A GENERAL STRIKE CRISIS FACING THE COUNTRY

Grave Situation in New York and Elsewhere in Country.

Strike situations are growing with alarming rapidity throughout the country, although the public seems indifferent. So many strikes have been held, in recent years, that have al-ways ended, that the public does not now appear greatly interested, even though there are sixty-five, at present, and many more are drawing near. Evidently, a crisis is coming, whether it is regarded seriously or not.

Employers express themselves as prepared, if not ready and willing, to meet the challenge. They openly as-sert that if there must be a test of strength, it might as well come now as at any other time. They want a "show-down," and labor is just as willing, apparently. A writer in Philadelphia Ledger, says:

"That each expects to be the victor is obvious. That most of them discount the perils involved, the possible dangers to industry and government, the great economic loss and the inconvenience and suffering which will result, is equally evident. The fact is that there are many employers who favor the closing of all factories if strikes continue. It has been seri-ously discussed by a number of men and it is no improbability. The patience of the employer is almost exhausted. Labor troubles have become a nightmare to industry, business and domestic life.

At this time business men are in a At this time pusiness men are in a better position than ever to close down. Most of them are prepared financially to make a sacrifice "to have it out with labor." During the recent actors' strike the sentiment among the managers and producers was so strong that some of them have told me another such strike will find all the theatres in the country closed indefinitely.

Labor is just as belligerent. The best evidence of that is that no concern, large or small, can guarantee service today.

Every one is complaining because nobody, apparently, wants to work. Labor is independent, almost arrogant. There have been so many instances where employers have been "held up" successfully that the holdap game is becoming a popular pas-

Dr. Kelly's Good Work.

On Sunday, Oct. 26, a Fifth Anniversary platform meeting will be held in Towson, Baltimore County, in the M. E. Church, the meeting to be largely in the nature of giving public appreciation of the touring work of Dr. Howard A. Kelly, during the past five years.

Carroll County, as well as all of the counties in the State, has profited greatly by Dr. Kelly's work, and the inspiration of it. Everywhere he appeared with his side partner, Dr. W. W. Davis, his audiences have been impressed with the genuine earnestness of his efforts, and it is quite possible that in his quiet, heart to heart way, he has done more real good to the cause of Sabbath observance and good government, than any other men in the state within the same length of time. His efforts have been entirely worth while, and all the more so because voluntary, and unpaid financially.

Mr. Blanchard Complimented.

A. B. Blanchard, of New York, visited Taneytown the first of the week. He is now in Baltimore helping out the General Agent of the Penn Mutual, for Maryland, while the latter doing Grand Jury service. Mr. Blanchard, who is the son-in-law of the late Hon. Jos. A. Goulden, did quite a remarkable string of business here, while "only on a vacation" this summer. The Penn Mutual News Letter says of it, in part:

"Mr. Blanchard has written $68,-000 of life insurance in sixteen applications in ten days between August 20 and 30, the annual premiums on the business being $2456.14, and checks for annual premiums were attached to the applications of $60,000 of this business, all written in and around Taneytown. * * * If this was done while he was resting in Maryland, what would he do if he really came here to work?"

The article goes on further to high.

The article goes on further to highly compliment Mr. Blanchard, and to expand on the merits of this particular ten day's work. The write-up is accompanied by an excellent halftone cut of the hustling business get-

American Dead to be Returned.

"Bodies of all American soldiers interred in Germany, Belgium, Italy, Great Britain, Luxemburg and Northern Russia will be returned to the United States as soon as necessary transportation can be arranged. Secretary Baker announced he had issued instructions for the purchase, storage and traffic divisions of the General Staff to take charge of the matter and to hasten it as much as pos-

The above was clipped from an exchange, and is likely correct. It will be noted that no mention is made of those buried in France. The last information that we have as to the dead in France, is that none will be returned in the near future, owing largely to objections of the French

FARM AND OTHER WAGES.

How "Work Another Hour" Appeals to the Farmer View.

The Frederick News publishes an interesting reply from a member of Ballenger Grange, to the proposition of a professional man that farmers work an hour a day longer, produce more food and reduce the cost of The Grange discussed the "Why should the farmer sell 12 hours work to the world for the same price other workers receive for 3 hours of their time?" The following are given as extracts from a Grange member's argument on the question:

"With a food shortage of about 25 per cent, of the world's actual needs, and a constant alarming withdrawal of the food producers from the land, caused by long hours of arduous work and poor or inadequate pay, is it possible that other industrial units and professions can be so shortsighted, so ignorant, of their own interest, as to urge that the burdens of the food producer be still further increased, when it is patent to all who have given this most important mat-ter even passing thought, that the present shortage of food is due to one cause only—lack of proper com-pensation for the effort expended in the production thereof. The man is not yet born who can prove to the farmer, his sons, and his hired help that 30 cents per hour on the farm is equal to $1.00 per hour at the carpenter's bench, the shop, the bank, or the railroad, all of which furnish better conditions, and require less skill and risk. It can't done as the steady and persistent withdrawal from the farms for the last 20 years has amply proved, why further continue this foolish and pernicious propaganda. Let us, as a sensible people, apply common sense business remedies to this deplorable

Comparatively every farm in Frederick county and no doubt in the United States today is only half manned. Farm parents educate, pre-pare and advise their children to enter other more congenial and better paid avocations; having the child's interest at heart, under present condi-tions they cannot do otherwise; having monetary interest in the land, their own migration is slower but none the less sure. War, or no war, 20 years more of discrimination against food producers by denying them just and equitable compensation as is meted to other industrial units can result only in hunger and chaos, of which misguided Russia is an appalling ex-

Face to face with this situation a professional man, who should know better, suggests that the farmer shall work an hour extra each day to make food stuffs cheaper; think of it city people with farmers working from 12 to 14 hours every day for an average compensation of less than 25 cents an hour, and other industrial units roads were in wretched condition, so ionism to a high point of effectiveworking eight hours and receiving from $1.00 to $2.00 per hour, how much longer do you suppose any one will farm, or produce food. Why can't road supervisors and saw that the ill farm, or produce food. Why can't the people who are so ready to hand advice to the farmer that will militate to their advantage, extend their powers of observation far enough to ee, that the greatest problem before the world today is not how to secure cheap food at the expense and loss of the producer, but to advocate and work for a method that will insure sufficient food to properly nourish both them and their children in the years to come. Meanwhile, owing to the above conditions, soil fertility is diminishing. Rural population decreasing, farm tenantry increasing, country life, in-stitutions, declining all of which means that the world is drawing closer to the hunger line. It is unthinkable that we farmers should or will much longer give 12 or 14 hours of our labor, our investment and risk included for the reward that other industrial effort receives for 3 hours of theirs. It is not just that we shall produce the coal miners bread for 30 cents an hour, while he charges us $1.00 an hour to produce our coal. He must reduce his charge, or we must increase ours. Farming or food producing must come to the same average financal return for the labor, time, capital and brain as other callings-this and this only will secure for us an ample supply of food.

A FRANK ANNOUNCEMENT.

Record frankly announces some slight increases in advertising rates, beginning October 1. We have been waiting, long and patiently, for prices to "come down" on paper and other stock, but, they are not coming. This week, we placed an order for a large shipment of print paper for the Record, at a material advance over the cost of the present supply—that will add about $5.00 more a week cost to each issue of

It is necessary that we begin to take account of our increasing expenditures, or eventually go out of business... We say as frankly, also, that The Record may advance its subscription rate, the first of the year, to $1.50, depending on the outlook then. County papers have been making a gift of at least 50c a year, to every subscriber, for the last two years-a gift that represents absolute loss, because of increased costs of production. Simply stated, newspaper offices have been as hard hit by high prices as any other business, but have advanced their charges for service less than any other business, and the limit waiting for the answer, might as of generosity has been reached.

