WOMEN'S MISSIONARY SOCIETY HOLDS CONVENTION.

In Taneytown Lutheran Church from Wednesday to Friday.

The annual convention of the Women's Missionary Society of the Maryland Lutheran Synod was held in the Lutheran church of Taneytown, this week. The sessions began on Wednesday afternoon and closed at noon today, (Friday). The attendance of delegates was not quite as large as was expected, a few being kept away by illness or other unavoidable circumstances. Places of entertainment had been provided for 124 persons, and of these about a dozen failed to appear. A large number of visitors attended one or more days of the convention. The total number on Thursday was about 175.

The first session of the convention was in charge of Miss Lizzie Birely, vice-president for the Middle Conference, the president, Mrs. G. W. Baughman, being unable to reach Taneytown for the opening. The greetings of the local society were extended by Mrs. G. May Fouke, and Mrs. J. P. Reese, of Lutherville responded.

A devotional service was conducted by Mrs. B. E. Petrea, who also conducted a similar service at each morning session. At the first period of devotion, an address was delivered by Rev. John B. Ruple, of Westminster; at the second, an address by Rev. R. S. Patterson, D. D., of Woodboro, and at the Friday session by Rev. C. G. Leatherman, of Manchester. The greetings of the Maryland Synod were extended by its fraternal delegate, Rev. F. L. Will, of Boonsboro.

A new feature of the convention this year was the administration of the communion to the members of the convention. The service was held on Wednesday and was conducted by the local pastor, Rev. L. B. Hafer, assisted by Rev. F. L. Will, Rev. B. E. Petrea, of Uniontown, and Rev. J. D. Curran, missionary to Africa, but now in America on furlough. The service was orderly and impressive, and will probably be a regular feature of future conventions.

After the communion service, Rev. J. D. Curran gave the address of the evening on "Our Outlook in Liberia." Rev. Mr. Curran has been in that mission during the past nine years, and has seen some of the most pronounced development of that field. The address gave an optimistic view of the work. Mrs. C. D. Bell, of Williamsport, presided.

At the Thursday morning session, Mrs. G. W. Baughman, the president, was in charge and gave her annual address, which was a review of the work of the last year. Mrs. Baughman retires from the presidency at the close of the convention, as she has taken a position at headquarters in Philadelphia, and will be in charge of the circulation of the magazine, "Lutheran Woman's Work." Mrs. Baughman was for many years at Uniontown, where her husband was pastor. She has been president since 1913, and in a period of 25 years, either as an officer or as a delegate, she missed only one annual convention.

An interesting feature of the Thursday afternoon session was the holding of simultaneous meetings on the work of the three groups of societies—Woman's, Young People's and Junior societies.

The Women's conferences were in charge of Mrs. G. I. Uhler, of Jefferson; the Young People's, in charge of Miss Grace M. Sheeleigh, of Frederick, and the Junior conferences were in charge of Mrs. J. D. Bell, of Westminster and Mrs. J. M. Miller, of Williamsport. The audience was divided into three groups and the leaders passed from group to group, each holding a conference with each group.

The delegates to the general convention at Chicago gave reports of that gathering. Each of the delegates, Mrs. G. W. Baughman, Miss Mary Baylies, Mrs. L. H. Waring, Mrs. U. S. G. Rupp, Mrs. C. D. Bell and Miss M. E. Kephart, reported a particular period or feature of the general convention.

At the Thursday evening session there was a demonstration, "Our Work and Workers," conducted by Miss Grace M. Sheeleigh with the help of a large number of the young ladies of the convention, with recitations by several little girls. After this demonstration, Mrs. D. U. Bair, of Philadelphia, gave an address on the individual loyalty of the home workers.

Rev. U. S. G. Rupp, of Frederick, President of the Maryland Synod, assisted the pastor in the opening service of the evening. Mrs. J. E. Byers of Baltimore, presided at this service. Friday morning was devoted to the completion of the various departmental reports, the appointment of standing committees, election of officers and general business.

The report of the Treasurer, Mrs. S. F. Ziegler, which was given earlier in the convention, showed a very substantial degree of progress. The total receipts for the year were $13,546.30, which was an increase of more than 43% over the former year. The increase in the thank-offering alone was over $600.00.

The nominating committee, composed of Miss Mary Baylies, Miss Louise K. Shaffer, Mrs. W. K. Diehl, Mrs. J. M. Francis and Miss Grace M. Sheeleigh, made the following re-

SECOND DAY'S REGISTRATION.

Republicans Continued to Show Gains in Carroll County.

In Baltimore, this week, the Democrats gained in the registration, and now have a lead in the city over the Republicans of 5,711 but are still far short of a majority, considering the unaffiliated vote. At the close of registration, on Wednesday, the figures were, Democrats 76,980, Republicans 71,269, unaffiliated 24,469.

The total registration in Carroll, on Tuesday, was 987, divided as follows:

White Republican Women	391
White Republican Men	59
Colored Republican Women	73
Colored Republican Men	8
White Democratic Women	353
Colored Democratic Women	1
White Democratic Men	61
Colored Democratic Men	12
Declined	28
Total Republicans	531
Total Democrats	415
Total for both sittings—
Republicans	1537
Democrats	1048

Republican gain 489. The following are a few of the districts, separately:

Taneytown, first pre.; Republicans, men 7, women 28; Democrats, men 2, women 17, declined, 1, total 53. Second pre, Republicans, men 4, women 29; Democrats, men 2, women 15; declined 1; total 51.

Middleburg. Republicans, men 3, women 22; Democrats, men 1, women 9; total, 35. New Windsor. Republicans, men 4, women 35; Democrats, men 2, women 14; declined 2; total, 57.

P. O. S. of A. to Celebrate, Next Tuesday, in Westminster.

Discovery day, next Tuesday, Oct. 12, the P. O. S. of A. of the county will hold a parade and public meeting in Westminster, in the evening, followed by a class initiation. The public meeting will be held in the Armory, the main addresses being by Rev. Walter Egge, of Lebanon, Pa., and Wm. James Heaps, of Baltimore, both of whom are fine orators.

In the afternoon, at 3:30, at Davis Hall, a round-table conference of workers for the Order will be held, which will be of considerable importance to the Camps in the county. Each Camp in the county should be well represented and help to plan a big forward movement.

The parade is scheduled for 6 o'clock, and there will be several bands of music. The closed meeting, for members only, will begin as soon as possible after the program in the Armory. At this meeting, State Master of Forms, Alfred Bowen, a Cumberland Attorney, will present several prizes, following the class initiation.

Farmers Need Help—Not Advice.

No doubt a lot of city folks think it is "just terrible" how the farmers let potatoes and fruit go to waste, and do not bring them to the city and sell them cheap. As long as people have the idea that the farmer can easily get all of his work done, and save all the crops, even if the surplus male and female help has gone to the city to get big wages, they will likely expect him to accommodate them by delivering fruit and potatoes at their doors, at low prices, rather than let them go to waste.

It can't be done. The farmers do miss the help that has left—much of which will be glad to get out of the city, and back to the country, before long. The farmer does not want anything to go to waste. He would rather sell it cheap, than have it rot; but, the farmer is wise enough to attend to the main crops first, and if some of the lesser ones go to waste, it isn't his fault. He can do only one thing at a time, and has hard work to do that.

Just now, it is the corn crop that must be saved, and he is not working 8-hour days to save it. He must save the grain and the provender for his horses and cows; fill his silos, and in many ways prepare for the winter that is coming—and for his own and his cattle's comfort.

A few farmers may have the feeling that unless they can get the former big prices for some things, they will not sell; but the majority of them are not thinking along such lines. The average farmer has most of his work to do with his own family force, and it is natural that he should make the most to him—out of the time at his disposal. That is all there is to the fruit question, especially. Some fruit growers and small farmers have the time to gather and save the fruit, but the average farmer has not.

This sentence caught our attention the other day, in a newspaper article, and it is a good one:—"When city men, and town men, and all men get out of their heads the one idea of working for money, and learn to work at what is most needed, it will be better for the whole country."

FIRE PREVENTION DAY.

This Saturday, has been named "Fire Prevention Day" by Gov. Ritchie. Each town is supposed to have a meeting, afternoon or night, to discuss measures leading to fire prevention. The chances are that but few towns will take such action.

The announcement of the date, for one thing, has not been in time for sufficient preparation; but, why the 9th? Why should not every town set a date, in co-operation with its town officials, and HOLD SUCH A MEETING?

We suggest that the TOWN OFFICIALS should take the initiative in the matter. If they do not, the idea is half killed, to start with.

It is generally agreed that most fires are due to CARELESSNESS. The records of fires prove it. The insurance Companies know it. Not always genuine carelessness of the reckless sort, but the carelessness of inaction. Why not have a get-together meeting and bring out a lot of facts that can easily be remedied?

Taneytown needs a meeting of this kind—badly needs it. Other towns need one. The good results likely to follow the effort will not pay the insurance companies half so much as they will pay property owners. The idea of talking "fire-prevention" in a practical, business-like way, is an excellent one. The big question is—WILL WE DO IT?

There are at least a half dozen men in every town who can and will, make addresses on the subject that will bring out the special needs of their town, as well as show general conditions responsible for fires. Such a meeting, and series of addresses, are worth the effort. WHY NOT MAKE IT?

TWO CONVICTED, ONE CLEARED

Sandy Springs Bank Case Ended in Frederick Court.

The trial of the three men charged with the robbery of the Sandy Springs Bank, and the shooting of Mr. Halliwell, closed at Frederick, on Wednesday, with the trial of J. T. Penderghast. Clarence Adams and John Mitchell had been tried last week, found guilty, and sentences deferred. Adams and Mitchell were sentenced to life imprisonment in the Maryland Penitentiary, while Penderghast was found not guilty. Judges Urner and Worthington joined in the verdicts, while Judge Peter was for capital punishment in all three cases.

Two hours after the Penderghast case closed the judges returned, and amid an impressive stillness, Judge Urner said the court had reached a verdict in each of the preceding cases as they were tried. The law of the cases, he said, was not discussed; it was treated as being entirely settled. All participants in a criminal act such as had been committed were equally responsible; the question was whether the persons on trial were engaged in the robbery.

In reference to Adams he said that two of the judges entertain no reasonable doubt as to the guilt of the accused; Judge Worthington was not able to free his mind of a reasonable doubt; Judge Peter, he said was in favor of imposing the extreme penalty—hanging.

With one member of the court entertaining a reasonable doubt, he said he could not impose the extreme penalty, and the sentence would be life imprisonment.

In the case of Mitchell, he said, the court was unanimous. Had this case been tried alone and not connected with the other trials the verdict would have been the death penalty.

The court, he continued, was confronted with a most unusual situation in this case. He said he didn't feel justified in pronouncing the death sentence on a traverser tried with another person for the same offense in which a life sentence had been pronounced.

In arriving at a verdict he said the court had been influenced by witnesses who testified, particularly by the officials of the bank in their identification of the traversers. It was a most wanted, brutal and premeditated homicide and the kind of case that deserved capital punishment, he said. The fact that the court in the Adams trial had not been able to agree precluded the death sentence.

In regard to Penderghast, Judge Urner said, while he had been implicated in the homicide and had been identified by reputable witnesses as one of the men in the automobile which conveyed the robbers to the bank, yet the opportunity of the witnesses for identifying him was not convincing.

Reference was then made to the positive testimony of the witnesses for the defense that he was at home in Atlantic City on the day of the robbery, and the verdict of the court would be not guilty.

