PRESIDENT HARDING INAUGURATED

His Pledges Received With Great Popular Favor.

President Harding was inaugurated, as he desired, with great simplicity, not so much as a mere saving of expense as an object lesson to the people of the country to cut out unnecessary display and excitement, and get down to sober business; and it is probable that the popularity of this plan—the dignity and sensible-ness of it—will be an example hard to get away from, on succeeding like

Escorted by the cavalry troops, the members of the party arrived at the White House within five minutes and immediately passed into the mansion, where they remained for half an hour. Leaning on his cane, Mr. Wilson came out with Mr. Harding and was assisted into the automobile by Secret Service men. Mr. Harding then took his seat to the President's left. The other members of the party re-entered their motors, Mrs. Wilson riding with Mrs. Harding.

The crowds banked along the side-walks cheered as the presidential party passed down Pennsylvania ave-The trip to the Capitol consumed just 15 minutes. Mr. Harding went directly to the President's room, off the Senate chamber, where he was joined later by Mr. and Mrs. Wilson. Other guests there included members of the Wilson Cabinet, General Pershing and Major General March, chief of staff, and members of the congressional committee.

Ten minutes before noon Mr. Wilson made known his decision not to attend the inaugural ceremonies and left for his new home.

A few minutes past noon Mr. Coolidge was escorted into the Senate by the Joint Congressional Committee. He took a seat on the rostrum to the right of Vice-President Marshall, at whose left sat Speaker Gillett of the House of Representatives. There was a pause while the Congressional Committee returned to the President's room to escort Mr. Harding into the Senate Chamber. The President-elect was vigorously applauded as he walked with Senator Knox to his seat in the front row im-mediately in front of the rostrum.

The inauguration of Mr. Coolidge followed, the oath being administered by Mr. Marshall at 12:21 o'clock. The new Vice-President gave a distinct The retiring Vice-President was frequently interrupted by ap-

The inaugural address lasted thirty-six minutes was well delivered and well received, and it is estimated that 50,000 people were assembled to view

In a day that was full of history, despite its organized simplicity, there was another outstanding note. It came in the middle of President Harding's prepared address. To the left of the flag and flower-decked white dais where he stood there were grouped in a place of special vantage, a hundred or more wounded service men from Walter Reed 'Hospital. were minus a leg or an arm left in the Argonne. Others were in the wheel chairs that will hold them for the rest of their lives. Turning to them and away from the manuscript from which he was reading, Mr. Harding said:

"To you men stricken in the service of our common country I have this message—a grateful republic will not forget the sacrifices you made. For myself, I pledge you a government and a policy that will see no maimed successors of you on the next occasion of this sort."

No warmer applause greeted any of land. the President's set passages than was accorded that evident promise of four years of peace—peace with honor—for Mr. Harding's address later on struck an unmistakable note of readiness to unleash the dogs of war in defense of American rights if assailed from without. The inaugural speech contained no surprises for those who were familiar with President Harding's campaign utterances and subsequent pronouncements. He held out no scintilla of hope that the "Versailles League of Nations" will command the support of his administration. Whenever he suggested his resolute purpose to enter into no "entangling" arrangements with the outside world, the Capital plaza echoed and re-echoed with cheers and handclapping.

Yes-but it's a "Failure."

Persons disposed to think prohibition is a failure because so many men are able to get booze despite the law, might with profit read the last annual report of the State Board of Charities of the State of New York.

There were 2,500 less children in the institutions in 1920 than in 1919. There was a decided decrease in cases of juvenile delinquency. Some institutions for such delinquents have had to close parts of their establishments because of lessened population. The report ascribes the pronounced change to two major causes: 1, favorable industrial conditions; and, 2, better home conditions, due to prohibi-

PRESENT DAY MERCHANDISING New Problems in Business That need

Closer Attention.

We clip from an article under the above topic, the following paragraphs perhaps of more interest to the seller than the buyer; but we believe that, so far as our county towns are con-cerned, the interests of buyer and seller are really very closely associated, and not antagonistic, and that it is not always the merchant's fault that people "go away" to buy. A little more friendly confidence and cooperation, would pay both.

Present-day merchandising is quite a different problem to what it was 20 or even 10 years ago. First, competition is no longer local. As a fact, local co-operation to offset outside attack is almost a necessity. Good roads, which have meant so much to trade development have put the farmer in closer touch with the nearest big town, and the development of the automobile has helped The result is many farmers ride through the towns nearest their farms to the larger towns 15, 20 and even 50 miles away and there do their

The merchant not only must meet this competition, but he must meet even a more serious competition from outside. The automobile, the fast express train, the parcel post and the printed catalogue are all lined up against the "crossroads" merchant, and unless he senses these facts and actually moves to combat them his business is bound to remain a handto-mouth existence. His success clearly is in danger unless he adopts better methods in buying, better display of goods, better selling advertising, better salesmanship and improves, his keeping of business rec-

After all, a town is simply a collection of people. They will remain together as long as life together is more agreeable and more profitable than it is elsewhere and no longer.

