A WELCOME HOME TO BOYS OF CARROLL

Big Demonstration in Westminster on July Fourth.

Carroll county will give her sons and daughters, who served during the period of the war, a loyal welcome on July 4th.

Committees are busy perfecting plans to make this an epoch in the annals of our dear old county, and one that will fully demonstrate our appreciation for the services and splendid record of the men who responded to the call of their country.

This is in the broadest sense a county affair, and as every section of the county sent its sons, so every section is vitally interested in this celebration, arranged to do them honor and welcome them home.

The events of the day will be as follows: 2 P. M., all the soldiers, sailors, marines, and nurses who served either in this country or overseas during the period of the war will report in uniform at Belle Grove Square where the parade will form.

3 P. M., parade will move to Main street to Penna. Ave. Union street to Main, on Main street to a stand erected on Liberty Heights, in front of Frank Logue's residence. 3:30 P. M., "Memorial Oaks" will be dedicated. The program will consist of prayer, community singing led by Dr. Woolsey. A special number will be a new patriotic song, sung to the air of "Maryland, My Maryland." Leaflets of this song will be distributed. The speaker will be Hon. J. G. Sanders, member of Congress from Louisiana, and former Governor of that State.

At the conclusion of the Dedication service, the parade will march to the Court House Plaza, where the Welcome Home exercises will be held. There will be appropriate music and a short address.

At 5:30, the Carroll County Chapter of the American Red Cross will serve a luncheon at the Armory, to all in uniform. At 7:30, a great automobile parade will form at Belle Grove Square. It is the desire to make this the largest and most attractive parade ever held in the county, and all owners of automobiles are earnestly requested to take part, and decoration of machines will add to the beauty of the parade.

The Westminster Fire Co. has generously offered to give a prize to the first and second best decorated machine and a prize to the most comic outfit in the parade.

The parade will be over in ample time for all to view the fire works, which will start at 9 o'clock. The display will be the largest and most elaborate ever seen in Westminster.

A large number of bands will be in the parades, and the military parade will be led by an armed tank, secured for the occasion. Let everybody join in making July 4, 1919, a great and splendid celebration in honor of our boys.

Death of Dr. Chas. H. Diller.

Dr. Charles H. Diller, of Detour, one of the best known physicians of Carroll County, and Collector of Taxes of the County, died at his home in Detour, on Monday night, from uremic convulsions, aged 68 years. He was first taken ill on Sunday afternoon, while out driving, where he was found in a partly unconscious condition; and on being taken home was attacked by convulsions, and later entered into a state of coma which continued until he died.

Dr. Diller had been in active practice at Detour for about 50 years, but of recent years had associated with him his son, Dr. Roland Diller. He was active in politics, as a Republican and was the candidate of the party in 1915 for County Clerk but was defeated by the present incumbent. More recently he was appointed Collector of Taxes, but had resigned, to take effect this June 30th.

He leaves an invalid wife, and the following children: Dr. Roland Diller and William Diller, of Detour; Ursa Diller, in the Regular Army, and one daughter, Mrs. Harnish, of Brooklyn, N. Y.

Yield of Wheat to be Short.

Reports vary considerably as to the prospects for the yield of wheat, and are from one-half to three-fourths of a crop. The low lands have suffered most from poor filling, and many fields have large spots of black rust. The crop of straw will be above normal, but almost everywhere the heads are short and not filled out. Some of the high lands, where the soil was not strong and the stand not heavy, show the best prospects.

There is also a general claim that the grains are small, and that the loss in screening will be heavy. However, unless unfavorable weather sets in before the wheat is housed, causing further damage, the yield in general will likely be fair, though not nearly as great as the early outlook seemed to indicate.

Rye is in better condition, and is mostly well filled and long in the straw. The hay crop will be better than was expected, and has greatly improved since early in the season.

A novel sight in Cuba is the municipal graveyard. Cubans have to pay taxes on the graves of their relatives and friends, and when the taxpayer becomes delinquent, the body or bones are exhumed and thrown in a common heap in one corner of the burying ground.

TEACHERS APPOINTED.

Quite a Number of Vacancies Remain in County.

The following appointments have been made for the schools of Carroll County for the coming year. A few schools remain closed, and a number of others are as yet unfilled. Some of the teachers are appointed conditionally, depending upon their fulfilling the requirements of the law, either for the renewal of their certificate, or for the securing of a regular certificate.

We give the appointments for several of the districts, only, as the list for the whole county would require too much space.

Schools, Roads and Taxes.

There is no such thing as "free public schools." Our school system is a "free" system, at "public" expense, very much like our public roads, and neither system if left entirely to the option of the County Commissioners as to what the "expense" shall be. This is perhaps a wise provision, as an unfavorable, or penurious, Board of Commissioners might see proper to let both suffer, in the interest of keeping taxes low, at the expense of the character and efficiency of both schools and roads.

The present State law requires the County Commissioners to levy "at least 40c" for schools, while the School Commissioners seem free to act independently of the County Commissioners in the expenditure of the schools funds, but have no authority to borrow money when their plans call for more money than is received from the County and State.

There is evidently, therefore, need for close co-operation between the two Boards, looking toward the fairness of the burden on tax-payers; and when there is such close co-operation there need be no conflict between the two. It is also incumbent on districts, and booster committees, to keep the same object in view—the cost, and the tax rate—as it may easily happen that these committees may often be made up of enthusiasts who pay very little tax, and who care little for the burden they propose for those who do pay the taxes, just so they gain the desired end for their own locality.

As an illustration of how the charge of increased taxes may be unfairly placed on a Board of County Commissioners, we now apparently have a "kick" from Hampstead, passing the buck to the Commissioners to assume the odium of a big increase in the tax rate, while at the same time the increase of 15c in the rate for schools was largely due to the building of a $50,000 school building at Hampstead. In other words, a district may succeed in getting more than it should have had, yet attempt to turn the blame for increased taxes on the giver.

FOURTH OF JULY NOTICE.

As the Fourth of July comes next Friday, and our office will be closed in the afternoon, The Record will go to press early Friday morning and will be unable to handle any correspondents, or advertisements, either late on Thursday, or on Friday morning. Correspondents are therefore notified to send their letters a day earlier, next week.

The Federation of Labor has pledged itself to obtain a general 44 hour week for all workers in all crafts throughout the United States, and for government employees.

The Record, Twenty-five Years Old.

This week's issue closes twenty-five years of the life of The Carroll Record. Looking backward, the time appears short; and what has been accomplished by it, and the effort that has been expended, is largely a hazy memory—a total that will be appreciated variously, according to different viewpoints, inside and outside of "the shop."

Twenty-five years steady occupation in any one line of activity, is apt to be very much alike. Work, is just a part of every life, and all work has some influence on the community in which it is expended—some more than others—some worth more than others—some lasting longer than others—some, perhaps, extending beyond a community.

The making of a newspaper, fifty-two weeks in a year for twenty-five years, is like other work, and yet, it is different. The responsibility of the workers is greater; their opportunities for helpfulness—as well as for mistakes—are greater; the needs for the exercise of conscience, fairness and liberality of judgment, especially as a newspaper cannot help but create a certain measure of public sentiment, are infinitely greater than in almost any other occupation.

Perhaps too little consideration is commonly given by readers to this one fact; that even country weekly papers have a varied and continuously changing assortment of propositions to handle—not of their own choosing—and that the public is apt to have more time to be critical than have those who must dispose of questions, and reach conclusions, often without time for far-reaching thought; and that, along with other considerations, is the very important one that there necessarily must be, differing points of view, even between equally honest people.

The story, or history, of The Record is largely one for its readers to estimate. We can not write it. On the whole, the Editor and his faithful force have worked hard to do their best, and their "best" has often been as disappointing to them, as it likely has been to their patrons.

However, we feel that our work has been worth while. That at least in a small way The Record has accomplished some good; and that we owe a great deal to our subscribers and patrons generally for their liberal support, and to our co-workers for their faithful services, throughout the years since Vol. 1, No. 1, in July, 1894.

ROADS COST $30,000 A MILE.

Cost of Labor and Materials Require Heavy Expenditures.

