YOUNG MEN BEING MISLED BY THESE TIMES

Keeping the Trades Supplied is Vitally Important.

It will be very wise, for our young men to look more closely into the probabilities of the future. Just now, there are so many apparently good chances going for profitable work, that learning trades is largely un-practiced. Young men are growing into men, and getting married, who at best are only "day hands," and not skilled mechanics or tradesmen, and after a while when this stimuation is over—when this unhealthy period of demand for mere muscular labor passes—thousands are going to find them-selves just "common laborers" for the rest of their lives competing for a living with the masses.

It is unquestionably requires some depth of understanding; some force of character; some advance manliness, to step into an apprenticeship, at small pay, during these abnormal times; but, take our word and experience for it, the young man who equips himself, for something better than the good-paying "day jobs" calling him now, is going to, be the best off, and more independent, in the years to come. There is no more vitally serious fact facing the lives of the future men of this country, than their being deceived, now, as to what is best for them; and this means that the coun-try as a whole—each community in is preparing for itself, hard times and industrial famine, inconvenience, and lack of skilled mechanics for supplying community needs.

Just look around and see how many are learning carpentry, bricklaying, blacksmithing, plastering, wagonmaking watchmaking, shoemaking, printing, harness making, and other trades? and the same is largely true among the trades best served by wo-It must be understood that the demand for workmen in these lines can never be replaced by machinery, and that it will be only a matter of a comparatively few years, when the country town and sections are going to pass into a condition of stagnation that were result in a serious drawthat must result in a serious drawback to prosperity in general.

All men can not be shopmen, and factory employees, and it would not be a good thing for the country if they were. This country, after all, must place its first and greatest dependence on agriculture; and if the needs of farmers for home mechanical work are not supplied, it is going to bring about a bad situation for the whole country. Farm help is all too scarce, but, just as important to the farm proposition is the outside mechanical bala that the farmage productions are supplied to the farmage proposition of the supplied to the farmage production. help that the farmer needs, both outside and inside of his home, and to the young men of today the country must turn for supplying this demand. There ought to be more interest taken, not only by the young men, but by the older men, in turning their thoughts toward the future. Men Men concluding that they are not interested in keeping up the supply of skilled men in the trades. The bigendous mistake in gest mistake is being made by the young men, but, the older ones are scarcely less responsible. crazy times are making too many victims, who will live to repent of their

Can Church Publications Continue?

"Evidently a crisis is being reached in the matter of church publications, and the church people might as well realize it. If paper and printing and wages rise any higher, one of two things must happen: Either the Church must quit printing, or prices for its publications must rise. the first would mean disaster, only those who care little or nothing for religious literature can harbor such a thought. And yet they are in reality in the majority. If support of the publications fails, the publications themselves must cease. Raising prices here becomes serious; for while people must buy bread, meat and milk, they may not feel the need of buying the Church's literature. On the other hand, no thinking member of the Church will care to accept that horn of the dilemma. The Augsburg Publishing House, of Minneapolis, has raised the price of its literature under absolute compulsion, and other houses are bound to do so very soon, unless conditions change.'

The above is from "The Lutheran," published at $2.00 a year, and with many thousands of subscribers. continued publication has reached a "crisis" in this field, what does the thoughtful reader imagine it must be in some other fields ?

THE AGRICULTURAL EXHIBIT. Getting Ready For Big Event in Westminster, Nov. 19-21.

The monthly meeting of the Farm and Home Advisory Council met in the County Agent's office, Saturday evening, with a good representation. The topic under discussion was the for the Agricultural Exhibit and Rally which is to be held at the Armory, Nov. 19, 20 and 21. The reports of the committee on the Rural Life Conference, which is to be one feature of the exhibit, are not complete, but the committee is working and in correspondence with prominent men in this work. We are confident from the personnel of the committee, E. H. that an interesting time for all interested in community life and the community church, will profit by their

be given. The committee on solicitation of funds reported a fine sum with many sections of the county yet to be heard from. Much praise is due to women on this committee who in two after-noons secured nearly half of the budget. Everybody seemed willing to further the interest of this community project; the business men willingly co-operating.

The question of allowing booths was brought up, and a committee appointed which later in the evening reported that they thought it was available to have extra booths, especially if they contained articles pertaining to the departments exhibited, such as agriculture and home economics. There may have to be some changes and some additions depending upon the amount of money raised. It was decided to give no second or third prizes, except for group exhibits, but ribbons will be warded for separate exhibits under Reduced Hotel Rates.

One of the leading hotels in Baltimore has announced a reduction of 25% in meals, as well as a reduction in the charge for rooms. The reporter handling the item gives an illustration in the cost of a meal-

Reduced Cost $1.87 The reduction is being made, apparently, because the limit has been reached, of the ability, or willingness, of patrons to pay, and who have felt compelled to patronize lower cost places, with less expensive service. Likely the average person will consider $1.87 still a stiff price for a rather modest meal.

STEEL WORKRS TO STRIKE ON MONDAY MORNING

Leaders Unable to Restrain the Men For Conference.

Notwithstanding the proposed conference planned by the President for October 6, the steel worker employees will apparently go on a general strike, Monday morning, throughout the country, notwithstanding the efforts of the Labor Union officials to the

E. H. Gary, Chairman of the United States Steel Corporation, continues to decline to meet and confer with the strikers and declares that the "open shop" prinicple is vital, and can not be surreneded. He says the country will not stand for "closed shop" domination, and all that is means to the business interests of the country. He makes the further state-

"It is the settled determination of the United States Steel Corporation and its subsidiaries that the wages and working conditions of their employes shall compare favorably with the highest standards of propriety and justice. Misrepresentations have already been and hereafter will be made; unfavorable criticisms may be indulged in by outsiders, especially by those who have little knowledge of the facts; our employes may be threatened and abused in the effort to influence them to join the unions against their own desire; but, whatever the circumstances may be, we should proceed with the conduct of our business in the usual way and should give evidence to our employes that we mean to be fair with them."

Apparently, there will be a test of strength between the two forces that may have wide influence on business and labor generally throughout the

The Wool in a Man's Suit.

The Secretary of the National Wool Growers' Association of the U. S., Mr. S. W. McClure, has asked the Secretary of Commerce to investigate why, from wool worth $4.50, a suit of clothes should cost $50.00 ? He says:

"It requires one and three-quarter pounds of scoured wool to make one pound of cloth. Take a medium-weight winter suit. A yard of cloth will weigh fourteen ounces, and it requires three and three-eighths yards of this cloth to make a suit of clothes for the average man. Therefore, the cloth in the suit weighs virtually three rounds. To make that tually three pounds. To make that much cloth would require three and three-quarter pounds of scoured wool, so that eight and one-half pounds of average three-eighths block Idaho wool will more than make all the cloth required for an average winter suit for an average man.

"At fifty-three cents a pound for wool, the wool grower receives $4.50 for furnishing all the wool required to make a suit of clothes that is retailed by the shopkeeper at from $40

Would it not be possible for some department of the government to put out a publication showing exactly what the wool grower, the wool jobber, the wholesale clothier, and the retail clothier receive out of a $50 suit of clothes?"

Move to Raise Grain Prices.