Half of the small town activities consist of trading. The other half comprises churches, schools, recreation, legal affairs, outdoor sports, health and so on. This being so, the merchants hold in their hands the key to the situation. If 50% of the town activities—trading—be up to standard, the rest of the activities will take care of themselves.

All merchants have not been alert to keep pace with the growing de-mands of the farmer. Many of them have conducted their stores for years and have not noticed the change; they have missed the chances for new business. The luxuries of the farmer 10 years ago are his necessities today and he has more money to spend than he had 10 years ago. Moreover, the farmer is a wider reader and this has created in him new wants. Having guration of the President took place on the east portico of the Capitol. the desire and the money to buy, he is going to get what he wants, and if he cannot get it in the town nearest home, he will go farther away.

> It is useless to try to check advance. The building of good roads cannot be stopped; if you stand in front of the automobile, it will run you down. The farmer will drive through your town unless your store is sufficiently attractive to arrest his

> Because farmers buy certain goods in local stores is not proof that what they buy is really what they want. They buy frequently because they have no option. One-half the smalltown merchants could do no better work than spend a week visiting among the farmers, not to sell goods, but to get into a friendly relationthey live, what they buy and how their ideas run.

Dr. Garland in Europe.

The Editor of the Record has received a communication from Rev. D. F. Garland D. D., mailed in Switzer-Dr Garland recently resigned as Director of Public Welfare of the city of Dayton, and is now making a study of the League and Treaty. He has spent a week in Paris, a week in Monte Carlo, and next goes to Zurick, Berlin and Brussels, and will visit London on the return end.

He says "The League is a going concern, but politics and greed may wreck it. Both League and Treaty must be revised. Europe is in a tangle, but will come back in time. They need us." Dr. Garland was in Europe prior to the war, making a study welfare conditions in European cities. He is a keen observer, and is apt to return with a close up and clear view of things generally across the big pond. He would make a good replica of Col. House for the present administration.

"A Big Fight Coming."

A number of comments on our recent short editorial, appears in this issue on editorial page. The subject is one for serious thought, and calls for the exercise of the courage of our conscientious conviction, as well as a clear view of our responsibilities as good citizens.

The U. S. cows recently imported into Germany, are said to be having a hard time to learn the language, and consequently are not doing their best; and as milk is very scarce over there, no time is available for the cows to go to school. Why didn't they send Bucks county cows over, instead of Western ones?

WOMEN'S OPPORTUNITY

Women, as voters, have a fine opportunity to be of great benefit to the country, by keeping away from being tied up to blind partisan-

We do not believe much in the "independent" voter who claims not to be a member of any party; but believe a great deal in the "independent" voters within the two old parties.

Women should not so much "stick to the party," as stick to what their very best judgment dictates, by voting for those best qualified to fill public offices; and the time to begin being this sort of political force, is from the beginning.

Men who care more for "party" victory, than for the best possible government, have brought politics into disrepute. Women should clean-up politics, as they "clean-up" their homes—as a conscientious duty, and for the sake of decency and health.

NEW LIQUOR RULINGS

Washington, March 9 .- Beer and wines are given the same status as whisky under an opinion by the at-torney general made public today by the Bureau of Internal Revenue.

Made Legal.

The ruling, one of the most important since the advent of national prohibition, makes it possible for all alcoholic liquors to be used for medicinal and other non-beverage purposes, and for all to be manufactured and sold for those purposes subject only to the limitations of the Volstead act on non-beverage intoxi-

The opinion was written by former Attorney General Palmer the day before he retired from office, and was in reply to a series of questions from internal revenue and prohibition officials bearing on construction of half a dozen moot points in the law.

The opinion appeared ambiguous in some respects, officials said, and as a result they were unable to determine whether the govrnment had power,in the light of the ruling, to limit the number of prescriptions which a physician may write except that the law specifies no more than a pint per person in a ten-day period. Mr. Pal-mer declared he believed it the pur-pose of Congress to leave the physician "unfettered by government control," yet he thought that regulations might properly restrict the amount to be sold on any one prescription.

Mr. Palmer called attention to provisions of the law which apparently had left the physician to act on his judgment. He suggested then that when a physician abused the privilege he could be dealt with criminally but added that in no case should the judgment of the physician be sup-panted by that of enforcement offi-cials, a situation he believed would result from regulations attempting to control the use of prescription.

Death of Mr. Edw. E. Reindollar.

Mr. Edw. E. Reindollar died at his temporary winter home, Belmont Inn, North Charles St., Baltimore, early Thursday morning, from acute indigestion, after a short illness, aged 68

He is survived by his wife, by second marriage, and by two sons and four daughters: Eugene and David Reindollar, of Baltimore; Mrs. Eliza-beth S. Roop and Miss Clara Reindollar, of Taneytown; Mrs. C. Edgar Yount, of Tampa, Florida, and Mrs.