The State contended that Penderghast remained in the automobile ready for a get-away and did not enter the bank. None of the bank officials identified him.

Electric Light is Coming.

The Record has a letter from the President of the Electric Light Company, which states that the Taneytown line will likely be completed "within the next few weeks." The delay is said to be caused by certain materials, which the Company furnishing them has promised to deliver within 30 days. He says: "I am sure that everybody connected with the Company is more anxious than you are to get this line in operation, and will do everything to help matters along."

Mr. Ryan, who was arrested in Baltimore, last week, for "heckling" Senator Harding by shouting a question to him while making a speech at the armory, has brought suit against several persons for false arrest, claiming $100,000 damages. He was held only a short time, before being released. Mr. Ryan is a lawyer, with offices in Worcester, Mass., and Washington, D. C.

QUEEN ANNE'S REGISTRATION.

How the Women Registered Over on the Eastern Shore.

The Centerville Observer gave quite an extended write-up of scenes and facts connected with the registration of women in Queen Anne's county, last week, a portion of which we give as being of general interest:

"Opponents of woman suffrage have argued for years that the enfranchisement of women would cause men to assume a less respectful attitude toward females. If such is the case, it was not apparent in Queen Anne's county. The familiar odor of tobacco was conspicuous by its absence in the polling places. Many judges and clerks, perhaps, were eager to find solace from their strenuous duties behind a cigar, pipe or cigarette. But genuine southern chivalry prevailed and Queen Anne's county women marched to the polls and were greeted with the same courtesy and consideration that would have been shown them in their own homes.

Many of the registration places were entirely too small, and were cramped, poorly ventilated and stuffy. But it naturally was impossible to avoid this condition as when quarters were acquired women had not yet been legally enfranchised. Within then next year it is practically certain that these conditions will be remedied.

Many amusing incidents occurred in the various registration booths. In one precinct a woman entered to enroll and wept. A few minutes later two colored women, who had not seen each other for some time, met and kissed. In another precinct an old colored woman who was a slave in the days prior to the Civil War registered and gave her age as 33. A friend later corrected it and said she meant 83. Another old colored woman who came to Centerville as a young woman 62 years ago, registered as 26, and refused to become a minute older. Her name appears on the books and her age is duly recorded as she gave it.

But in practically 99 per cent. of the cases county women gave their ages unhesitatingly and correctly. There was very little attempt to evade the questions. It had been reported that women might state their ages as more than 21, and that this answer would be sufficient. Fearing confusion of records as the result of incorrect ages, one set of registration officials agreed to register all women as "age 54" who answered that they were merely more than 21 years old. Each applicant was informed of this agreement, and in the majority of cases resulted in the correct age being stated."

Community Shows in Carrol.

A very interesting meeting was held at Keyville school-house for the purpose of planning a community show. It was decided to hold such a show in the school house on Thursday, Oct. 21, in co-operation with the County Agent and the Home Demonstration Agent, with exhibits in the afternoon and a program at night.

The following committee was appointed: Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Deville, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. P. Ritter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wilhide, Mr. and Mrs. Dorsey Diller, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. J. Stonifer, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. B. Ritter, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Baumgardner, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Roop, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Hahn, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cluts, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Kiser, Miss Boyer and Miss Carrie Harbaugh.

Union Bridge will hold its community show on Thursday, Oct. 14, the program being at 8 P. M.

New Windsor will hold its show on Friday, Oct. 15, at the school house, followed by a program at the College gymnasium, at 8 P. M.

Md. & Va. Eldership.

The Maryland and Virginia Eldership of the Churches of God will meet in its 49th. annual session in the Bethel, at Mayberry, October 13th, to 15th. The opening sermon will be preached by Rev. Amos Reynolds, or the alternate, Rev. J. H. Gonso.

The Eldership will convene on Thursday morning, at 8:30 for organization and business. There will be religious services every evening. Rev. J. L. Updegraph, Field Secretary, Findlay, Ohio, and Rev. Cover and wife, missionaries, of India, will be present.

The Woman's Missionary Society, will be in session, on Saturday, and will also have charge of the evening service. The services of Sunday will be in the hands of the committee. Everybody invited to attend these services.

The Times is "Nine."

The Westminster Times said last week it was "just nine" years old. The Times has become so well known in the county that it seems almost as though it had lived much longer. As the paper is noted for its straightforwardness and reliability, we take its word for the "only nine"—but, it has accomplished a lot in so short a time.

"Shall Woman Be Boss?"

As a literary curiosity, and as showing the trend of mind of some unregenerate men, we publish a communication under the above caption, on our editorial page of this issue. There was more of it, but we thought the portion given, would be enough.

A CONSERVATIVE ESTIMATE ON THE RESULT

Ohio, Indiana, Maryland and West Virginia Classified Doubtful

The Philadelphia Public Ledger, generally considered a conservative paper in its statements, gives the following from its Washington correspondent, as a fair prediction of the status of the electoral vote to be cast on November 2.

The most reliable reports obtainable from all parts of the country, forecast, on the basis of present conditions, the election of Senator Harding by at least 300 votes in the electoral college, which would give him a majority of approximately seventy votes.

For Harding—California, 13; Connecticut, 7; Delaware, 3; Idaho, 4; Illinois, 29; Iowa, 13; Kansas, 10; Maine, 6; Massachusetts, 13; Michigan, 15; Minnesota, 12; Nebraska, 8; New Hampshire, 4; New Jersey, 14; New Mexico, 3; New York, 45; North Dakota, 8; Oregon, 5; Pennsylvania, 38; Rhode Island, 5; South Dakota, 5; Utah, 4; Vermont, 4; Washington, 7; Wisconsin, 13; Wyoming, 3. Total, 293.

For Cox—Alabama, 12; Arkansas, 9; Florida, 6; Georgia, 14; Louisiana, 10; Mississippi, 10; North Carolina, 12; South Carolina, 9; Tennessee, 12; Texas, 20; Virginia, 12. Total, 126.

Doubtful—Arizona, 3; Colorado, 6; Indiana, 15; Kentucky, 13; Maryland, 8; Missouri, 18; Montana, 4; Nevada, 3; Ohio, 24; Oklahoma, 10; West Virginia, 8. Total, 112.

If Governor Cox should carry all of the States here listed as doubtful he would have a total of 238 electoral votes, 28 short of the 266 majority. The chances are, however, that Harding will carry both Indiana and Ohio as well as West Virginia, while a landslide condition probably would give him several other States now classed as doubtful.

Must Live in State a Year.

Attorney-General Armstrong, in a letter sent to State's Attorney William J. Ryan, of Prince George's county, made it clear that any person, man or woman, must have been a resident of the State for a year in order to be entitled to vote. The impression had gained ground that any woman who was a resident of the State prior to the adoption of the Federal suffrage amendment was entitled to vote, no matter how brief her residence in the State had been.

The question asked by Mr. Ryan was this:

"If a man is a resident of the State and marries and brings his wife to live with him in the State prior to the passage of the amendment enfranchising women, can his wife register and vote, although she came into the State two weeks prior to the passage of the amendment?"

The answer was: "This lady is not entitled to be registered, because she does not satisfy the constitutional requirement of one year's residence within the State."

Apples and Potatoes Go to Waste Because of Labor Cost.

A dispatch from York, Pa., to the Philadelphia Ledger, says:

Big crops are all right, but they do not necessarily mean big bank accounts, according to York county farmers. Here is why:

The farmer has to pay such a high price for labor that he is refusing to pick the apples from his trees. He has figured out that the price he is given for apples is insufficient to pay the cost of picking and handling and allow a legitimate profit. Result—apples everywhere in this section are rotting on the ground.

The potato situation is much the same. Warm weather and blight have caused hundreds of acres of tubers to rot in the fields. What potatoes farmers have on hand they are rushing to market at 65c and 70c a bushel.

Because, they declared, prices offered are too low, some farmers have plowed their tomatoes under rather than sell their produce at a loss. In this way they greatly enrich their ground for future crops.

Some Reduced Prices, This Week.

Sugar dropped, this week, at the refineries, to 12c.

Wheat dropped to below $2.00, and flour 60c a barrel, in Chicago.

Some grades of wheat sold in Baltimore, as low as $1.50, the average being considerably under $2.00.

Hides are selling very low, but the big stock of high-priced leather on hand will keep up the price of shoes.

City restaurants are making cuts in prices, some of them to the extent of 20%, but proprietors claim that as long as labor and rents are high, no great reductions can be made.

Baltimore mills have dropped the price of flour 50c a barrel.

Coffee is from 5 to 10 cents a pound cheaper than two weeks ago. Canned goods are "off" about 25% wholesale.

Eggs and butter have not as yet shown any tendency to join the ranks in the low-price parade. Lard has advanced several cents a pound during the week.

Among the package goods matches have advanced $1.00 a gross and buckwheat 10%. The high price of paper and a general advance in the price of containers, it is said, are responsible for the advance on these two staple grocery items.

FARM POULTRY

SUCCESS IN RAISING SQUABS

Healthy, Vigorous, Properly Mated Birds Are Essential—Keep Rats and Mice Away.

Begin with healthy, vigorous, properly mated breeders. Good quality foundation stock is very essential to success.

Select and keep only prolific breeders which are also good feeders.

Feed a variety of good-quality hard grains, including peas or peanuts. Use small whole corn rather than cracked corn.

Provide for the pigeons a pen which is dry, well ventilated, and can be kept free from rats and mice. Two nests should be allowed for each pair of breeders.

Keep clean, fresh, protected drinking water before the pigeons and provide a separate unprotected pan of water for bathing.

Market the squabs just as soon as they are feathered under the wings and about the time they are able to get out of their nests, say poultry specialists in the United States department of agriculture.

GEESSE UTILIZE WASTE GRAIN

Grazing Stock Take Up Most of Their Feed From Ordinary Grasses of the Pastures

Geese touch flanks with chickens in utilizing waste grain about the stables and feeding pens. In a larger measure than chickens or any other kind of poultry, they are grazing stock, taking their living in large part from the ordinary grasses of the pastures. When the facts are taken into consideration that the demand for geese is strong, steady, and extended over practically the whole year, not confined to certain holiday seasons, as the demand for turkeys largely is, and that their value as egg producers is considerable, the importance of a few geese on a general farm becomes apparent.

Geese, in common with ducks, are utilizers of forms of food confined to ponds and streams, but they are in that particular exalted by ducks. On farms where ponds or streams are available ducks will convert into meat and eggs great quantities of water insects and various aquatic forms that would not be utilized by any other kind of poultry. Ducks, while they consume much grass and other green stuff, are more partial to animal feeds and are very energetic in patrolling the branches, creeks and ponds as sources of food supply, say poultry specialists in the United States department of agriculture. Where conditions are favorable they will provide for their own food needs in a measure that will make them highly profitable.

LAYING HENS LATE MOLTERS

General Purpose Breeds Lay and Molt at Same Time, Slowing Down on Egg Production.

The hen with a natural tendency to lay usually postpones the molt until her production is finished regardless of the time she started. This applies more particularly to the egg breeds, as the general purpose or meat breeds sometimes lay and molt at the same time. In such cases the feathers are dropped and replaced slowly and the egg production also slows down but may not entirely suspend.

MAKEUP OF POULTRY MASH

Among Ingredients Are Corn, Alfalfa, Barley and Gluten—Charcoal Aids Digestion.