Indianapolis, Sept 17.—A movement intended to cause farmers throughout the Middle West to hold their grain on the farm, so as to bring about a substantial upturn in the market was started here by the Illinois Agricultural Association, according to a telegram received by the Indiana Federation of Farmers' Association. The telegram, sent by D. O. Thompson, secretary of the Illinois organization, from Chicago, follows:
"I am sending this wire to all farm

A Happy Discovery.

Reports from various sources indicate that the repeal of the "day-light" law, and the return to "old time," will be circumvented by "starting to work an hour earlier." Exactso. This is a fine conclusion, and will fit the situation. Isn't it a wonder that such a simple solution was not thought of before? Now that this important discovery has been made, everybody is likely to be happy -"old time" and "starting earlier," working hand in hand, as it were, and there will be as much daylight saved, and as much time for recreation, as ever.

The I. O. O. F. Grand Lodge, in Baltimore, this week, refused to amend the constitution of the Order to admit members from 18 to 21 years of age, claiming that so doing would lower the status and stability of the Order.

One of the newspaper reporters was killed, and several injured, of the party accompanying President Wilson's tour, due to an auto collision in Portland, Oregon The man killed was Benj. F. Allen, representing the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

FIGHTING IN THE EAST Turks Make More Trouble. Bolsheviki

Fall Back in Russia. The situation in the near East seems to be more menacing lately. The Turks are again threatening the Armenians, who have have appealed

A late dispatch from couraging. London says: The Polish forces in Russia have driven the Bolsheviki to the Northern bank of the Dvina river as far as Disna and have occupied Korohtenehtop. On the Ukranian front the Bolsheviki have forced General Petlura out of Radomysl, but apparently are not attempting yet to recapture Kiev itself. This represents an advance northward of aproximately 100 miles from the town of Borisoff, on the east bank of the Bereuina river, 50 miles northeast of Minsk, reported on September 16. General Denikine holds a line extending roughly from Bielaya-Tser-kov to points 30 miles northwest and north of Kiev. Denikine's forces continue to advance along the Upper Dnieper, but have suffered repulses further to the northeast, where the Bolsheviki have recaptured Borena and Bakhmach. The Siberians commanded by Admiral Kolchak, head of the all-Russian government, continue to advance successfully and are now within 45 miles of Koorgun. However, owing to the enforced retreat of Admiral Kolchak's southern army, the Bolsheviki advancing southeastward along the Turkestan railway, have succeeded in effecting junctions with another force moving northwest from Cholkar, southwest of Orenburg, near the Ural River. The Bolsheviki forces have suffered a severe defeat in the Trans-Caspian region, losing heavily in an engagement at Archman.

Urges Preachers' Strike.

A nation-wide strike of Baptist clergymen unless they are granted higher salaries, was advocated in a statement issued in New Thursday night, by Chas. A. McAlpine, a member of the National Committee of Northern Baptist Laymen. I were still a pastor and my salary was not more than $800 per annum which is the amount received by the average clergyman in our denomination, I'd organize a union of ministers," said Mr. McAlpine, who predicted there would be a shortage of clergymen soon unless ministers are better compensated than "milkmen, window cleaners and day laborers."

Bank Robbers Sentenced.

Norman Ogle, formerly of Frederick, and Walter Weinhart, of Baltimore, pleaded guilty on Thursday in Frederick court, Chief Judge Ham-mond Urner and Associate Judges Worthington and Peter on the bench, to robbing the Walkersville Savings Bank, and were sentenced to seven years in the Penitentiary. In pro-nouncing sentence Judge Urner said the Court was influenced by two things-their duty toward society and the youth of the offenders. The crime was bold and flagrant, he said, committed deliberately with premeditation, and there were no extenuating circumstances in the case.

TREATY FIGHT NOW ON ITS WAY IN THE SENATE.

Both Sides Keyed-up, and Not in a Sweet Humor.

The reading of the Treaty in the Senate commenced, on Tuesday, with clashes between the leaders, and indications of a stormy course. There seems to be an exhibition of temper on both sides that will largely pre-vent a calm and dispassionate disposition of the very important question, and this is considerably aggravated by the President's daily speeches, raising new questions on the side in addition to those in the Senate. The effort to force the Senate to accept the Treaty, without change, has all along been the disturbing factor, and apparently will be so to the end.

It is thought that no voting will take place under a week, on any important point. Speeches have been made, this week, by Senators Lodge, Hitchcock, Sherman, Williams, Reed, McKellar, McCumber, and others. On the outside, there is a renewal of noise, and more or less threatening predictions of dire results, should the predictions of dire results, should the Treaty pass, or not pass as written, until the public is thoroughly mixed up over the question.

It would be wise, we think, for a halt to be called—beginning with the President—on the whole matter. Like the continuance of strikes, the continuance of strikes, the continued aggressive argument is making the situation worse, instead of better; and, as the Senate is the court in the case, it should be permitted to argue it, vote on it, and assume the responsibility, as it has the Constitutional authority to do, and be, without any more outside interference from anybody.

Short Articles Most Desired. The Record is frequently unable to publish lengthy articles, not because we could not find space, but because sue the plan of featuring special articles that would interest other read-The easiest part of the newspaper man's job is to "fill up" his paper, and the hardest part is to fill it so as to meet the interest of all readers; and this is especially true of a paper the size of the Record, taking into account the large amount of space that must be given to paying advertising. We again go into this subject, in order to try to make it clear to some who write in great detail, thinking that otherwise they are poor writers -why their productions are not always used in full, after they have spent so much time on them, with the best of intentions. The writer, therefore, who tells his story pointedly, and without elaborte detail and long argument, is the one most likely to secure the desired publicity. good stories are lost entirely because they are written up at too great length; moreover, readers are apt to "skip" them even when they appear in print.

Marriage Licenses.

John W. Harris, of Upperco, Baltimore county, and Mamie Marie Miller of Hampstead. David W. Hooper, and Addie Waddel, both of New Windsor.

Considering the extent of the unrest abroad in this country, and the fact that all sorts and conditions of men-physically, morally and mentally-have the utmost freedom of travel and personal conduct, extremely reassuring, after all, this country is not even near Bolshevik, and that the President can travel and speak plainly and publicly, with comparative safety, anywhere in the United States.

During June, July and August, there were 510 resident hunting licenses issued in Carroll county, and 9 State licenses, amounting to $527.25 for fees. In Frederick county there were 786, resident licenses issued, and 31 State licenses, amounting to $893.95. The total receipts for all counties amounted to $15,682.70.

Senator Johnson, of California, who is trailing President Wilson in the West, is drawing great crowds. He is asserting that "the choice is between the League of Nations and Americanism," and that we do not need a new government for the United States, so much as we need "to adhere to the Constitution, and Declaration of Independence.

LABOR KEEPS UP THE PRICE. Woolen Goods Manufacture at the Mercy of Labor.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 12.-Speculating in wool is greatly discouraged by the present unrest. Organized labor is demonstrating that it cannot be depended upon for continuity of opera-tion through long contracts and the textile mills in New England are not, as a whole, looking for much new business today. They have all the business they can handle for the present, and most of them are reported to have reached the point where they must allot their products.