Josephine Thomas, of Baltimore. Mr. Reindollar was the only son of the late David Reindollar, and had been actively identified with Taney town and its various business interests all of his life. Years ago he was engaged in general merchandising at the old "Reindollar store" stand, but more recently his business activities have been confined to The Reindollar Co., and The Birnie Trust Co., acting as President of both. He was also director of The Carroll County Mutual Insurance Co., and of The Car-

Mr. Reindollar was a man of wide experience in business and public affairs generally, and while always greatly interested in politics, was never elected to public office. He was candidate on the Republican ticket for House of Delegates in 1903, and for Senator in 1907, being defeated in both cases, the last time by only 71 votes. He served several times on the Board of Town Commissioners, and during the years of his life in many local capacities, always being greatly interested in the progress of his home town and community.

As a citizen and business man he will be greatly missed in Taneytown. He was very widely and favorably known, had traveled extensively throughout the country, and especially in financial affairs was considered to be very well posted, and a sound

> Washington, March 4.-When gavels announcing adjournment of the Sixty-sixth Congress fell in the Senate and House at noon today 128 members of the two bodies were retired to private life. Senator Hoke Smith, of Georgia; Senator Marcus A. Smith, of Arizona, and Senator Smith, of Maryland, were all bowled over at the last election.

The fortunes of politics also retired today Representatives Coady. Benson and Andrews, of Maryland. It was a 50 per-cent. sweep in a delegation of six, an unusual hard-luck percentage.

The actual number of House members quitting was 118, but three of these—McKinley of Illinois; Harreld, of Oklahoma, and Caraway, of Arkansas—came to the other end of the Capitol as Senators. Mr. Caraway is a Democrat; Messrs. McKinley and Harreld are Republicans. The new Senate contains 59 Republicans and 37 Democrats, almost a top-heavy Republican majority.

Warning to Auto Drivers.

Automobile users should recognize the fact that the new State police will give many of them trouble, unless they take care to obey the laws relating to motor travel. These men are regularly commissioned officials, who can be depended on to turn into the State as much revenue from their districts as possible, which will be taken as evidence showing the need for such a force, and that the State laws are being violated.

This does not mean that the new police will be over zealous for fines, when none should be imposed; but it does mean that the speed laws are so commonly violated, and so much carelessness manifested as to licenses etc., that arrests and fines will follow, pretty numerously, unless a halt is nade in customary practices.

It will be very wise, therefore, for those who are not well acquainted with the motor vehicle laws, to acquaint themselves with them, rather than have the experience of becoming acquainted, after a visit to the mag-

Cement Plant Reopened.

The Tidewater Portland Cement Plant, Union Bridge, which reduced to part time December 6 last, and which has been completely closed for the past month, resumed operation on Monday with about 200 men. By another week the plant is expected to be in full day and night operation with 333 employes. G. S. LeForge, superintendent, stated that a demand is developing for the products of the plant and that all departments are expected to be in operation by the middle of the week.

A general cut of about 20 per-cent. has been made in the wages of employes. In some departments the wage cut has been considerably less, while in others the reduction will be slightly more, the new scale showing an average cut of about 20 per-cent. During the war period, wages were increased until employes averaged from $4 to $8 per day. Under the new scale the same men will make from $3 to $5 per day.

MINISTER SCORES GAMBLING. Says Things Morally are in an Awful Mess Today.

Rev. Dr. H. P. Abbott of Grace P. E. Church, Baltimore, preached a sermon on "gambling" last Sunday, taking as his text Prov. XXVII 20. "He that maketh haste to be rich shall not be innocent." He said in part:
"I believe that gambling is widespread among men and women today and that it is high time for the minister of Christ to point out to the pest of his ability, the evil inherent in this nefarious practice. Gambling is, in itself, utterly bad. Even the habitual gambler will not presume to defend gambling. He may seek to excuse it a dozen different ways, but he will not say 'it is a good thing to

"How may we define gambling? Gambling, as I see it, is the risking of a certain som of money on the chance of winning another sum, and presumably a larger sum of money. This is the essence of gambling—the staking of any sum on chance. The amount of the stake, be it five cents or five hundred dollars, does not touch the matter, nor affect the principle at Some people say: 'What harm can there be in playing a game of chance for small stakes? You only risk what you can afford to lose. is not fair to call that gambling. must confess that such reasoning is altogether beyond me. The question of degree or proportion does not enter in—it is a gustion of principle. "Now, where does the sin of gambling come in? Why should we not risk our money if we choose to do so, and take the consequences? Here are some reasons: (1) It is dealing with trust funds in an improper way. Your money is not your own, out and out. You may not do just as you like with it. It comes to you from God. You hold it by His favor and in trust for Him. You are a steward; your property belongs to God. "Gambling begets and keeps alive in its victims a love of gain: To win sums of money, large or small without toil or trouble, in a short time degenerates into a dangerous passion for winning. You have only to think of the numberless crimes committed every day in the year for the sake of gain, or plunder, to see this love of money extended to the uttermost ex-

"Bound up in this fact, there is the terrible fascination of gambling. People are drawn on gradually to results which they never dreamed of in the beginning. "Gambling is demoralizing because it destroys the sense of independence. Men should earn all they possess. There are such things as legacies and gifts, but these things come to us by the good will of the giver. Money

GERMANY INVADED BY ALLIED FORCES.