New roads in this State are costing in the neighborhood of $30,000 a mile, three times as much as they cost in the early days and twice as much as they cost immediately preceding the breaking out of the war in Europe. In 1914 the State was paying between $14,000 and $15,000 a mile for concrete roads. It now has under contract a fraction over 40 miles of road in various parts of the State, which contracts total up exactly $1,199,103, or just a shade under $30,000 a mile. These roads are all being built of concrete, most of them are 15 feet wide, although one is only 14, a couple are 16 feet and a couple more 17 feet.

And at that, the roads are being built economically, and at less cost than other States that are building similar types of roads are paying. Pennsylvania, for instance, which is building a road that is a little wider than the Maryland roads, being 18 feet wide, is paying on the average $45,000 a mile for them. Here awards thus far in 1919, for 84 miles of road, average almost exactly that figure.

The policy of the Roads Commission is not to build at excessive cost. That body realizes that everything is higher than it used to be, and that roads, like beefsteak, cost a great deal more than before the war, but simply because it has the money is no reason why it should be spent at the prevailing high prices, except where absolutely necessary. So it is not making contracts except where it can make them at prices advantageous to the tax-payers. It has an extensive program in view, but the commission feels that it is not justified in going ahead at the prevailing prices of materials, freight rates and labor, and that it would be better to wait for costs to take a drop.

Frank H. Zouck, chairman of the commission, says that the average cost of maintaining the roads for 1918 amounted to approximately $1,000 a mile, while in the low years of 1912, 1913 and 1914 it amounted to about $400 a mile. This represents an increase of about 150%, due to the fact that the cost of labor has increased from $1.50 to $3.00 and $3.50 a day; that stone at the quarry has increased in cost from 50 cents a ton to $1.50 a ton, and that in many cases freight rates have about doubled.

Germany and the Lutheran Church.

A pastor of an English Lutheran church, London, England, gives the following on a subject that has been somewhat publicly discussed:

I find that an injustice has been done the Lutheran church in this country through a wrong impression that the former Kaiser and family are Lutherans and that the State church of Germany is Lutheran. Therefore, it has been believed that, in some way, the former Kaiser is the head of the Lutheran church in this country. As a matter of fact, the Kaiser has not been the head of the Lutheran church in Germany.

There is no such organization as a Lutheran Church of Germany. Some of the federated States in the German Empire had Lutheran State churches, but the Empire had none. Neither had Prussia, which was a component part of the German Empire. Prussia had a State church, which was neither Lutheran nor Reformed, but was a union of those two forms of Protestantism. That union was brought about by forcible action of Prussia in 1817, and was called the United Church. The ministers of that church are not listed in the clerical registry of the Lutheran Church in this country, which fact of itself should be sufficient proof that the ministers of this United Church are not regarded as "full blooded" Lutherans. Of that United Church the former Kaiser was the head, not as Kaiser, however, but as King of Prussia.

There is a bill before Congress to fix the wages of employees of the Government printing office at $1.00 an hour, and $1.50 an hour for overtime.

HOW TO PRESERVE EGGS.

Water Glass and Limewater Methods Are Best, Experiments Show.

Experiments in preserving eggs conducted by the United States Department of Agriculture in the past year obtained best results from a 10 per-cent solution of water glass—that is, one part of commercial water glass added to nine parts of boiled water. Good results were obtained with a slightly weaker solution, using 1 part of water glass to 14 parts of water. Better results were obtained when the water was boiled than when unboiled water was used.

In a test of different containers the earthenware jar gave by far the best and most satisfactory results. Softwood containers, such as candy pails, did not give satisfactory results, while hardwood containers, such as kegs used for cider and other beverages, gave much better results than the softwood pails, but did not begin to compare with the earthenware crocks. Even the hardwood kegs gave considerable trouble on account of leakage, and had to be watched constantly, which made them unsatisfactory. Galvanized metal containers similar to new garbage pails were also used with success, but were not quite so satisfactory as the crocks.

Tests with solutions other than water glass were made, and limewater, both with and without salt, gave satisfactory results. Where unslaked lime is more readily available than water glass the limewater method is an excellent one to use and is cheaper than the water glass. Tests in which the eggs were coated with wax and soap and other coating material did not give nearly so satisfactory results as when the eggs were kept in a solution.

Directions for the use of water glass and limewater are as follows:

1. Select a 5-gallon crock and clean it thoroughly, after which it should be scalded and allowed to cool.

2. Heat a quantity of water to the be scalded and allowed to cool.

3. When cool measure out 9 quarts of water, place it in the crock, and add 1 quart of sodium silicate, stirring the mixture thoroughly. This will be sufficient to preserve 15 dozen eggs and will serve as a guide for the quantity needed to preserve larger numbers of eggs.

4. The eggs should be placed in the solution. If sufficient eggs are not obtainable when the solution is first made, more eggs may be added from time to time. Be very careful to allow at least 2 inches of the solution to cover the eggs at all times.

5. Place the crock containing the preserved eggs in a cool, dry place, well covered to prevent evaporation. Waxed paper covering the top of the crock and tied around it will answer this purpose.

The lime-water method—Pour a small quantity of water on 1½ pounds of unslaked lime and when this is thoroughly slaked add 5 gallons of boiled water. Allow the mixture to stand until the lime settles. Then pour off the clear liquid, add 1 pound of salt and use this for preserving the eggs, throwing away the sediment in the bottom of the receptacle. Use the same directions as recommended for the water glass for putting the eggs in this solution.

Fresh, clean eggs, properly preserved, can be used satisfactorily for all purposes in cooking and for the table. When eggs preserved in water glass are to be boiled, a small hole should be made in the shell with a pin at the large end before placing them in the water. This is done to allow the air in the egg to escape when heated and to prevent cracking.

Eggs will keep from 8 to 12 months in good condition, but are better up to the sixth or seventh month. Dirty or cracked eggs should not be put into the solution. Water glass costs about $1.20 a gallon, making the cost of preserving eggs with this material about 2 cents a dozen for the water glass. Water-glass solution should not be used again the second year unless it has kept quite clear and no odor or thick sediment has developed. The use of limewater is much cheaper than the water-glass method.

GERMANY ACCEPTS TERMS OF PEACE.

Delegates for Signing said to be on their Way.

The German Government has issued a proclamation announcing the conclusion of peace, but as yet no envoys have appeared at Versailles to sign the document, although the Government voted, a week ago, to accept the terms. It is now believed that the conclusion of the treaty will be reached before Monday, and the allies are perplexed over the delay.

The situation seems to be that it is difficult to find envoys who will do the signing, so great is the objectionableness of the terms. At any rate, while the German Government has voted to accept the terms, there is some doubt as to the naming of delegates, though they are supposed to be "on their way."

The French insist that the signing must be public and formal, worthy of the dignity of the event, and that the "feelings" of the Germans are not a question for consideration.

Disorders are reported to have broken out in many parts of Germany, attended by considerable rioting and bloodshed.

Even the signing of peace is not likely to bring entire safety. There is a wide-spread opinion that Germany will need to be continually watched, and forced, to live up to the terms.

The former Crown Prince, William, has escaped from Holland and returned to Germany. Just what effect on the general situation this may have is a matter of some concern. After peace is signed, it is also said that the former Kaiser will make a strong effort to return.

Making Farmers' Wives Efficient.

One bureau of the Department of Agriculture is devoting its time just now with renewed vigor to the task of making the farmers' wife more efficient in her household duties. Much literature is being sent about the country.

Taking efficiency to a farmer's wife is like carrying cheese to Switzerland.

The farmer's wife rises at half-past 4 and gets breakfast for her husband and the hired man, so they can get out with their scythes or harvesters and sneak up on the oats and barley while it is dark.

By the time the average city woman has taken her first look at the clock and begun to think about getting up, the farmer's wife has milked 9 cows, fed 300 chickens and a dozen pigs; washed, dressed, and fed 7 children, put the milk away in the cellar, washed the dishes, done the churning, made the beds, done the family washing, and has gone out with a tin bucket looking for potato bugs.

During the forenoon all she has to do is to weed the kitchen garden, harvest the eggs, peel the rutabagas, make a couple of apple pies for dinner, darn the old man's socks, make a couple of pairs of pants for the twins out of father's old one, dicker with the butter and egg merchant and chase the tin peddlers out of the front yard.

After she has washed the dinner dishes, she teaches two or three calves how to drink out of a tin pail, oils the windmill, does her dusting and sweeping, puts up a few preserves, cans nine bushels of plums, and gets supper.