The world market is full of possibilities. It is said that the wool manufacturing industry is in sight of the greatest period of prosperity in its history. Mill men say that no limit could be set to the business they could secure, provided they simply would place it on the books, and both parties take chances as to deliveries. This the manufacturers are not willing to They feel obliged to go cautious-One important factor in co-operation is lacking. That factor is unionized labor. With an immense volume of business in sight, the prosperity of the trade is threatened by the attitude of labor, which neither will permit the operatives to make the goods themselves nor allow them to be made by others. Restricted production is the menace of the industry today and the unsolved problem that is giving man-unsolved problem that is giving man-ufacturers many anxious hours. At one New England mill a strike is in progress which is said to have originated in a demand from a com-mittee of operatives that they be allowed by the manufacturers to fix the blend of wool that should be used in the production of certain lines of goods. It was shown to the committee that orders had been taken freely for goods to be made from the wool blend previously in use; that to cheap-en the blend would lead to cancellations, while to improve its character would increase the cost of the goods so that the mill could not run at a profit The answer to this was the strike. Every manufacturer that comes to market has some story to tell about unreasonable demands of labor. While they are running their mills as near capacity as possible, the aggregate production of goods is greatly restricted.—Phlia. Ledger.

Photos on Licenses of all Auto Operators.

In order to improve the checkingup system in the office of the auto-mobile commissioner, Commissioner E. Austin Baughman, last week, announced that shortly all applicants for operators' cards will be compelled to have photographs on the little pasteboards, which give them the rigt to operate motor vehicles. Just when the plan will go into effect is not we could not find space, but because so doing would unbalance our issue, and crowd out the variety of articles that readers most desire. No matter how interesting, or timely, one particular long story might be to a few, it is not good editorial policy to pursue the plan of featuring special articles. Have photographs on the little passes boards, which give them the right to operate motor vehicles. Just when the plan will go into effect is not known, but Commissioner Baughman said that he was speeding up the work on the details and in all probability the innovation will be operating in a the innovation will be operating in a short time. The new order will not affect those who now have cards, but will apply to the new applicants and

> This new identifying plan has been instituted by Commissioner Baugh-man to check the faking of various automobile owning and operating folks. Frequently the person obtain-ing an operator's license runs in a substitute to take the examination, and in this manner thwarts the in-tention of the law. Likewise, the lending of cards is not unusual, and is practiced disastrously. For under the present system, persons incompetent of driving automobiles are not issued licenses. They must satisfy the investigator that they are reasonably familiar with the operation of a machine before they are granted the coveted bit of pasteboard.

> Within a year's time every chauffeur in Maryland will be photographically on file in the Commissioner's office, as chauffeurs must renew their licenses each year. Not only will their likennesses appear on the cards in their possession, but they will ap-pear on the application which is kept on file in the Commissioner's office. There are between 30,000 and 40,000 licensed chauffeurs in Maryland, and t can be seen that the Colonel's photograph gallery of identification will be quite extensive.-Frederick

Texas Death List Larger.

Rapid growth of the death list resulting from the hurricane and tidal wave that swept Corpus Christi and nearby points, Sunday, caused the belief among the relief workers and local officials that the total dead would approximate 500 persons.

Much of the shore line of Corpus Christi and Nueces Bay has not been penetrated by searchers, while only a small proportion of the wreckage in this city has been moved. This and the continued absence of many per-sons unheard from since the storm was responsible for the rising estimate of fatalities.

Bodies reported bureid in the storm district number 284, of which only 79 could be identified. Estimates of the property loss run as high as $20,-000,000.

To every governor in the United States and to the mayors of many of the more important cities, telegrams appealing for aid have been sent by the relief committee, and responses have poured in from every quarter promising every assistance and in many cases forwarding money.

We will soon need to ask the question, seriously-Who is running this government? Is it Congress, representing all of the people, or is itsome other, one or more, power or powers. If Congress is not to make our laws, and direct the general policies of this country, we evidently need a few more amendments to the Constitution.

The thoughtful man who is willing to wager that he will be found, five the candidates of the old parties; and It is beginning to look as though political parties, like prize fighters, "have their day," and that the time is nearing when old-timers must retire and give the arena to new-timers, differently dressed and credentialed.

It is beginning to be apparent that Senator Johnson, of California, more than any other man prominently before the public-and who is speaking out— is making himself a very likely candidate for the Republican nomination for the Presidency, especially for the element in the party formerly led by Col. Roosevelt. There is no discounting the openness of the man, nor his earnestness, and he is apparently willing to let his opinions be known on almost every public question, without hedging-which was the Roosevelt way.

Although liquors are largely out of reach, the whole country appears to be on the biggest drunk of the century. Perhaps there is an inborn intemperance in man that must break out in some way-if not in drinking, then in striking and rioting, or in some other way raising a rumpus? We have heard so much of the "ultimate good sense" of the American people, and in the sound base of "lawabiding citizens," that we are at times almost fearful that we have been deceiving ourselves with mere complimentary allusions-and illusions.

The Boston verdict is timely. Backbones need stiffening, from the seat of government on down. If this case will precipitate the crisis that seems to be impending, it might as well come now, before any more wobbly agreements are entered into, which but postpones the real test of who, or what, constitutes ruling power in this country. Whether we are to have government by selfish unions, or whether by duly elected representatives of the people, responsible to the

This country can not be "half union and half free," nor can it be at the mercy of any self-constituted force, not answerable to the whole people. "All of the people," not part of the people, must rule, and it is time for "the people" to get back of the Boston verdict and back it up.

The New Labor Party.

The formation of a "Labor Party" seems to be a foregone conclusion. This, at first thought, is not a startling proposition, as the names of "labor" and "socialist labor" candidates have appeared on ballots for quite a number of years, and cut but little figure. Just now, however, a National Labor party is apt to mean something else. Just what, it would be difficult to forecast, exactly, or even approximately, as the movement is yet in its inception, likely getting ready for the Presidential and Congressional elections of next

Public opinion, so far, seems to accord to labor the right to enter politics, if it thinks best to do so, but at the same time decries the attitude back of the proposal. Politics of the regulation order, aims to produce just and fair legislation for the people as a whole, and not for particular classes of people; and, while we have two great parties, differing on governmental principles, these differences are largely non-essential, when considering the broad principle of Democracy-popular self-government-'one for all."

It is not at all unlikely that if a labor party should enter the field, it would elect a fair representation in Congress, and there could be no great objection, nor danger in this, as labor unquestionably has rights to protect and proper issues to advocate. The danger in a great labor representation, would rest in the indications to are never without it in the house, and be gathered from the attitude of la- I am sure it saved our baby's life this bor in the past two years, to win its summer. ends by force, without much regard for the best interests of other classes.

Free "Copy" Paper.

The world has never witnessed anything like the flood of promotion schemes that is now covering the country. That "advertising pays" has caught on in great shape, and specialists in the use of descriptive adjectives and beautiful phrases are as call for an increase of helpers from busy as bees trying to "put over" their products for the benefit of their employers. The special victim of these elaborate write-ups is the weekly newspaper, which is urged, persuaded, tempted, and sometimes bullied, in the efforts made to get these productions into print.

It is quite the common game for an advertiser to buy a certain amount of space, then urgently request that free space be given very interesting write-ups, the latter being camouflaged as "news," and as special correspondence, and in various ways made handy for lazy editors who have space to fill up, without exercising their ability for originality-which they may, or may not, possess.

Apparently, the employees of these publicity experts either have not yet become acquainted with the almost universal fate of their products, or ply to Canada are applicable to the actually succeed in putting them over sufficiently to justify their cost. May It Be The Last.