Regarded as Critical.

The French, English and Belgian forces have invaded Germany with the evident intention of securing a position aimed at forcibly securing payment of a greater amount of war indemnity than Germany is willingor perhaps able-to pay. There has been no armed resistance; in fact, there does not seem to be any great possibility of their being any, or if there is, it is apparently not formidably in evidence.

American forces are not participating in the attack, and are hardly likely to do so. Business interests in Germany seem to be of the opinion that the invasion will amount to nothing, and that sooner or later peaceful negotiations will again soon be resumed. The German citizenry are apparently not greatly alarmed over the appearance of the allied troops, but are pursuing their occupations without much concern or interruption, while German sentiment as expressed in the newspapers, is that the allies have broken their agreement.

Motor-Truck Damage to Roads.

Repair bills for damaged roads would be much reduced, engineers in the Bureau of Public Roads report, after extensive experimental work, if motor trucks were designed to carry more of the loads put on them over the front axle and less over the rear wheels, as at present. In the average heavy truck of today the body is nearly balanced on the rear axle. When the truck strikes an obstacle or an irregularity in the highway, the damage done to the road surface by the rear wheels is much greater than it would be if the load were distributed on both axles.

Given a perfectly smooth road surface, traveled by a truck with perfectly smooth circular tires, there would be no impact, regardless of the speed or weight of load. Since such an ideal condition is practically impossible, road engineers recognize that all factors which increase or reduce the impact of a load are of the utmost importance in planning high-way construction and regulation. The placing of the larger part of the load on the rear axles is only one of several factors which lead to high impact forces. In general, the increased speed of the truck will increase the impact, hence the necessity for keeping the operating speed within reasonable limits. Roads kept as smooth as possible by careful maintenance will reduce the possibility of trucks exerting impact and pressure forces upon the highway surface. Cushion or pneumatic tires also reduce impact and cause less damage to the highways than those of hard rubber, especially if the latter are not kept in good repair.

Good Sales for Farm Personal.

The annual Spring sales, now of daily occurrence, are returning better prices than were expected, but of course not the extravagant prices of a year and two years ago. There is, however, a great deal of variation in prices, hardly explainable. Some sales are much better than others, apparently for the same grade of articles; but, taken as a whole, the prices are fair.

Each year, the large number of sales in Carroll, Frederick and Adams counties, is a matter of wonderment for other sections; but somehow there are always buyers for the items, and for every quitter there is a beginner, so that there is little evidence hereabouts that farmers are going out of business, and will let the country starve.

Large crowds attend these sales, and much business is transacted on the side by agents and between individuals. "Going to the sale" is quite the thing to do, even if one does not specially want to buy anything, for in some way unexpected the visit may be turned into profit.

"A BIG FIGHT COMING."

Our short first page editorial, two weeks ago, was not written for the purpose of stirring up argument over Scriptural definitions of what "the church" is. Rather, it was intended to emphasize the first duty and obligation of church members, in connection with what we call "politics," and the various evils that confront the country. Just now, we need not dig down very deep into the Bible, or any other authority, to find out the course for the right-minded individual to pursue, if he is interested practically in bringing about the greatest good to the greatest number; nor is it wise policy to emphasize the non-essentials involved in such matters.

We like to think of "the church" as a force within its own long established lines, performing its functions, preaching the Gospel to those who come to hear, working out its special missionary and other good plans, and in every way carrying out, earnestly and vigorously, the Divine commands. But, we also like to think of the church as a power beyond that; as a power permeating its members in their everyday acts; in striving in practical, workable, result-compelling ways to add to the sum of good government, good citizenship, good laws, laws enforced, and notice-serving on those not so actuated.

Several articles, commenting on the editorial in question, are given below: "The above is the caption over an article in your issue of the 25th., and the secluded thinker finds in it food

But, according to the new, or hu man order, as exemplified in the acts of Messrs Anderson, Crabbe, Davis and others, who claim to be members of Christ's church that they have reformed God's works, by legislating sin out of the world by political machination and otherwise.