Hens love mash. Usually, ground feeds, such as cornmeal, corn chop, corn and cob meal, gluten meal, ground barley, cottonseed meal, linseed meal, gluten meal and alfalfa meal are used in the mash. Sometimes charcoal is added to guard against digestive troubles.

FEED FOR GROWING CHICKENS

When About Eight Weeks Old Give Supply of Cracked Corn and Other Small Grains.

As soon as the chickens will eat the whole wheat, cracked corn, and other grains—usually in about eight weeks—the small-sized chick feed can be eliminated. In addition to the above feeds sour milk, skim milk or buttermilk will hasten the chickens' growth.

HOW

HOUSEWIFE MAY MAKE HER WORK MORE ATTRACTIVE.

—How to make household work more attractive is so serious a problem that it is delightful to hear that the operation of washing clothes is "a kind of Greek dance." So, at least a lady who is used to Greek dancing declares. The same authority says that she engages in "rhythmic movements" for every household duty and finds her labors surprisingly lightened. Thus energy can be conserved in the lifting of a kettle if one stoops with one's whole body instead of simply leaning forward a little. The theory is plausible enough to deserve a careful working out. It is one of the principles of modern education that study must be made play for the child. How much more should work become one sweet song for the housewife! Many might find the combination of washboard and Greek dance perplexing. Probably the ordinary worker might resent the interference with her "ways," no matter how much help she might derive from it. But we have one resource unknown to the ancient in canned music. Put in the record and turn the crank, and the rhythmic movement is easy. In this untrodden field of domestic art—or shall we say science?—the first adventurers will have to walk warily. Only long and careful experiment can determine the exact kind of music for each particular task. It would not do to employ jazz if slow waltz time were required. If a bed were made up to jazz the sheets would probably not be tucked in properly at the bottom. A little comic opera music might suit a hasty luncheon, whereas for a deliberate and formal dinner an adagio from a symphony might blend more harmoniously with the occasion. Since the domestic problem is one of the gravest the modern woman has to face, it is obviously of the highest importance that the connection between the family wash and the Greek dance be carefully investigated and further researches undertaken.—New York Tribune.

BEES' PRODUCTION OF HONEY

How the Transition From Nectar to the Highly Delectable Compound Is Accomplished.

When a bee arrives in the hive with a load of honey, she searches until she finds a cell to her liking and then enters the cell with feet upward. Her mandibles touch the cell where the load is to be deposited. Then the mouth and mandibles open, and a drop of nectar appears. With the mandibles constantly in motion while quite likely some secretion is added to the nectar, the head is moved from side to side and the nectar spread over the upper cell wall. When this honey is first stored it is quite thin, but later the bees evaporate or "ripen" it until it contains less than 25 per cent of water. The work is done mostly at night, the bees standing on the combs with heads upward and then forcing a drop of nectar to the mouth and mandibles, where it gently pulsates for about ten minutes when it is swallowed and another drop appears. This work continues sometimes for nearly half the night. Anyone entering the apiary at this time will note the pleasant odor of the new honey and will also enjoy the drowsy sound of the millions at work ripening the honey.

How to Resilver Mirrors.

Select a sheet of tinfoil of the required size and pour over it three drams of quicksilver for each square foot of foil. Rub the foil with a piece of buckskin until it becomes brilliant. Place a sheet of paper over the foil so as to completely cover it. Then lay a weight on the foil, using a slab of marble or smooth block of wood. Increase the weight so that the foil will be pressed tightly to the glass. Allow to stand four or five hours to set. If properly done the foil will adhere closely to the glass. Usually, however, it is cheaper and more satisfactory to buy a new mirror than to try resilvering an old one.

How Corncobs Yield Dyes.

Of importance to the dye industry is the recent discovery that furfural, or furaldehyde—a dye base—can now be extracted, like cellulose, from the common corn cob, and at a cost of only 15 cents a pound. This colorless, oily liquid has previously been obtained only in the laboratory, and at something like $17 a pound. In consequence of this announcement the despised corn cob will take on considerable commercial value. In the hands of the chemists it will yield dyes of a vivid green, in addition to the rare brown and blue vat dyes.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

How Estonian Girls Begin Life.

Almost from infancy Estonian girls begin to collect a wedding outfit. This is not peculiar to Estonian girls, but a curious feature is that at the wedding the newly made bride distributes accumulated articles among the guests, receiving in return promises of beehives, sheep, and cattle—promises which are usually redeemed sooner or later.

COLONIAL HOUSE IS NOW POPULAR

Substantial Brick Design That Has Charm of Its Own.

BIG SUN PARLOR IS FEATURE

This Home Is Designed With the Idea of Security, Comfort and Durability. Uppermost—Planned for Large Family.

By WILLIAM A. RADFORD.

Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all subjects pertaining to the subject of building, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as Editor, Author and Manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 187 Pacific Avenue, Chicago, Ill., and only enclose two-cent stamp for reply.

In their haste to build a home many people are liable to erect a flimsy structure that will not stand the strain and wear of years. This, however, is not the case with the substantial home shown in the accompanying illustration. It has been built with an idea of security, comfort and durability. In building it, the architect did not overlook general charm and attractiveness.

The colonial type of house is one of the most popular in all parts of the country today. While it originated in the East in the days of the early colonists, it has appealed so strongly to everyone that it is found in all parts and all sections. Very often the construction is frame, but where fire restrictions prohibit the use of wood, a colonial home of brick can be built with pleasing results.

This home has all the features of the colonial type in its quaint entrance of white, enhanced by white pillars supporting a small balcony with ornate iron railing, green shutters and roof dormers with arched windows. In addition it has the latest innovation of modern building—the sun parlor and sleeping porch. The new has been linked with the old.

for the very good reason that they are only the cause of unnecessary work. An extra lavatory has been provided off the reception hall. This is an additional convenience often overlooked. The stairs to the upper floor lead from the kitchen.

Upstairs ample provision for sleeping quarters has been made with four large bedrooms, and a sleeping porch. Each bedroom has at least two windows, a most essential feature in this room. Proper ventilation is important in more ways than one, and in the bedroom it is most important of all. The comfort and general health of the family depends upon it. The two front bedrooms are the largest, being 14 feet 6 inches by 10 feet 6 inches and 17 by 10 feet 6 inches. The two rear bedrooms are 13 by 13 feet 6 inches, and 13 feet 6 inches by 13 feet 6 inches. A closet has been provided for each room.

The bath room is of the latest type, containing built-in fixtures and a shower. In a small alcove on one side is a handy linen closet. The equipment of the modern bath room cannot receive too much attention. With the development of the manufacture of plumbing fixtures it has come to be one of the most sanitary and attractive rooms in the modern home.

without disturbing the beauty of the exterior arrangement. The sun parlor located on the lower floor is 11 by 17 feet, a cheerful retreat for the family. Directly above is the sleeping porch. In summer this can be screened in to provide plenty of fresh air, while protecting the occupants from flies, insects and the like.

The house, exclusive of the sun parlor, is 38 by 30 feet. A large terrace extends the full width. On the first floor the plans call for three rooms, living room, dining room and kitchen. In addition there is a large reception hall. The living room, as in all homes of this type, is the main room. It is laid out large, comfortable and cheerful. A wide-open brick fireplace at one end is a sure source of much warmth cellar when we speak of this type of house—contains some of the important features of a home of this size, namely, the laundry and heating system. A good heating plant is important. Without it comfort in a beautiful home is not possible. In this house the system has been extended to both sun parlor and sleeping porch.

There are many people in this world today who still have that old love for a real home. They do not want to live in a crowded apartment nor do they care for the bungalow. What they want is a house with plenty of rooms and no crampedness. For them this home will be particularly appealing. Again, there are many who have a great affection for the things of the past. In this type of home they have the happy combination of the times of our forefathers with the modern age, in short the home of a hundred years or more ago adapted to modern conditions, equipped with the latest conveniences, but still possessing the quaint and appealing characteristics of the days which gave it birth.

Turks "Buffaloed"

Ignorance as to the real significance of the word "mandate" is attributed to many Anatolians, who, it appears, are greatly puzzled by this word, which has come into the popular speech only since the covenant of the League of Nations was framed. This confusion is, it seems, in part due to the fact that the word is extremely similar to the Turkish word meaning "buffalo," and the natives, quite reasonably, fail to see in what way the imposition of a "buffalo" could be of an advantage either to them or to their neighbors!—Christian Science Monitor.

and comfort in the long winter nights. It is well lighted by two windows looking out on the front terrace and the windows of the sun parlor. Twenty-two by fourteen feet, it is plenty large enough for a big family and the ideal place to lounge and read in the evening.

Directly to the rear of the living room and connected with it by a wide open doorway is the dining room, 18 by 13 feet. It is also well lighted and exceptionally bright and cheerful. The sun parlor can be entered by doors from both living and dining rooms. On real warm days luncheon can be served in the sun parlor.

The kitchen is conveniently located with reference to the dining room. It is small and complete, designed to save many steps for the housewife. Large kitchens are no longer specified

Cut Prices May Reduce Revenue of the Government.

The following, from the Washington correspondence of the Baltimore Sun, will be of interest as showing how the "excess profits" tax may effect consumers, as well as the revenue of the U. S. Government.

"That the peculiarities of the excess profits tax have permitted the sensational price declines has been suspected here for several weeks. The question has arisen as to whether industries have not begun to plan as follows:

Suppose an industry from its business for the first nine months could estimate that for the year 1920 its profits would subject it to an excess profits tax of $8,000,000—an amount which at least one industry is supposed to pay. Are industries in such a position reducing their prices sufficiently to take up this $8,000,000 which would go to the Government? In this way they might make the Government carry the burden of price reductions, might improve their business and give the benefit to the consumer, it was pointed out.

According to some reports, there is a fear on the part of some authorities that the slashing of prices if carried on will reduce the revenue from excess profits by at least 50%. The Government revenues have been exceeding the disbursements, and, according to recent estimates by Secretary Houston, the year should show a reduction in the government debt. But with revenue reduced by a 50% decline in the excess profits tax income, the Treasury would be confronted with a problem which might force some action by Congress.

Experts who have opposed the excess profits tax as a peace-time policy point out this situation to show the uncertainties and the difficulties which it will produce. Profits, they have insisted, are too variable to make them the basis for a taxation policy."

How Fish Foretell Storms.

Codfish have been known to actually take in ballast before a storm. Some time ago a number of cod were caught off the coast of Newfoundland, 12 hours before a severe gale. It was found that all of them had swallowed stones, some of which weighed three or four ounces. Sea urchins will try and wiggle under the mud, or at least cover themselves with sand before a storm, while dolphins never toss or sport about in a rough sea, unless a change for the better is noted. All sailors know that a storm is pending when numbers of stormy petrel flock in the wake of a vessel.

How Scurvy Is Brought On.

Experiments by Doctors Givens and Hoffmann in the research laboratories of the Western Pennsylvania hospital, Pittsburgh, prove conclusively that scurvy is not a bacterial disease, but due solely to deficiencies in diet.

MARRIED

FLICKINGER—BOONE.

Mr. William H. Flickinger, of Keymar and Miss Ruth N. Boone, of Rocky Ridge, were united in marriage at the Lutheran Parsonage, Union Bridge, on October 6th. Rev. W. O. Ibach performed the ceremony.

MR. WILLIAM HOLLENBAUGH.

Mr. William Hollenbaugh, an aged resident of Detour, died on Sunday, in Detour. He is survived by his widow. Burial services were held at St. Joseph's Catholic church, Taneytown, on Tuesday morning.