THE ONLY QUESTION FOR TAX-PAYERS.

Should the County Commissioners Have Gone into Debt, Instead of Increasing Taxes?

Apparently, the only issue for county taxpayers to consider, is whether it was wise to raise the tax rate as greatly as it was raised, or whether it would have been better to have borrowed a large sum of money, and strung the debt out longer. That is a fairly debatable question-a matter of public policy—with argument for and against. It resolves itself also into how one would act in like cases of his own?

For instance, a farmer wants a machine that may reasonably be expected to last, say, twenty years. He wants the machine, and knows that it will be of great value to him, right now. He knows his present prosperity, and can figure with reasonable assurance that his income for the next few years will

He decides to buy, how, and considers the payment. The sum required is large, and he dislikes both to part with the cash, or go into debt. But, the bill must be paid—will he dig it up, and get rid of it, or will he give a string of long-time interest-bearing notes, and let the debt hang, perhaps until the machine is worn out ? What would you do about it, Mr. Farmer? What is your custom in

In principle, and in few words, this seems to be the whole situation with reference to our high tax rate. We seem to need and want, better schools and roads, now. By waiting a while we might get them much cheaper; whether we would be better able, after a while, to pay for the cheaper roads than we are now to pay for the high-cost ones, is a question to guess over.

A debt—interest and all—is not necessarily a thing to avoid. The best of business men borrow money. Governments, great and small, issue bonds, or other evidences of debt, and retire them by easy degrees. What should Carroll county have done, taking into consideration that roads, for instance —like the farmer's machinery—wear out and need constant expenditure for upkeep? That taxes must be levied, practically on taxes, to keep in order one's big investment ?

Here is a question in high finance, based solely on the fact that we are now wanting, and demanding, expensive public utilities, that, years ago, in our ignorance—let us say—we were willing and satisfied to live without. There is no charge of lack of economy, nor of extravagant expenditures by the County Commissioners, so far brought out. The various items of expense contained in the county's statement, are apparently correct, and following the precedents of years, under many Boards of Commissioners.

The single issue is that of "mismanagement," in not borrowing a large sum now, and extending the principal and interest payments over a large sum now, and extending the principal and interest payments over a large period of years. That is the sole question for debate. What is your opinion

ANOTHER LIVE RURAL PASTOR. How the Church Can Waken Up Country Lfe.

In line with the article in last issue, with reference to the community activity of Rev. J. Stewart Hart-College Journal, would indicate that it is one worth reading, and, when the conditions permit, duplicating. The story says, in part;

"The county agricultural agent could not awaken any interest in the extension work in this community, formerly, but the parson got busy and by writing letters, posting notices and by personal calls stirred up the people and brought them out to the lectures and demonstrations of the public secured the full benefit of their money. The one room school was inefficent and behind the times. This forced all who could afford it to send their children to large towns for the education that should have been provided at home. The children thus lost touch with the home community and an extra financial burden was imposed upon the parents. The church took the matter up and brought about a sentiment that effected the consolidaton of schools, the employment of better paid teachers and the consequent efficiency of the rural school. grange was organized with over 80 charter members, although the croakers said it couldn't be done. In all work and drives the community went over the top because there was real leadership and the people were taught that service in the community was a vital part of christian duty. Now the interesting fact is that in bringing the citizens together these various public activities, the old selfish barriers of individualism were broken down. The people sensed the value of team work and co-operation and a real community spirit was aroused, which manifests titself in many ways. This spirit is an invaluable asset in our national life. When the sane, conservative judgment of rural districts can be focussed upon the great problems of the day and united expression through the community organization, much will be accomplished to overcome the radicalism of large centers. This is a practical illustration of a present-day view of christianity. It is a religion that goes down into every day life. It is undergirding the community spirit with moral principles inspired by the teachings of Christ. Such a program would be possible in every community if the christian forces and resources were not so split up and weakened by sectarian

The Oct. 18 issue of Literary Digest, New York, has been published without any type setting, the printing being done by the use of plates made by photographing the original typewritten copy. The step was brought about by the printers' strike, and while the idea is not likely to be followed long, it shows what can be done, in case of necessity.

The President's physical condition -no matter whether serious or not -effectually eliminates him from be ing a candidate to succeed himself. The field is "wide open" so far as he is concerned, and those who have been well get ready their poles.

LABOR UNIONISM BREAKING. Leaders No Longer Able to Control the Members' Acts.

Organized labor is beset both within and without its ranks. The workers of the country are getting out of hand. They feel they are in the man, at Cavetown, we give another, the name of the church and minister not being given, but the cut of a church along with the article in State of experienced leaders. They are striking without sanction and the story relates to St. Mary's sure they cannot lose. Thus they Church, Warwick, Pa. At any rate, are seriously weakening the position of their duly elected leaders.

On the other hand, the officers of the various labor unions are confronted by a growing disposition on the part of the larger employers of labor to treat only with their own employes, eliminating from consideration and from collective bargaining the labor leaders, who heretofore have represented the workingmen.

The plight of the labor leaders—

Extension Department. The the men who have brought labor unand are desirous of saving it. they lose control of the men, however, and likewise lose the recognition of the large employers, the high estate of the union leader will suffer a severe eclipse.

With such conservative leaders as Mr. Gompers out of the way, unionism may run amuck, and in such a channel will easily come within violation of laws, requiring force to It is feared that the uncontrolled elements in labor are courting this, as they are evidently forcing the situation to such a point.

Rev. R. L. Paterson Speaks Out.

Rev. Robert L. Patterson, formerly Lutheran pastor at Union Bridge, in an article in the last issue of "The Lutheran," headed "That Ministers" Strike" makes this statement;

"There is a goodly proportion of men in the ministry who are supplementing their salaries from other sources of income. They are "paying their own way" in a measure Mr. Editor, have you any idea how many ministers are living today, in part, from the income of the inheritances of their wives? There are strong, able men in our Lutheran ministry who could not stay in the ministry and do the important work they are doing, if they had no other

we will add to the general subject, that if church authorities do not feel like "paying the preacher more, there is nothing to prevent the individual members, who feel differently. from making personal cash increases direct to their pastor, instead of "passing the buck" to the church authorities

At a recent election, Jesse P. Weybright was chosen as president of the Detour Bank and Peter D. Koons, as vice-president. The bank has placed an order for a heating plant, and is progressing nicely in a business way.

11th HOUR STATEMENTS.

The Record does not believe in "11th hour" statements, or charges, relative to questions to be settled at the polls—that is, statements or charges made too late to be answered publicly. We therefore give notice that we prefer not to publish political articles of any kind, in our issue of Oct. 31, and will not publish any that appear to be unfair to

ED. RECORD.

DON'T FAIL TO CAN FRUIT. The Lack of Sugar Need Not Stop Preserving Operations.

Don't let surplus fruit go to waste because you can not obtain sugar to use for preserving purposes. - Fruit can be successfully canned without it and it can be sweetened when served next winter, or sirup can be used in place of sugar to sweeten it now.

To can without sugar, simply fill the jars containing the fruit with clean hot water, instead of the usual sirup, and process the jars in a hotwater bath. The fruit will not spoil, but it will not have quite as fine a flavor and color as that which is packed in sirup.

Directions for canning by the

"cooked-in-the-can" method should be carefully followed to can successfully without sugar, the United States Department of Agriculture suggests.