All her real relaxation and pleasure come after supper, when she has nothing much to do except wash the dishes, cut the old man's hair, mend the hired man's overalls, spank the seven children and put them to bed, read the "Weekly Bazaar" to her husband, make a batch of yarb tea, set the pancake batter for breakfast, do some quilting, string four bushels of apples to dry, put the cats out, wind the clock, lock the chicken coop, cover up the bird cages, grease the old man's chest with arnicky, and go to bed.

When she gets to bed she meets herself getting up. Teach the farmer's wife efficiency? Huh! She invented it.—Roy K. Moulton, in the Evening Mail, N. Y.

U. S. "Victory Buttons."

An official lapel button, to be known as the "Victory Button," for wear on civilian clothes, will be issued to all officers and enlisted men who served honorably on active duty in the army of the United States for a period of fifteen days any time between April 6, 1917, and November 11, 1918. The button is of silver for those wounded and bronze for all others.

The "Victory Button" is a half inch in diameter, but in one piece, with a button back. The design is a five-pointed star, superposed on a victory wreath. In the center of the star are the letters "U. S." framed by two concentric circles. The silver button is oxidized.

The order authorizing the issue of these buttons also included their distribution to all field clerks and members of the army nurse corps who served honorably during the specified time.

The Judiciary Committee of the House struck out of the Prohibition bill, the clause preventing the keeping in private homes of liquors for personal use. There may be changes in the bill before its passage, but it is reasonably sure that there will be no violation of law attached to having liquors on hand for personal use.

been a fixed rule with this Office, and we suggest the adoption of it by our exchanges.

The Chesapeake Bay bridge has been built. It extends from Annapolis to Claiborne; but instead of crossing over the bay on a bridge, the bridge crosses over the bay—it floats, like Ivory soap. Baltimore papers take notice.

Mr. Taft is actually being invited to "come across" into the Democratic camp. No doubt because he received such a complete defeat as a Republican candidate, and now because he is opposing the big-gun Republicans in the League of Nations matter. Perhaps before long we will hear of like overtures being made to Mr. Bryan to come into the Republican camp?

One of the big questions, is—Which side is going to get fooled the worst, over "votes for women"? That both sides are falling over themselves to corral these votes, is a sure explanation of the haste to confer the right.
Woman Suffrage and Prohibition "got to going" about the same time, and since then it has been a tumble race
—with casting away all encumbering weights—to see which side could do the most tumbling in the shortest time.

The fact that woman suffrage will about double the cost of holding elections, may not be an argument against suffrage, for justice should not be represented by figures of cost;
and yet, the benefit of suffrage to the State must justify this doubled cost, and then some, in order to show a real net gain over all costs. Doubling election expenses, just for the fun of taxpayers seeing the fair sex demonstrate their equal rights, is hardly enough.

Our friend, Maj. Hall, of the Sykesville Herald, says of the Philadelphia Ledger: "As a Republican organ it has no superior in the Nation." We have been reading the Ledger regularly, for years, and admire many of its qualities, but we would hardly call it a "Republican organ." The Ledger is independent, with Republican leanings, and just now, Mr. Taft seems to be leading its editorial policy with reference to the League and the Treaty. If the Republican party had no stronger representative organs than the Ledger, it would be decidedly in need of help.

THE SUBMERGED FIFTY.

The taxable public must always pay
the cost of running the government, which includes the building and maintenance of public property—roads, schools, etc. At best, under the most equitable and favorable conditions, the tax burden is not—and cannot be —equitable. Taxation should be borne according to income, and fluctuate with the rise and fall of incomes, which is not only not the law, but a manifestly impossible proposition, so far as truth to the contrary has been demonstrated.

At times like the present, inequality and unfairness in tax burdens are unusually in evidence, for the reason that the ordinary tide of incomes has been abnormally interfered with, and this interference is easily understandable. The war has brought it about, and chances growing out of the war
are maintaining it.

We do not know exactly how to divide the people as they are directly affected; but, for the purpose of demonstrating the fact we wish to establish, we will assume that it is a fifty-fifty division; that half of the people have been greatly profited by war and other conditions, and that the other half have been enormously burdened. It may be some other percentage, but we believe it close to the truth to halve it.

This classification of people is unescapable. It exists—it is a present truth, and must be recognized, no matter how some may profess not to see it nor admit it. What is the situation, then, so far as tax burdens, national, state and county, are concerned? Simply this; that half of the people can easily pay doubled taxes, because their profits—their incomes —have doubled; while the other and submerged half have doubled burdens, with practically no increase in profits.

There is not only existing this abnormal interference with the equalization of tax burdens, but it exists in the matter of cost of living. There is perhaps little conception, to very many, just what this "high cost of living" truth amounts to. Certainly it is not even more than slightly appreciated by those who produce their own food. Instead of being a sort of hackneyed phrase, it is a very present and real demon to those who come into contact with it in full—those who have to buy almost every ounce of food of all kinds that they use, as well as other necessities not in the food line.

And yet, without any adjustment on the basis of actual ability this "submerged fifty" is expected to pay their share (?) as usual, not only of taxes and war revenues, but toward the church, various charities and relief projects, and all community activities, just as though their ability to pay was equal with that of the more fortunate fifty.

The strange thing about the situation is that the "submerged fifty"
has so far made but little fuss about their plight; but, this is perhaps not so much a virtue, or an exhibition of Christian forbearance on their part, as it is that they have no powerful advocate at court to fight their side of the case, and think they have no individual power to get from under a condition that makes them victims. About the only hope they have is, that in some indefinite way, some time, the old level of more general equality will be restored.

A New Congressman.

Congressman Blanton (Dem.) of Texas, may not be very popular, just now, in his open opposition to Mr.
Gompers and the American Federation of Labor, and in his sensational charges of "robbery" through the "Department of Labor, U. S. Employment Service"; but it will not for long satisfy the public to call him
"bleating Blanton," and turn down the evidence that he says he can produce to uphold his charges.

If only partly true, his charges against the administration of this "Employment Service" demand the fullest investigation. The following is a sample from a lengthy address
he made in the House, last Saturday:

"The people of this country are going to wake up some day. The more than $70,000,000 of the proletariat of this country, who for years have been ground and bled and have paid the price of the war between the few capitalists and the 3,000,000,000 labor union members are going to wake up some day, and they are going to say to this tail which has been wagging the dog so long, 'Mr. Tail, we are going to cut you off, because the dog is going to do some of the wagging from now on.' I say this to you, good Congressmen, who Mr. Gompers, through the threat made by Secretary Morrison here in the Keating banquet, told to our faces, through every newspaper in Washington, that he was going to put out of Congress every man who did not support the labor union program; he has threatened to our faces that he was going to put us out and send us home, and replace us with men carrying union cards."

"I want to say to you that I am as loyal a Democrat as sits in this House, but above Democracy I am an American first. And anything that I find out in my government that is wrong, I do not care whether a Democrat or Republican is responsible for it, I am going to stand here and fight it and try to vote it out of this government."

The whole address, as it appeared in the Congressional Record, bristling with specific charges of wastefulness and graft, can hardly be downed as sensational utterances of a "new member," or one who wants to court notoriety, for there may be after all, a man in Congress who would "rather be right, than be President."

He claims, among other things, that out of $5,500,000 given to this Employment Bureau, $3,500,000 has been wasted, giving as his authority
a Mr. Burroughs, a competent Government auditor who resigned from this branch of the service; that the director of this Bureau has sent out broadcast over the country propaganda attacking him; that in a specific case a lady employee was allowed to visit fashionable watering places, having been given free transportation and an order for $700.00 for expenses, and much more along this line.

Mr. Blanton is such a new specimen in Congress that followers are shy,
not so much as to what he says,
but as to what the effect on their own fortunes might be in backing him up. Legislation is largely a gamble for popularity, and fear of riding bucking horses, and naturally Mr. Blanton, of Texas, is yet regarded as somewhat of a dangerous curiosity.

Opposition to German Goods.

The opposition of American mothers to the sale in this country of several shiploads of German toys, just arrived, has back of it popular applause. This country is not ready, yet, to accept children's toys from German workshops, although these toys were likely made by old men, and perhaps children, who had little to do with the war. It will also be a long time, in all probability, before German-made merchandise of any sort,
will be popular in this country.

And yet, with a beaten and humbled nation, on which has been placed severe money indemnities, the question must arise—How far can hatred and distrust go in the future? If there is to be a new and chastened Germany minus of her Kaiser—a German democracy—that will not be able to recover sufficiently for years if ever, to engage in a war of world conquest, must not that country be left to business and prosper, if for no better reason, that she may be able to pay her debts?