MRS. SAMUEL B. CONOVER.

Mrs. Samuel B. Conover died at the home of her son-in-law, Mrs. Charles Foulk, in Adams county, Pa., near Mt. Joy, on Wednesday, Oct. 6, 1920, on her 80th birthday. Funeral services will be held this Saturday morning, at her late home, interment being in Littlestown cemetery.

MRS. WILLIAM U. ECKARD.

Mrs. Jeannette Bruce, wife of Mr. William U. Eckard died at her home, near Kump, Thursday afternoon, Oct. 7, aged 53 years, 3 months, 21 days. Funeral services will be held at the house on Sunday at 1:00 P. M., by Rev. Paul D. Yoder. Interment in the Church of God cemetery, Uniontown.

MR. GEORGE F. SLICK.

Mr. George Frank Slick died at the residence of his brother-in-law, Vernon M. Rhoads, in Frederick, on Thursday, Sept. 30, of cirrhosis of the liver, aged 37 years. Surviving is his widow, who was before marriage Miss Mary M. Saylor. The deceased was born near Taneytown and was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Slick, of Taneytown district. He had been employed in Frederick as a mechanic in the Ideal Garage. Funeral services were held on Oct. 2, interment being in Frederick cemetery.

He is also survived by his father and mother, and by the following brothers and sisters: Arthur Slick, near Harney; Mrs. Walter Rentzell, Uniontown; Denton Slick, near Harney; Mrs. Grace Roberts, Atlanta, Ga.; Jesse and Charles Slick, at home, and James D. Slick, of York.

His uncles, Emanuel and George W. Bollinger, and nephews, George and Leslie Bollinger, of Glen Rock, Pa., attended the funeral.

MR. GEORGE A. MCGUIGAN.

Infirmities of old age caused the death, Thursday evening, Sept. 30, of George A. McGuigan, well known resident of Mt. Pleasant township, Pa., near Bonneauville. He was aged 77 years, 3 months, 11 days. He was born in Mt. Joy township, Pa., and for 30 years was a shoemaker at Harney. Last March he moved from Harney, to Mt. Pleasant township, and resided with his son.

Besides his wife, he is survived by three sons, H. M. McGuigan, Straban township, Pa.; George E., with whom he made his home, and Charles E., of Mt. Joy township, Pa.; two daughters, Mrs. Annie B. Fleagle, of Philadelphia, Pa.; Mrs. Mary E. Hyser, of near Taneytown; one brother, David McGuigan, of Gettysburg, Pa.; three sisters, Mrs. Margaret Angell, of York, Pa.; Mrs. Hannah Hess, of Carroll county, Md., and Mrs. Katie Griffen, of New York State.

Funeral services, conducted by Rev. Leslie K. Young, at the house, Sunday, at 9 A. M., with further services at Mt. Joy Lutheran church, at 10 o'clock.

MRS. MARY E. MCKELLIP.

Mrs. Mary E., wife of Mr. John McKellip, died at their home on Baltimore St., last Saturday afternoon, after having been in failing health for a long while, due to advanced age. She was bedfast only a few days, and suffered very little, death being due to natural causes and a general weakening of the system. She died as she had so long lived—peacefully and calm.

Mrs. McKellip has been identified with Taneytown for so many years, and was so well and favorably known as exemplifying a placid, well-spent life, that she will be greatly missed as a familiar figure. Mr. and Mrs. McKellip have, these many years, occupied a position in Taneytown, all their own in the highest respect in which they were always held, and the sympathy that will go out to the aged husband, will be not only general, but sincere.

She is survived by her husband, and one daughter, Mrs. Benton Brining. She would soon have been 87 years of age. Funeral services were held at the home, on Tuesday afternoon by her pastor, Rev. L. B. Hafer; interment in the Lutheran cemetery.

MR. WILLIAM J. REIFSNIDER.

Mr. William J. Reifsnider, of Union Bridge, formerly of Middleburg district, died very suddenly from a heart attack, Friday morning, Oct. 1, while out in the field helping to pull sweet corn on the farm of his son, LeRoy, near Middleburg. Although it was known that he had heart trouble, he was able to be more or less active, as he had been all his life, and his sudden death was quite unexpected.

He had lived the most of his life on the farm adjoining the one on which he died, and was quite successful as a farmer, retiring several years to purchase a home in Union Bridge, where he and his wife have since resided. He was a member of Mt. Union Lutheran church, where funeral services were held on Tuesday morning, by Revs. W. O. Ibach and B. E. Petrea, interment following in the Uniontown Lutheran cemetery. He was in his 69th year.

He is survived by his wife, and the following children: Mrs. William Riehl, of Baltimore; Mrs. George R. Sauble, of Taneytown; Mrs. Carl Johnson, of Middleburg district; Arthur L. and Jesse F. Reifsnider, of Baltimore, and Birnie L. and LeRoy R. Reifsnider, near Taneytown; also by one brother, Samuel Reifsnider, of Frederick, and two sisters, Mrs. U. A. Lough and Mrs. Willis Fisher, of Frederick.

MR. EDMUND F. SMITH.

Mr. Edmund F. Smith, one of the best known citizens of Taneytown, died suddenly from heart disease, in Dr. C. E. Roop's office, last Friday afternoon, Oct. 1, about 4 o'clock. He had been attending a director's meeting at the Taneytown Savings Bank, and was in a cheerful mood, but had expressed himself as not feeling well, and after the meeting went to the Dr.'s office for medicine, where an attack came on him suddenly, and death ensued in a short time. He had been suffering from heart attacks for several years, which had recently grown more frequent and severe.

He was a director of the Taneytown Savings Bank; President and director of the Taneytown Mutual Fire Insurance Co., and in many ways was active in local public affairs. He was a sale clerk of wide experience, for a number of years had served as tax collector, and in general was a man of intelligence and public spirit. Earlier in life he taught school in Frederick county for about 25 years; he was engaged in farming, near Bridgeport, on the farm on which his son, Joseph, now lives, and a few years ago bought the small farm adjoining town on the Uniontown road where his family now lives.

He was married twice. By the first marriage he leaves four children, Joseph, of this district; Charles, of Washington; Mrs. Marian Reuer, of Harrisburg, and Mrs. Lawrence Shoemaker, of Lemoyne, Pa.; and his widow and five children by his second marriage; Miss Julia, a nurse in Baltimore; and Lawrence, and Misses Rose, Edith and Margaret, at home. He was almost 65 years of age.

Funeral services were held on Monday morning in St. Joseph's Catholic church, of which he was prominent as a member, in charge of Father Quinn, his pastor; assisted by Msgr. B. J. Bradley, of Mt. St. Mary's; Father McGovern, of McSherrystown, and Fathers Hayden, Trageser and Long, of Emmitsburg.

In Sad but Loving Remembrance of our dear son,
HOWARD A. FROCK,
who died October 6, 1918.

Two years have passed,
Since we saw your dear face,
And heard your sweet voice
In our home circle place.

And we waited in tears,
In devotion and love,
Until we meet you with Jesus,
In Heaven above.

It was early in the morning,
Shall I ever forget the day,
When the cruel, silent reaper
Came and took my dear son away.

Two years among the angels,
Two years of well-earned rest;
Free from pain and sorrow,
Asleep on Jesus' breast.

By His Parents,
MR. AND MRS. JOHN FROCK.

In Loving Remembrance of my dear husband,
HOWARD A. FROCK,
who died 2 years ago, October 6, 1918.

My heart is sad and lonely,
Yet my grief too deep to tell;
But time will come to me so soon,
That I may with him dwell.

I did not want to part with him,
But God knew what was best;
Some day I hope to meet again,
In that sweet land of rest.

BY HIS LOVING WIFE.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

At a special meeting of the Board of Directors of the Taneytown Savings Bank of Taneytown, Maryland the following resolutions were adopted on account of the death of Edmund F. Smith who for years served faithfully as a director of the bank.

Resolved, That whereas it has pleased Almighty God in his infinite wisdom to remove from our presence our beloved friend and co-worker, Edmund F. Smith; we the Board of Directors of the Taneytown Savings Bank of Taneytown deeply regret his death and shall greatly miss him from our councils and be it further,

Resolved, That we record upon the minutes of the Board our appreciation of his sterling character, his attractive manner, his sound judgment, and the interest he has always manifested in the affairs of the bank, of which he has been a Director for many years, and be it further

Resolved, That in his death the community has lost a valuable citizen, and the members of this Board a cherished friend, and be it further

Resolved, That as a mark of deepest respect to his memory, a copy of this resolution, upon the minutes of this Board, a copy be published in the local paper, and a copy be sent to the family of the deceased.

Get Furnaces and Stoves Ready.

The time is here to get stoves in readiness. Set them up and be ready for the cold wet days. Empty the water out of hot water systems, and fill up with fresh water; fresh water will save coal—it heats easier, and is better for the furnace. Get the wood ready for the wood house. Throw away the rusty and dangerous stove pipe—some of it went bad this damp summer, without your thinking of it.

It is late to order stove repairs, but if you have not looked over your stove grates, fire pots, and other important parts, do it now. If you use fire-place heaters, haul them out and look them over—there may be rusted out pipes that will give you gas trouble, this winter.

Don't expect to haul out a stove and pipe and put it up in an hour, and find it all right. Stoves have a way of disappointing folks. And, among other important don'ts, don't put off making fire in your sitting room, too long, in order to save coal. Coal is cheaper than a doctor's bill, without counting sickness and lost time.

Improve Your Digestion.

If you have weak digestion eat sparingly of meats; let at least five hours elapse between meals; eat nothing between meals. Drink an abundance of water. Take one of Chamberlain's Tablets immediately after supper. Do this and you will improve your digestion.

For Chilly Fall Evenings

One of our Oil Heaters will keep you comfortable and you can save considerable on your fuel—no need to start your furnace until cold weather sets in. These handy and dependable oil stoves heat the room readily and even in mid-winter, can be used to heat up cold corners of the house, which the furnace heat does not reach. Prices $6.00 up.

Coal Buckets and Shovels

The man behind the coal shovel will be the one who will appreciate the way these buckets are made—they're made for service—to stand hard knocks—also they're balanced right. Our coal shovels too are made extra strong, some will last a life time, and our stock consists of all sizes from the big scoop to the little household article.

'Twas Said-

"Don't you think a writer ought to avoid as far as possible the use of long words?"

"Unquestionably," answered Mr. Penwiggie. "He is likely to waste too much valuable time in looking in the dictionary to see how to spell them."

We, too, believe in plain English and waste no time in using big words in our advertising. We tell you about our goods in simple words that all can understand—just the same as we would talk to you over our counters. Statue Had Many Models.
Six thousand eight hundred guineas for the Hope Athene is scarcely an excessive price for one of the most beautiful statues in the world.
If we may believe Socrates—and who dare doubt him?—no one model could have stood for it, for he told Parthianus that to produce a perfect figure the artist had recourse to many models, choosing some particular beauty from each.
Perfection in the human form was, in the view of the Greek sculptors, the rarest occurrence.—London Chronicle.

Bird Outruns Horse.
Anyone who has traveled through Western Texas becomes familiar with the mesquite tree, or, as it is sometimes grows, a shrub. In some places where it may grow to be thirty or forty feet high, it is commonly known as the chaparral, says the American Forestry Magazine of Washington. Here it is scrubby and masses into dense clumps, it being the home of that famous bird the "road-runner" or chaparral cock, and other interesting species. It is a form of big, ground cuckoo, that only takes to flight when hard pressed; while on open ground it can run so fast that an ordinary horse cannot keep up.