Fruits canned without sugar are especially good in salads, desserts, pie fillings, ices, and in fruit punches. They can also be made into jams and marmalades when sugar is obtainble. Fruit juices take no sugar and their uses are just as varied during the winter season as are the fruits put up unsweetened. These fruit juices are also available for jelly at a future time when sugar is more plentiful. Vegetables need no sugar, and plenty of canned vegetables are always acceptable during the winter months. Fruits and vegetables may be high and sugar scarce, but the margin of difference in price between the home canned and the commercially canned product is likely to be as great as when both fresh fruit and vegetables and canned goods were lower in price. The wise are still practicing home canning, sugar or no sugar.

Farmers' Congress in Hagerstown.

Every farmer and his family who can possibly leave home for two or three days should plan to attend the national and state conference of farmers and home makers at Hagerstown, Oct. 28th. to 31st. This is the first time that the Farmers' National Congress has ever met in Maryland Leaders in agriculture from all parts of the United States will attend this great meeting.
All of the state associations affiliated with the Maryland Society including the Horticultural Society, Crop Improvement Association, Dairymen, Sheep Growers, Vegetable Growers and Beekeepers will meet in conjunction with the Congress. A splendid program has been arranged for the three days. Prominent speakers will discuss timely subjects affecting all phases of the agricultural industry Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Friday and Saturday will be devoted to field excursions to Hancock and Gettysburg.

The dates of the meetings were arranged at this time in order that visiting delegates may be able to view Western Maryland at one of the picturesque periods of the year—beautiful autumn. It is a particularly pleasant and enjoyable period for motoring on the state roads lead ing to Hagerstown from all parts of

The citizens of Hagerstown and Washington County are making elaborate plans for the accommodation and entertainment of all delegates and visitors to these meetings. The Maryland Society trusts that every farmer will endeavor to attend this memorable meeting.

Prices Down, But Not Arrived.

Attorney-General Palmer says, effect, that "prices have dropped all over the country," but is surprised that they have not arrived here. He says the cost of food has "fallen 25 per-cent," and "beef on the hoof has gone down so low in some localities that the producers are protesting.' The only trouble is, the low prices have not arrived—they are, but they

WM. H. TAFT VISITS BALTIMORE ON WEDNESDAY.

Where he Talks on Religion, Business and a Little Politics.

William H. Taft was the popular big man in Baltimore, this week, where, on Wednesday, he put in a day of speech-making at the Unita-rian Conference, and before the Mer-chants and Manufacturers'. He was in specially fine humor, and both ad-dresses were much enjoyed. He also found time to be interviewed by several reporters, and in all spent quite a busy day.

The Sun featured his visit quite extendedly, and said many nice things about him, a few of which follow:

"If, as they say, Wm. Jennings
Bryan missed his calling in not becoming an evangelist, so it might have been thought, during the time that Mr. Taft was chairman of the Unitarian convention, that he had missed his calling in being judge, Cabinet member, President and revered elder statesman of the nation. No presiding officer of a religious body ever filled the position with a more satisfying combination of quiet suggestion of devotion to the things of the spirt, pleasant human dignity and humorous insight into human nature. Mr. Taft made the conference an enjoyable event, even for outsid-

After the morning session adjourned he chatted and laughed with a group of leaders of the convention. When he was asked for an interview, he looked quizzically at the reporter, and wanted to know if he was not talking all the time anyhow, but agreed and told the reporter to come along with him to the hotel. Forthwith he started off, but forgot his hat, and, upon remembering the necessity for one, rambled back to the stage and rummaged around like any ordinary person until he found Then he was ready to go-or thought he was-but he was quite a while getting away.

At the Merchants' meeting at the Southern hotel, he was quite humorous, and his great chuckle was much in evidence.

Among the guests of honor were Governor Harrington, Mayor Broening, former Governor Goldsborough, John W. Garrett, who recently resigned as Minister to the Netherlands, and Robert Garrett. W. W. Cator was chairman of the commit-tee in charge of the arrangements. Key Compton introduced Henry Baker as the chairman. Mr. Baker was "joshed" by Mr. Taft to a fare-thee-well, and to the great amusement of the entire party. In introdusing Mr. Taft he explained that Mr. Taft had been speaking in the morning, and therefore could not "make much of a speech.

When Mr. Taft arose he observed, with the most infectious of his infectious chuckles, that he thanked the chairman for tipping everybody off to the fact that he would not make "much of a speech," which caused a wave of delighted laughter to And when he consweep the hall. cluded, having made very much of a speech, he remarked, with another chuckle of the same quality, that he was sorry he had "disappointed the chairman," which sent another wave of laughter over the hall.

After turning the joke upon Mr. Baker, Mr. Taft, in his most irresistble vein, referred to the fact that, as Mr. Baker had stated, he had attended the dinner of the Mercahnts and Manufacturers' Association six years

"That," he added, his face beaming with humor, "was a halcyon and vo-ciferous occasion. It was before the adoption of the Eighteenth amendment to the Federal Constitution. Baltimore never needs a stimulus to hospitality, but at that time, if it was needed, well-it was there!

He passed from the humorous vein to consideration of the serious problems of the times. He did not intend to make a speech in support of the league of nations, he said, but he wanted to say that he favors the league, because he believes it to be necessary to the stabilizing of world. The roseate hopes of the exreme enthusiasts upon the subject of the league are not shared by him, because he does not believe any organization merely in itself can serve. The usefulness of the league to the world will depend, he thinks, upon whether genuine co-operation between the nations of the earth attends the working of the league. If that co-operation is given—if constructive will and purpose is applied—the league furnishes the means by which the greatest of all blessings-peace on earth and good will to men-may be realized. Combined Restaurants, Ciger Stores and soft drink places, have noticably increased in cities and town, taking the place of saloons. The men are still eating and drinking-and the women too-but not so much of the old-time stuff, and not so much noisy exhilaration and loud smell about it, nor so much exercise for the policenor back-door hand-outs, either.

The newspapers would do the country a real service if they would stop advertising "shortages" of certain things-like sugar. This is the very best way imaginable to start up an unusual demand, and hoarding-just what the country needs to avoid. Talk about "advertising" not being worth much. Thousands have been answering free ads without knowing it. Advertising is just "news," after all. isn't it?

The Baltimore News is of the opinion that the state election, this year, can not be held without bringing in National issues, and that about the only National issue is the President, and his attitude with reference to world strue Democratic victory here and in the future. elsewhere in but one way-as an indorsement of his policies, international and domestic." Therefore, this issue is cut out for us, whether we would have it so or not-according to

We cannot figure it out, that "greatly increased production" is the sole eure for high costs. Why is not greatly reduced consumption just as important? The times have brought ly increased consumption, where one did not exist, heretofore. The custrebled, and the producers and their output have been decreased, rather than increased, by big wages. Why say "increase production?"

and the government gets this big of government safe and workable sum, does not that mean that the fel-country, today, next to those who would overturn law and order, are those who have too much money and have not sense enough to spend it, and save it, wisely. "Turning the bottom side up" is sure to show why the bottom should be the bottom, and why it will not make a good top. Handling lots of money is not apt, in itself, to make good citizens, nor wise patterns for imitation.

Advice That is Not Wanted, But is Needed.

The Record has repeatedly urged the importance of saving money, now, by those who are apparently having plenty of it. This sort of advice is not wanted, if we are to judge by the way money is being spent, regardless of necessity. The cost of an article, nowadays, amounts to very little, if there is money in the pocket to buy it. People just buy, and buy, as though their lives depended on it, things they do not need, and which will last but a short time, or which are perhaps only luxuries for the day.

We are certainly having an example of the "Come easy, go easy" motto, without any thought of providing for the future, when money will not grow on trees for the picking. We do not advise pinching economy-not mere penuriousness-not holding fast to every penny, for the sake of the penny-but, if ever there is to be a come-down in prices, it must be invited down by lessening the decreased demand for things.