We were born and conceived in sin which was from the beginning and to be, for the proof, one paragraph of the Lord's prayer will suffice—"Lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil." On this rock I build my church and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it. Has the gates of hell prevailed against the church? if not, why legislate sin out of the world without the means provided has failed to function. Do I mock at religion? No, But I do condemn the human kind, or the sham article. If we go backward to the old, or Divine order of things, then the "Big Fight" will be on and the power of the Holy Ghost will be the victor. No critics noticed who belong to the many called, but will gladly take advice from the few chosen.

LeGore, Md. W. P. MOHLER.

"Among other things, the question is asked, "What is the church?" "Active visible church"—"Real Church is asked. People," are also spoken of. In 1 Cor., 1, 2, we read, "Unto the Church of God which is at Corinth, to them that are sanctified in Christ Jesus, called to be saints, with all that in every place call upon the name of Jesus Christ our Lord, both theirs and

The persons to whom this letter is addressed are identified as "the church of God which is at Corinth." with them are joined in character, if not as recipients of this letter, "all that in every place call upon the name of Jesus Christ our Lord." And there-fore we should perhaps not be far wrong if we were to gather from this that Paul would have defined the church as the company of all those persons who "call upon the name of Jesus Christ." Calling upon the their duty, to take part in our gov-name of any one implies trust in him; and those who call upon the name of Jesus Christ are those who look up to Christ as their Supreme Lord, able to supply all their need. It is this belief in one Lord which brings men together as a christian church.

But at once we are confronted with the difficulty, that many persons who call upon the name of the Lord do so with no inward conviction of their need, and with no real dependence upon Christ or allegiance to him. In other words, the apparent church is not the real church. Hence the distinction "the church visible," which consists of all who nominally, or outwardly, belong to the christian com-munity, and the "church invisible," which consists of those who inwardly and really are the subjects and people of Christ. Much confusion of thought will be avoided by keeping in mind this obvious distinction.

Without concerning himself ex-plicitly to describe the distinguishing features of the true church, Paul gives us, in the above quotation, four notes which must always be found:

Consecration: The church is composed of "them that have been sanctified in Christ Jesus."
2. Holiness: "Called to be saints."

3. Universality: "All that in every place call on the name." 4. Unity: "Both their Lord and

The church by its very existence is a body of men and women set apart for a holy use. The New Testament word for church—Ecclesia—means a society "called out" from among other men. It exists not for common purposes, but to witness for God and for Christ, to maintain before the eyes and in all the common ways and works of men the ideal life realized in Christ, and the presence and holiness of God. It becomes those who form the church to meet God's pur pose in calling them out of the world, and to consider themselves as devoted and set apact to attain that purpose. Their destination is no longer that of the world; and a spirit set upon the ettainment of the joys and advantages the world gives, is wholly out of place in them.

The fourth note of the church here implied, is its unity. The Lord of all the churches is one Lord; in this allegiance they center, and by it are held together in a true unity. Plainly this note can belong only to the church invisible, and not to that multifarious collection of incoherent fragments known as the visible

The real church people, then, are not actuated by ideas of force; the same principles must govern the "real church member" whether in the pew, or out of it."

Littlestown, Pa. H. E. B. "I want to commend your recent front page article entitled "A Big Fight Coming." It gives us something more of hope for the future when people begin to see things as they are, and it creates a mighty influ ence in that direction when the ed tors of our daily and weekly newspapers speak out in no uncertain terms.

You are right in recognizing a large measure of identity between "the church" and "the people," about whom we speak so eloquently sometimes. There is entirely too much shifting of responsibility for moral and political deficiencies. I have no right to complain until I have thrown myself into the balance, and done my best to right the wrongs of the

Perhaps it would be more accurate to say that "The big Fight" is GO-ING ON. We are coming to such intensified stage in the battle that it is more clearly recognized than usual. But it is the same old conflict between sin and righteousness. Blessed is the man who is enlisted on the side of right, and who always keeps his Taneytown, Md.

"I want to commend you and the Record for your front page articles which have been appearing for some weeks in your paper, and especially the one of Feb. 25, headed "A Big Fight Coming." As I see it, the fight is not only "coming," it is already HERE, and the issue should be set tled, and in short order, that the

You did me the kindness to reprint my lengthy article on "Congress and Prohibition," in a recent issue, hence your readers who read that article know my opinion on that issue. Let those Congressmen who would amend, or repeal, the Volstead Act, understand that Prohibition is the law of the land, made so by Constitutional amendment, and while that amendment remains on the statute books any Congressman who votes for, or advocates its repeal, without giving something better to enforce the amendment, or who attempts to legislate to nullify this or any other part of the Constitution, is false to the oath he took to uphold the Constitution when he became a Congressman. Maryland prides itself on its conservatism—better called backward-ness—as Maryland is but one of a very few remaining States that tolerate race-track gambling. The recent race-track propaganda of one of the Baltimore City papers, in which many men of influence endorsed race track gambling, was followed a week later by a census of the county press, after the county editors had had thrust at them the unanimous opinion of the city crowd. The unanimous opposition of the county editors must have been an eye-opener to the fellow seeking the information. We have too long tolerated the saloon and other agencies of sin to dominate our politics, while politicians themselves have bowed to the influence and allowed the idea to prevail that politics was only "a filthy cess-

The biggest thing in the world today is our American system of government, and the biggest and best thing in that system is the good men -churchmen and others-who follow the philosophy of the founder of the christian faith. These men-the church-not only have the right, it is ernment, and stand for the best interests of all the people.