An Old Saying Comes True.
"The landlord has raised the rent to $125.00 a month," said the wife mournfully.
"Never mind," replied the husband, "we'll move. At last we have come to the point where it really is cheaper to move than pay rent."

The Best Reason.
"But," we persisted, "how can you admire Dickens, Hawthorne, Samuel Pepys and the rest of those famous old authors if you do not read them?"
"That is the reason," grimly replied Hostetter Smith.

A Timely Precaution.
"They sneer at a snail as a model for a good business man."
"Of course they do."
"But they can sneer at him no longer, for wherever he goes he carries his house with him on his head."

State W. C. T. U. Convention, held at Ocean City, Md.

In the early morning hours of Tuesday, Sept. 28, a large number of the friends and members of the Md. W. C. T. U., gathered at the W. B. & A. Station, Baltimore, and took the train for Annapolis. After an hour's ride, they reached the boat at Annapolis and were ferried across the Chesapeake to Claiborne. The trip across the Bay was most inspiring. Although the early morning was cloudy, the Sun soon put on her brightest smile and the waters answered back in sparkling glee. The delegates from Baltimore and various western shore counties renewed old acquaintances, made new friends and enjoyed the delightful association of people interested in the same great cause of service to home, to humanity and to our beloved country.

We were singularly honored on this occasion by having with us our esteemed National President, Miss Anna Adams Gordon, who had been one of the speakers at the 15th International Congress against alcoholism, in Washington, D. C., the previous week.

After reaching Claiborne, we took the train for Ocean City. Then a ride through level country and across numerous winding rivers brought the delegates, after it had been enlarged by the Eastern Shore delegation, taken on at various points along the line, to our destination. No more delightful spot could have been selected for a convention.

During our short stay we were privileged to view the glory of a sunrise; the silvery gleam of the moon and the awful grandeur of a storm from our hotel overlooking the beach. But even the grandeur and glory of the ocean did not keep the delegates from the convention, for at the appointed hour our State President, Mrs. Mary R. Haslup presiding, introduced to the convention, Miss Anna A. Gordon, National President, who gave a most inspiring address.

The burden of her heart was, "Sisters, Carry On." She touchingly pleaded with the sisterhood not to slacken their efforts for prohibition and righteousness at this crucial time, when every effort should be made to place that which has been so nobly won, on a solid basis and an impregnable foundation. At the close of the meeting an informal reception was held in the parlors of the Atlantic Hotel, where refreshments were served, impromptu speeches made and a most delightful evening spent.

Wednesday morning the convention proper opened with the President, Mrs. Mary R. Haslup, in the chair. The special feature of the day was the president's address, in which she said, "never were there more vital issues before the people for solution than this year. There is before the people an intensive program; a program which will demand both service and sacrifice." She exhorted the members as fellow-citizens to vote for men who were in sympathy with prohibition.

The evening meeting was addressed by Miss Rose Davison, of Ohio who spoke on Americanization, its requirements and great need of work among foreign-born people. The memorial and life membership meeting was held at noon Thursday by Mrs. Pauline Holme, Vice-President at large.

The climax of the convention was reached on Thursday evening when Dr. Daniel Poling, through a driving storm reached Ocean City. He was presented to a large audience in the parlors of the hotel. Dr. Poling treated his audience to one of his masterful addresses on prohibition. With his splendid physical powers; his clear, strong voice; his persuasive arguments this young man is concentrating his talents to the cause of personal, civic and political righteousness. The exercises were enlivened by a splendid male quartette, which also came through the storm from Salisbury.

Democratic Meeting in Westminster.

Congressman Carville D. Benson and Mrs. Gertrude B. Fuller, were the principal speakers at a Democratic mass-meeting in Westminster, Wednesday night. Mr. Benson argued for his own re-election, and submitted his record. He also defended the League of Nations, and asked for support for the national ticket. Mrs. Fuller also spoke for the League and ticket. Ex-Senator Warfield presided, and Col. E. O. Weant called the meeting to order.

CARROLL RECORD

Mother's Cook Book

The thing that goes the furthest toward making life worth while, That costs the least and does the most, Is just a pleasant smile. The smile that bubbles from the heart that loves its fellow men Will drive away the clouds of gloom and coax the sun again. It's full of worth and goodness too, with manly kindness blent— Its worth a million dollars and it doesn't cost a cent.

Seasonable Good Things.
When there are three or more ears of corn left from dinner use them as a luncheon or supper dish. Cut the corn from the cob; add a finely minced or shredded green pepper; put into a saucepan with a little butter or bacon fat, the pepper, and when cooked for five minutes add the corn and stir until well heated through. Serve hot.
Fresh green corn cut from the cob, seasoned and mixed with green pepper, than baked in a casserole is a most dainty dish which is served piping hot from the dish.

Banana Cream Ramekins.
This is a rather unusual hot dessert. Whip two cupfuls of cream, stiff, and beat five eggs without separating. Have ready one cupful of ripe bananas chopped fine. Stir fruit and cream carefully together without destroying the lightness of the cream; add the eggs with half a cupful of sugar; half fill individual ramekins which have been well buttered, and bake in a moderate oven until puffed and a delicate brown. Serve at once at it will soon fall as it cools.

Chicken a la Terrapin.
Melt three tablespoonfuls of butter; add a tablespoonful of flour; stir until blended; add one pint of finely-minced chicken and a cupful of cream. Let stand over hot water and when the mixture is heated add the yolks of three hard-cooked eggs put through a sieve and rubbed smooth with a little cream. Add the whites chopped fine and let the mixture come to the boiling point. Season and serve.

Grape Catsup.
Put five pounds of grapes through a vegetable press; add two and one-half pounds of brown sugar, two cupfuls of vinegar, two teaspoonfuls of salt, one tablespoonful of pepper, and the same of whole cinnamon, allspice, and whole cloves and two blades of mace. Boil until thick; remove the whole spice and bottle while hot.

Ham Toast.
Scald one-half cupful of cream; add the beaten yolk of one egg, stir until it thickens. Add one cupful of boiled ham chopped fine; when hot, season and serve on toast.

Chestnuts in Casserole.
Remove the shells from three cupfuls of chestnuts, put them into a casserole dish and cover with three cupfuls of highly-seasoned chicken stock. Cover and cook slowly for three hours in a slow oven, then thicken the stock with two tablespoonfuls of butter and one tablespoonful of flour cooked together. Send to the table in the casserole dish.

THE PUP.

He tore the curtains yesterday, And scratched the paper on the wall; Her rubbers, too, have gone astray, Ma says she left them in the hall. He tugged the table cloth and broke A fancy saucer and a cup; Though Bud and I think it a joke Ma scolds a lot about the pup.

The sofa pillows are a sight, The rugs are looking somewhat frayed

And there is ruin, left and right, That little Boston bull has made. He slept on Buddy's counterpane, Ma found him there when she woke up.

I think it needless to explain She scolds a lot about the pup.

And yet he comes and licks her hand And sometimes climbs into her lap And there, Bud lets me understand, He very often takes his nap. And Bud and I have learned to know She wouldn't give the fiasco up. She's really fond of him although She scolds a lot about the pup.

The Anniversary

By ELVA LORENCE

(Copyright.)

She was a true, lovin' woman, who had dreamed, as most of us do, of the fumbly little hands, the snugglin' little face, of our very own, and the crown of womanhood had been denied her. In the minute I stood there silent I understood, and my heart ached for her. Disappointment had changed the world, and the days and weeks of lonely brooding, while he was away, had changed her, too.

Droppin' down by the couch, I got my arms about her and did my best to comfort her.

"I know, missus," I whispered, when she had grown quiet. "But it's wrong to grieve. There's many worse troubles than yours. You have your husband—"

"My husband cares nothing for me!" she cried. "I am shut out of his life!" "You shut yourself out, dearie," I said gently. "I am sure of it. I'm only 'Omy Liz. No man will ever call me his wife now, but I think I can understand why you two have gone apart, and I'd like to see you happy together again. Little children come to bind affection closer, true enough, and where the blessing is denied the greater the call for lovin' kindness. That's where you've failed, dearie. Forgive me if I hurt you by my plain speakin', but it seems to me that you've lived with disappointment so long it's made you bitter. Why not meet him tonight with a smile on your face, an' say you're sorry? I know he would smile, too, and that his arms would hold you. You are together for better or worse for maybe many years. Why not always for better?"

"He has ceased to care!" she said bitterly. "He would turn from me with a laugh!"

"I think not, dearie," I said quietly. "I have seen the look in his eyes when you have left the room, and I know he, too, is wretched. Make it up to-day."

"Today!" she cried. "Today is the anniversary of our wedding day. For the first four years he marked it with a gift; he has forgotten it altogether now!"

"Oh, no!" I said, smiling confidently. "Meet him when he comes home tonight as I want you to, and see if he has forgotten. It seems such a pity you should be bad friends. Listen to me, dearie!"

And, very quietly, I told her about my last place.

She heard me through, and at the end lay back, with glistening tears in her eyes.

"Thank you, Lizzie!" she said. "That was all, but I jumped up, smilin', because I knew I had won her round."

"Now listen, ma'am," I said. "I've got a plan. He'll be home, as usual at seven for dinner. We'll have a special spread in honor of the day, and you shall be waitin' for him in your wedding dress!"

"My wedding dress!" she cried. "Oh, no, Liz! It's hopelessly old-fashioned; I should look like a fright!" "We'll see you don't," I said. "He is going to come into the room, and find his old sweetheart, and, just as sure, you will find him again!"

"You think so, Liz?" she cried, trembling. "Sure of it!" "Come and dig out the dress," she said.

And laughin' at our pleasant thoughts, we tripped upstairs.

The rest of the day, until the usual hour of his home-coming, passed like a dream. The difference in the missus you'd hardly credit. She seemed another woman altogether. Now that her mind was given up to it, nothing could go amiss. His favorite dishes must be cooked; there must be flowers on the table, his slippers must be in the fender; everything must be just as he liked it.

At six o'clock she went upstairs to dress. As I put on my best apron I heard her quietly singin'. When she called me to see how she looked I stood and smiled, because, for some reason I couldn't say a word.

The white silk dress fitted her perfectly; her eyes were shinin', the smilin' lips had given a new expression to her face.

She looked like a happy, blushin' bride.

"Shall I do, Lizzie?" she said, with a playful curtsy. "Oh, ma'am, you look beautiful!" I exclaimed.

"You think he'll know me?" she said.

"You'll see," I answered, laughin'. From behind my back I held out the spray of flowers I had got from the shop with the others downstairs.

"I want you to wear this, ma'am," I said. "Let me fasten it in your gown!" "A bunch of rosemary!" she cried.

"For remembrance, ma'am." "Thank you, Lizzie," she said quietly, pressin' my hand; an' smilin' happily, we went down the stairs.

"When you want dinner served you'll please ring, ma'am," I said, as I turned for the kitchen. "It's nearly seven. In ten minutes he'll be here!"

As the clock struck I stood with the kitchen door open, watchin' for the sound of his key in the lock. In the dining room I knew she, too, was listenin'. For five, ten, fifteen minutes we sat there, quietly waitin'. He did not come.

I stole along the hall, and, softly openin' the vestibule door, looked out along the road. There was no sign of him. Backward and forward from kitchen to door I went a dozen times, until the clock struck eight. And then I went slowly back, and sittin' by the kitchen table, sobbed like a kid. "The dinner was spoiled. All our little planning was wasted. He was not coming."

