SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION.

An Unusually Excellent Program is Rendered.

The annual convention of the Carroll County Sunday School Association, which was held on Tuesday of this week in Alumni Hall, Western Maryland College, Westminster, was perhaps the largest of its kind ever held in this county, the main floor of the large auditorium being entirely filled, with some persons in the gallery. About two-thirds of all the schools in the county were represented, and some of the delegations were of a considerable size.

The program was unusual, being made up almost entirely of addresses and music by visitors. These were specialists however and the audience showed its appreciation.

Dr. Charles A. Woolsey, of Baltimore, was the leader of the congregational singing and he succeeded in getting the people to sing.

Mr. and Mrs. James V. Christy, of Baltimore, were present through all the sessions and sang a large number of duets, to the delight and edification of everybody.

Mrs. A. W. Karnell, of Philadelphia, gave an address in the morning on the "Responsibility of Christian Parenthood" and in the afternoon on "The Building of a Christian Nation." She not only showed herself a power as a platform speaker, but set a high standard for parents and made the responsibility plain.

Rev. John Watchorn, of Philadelphia, gave an address in the forenoon which was a call for national and individual morality on religion based on the history of the Jewish race.

Other speakers of the afternoon and evening were: Rev. H. K. Ober, of Elizabethtown, Pa., and Dr. C. J. Bloomfield, of Pittsburgh. The former gave an address on "Child's Rights," and "Echoes of the Tokio Convention," the world Sunday School convention of last spring. Dr. Bloomfield spoke of taking care of the boys at the afternoon session, and in the evening gave one of the principal addresses of the convention on "The Call of the World." Colonel Joseph H. Cudlipp, of Baltimore, gave a fine talk on boys, his subject being, "The Art Supreme." Dr. Ward, of the College and Rev. Chalmers Walck led the devotions.

In the absence of General Secretary, A. B. Brown and Hon. Frank L. Middleton, President of the Maryland Sunday School Association, the state organization was represented by Mr. Hamm, who spoke at the morning session and conducted a conference at the noon hour.

An interesting feature of the evening was a parade and a song service given by the large New Windsor Adult Bible Class. This is a vigorous organization and shows what an organized class can do.

The officers elected for the next year are: Rev. J. Walter Englar, president; G. W. Yeiser, 1st. vice-president; Herbert W. Wooden, 2nd. vice-president; A. M. Hall, 3rd. vice-president; George Mather, Secretary; Denton Gehr, Treasurer; Rev. W. C. Parish, Superintendent of adult division; Mrs. J. S. Adam, superintendent of children's division; Jesse P. Garner, home department superintendent; Rev. Chalmers W. Walck, Rev. G. Wilbur Shipley and C. Edgar Nusbaum, additional members of executive committee.

Annan-Horner State Bank.

Announcement has been made recently that the well-known banking firm of Annan, Horner & Co., Emmitsburg, has filed its application with the State Banking Commissioner for a charter as a state bank.

This firm is one of the oldest and most prominent financial institutions in the county, having been established in October, 1882. It has hitherto been owned by members of the Annan and Horner families, but, believing that a community-controlled institution can render better service to the people of that section, the action for a state bank incorporation has been taken.

The present members of the firm are J. Stewart Annan, Andrew A. Horner, A. E. Horner and R. J. Annan. The firm owns a large and spacious building on West Main St., where its business has been conducted and where the affairs of the new state bank will be carried on.

The name of the new institution will be the Annan-Horner State Bank, which will have a capital of $50,000 and surplus of $25,000. This stock is now being offered to the people of Emmitsburg and vicinity and being rapidly subscribed.

to those behind, by extending or raising the hand.

Any person operating any vehicle in a manner contrary to the above provisions, shall be liable to a fine of not less than $5.00 nor more than $50.00 for first offense.

There are other laws in addition to the above, carrying penalties for violation, as well as many "rules of the road" that should be familiar to all who operate motor vehicles. Our object in publishing the above is to give information, or to lead to seeking more exact information, that will not only help to prevent accidents, but especially to prevent the collection of fines from those who, through ignorance of the laws, more or less innocently violate them. A copy of the laws, in full, may be examined at this office.

ALL FAVORING FEWER ELECTIONS IN STATE.

Will Meet Next Wednesday to Arrange Various Details.

Members of the subcommittee of the executive committee of Governor Ritchie's State Government Reorganization Commission will meet again next Wednesday and be prepared to make recommendations on the plan formally submitted to the subcommittee by the Governor at Wednesday's session.

Before the close of Wednesday's meeting tentative approval was given to some of the Governor's ideas and as to others modifications were made. By the time of the next meeting the views of the subcommittee on the various details of the plan will have been formulated.

The one point on which there does not seem to be any difference of opinion is the cutting down of the number of State elections. This question is in the hands of a separate committee, but it will be embodied in the general plan. It will provide for the election of the next Governor for three years, after which time the regular four-year term will be re-established. This will mean a big saving to the city and counties in election expenses.

The general idea of the Governor's plan is the grouping of the smaller departments into large ones, the cutting down of some commissions of three members to a single head; reducing the number of assistants to the Attorney-General; abolishing the position of general counsel to the Public Service Commission and placing the direction of the State police in the hands of the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles.