If Jesus Christ drove the money changers from the temple, why should not the professed followers of that same Jesus drive out the greatest evils that have festooned themselves on our body politic ? I have never been a professional reformer, and am not now desirous of being classed as such, but I do want it understood that I stand for decency and law and order, and that I believe the forces of righteousness should combine to fight and banish evils that exist, and that if they do not, "woe to that nation that forgets God."

The churchman who is too good to take an interest in his government, and help make and keep it decent, is so good, he is good for nothing." W. J. HEAPS.

Enter President Harding.

The absolute rule of the President, for which Mr. Wilson's administration was noted, will likely go into the discard under President Harding, and, while such a change will call for the playing of a different game at legislation in the Capitol, it will eventually meet with a feeling of approval and relief, and as a return to "government by the people" through their representatives in Congress.

Col. Roosevelt inaugurated the plan of exalting the Presidential office, making it more an individual power than it ever had been, but Mr. Wilson made Roosevelt's use of the "big stick" look amateurish; and besides, Mr. Wilson, unlike Col. Roosevelt, cut out issues and courses without waiting for public sentiment to cyrstalize. Roosevelt was always sure of a big following before he took his stand.

President Harding will have a difficult road to travel, and the more so, perhaps, because of his announced intention of trying to represent the whole people, and all sides. That this will be taken advantage of, there is no doubt; but, we believe that there will be a "so far, and no farther" limit to his preferred policy, and that it will not lead him into an administration conspicuous for weakness and in-

President Harding comes into office with a training as Senator, and this is likely to be of vast value to him. He is also a party man, and likely to engage in practical politics, rather The country will be safer, and the he marks of the Wilsonian regime. When one does not know "what next" to expect, there is unrest and doubt, and this is as true in the larger sense, when the whole country, and its business and governmental interests, are

The new President must be ackeep out of further foreign entangleeither-and especially the latter-re mains to be seen. That he will make an honest effort to do it, is assured.

The American plan hotel is said to be destined to come back, very soon, and on the whole we believe the American public will welcome the return; especially those who recall the former $2.50 and $3.00 a day houses, when a "tip" of a quarter to the waiter brought about all there was in the Champ Clark will not soon be forgotten. He represented the intensely practical in politics, and his very simplicity and openness made him such a big man that his bigness was not taken seriously. He was just Champ Clark, the all-around man, and there are too few like him. The Record has always admired him, and did not wait for his death to say so. He was entitled to be his party's candidate for the Presidency, in 1916.

Considering the rapid rate at which people are dying from drinking "boot leg" concoctions, the number getting shot or otherwise hurried off for various prohibition law violations, those who hastily pass away through booze inspired joy rides, and those who fall as natural victims of Father Time and the toll of sickness, it is reasonable to conclude that within five years there will be a great deal less of cussing and discussing Mr. Volstead's act.

The scenes attending the inaugural, which brought the late President Wilson more prominently in view of the public than at any time during the past year, has created the impression that Mr. Wilson is more completely broken in health than was generally known; and both friend and foepolitically speaking-unite in the hope, that, with relief from public cares, his strength may be built up, and his recovery be more complete. The number of assassinations, and the numerous deaths soon following Presidential terms, is not a pleasant thought connected with the office

The "Free Seed" Advertising.

The Congress of the United States can not always be depended on to act profoundly wise. At times, it becomes foolishly subservient to "the job," and surrenders to cheap advertising at the expense of the public treasury. The "free seed" issue is a case in point, which costs the treasury about $400,000 a year; and incidentally finds work for none too busy private secretaries to Senators and Congressmen.

What would become of the growers of lettuce, beet, radish, parsnip, carrot, turnip and tomato seeds, if this annual wholesale give-away should cease? But, the cost of keeping them in the seed business seems heavy. Perhaps there was a time, in ages past, when even these cheap and common varieties of seeds were scarce, and when their free distribution was a real help; but now, the donation is a joke-a silly waste of time and money

Moreover, the method of distribution is an imposition. Every weekly newspaper office in the country is made an agency for handing out gifts to voters, from Senators and members of the House, and at the same time assume the chance of making enemies in doing so, by not having seed for those who call too late, and who grumblingly intimate that "they never get any." but others do, and wonder why?

