your taste apparatus any more than you can get five aces out of a family deck! So, when you hit Prince Albert, coming and going, and get up half an hour earlier just to start stoking your pipe or rolling cigarettes, you know you've got the big prize on the end of your line!

Prince Albert's quality alone puts it in a class of its own, but when you figure that P. A. is made by our exclusive patented process that cuts out bite and parch—well—you feel like getting a flock of dictionaries to find enough words to express your happy days sentiments!

Tippy red bags, tidy red tins, handsome pound and half-pound tin humidors—and that classy, practical pound crystal glass humidor with sponge moistener top that keeps the tobacco in such perfect condition.

LISTEN TO FACTS

There is a Difference

There is a difference in people. There is a difference in horses.
There is a difference in Automobiles, even down to the tires, springs and chassis as well as the engine and everything it takes to make an Automobile. There is a big difference in a big, flexible Four Cylinder engine, and a little, weak four cylinder engine. There is a difference in a big Six Cylinder motor and a little six cylinder motor, as well, I will be glad to show and prove these facts to you by giving you a demonstration in

The Westcott

REAL SIX

Is a big, roomy, comfortable Car, made quite a hit at the Baltimore Automobile Show, and had quite a lot of admirers. It ranks very high among the best Cars in Baltimore.

The Hupmobile

REAL FOUR

Has five good points—Beauty, Comfort, Performance, Durability and Economy—and has made its mark in Carroll County. There are no dissatisfied HUP owners.

The Dodge

REAL FOUR

Last, but not least, Uncle Sam's War Car, which is one that was picked by the best automobile brains of the country for war purposes.
If you want to know the endurance of a Dodge, ask the soldier boy who has been "Over There," how the DODGE performed.

Just telephone Westminster 211, or write, or call at the Garage Palace, and it will be a pleasure to me to show and prove to you the difference in Automobiles, the same as I have proved it to many others.