The plan in relation to the financial department of the State government was prepared by Comptroller E. Brooke Lee and Emory L. Coblenz, and puts under the authority of the Comptroller several of the departments and offices that have to deal with the collection of State revenues.—Balt. Sun.

Important Suit Decided.

The three suits of Dr. Jacob H. Sherman and wife, Mrs. Mary D. Barker and Mr. Roy H. Singer and wife, against the estate of the late Charles E. Fink, Esq., involving over $45,000.00 and growing out of land purchased near Yakima, in the State of Washington, were tried at a special session of the Court beginning on Wednesday and ending on Thursday night, of last week. Chief Judge William H. Thomas and Associate Judges Robert Moss and William H. Forsythe, Jr., heard these cases along with a fourth case of Dr. Sherman against Mr. J. Brooke Fink. The four cases were all tried together and resulted in a verdict in every case in favor of the estate of Mr. Charles E. Fink and of Mr. J. Brooke Fink.

The plaintiffs in each case were represented by Guy W. Steele, Esq., and the defendants by Bond & Parke.

Sunday Ball in Carroll.

Not to advertise the games, but merely to state the facts, The Record has definite information that two games of baseball were played, last Sunday, at Patapsco, this county, and two more are to be played next Sunday.

OUR DETROIT LETTER.

Sunday Sports, the Industrial Outlook and Prices.

I do not know how the weather is, in there, but out here it is hot. During the 3½ years we have been here, we have experienced some hot days, but nothing like this, for it has continued now 3 weeks, during which time we have had a number of fine rains, which one would naturally think would cool the air a little, but which in fact have only left it hotter than before they fell.

This hot weather, coupled with the fact that a large number of persons are out of work, has taxed the capacity of the bathing beaches, not a few either—as there are dozens of them along the Detroit River and Lake St. Clair. Almost every day we read of drowning accidents—sometimes two or three at one beach, where the bathers ventured into water too deep, and being unable to swim, sank before they could be reached. At Belle Isle—Detroit's great Park—as high as 75,000 use the public bath house in a day, while all along the shore, there are places where the children and older folks, too, can cool off.

I have found out one thing—and that is, that the biggest day in the week for this sport, as well as amateur base ball, in Detroit, is Sunday. This brings up the question of Sabbath observance, which I have seen discussed so much in the Record. Of course, they may be wrong, but the churches out here, in general, do not seem to be opposed to either the Monday morning papers, have columns of scores of games, in a great many of which church teams figure. Nearly all the church teams play on Saturday afternoon, but quite a few seem to think that, after their church duties are complied with on Sunday in the morning, the rest of the day is theirs. I am not defending this, but only write it to show the difference between the extreme East and the Middle West.

I was also interested in the exchange of articles by the Editor and the County Superintendent of Public Schools, and have come to the conclusion that people who have a little authority, are alike all the world over. Out here we have the same clashes between the tax-payers and those who spend the tax-money, whether it be the school authorities or the Mayor and City Council.

We have good schools, but thousands of dollars are spent on teaching the children things that will be of no earthly use in after life. But the people have gotten so used to it that only an occasional kick is put up, and they never amount to anything. This spending of money for needless things applies to all departments of city government, so that our tax rate, coupled with the high assessment, would scare a resident of Carroll County out of his boots.

We had the pleasure of attending a regular old-time Fourth of July celebration, under the auspices of the East Side Improvement Association—for we have an "East Side" out here too. If the celebration had been held in the grove, instead of on the school grounds, it would have been just like the picnics we used to attend around Taneytown. Music by two bands, two games of ball, races of all kinds for young and older people, with moving pictures, street dancing, and fireworks in the evening, made up a full day's enjoyment.

I have enjoyed reading the accounts of the ball games in there, but outside of a few names, have never been able to ascertain who the players on the home team are. I suppose none of the old timers are on it—although I cannot realize how Bobby Clingan and Roy Phillips can keep out of it.

In this connection, how those of us who have left the town, and those who remain, whose hairs are turning gray, used to enjoy the games of years ago! Uniontown was always ready for a game. I remember one on Washington's Birthday—and when they were at their best, was a hard club to beat.

I hardly know what to say about the industrial situation in Detroit. I really believe it has improved greatly since I wrote last, but there are still a great many men out of work and a great many shops working part time—some closed down completely. The lowering of the prices by nearly all the makers of cars, has had the effect of speeding up production a great deal, and that of course helps busy all concerns who are engaged in getting out parts, as motors, axles, etc.

Everybody thinks the outlook is good, and we all certainly hope that it will not be as bad as it was last winter. As I said before, I believe, from reading newspaper reports from other cities, that Detroit is as far on the way to normal times as any—and maybe farther. Wages have come down some—a great deal faster than the cost of living, and there seems to be no way to compel the prices of certain kinds of food to get anywhere near where they were before the war.

In fact, nearly every thing has advanced the past few weeks. Just to show you how high fruits are here, I will give the prices of a few—cherries 25¢ a quart, red raspberries, 25¢; peaches, 2 quarts for 25¢; early apples—pretty common, too—2 quarts for 45¢; lemons as high as $1.10 a dozen, etc. Meats are pretty reasonable, and so are many other necessities in the food line.

TARIFF BILL HAS PASSED THE HOUSE.

Oil, Hides, Cotton, Asphalt, and Dyes on Free List.