Speaking for ourselves, we decidedly prefer to occupy our time in other ways and not be made agents for Congressmen along this line; and especially so because such seed as are distributed are not greatly wanted-except as something that might as well be taken, because "free."

One Day at a Time.

The true independence is interdependence. The noblest life is the life of service. Only the selfish man says: "I will lead my own life. I will be my own master. I will listen to none." The strong one is the readiest of all to shape his course by counsel, to listen to wise voices, to abandon a program that promises only a selfish and a private advantage. He has a purpose; but his purpose is not conditional on living to grow old or on dying young. He means to live than in untried theoretical policies. intensely all his time on earth and to do his duty by each day as it comes. people will be better satisfied, to He will put all of himself into every read better known paths than were hour and do all the good he can as he

We cannot see around corners. We cannot be sure of the next hour. But even as the past cannot hold us down if we have the will to break free from it, so the future cannot thrust its burden on today. rid of it as quickly and effectively as possible. But constipation, though not so sudden in its effect, is an insidious and grave danger. Leading medical authorities agree that ninety per cent of human illness is caused or aggravated by a clog-ging of waste in the bowels, and that pills, castor oil, laxative vaters and salts only force the bowels and bring greater weakness afterward. Nujol works on an entirely new principle.

Instead of forcing or irritating the system, it simply softens the food waste. This enables the many tiny muscles in the walls of the intestines, contracting and expanding in their normal way, to squeeze the food waste along so that it passes naturally out of Nujol thus prevents constipation because it helps Nature maintain easy, thorough bowel evacuation at regular intervals—the healthiest habit in the world. Nujol is absolutely harmless and pleasant to take. Try it.

—Communion With Christ.

I. The Bargain of Betrayal (vv. 14-

This is a dark picture. Satan had so completely gained the mastery over Judas that he sold his Lord for the price of a slave (Ex. 21:32). Judas' sin was not of a sort that one would suddenly be overtaken with, but one of deliberate purpose.

II. The Passover Prepared (vv. 17-

1. The disciples' inquiry (v. 17). They inquired of Jesus as to where they should prepare for the Passover. They were no doubt anxious to be of service to Him. We should be not only ready to do our Lord's bidding, but should inquire of Him as to what He would have us do.

2. The Master's strange directions (v. 18). They were to go into the city where they would meet a man bearing a pitcher of water. It was usual for the women to carry the water. This unusual occurrence would make it easier for them to find the man. To him they were to "Where is the guest-chamber where I shall eat the Passover with my disciples?" "And he will show you a large upper room furnished and prepared, there make ready for us"

(Mark 14:14, 15). 3. The obedience of the_disciples. They did as Jesus had appointed them They did not stop to question the sanity of the command, but like true disciples obeyed. Christ is omniscient. He knew just how the matter would

III. The Betrayal Announced (vv.

1. The time of (vv. 20, 21). It was while they were eating the last passover that Jesus made this announcement. Perhaps the reason why this feast should be disturbed by such a sad announcement was that Judas might be given an opportunity at this last moment to repent. God does not will that any should perish, but holds out to the most wicked man to the last moment an opportunity to repent.

2. The sorrowful question (v. 22). They did not seem to suspect one another, but directed personal attention to themselves. We should always examine ourselves rather than others 3. The darkness of the crime (v. 23). "He that dippeth his hand with me in the dish, the same shall betray me," does not point out the traitor. but indicates the greatness of the

4. The betrayal of Jesus was by the determinate counsel and foreknowledge of God (v. 24; Acts 2:23). Nothing takes place by chance "Woe unto the man by whom the Son of Man is betrayed; it had been good for that man if he had not been born. To have been born in the world and lived for a while, leaving an impression upon it for good is a great privilege, but to be face to face with such a great privilège as Judas Iscariot. and to make such a miserable failure of it is worse than nonexistence. 5. Judas' evil determination unshaken (v. 25). In the face of all that Christ had said, he went forward and tried to cover up his purpose by saying, "Master, is it I?"

3. Drinking anew in the kingdom (v. 29). This does not mean that in heaven this service will be renewed, but that this was symbolic of the heavenly reality. 4. Going to the cross with a song (v. 30). With all the sorrows and the burdens of the world upon Him. He pressed forward with cheerfulness. Those who have come under the shadow of His blood can go forward bearing their cross with a song of joy.

— THE — CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR TOPIC

- From -Moody Bible Institute Monthly Chicago, III.

> March 13 What is Real Religion? James 1:19-27

Real religion begins just where our Scripture lesson begins, that is, with regeneration. "Of his own will begat he us with the word of truth."