How long I sat there I couldn't say, but presently I looked up, and there was the missus' standin' in the doorway. Her face had gone white an' drawn again; the dull look came back into her eyes. She didn't cry. I think she couldn't.

"We've been a little foolish, Lizzie," she said, with a queer, harsh laugh. "You see, he has quite forgotten!"

For the life of me I couldn't find words to say to her.

"Poor, sentimental Liz!" she cried. "I'm afraid, after all, you don't know much of men."

And with that she turned and went back again.

Nine o'clock struck, and she still sat in the dining room, brooding and miserable. Ten came, and, with a heavy heart, I cleared away the meal. Eleven, and I heard no sound of her. When the half-hour chimed, I took my alarm clock, and, after windin' it, crept to the dining room to say good-night. Quietly I opened the door, and looked in, to find her stretched on the hearth rug, with one arm under her head, asleep.

Gently closing the door again, I stole back to the kitchen, and sat down to wait. A few minutes before twelve his key grated in the door, and at the sound I shot up, with my hand pressed to my breast. I heard him bolt the outer door. I stood there shakin' while he hung his coat an' hat on the stand and crossed to the dining room.

"Mary!" I caught his cry as the door shut behind him. Then—I am not ashamed to own it—I stole quietly along the hall and listened.

His shout must have aroused her, for I heard her whisper, as if dazed: "Ned!"

"Mary!" he cried; and I think he must have stooped to raise her up. "What on earth—"

And then he stopped, as if the meaning of her dress and the set-out table had come to him, and for quite a spell I heard no sound, until came the pitiful outburst of chokin' sobs she could no longer hold back.

"My poor girl!" he cried. "I did not think you cared any longer! You have been waiting for me all this time! I—what a blind fool I have been!"

"I wanted you to come—to tell you I'm sorry!" she said. "Ned, I am ashamed! Will you forgive—and let me be as we were—always?"

"Mary!" he cried. And I stole quietly upstairs to my room, smilin' an' dryin' the silly tears from my face.

GREATER POWER THAN WORDS

Great Preacher's Dramatic Action Stirred His Hearers as Nothing Else Could Have Done.

In one of the great Italian cathedrals a noted friar of the order of Saint Francis, then newly founded, was preaching. A great concourse of people filled the building, and twilight deepened the heavy shadows of the dimly lit and heavily arched chancel and nave. The friar preached almost in darkness.

His theme was "God's Love to Men and Their Response." With the passionate eloquence of the period, he pictured God's mighty act of creation, the wonder of his gift of life and the beauty of the earth. But more especially he dwelt upon the gift of the Only-Begotten Son—the matchless beauty of Christ's life among men—the glorious redemption offered in him to all who would repent and believe. The friar's earnestness deeply impressed the people, and a solemn stillness hung over the vast assembly. The darkness by this time had deepened still further, and the congregation could only just perceive the outline of the friar's dark-robed figure.

"Now," he continued, "let us consider how mankind has responded to the divine goodness and mercy." With these words he left the pulpit and passed slowly to the altar. From among its many candles he chose one and lighted it. This one gleam of pure light shone upon a great crucifix hung above the altar. Slowly and solemnly and without a word, in the breathless stillness of that vast throng, the friar raised the candle until it lit up first one wound, then another, in the feet, the hands, the side, and finally the sacred head of the Crucified.

There the light lingered a moment, and the hush deepened upon the awe-struck congregation. Then he blew out the light and sat down. The sermon was over. The stillness was broken only by the audible sobs.—Youth's Companion.

Words of Wise Men.

Kind words are the brightest of home flowers; they make a paradise of the humblest home.

Religion is not a thing of noise and spasm, but of silent self-sacrifice and quiet growth.

The best parts of human qualities are tenderness and delicacy of feeling in little matters and the desire to soothe and please others.

Whoever loses his patience loses more than his patience. He loses his hold on the very crisis that made him lose his patience. He loses the ability to think, and the balance of judgment which he ought to have at their best in order to face rightly the thing that has thrown him into confusion.

PAYING FOR WANTON WASTE

Settlers Have Lived to Regret the Ruthless Destruction of Their Black Walnut Trees.

Not many years ago the settlers of the middle West were girdling black walnut trees in order to kill them, the Rochester Democrat and Chronicle observes. They were too lazy to cut them down and took this method to destroy the life of the trees, so that they might plant corn and sow grain among the dead and leafless trees. In some localities mills were sawing the walnut logs into lumber for all purposes, even for boarding, floors and clapboards, inside finish and everything that could be made from it; and many a good walnut board has been split up for kindling.

Walnut was then cheap and plentiful. The settlers wanted to clear the land, and no one thought that the timber would become exhausted. Then the forests were full of grand old trees, any one of which would today pay the possessor the purchase price of many acres of land.

Today walnut is hard to find and the price is very high, as is illustrated by the fact that a Maryland farmer recently sold four old walnut stumps for $1,000—just such stumps as the farmers worked hard to pull and burn to get them out of the way.

Walnut is not alone in its scarcity, but the many purposes for which walnut could be used made it a wood of great value, and now efforts are being made to reforest the denuded lands with black walnut. It is safe to assume that those little trees will be watched with great care until they grow to merchantable size, and then others will be set to replace the cuttings. There will be no more ruthless destruction of the forests, whether it be walnut or any other variety of wood. The people have learned a lesson; a costly one, it is true, but one that will never be forgotten.

The demands for timber are such that all governments are now protecting the forests, and the time is not far distant when the owners of timber and timber lands will be the men to whom the people will take off their hats, and to whom they will even get down upon their knees, so to speak, for timber will be king.

Famous Meeting Places.

Periodical gatherings of men with a common object in view go back to ancient history, for man is gregarious, likes to meet with his fellows to air his own opinions and to become acquainted with the views of others. It was in England that such meetings were first designated by the name of "club" when wits, writers and actors met "good thoughts to exchange." Should you ever walk along Chancery Lane in London you will see between Friday street and Bread street the spot whereon once stood the famous Mermaid tavern, where Ben Jonson founded his club, numbering among its members such great lights as Shakespeare, Beaumont, and Fletcher. Brilliant must have been the flashes of wit that scintillated within those walls. There is also the famous Will's coffee house, a favorite resort of Dryden and other literary men of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries. When they began to sell "tea in the leaf and drink" in those rendezvous of refreshments, the Englishman must truly have come into his own, for who so devoted to that amber beverage as the sons of John Bull?

A Missed Opportunity.

A mayor of a small Indiana town was making a speech at one of the town school houses. Naturally he was telling of all the accomplishments of his administration. And always after he had told one he turned toward his wife who was in the audience and said, "My wife will bear me out in what I have just told."

Over and over he repeated his proof; over and over he repeated his rather long drawn out boasts despite his yawning audience. And finally at last he stopped. Then an irrepressible high-school youngster turned to his companion and said in a tone loud enough to be heard by the people in his vicinity, "Gee I'm so tired that I wish his wife had borne him out the first time he suggested it."

Modern Warfare.

Fresh troops were coming up to replace a regiment of color that had been unsuccessful in a recent attack. On the way in one of the debonaire arrivals undertook to extract a little information on the subject of said attack from a member of the retreating force.

"Hey! What's the matter with youse guys, anyway? Ain't your outfit got any punch?"

The discouraged one rolled a baleful eye in the direction of this unnecessary addition to his trials, and replied:

"You tell 'em, boy! You tell 'em! But we didn't get no support. That there artillery didn't give us no garage!"—Saturday Evening Post.

Immense Telescopes.

The largest refracting telescopes in the world are in the United States—at Yerkes observatory, Geneva Lake, Wis., at Lick Observatory, Mt. Hamilton, Cal., at the United States observatory, Washington, D. C., and at Harvard university. Two of the most perfect reflecting telescopes ever built are at Mt. Wilson observatory, Pasadena, Cal. The latter is moved by electric motors in right ascension and declination. An important feature in this instrument is the different focal lengths that can be obtained, ranging from 80,100 to 150 feet.

MOUNTAINS AFFECT BIRD LIFE

Andes Said to Be Responsible for Number of Species Found in South America.

The richness of South American bird-life is due to the presence of the Andes more than to any other one thing. It is the absence of great mountain chains in Africa, which accounts for the comparatively small numbers of species of birds in that continent. From base to summit, four distinct zones of life—tropical, sub-tropical, temperate and alpine—are found in the higher Andes, and each zone has species which are confined to it.

It is not only the height of the Andes which affects bird life. In places, for hundreds of miles, this gigantic range may appear as two or three chains, each not less than 10,000 or 11,000 feet in height, and these climatic walls are as impassable to the species living in the tropical or sub-tropical valleys they inclose as though they extended to the zenith. Isolation is, therefore, added to the factors of climate and sedentariness in the making of the species, and the three combined have produced a greater variety of bird life than is found in any area of similar extent in the world. The American museum of natural history inaugurated in 1911 a biological survey of the Andean region with particular reference to its bird life. As a result of the collections and field studies made, the museum is now in possession of large collections and data from the more northern part of the chain.

FAMOUS BELLS OF BOSTON

Not the Least in the Historic Old City Is the One That Was Cast by Paul Revere.

A bell which was cast by Paul Revere still hangs in the belfry of King's chapel, built when Boston was in its infancy. This bell was the one hundred and sixty-first cast by Revere. Besides being a bell caster Revere also was an engraver, a goldsmith and a dentist. Rising above the modest houses is the old North church, from which Revere received his signal previous to his famous midnight ride. Christ church, the second Episcopal church of Boston, is situated in the north end, and is an off-shoot of King's chapel. Its spire, designed and built in 1723, has served as a landmark to guide ships into the harbor. In 1804 this spire was blown down by a great gale, and was shortened by 16 feet. The chime of bells, now silent, which hangs in the tower, was made in 1774, in the foundry of Abel Ruddall, of Gloucester, England. Each bell has engraved upon it an inscription denoting its history. The bells, as was common belief in that time, were supposed to possess the power to dispel evil spirits.

Stage and Movie.

To me the joy of the theater is in the attention forced by a skillfully constructed play acted by players of conviction and artistic power. I have often watched an audience coming from a moving-picture theater, and rarely have I seen a look of more elation or spirit upon the faces of the crowd than would result from the perusal of a newspaper. Whereas, after an evening at an interesting play, the audience pours forth in animation; and even though the play may have been a tragedy, emotions have been stirred and minds stimulated until the reaction shows on every face. So long as the human relation is preserved between actor and audience, so long will the acted drama retain its supremacy in any community.—Otis Skinner in the North American Review.

The Wonder of Eggs.

One cannot find among the multitude of wonders in nature anything more marvelous than the development of an egg, writes Elsa G. Allen in the American Forestry Magazine. Whether it be a butterfly which flourishes for a day only to die after depositing its eggs, or a reptile which lazily leaves its eggs with only the warm sand to mother them, or a fish, like the salmon, which, with incredible strength, jumps the rapids to spawn in the upper reaches of rivers, or most appealing of all, a bird which builds a beautiful nest for its treasures, the egg in every case is structurally the same, and the miracle of life unfolds according to the same laws of cell division.

Reckoning Longitude.

Longitude in the United Kingdom and generally in the United States is reckoned from Greenwich, degrees being known as east longitude and west longitude from that point until they meet in the Pacific ocean at 180 degrees from Greenwich, the opposite zero point, Asia being in east longitude and the United States in west longitude. For the same reason the term Orient is applied to the East and Occident to the West. It may be said that Germany reckons longitude from Berlin, France from Paris and Spain from Madrid, while sometimes it is reckoned in this country from Washington, but, usually speaking, Greenwich is meant.