The Republican Tariff bill, estimated by Chairman Fordney to raise around $500,000,000 in revenue annually, was passed Thursday by the House by a vote of 289 to 127—precisely the vote by which a Democratic motion for elimination of its American valuation provision was defeated.

Seven Republicans voted against the measure, while the same number of Democrats supported it.

Oil, hides, cotton and asphalt stood up against a determined fight to tax them and remained on the free list. The Longworth dye embargo, first of the five contested schedules to go before the House proper for a separate vote, and backed by most of the Republican members of the Ways and Means Committee, was thrown out, 209 to 193.

There was not much chance of imposing a duty on hides and cotton after the House, in committee of the whole, had defeated amendments carrying manufactured products. When the oil amendment was reached there was such a shout of "noes" that a roll call was not demanded. A moment later Chairman Fordney, trying to make himself heard above the din which prevailed during the three hours of voting, announced that sentiment in the committee of the whole against taxing asphalt had been so overwhelming that it was not worth while to go through the form of calling the roll.

Harford County Storm.

Harford county, just south of Belair, sustained a heavy storm loss, last Tuesday evening, reaching many thousands of dollars, involving buildings, telephone lines, growing corn and trees. The area visited was only about a half-mile wide and several miles in length. The damage was from wind, rain and lightning.

Growing corn in many sections was laid low, as if by a steam roller, and much of it is ruined. Trees in yards, along the roadsides and in the woods were twisted and snapped as if they were pipe stems. Cattle in fields were picked up bodily and carried some distance by the wind and in other instances thrown down.

LeGore Camp Meeting.

The annual Camp Meeting of the Churches of God, will be held at LeGore, on the P. R. R., beginning July 31 and closing on the evening of August 7. Cottages can be had on the ground, at small cost, by applying to T. A. Wastler, Cascade, Md., or Rev. V. K. Betts, Uniontown. Boarding also furnished on the ground.

The services will be conducted by Rev. H. G. Herendeen, Evangelist, of Columbia City, Indiana. There will be special music, and the usual attractions and spiritual advantages of a Camp Meeting.

New Candidates Announced.

Edw. M. Mellor, of Freedom district, has announced himself as Republican candidate for the nomination for Clerk of the Court, which makes three in the field for this office, the others being George L. Stocksdales and Walter H. Davis, of Westminster.

Millard H. Weer, of Sykesville, has announced himself as Democratic candidate for the nomination for Register of Wills.

CARROLL COUNTY FAIR.

The Big Event Now Only Three Weeks in the Future.

Preparations for the Carroll County Agricultural Fair are being made, as the time—Aug. 16-19—draws nearer, and there seems no grounds for doubting that the event of this year will be quite up to the standard of any of its predecessors, and from the standpoint of exhibits, materially larger, especially in the live stock department. All exhibitors must arrange for space before August 16.

All who want accommodations of any sort, should apply for them without delay, to John H. Shirk, manager, Taneytown.

Tuesday, Aug. 16, will be "Homecoming" or opening day, with Rev. Seth Russell Downie, D. D., of Frostburg, as master of ceremonies, Ballroom ascension and other attractions in the afternoon.

Wednesday, August 17, will be "Everybody's Day" with W. H. Egge, D. D., of Lebanon, Pa., with his imitable stories, the chief attraction. A tractor demonstration and free attractions in the afternoon.

Thursday, Aug. 18, will be "Agricultural Day" with Dr. T. B. Symons, and others, for speakers. It will be the big day for agricultural topics—information about "the job" of farming.

Friday, Aug. 19, will be "Athletic Day," similar to the program of two years ago. All sorts of races, ball throwing, and stunts generally. The big consignment sale of live stock will be held at 3:00 o'clock.

If you have not yet seen the "premium list" write to Manager Shirk for one. It not only gives the list of premiums, but the "rules and regulations" and much other information.

Weather and Crops.

Moderately warm and humid weather, with considerable cloudiness and daily thunder showers from the 13th. to the 15th., was followed by normal temperatures and pleasant, sunshiny weather until the 18th. The 19th. was cloudy and humid, with thunder showers late in the day. Showers were heavy on the 15th.

The weather of the week was favorable for the growth of crops, but the showers during the first half interrupted farming operations, though otherwise beneficial.

In Garrett and Allegany Counties harvesting of wheat and rye was finished, but oats have not ripened fully as yet. In the other northern, and also in the central counties, completion of thrashing of wheat and rye and cutting of oats was delayed, while in the southern counties some oats were thrashed.

Corn shows marked improvement and has made rapid growth, and most of it is in tassel. Its color and condition are excellent. Some corn was blown down by the thunder-gust of the 15th.

Maturing of early potatoes continues in Garrett county; elsewhere over the section they are being dug. They are of poor quality and yielding light in southern Maryland and on the Eastern Shore, and are of fair quality and yielding fairly well in north-central Maryland. Planting of late potatoes continues; the early planted are up and doing well.

Pastures have improved and are now good over the entire section.

Truck and gardens have improved and are in good condition. Early tomatoes are being harvested in the southern counties and are ripening elsewhere. Late tomatoes are now doing well.

JAMES H. SPENCER,
Section Director.

Grossnickels and Blessings.