Religion has been defined as the life of God in the soul. If we accept this as a definition we must remem ber that this life is begotten within us, in other words, this life of God in the soul begins with a birth, the second birth. A person who has real religion in the Christian sense, is a twice-born person. It is asserted by some religious leaders (so-called) that outward conditions were favorable, and if children had a proper environment at the time of their natural birth, it would be unnecessary for them to be born again. But "that which is born of the flesh is flesh" even though it be born under the most favorable conditions. nature cannot be changed; therefore, said Jesus, "Marvel not that I said unto thee Ye must be born again." Human nature is fallen and corrupt, no process of medication or education or reformation can change it. The Word of God is imperative in this matter, "Ye must be born again." Count on it as an established fact that apart from this there is no real religion. All else is counterfeit of the real thing. One may not know when he was born but he must know that he is alive—"in Christ." The greatest loss that has come to the church of America is the loss of emphasis upon this great Bible truth. a consequence we have a vague religiousness in our churches instead of a vital Christian experience. As another has well said, "The present aim is to heal human society by human effort rather than through regeneration by the Spirit of God." The social contact of human beings is held superior to the union and communion of the soul with its Lord.

The result of this new life from God, this real religion, which brings the soul into vital relationship with God is seen in the following verses of our chapter, Having received the divine life, we are exhorted to be "---ift to hear, slow to speak, slow to be alert to "Christians must be alert to hear the voice of God as it comes in providential circumstances, through the indwelling Snirit and through study of the Word Being thus "swift to hear." he should also be 'slow to speak." not desiring to parade his knowledge. If he is led to speak or testify and others turn away or criticise, he must be "slow to wrath." for such wrath or anger worketh not the righteousness of God. it only unfits one for service. All such expressions of the self-life must be laid aside and the ingrafted Word must be received "with meek-ness" in order that the child of God may be kept experimentally in the wav of salvation. According to verses 22-25 this Word must be transmuted into life, then we shall be "doers of word and not hearers only. Looking at the Scripture lesson as a whole, it may be said that the beginning of the new life in verse 18 anticipates the training and activities in verses 19-26.

The closing verse of the chapter from which our topic is derived needs careful consideration. Pure religion, as here described, is the outward expression of religious profession, without which faith is vain. The practice those things suggested by the verse is the highest form of outward worship. The doing of such things is the natural outflow of the Christlife, which is begotten within us by the will of God.

She States It Mildly.

While suffering with a severe attack of the grip and threatened with pneumonia, Mrs. Annie H. Cooley, of Middlefield, Conn., began using Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and was very much benefited by its use. The pains in the chest soon disappeared, the cough became loose, expectoration easy and in a short time she was as well as ever. Mrs. Cooley says she cannot speak too hgihly in praise of this remedy.

The "Why" of the Dollings Plan

Money accumulated by hard work and prudent saving seems to have the most value. It, particularly, should be carefully protected.

So thought Ray L. Dollings, founder of one of the strongest financial institutions of its kind in the country. He realized that Safety must be the first and most essential qualificaof an investment for one whose wealth is not large enough to justify a risk. With safety assured, the money should earn its owner a fair

To insure the average investor these two qualifications for his mon-ey, Mr. Dollings saw that it should be invested in an established, reputable concern, which has been thoroughly investigated by experts to determine its merits; then, its stability being assured, it must be watched over and the investor's interests safeguarded.

Thus arose the great R. L. DOLL-INGS COMPANY, of national repuwith its unique investment plan of Investigation, Recommendation, Supervision.

As a result of its plan of operation, it has today over 46,000 customers who are investing their savings with safety and an annual return of Seven Per Cent. Troughout the years of its

It stands ready today to render YOU the same "Service" for your money that thousands of others are receiving for theirs.

IN THE SPRING YOUR BLOOD NEEDS A TONIC

Winter Weakens Blood, Makes Faces Pale. Take Gude's Pepto Mangan.

THE BEST KNOWN BLOOD TONIC Drowsy Spring-Fever Feeling That Comes from Sluggish Blood Will Soon Leave You

As all growing things on earth shoot into new life in Springtime, so do the billions of cells that make up each part of the body renew their vigor.

As you open the windows, breathe the Spring air, and let in the sunshine, the red corpuscles in your blood should carry more oxygen to the tiny

The red corpuscles are tiny disc-shaped particles, swimming in enormous numbers in the blood. carry oxygen to cells in all parts of the body, and they carry away wornout waste matter. Sometimes, especially in the Spring, after the winter indoors and more or less sickness, the red corpuscles themselves need rebuilding. Gude's Pepto-Mangan contains just the ingredients to give them greater power to absorb oxygen and to distribute it throughout the body. That is why it is such a good Spring tonic. It helps so much to bring back color to cheeks made pale and wan by the necessary indoor winter life. It adds to the number of red corpuscles. With fine Spring days and Gude's Pepto-Mangan you gain in vigor and attain good health.

Don't go around drowsy this Spring Take that good tonic, Gude's Pepto-Mangan. You can get it in tablet form or in liquid form at your drug-gist's. Both forms have the same medicinal value. Insist upon genuine Gude's Pepto-Mangan. -Advertisement