LESSON FOR OCTOBER 10

BAPTISM AND TEMPTATION OF JESUS.

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 3:1-11.
GOLDEN TEXT—This is my beloved
Son, in whom I am well pleased.—Matt.
3:17.

ADDITIONAL MATERIAL—Luke 3:1-14;
Heb. 2:18; 4:15.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Pleasing the Heavenly Father.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Baptism and Temptation of Jesus.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC
—Jesus Overcoming Temptation.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC
—Victory Over Appetite, Pride and Ambition.

1. The Baptism of Jesus (3:13-17).

While the forerunner was discharging his office, the King emerged from his seclusion at Nazareth and demanded baptism at John's hands. The incongruity of this with the purpose of baptism brought from John a protest, but Jesus' explanation was satisfactory, so John baptized him. Touching Christ's baptism, note:

1. Its significance. (1) Negatively. It did not mean his own obedience to the commandment of God, because his entire life had been lived entirely within the will of God. Not a moment in his entire life but what was lived entirely in accordance with the Father's will. (2) Not because he had sin, for he was absolutely sinless, harmless, undefiled, separate from sinners. This separation was so complete that even the devil could find no occasion against him (John 14:30).

(3) Positively. Its significance is found in harmony with the central purpose of his coming into the world, which was to secure for his people salvation through death, burial and resurrection.

2. Approval from the opened heavens (vv. 16, 17). Immediately following his consecration to his work, the heavens were opened and the Spirit came and abode upon him, followed by words of approval from the Father. These all were essential for the work upon which Christ now entered—revelation (heavens opened), inspiration (dove abode upon him), and approval (words from the Father).

II. The Temptation of Jesus (4:1-14).

This temptation was the opening battle of the dreadful conflict between Christ and Satan. In this struggle, note:

1. The combatants. (1) Jesus Christ, the Divine Man, now entering upon his mediatorial work. He went immediately from the place of anointing and heavenly recognition as the Son of God to meet the arch-enemy of the race. (2) The devil. He was a real person filled with cunning and malice.

2. The battle ground—the Wilderness of Judea. The first man was tempted in a garden with the most pleasant surroundings and failed; the second man was tempted in a bare wilderness and gloriously triumphed.

3. The method of attack. Since as our Redeemer Christ sustains a three-fold relationship, Son of Man, Son of God and as Messiah, each one was made a ground of attack. (1) As Son of Man. This was a test of the reality of his humanity to demonstrate as to whether the humanity which he obtained through the Virgin birth was real. The appeal was made to the instinct of hunger. Hunger is natural and sinless. Having been forty days and nights without food, as a normal man, Christ had a craving appetite. While the appetite was not sinful, to have satisfied it in a wrong way would have been sin. (2) Son of God. It was to test as to whether this personality which had taken upon itself humanity, was divine. The devil quoted from a Messianic Psalm to get him to presume upon God's care. God does care for his own, but to neglect common precaution—to do the uncalled for thing just to put God's promise to a test is to sin and fall. (3) As Messiah. Christ's mission as Messiah was to recover this world from the devil. Now the devil offers to surrender to him on the simple condition that he adopt his method, thus obviating the necessity of the cross. The kingdoms were really Christ's, and he knew that they would ultimately become his. The inducement was to get immediate possession without the sufferings of the cross.

4. The defense—the Word of God. Christ met the enemy each time and repulsed him with "It is written." Each time he quoted from Deuteronomy, the book which the higher critics would discredit as reliable.

5. The issue—the enemy is completely routed.

Guided by Religion.

A nation that is guided by its religion, that is firm in its ancient faith, that looks beyond material excitements, may well hope to survive. Mockery of religion, skepticism of faith and scorn of beliefs in what could not be proved have brought more than one nation to destruction. —Newark Evening News.

Good Nature.

Good nature is one of the richest fruits of true Christianity.—H. W. Beecher.

EARTH NOT ALONE

Many Universes Besides Our Own
in Space.

Recent Discoveries Have Greatly Expanded Mankind's Knowledge of Astronomy—Now We Know the "Sun Do Move."

The high priests of Babylonia and Egypt, 3000 years and more ago, had a considerable knowledge of astronomy; but, leaving out of question the few thus learned in science, creation to the ancients was a three-story affair, or rather two stories and a cellar, the latter being the abode of the dead, while on the second floor, ornamentally bespangled with stars, dwelt the gods.

Earth, of course, was flat. The sun passed across the heavens once in every 24 hours, and, going under, appeared again in the east next morning. There was also the moon, which had a similar habit; and that was about all there was of the cosmos.

Since then our ideas on the subject have vastly expanded, and now, in view of recent discoveries, they seem destined to expand enormously beyond anything hitherto imagined. We are beginning to grasp the notion of other universes outside of our own—at distances from our own universe well-nigh inconceivable.

Rev. Jasper declared that "the sun do move." He was right. Not only does it revolve on its own axis (as may be plainly seen by the "spots" which travel across its disc), but it is moving in a straight line through space, like a gigantic projectile, at a speed of at least ten miles a second. As it thus moves, the earth and its sister planets, of course, go with it.

Astronomers, in the course of centuries, have actually been able to observe this movement, by the closer gathering of stars in the sun's wake and the widening out of constellations ahead of us—just as might be noticed of trees and houses passed or approached in a railroad train.

All the stars are suns, most of them much bigger than our own solar luminary, and every one of them is traveling at a terrific speed. The so-called Runaway Star (known to astronomers as 1830 Groombridge) is going at a rate of 200 miles a second. What imaginable power could have set all these suns in motion? And why are they all traveling in different directions, apparently? Our own seeming destination is the constellation Lyra.

It is now thought probable that our universe, which we call the Milky Way (we seem to be not far from the center of it) is in reality a vast spiral in form, and that this spiral is revolving, so to speak, in its own plane. Assuming this to be true, the straight line in which our sun appears to travel is actually a curve.

What has led to this belief is observation of other spirals which are now thought to be distant universes, many of them so far away that light from them, traveling 186,000 miles a second, takes something like 10,000,000 years to reach us. Their form plainly shows that they are revolving. Everything in the cosmos seems to go round and round. The moon travels around the earth, the earth around the sun; and presumably the sun is following an orbit about some center, whether a giant sun or merely a point in space. Our universe (if the theory above outlined be accepted) is whirling. Probably, as it whirls, it is making a journey of its own about some center, perhaps in concert with other universes.

Space being infinite in extent, it is, when one comes to think of it, absurd for us to imagine that ours is the only universe.

We shall never know. But at least we may claim that our ideas on the subject of creation are expanding.—Kansas City Star.

Women War Workers in Waxworks.

London is collecting in photographs and wax figures a complete record of what women did to help win the war. For the present a part of the record is displayed in the Whitechapel art gallery. There is the woman ship painter, the tanner, the coke quencher, the stoker, the airship maker, the munition worker, the farmerette. There is a picture of a woman operating a 100-kilowatt electric engine, and of another driving an electric crane. Women are shown working in gas works, dressing bricks, spreading tar, sieving, gauging burner parts, testing meters, wheeling coke, carrying heavy sacks, and working in naphthalene factories, flour mills and sawmills.

Increase in Foreign Mails.

A comparison of United States mails dispatched to foreign countries by steamers for the first nine months of the last two fiscal years shows that 2,560,043 pounds of letters and postcards were dispatched in 1920 and 1,794,822 pounds in 1919, or 32.63 per cent increase. In 1920 there were 17,377,424 pounds of prints dispatched and 16,943,543 pounds in 1919, or 2.56 per cent increase. The dispatch of parcel post amounted to 26,453,543 pounds in 1920 and 12,883,722 pounds in 1919, or an increase of 105.25 per cent.

POULTRY FLOCKS

FOOD PRODUCTS FROM FOWLS

On Average Farm Poultry Furnish About 10 Per Cent of Meat for Family Use.

A large proportion of the poultry products of this country are produced on general farms. Nearly every farm has its poultry flock. The average American farmer reserves about three dozen eggs a week for family use and about 50 fowls are consumed by the family during the year. These food products can be secured absolutely fresh, which considerably enhances the value of this contribution from the farm, says the United States department of agriculture. Of the meat furnished by the farm to the operator and his family, poultry constitutes about 10 per cent.

A small flock of poultry can be kept on the farm at little cost. The fowls find scattered grain about the farmstead and on the adjoining grain fields after harvest. Garden refuse and kitchen waste are usually available for them. They also feed on insects and worms. In many cases the farmer's wife and children find pleasure in caring for the flock.

STEER OR SELL ALL ROOSTERS

Male Bird Does Not Aid in Production of Eggs and Should Be Disposed Of in Summer.

Farmers lose many millions of dollars annually from bad methods of producing and handling eggs. Much of this loss is preventable, because it is due to the partial hatching of fertile eggs, which have been allowed to become warm enough to begin to incubate.

You can help save the loss due to blood rings by keeping the male bird from your flock after the hatching season is over.

The rooster does not help the hens to lay. He merely fertilizes the germ of the egg. The fertile germ in hot weather quickly becomes a blood ring, which spoils the egg for food and market. Summer heat has the same effect on fertile eggs as the hen or incubator.

After the hatching season is over, cook, sell, or pen your rooster. Your hens not running with a male bird will produce infertile eggs—quality eggs that keep best and market best.—United States Department of Agriculture.

CLEAN CONDITION OF FLOCK

Boards Under Roosts Make It Easy to Remove Droppings Daily—Little Sand Helps.

To keep the flock in a clean and sanitary condition dropping boards should be provided and roosts above them. This makes it easy to remove the droppings each morning and helps greatly to keep the house free from objectionable odors. A little sand sprinkled on the dropping boards after each cleaning will make the cleaning easier.

HOMEMADE HOPPER IS HANDY

Joint of Stovepipe and Wooden Box Make Convenient Device for Feeding Dry Mash.

An easy way to make a hopper for feeding dry mash to poultry is with a joint of stovepipe and a wooden box, 10x10x4 inches. Set the box on the floor and hang the stovepipe from the roof so that it is about 1/2 inch from the bottom of the box. Fill the pipe with the dry mash. It will feed down into the box as the chickens eat it out.

Gather the eggs twice daily.

Market the eggs at least twice a week.

Keep the eggs in a cool, dry room or cellar.

As food there is nothing better to supply protein and mineral matter than eggs.

Trees with good-sized tops and out in the open so that air may circulate freely about them, are a tired hen's idea of paradise. Fix up some open sheds if you cannot have trees.

RIDDING HOUSES OF VERMIN

Outline of Method Recommended by Poultry Specialists of Department of Agriculture.

The following method of ridding hen houses of mites and lice, when the weather conditions are such as to permit of the birds being kept outside the house for five or six hours, is recommended by poultry specialists in the United States department of agriculture.

Close all the doors and windows and see that there are no cracks or any other openings to admit air. Set an iron vessel on gravel or sand near the center of the house. Place in the vessel a handful of shavings or straw saturated with kerosene and on these sprinkle sulphur at the rate of about one pound to every 90 or 100 square feet of floor space. Instead of using the shavings and kerosene, the sulphur may be saturated with wood alcohol.