How far, indeed, can the victorious world afford to go in holding against this new Germany, responsibility for the crimes of the old, especially considering that the criminality was fastened on the people, by force, through the operation of its ruling dynasty? How far, in the light of Christ's teachings, can we justly continue to exercise our personal judgments in the case?

After all, sentiment must have back of it justice and righteousness; and after guilt has been established and the demanded penalty paid, it seems to us that it will eventually, if not now, be necessary for us to cultivate and exercise a sentiment at least approaching endurance.

Cut This Out and Take It With You.

A man often forgets the exact name of the article he wishes to purchase, and as a last resort takes something else instead. That is always disappointing and unsatisfactory.
The safe way is to cut this out and take it with you so as to make sure of getting Chamberlain's Tablets. You will find nothing quite so satisfactory for constipation and indigestion.

To Bring Back the Dead.

A joint resolution has been introduced by Mr. Wood, of Indiana, making request upon France to set aside at the very earliest possible moment the old law that is said to obtain in that country against the removal of bodies once buried inside of a long number of years. It is to be hoped that this resolution will find passage and that the State Department will bring it to the attention of the French government and insure the action that is therein advocated.

If this law points back to a religious prescription against removal of bodies once buried, there is the more reason for the setting aside of the law, as those buried in France are not representatives of any religion or there interred in behest to the tenets of any form of faith. They are soldiers of another land, who have died on French soil in the magnificent effort to repel the invaders of France. This duty done, those who fell in the act of service to a sister republic should have speedy removal to their own land, to be reinterred in some special cemetery, such as Arlington; provided interment was not demanded by relatives in local cemeteries.

France would surely not hesitate at the request of the government and the people whose loved ones lie in French soil would be glad above measure to know that their dead were not lost to those associations that endearment cherishes—the associations of interment in their native land.—Balto. American.

Mr. Wisler Cured of Indigestion.

"Some time in 1909 when I had an attack of indigestion and everything looked gloomy to me, I received a free sample of Chamberlain's Tablets by mail. I gave them a trial and they were such a help to me that I bought a package, and I can truthfully say that I have not had a similar attack since," writes Wm. B. Wisler, Doug-lassville, Pa.

It has been pointed out to the farmers that the growing of flax, when planted in rotation with other crops, causes no more exhaustion of the soil than other cereals and not so much as oats. Flax takes considerably more nitrogen from the soil than wheat or oats, but that chemical property can be replaced by rotating the flax with clover.

The olive oil produced in the region of Bordeaux has a lightness, a perfume, and a particularly delicate savor which have given it a worldwide reputation and made it an important article of export and a source of wealth for its producers. Most popular is the oil from Nice imported under the Bordeaux trade-mark.

STATE-WIDE CAMPAIGN FOR ST. MARY'S INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL

Recently Destroyed by Fire

St. Mary's Industrial School cares for dependent and delinquent boys of the city of Baltimore and of the State of Maryland. St. Mary's has been faithful to this trust for fifty-three years, and has done the work well. More than ninety per-cent of its inmates have become good citizens, and are filling positions in all the professions and in the business world. Boys are taught industrial trades, scientific, agricultural and horticultural.

While regretting the loss, the friends of St. Mary's are grateful to Almighty God that no boys were injured. Nearly one thousand beds and bedding all the clothing and underwear, and all the material for winter clothing and underwear were burned. Brothers and boys and the employees living at the School saved nothing but what they were actually wearing on the day of the fire. The boys composed three bands and two orchestras which played for more than three hundred patriotic and charitable gatherings last year. Instruments and music worth $15,000.00 were destroyed.

On the day the buildings were destroyed there were 903 boys present. More than half of these were from Baltimore and Maryland. The others came from 33 states, and from Argentina, South America, because the School was known far and wide for its efficiency.

St. Mary's boys responded to the call to defend the Flag to the number of over 3200. May we not expect patriotic Americans to respond to our call, so that the work of the institution may not be halted.

The boys saw their home destroyed through no fault of theirs. They have been loyal under the trying circumstances which have been their lot since that awful night. They ask you to help them raise up St. Mary's from its ashes so that a better-equipped institution may be able to continue the good work in the years to come.

The local committee will not conduct a general house-to-house canvass in Carroll County, in consideration of the many campaigns that have been carried on in the county.

It is the hope of the committee to receive voluntary contributions from the many charitably disposed residents of CARROLL COUNTY who are familiar with the important and efficient work of this institution now totally destroyed and dependent for rebuilding upon the donations of the public.

ERNEST W. ANGELL, the following tribute is hereby rendered by our Camp.

Resolved, That this Camp expresses its deepest sympathy to the family of Bro. Angell, and to his relatives and friends, in their bereavement.

Resolved, That this visitation should again remind us of the coming of death to all, and urge upon us the vital importance of being prepared at all times to meet Him who gives life, and who taketh it away.

Resolved, That we do humbly submit to His wisdom, and who will give us grace and strength to bear our trials and sorrows.

Resolved, That a copy of this testimonial be printed on the proceedings of the Camp, published in The Carroll Record, and be sent to the family of our departed brother.

MERWYN C. FUSSELL, WM. D. OHLER, P. B. ENGLER, Committee.

A Tribute of Respect to

from Taneytown Lodge No. 36, Knights of Pythias.

Whereas, it has pleased Almighty God in His infinite wisdom to remove from our midst our Brother, Ernest W. Angell, we desire thus to express our sorrow for his death. While we regret that our ranks have again been depleted by the removal of another member, we recognize in it the hand of an All-wise Providence who does all things for the best although we may not be able to see it now.

We extend to the members of his sorrowing family our sincere sympathy in their bereavement and humbly commend to the mercies of our Heavenly Father who alone is able to give comfort and consolation to the bereaved heart.

We recommend that the Charter of this Lodge be draped for thirty days; also that a copy of this resolution be sent to the widow of our departed Brother, entered on the minutes of the Lodge and published in The Carroll Record.

HARRY B. MILLER, ROBERT S. MCKINNEY, DANIEL J. HESSON, Committee.

CARD OF THANKS.

I desire to publicly thank my neighbors and friends for their kindness during the illness and after the death of my wife, I am unable to put into words the appreciation I feel.

RICHARD S. HILL.

COUNTRY HAS GREAT FUTURE

Marvelous Fertility of Brazil Is Bound to Assure It High Place Among Nations.

Geographically, the United States of North America and the United States of Brazil are somewhat alike. But the main river system of Brazil runs from west to east, the tributaries of the mighty Amazon spreading out like a fan in such wise as to facilitate water communication with the most distant parts of the interior, and to make the coast cities outlets for the products of regions reaching back to the foothills of the Andes.

It is a country of the future—a territory almost virgin, indescribably rich and susceptible of a wonderful development. Nowhere else does the coffee tree bear so bountifully, producing four times the weight of fruit yielded by the plant in Mexico. Cotton and sugar cane grow like weeds. Rubber and the chocolate bean are already exported in vast quantities. Fruits are of almost infinite variety. A catalogue has been compiled of 22,000 species of wood (some of them the most beautiful in the world) found in the valley of the Amazon alone.

MARRIED

STULLER—STOUFFER.

On Thursday evening, June 26, at the Lutheran parsonage in Taneytown, Mr. Maurice Roscoe Stuller and Miss Blanche Marie Stouffer were united in marriage by Rev. L. B. Hafer, the bride's pastor. There were no attendants. The groom is a son of Mr. John Stuller, and is employed in the grocery store of A. G. Riffe. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Stouffer, a well-known farmer of Route No. 1, Taneytown.

OTTO—WEAVER.

On Wednesday, June 25, 1919, at 4 P. M., Miss Lucile Rebecca, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Weaver, of Uniontown, and Mr. Norman Otto, of Washington, D. C., were married in the M. P. Church, Uniontown, by the bride's pastor, Rev. R. K. Lewis. The attendants were the bride's brother, H. Carroll Weaver, of Baltimore, and Miss Louise Otto, of New Windsor, sister of the groom; little Mary Louise Weaver, niece of the bride, was flower girl. The ring ceremony was used.