Plans are being made for the second annual reunion of the Blessing and Grossnickel families, to be held on the farm of C. Upton Grossnickel, near Myersville. The Rev. J. R. Stottlemeyer, one of the Grossnickel descendants, will give a history of his ancestors, and John C. Leatherman will give a history of the Blessing family. At the first annual reunion last year descendants of the families were present from different sections of Maryland and Virginia, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and other Western States.

Tragedy in Hanover, Pa.

Last Saturday, Samuel Bowman, a rejected suitor of Mrs. Minnie Resh, shot and killed Emanuel Rohrbach, and also shot and seriously wounded Mrs. Resh Bowman, after the shooting, shot and hanged himself. Rohrbach was a world war veteran, and both he and Mrs. Resh were employees of the Hanover Shoe Company.

Marriage Licenses.

George D. Nightingale of Smallwood and Elva Ellen Lovell, of East View.

Leonard W. Smith and Grace Simmons, both of Hampstead.

Roy Gilbert Fair and Ella Gertrude Shaffer, both of Harrisburg, Pa.

Just as England was expecting to come on terms of adjustment of the long standing "Irish question," Ulster, the northern Ireland section, declares through its premier, that it will have nothing to do with union with Southern Ireland, but is determined to maintain its present status, and is satisfied with its representation in the British parliament.

POULTRY FACTS

GOOSE MEAT IS NUTRITIOUS

Fowls Will Be Found Profitable in Regions of Cheap Land and Abundant Pasturage.

If the goose of the fable was able to lay a golden egg there is no reason why her progeny of the present era cannot repeat this miracle in a more concrete form. Goose meat is nutritious and palatable and not greasy when properly cooked, and an extension of goose raising in the regions of cheap land where pasturage is abundant is a suggested source of cheaper meat.

Geese are raised chiefly in the South and middle West, Kentucky, Tennessee, Missouri and Arkansas being the chief supply sources. During the decade ending in 1910 the total number of geese declined 22 per cent, largely because of the lack of cheap pasture and the limited demand for goose feathers and goose flesh.

The Toulouse, Emden, Chinese and African are the most popular American breeds of geese, the first two greatly leading the others. Occasionally the eggs are used for cooking, but generally geese are kept only for meat and feather production. Practically all the geese in this country are raised in small flocks on general farms, some men making a specialty of collecting large numbers of geese and fattening them for a few weeks before they are killed. As grass makes up the bulk of feed for geese, it is doubtful whether it pays to raise them unless good grass range is available during the summer. A pool of water for bathing and recreational purposes is also a desirable feature.

The market for geese is not so general as for chickens. This point should be considered in undertaking the raising of geese. The demand and the price paid for geese are usually good in sections where goose fattening is conducted on a large scale.

Geese are hardy birds and need shelter only in the worst weather. An empty shed or an old barn usually is satisfactory for this purpose. From 4 to 25 geese may be kept on an acre of land, although under most conditions ten is a fair average. Wherever possible the geese should have free range during the grass season. Southern plantation owners keep geese to kill the weeds in the cotton fields.

The eggs may be hatched by either hens or geese. Some breeders prefer to raise all the goslings under hens, as geese sometimes become difficult to manage when allowed to hatch and rear their young. The period of incubation of goose eggs varies from 28 to 30 days.

Goslings do not need food until they are twenty-four to thirty-six hours old, when they should be fed one of the mashers recommended for chickens or goslings, or a mash or dough of two-thirds shorts (middlings) and one-third cornmeal, which can be made of equal parts shorts and cornmeal, with 5 per cent of beef scrap added after the goslings are six weeks old. Bread and milk make an excellent feed for young goslings. Fine grit or sharp sand should also be available in cold weather.

Most geese breeders do not confine their geese for fattening, but feed them freely a few weeks on a fattening ration before they are to be marketed. The geese may be confined for two or three weeks and fattened, but some green feed or vegetables should be added to the ration.

Breeds of Geese.

The Toulouse, Emden, Chinese and African are the most popular American breeds of geese, the first two greatly leading the others.

Save Some Old Geese.

Save enough old geese to serve as breeders, for young geese are not good for that purpose.

Dampness Causes Colds.

The cold, damp weather may cause your poultry to have colds, which if not cared for will develop into roup, a contagious disease which may spread through your whole flock.

Time to Make Plans.

The long winter evenings are just the time to plan the rotation for next season, and to decide upon the improvements to be made.

WORTH FAR MORE THAN GOLD

Value of Good Credit Must Never Be Forgotten by the Community or Its Citizens.

The following little story has aroused much interest among Kansas merchants and credit men. It was recently published in the bulletin of the Pittsburgh, Kan., Merchants' association.

"I buy your groceries, your dry goods, your home—everything you use or need.

"I am not money; I am its superior. I buy many times more than all the gold in the world. With me money may be bought.

"I am the very basis upon which the business life of the world has been built, more so in modern times than ever before.

"I am founded upon honesty, and built upon faith in mankind, and woe unto the man or woman who wilfully abuses me.

"I have given men the means to become rich, means which nothing else could place within their reach.

"I am, when rightly used, the greatest means of prosperity and happiness, but when abused, I have brought misery into the lives of men and women.

"I am confidence placed in a man's ability and reliability to meet his future obligations.

"I am greater than industry and capital, for I demand industry and capital of others on the strength of ability and disposition to make my promises good.

"I am good credit."