The Times has repeatedly spoken of the costly and unsatisfactorily Direct Primary law and advocated its repeal. The law is beautiful in theory but damnable in operation.

It has been in operation long enough in Maryland to demonstrate to every man who has given it any thought that as a beautiful theory it has been a complete failure and in creating discord, making everlasting enemies out of former friends, eliminating many desirable men from being considered as candidates and imposing an additional and useless burden on the taxpayer it has been a howling

The high brows and idealists shout the praise of the direct primary and generally neglect or forget to vote and then criticise the men selected by the politicians and their friends who do vote.

The direct primary as it operates give the bosses a greater opportunity to control nominations than was possible under the old convention plan. Under the convention plan each district in the counties and each precinct in the cities selected a number of delegates, usually representative men who came together in a convention and the merits and fitness of men for the various offices were considered, canvassed and discussed.

Desirable and efficient men were frequently secured for officials in conventions who under the present system could not have been secured as they would have absolutely refused to enter primary contests with their unpleasant features, loss of time and expenditure of money.

Under the convention plan tickets were nominated without one dollar expense to the taxpayers, while under the present law a primary in Carroll county costs the taxpayers about $4000, generally an average of $2.00 to $3.00 for each vote cast.

We sincerely trust the Maryland Legislature of 1920 will repeal the law that has proven to be everything but what was claimed for it and the Direct Primary held last Monday will be the last one in Carroll county for selection of local candidates.-Westminster Times.

FIND STEAMER LONG BURIED

Dredging Operations in the Mersey Disclose Remains of Vessel That Had Been Forgotten.

For some time past the Mersey docks and harbor board has been conducting dredging operations in the neighborhood of the Burbo bank, one of the huge accumulations of sand which impede the navigation of the Mersey entrance, and these have resulted in a "find" of remarkable in-

It is the remains of a steamer which have evidently been embedded for generations. Her date is long anterior to that of iron shipbuilding. Of sound English oak were her timbers and framing, to which circumstances doubtless is due the fact that they still retain cohesion and shape, and have so wonderfully resisted the forces of decay as to supply an abundant quantity of material for the souvenir manufacturer. Her beams, in point of fact, are described as being as "hard as iron."

The machinery has practically perished, but the engine bed-plates and the funnel remain, and relics of pottery and other articles are plentiful. The vessel, cleared of superabundant sand, is not only visible, but accessible at low water, and has been visited and examined by many interested people.

The prevailing opinion is that she is the William Huskisson, a paddle steamer belonging to the City of Dublin company, and trading between Liverpool and the Irish capital, which on the 12th of January, 1840, was wrecked on her passage to the Mersey. She had 120 passengers on board, of whom 95 were rescued by the ship Huddersfield, and the remainder perished. Captain Clegg of the Huddersfield subsequently received handsome presentations from the citizens of Liverpool in recognition of his good work .-Manchester Guardian.

REMAINS OF ROMAN SMELTER

Intensely Interesting Discovery Said to Have Been Made in the North of England.

A lady member of the Cumberland and Westmoreland Antiquarian society of England has had the good fortune to discover what is believed to be a Roman bloomery, or ancient smelting furnace. Her attention was drawn to the place by the work of moles, which recently exposed some of the remains, and again later by the burning of the whins formerly concealing the hearth and other features of the bloomery, near Forest How.

By some exploration with a spade, she traced the foundations of a large hearth, twelve yards in diameter, and a number of heaps of cinders, slag and ore; and she also turned up specimens of Roman tiles, with pottery, slag and hematite. The size of the hearth of the Forest How bloomery marks it as quite different from the ordinary north-country medieval iron furnaces, which run from seven to nine or ten feet in diameter, for the one just found is twelve yards across. This appears to be worth further exploration and probably money for that purpose will be found.

Hadn't Seemed to Work.

An oldish man in rusty-brown clothes and with a rusty-brown beard met up with a pin. It was shining sharply bright on a flagging, and he stopped to pick it up.

He had stiff joints and his fingers were in that state informally known as bungly. So he had trouble picking up the pin.

A young man paused to offer his services, but the old one refused. He just grunted and grumbled until at last victory came his way. Then he straightened up his rickety joints and put a hand on his back.

"I'm not as young as I used to be," he admitted, as genially as his joints would allow. "But you know the old saving:

"'See a pin and let it lay, you'll have bad luck all the day. See a pin and pick it up and you are sure to have good luck.

"So I never pass one by." And yet he didn't look as lucky as a man ought to be who had made a life habit of picking up pins.-Washington Star.

Flax in the War. With the restoration of industry on a peace-time basis, cotton once again, according to recent authoritative statements, forges ahead of linen in the world's favor. The exigencies of the recent conflict raised flax to the position as leader among fabrics, a rank which it had held for centuries but had lost almost simultaneously with the advent of the cotton gin. With a realization of the importance of cotton in the making of munitions, there came a speedy reversion to linen for the more commonplace usages-waistcoats, sails for ships, even "wings" for airplanes having lately consisted of material woven from the sun-hued fiber. But flax has reached the end of its days of monopoly. King Cotton now rises to the fore in ordinary pursuits, and linen once again becomes the aristocrat in this field of supply.

A Little Talk About Surplus

"SURPLUS" IS MORE THAN A RAINY-DAY FUND. IT IS AN EVIDENCE OF GOOD MANAGEMENT.

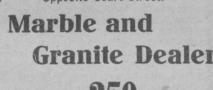

In the case of a Bank, a railroad, or a business institution, a large surplus means that the mangement is wise enough not to distribute all the profits in the form of dividends, but to reserve a portion for future use—it may be for emergencies, or it may be simply to invest in material, real estate, or something else requiring capital, and the possession of a surplus renders it unnecessary to borrow the money.

Every individual ought to have a surplus in the form of a savings account. It is exactly the same with the individual as with the corporation—his surplus indicates that his personal expenses have been kept so well within his income that there is something left over. It also shows that he has not used it all up in "dividends" of pleasure, but like a wise business man has "salted" some of it down for the

REAVER-SMITH.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. T. Smith, of Bridgeport, was the scene of a very pretty wedding, on Thurs-day evening, Sept. 11, 1919, when their youngest daughter, Lillian M. was united in marriage to Mr. Roland R. Reaver, son of Mr. and Mrs. R Wm. Reaver, of near Taneytown.

Promptly at 8 o'clock the bridal party entered the parlor to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, played by Miss Mary Ohler, of Tan-Just before the ceremony Miss Margaret Hess, of Taneytown sang "O, Promise Me," by De Koven The parlor was beautifully decorated the color scheme being green and gold. The bridal party stood be-neath an arch made of ferns and goldenrod, and the ceremony pas per-formed by the bride's pastor, Rev March, of Taneytown, the impressive ring ceremony being used.

The couple were attended by Miss Lena Angell, of Taneytown, as bridesmaid and Mr. G. Oren Moore, of Hanover, Pa., as best man. Velma Smith and Pauline Baumgardner, nieces of the bride and groom were flower girls.

The bride wore a hansome gown of white charmeuse, beaded, and trimmed with silver lace, with slippers to match and wore white roses. groom wore the conventional black. The bridesmaid wore a beautiful dress of pink satin and Georgette crepe. The little flower girls wore dainty white dresses, and carried baskets of

JACOB H. KUMP.