As long as meats are freely purchased at present prices, and not enough on sale to supply the demand, necessarily meats will stay on their present high perch. As long as manufactured goods are bought increasingly, at prevailing costs, they will surely stay high in price. Simply stated, as long as there is a big demand for anything—a scarcity of it -there will be no strangeness about why prices do not come down to "old

Many people, of course, are compelled to limit their purchases to their actual needs, because they are not enjoying big incomes and profits; but, the most of those who do have big incomes (or at least, big by comparison with several years ago) are "letting it go" and living as they never lived before, without "laying by" anything in anticipation of a turn in the times.

Many of the people who are spending foolishly, now, will be the ones to complain the loudest when their present paradise ends. They are veritable spendthrifts, fastening on themand luxury that they will never be able to keep up. There are men and women-especially young men and taking in and spending promptly, the rather than to help put through an unbig cash they receive for ordinary work, and are not equipping themselves with knowledge of trades or professions, but simply going with not change public conviction. This the common herd of day workers, thing that has been imported to this eventually to be left in competition with themselves, without any specialty to lift them out of the mass.

Just now, every man in high authority is needed at his post, not only to maintain order but to restore confidence. Local "Daylight-saving" Laws.

Protesting against the government decision to go back to "old time" on Oct. 26, to the extent of establishing local "daylight-saving" laws, may be an exhibition of superior smartness on the part of the cities, but all the same it is a dangerous expedient, in these times, when opposition to law and established customs is rampant. If cities, and classes, determine to be a law unto themselves, even in such a minor matter as regulation time, what can we expect other than that there will be imitators in cases of more serious importance?

When the so-called "daylight-saving" law was in force generally, those who objected to it nevertheless obeyed; and now that the law has been changed back to the orginal, those who preferred the new plan should be equally law-abiding. Little rebellions like this, point the way to greater ones, and we cannot afford, just now, to trifle with obedience to

Especially as it is perfectly legitimate to change the time of working hours, instead of monkeying with the hands of the clock, we can see in the proposition on the part of cities to provide local time in opposition to standard time, nothing but a perverse desire to have their "own way" in spite of National legislation.

Vote and Stop Talking.

We are of the opinion that, with the exception of those radicals on both sides of the League of Nations question-who can see no other matter of importance before the country—the great masses of our people are heartily tired of hearing about it, and reading about it, and of all argument connected with it. The time for voting has come, and gone by. Those who care enough about it, have made up their minds, while most people either do not believe that the whole scheme will eventually be worth the time and contention already spent over it, or take little or no intelligent interest in it.

The intimation that a vote will be delayed until after the November election, is received largely with the fear that the rumor may be correct, and with little enthusiasm. It is claimed that the issue of the League, is National. That the insistence of the President has made it so, and that selves appetites for a degree of style his opposing leaders have no other course than to accept the issue, and challenge. That the real reason for the President's western tour was to women-by the thousands everywhere, have effect on the coming elections, amended League and Treaty proposi-

We believe it to be quite possible that, if America wants any changes in the covenant, she can get them within reason after the League is organized and starts to function. American, with her mobile purse strings and her preferred financial position and her relative 'good times, will be by far the most potent member of the League, the one which the other Leaguers will least like to lose Let us take the only peace and League in the market, and so get the old peaceful, producing, secure world moving once more, and do our amend-ing and improving afterward!

-Advertisement An Official Statement.

The United States Council of National Defense, composed of the Secretaries of War, Navy, Interior, Agriculture, Commerce, and Labor, has made a careful investigation of the high-cost-of-living problem,

That the Nation's productive powers have not been fully utilized since wrongdoing should be smoothed over increase of money and credit.

That there has been and is considerable profiteering, intentional and unitentional.

The Council believes that the remedies for the situation are:
To produce more goods, and to produce them in proportion to the needs of the people. To stamp out profiteering and stop unnecessary hoarding.

To enforce vigorously present laws and promptly to enact such further new laws as are necessary to prevent and punish profiteering and needless hoarding.

To bring about better co-operation and method in distributing and marketing goods To keep both producer and consumer fully informed as to what goods are needed and as to what supplies are available, so that production may anticipate the country's demands. Goods and not money are the means of life. Better standards of living are impossible without producing more goods. Man can not consume what has not been produced.

At the war's end our Allies had desperate need of the essentials of life. We have had to share our resources with them, but this drain will gradually lessen. In so far as our shortage of goods is due to the cause we can well afford to be patient. It is just as essential that we have patience with the economic situation here at home. The process of production requires time. If production is rapidly increased, vastly improved conditions will prevail in America when the results of present and future labor begin to appear

Team work is imperative. It is just as essential between retailer, wholesaler, and producer as it is between employer and employee. One group of producers can not wait on another group. The manufacturer, the farmer, the distributor must each immediately assume his part of the burden and enter upon his task. The Nation can not afford curtailment of goods vital to the people.

On American business rests a grave responsibility for efficient cooperation in bringing about full and proportionate production. On Amerian labor rests an equally grave responsibility to attain maximum unit production and maintain uninterrupted distribution of goods if labor itself is not to suffer from further rises in the cost of living.

The entire Nation-producer, distributor, and consumer alike-should return to the unity that won the war. Group interest and undue personal gain must give way to the good of the whole country if the situation is to be squarely met.

Our common duty now, fully as much as in the war, is to work and to save. In the words of the President in his address to the country on Aug. 25, 1919, only "by increasing production, and by rigid economy and saving on the part of the people, can we hope for large decreases in the burden-some cost of living which now weighs Japanese at Work on Statue of St. Nichiren, Cutting It From the Solid Rock.

-Advertisement

On the Isle of Cow's Head, in that beautiful inland sea, which has been called the Mediterranean of Japan, a ledge of rock-overlooks the water, and here a small army of Japanese workmen are busy at the first cuttings that will eventually carve out the largest statue in the world. The Colossus of Rhodes, at one time one of the seven wonders of the world, is said to have been 120 feet high—a small thing compared with the figure of Liberty that stands 151 feet above its pedestal in New York harbor-but the Japanese statue will be of even greater magnitude. Following the line of the natural rock it will be a reclining figure 240 feet long, and therefore that much more impressive than the Buddha at Pegu, Burma, which from head to foot measures 182 feet. The Isle of the Cow's head is private property, and this Brobdingnagian adornment is a work of private enterprise. The reclining figure will be that of St. Nichiren, who founded the sect of Buddhism that bears his name. In the wooden model the saint lies asleep, facing whoever sees him, his head pillowed on a block, and his left arm extended along his side; a somewhat archaic figure, yet with considerable realism. For the enormous statue that is to be cut out of the solid rock from the model the trees and greenery of the Isle of the Cow's head will provide an excellent setting?

Rock Dust to Save Miners' Lives. Perhaps the oddest, yet one of the most effective, means for preventing -or, at all events, minimizing-disasters in coal mines is the use of rock

A lot of it is placed on boards hung by chains from the roofs of mine tunnels. Obviously in case of an explosion the boards will swing and the dust will be thrown off.

Following an explosion a roaring flame, let us say, is coming through the tunnel. The air is filled with coal dust (or possibly with inflammable gas) to feed it. But it meets a cur tain of non-inflammable rock dust (dis charged from the board shelves) and is thereby stopped. Rock dust will not burn under any provocation. Sus pended thickly in the air, it acts like an asbestos curtain. The flame can not get through it.

A Little Talk About

Surplus

"SURPLUS" IS MORE THAN A RAINY-DAY FUND. IT IS AN EVIDENCE OF GOOD MANAGEMENT.