The bride was very becomingly gowned in white voile, and carried a bouquet of pink roses. The church was trimmed with pink roses and ferns. After the ceremony, a lunch was served at the bride's home, and the couple left for Baltimore; from there they will visit the South for a short time, and on their return will reside in Washington, where the groom has a position.

The bride will be much missed by her many friends, but all wish for the happy couple a long, prosperous life. Many useful gifts were received from friends.

OBSERVING EARTH'S SHADOW

Possibly Not All Are Aware of Conditions Under Which It Is Plainly Visible.

Everybody is familiar with the shadow of the earth as it appears when the moon is eclipsed, but not many know that they can see the shadow at less rare intervals much nearer home. All that is necessary is a clear sky at sunrise or sunset, for then the shadow falls upon the dust of our atmosphere in a most noticeable and striking manner.

If you look eastward as the sun sinks behind the western horizon, a broad band of red seems to appear opposite the sun. It merges into a yellow glow above, and that in turn blends into the blue of the zenith. The red band rises, the under side of it fades into a dull slate gray, the umbra of the shadow. The observation obtained from a position that gives a clear sweep of the horizon discloses the form of the shadow band as an arch, the crest of which is directly opposite the sun. The more depressed the sun is beneath the horizon, the higher the arch towers toward the zenith. As it rises it becomes less perceptible, until the red band that borders it on top spreads overhead in a rather weak glow.

Unduly Apprehensive.

"I hope they'll make some exceptions in taxing luxuries," remarked the plain person.

"Are you expecting to be hit?" "I might be. One of the greatest luxuries I know of is sitting around the house in my shirt sleeves and reading the paper."

BRIDAL FLOWERS HERE AGAIN

That Orange Blossoms Are in the Market Is a Sure Harbinger of World Peace.

One interesting sign of the coming of peace has been the reappearance of real orange blossoms at weddings. During the war they were difficult to obtain, owing to the fact that they come as a rule from France. Nearly all the orange flowers which are used at smart marriages in London and Paris are grown in the sheltered valleys of the Alps Maritimes behind the Riviera.

Here there are orchards of orange trees scattered over the sunny slopes, and the local peasantry devote most of their time to growing the beautiful flowers. No attempt is made to get the fruit, seeing that the orange trees are solely cultivated for the sake of the glistening blooms.

A large part of the floral crop finds its way to the perfume factories of Grasse, but the choicest sprays are picked for the London and Paris markets. Orange flowers keep fresh for a considerable time, and they stand the journey to England very well, arriving in perfect condition.—London News.

The Panama Canal.

It has been said that water at the Pacific end of the Panama canal is permanently higher than it is in the Caribbean sea at the northern end of the canal. The statement of the canal commission is to the effect that there is no difference between mean sea-level in the Caribbean sea at Colon and mean sea-level in Panama bay on the Pacific side of the isthmus, but at Colon the tide rises only about nine inches above mean sea-level and falls nine inches below mean sea-level; while at Panama the water at high tide rises to ten feet above sea-level and falls at low tide to ten feet below mean sea-level. The water at Panama at high tide is slightly more than nine feet above elevation of the water at Colon, while at low tide the situation is reversed and the water at Panama is slightly more than nine feet below the level of the water at Colon. One of the reasons for building a locked canal 85 feet above sea-level is that there are sometimes relentless floods created by the Chagres river, which has been known to rise 25½ feet in 24 hours.

In Affection's Garden.

In the garden of our affections there are certain loyal natures that continue faithful through all things; as in the kingdom of vegetation there are certain finely organized and sensitive growths of flower and vine, which are so susceptible to warmth and light, and beauty, that they do nothing at their lives but look at the sun. In the dawn, with a sublime faith, they watch the east for his coming. Turning on their slender stems all day long, they follow him as he makes the circuit of the sky; and at nightfall, after he has sunk from sight, we behold again these flowers, their faces westward now, with the dewdrops shining on their petals, like tears gathered in the eyes of parted friendship.—John McLandburgh.

Express Yourself Accurately.

Few of us are ever called upon to quote Latin phrases, or discuss those achievements that have made ancient history, but today every one of us is expected to be able to express himself accurately, in plain, simple language—"words" that the average person understands. The wonders and glories and triumphs of a dead past make pleasant reading for people who have the time to thus indulge their tastes, but for the girl who must make every minute count—and the struggle for bread and butter means just that—practical books that will help her to express herself correctly are the works she should read in her spare time. If she is in doubt as to what subjects she ought to take up let her quickly seek the advice of some good, sensible friend, some person who is competent to select the most profitable kind of matter, and then she should act faithfully on this coaching.—Exchange.

People Got Information Slowly Before the Invention of the Telegraph and the "Wireless."

Today when the latest news of the day is flashed all over the world by wire and wireless, we are apt to forget the difficulties of gathering news before telegraphs were in general operation. The earliest fast news courier service of record was reported by Marco Polo, who relates that Genghis Khan, ruler of Chinese Tartary in the thirteenth century, sent relays of couriers across the country, covering about 300 miles each day.

David Hale, manager of the New York Journal of Commerce from 1827 until some time in the 30's, found his paper shut out of a news-gathering combination, so he organized an independent service. He first created a private news boat service, which enabled him to scoop all his competitors in bringing the first news of the French revolution to this country. During the exciting period of Jackson's administration he established a horseback express service from Philadelphia to New York, which resulted in the institution of the celebrated "Halifax express."

Richard Houghton, founder of the Boston Atlas, used relays of horses to gather election news in Massachusetts, and he was able to print the returns of the election of 1830 at 9 o'clock on the morning after election.

MUST BE ATTICS SOMEWHERE

Possibly They Differ From Those of an Earlier Generation, But They Are Not All Gone.

An eastern newspaper laments the passing of the attic. The modern home is without this historical museum of the family. And as for the flat—why, the attic of the flat is a miserable little storeroom in the basement. Where the attic once flourished in the old-fashioned mansion with the clock on the stairs, there is now a luxurious suite for the cook, or for the boys. And the walls have paper with pink roses on it, and there is plumbing and all that sort of thing. Where are the trivial fond records of the family's long or recent past now kept?

In this section of the country we take heart of grace. A sale to aid the cause of woman suffrage reveals the outpouring, if not of the old familiar attic, yet something that must have taken its place—possibly the larger and more frequent closet "with a window in it."

The attic may go, but the attic spirit remains. Somebody in the world somewhere wants these things. They come out and are "snapped up." If there is no attic in the modern house there must be something that corresponds to it. Is it a big closet somewhere, or is there a room at the top that still gathers the odds and ends?—Minneapolis Journal.

Webster's Log Cabin.

It did not happen to me to be born in a log cabin; but my elder brothers and sisters were born in a log cabin, raised among the snowdrifts of New Hampshire at a period so early that when the smoke first rose from its rude chimney and curled over the frozen hills there was no similar evidence of a white man's habitation between it and the settlements on the rivers of Canada. Its remains still exist; I make it annual visit. I carry my children to it, to teach them the hardships endured by the generations which have gone before them. I love to dwell on the tender recollections, the kindred ties, the early affections, and the touching narratives and incidents, which mingle with all I know of this primitive family abode.—Daniel Webster.

Thinking and Doing.

"The end of life," said Emerson, "is an action and not a thought," which leads us to remark how much importance we give to the thought and forget the corresponding action. This very thought of Emerson is worth nothing unless it culminates in a deed. And the lesson now is, never to have a thought that does not originate or culminate in an action. A thought apart from action is of no worth. Thinking well and refusing to do well is destructive of character. Teach that philosophy at school, and if you don't stay home and wash dishes. Saying nice things and doing poor ones is the calamity of life, from which we should all pray to be freed.

Bridge Patched With Concrete.

Much success is reported from the new method of strengthening old bridges recommended by the county surveyor of Shropshire, England. An old bridge of Thomas Telford, built 95 years ago between Shrewsbury and Ludlow, was found to owe its unsafe condition to two seriously cracked cast iron ribs, and restoration has been undertaken by incasing the ribs in ferro-concrete. The accomplishment of the work, restoring the way again to heavy traffic, is said to have made the structure even stronger than when first built. The work on the defective ribs was done from suspended platforms without interference with the roadway, and the repairs have not appreciably changed the appearance of the bridge.

Doubts Mechanical Skill.

A "prominent business man" has offered $50,000 for the privilege of being carried as mechanic on the first transatlantic flight made in an airplane. If this offer is accepted, it is to be hoped that his mechanical ability equals his enthusiasm.—Springfield Republican.