Jacob Henry Kump died at his late residence on Baltimore St., Taney-town, on Thursday evening, Sept. 18, 1919, about 7:30 o'clock. He had been an invalid for a long time, having suffered a stroke of paralysis several years ago. About a week before his death he became helpless and remained so until he passed away. He was twice married and is survived by the second wife and four children by the first marriage, as follows: John, William, and Mrs. Annie Overholtzer, of Emmitsburg, and George

MRS. SAMUEL J. STOVER.

Mrs. Lydia, wife of Samuel J Stover, died on Monday evening, Sept. 8th., at 8 o'clock, at her home near Johnsville, after a long lingering illness. She was bedfast for nineteen weeks and her sufferings were hard to bear, until death relieved her, yet, at all times she was cheerful and would greet you with a smile. Her age was 35 yers, 2 months, and 16 days. She leaves a husband, father and mother, two brothers and five sisters to mourn her loss as well as a host of friends. Her three children having preceded her to the spirit land. Funeral services were held at the home on Wednesday afternoon by Rev. Patterson, of Woodsboro, assisted by Elder Samuel Repp. Interment in the Brethren Cemetery at Beaver

Put End to Moslem Piracy.

In the sixteenth century European civilization was menaced by the Turks. Moslem pirates were the peril of the seas, of which they were fast gaining control. This danger was averted and destroyed by Don Juan, commander of the Spanish fleet, and his allies, the Italian squadrons and the Venetian and Neapolitan fleets, at a naval battle with the Turks in the Bay of Lepanta. The capture of the enemy's flagship, after the battle had raged an hour and a half, gave Don Juan assurance of victory, so he hoisted the consecrated banner of the Holy league at the mast of the conquering galley, where it could be seen by both friend and enemy. The result was as Don Juan expected-exultation on the part of the Christians and depression and discouragement on the part of the Largest of Inland Seas.

The Caspian sea is the largest inland sea in the world. It has an area exceeding 170,000 square miles, and it is situated between Europe and Asia to the southeast of Russia. It lies in a deep depression, and, in a past age, geologists tell us, probably formed, with the Black and Aral seas, an inland sea of vast extent. Salmon and sturgeon are abundant and the seal fishery is important. The Rivers Ural and Volga flow into it. Astrabad, Baku and Astrakhan are its chief ports. Waterways, consisting of rivers and canals, connect it with the Black and Baltic seas. Of its area, 865 square miles belong to its islands. At the present time its surface lies 86 feet below the level of the ocean.

HERE BIRDS FIND SANCTUARY

Area in Delta of Yukon River, Valueless for Other Purposes, Is Now Profitably Employed.

The most important, and by far the largest in extent, of our national "refuges" for the preservation of wild birds is a vast area in the delta of the Yukon river, proclaimed as such by an edict from the White House just ten years ago.

It is an area approximately equal to Massachusetts, and the most valuable feather species concerned are wild geese and wild ducks, which breed there in countless numbers.

There is found the proper home of the "emperor" goose, the "whitefronted" goose, and many species of ducks which are sought as game in other latitudes.

The region is known as "tundra country"-devoid of trees, swampy, with many lakes, and of no possible usefulness for agriculture or any other purpose. If, however, the wildfowl are there safeguarded on their breeding grounds, it will be a permanent source of game and food supply for Alaska and the entire Pacific coast. In order that this may come to pass, it is necessary that the birds shall be protected during the mating season against the wholesale slaughter which formerly was conducted by pot-hunters and alleged sportsmen from year to year-a method commonly adopted being to drive the helpless creatures into pens built for the purpose, where they were ruthlessly murdered.

LAUGHED AT TIME'S PASSAGE

Blue Delft Saucer, Long Sunk in Ocean, Benefited by Century Immersion in Ocean.

The act of a fishing smack off Eyemouth, Berwickshire, England, brought to the top of the sea recently a long dead memory. A blue Delft saucer, deeply incrusted with barnacles, lay among the flopping fish in the net, and it bore a picture of one of the old British coasting and sailing vessels, with the words "Eclipse, Ldn. and Edinboro, Shipping Coy.'

Now, the Eclipse was lost at sea 106 years ago. No one survived, no bodies were thrown up, no wreckage definitely identified with the lost schooner was ever washed against known shores.

Yet, over a century later, a china saucer is recovered! Its blue, according to reports, had taken on a wonderfully deep shade, tinged with green, and was very beautiful.

The London and Edinburgh Shipping company bought the relic for about $50 of our money and gave that sum to the British Red Cross. The saucer was sent to the British museum.

"Imka."

"Imka" is the name by which the Y. M. C. A. is known in Czecho-Slovakia, for "Imka" is the reasonable pronunciation of those four letters in the language of the mid-European land. The Imka is very popular. When the republic of Czecho-Slovakia was established, its citizens who had returned from fighting with the allies urged that the Imka, with its canteens, hut service, athletics and recreation, be invited to come with them. The invitation was given and now the Imka has been developed on an army basis with centers in ten towns and is contemplating establishing a center in the famous coal mine region of Teschen, which is the bone of contention between the new republic and the Poles. As this new republic is said to hold the world's record for literacy, only 1 per cent being unable to read or write, the American "Y" secretaries find splendid co-operation in their activities.

Shark Meat Is Tasty. Shark meat is delicate in flavor and texture, and sharks are plentiful in certain parts of Florida, but the fishermen do not catch them because they are not salable. The home demonstration agent of Monroe county, Florida, decided last winter on an effort to establish in favor this fish now under the ban. At her request a fisherman caught one, but warned her that no one would eat it. Undismayed, she invited a large company of women to a home economics luncheon, at which was served a fish salad.

When all had tasted the salad she asked for a vote as to how many liked and wanted the recipe. Without exception the women voted their hearty approval, and thus proved to themselves that the prejudice was without foundation.-Cleveland Plain Dealer.

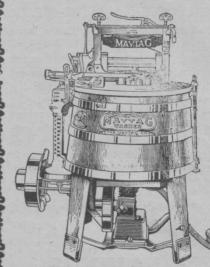

Plea for Dogs.

The first week that Representative Venable of Mississippi was in congress a couple of years ago he made a hundred-and-fifty-word speech about a dog he used to own, and he still is getting letters telling him what a fine speech it was. The speech was a plea for preparedness, in which he pointed out that little dogs always are in hot water; but that mastiffs have only a minimum of difficulties and can enjoy afternoon siestas and such.

Unmedaled Heroes.

Among the heroes of the war is the man who uncomplainingly goes without the things to which he has been accustomed in order that he may quietly do his bit. Only a comparatively few of them ever get into the limelight, but in the scheme of patriotism they share honors with those who wear the uniforms and shoulder the muskets .-

GAVE TITLE TO RED CROSS

Indianapolis Man Found Pleasure in Putting His Contribution on a Business Basis

He was a little old man, clad in the garb of a workingman. He stood back from the canteen information booth at the Union station and waited until the Red Cross women had checked the baggage of a group of men just back from overseas. Then he eased up to the desk and thrusting his arm quickly forward, laid a $20 bill in the hand of one of the attendants. "Take $16.90 out of that," the old man said in a whisper. "What for?" the canteener asked. "It's my tithe," he answered. "Take $16.90 out of it. I must be going."