In the case of a Bank, a railroad, or a business institution, a large surplus means that the mangement is wise enough not to distribute all the profits in the form of dividends, but to reserve a portion for future use—it may be for emergencies, or it may be simply to invest in material, real estate, or something else requiring capital, and the possession of a surplus renders it unnecessary to borrow the money.

Every individual ought to have a surplus in the form of a savings account. It is exactly the same with the individual as with the corporation—his surplus indicates that his personal expenses have been kept so well within his income that there is something left over. It also shows that he has not used it all up in "dividends" of pleasure, but like a wise business man has "salted" some of Wdown for the

Brunswick Principles In Fine Tire Making

The reason you are interested in the name on your tire is that it identifies the maker. By knowing the maker you can judge his ideals of manufacture.

The only secret of a super-tire lies in the principles of the maker. His standards decide the quality. For there are no secrets in the tire industry.

What you get depends on what is behind the name on your tire. Brunswick, as you know, means a very old concern, jealous of its good name. Since 1845 the House of Brunswick has been famous the world over for the quality of its products.

The Brunswick Tire is all that you expect—and more. Your first one will be a revelation. You'll agree that you've never known a better. And you'll tell your friends. So spreads the news among motorists. The Brunswick is the most welcome tire that ever came to market.

Try one Brunswick Tire. Learn how good a tire can be built. And remember, it costs no more than like-type tires, Fiftieth Wedding Anniversary.

(For The Record.) On last Sunday, Oct. 12, Mr. and Mrs. W. A Snider, Sr., of Harney, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary, their children and children all being with them, with the exception of a grand-son, Lennon Eckenrode, of Pasadena, California.

These parents have four children living, and nine grand-children. This anniversary will not be forgotten for years to come. The children left, feeling it a great honor they had had, and sorry that they could not look forward to another such a great event.

MR. PERRY G. LOWMAN.

Perry G. Lowman, a well known citizen of this vicinity, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Roy Dern, near Keymar, Tuesday morning, Oct. 7, of cancer of the stomach, in his 53rd year. Besides his daughter, with whom he resided, he is survived by two sons, Arthur and Reginald, of Baltimore, an aged mother, Mrs. Amelia Lowman, of near Mt. Airy, and three brothers: Samuel and Leonard, of Mt. Airy; Harry, of Libertytown, and two sisters, Mrs. Rosa Poole and Mrs. Lillie Shipley, of Sykesville.

His funeral was held on Thursday morning, 9th., at Haugh's Church, conducted by Rev. J. J. Field, of Union Bridge. Interment was made in the adjoining cemetery. The pall-bearers were Luther Sharetts, Au-gustus Blume, Chas. Garver, Geo. Winemiller, Samuel Weybright, and BEDBUGS.

There's no disgrace in finding a bed bug; the disgrace lies in keeping Somewhere back in the dim ages, a housekeeper—possibly Mrs. Noah—gave utterance to the above. Perhaps Noah was so liberal minded, being a man, as to think the injunction to take into the ark a pair of every living creatures, included bed bugs, too, and his wife, when she laid down what was to be forever after a household proverb, had just found them. Whether the originator of the phrase was Mrs. Noah or the Queen of Shebashe is said to have been a fussy housekeeper-doesn't matter. Generations of women since have comforted themselves by repeating it when they discovered one of the pests in their homes and when anguish filled their

The presence of the bedbug in the house is not necessarily an indication of neglect or carelessness, for this insect may gain access in spite of the adoption of all reasonable precautions. Trunks, wraps, and bags of travelers and baskets of laundry may furnish a means of transportation for the pest. Unfortunately, too, it is quite capable of migrating from one house to another, and will often continue to go from an adjoining house sometimes for a period of several months, gaining access daily. Such migration is especially likely to take place when the human inhabitants of the house leave it house leave it.

In common with other insects which attack man and warm-blooded animals, it is entirely possible for a bedbug to transmit contagious human diseases. The fumes of burning sulphur are a very efficient means of control where the conditions are such that this method can be used. It readily destroys insects in all stages, in-cluding the egg. There is some risk of injury to household fabrics, furnishings, and wall papers from the strong bleaching quality of sulphur fumes. The danger will be somewhat diminished if the fumigation can be done at a time when the room or house is thoroughly dried out, as in winter by a furnace or other heating system. Further precautions should be takne by removing metalic surfaces from the room or protecting them with a coating of vaseline. Two pounds of sulphur are recommended for each 2,000 cubic feet of space and the building should be closed for the treatment for at least five or six hours or preferably for 24 hours. Thorough going precautions must be taken to prevent accidental overflowing or the starting of a fire. After the fumigations the house should be given a thorough airing. Among the simple methods of control, however, perhaps the most efficient is a very liberal application of benzine, kerosene, or gasoline, introduced with small brushes or feathers, or by injecting with syringes into all crevices of beds, furniture, or walls where the insects may have concealed where the insects may have concealed themselves. Not only is the base-board of the room apt to be infested with them, but the picture moulding and the back of the pictures themselves may furnish lodging for the pest. Corrosive sublimate is also of value, and oil of turpentine may be used in the same way. Het water used in the same way. Hot water, wherever it may be employed without danger to furniture, is also an effective means of destroying both eggs

Various bedbug remedies and mixtures are for sale, most of them containing one or another of the ingredients mentioned, and those are frequently of value. The important point, however, in the case of an inested house is a daily inspection of beds and bedding, particularly the seams and tufting of mattresses, and of all crevices and locations about the premises where these vermin may have gone for concealment. A vigorous campaign should, in the course of a week or so at the outside, result in the extermination of this very obnoxious and embarrassing pest, which swoops down upon its helpless sleeping prey during the mid-night watches.—Maryland Farmer.

of General Maximo Gomez, the island republic's military hero, by erecting a costly monument. A first prize of $25,-000 was awarded recently to Aldo Gaba, an Italian sculptor, for a model of the memorial, which is to cost $200,-000. Second and third prizes went respectively to Huertas Cabarrocas, a Spanish-Cuban, and Gutson Borglum, an American. General Gomez became popular as the leader of the Cuban forces in the war for independence from Spain, from 1895 to 1898. He also took a prominent part in the Ten Years' war, a revolt which began in 1868. On the day of his death, June 18, 1905, the general's family was presented with a gift of $100,000 by the government of Cuba. At the conclusion of the Spanish-American war, General Gomez was honored at a pub-

Give a concrete example where the 50 per-cent. increase in our taxes works a hardship on our people and is against the advancement of our Coun-

Mr. Smith, who is a permanent resident, is compelled to pay his portion for these permanent betterments in a single year, by paying 50 per-cent increase in his taxes. Mr. Brown moves into our County in 1920. He escapes this entire payment, and enjoys these benefits to the disadvantage of Mr. Smith and other taxpayers. Mr. Jones moves from our County in 1920, he will have paid for these permanent betterments in 1919 by the 50 per-cent. increase and will no longer enjoy the advantages of such improvements. All of which works a hardship on Mr. Smith, a greater hardship on Mr. Jones to the advantage of Mr. Brown. Equalization of taxation is thus overthrown and great dissatisfaction is created among our people. How much money was required to make these permanent betterments, such as roads, schools, etc?

Judging from the 41 cent increase, One Hundred and Sixteen Thousand Dollars ($116,505.28) was needed.

How would have raised this money if not by direct taxation?