GET AFTER THAT BACK YARD

One Unsightly, Neglected Place Will Spoil the Appearance of Otherwise Well-Kept Street.

Back yards are something big city dwellers long for and small town dwellers long to get rid of. But back yards are a geographical condition; the yearning is about as close as a cityite ever gets to one, while the small townite finds it hard to dispense with for want of something to take its place.

A back yard in some seasons of the year is not exactly an object of beauty. Paintless fences are in a more or less acute state of unrepair, tin cans, old shoes and worn out brooms have somehow eluded the garbage can.

Why not get busy and give the back yard a thorough house-cleaning? The exercise will do you good, and the neighbors will rise up and acclaim you.

A CHAPTER ON ORANGES.

From the present time up to April and May oranges will be plentiful. Most people judge an orange by the size and color, if marketing in person; if over the phone the price, perhaps, is the best qualification. Oranges should be chosen by weight, as well as grapefruit. The fruit may or may not be all edible; if the skin is heavy there is not much left after peeling, as the peel is of little value for eating purposes. The oranges that are heavy with seeds cannot be called a good purchase. By testing one of each of various prices and weighing the pulp after peeling and seeds, if any, are removed, one may have a means of comparing values and of judging of the right kind of purchase. As to quality, that elusive something which may taste like the aroma of flowers or be as tasteless as water is hard to choose. So really the old proverb "the proof of the pudding is in the eating" is the only real test of a fine orange. The Florida orange is usually much thinner skinned than the California navel, but is often full of seeds. However, one will not sacrifice flavor at the expense of removing a few seeds. Oranges are not at their best until after Christmas and are usually cheapest in February and March.

Orange Souffle.—To the whites of three eggs add a small pinch of salt and beat until stiff, then gradually beat in three tablespoonfuls of sugar. Beat the yolks of three eggs until light and lemon colored, add six tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar and stir in enough orange juice to thin to the consistency of coffee cream. Into this fold carefully one-half of the beaten whites, turn into a baking dish and cook in a dish of water until it puffs. Spread over it the pulp of three oranges, cover with the remainder of the egg whites and set in the oven to brown over lightly. It is always well to remember when using oranges that the pulp becomes bitter if cooked at a high temperature.

A Bad Night.

"I worked hard for this money," said the lone pedestrian.

"So did I," growled the footpad. "I've been standing around here for two hours in the rain waiting for a boob like you to come along. There's no telling what the missus will say to me when she finds out I've got my feet wet."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Four Colors Are New.

What is a season without a few new colors?

Thus we have them—forward comes some fashion authority and announces in our midst that the four newest and most popular colors of the present moment are rosewood, chow, aztec and humming bird.

With rosewood we're more or less familiar—we've met it in pianos, spinet, desks and so on.

But chow! 'Tis a different story—it might be anything from a pet pup to the food your doughboy existed on in those mad days of memory.

Aztec—ah! There's something to conjure with! The name brings visions of bright shawls, beads and painted feathers in which we might array ourselves and bedeck the Sunday landscape.

As for humming bird—the subtleties of that are left to your imagination.

Heavy Cost of Sickness.

Sickness causes an annual loss of more than $500,000 to New York state factory workers, investigation undertaken during the last half of 1919 by the Associated Industries of New York shows. More than 140 manufacturers and about 77,000 workers were included.

Cases of sickness lasting from three days to six months, numbered 8,761 for one-half year, amounting to an average of 114 per thousand employees, or a monthly average of 19 per thousand. Only 10 per cent of the cases were of more than three weeks' duration; 60 per cent lasted from three to six days. Nearly 50 per cent of the total number of days lost was involved in cases lasting more than fourteen days, and 15 per cent more than two months.

The total loss of working time was $5,665 days, and the loss of wages $321,875. The average loss was approximately ten days' time and $36.73.

Stamp Collections and History.

Glimpses into unfamiliar bypaths of history may often be obtained by stamp collections, says the London Times. This is true of the series of pictorial postage stamps issued by the government of the Ukraine, some of which bear the portraits of famous Cossack leaders who are identified with the history of Little Russia. The ten-grivni stamp printed in rose carmine bears the likeness of Bogdan Khmelnytski, the renegade Polish officer who led the Cossack revolt of 1632 and after vain attempts to establish himself as "monarch and autocrat of Rus," finally entered the service of the czar 20 years later.

Oklahoma Club Members Feel at Home.

Even at home, "the little piece of home" taken overseas by the Y. W. C. A. for our boys, comes in handy. Out in Oklahoma in building a clubhouse, Lock Sanders post, No. 59, of the Legion has decided that it will borrow the plans of the Y. W. C. A. hostess house. In camps and overseas it met such a need that now, back in their home town, Hugo, Okla., the boys are building one for themselves. So interested has the whole town become in the scheme that everyone is helping. Citizens are buying boards at one dollar apiece and painters and carpenters are donating a day's work. The plot has been given by the city. The structure will contain an auditorium with a seating capacity of 200, a reading and writing room and an office, all on familiar lines.

To meet the demands, the national board, Y. W. C. A., 600 Lexington avenue, New York city, offers to share with other Legion posts or communities a plan for a delightful clubhouse. Pictures are available.—Exchange.

HARNEY.