"May I ask you who you are and why you give your money in this way?" "It doesn't matter who I am. I am just me. The money I'm giving is my tithe to the Red Cross and it makes me happy to give it. It really is $16.93, but you won't want to bother with pennies." The canteener gave him his change and placed the money in the donation box under the counter. He disappeared in the crowd in the Union station. A few minutes later another canteener arrived. She was told of the incident. "Yes, he comes regularly each month and leaves his tithe," she said, "but he won't tell who he is. He seems to enjoy giving to the Red Cross in this quiet way and always wears a smile of satisfaction after he has done it. He seems so happy when he turns to walk away."-Indianapolis News.

URGE SENATE TO HASTEN PEACE

Leaders in Forty States, Regardless of Party, Sign Ringing Appeal

TREATYWITHOUTAMENDMENT

Say Every Day Of Delay Puts World In Imminent Peril Of New War. Point To National Unrest.

New York .- (Special.) -Two hundred and fifty leading Americans, Republicans and Democrats representing forty different states and every prominent activity have joined in a non-partisan effort to bring about the ratification of the Peace Treaty "without amendment and without delay." Their names ere attached to an address to the United States Senate, which was made public today, through the League to Enforce Peace, after it had been sent to every member of the Senate.

The signers, almost without exception, are men and women of national reputation. They include such prominent citizens as ex-President Taft. George W. Wickersham, Attorney General in the last Republican administration; A. Lawrence Lowell, president of Harvard; Charles C. Moore, of San Francisco, president of the Panama Exposition; Judge George Gray, of Wilmington, Del.; President Samuel Gempers, of the American Federation of Labor; Harry A. Wheeler, of Chicago, retiring president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States; Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the National American Woman Suffrage Association; Cyrus H. K. Curtis, the Philadelphia publisher; President Herber J. Grant, of the Mormon Church, and Spargo, leader of the Socialists, who supported the war.

The signers declare that every day of delay in ratifying the treaty puts the world in "imminent peril of new

Their statement follows:

In the Senate at Washington, now that the committee on foreign relations has reported the treaty, the lines are sharply drawn between the immediate ratification of the treaty of peace with Germany, and its amendment with a reassembling of the conference and a reopening of negotiations that would bring great delay and prolonged uncertainty in settling the great issues of the peace. No partisan plea can be made. Party lines are already broken.

Standing at a distance from the conflict in the Senate chamber, we plead for immediate ratification without delay. Our land requires it. A state of nervous strain, tension and qurest exists manifesting itself in disturbances, which in some cases have 'no self evident connection with the war, but which are, in fact, its aftermath. The world is put in imminent wars by the lapse of each day. Dissensions between us and our former allies are being sown. We firmly believe and solemnly declare that the States and cities in which we dwell desire immediate peace.

The waging of war steadied and united the American people. Peace will bring prosperity, and prosperity content. Delay in the Senate postponing ratification in this uncertain period of nether peace nor war has resulted in indecision and doubt, bred strife and quickened the cupidity of those who sell the daily necessities of life and the fears of those whose daily wage no longer fills the daily market basket.

We beseech the Senate to give the land peace and certainty by a ratification which will not keep us longer in the shadows of possible wars, but give the whole world the light of peace. Reservations in the nature of clarifieations in the meaning of the treaty, not inconsistent with its terms, will not require the reopening of the negotiations with Germany and with our associates in the war, which we all and each united to win. But there is no possibility of doubt that amendment of the treaty, as is now proposed in the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, would require negotiation and a reopening of all the questions decided at Paris. Months of delay would follow. The perils of the present would become the deadly dangers of the near future. All the doubt engendered would aid the plots for violent revolution in this and other lands. The issues here and elsewhere between capital and labor, the conspiracy of speculator and prof-Iteer, would all grow and become more perilous. This cannot be. The American people cannot, after a victorious war, permit its government to petition Germany, which has accepted the treaty, for its consent to changes in the treaty, Yet if the United States should amend the treaty for its own purpose and policy, Germany would have full right to ask for concessions. Germany has agreed to make no claim in regard to enemy property seized in this country to an amount of seven hundred million dellars. Our recent foe could ask for a reopening of this issue and of the Lusitania claims. It could raise every question open before hostilities in regard to submarine warfare and the treatment of its nationals in this country. All the provision for our trade in Germany raised by the economic clauses of the treaty, many of them vital to our industries and our farms. as in dye patents, dye supplies and fertilizers, the working of the Reparation Commission, which superintends the trade of all with Germany, could all be brought up by Berlin for readjustment by our negotiators, acting for the United States alone and no longer associated with other victorious powers or supported by a victorious American army on the German border.

Peace itself, the peace of the world is delayed until ratification comes. And any amendment postpones peace. Germany and England alone of the principal powers have ratified. The other principals necessarily await our action, influential and powerful as we are today in the world's affairs. The ravages of war on more than a score of fighting fronts are continued by any needless delay. Let the Senate give the world peace by ratification without amendment.

Even the amendment for which most can be said, the provision in regard to Shantung, will secure nothing which cannot be gained if China, backed by the powerful advocacy of the United States, addresses itself to the machinery for righting international wrongs and meeting just claims created by the league between nations. China, after eighty years of oppressive treaties and despoiled rights, by which all the great powers have profited directly or indirectly, has for the first time. in his covenant and treaty, the means and method to secure justice and the removal of the oppressive economic interference of stronger nations whose citizens are within her gates, protected by a long succession of international agreements. Moreover, it should be remembered that the clause regarding Shantung was made upon the statement by Japan that she will return the territory to China and, therefore, upon that condition, compliance with which promise the league can require.

The peace of the present and the righteousness of the future can be best secured by the ratification of the covenant and treaty without amendment. Let the Senate take no action that will give any party to the treaty, and especially Germany, ground for maintaining that the ratification of the United States is not complete and that changes requiring a resumption of conference and negotiations have been made in it.

First Malleable Platinum.

The fir veritable platinum ingot was mad by a French chemist, Cabaneau, in 1783. Charles III of Spain had called him to Madrid and created a special chair of mineralogy, physics and chemistry for him. In his laboratory he found the secret of rendering the new metal malleable, and this is the way he revealed the fact to one of his patrons: "Three months later, at the home of the Count of Aranda, there appeared upon a table an ingot some 10 centimeters cube (about four inches), with a beautiful metallic luster; it was malleable platinum."-New

LEGION OF HONOR CROSSES FOR Y. M. C. A. OFFICIALS

Paris, Aug. 24.—The cross of the Chevaler of the Legion of Honor, the highest honor in the gift of the Republic of France, has been awarded by Premier Clemenceau to E. C. Carter, chief secretary of the American Y. M. C. A. in France, and William Shoane Coffin and D. A. Davis, who were the American heads of the Foyer du Soldat.

In conferring this honor upon the Ymen the French government recognizes officially the service of that branch of Y. M. C. A. work which was organized for and conducted among the French soldiers. She has also given the work fur-for and conducted among the French soldiers. She has also given the work further recognition by incorporating the Y. M. C. A. foyers into French public life making them a permanent feature of her program of reconstruction.

Dr. John R. Mott, general secretary of the National War Work Council of the Y, had previously been made a Knight of the Legion of Honor. Elwood S Brown, athletic director of the Y, also received the cross recently for his brilliant work in organizing and promoting the Inter-Allied Games, and so did William T. Tolman, a Foyer du Soldat worker.