Direct taxes should never be used for extensive permanent betterments, but should be used to finance the same. Our Commissioners should have floated a loan of say $125,000, payable in equal payments of $25,000 each, at one, two, three, four and five years. Interest on such a loan at 5 per-cent would have been $6,250 the first year and this amount deducted from the $54,921.99, being the increased revenue to the County at the old rate, would have left a surplus of $48,671.99. The second year we would have paid $25,000 on the loan and interest $5,000, leaving a balance of $24,921.99, and this amount added to the surplus from the first year, would have given us unemployed funds of $73,593.98 at the end of the second year. Each year this surplus would have increased.

This would not have meant a bond issue, simply the borrowing of money under the same authority that permits the Commissioners to borrow from time to time, as they are continually doing. What was the average increase in the tax rate over the twenty-three counties of our State in 1919? Eight Cents. Do we enjoy any advantages in Carroll County that are not found in the other Counties of our State? Then why should our tax rate have increased 41 cents? Because proper principles were not used and business methods were not

Did our State tax rate increase in 1919? No; and notwithstanding the fact that unusual and extraordinary demands, amounting to millions of dollars, were made upon the revenue of the Has the State tax rate any bearing on the county rate? Yes. As the taxable basis for computing our State taxes only increased in the same proportion as our county basis, consequently our county rate should have been virtually on the same parity. How do you expect to bring redress to our people and relieve them of this great burden of increased taxation? By giving publicity to the hundreds of complaints that have come to me from men in every walk of life, and of both political parties, on account of the 50% increase in our taxes, and thereby creating public sentiment and bringing those responsible for the financing of our county to realize their responsibility, so they will equalize our taxes and not place on the taxpayers of a single year the entire cost of improvements, which will benefit all the people for the next quarter of a century and even longer.

What steps are necessary to bring about the improvements and the relief you suggest? 1st-Wipe out the antidated system now used in accounting at the Com-

2nd—Install through the State Auditor, an up-to-date uniform system of bookkeeping, so the true condition of our financial affairs can be arrived at in a moment. 3rd—Consolidate the offices of Treasurer and Tax Collector.

4th—Conduct the affairs of the county by such methods as would be employed by any prudent business corporation—borrow money to extend the scope of the business (roads, schools, etc., as in our county's case) and not use your principal and impair your credit (dissatisfaction of and burden on the taxpayer by making permanent improvements from direct taxation. Realizing that figures and comparisons are tedious, and at the same time feeling that the tax question interests every citizen of our county and anxious that the true conditions that confront us, as taxpayers, should be known to every one, I have prepared the above questionnaire, so at a glance the matter can be fully understood by all.

My appeal to the people of Carroll county in 1915, was made solely on lower taxes and a business administrations of public affairs. I was elected to the Senate for which I am most grateful, and now ask your support for re-election, pledging myself to economy and efficiency in public service, a business administration of public affairs, all of which will lead to lower taxes.

Command me at any time I cnn serve you.

WOMEN WORKERS FROM 34 NATIONS ASKED TO CONGRESS

First International Conference in History of World Opens at Washington, D. C., October 23.

NEW RESPONSIBILITIES TO BE DISCUSSED

National Women's Trade Union League of America to Act as Hostess-Belgium and Great Britain Send Distinguished Women as Advisors.

Working women from all parts of the globe will gather in Washington on October 23 at the invitation of the National Women's Trade Union league of America to take part in the first International Congress of Working Women ever held in the history of the

An official call to the conference has been sent to labor organizations in thirty-four countries asking that they send delegates to the conference. Each country is entitled to ten delegates and to ten votes on the floor of the congress; also to one member on the executive committee. So far Finland, Czecho-Slovakia, Poland, France, Japan, Belgium, England, the Argentine and Canada have announced delegates for the congress, Belgium being the first to announce that Mme. Victoire Cappe, who had been chosen to serve as an advisor at the international labor conference called for October 29, would arrive in the United States in time to serve as one of the two Belgian delegates at the women's congress. Margaret Bondfield, secretary of the National Federation of Women Workers in Great Britain, who will also serve as an advisor to the British delegation at the labor conference, is coming to take her place on the floor of the Congress of Working Women.

It was Miss Bondfield who, during her visit to the United States in the spring and early summer, presented to the Women's Trade Union league assembled in the seventh biennial convention of that organization in Philadelphia in June, the resolution of the standing committee of the Women's Industrial Organizations of England that the American league be asked to call an International Congrss of Working Women to meet in the United States in the autumn. Such a conference had been previously discussed by women's labor organizations of various countries and would have been held in a European city probably had not the League of Nations society decided upon Washington as the meeting place for an international labor

The committee on international retions of the Women league, which is in charge of the congress, has as its chairman Mrs. Raymond Robins, president of the league; Miss Mary Anderson, chief of the women's bureau of the United States department of labor; Miss Agnes Nestor, vice president of the International Glove Workers' union; Miss Julia O'Connor, president of the Telephone Operators' union, and Miss Rose Schneidermann, president of the New York Women's Trade Union league.

In discussing the congress, Mrs. Robins says: "Women must come forward now and accept their responsibilities. They can no longer have their affairs attended to by proxy. Men cannot bear the entire responsibility for the world. They must be assisted by women, and the women should come forth willingly, prepared to take up their share of the burden of seeing that things go right with the world. At the Congress of Working Women we will discuss problems affecting women which we, as women workers, are particularly able to consider, that we may recommend how conditions of the labor of women and children can be improved."

CZECHO-SLOVAKS TO ATTEND CONGRESS

Two Women Delegates Will Represent Poland at International Gathering on October 23.

Two industrial women workers are on their way from Czecho-Slovakia and four on their way from Poland to attend the International Congress of Working Women in Washington, October 23d, according to cables received by Miss Mary Anderson, secretary of the committee on International Relationships of the National Women's Trade Union League of America, who is in charge of arrange-

Miss Anderson has also been advised that the Telephone Operators' Association of the Argentine will send a representative to the Congress at the earliest possible moment that transportation facilities will permit. Two delegates are also en route from Belgium, and others from England, Switzerland, Japan and Italy.

And 'cause why?

'Cause Velvet is brought up-not jerked up by the hair. It's raised as carefully as a favorite child. It's cured in the big fresh air. And it mellows away for two years in wooden hogsheads 'til it's smooth and rich as cream. The wonder would be if Velvet wasn't a whacking good pipe smoke.

His Opinion.

"True, women's fashions are so imnodest as to shock the pure," said J. Fuller Gloom. "The summers are also hotter and the winters colder than they ever were before. Just as usual, the country is going headlong to the dogs. Every town in America has more fools and crooks and gossips in it, in proportion to its size, than any other town in America. The poor are always growing poorer and the rich growing fatter The end of the world is always at hand, and probably always will be. In fact, there is everlastingly something to howl about, if you want to how! The women have always worn exactly what they pleased in just the manner that sulted them best, and there never was and never will be any help for it. And if their diaphanous garb offends you there is no law compelling you to keep edging around until you get a comely woman betwixt yourself and the sun, confound you!"-Kansas City Farm and Home.

First Thrift Day.

The first "Thrift day" in America was August 11, 1915. That was that first time one special day was aver officially set aside for the purpose of encouraging attention to thrift. The day was celebrated in California as "Thrift day" in response to a prociamation of Governor Johnson. The oca casion marked the opening of the thrift congress, held at the Panamas Pacific exposition by the American Society for Thrift.-Thrift Magazine.

LESSON FOR OCTOBER 19

JESUS IN PETER'S HOME.