The Home-coming services at the U. B. Church, on last Sunday, were largely attended. Quite a number of former members were in attendance, and the services were enjoyed by all. Of course, there were some disappointments; some expected former ministers to come back, but then it must be remembered that they all have their regular appointments to fill. Others expected friends, but they failed to be present. In spite of the above the home-coming was a complete success.

The first term of our Singing class closed on Thursday evening, and it is thought that there will be no trouble getting up a second term, as nearly all those, who were in the first class seem to be anxious for a second term, and there are many others who should become members.

We are informed that a class has been organized at Mt. Joy. We are glad that the people of our community are beginning to realize the importance of singing. There are few today who could lead the singing in church, or in any public meeting; especially without an organ or some other instrument to follow.

Frivolous.

Florabella, fifteen and sophisticated for one of her years, was tearfully and rebelliously angry. Parental tyranny had become quite unbearable.

"For heaven's sake!" exclaimed her mother, "Will you tell me what you're bawling about now?"

"Oh, I never have any freedom! I never can do what other girls do! I don't see why I can't wear short skirts like the other girls I know."

"Florabella, your ideas are becoming positively shocking," admonished her mother. "You know perfectly well you are not old enough yet to wear short skirts."

Harsher Name.

"How old are you, Uncle Eph?"

"Ninety-eight years old, sah."

"You're a fine example of longevity."

"Sah?"

"I say you are a fine example of longevity."

"Yes, sar. Than you, sah. But when my ol' 'oman is hard at work an' I'm settin' in de sunshine dat ain't what she calls me."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Spinach for Late-Fall Greens.

Spinach is one of the most important crops for a home garden and in many sections will furnish delectable greens a good part of the year. In addition to the spring crop sown from the middle of February to the first of May, according to locality, it permits fall sowing at dates varying from August 1 in northern New England States to September 10 or 15 in the vicinity of Washington.

Three or four ounces of seed planted in the autumn, after a summer crop has been harvested from the land, will produce an abundance of greens for the average family during the late autumn and early spring. Sow the seeds of spinach in drills 1 foot apart at the rate of 1 ounce to 100 feet of row. To produce good spinach, a rich loam, which will give the plants a quick growth, is required. As ordinarily grown spinach occupies the land during the autumn and winter only and does not interfere with summer cultivation.

Monster Oil Fire Raging in Mexico.

Mexico City, July 20.—The Amatlan oil fields are on fire, with drilling towers falling like chaff and the workmen fleeing, according to reports received here describing "the greatest catastrophe in the history of the oil fields." The cause of the fire is not known.

The financial loss cannot be estimated, say the advices, which add that the conflagration dwarfs into insignificance the Pardo Del Llano disaster.

Columns of fire hundreds of feet high are covering the entire field, it is declared, and efforts to suppress the blaze are said to be considered hopeless. It also is feared that there will be some loss of life, as the fire spread so quickly from Lot No. 162, where it started. Other wells in the vicinity exploded. The Amatlan field is one of the richest in the State of Vera Cruz.

The fire broke out when the Killets Company, an independent concern, brought in a well. The flames spread rapidly to the Mexican Petroleum and other nearby properties.

Biliousness and Constipation.

"For years I was troubled with biliousness and constipation, which made life miserable for me. My appetite failed me. I lost my usual force and vitality. Pepsin preparations and cathartics only made matters worse. I do not know where I should have been today had I not tried Chamberlain's Tablets. The tablets relieve the ill feeling at once, strengthen the digestive functions, helping the system to do its work naturally," writes Mrs. Rosa Potts, Birmingham, Ala.

Stand By the Home Paper.

No local newspaper should be an object of charity, but every such paper should receive the fullest possible amount of local support, without too severely demanding that it perform its service for the lowest possible cent.

The patrons of all home weeklies should be as liberal in their support, as such papers are with the benefits they add to the community in which they are located.

A home town that is scant and grudging in giving patronage to its paper is a non-progressive town, not alive to its best interests.

Every town should engage in plans for helping to make its paper prosperous, rather than conceive plans by which it can cut down its revenue to the lowest possible cent.

The spirit of "stand by" should exist to the fullest measure.

These may be "one string" expressions, but they are bits of wisdom and good advice, none the less.

"Union" Bands, or No Music.

Chicago, July 17.—When Chicagoans desire to hear band music they must travel out to the Great Lakes Naval Station or go to some other city. There are bands here, of course, but they usually consist of about three men who are actually playing instruments and a half dozen others who are mere dummies, carrying horns and drawing salaries. The practice gives employment to many men who cannot distinguish a bar of music from a sandbar, but it is tough on the listener.

Recently the city decided it would be a grand thing to organize three bands—the policemen, firemen and the city nurses. There is much musical talent in all three departments.

The idea was shaping finely when the business agent of the Chicago Federation of Musicians began to take notice. He has served an ultimatum upon city officials that all three municipal bands must join the union or all union bands will refuse to play at the Pageant of Progress and that enterprise will be declared "unfair," which means there probably will be trouble with the lights and water and transportation service.

Quite recently the musicians' union has been interfering with funerals, calling out the drivers of the hearses and mourners' carriages, because music was being provided by men not members of the union.

The Frederick News says the 5000 autos in the county are worth about $400,000. As we figure it, this is an average of $80.00 each. Evidently, there is a very radical error in the total value, as the article goes on to say that the county receives about $70,000 annually in taxes on motor vehicles.