Legion of Hoarr was instituted by Napoleon I and is awarded only to persons whose services have been of national or international importance.

These Tires Are a Revelation

The Brunswick is frankly a combination of the best in tire

There is one tread that's supreme beyond question. And that is now on Brunswicks.

There is one side-wall construction, which, by every test, holds the summit place for endurance. And that one was adopted for Brunswicks.

Fabrics differ - up to 30 per cent - in their strength tests. On Brunswicks the maximum long-fiber is the standard.

There are certain additions, each one expensive, which add vastly to tire mileage. The Brunswick embodies all these

There are no patents, no secret formulas to prevent any maker from building the best. It is simply a question of knowledge and skill - cost plus care.

Brunswick standards are known the world over. The very name certifies an extraordinary tire. Yet Brunswicks cost no more than like-type tires.

Buy ONE Brunswick. It will prove that a better tire cannot be bought, regardless of price.

I. The Characteristics of the Word of God (Psalm 19:7-11).

1. The law of the Lord is perfect (v. 7). The law here means the fundamental principles which God as a moral being reveals to the consciences of men as binding upon the soul. These principles are free from all omissions and redundancies, perfect as a moral code. It perfectly accomplishes its design, namely, the converting of the soul. The effect of the law of God is to turn men to God himself, to righteousness and holiness.

2. The testimony of the Lord (v. 7). By testimony is meant the witness which God bears as to his attributes and against man's sins. This testimony is plain and infallible. Those who receive it are made wise. Those who with open and teachable minds receive God's testimony are wiser than the greatest intellectuals of the

8. The statutes of the Lord are right (v. 8). His statutes are the principles given to us to fit us for the different relationships of life. These are just and equitable, because they are from the righteous God. They re-Joice the heart, because the true heart rejoices in justice and equity. 4. The commandment of the Lord (v. 8). This brings into view the personal God who stands back of His law to enforce its demands. This commandment is free from error and deceit, and it enlightens the eyes. The effect of God's law is to give man ability, not only to understand his love and salvation, but to be wise as to the things about him.

5. The fear of the Lord is clean (v. 9). The reading of the Word of God produces reverential fear in the beart of the reader. Those who have this godly fear have their hearts cleansed from sin. The life and relationship founded upon this fear abide

6. The judgments of the Lord are true and righteous (vv. 9-11).

By judgments is meant the sentences pronounced by God's Word. These penalties are absolutely true and righteous; they are conformable to the intuitive moral sense of man. These judgments serve as warnings; they prevent man's shipwreck upon life's sea and bring just return to those who obey.

II. A Prayer to God (v. 12-14).

L. For cleansing from secret faults (v. 12). Those who reverently study the Word of God realize in themselves the presence of hidden faults from which they need cleansing, and they cry out to God for this cleansing.

2. Kept back from presumptuous

The sins which result from proud deflance of God's laws need to be eradicated by God's special grace and Ephesians 4:25. 2 Kings 5:20-27.

The verse in Ephesians forms part of the writer's counsel concerning the walk of the Christian believer. Having put on the new man which after God is created in righteousness and holiness of truth (v. 24), it follows that all the bad habits of the old life must be put away.

The chapter opens with an appeal to Christians to walk worthy of their What that calling is can be seen in the first three chapters. Based on what God has done for His people, the appeal to them to walk with Him. Our lesson verse is part of that appeal. Putting away lying we are to speak every man truth with his neighbor.

There are many incentives to truthfulness. Lying violates the moral order of the world. Business men have discovered the value of truthfulness in advertiscing. To gain the confidence of the public, pays even in dollars and cents. Some one has well said that "falsehood is like a house built of bad material, which stands for a while, but goes down at

There ought to be a strong conviction in our hearts that truthfulness pays and that falsehood brings punishment sooner or later. The divine displeasure has often been shown towards lying. Gehazi lied and was punished with leprosy. Aannias and Sapphira lied and were punished with death. Not always is lying so sternly and swiftly rebuked, nevertheless its results in the end are always dis-

With this as a settled conviction there will come the courage to speak the truth always. And with the courage there will be purpose, purpose of heart to be true both in word

"Truth does not consist in minute accuracy of detail," says Dean Alford, "but in conveying a right impression." It avoids exaggeration of statements and modification of fact. It refuses to deviate from the right, even for personal advantage. 'Dare to be true; nothing can need a

COURT AT LEAST CONSISTENT

Judge Remitted Fine When He Committed Indiscretion for Which He Punished Lawyer.

Our famous president, Abraham Lincoln, during his early career as a lawver, traveled a circuit in Illinois. Judge David Davis and Lincoln were close 'riends, says the author of "Lincoln's Own Stories," and the judge always showed a keen appreciation of Linoln's stories.

"I was never fined but once for contempt of court," said a man who was a clerk of court in Lincoln's day. "Davis fined me five dollars. Mr. Lincoln had just come in, and, leaning over my desk, had told me a story so irresistibly funny that I broke out in a loud laugh. The judge called me to order, saying-

"This must be stopped. Mr. Lincoln, you are constantly disturbing this court with your stories.'

'Then he said to me: "'You may fine yourself five dollars."

"I apologized to the court, but told the judge that the story was worth the money. Shortly afterwards the judge alled me to him. "'What was that story Lincoln told to you?" he asked.

"I told him, and he laughed aloud, in spite of himself. "'Remit your fine!' he ordered."

Skeletons of Extinct Bird.

Of the ten known existing skeletons of the great auk in the world, the United States is the only country possessing two. Greater Boston has these, one being in the museum of the Boston Society of Natural History and the other in the Harvard university

The Boston museum contains also an egg of this extinct bird. In view of the fact that a single egg has brought as high as $535, this is considered a most valuable relic.

This flightless sea-bird formerly was distributed along the northern coasts and islands of North America. In its coat of sober coloring with a vest of snowy white it resembled nothing so much as a short man in evening dress. Since it was flightless, the bird was easily exterminated, the natives relishing it as a food. It probably was wholly exterminated by 1844.

Havana's High-Sounding Name. The full name of the capital of Cuba is San Christobal de la Habana. In 1834 a royal decree conferred upon the city the sounding title, "Llave del Nuevo Mundo y Antemural de las Indias Occidentales," which signifies 'Key of the New World and Bulwark of the West Indies." In emphasis, the coat-of-arms of the municipality pears a symbolic key and representations of the fortresses of Morro, Punta

In 1650 the city rose to be the commercial center of the Spanish-American possessions, and the principal rendezvous of the royal fleets that carsled on the trade monopoly between

"GOD SAVE CHINA

Senator McCumber Protests in Senate Against Amendment to Treaty.

AGAINST INTEREST OF CHINA

Republican Senator Asserts That Opponents of the Peace Treaty in the Senate Are Trying to Kill It.

Washington. - Senator McCumber, for twenty years Republican senator from North Dakota, in a speech in the senate charged that the majority of the foreign relations committee is trying to kill the peace treaty and the league of nations. Senator Mc-Cumber spoke after his second breach with the opponent's of the treaty on the senate committee on foreign relations. In the present breach Senator McCumber voted alone with the supporters of the treaty and against the majority of the committee which voted to strike out "Japan" and insert "China" in the three sections awarding the Shantung peninsula. "Why did the majority of this committee pause in the midst of their hearings to make this particular amendment?" Senator McCumber ask-

"The purpose is apparent. It is to signify to the country that the senate is hostile to this treaty. It is to put Japan in a position where she cannot without an appearance of being coerced do what she has promised to do. It is to create trouble between this country and Japan and thereby send the first dagger thrust into the body of this treaty.