Fuel That Hungary Needs.

Through the utilization of natural gas in Hungary and Siebenburgen, discovered shortly before the war, it is hoped that certain Hungarian towns and industrial districts may be entirely independent of coal. The total natural gas found in Siebenburgen only is estimated at about 216,000,000 cubic meters (1 cubic meter equaling 35.3 cubic feet).

Candy Girl

By E. RAY BAKER

(Copyright, 1919, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

The Mutual Consolation club was in session. The members, four in number, were dejected.

Mattie Melvoude was the reason for the Mutual Consolation club. Mattie was the "candy girl" of Abonvale and the most sought swimmer in the matrimonial sea. She was the "candy girl" in two respects. She was declared to be the sweetest and the neatest, but also the most elusive, belle that ever wrung the heart of a man.

Her abode was on Turnip Hill, but Mattie spent little time there. She was not a social idler. She believed in work, and she did it before a high desk and a proportionately high stool in the business office of the Bon Ton Candy factory.

Mattie had rejected the four most desirable young men in the village. They were desirable by their own admission and they had bank books to prove it. The bank book, however, had proved of no more avail in the wooing of Mattie than so much waste paper.

Each member of the club had spent money like sand in the desert in his campaign to make Mattie his wife. She accepted all the attentions until they wearied her, and then she calmly and scornfully rejected the quartet of admirers. The collective rejection was as follows:

"You go about trying to win a girl's affections just as a boiler-maker would operate a typewriter. Think I'll marry a man with no more initiative than you? I should say not, emphatically. I want a husband who gets an idea now and then. The fellow who thinks up something new in the way of courting a girl is the one that catches me. See?"

Then the Mutual Consolation club came into being. Each of the four discovered simultaneously that the others were after the fair Mattie. It happened that they came together just outside the Melvoude residence at the top of Turnip Hill.

Tom Grayson was peering over a long box of roses. Fred Hooper was lugging a chafing dish he had procured from a Chicago mail order house. Sam Upkins puffed under the weight of a table lamp, while Albert Terry looked sheepish because all he had to offer to the god of love was tickets to the county fair, and they didn't make much of a showing in his vest pocket.

They compared notes and were about to draw lots or flip a coin to decide which of them should have the honor of keeping his engagement for the evening with the idol of their hearts when the idol in question appeared on the porch and delivered the extemporaneous address quoted above.

Thereupon the bridespeakers adjourned to the insurance office of Sam Upkins, at the foot of Turnip Hill, and the roses were put to repose in the garbage can, while the chafing dish came into use as an ash tray; the lamp fulfilled its mission by dispelling the gloom which was fast gathering in the office and in their breasts, and the fair tickets were utilized to carry fire from the one match which the quartet possessed to the cigars which furnished the ashes which were deposited in the chafing dish.

By mutual consent each of the four desirables detailed his journey along the brink of matrimony in quest of a place to plunge in. Each had undergone the same experiences, invested in the same presents for the elusive Mattie, and met with the same rebuffs.

Under the self-constituted presidency of Mr. Terry the club thereupon took upon itself the task of discovering a key to the padlock on Mattie Melvoude's heart.

"She wants some one who has inventive genius—some one who has an idea," said Terry, addressing his fellow members. "Thereupon, it behooves us to collaborate and find some novel way to her affections. When we have come upon a scheme that looks feasible, we will hold a lottery and the lucky man will be allowed to try, without interference from the rest, to win the prize on Turnip Hill. If the scheme fails, we will try another, using the lottery again. In that way none of us will encroach on the preserve of the other, and one of us ought to make our dream of happiness come true. Collaboration—that's it."

The club adjourned to the next day, when each of the members was to submit his plan for the capitulation of Mattie Melvoude.

Promptly at two o'clock in the afternoon Messrs. Grayson, Hooper, Upkins and Terry assembled in the insurance office. Each of them looked expectant, for, having failed to evolve an idea of his own, each expected there would be three other plans submitted.

When the session was called to order and the deplorable situation became known, four bright smiles turned to four dejected frowns, and four pipes were lighted and eight feet deposited on the mahogany table.

"What's to be done?" inquired President Terry. "Have none of us any initiative? Are we going to let this girl escape marriage with one of our four most desirable men in the village? Are we going to let her wear her life away, her beauty and charms unappreciated, in that sordid candy factory?"

The other three drew long and gurgling on their pipes and wreathed themselves in smoke and said nothing.

Finally Grayson reached out and plucked the Abonvale Weekly Times from the table.

"I tell you, I'm about ready to give up," he announced, and to prove he had lost interest in love, he opened the paper and began scrutinizing it with an air of absolute interest.

The others smoked on in silence, which was broken suddenly by Grayson, whose feet hit the floor with a resounding bang, and who rose clutching the newspaper with one hand and his hair with the other.

"Listen to this, would you?" he fairly shouted. They withdrew their feet from the table and pushed back their chairs, all with due deliberation, for the Mutual Consolation club was a more or less deliberative body. Nevertheless they were startled and somewhat apprehensive as to Mr. Grayson's mental condition, considering the probability of Grayson's having become mentally deranged through grief.

"Just listen to this," the excited Grayson repeated: "Mr. and Mrs. George Melvoude of Turnip Hill announce the engagement of their daughter Mattie to Mr. Hiram Slocum of Green Creek. Here it is, right in the society column."

The quartet joined in a prolonged groan, which was followed by another excited action on the part of Mr. Grayson, who suddenly pointed out the window at a lanky figure, carrying a small package under his arm, sauntering up the hill.

"There goes Hiram Slocum now!" announced Grayson. "Quick, drag him in here and make him tell how he did it."

The fortunate Hiram was forthwith pounced upon and conducted, protesting, to Updike's office, where he was surrounded and made the target for a barrage of interrogations. He looked in vain for an avenue of escape. The Mutual Consolation club had him hemmed in. So, discerning that flight was out of the question, he waited until the hubbub of their voices had abated somewhat, then asked in a drawing voice:

"As I understand it, gentlemen, you wish me to tell you how I came to win the heart and hand of Miss Mattie Melvoude?"

"You understand rightly," the club assured him.

"Well," he repeated, "I didn't exert myself to any great extent. I simply began calling on her a month ago, and when I asked her, night before last, if she didn't want to be Mrs. Slocum, she allowed that she did. She confided to me last night, though, that it wasn't my good looks that decided her. She told me the way I made a hit with her was by taking her a box of candy every time I called on her."

"You see, she works all day long, six days a week, in that candy factory, and has to smell the fumes of the candy continuously, but there's a rule in the factory against any employee eating any of it while on duty. She says she has a principle against buying it for herself when she had so many male admirers who might get it for her, but who, instead, take her flowers and everything else under the sun except the sweets she craves. It's been three years since she tasted a piece of candy, she told me. 'Course, I didn't really intend to do anything smart when I invested in those chocolates every time I called, but she says it was a great idea and showed inventive genius, or something!'"

Breathing an Anesthetic.

Scientists of Europe have been conducting experiments in the art of breathing, and as a result have arrived at some interesting conclusions. The theory is advanced that by abnormal control of the breathing powers, the breath being held for an unusually long time, a person may "ascend into the astral realm" and commune with things higher up.

One of the scientists claims to have demonstrated that rapid breathing of pure air acts as an anesthetic and renders a person immune to pain as long as it is maintained. Of course, after the rapid inhalations cease the pain will be felt.

By a little training a person may induce sound sleep by deep and rapid breathing for a few minutes.

NO. 5145 EQUITY.

In the Circuit Court for Carroll County:

ELIZABETH GETTY, Plaintiff, vs.

MILTON G. GETTY, Defendant.

The object of this suit is to procure a divorce a vinculo matrimonii for the plaintiff, Elizabeth Getty, from Milton G. Getty, defendant.

The bill states that on the 19th day of July, A. D. 1908, they were married by Rev. John J. John, a Minister of the Gospel of the Church of the Brethren, in Carroll County, Maryland, and that they lived together in Carroll County, Maryland, until the 7th of June, 1912, when the defendant abandoned and deserted the plaintiff, and has since said 7th day of June, 1912, ceased to live with her, and has resided separate and apart from the plaintiff. That the conduct of the plaintiff towards her said husband, was always kind, affectionate and above reproach, and that her husband, on the said 7th day of June, 1912, without just cause or reason abandoned and deserted the plaintiff and that he declared his intention to live with the plaintiff no longer, and has lived separate and apart from her since the said 7th day of June, 1912, and that such abandonment by the defendant of the plaintiff has continued uninterruptedly for more than three years, and is deliberate and final and the separation of the parties beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation.