A Splendid Medicine for the Stomach and Liver.

"Chamberlain's Tablets for the stomach and liver are splendid. I never tire of telling my friends and neighbors of their qualities," writes Mrs. William Vollmer, Eastwood, N. Y. When bilious, constipated or troubled with indigestion, give them a trial. They will do you good.

Why He Stopped Worrying.

The county agent of Le Flore county, Okla., tells in his report about one farmer in his county who has found out a way to stop worrying. They have had tremendous rains down in that section of the county and there was too much mud for plowing. The agent met this man and said "I don't understand why you are looking so much happier than you did that last time I saw you; what's the matter?" He replied: "Nothing is the matter. I gave up worrying because I got nothing left to worry over—crops all gone, money all gone, credit all gone, food's about played out, can't get work, got nothing, so I've got nothing to worry about and have stopped worrying."

One Dollar Saved Represents Ten Dollars Earned.

The average man does not save to exceed ten per cent of his earnings. He must spend nine dollars in living expenses for every dollar saved. That being the case he can not be too careful about unnecessary expenses. Very often a few cents properly invested, like buying seeds for his garden, will save several dollars outlay later on. It is the same in buying Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy. It costs but a few cents, and a bottle of it in the house often saves a doctor's bill of several dollars.

Paris, and Short Skirts.

According to a woman of fashion, who returned this week from Paris to New York, short skirts have gone out of fashion in Paris, and are only worn by those who are unable to buy the new style of frock, which comes to the ankle.

After all of the ineffective preaching, and all of the agitation, official and otherwise, in this country, a few dictators in the great city of styles—Paris—may suddenly issue the death warrant to knee-length skirts in this country. After all, there is a remedy for everything, if we just know where to find it.

Garrett county Republicans have three candidates in the field for State Senator; five for House of Delegates; six for County Treasurer; five for Sheriff, and contests for all other offices. As the county is solidly Republican, nomination stands for election.

For Japanese Women.

An important advance toward the emancipation of Japanese womanhood was made recently when the house of representatives in Tokyo adopted a bill granting women the right to attend political meetings.

THIS BIRD REAL POLLYANNA

No Imaginable Adverse Circumstance Can Keep "Cucuboro" From His Fit of Laughter.

The real Pollyanna of the feathered tribes has just arrived at the bird house in Central park, for if any one can bear up under the name of Cucuboro and still keep cheerful, it shows one of those persistently gay natures that nothing can mitigate. Of course, Cucuboro has won a better deal from the public at large than he did from the ornithologists who saddled him with his gloomy scientific appellation, for the people of Australia, where he comes from, recognize his propensity to "Keep Smiling" by calling him the "Laughing Jackass."

And, equally, of course, he has earned this sobriquet, for he is reported to thrive on vast quantities of water—no matter what other beverages are available—and to have a habit of laughing before he gets up, an hour or so before sunrise. Now, any one who can laugh an hour before dawn on just plain water—even Pollyanna and her followers never did anything so blatantly cheerful as that.

This kingfisher bird, for that is his family, is sometimes hailed as the settlers' clock, because of his regularity in bursting out into a spasm of wild, ribald laughter, that surpasses any alarm clock in rousing the inhabitants of the Australian bush, while it is more than probable that a relapse into this fiendish merriment that takes him about sunset serves for the dwellers in the hinterland as a dinner bell, cathedral chimes, and factory whistle, all in one. They show their gratitude by making a pet of him and protecting him in his merry chorus.—New York Post.

SPAIN GAVE WALES DAFFODIL

First Flowers Said to Have Been Received in Exchange for a Consignment of Coal.

According to an old legend, the first batch of daffodils ever seen in Wales reached there in return for a consignment of coal. The daffodil is indigenous to the Bilboa district, some of whose seafaring inhabitants were about two thousand years ago conveyed by the flow of the Gulf stream to Pembrokehire. There they saw the inhabitants digging what is now known as anthracite, and making fires with it. They also noted that the Welsh were sun worshippers. Taking some of the anthracite back with them, the Spaniards realized its immense superiority over charcoal for the purpose of smelting iron ore, for which the country round Bilboa was celebrated even in those days, so an expedition was organized to procure further supplies from Wales.

As barter for the "black stones" the Spaniards took a consignment of daffodil bulbs, because they thought that people who worshiped the sun would be impressed by the beauty of this flower as it unfolded itself and displayed its form and color, and that in its corona and radiating petals they would see reflected the glory of the sun. Thus used as barter and carefully cultivated by the ancient inhabitants of Wales, the daffodil eventually became the floral emblem of the country.

Pity the Telephone Girl.

One hundred telephone calls a minute, as is usual after any sporting event, were coming in over the wires at the News office after the Kentucky Derby. The majority of the calls were inquiries as to the results of the race, which was won by Behave Yourself in 2:04 1-5.

One enthusiastic baseball fan asked the telephone operator who won the game between the Indians and the Colonels.

"Behave Yourself," was the answer, and a cracked receiver at the other end of the line was the reply.

A little later some one asked how the race was at the quarter.

Another became indignant when the girl replied: "Behave Yourself," thinking she was "kidding" him.—Indianapolis News.

Colonial Styles Endure.