"I am satisfied that no greater blow could ever be struck against the real interests of China than by such an amendment.

"Is it an act of true friendship toward China or a mere political move to defeat the treaty? If it's sponsors now fail to come forward and openly pledge that if Japan is not driven out of the treaty then the United States will proceed single handed and alone to drive Japan out of China, will renew this world war and send our soldiers into the Orient to fight for her, then by this act they are betraying China with a false kiss.

"If on the other hand, they declare they will make war to drive Japan out of China to prevent Japan receiving only those rights which the other great nations of the world have received, then they are proclaiming a policy which they have assailed as being the most wicked part of the league of nations—a policy of interference with the quarrels of the old world. Worse than that, while they violently condemn a joint agreement with the other great white nations of the world to shield the greater white races from annihilation they would send our sons to death to defend the inferior yellow races whom we claim to be so inferior as to be unfit to associate with us.

"Either we will bring both Japan and China into this league of nations, which by the very terms of its provisions will compel Japan to return to China all the German rights acquired by Japan, not only by conquest but by the solemn agreement made by her with China herself, or you will drive Japan out of this treaty wherein she will not be bound by the obligations which she would assume by joining the league, and where she will be holding the German territory and all the German interests by the right of conquest and with the broken word of China, she can work her way to the very limit of subjugation of all the Chinese territory not now within the sphere of influence of other powers. which by the very terms of its provis-

ers. "With this league of nations China "With this league of nations China-obtains an assurance which is tanta-mount to a guaranty by all the world that not only will Japan return to China what Germany wrested from her in 1898, but henceforth and so long as this league shall last no other nation shall rob China of one inch of her territory or exercise any control over her people inconsistent with the claims of complete independence and sovereignty."

over her people inconsistent with the claims of complete independence and sovereignty."

Senator McCumber then reviewed the history of the several treatles under which Japan took over the German rights in Shantung, promising to restore them to China. He then said: "By this amendment you declare that Japan cannot be trusted to keep her word, given not only to China alone, but also given to the United States and every other important nation by reiterated declarations. "There is but one honorable, upright and proper course to be pursued by all the great nations of the world, including China and Japan. Let China keep her treaty; give Japan an opportunity to do what she has pledged her national honor to do; cease this attempt to juggle this country into war with Japan; defeat this proposed amendment which arrogates to ourselves the right to annul a treaty between China and Japan and sets at naught a treaty made during the stress of battle between our co-belligerents and Japan before we entered into the war; bring Japan and China into this world league and as sure as the sun shall rise tomorrow Japan will keep her plighted faith. China will receive complete present justice and assured future protection.

will keep her plighted faith. China will receive complete present justice and assured future protection.

"On the other hand, force this breach of contract by China; drive Japan out of this league by insulting her honor; relieve her from her treaty by first breaking it yourselves and thereby installing her in her impregnable position of right of conquest and China is doomed. The other European nations cannot help her because they are tied by their own treaties, and you will not make war on Japan to help China after she has broken her treaty.

"If these be friends of China, then God save her from her friends."

Well Called the Penguin, Since It Moves Fast on Ground, but Is

Do you know what a penguin is? You may have read of it, but probably never have seen one. The penguin is an aquatic bird found in the polar regions. It is remarkable for its peculiar structure. It has only stumps in place of wings and, for that reason, is unable to fly. But it is a good walker and an expert swimmer and diver. The name of "penguin" has also been given to the training apparatus employed to teach prospective aviators the control of the airplane or seaplane. The name is well chosen. The penguin used for training is as unable to fly as its arctic namesake. It consists of an airplane with wings so very small that the power of the motor is unable to lift the airplane off the ground or water. It is supplied with allerons, elevator, rudder and wheels exceptionally strong for running on the ground. The apprentice is encouraged to run this "penguin" to his heart's content; there is no danger that it will take to the air. In a short time he graduates to a real airplane that can and does fly, and then he can give all his attention to the flying part without having to worry over the handling of the various controls. The sense of safety he enjoys while learning is a great nerve sedative to the

"Cures" for Various Ills of the Human Body.

Weird and wonderful are the remedies advised in different parts of the world for diseases which affect hu-

Sufferers from rheumatism may be pleased to hear that there are people who claim to have found a sure cure for their malady by binding split mackerel around the affected part. The town of Lee, in England, still has on record the famous cure known as the "Lee Penny." This coin was brought from the Holy Land by a Crusader. On many occasions when the health of the people has been threatened this penny has been used. "Three dips and one swirl" in a bucket of water were supposed to endow the liquid with healing properties.

In many parts of Europe it is thought that passing under an ass a child suffering from whooping cough will bring instant relief.

Almost every one has heard of the curing of warts by touching them with a wedding ring. This "cure" is perhaps not so well known: Make the sign of the cross on a wart, at the same time chanting: 'What I see, that I wish; what I wish, that disappears."

Uncrowned English Queens.

There have been several uncrowned queens of England. The first was Margaret of France, the second wife of Edward I. Money was scarce in the government coffers at the time, and Edward could not afford the expense of a coronation. The four later wives of Henry VIII, Anne Boleyn's successors-Jane Seymour, Anne of Cleves, Catherine Howard and Catherine Parr - were never publicly crowned as queen consorts. Henrietta Marie, the wife of Charles I, being a strict Catholic, refused to take part in a state function which would compel her to partake of the sacrament according to the rites of the Church of England. Sophia Dorothea, the wife of George I, and mother of George II, was never recognized as queen of England and therefore can not be classed as one of Britain's uncrowned queens. Caroline of Brunswick, the wife of George IV, was not permitted to be present in Westminster hall at his

How would a Building Association pay, as a Taneytown venture? The policy of the town has not been to invite growth, but those who want to come in, must break in. It seems to us that the financial interests of the town, for their own profit, should realize the desperate efforts of the town to grow, that are barred by not enough houses. Perhaps it would pay business here to build and rent houses, even at a loss, in order to accommodate a larger population? Think it over!

How to Destroy Insects Injurious to Stored Grain.

The most serious damage to wheat in shock, stack, or bin is done by the angoumois grain moth and the black weevil. These insects may be de-stroyed in grain stored in bins or barrels by the use of liquid carbon disulphid.

Place the grain in air-tight bins, holding from 30 to 40 bushels. Place one pound of carbon disulphid in a shallow vessel on top of the grain and cover the top of the bin as tightly as possible. The liquid readily vaporizes, and the fumes, being heavier than air, pass down through the grain, destroying all insects. This method is most effective when the temperature is about 75° F.

The disease most injurious to wheat and the factor that usually limits yields the most in the Southeastern States is rust. This affects both stems and leaves, reddish and black spots forming on these parts. Its development is favored by dampness and heat. It is most destructive on low, damp land. Early-ripening varieties will generally be less affected than late varieties. There are no rust-proof varieties for the South, but some are more resistant than others. Sowing on fertile, well-drained uplands and the use of early varieties are the most successful methods of combating the disease. Seed treat-ments are not effective in preventing