LESSON TEXT—Mark 1:29-39.
GOLDEN TEXT—Jesus said unto him, this day is salvation come to this house.
—Luke 19:9. ADDITIONAL MATERIAL-Matt. 8:14-

1. Healing of Simon's Wife's Mother (vv. 29-31).

1. A loved one ill (v. 30). From the synagogue Jesus with James and John went to the home of Peter and Andrew where he found Peter's mother-in-law prostrate with a burning fever. Among the closest followers there are suffering ones and anxious and burdened hearts, but to all such he comes with loving sympathy and power to help. His power is the same in the quietude of the home as in the public meeting

2. They tell him of her (v. 31). This was the proper thing to do. We should bring to our Saviour's attention those of our familles who have need, of both bodily and spiritual healing.

3. He healed her (v. 31). "He came and took her by the hand and lifted her up." This act showed the nearness, sympathetic tenderness and power of Jesus. At his touch the fever departed and strength was imparted to her body so that she was at once able to minister unto them.

4. She ministered to them (v. 31). This act shows that (1) the cure was instantaneous and complete. When Jesus heals there is no halfway business. It is the same with spiritual healing. (2) Gratitude on the part of the one healed. Those who have experienced the healing power of Jesus will express their gratitude in loving service to the Lord and his disciples. II. Christ's Ministry at Sunset (vv. 32-34).

It became noised about that a notable miracle had been wrought in Peter's home, therefore as soon as the Sabbath drew to a close many demon-possessed and diseased were brought to him to be healed. If we would have the crowds to gather today we must be able to show that Jesus is at work among us. Our testimony should be backed by the healed body or soul.

1. He healed those of divers' diseases (v. 34). Jesus can heal any disease. Many of the cures spoken of today are temperamental, but the cures wrought by Jesus were of all sorts. No malady ever baffled him.

2. Cast out many devils (v. 34). The devils obey him. There is no record of a demon ever disputing the authority of Jesus. At his command they rendered instant obedience.

3. Suffered not the devils to speak (v. 34). He hids the saved soul witness of his saving power, but will not allow the devils to speak in challenge of his authority or in witness of the or his deity.

III. Jesus Retires to Pray (vv. 85-

The arduous service of the day made It desirable to be alone with the Father in prayer. Shut out from man-alone with God. How necessary the hush of the eternal, the calm of God! There is great need of private prayer.

IV. Preaching Throughout Galilee

He continued steadfastly to preach, for this was his supreme business. His miraculous works were but aids to his testimony. Preaching the gospel is the chief concern of all who would follow

Harmony.

It is a beautiful and blessed world we live in. The flowers blossom in obedience to the same law that keeps the stars in their places. Each bird song is an echo of the universal harmony. It is humanity which thrusts discords, and false and jarring notes into the days. We go out into the beautiful morning carrying our useless loads of frets and worries, our leftover resentments and our faithless fears. The sunshine assures us that the world is still moving safely in its appointed course and God has not forgotten us; the birds lift their cheering notes of rejoicing that they have found food for the day, but we lift complaining voices because we have not found provisions for years to come. Our moody spirits and jarring tempers hurt the love on earth and in heaven. But they hurt our own souls most of all for they put us out of tune with the music of the universe.

Success.

The great highroad of human welfare lies along the old highway of steadfast well-doing; and they who are the most persistent, and work in the truest spirit, will invariably be the most successful; success treads on the heels of every effort.—S. Smiles.

We must be often, and alone, with God, and there at his feet we must pour out our hearts and ask his richest blessing upon our united endeavor. "To pray," says Fenelon, "is to desire; but it is to desire what God would have us desire. He who desires not, from the bottom of his heart, offers a deceitful prayer."

No Greater Enemy.

Though all things do to harm with him what they can, no greater enemy to himself than man .- Earl of Stirling.

— THE — CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR TOPIC

— From --The Christian Workers Magazine, Chicago, Ill.

October 19

"Our Pledge and How to Keep It." Exodus 19:1-8.

Let it be frankly admitted at the outset that "rule" or "pledge" life is not the New Testament ideal. Broken pledges bulk large in the tragedy of The New Testament ideal is the Spirit-filled life. Nothing less and nothing other fulfills the purpose of God in the present stage of redemption. Until this is learned in an experimental way "the pledge" may be useful as a crutch to help us

Both in aim and scope the pledge is admirable. It is a confession of faith in the Lord Jesus Christ, a statement of purpose to do His will, recognition of the necessity of daily Bible reading and prayer, and a promise of consistency in Christian living. As a pledge, nothing essential is lacking. Moreover, many young people have been definitely helped by the remembrance of it, when tempted and tried. Nevertheless, if we would go on to maturity, it must be by the adoption of a different principle.

On what principle is the Christian life begun? A pledge? Never. Its commencement is on the principle of faith. So must its continuance and consummation be. "As ye received Christ Jesus the Lord (and that was by faith) so walk ye in Him" (Col. Have you learned to "walk by faith" as an operating principle, appointed by God and therefore suffi-Do not pass this over lightly. The adoption of this principle has revolutionized many Christian The whole matter is set fore us in two phrases found in Galatians 3:23, 25. "Before faith came" there was law, rule, pledge, as a working principle. Under it there was failure and judgment. But "after that faith is come," not only as a method of forgiveness but as a working principle of life, then we are no longer under the law, the schoolmaster, the child trainer.

God has made a new provision, He has brought in a new creation (2 Cor. 5:17, Gal. 6:15). Christian believers must get adjusted to this and learn to live by virtue of it. By so doing they enter into their inheritance, possess their possessions in Christ, and live victoriously.

Israel at Sinai, as in our Scripture lesson, is a warning to us. They were delivered from King Pharaoh but not from King Self. The truth of Romans 7:18 was unknown to them. So with perfect self confidence they said, "All that the Lord hath spoken we will do." This was affirmed three times, and doubtless, ith the utreat sincerity. Their his with the utmost sincerity. Their history was long denial of the promise they had made. Truly, "The law made nothing perfect" therefore there is introduced a better hope (Heb. 7:19) and a new principle, which is that of faith. Instead of a law around us we have the Law-giver within us operating in gracious power through the in-dwelling Holy Spirit. Surrender to Him and trust in Him leads to "the obedience of faith."

It is all summed up in the declaration of Galatians 2:20: "The life that I now live in the flesh I live by faith in the Son of God."

Gem's Romantic History.

Truly romantic is the story of the Braganza diamond, a stone of 1.660 carats, and "as large as a goose's egg," which, for more than a century, has been the proudest possession of the Portuguese crown. This amazing stone, which Mr. Streeter, the great authority on gems, has valued at £58,000,000, was picked up by three Brazilian outlaws in the half-dried bed of the Abaite river, in the province of Minas Geraes.

The outlaws took the stone to the nearest village priest, who obtained access for them to the governor, into whose possession it was given. The diamond, the largest and finest hitherto found, was dispatched to Lisbon. with the result that the three outlaws received the royal pardon and a rich reward, while the padre to whose friendly offices they owed their good fortune was given high preferment in Flower Gardens of Holland.

It was only after the fall of Constantinople in 1453 that Holland became such a gay land of flowers as it now is. Many Dutchmen went to the East during the years of the great crusades, and those of them who loved beautiful things brought seeds with them. When these were planted in the rich soil of Holland such wondrous flowers appeared as had never before been seen in that country. The people became wildly enthusiastic over the new colors and scents and foilage brought to them from the East, and in Holland there sprang up a great love for gardening.

Orchid Hard to Secure.

Nearly all the orchids found in Burma can be grown with a little care and attention in private gardens. There is one exception, a sweet-smelling species called tazin by the Burmese, and which is usually brought to market in Christmas week in Rangoon. It only seems to flower in the most malarious and least frequented localities, and at a time of the year which is the tigers' mating season, and when they are most dangerous to human beings. It is in great demand by Burmese and sells for its weight in silver.