When everything else is in readiness, light the material and hastily leave the house. In case any anxiety is felt about fire, a glance through a window will show whether everything is all right. There is very little danger of fire when proper precautions have been taken to have plenty of soil beneath the vessel. After three or four hours, throw all the doors and the windows wide open to drive out the sulphur fumes thoroughly. Then let the fowls in one by one. As each enters, catch it and dust it well with insect powder, which will destroy the lice on the birds. Tobacco dust is also good to use instead of insect powder.

The birds and house have now been freed from vermin for the present, but the eggs of the insects have not been destroyed, and in a week another swarm will be hatched out. Therefore it will be necessary to repeat the operation once or twice before the pests are exterminated. After this care should be used to see that no strange fowl is admitted to the house or yard without having been thoroughly rid of lice, for one lousy hen will contaminate all the rest.

GIVE GROWING CHICKS MILK

Where Supply Can Be Obtained It Should Be Kept Before Them in Open Dish or Pan.

Nothing is better for growing chicks than a liberal supply of sour milk. If it can be obtained it always should be kept before them in an open dish or pan where they can eat and drink it freely. Where sour milk is fed, the amount of beef scrap in the dry mash may be reduced one-half.

Plenty of fresh, clean water is absolutely necessary for all growing chicks. In hot weather it should be given twice daily and put into fountains or dishes and placed in the shade so as to keep as cool as possible. Clean the water dish thoroughly each day before filling.

SURPLUS FOWLS PROFITABLE

Males and Females That Have Outgrown Their Usefulness Provide Additional Income.

Most farmers find the profit in the commercial part of the poultry business in market eggs, but the surplus males and the females that have outgrown their usefulness provide an additional income which is worth while.

GEESSE MAKE GOOD FORAGERS

Fowls Pick Up Large Portion of Their Ration if Allowed Free Range on Farm.

All geese are good foragers and even when young will pick up a large part of their ration if allowed free range on the farm. They eat grass and fresh vegetable growths of all kinds, as well as bugs and worms.

Bunk!

"The farmer is the backbone of the nation," says one great political party; "he's the bone and sinew of the country," says the other. True, but how does that help the farmer? asks Dean Davenport, in next week's issue of

The COUNTRY GENTLEMAN

"The crux (a good word) of the present agricultural condition lies in prices, labor and credit," reads one party platform. Very good, Mr. Politician, so we understand, but what is your constructive program for bettering this condition? . . . No answer!

In his smashing article Dean Davenport describes some of the vital agricultural issues facing the country today. How do our candidates plan to supply the farmer with adequate help; assist him in getting machinery and equipment; insure him good roads, accessible markets and a fair profit; help him drain, fertilize, irrigate, harvest; enable him to borrow on reasonable terms for reasonable security; encourage farm-bred children to stay on the farm? Their platforms are silent; but it's up to the farmer to find out before he casts his vote! This important article is just illustrative of the intimately helpful service that is offered week by week in THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN. Milkoline At 2c a Gallon

Milkoline has a base of pasteurized and sterilized, modified Buttermilk. It is guaranteed not to contain any sulphuric acid or anything of an injurious nature to hogs or poultry.

Aids Digestion: Thousands of successful hog raisers from New York to California during the past seven years have proved that Milkoline helps and assists digestion, tends to insure perfect assimilation of feed. It helps tone up the system so that hogs are less subject to disease, and practically insures gains of 2 1/2 pounds per head per day.

University Tested: Professor W. H. Graham, while Asst. Prof. of Dairy Husbandry at Missouri University conducted a scientific test on Milkoline and found that Milkoline fed hogs put on more weight and showed 22.5% more profit than hogs not fed Milkoline. W. H. Graham a successful feeder of Middletown, Mo., said $30 worth of Milkoline made him an extra profit of $420. Lee Jackson of Wappingers Falls, N. Y., says Milkoline fixed up a bunch of shoats in fine style and is great for brood sows.

Can't Spoil: Milkoline is guaranteed not to rot, sour or mold. It will keep indefinitely in any climate. Flies do not come near it. It is always uniform, and is guaranteed to make you money or it doesn't cost you anything.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Routsom, who had been living at Akron, O., returned to this vicinity several weeks ago, and will make their future home here.

Postmaster Wm. E. Burke, of Taneytown, has been appointed a member of the Executive Committee of the Postmasters' Association of the United States.

A meeting of the guarantors of the Swarthmore Chautauqua course, will be held at the Birnie Trust Co., on Oct. 15, at 7:30 P. M. All are requested to attend.

All members of the P. O. S. of A. are requested to assemble at the Lodge Hall, Tuesday evening, at 5 o'clock, for the purpose of attending the demonstration of the Order in Westminster.

The Taneytown Chautauqua will be held Saturday, Nov. 20, and Monday and Tuesday, Nov. 22 and 23, instead of on the 22nd to 24th, as announced in last issue. See advertising announcements in this, and succeeding issues.

Dr. and Mrs. F. H. Seiss visited Taneytown, last Saturday and Sunday. Mrs. Seiss staying several days this week. Both are well satisfied in Washington. Miss Amanda Staley, their former housekeeper, spent several days with them.

Mr. and Mrs. William Albaugh, of Walkersville, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Warrenfeltz, Misses Belva and Helen Warrenfeltz and Marion William Warrenfeltz, of near Frederick, spent Sunday with Mrs. Cornelius Stover and daughter, Mrs. John Koontz.

There are numerous complaints, in town, of the stealing of apples and grapes. We do not know the offenders, but do know that it is a pretty low down business, whether engaged in by men or boys, and a few examples should be made, if possible.

The Record contains an unusual number of local deaths, this issue. News that we always regret to write up, and always feel that those who have passed on have been given too scant notice; and yet, it is the life that lives afterwards, and not obituary notices.

The result of the registration in Taneytown, on Tuesday, was as follows: 1st. precinct: Republicans, men 7, women 28; Democrats, men 2, women 17; Declined 1, total 53. 2nd. precinct, Republicans, men 4, women 29; Democrats, men 2, women 15; declined 1. Total 51.

Emmitsburg street is pretty well torn up, preparatory to laying concrete. Taking out the old crossings, and the old stone road bed, is a slow and hard job. As the State's contract, 16 ft. of concrete, is to be laid first, it is probable that by using the alleys and sides of the street, travel will not be greatly interfered with.

The Governor has designated this Saturday, Oct. 9, as "Fire-Prevention Day" when towns are supposed to have public meetings and discuss fire-prevention measures. The announcement was not made early enough to arrange for such a meeting; but, why not have one in Taneytown later this month? The Record will do all it can to bring about such a meeting, but, it must have helpers. See article on first page. How many will call at our office and talk the matter over?

A horse driven by Mrs. Howard Hyser scared at the train, on Monday, on Baltimore St., turned short around and upset the buggy, throwing Mrs. Hyser out. Fortunately, she was not greatly hurt.

Letter from Philadelphia.

(For the Record.)

You will find enclosed $2.00 for the Record. We could not do without it, and I am sure if all your subscribers, lived away from Taneytown, you would have no trouble in getting twice the amount for subscriptions you are now asking.

Many large factories in this city are laying off men by the hundred. Some have closed entirely. They say, until after the election. Am glad to say, the Baldwin Locomotive Plant, where I am employed, is booming, and at this time has a pay roll of 33,000 men. The actual cost of one engine is $95,000. At this present time they are making engines for Egypt, China and in fact for all over the world. It is indeed a wonderful plant, and almost a small city of its own. You hear politics wherever you go, just now. Everybody here is sure of Mr. Harding for our next President.

Coming Eclipses and Doings of the Planets.

October and November are eclipse months. Eclipses occur at intervals of about six months. In May there was an eclipse of the moon, the one which occurred under such favorable conditions that it was widely observed, and one of the sun not visible here. Now, six months later, we may expect other eclipses. The interval is not exactly six months, but 173 days. Twice this interval, or 346 days, is called an eclipse year. Since this is less than a year, the eclipse seasons gradually occur earlier each year.

The first eclipse to occur is total eclipse of the moon, which occurs on October 27. The middle of the eclipse is at 9:11 A. M. The moon has then set here, so that we shall not see it. The beginning of the eclipse can be seen in the western part of North America and the Pacific ocean, Australia and the eastern part of Asia and the Indian ocean. The end can be seen in the western part of the Pacific ocean, Australia, Asia, the Indian ocean and eastern Europe and Africa.

This eclipse is followed by a partial eclipse of the sun on November 10, which will be visible here.

Mercury may be seen low in the southwest in the evening twilight for a few evenings about October 24. Venus also is visible low in the southwest in the evening twilight, but not necessarily near any particular date. It will be further from the sun toward the close of the month. About October 24 Venus and Mercury will not be far apart, and both planets may be seen at once. As both are far south, they are not seen under favorable conditions in the northern hemisphere. Mars moves through Scorpio and Ophiuchus into Sagittarius. It, too, is low in the southwest. Jupiter and Saturn are visible just before sunrise in the east. Uranus in Aquarius is in good position, but it is not visible to the naked eye.

The eclipsing variable star Algol, or Beta Perse, will be at the middle of its eclipses October 7, 6:20 A. M.; October 24, 11:15; October 27, 8, and October 30, 4:50. A comparison of the star's brightness at or near these times with the brightness on other nights shows that the brightness is diminished by more than a whole magnitude.

Another Senatorial Candidate.

George Iverson, Jr., a Democratic member of the House of Delegates, has filed with Secretary of State Perlman, petitions for the publication of his name on the official ballot as a candidate for the U. S. Senate. Mr. Iverson says he is the candidate of the "Peoples" party, which has a regular platform of principles, one of the chief of which is the repeal of the Volstead act.

This Saturday, the 9th., and next Tuesday, the 12th., are the last days for Registration, this year.

WILL THE WOMEN DISAPPOINT?

Woman's Suffrage and Prohibition are often thought of in the same connection and the friends of the old saloon interests have often remarked that if the women got to vote there would be no hope for the liquor business. If you do not want to disappoint them you will have to be registered before Election Day. There are two days left—Saturday, October 9th, and Tuesday, October 12th., and if you want to be a loyal, well-rounded citizen, it will be your duty both to register now and to vote in November.

It isn't a question of whether you wanted the ballot—that has been decided for you—but if you do not vote you will be leaving it with others perhaps less capable to decide these important things for you. The "wets" are trying to elect Congressmen favoring the sale of beer and light wines and you have an opportunity to help defeat this aim. Try and do not disappoint the friends of "booze" for they expect you to defeat their candidates.

DODGE PRICES WILL REMAIN Have Always Given Full Value for the Price Asked.

Official confirmation press dispatches from Detroit announcing that there will be no reduction in the prices of Dodge Brothers Motor Cars, has been received by H. H. Harbaugh, the Dodge Brothers dealer in Carroll Co. A telegram from C. W. Matheson, acting sales manager to the local dealer, reads:

"Dodge Brothers policy has ever been to give full value for the price asked. There will be no reduction in the present prices of Dodge Brothers motor cars. Newspaper reports to the contrary are absolutely untrue."

"Dodge Brothers announcement was no surprise to us," said H. H. Harbaugh "in fact it is only a substantiation of Dodge Brothers business principles. At no time have they demanded an excess price for their product. As in the past they will continue in the future to demand a fair return for their efforts."

"The mere fact that the demand for Dodge Brothers motor cars is still greater than the supply, despite the great expansion program at the factory, has absolutely nothing to do with the decision to continue the present prices. In marketing their car, Dodge Brothers have never made a point of price and will never sacrifice the quality of their product to enter price competition."