That they have had no children born to them as a result of said marriage.

That the plaintiff is and has been a resident of Carroll County, Maryland, for the past twelve years.

That the defendant is a resident of the State of Utah, and a non-resident of the State of Maryland.

It is thereupon, this 28th day of May, A. D. 1919, ordered by the Circuit Court for Carroll County, sitting as a Court of Equity, that the plaintiff, by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper, published in said Carroll County, once a week for four successive weeks before the 30th day of June, 1919, give notice to the said absent defendant of the object and substance of this bill, warning him to appear in this Court in person or by solicitor, on or before the 17th day of July, next, to show cause, if any he has, why a decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

LESSON FOR JUNE 29

REVIEW: RESPONSE TO GOD'S LOVE.

SELECTION FOR READING—Phil. 2: 1-14.

GOLDEN TEXT—I will praise thee, O
Lord my God, with my whole heart.— Ps. 86:12.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Showing Our Love
to Our Heavenly Father.—John 14:15.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Some Things We Have Learned About God.—John 1:18.

INTERMEDIATE TOPIC—The Marks of a Christian.

SENIOR AND ADULT TOPIC—Some Fundamentals of Faith and Practice.

The method of review will largely be determined by the grade of the school.
The primary teacher can use the material which shows love to the Heavenly Father; the junior teacher, that which teaches about God; the intermediate teacher, the marks of a Christian; the senior and adult teacher, the fundamentals of faith and practice. As illustrative of the method for the senior and adult, note the following:

Lesson I. God who was before all things is the cause of all things. The universe came into being by the will and act of the divine personality. Man himself is a creation of God, not an evolution. All things continue to be by the preserving power of God. This great being is the Father of all who believe in Jesus Christ. We should give him our undivided affection and trust him for food and raiment.

Lesson II. Jesus, the Son of God and Israel's Messiah, is the lamb who bore our sins. Out of God's love he was given, and "whosoever believeth on him shall not perish, but have everlasting life."

Lesson III. Jesus Christ rose from the dead. His resurrection guarantees:
1. The integrity of the Scriptures
(I Cor. 15:20).

2. The reality of the divine person
(Rom. 1:4).

3. The sufficiency of Christ's atoning sacrifice (Rom. 4:25).

4. Life and immortality of the believer (I Cor. 15:20).

Lesson IV. On the day of Pentecost the Holy Spirit was poured out upon the disciples, baptizing them into the one body of which Christ is the head.
The gift of the Spirit peculiarly qualified the disciples to be his witnesses.

Lesson V. God created man in his likeness and image and placed him at the head of creation.

Lesson VI. Through the fall of Adam sin has passed upon all men, bringing death, physical and spiritual,

and sorrow in its train.

Lesson VII. Lost men are saved absolutely by God's grace. His grace means his kindness toward men through Jesus Christ.

Lesson VIII. At the preaching of Jonah the people of Nineveh repented.
Because of their repentance God's wrath was turned aside. Those who repent of their sins and cry to God for mercy through Jesus Christ shall be saved.

Lesson IX. It is only through faith that man can please God. Through faith the mightiest victories have been wrought. The grand exemplar upon whom faith can rest is Jesus Christ.

Lesson X. The grand incentive to obedience is love to God. Calling Christ Lord will not answer for disobedience to his will. Hearing and doing his teachings is building upon the solid rock. Such building can never be destroyed by flood or storm.

Lesson XI. The right motive in praying is not to attract man's attention, but to have fellowship with God. God is pleased with persistency in prayer.

Lesson XII. The greatest of the Holy Spirit's gifts is love—the love of God shed abroad in our hearts.
Love is not a mere sentiment or emotion, but a mighty dynamic which transforms the life, expressing itself in practical service to men. It abides forever.

Staying Away From Church.

The habit of absenting one's self from the Sunday services of the church is one that some seem to acquire very easily. It is a habit to be shunned.
Sometimes it is occasioned by sickness; often some small excuse, some grudge against a member, some resentment at a fellow member's fault, is the occasion. Jesus will be there, even if an unworthy member is present. Jesus may be present especially to meet and forgive that unworthy member; and who are we that we should judge a brother or a sister?

Charity and Denial.

Brother men, one act of charity will teach us more of the love of God than a thousand sermons—one denial, than whole volumes of the wisest writers on theology.—F. W. Robertson.

Grandest Thing on Earth.

There is not a man or woman, however poor they may be, but have it in their power, by the grace of God, to leave behind them the grandest thing on earth, character; and their children might rise up after them and thank God that their mother was a pious woman, or their father a pious man.—N. Macleod.

Transcends All Substance.

God's will in the present moment is the daily bread which transcends all substance.—Madame Swetchine.

What Does Loyalty to Our Church and Country Call For?
Matthew 22:15-22

Devotion and duty are the two words that will best answer the question in our topic. Loyalty to the church calls for devotion to her interests, and loyalty to country demands the service which duty imposes.

These two virtues are usually found dwelling together. Devotion to Christ and His church, and duty to the country we love should be found in every true heart.

The men in our Scripture lesson who tried to entangle Christ in His talk, were men who lacked both of these qualities of devotion and duty.
They were among those who had robbed God, Malachi 3:8, and would rob Caesar too, if only they could find opportunity and justification.

Devotion to God and the interests of His church beget within the heart both desire and disposition for all other good things.

To be right at center is to be right at circumference, or in other words to be right with God is to be right with men. One who is ready to pay tithes is usually ready to pay taxes honestly and cheerfully.

Loyalty to country calls for honest
law abiding service in field, factory, market, office and home. It demands also the aid necessary in the enforcement of law and order. Who shall answer the call? Those devoted to the higher interests of the Spirit will be found ready.

A scrap of paper from the kit of a soldier who died at Port Arthur contained these words: Since long ago
my life was dedicated to my Mikado, O, the joy of this day when I can give it to him at last." Such devotion is worthy and due to the King of kings and will inevitably lead to the path of duty in other directions.

Palestine in Christ's Time.

At the time of the birth of Christ,
Judea, that portion in which Jerusalem was situated, was a dependency of the government of Rome. In the year 70 A. D., about thirty-five years after the death of Christ, Jerusalem itself was captured by the Romans under Emperor Titus and was destroyed. It was rebuilt by the Romans and held for varying periods
by them, by the Persians, by the Mohammedans, by the Crusaders and by the Turks. It was under Turkish rule from 1516 until capture by the British.

PRESERVING— in a cool kitchen

Whether you're putting up pears or peaches, tomatoes or string beans, it's a pleasure when you use a Puritan Cookstove.

The kitchen's always cool and clean and comfortable—your fire is always dependable—no coal, wood or ashes to bother with—and meals always on time.

The Puritan burner permits the steady intense flame to play directly on the utensil—the flame comes up thru the grate like a gas flame, with no waste of heat.

Instantly regulated for every cooking need the flame stays where you set it, low, medium or high. At full heat, the automatic wick-stop prevents smoking. The brass burners insure years of service. Sold by all good dealers.

Sad Fate of Chinese Widows.

Very few Chinese widows ever remarry. As a rule, customs of society do not go further, but in some parts of Fukien the self-destruction of widows in their devotion to their dead husbands has assumed almost barbarous forms. For example, when a man dies his wife will generally declare her intention to kill herself to demonstrate her faithfulness toward him. Then the elders of the family will cause a high stage to be erected and invite their relatives, friends and acquaintances to witness the heroic deed.
When the appointed hour has come and the spectators have assembled, the lady will ascend the stage to hang herself amid the admiration and approbation of the spectators. Then a stone arch will be erected to her memory, and the family will be regarded as illustrious for possessing such a devoted wife.

KIDNEYS WEAKENING?

LOOK OUT!

Kidney troubles don't disappear of themselves. They grow slowly but steadily, undermining health with deadly certainty, until you fall a victim to incurable disease.
Stop your troubles while there is time.
Don't wait until little pains become big aches. Don't trifle with disease. To avoid future suffering begin treatment with GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules now. Take three or four every day until you are entirely free from pain.
This well-known preparation has been one of the national remedies of Holland for centuries. In 1896 the government of the Netherlands granted a special charter authorizing its preparation and sale.