GENTURY OF THOUGHT AIDS WOMEN WORKERS

National Women's Trade Union League Will Present Its Purposes at International Congress at Washington.

The National Women's Trade Union League of America has had nearly one hundred years' preparation for the part which it will play both on the floor and as hostess to the Arst International Congress of Working Women which is being called by that organization in Washington on October 23.

Women in the United States were first organized to secure better working conditions in 1821. This organization continued to grow until the time of the Civil war, when all iabor organizations broke down. Sometime after the war women again organized, and in 1903 the National Women's Trade Union league, as it now operates, became a living thing.

(A) (A) (A)

The present organization has a membership of 600,000 women and adliated membership of over a million, which includes men who are backing the program of the league and are in industries where women are employed. It is affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

The National Women's Trade Union league tries, through its organization, to teach women to help themselves to get better working conditions. Its purpose is "to protect the women workers of America from inadequate wage and extreme working hours through the organization of the workers, and through such legislation as the minimum wage and the eight-hour day; to increase co-operative action among them; to create a public opinion that really understands the laber movement; to secure definite and accurate information concerning conditions among women and child wage earners leading to legislative action; to supply at all times to all wage earners assistance in working out their incustrial difficulties."

Mrs. Raymond Robins is president of the league and chairman of its committee on international relationships, which is in charge of arrangements for the International Congress of Working Women. Miss Mary Anderson, chief of the women's bureau of the United States department of labor, is secretary to this committee.

The congress is being called at the official request of the standing committee on Women's Industrial Organizations of Great Britain and at the informal request of women's labor organizations in France and Italy. Problems and conditions affecting the work of women and children will be discussed and remedies for these iils considered so that practical suggestions can be taken back by the delegates to their own countries.

WOMEN POOL PROBLEMS

Meet for First International Industrial Congress in History.

Chief of Women's Bureau, United States Department of Labor, Says Women Must Consider Own Problems.

Washington, Oct. - .- "The International Congress of Working Women, to be held in Washington on October 23d at the call of the National Women's Trade Union League of America, affords the first opportunity in the history of the world for working women to get together to discuss their common problems and different phases of employment to the end that they may inaugurate higher industrial standards the world over," says Mary Anderson, chief of the Women's Bureau of the United States Department of Labor.

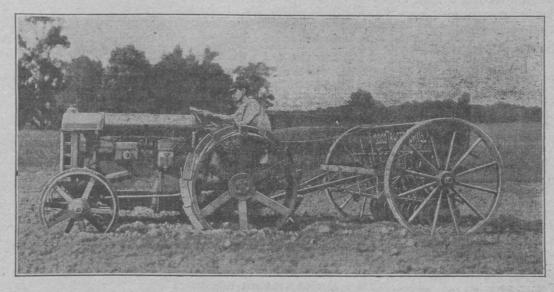

Miss Anderson is secretary to the committee on International Relationships of the Trade Union League and in charge of arrangements for the con-

Miss Anderson continued to say: "The United States can no longer be isolated as a nation. We have taken our place in the family of nations and stand in danger of either going up or down with the rest of the world in regard to industrial standards. To this end we must never forget that by raising standards of employment for the 12,000,000 women in gainful occupations in the United States, by guarding against child labor and giving proper protection and care to women and babies, we are helping to raise the standards, and that just as soon as we fail to make our standards as high as they should be we will cause suffering and hardship among women and children either in our own country or in some distant, unthought of part of the world.

"The Trade Union principle recognizes the fact that working women shall participate in the conditions governing their employment, that they shall use their own initiative to the end that they may have control over conditions under which they work. They all agree that because of this women must have their own part in the organizations that consider the conditions of women's work, whether these be local, national or interna-

Thirty-four countries have been asked to send women delegates from accredited labor organizations to attend the Congress. Each country will have ten votes on the floor of the Congress, and is entitled to ten delegates.

Brief Items of Local News of Special Interest to Our Home Readers.

Candidates are straying around, in pairs, trying to figure out what is going to happen.

Mrs. Sherman Gilds visited her son, William, at Cly, Pa., last week, and also attended the York Fair.

The cannery closed its corn season, last Friday, having run almost continuously for about eight weeks.

Hon. W. H. D. Warfield, was a visitor to Taneytown, on Thursday, in Jacob Heindell, once a resident of this section, died at his home in Glen Rock, Pa., in his 87th. year. Funeral services were held in Littlestown, on Monday.

A. W. Feeser, proprietor of our local cannery, recently purchased the former Samuel Cover farm, at Silver Run, rated as one of the finest farms in Carroll County.

Remember, we are saving some money by not having an entertainment course. Just "remember it" but don't boast of it Sometimes "having" a thing is evidence of robbery.

Mr. and Mrs. Frailick, accompanied Lloyd Ridinger and lady friend. Miss Nauman, all of Manheim, Pa., on an auto trip to Taneytown, on last Sunday, and returned Monday.

Dr. C. M. Benner fell off a step ladder, on Monday afternoon, while picking grapes, and fractured his right wrist. He went to Fredeick Hospital, on Tuesday, and had the injured member placed in a plaster cast.

For the remainder of the hunting season, names will be added to notice against trespassing, for 25c. We make the reduction in order to equalize the charge between that for the whole, and part of the season.

Let us hope that when our electric street lights actually come, we will have a little too much, rather than not enough, light; and that we will also have it all night, and every night. Wouldn't that be great-for Taney-

Do you know "advertising" when you see it? It is almost any statement in print, or otherwise, that will cause you to go to the stores to buy, when you would not have gone without the information. Some people never tell you anything of this kind about their stores.

Miss Mary Baumgardner, of Ipava, Ill., daughter of Chas. Baumgardner, is here, and will remain a few months, visiting friends in Maryland, Pennsylvania and W. Virginia. *Last Saturday she went to Annville, Pa., to school at 9:30 and preaching at 10:30 visit her cousin, Miss Lena E. Angell, A. M. sold last Saturday at $83.25 per acre, ence Superintendent. at public sale, to Mr. Goldsmith, of Baltimore. This is considered a low price, the way farms are selling now; and yet, it is interesting to recall that its former owner, Americus Shoemaker, sold the same farm, in his time, at $40.00 per acre, when the dents to many of the planes. The buildings were better.

There may be a few more lazy Calendar customers who have not placed ed the Western trip, while some of their orders. We have given our dealers notice to ship, about Nov. 1, and after the bulk shipments are made express charges must be added to the price for late orders. We added an order for 200 more, this week, for a late customer, and if there are any others who want 1920 calendars, this is the very last chance to get them from us, this year, at marked prices.

The old Stone Hotel property, on the square, has been sold to Guy W. Haines, of Mayberry, for $4000.00, possession to be given Nov. 1. Mr. Haines will remodel the Baltimore St., side of the building for general store purposes, but further than that has not determined the future of the whole building, except that he does not contemplate continuing the hotel business. He will place the store room in shape for business, as soon as possible.

lately with reference to the status of the movement for a soldier's memorial. This shows that the interest has not died. We are authorized to say that the movement has not been dropped in any way, but has been permitted to go slowly for lack of time on the part of those gathering subscriptions. Several good subscriptions have come in lately, and in the near future the matter will be taken up and pushed right along to completion. There are many persons yet to be seen about subscriptions. Send yours in promptly.

A strike of miners in the bituminous coal fields, involving 300,000 workmen, is staged for November 1, unless the operators agree to come across with an increase of 60 percent in wages and a reduction in working hours. As the operators say they cannot accede to either demand, the strike will likely come off, unless something happens in the meantime. The mines affected are in western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illi-nois. This strike, therefore, will re-sult in the closing down of many factories, and throw other classes of union labor out of employment.