The housewife of Holland would almost as soon be without food as without her "Real Dutch Drops," as she quaintly calls GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. They restore strength and are responsible in a great measure for the sturdy, robust health of the Hollanders.

Do not delay. Go to your druggist and insist on his supplying you with GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. Take them as directed, and if you are not satisfied with results your druggist will gladly refund your money. Look for the name GOLD MEDAL on the box and accept no other. In sealed boxes, three sizes.

TANEYTOWN LOCAL COLUMN

Brief Items of Local News of Special Interest to Our Home Readers.

Charles Williams and wife, of Washington, visited their cousins, Dr. and Mrs. F. H. Seiss, the first of this week.

Miss Amelia Sherman, who has been quite ill for the past ten days from heart trouble and dropsy, still continues in a critical condition.

Taney Lodge No. 28, I. O. O. F., will hold a memorial service next Sunday evening. See particulars in special notice.

Installation of officers of the Knights of Pythias will take place on July 1. All members are requested to be present. Refreshments will be served.

Several nice voluntary subscriptions to the soldiers' monument came in during the week. One was a check for $25.00 from a former citizen, now of New York.

George P. Eyler, formerly of Harney, died at North Yakima, Wash., on June 15. He was a brother of Mrs. Albert Shoemaker, and a brother-in-law of D. J. Hesson, of Taneytown.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. LeGore and family entertained, on Sunday, Mrs. Ida Landis, Miss Erma Shiner, of Wakeeney, Kansas, and Mr. and Mrs. C. F. LeGore and Miss Berdette Strickhouse.

The locusts made a rather poor show, for a once in seventeen years effort. Things of all kinds must come more frequently than that, these days, and make more noise, or go into the back-number class.

The booze tourists who pass through Taneytown, about midnight, on their way from Littlestown, and who have been interfering with our "silent policeman" are quite apt to get into trouble without expecting it. Truly, when booze is in, good-sense is out.

George R. Sauble used a tractor, with a ten-foot-cut binder, this week, for cutting his wheat. The combination was a complete success, and attracted many on-lookers. Mr. Sauble has a big farming contract to handle, and is meeting it with improved machinery of all kinds.

Our local teachers, Misses Emma Reaver, Clara Devilbiss, Clara Hockensmith, Grace Fair, Thelma Miller, Vesta Zepp, Helen Reindollar and Harry L. Feeser, are attending school at Towson. Misses Mary Ohler, Lillie M. Snyder and Bertie I. Snyder, are attending a summer course at College Park, Md.

Note the advertisement in this issue, of the call being made for funds with which to rebuild St. Mary's Industrial School, recently destroyed by fire. The appeal is a strong one, and deserves liberal response. Contributions will be received by and member of the local committee whose name appears in the advertisement.

The Taneytown Bus Line has changed its schedule, beginning last Sunday, in order to meet changes on the W. M. R. R. The bus now leaves Taneytown at 7:20 A. M., and 4:00 P. M., and leaves Westminster, at 9:45 A. M., and 5:00 P. M., connecting with trains leaving Baltimore, at 8:15 A. M. and 3:47 P. M.

Taneytown district will want to raise the $290.00 asked of it by the Salvation Army. Read the article on the subject on the first page, also advertisement. Solicitors have been named for the district, but it is possible that everybody may not be seen. Miss Eliza Birnie will be glad to receive subscriptions from any in the district. This is a small job—let us "get at it" and finish it up quickly.

All of the business places of Taneytown will close at 12 o'clock, on Friday, July 4, on account of the county reception to the returned soldiers, which will be held at Westminster. Make a small contribution to the expenses of this occasion. Taneytown district is asked to furnish $75., and you will feel more as if it were your affair if you give a little. Anything from $1.00 down to a dime. Give it to the girls who solicit, or leave it at any store.

We will make our remittance for the Armenian sufferers, on Monday. To date, it is only $4.00. There are so many calls, for so many worthy objects, that the charity inclined no doubt feel over-run; but, none of the calls are quite so greatly in need, for actual life-saving, as this call for the Armenians, and we should like to send more. However, we shall send what we have, by that time—Monday evening. We fear that many who complain of "so many calls," adjust the matter by giving to none.

Mrs. Rebecca Fair, and grandson, of Towson, are visiting at Mrs. Sarah Babylon's.

Mrs. Uptor Birnie, of Philadelphia, is spending the Summer at "Winchester Place," Westminster.

Preston J. Smith has bought his father's farm, at Bridgeport, and will remove to it in the Spring.

Frank T. LeFevre and children, of Sebring, Ohio, spent over Sunday with Harry and Wallace Reindollar.

July Union Services.

During July, 1919, Sunday evening union services will be held in the Taneytown church, at 8 o'clock, as in former years, the schedule for the month being as follows:

6th—Lutheran church, Rev. S. R. Downie.
13th—Presbyterian church, Rev. L. B. Hafer.
20th—U. B. church, Rev. Guy P. Bready.
27th—Reformed church, Rev. D. J. March.

We have a living God upon whom we may and ought to call: let us worship Him. Of course, He can be sought and found in the solitude of our own room in our various homes and we should so worship always. But we should also worship God in His house, in union with His people. Not even the most ardent prayer in our closet can take the place of communion with Him in the songs, the public prayers, the reading of His Word, and the message of His gospel in the sanctuary.

"The Lord loveth the gates of Zion more than all the dwellings of Jacob." Let every child of God come before the Father of Mercies in this July service of the Communion of Saints, confessing his sins, seeking forgiveness, and pledging himself anew to our Father God's service. Let's make it "the best ever."

CHURCH NOTICES.

Sunday services, Church of the Brethren, New Windsor, in College Chapel: Mission Study Class, 8:45 A. M.; Sunday school and Bible study, 9:45; church service, 10:45; Christian Workers' meeting, 6:45 P. M.; followed by song service at 7:20; preaching at 8:00.

In Trinity Lutheran church, next Sunday morning the pastor will have for his sermon topic, "A Call to the Thirsting." The combined service in the evening, at 7:30 o'clock, will be of special interest, looking forward to Independence Day. The topic for the sermon will be "Loyalty to Church and Country."

Western Maryland College.

The attention of our readers is directed to the advertisement of Western Maryland College appearing in this issue. This institution located at Westminster, begins its 53rd year on Sept. 23, 1919. It has made a record for thoroughness and efficiency not excelled by any in the State. Its beautiful location in the highlands of Maryland, its excellent equipment in buildings and grounds, its well-trained faculty, its up-to-date courses of study, and its charges kept down to reasonable terms make it an attractive place to get an education.

In addition to the usual Classical, Scientific and Historical courses leading to the degree of Bachelor of Arts, there are supplementary courses in Music, Elocution, Oratory, Domestic Science and Pedagogy. Completion of this last-named course secures the certificate of the State Board of Education. A regular unit of the Reserve Officer Training Corps is established at the College, commanded by Capt. L. H. Richmond, U. S. A., the government supplying uniform and equipment.

We recommend this Institution to any of our readers who may be considering the question where is my boy or girl to go to College.

The Westminster Fire Co. is actively at work, preparing for the festival and bazaar, which opens Thursday evening, July 3, with a parade. Ten Fire Companies have been invited to participate in this parade, and there will be bands and an army tank. A good supper each evening, and all day on Friday, July 4, meals will be served.

Booze Is Not a Good Cure. From the Ames, Iowa, Intelligence. When a man comes to you all doubled up with pain and declares he will die in your presence unless you procure him a drink of whiskey, send him to a doctor or else give him a dose of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy. There is a mistaken notion among a whole lot of people that booze is the best remedy for colic and stomach ache.

Demand for Sumac Increases.

Sumac, which grown abundantly in certain sections of the United States may be gathered and sold profitably to tanners and dye manufacturers, say the specialists of the Bureau of Chemistry, United States Department of Agriculture. The price of sumac has increased in recent years, because of the decrease in importations of this plant from Sicily. The American sumac, if properly gathered and cured, is equal to the imported article.

In certain sections of Pennsylvania Maryland, Virginia, and West Virginia good wages can be made, the department says, by gathering and selling sumac during July, August, and September. Arrangements for the sale of the sumac should be made before it is gathered.

Department Bulletin 706, which gives useful information regarding the gathering, curing, and sale of sumac, can be had upon application to the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.