In many parts of this country there has been a decided tendency among manufacturers of furniture to comb European mansions, palaces and museums for possible inspiration in the domestic arts, apparently oblivious to the fact that we have in America what generally is considered one of the most graceful, simple and beautiful types of decorative art—that of the colonial period. That this style is authentic and of intrinsic value, artistic and useful, has been abundantly proved.

That manufacturers have been wise in modifying extreme period designs to meet modern conditions in this country seems pretty well established.

Woman Juror Caused Trouble.

The question as to whether women will make successful "jurymen" has been raised in England by the recent collapse of a woman juror in a Manchester court. The woman became ill and almost swooned during the hearing of a charge of malicious wounding. She finally collapsed, had to leave the court and a substitute had to be found. Of course, the trial had to begin all over again.

Bread of Idleness.

Husband (sadly)—Yes, and so has the five-dollar loaf—the boss laid a lot of us off today.—Boston Transcript.

WHY

Popular Summer Game Became Known as Tennis

Homer, magic word painter, has Naisicaa, princess of Rheasia, playing a game of ball with her maids of honor, which is said to have been the ancestor of modern tennis, after the usual changes and modifications that inevitably occur through the ages.

From Greece and Rome shortly thereafter a like game was taken into other European countries, and during the middle ages we find the royalty, especially the kings of England and France great players of the game.

In France players cried "Tenez," meaning "Take," supposedly meaning "take this ball," with great gusto as they swatted the little ball, and it is from that word that the game is supposed to have derived the name of tennis.

"Tenez" became successively "tenyse," "tenys" and then "tennis" in old English, after the usual procedure of corrupting words of foreign derivation.

For a time tennis was known in England as "rackets," getting that name through another line of nomenclature ancestors, beginning with the Arabian word "rahat," which meant "palm," and was supposed to apply to a game in which the palm of the hand was used as the bat. "Rahat" became "racketta" in Italian, "racquette" in French and was Anglicized into "racket" or "raquet."—Chicago American.

THINK SHIPS SEA MONSTERS

Why Many Creatures of the Deep Follow Vessels for Days Is Explained by Scientist.

Odd as it may seem, there is reliable testimony to the fact that ships are often mistaken by denizens of the deep for monsters after their own kind or liking.

One scientist who specially referred to the matter was the late Prof. Moseley, who, when on the famous Challenger, formed the impression that whales, as well as porpoises, will accompany a ship for several days under the belief that they are attending a huge whale, London Answers says. When the Challenger was in the south Pacific, a "hump-back" whale followed it for nearly a week, and the only conclusion that the scientific staff could come to was that the monster mistook the ship for a brother "hump-back."

The shark is frequently attended by sucker fish and when the latter have lost their shark they often cling to a vessel for days together, under the mistaken idea that the bulky craft is their long-lost friend.

So, too, with that other friend of the shark—the pilot fish. One of these fish will swim for days just before a vessel's bow, which it believes to be a shark's snout.

As time goes on and the huge "shark" does not seize any food and drop the hungry but faithful pilot fish some dainty morsels, the latter departs, thinking, no doubt, that it never before accompanied so stupid and inconsiderate a shark.

Why Phosphorus Is Taboo.

The invention of the phosphorus friction match was a very important step in the development of the match. It was brought into general commercial use in 1833. The first of this type made in the United States were manufactured at Springfield, Mass., in 1836. They were of the "strike anywhere" variety, and the inflammable head consisted of white or yellow phosphorus, together with sulphur and other substances that yield oxygen readily in the presence of heat, such as chlorate of potash, red lead, nitrate of lead and peroxide of manganese. White or yellow phosphorus is a deadly poison, which is liable to infect operatives who handle it with a distressing disease called "phossy jaw." The terrible suffering endured by workmen in match factories led to an international movement for their protection, and the use of white or yellow phosphorus now is forbidden by law in practically every country engaged in the manufacture of matches.

Why Astronomers Need Enthusiasm.

Admiral J. A. Hoegewerf, superintendent of the naval observatory in Washington, has trouble getting astronomers at $1,000 or $1,200 a year, which is the amount allowed for some of the young assistants who gaze nightly at the stars. They work in a cold observatory all through the winter and the admiral says their physical sufferings are often great. They have to be enthusiasts in their profession. The admiral recently received an application from a man who had no qualifications whatever, but when he was told of the amount paid for the services of an assistant he turned up his nose and said he could make much more at his trade, that of a plumber.

Why "Grass Widow."

A woman is known as a "grass widow," because she is a widow by courtesy or "grace." The term "grass widow," which is from the French, means any woman separated from her husband otherwise than by death. The French pronunciation of "grace" is the same as our "grass," which explains the corruption to "grass widow."

Why Heels Are Worn.

Because the sandal-like footgear of olden times was not adapted to horseback riding, and when the high boots were introduced heels were put on for the purpose of giving the foot a good hold on the stirrup.

HOW

VARIOUS INSECTS CARRY ON "BIG INDUSTRIES."

Every living creature is at work performing chemical reactions and carrying on extensive chemical industries, Albert Parsons Sachs writes in the New York Mail. Every living creature is constantly taking its food and converting it into its own body substance, replacing wear and providing growth. Many of our materials for the arts and sciences are the products of living creatures. The labors of insects, their harm to mankind or their usefulness to us in one way or another are pretty well known, but the materials which they produce valuable for commercial use are hardly ever considered.

The bee is our best-known worker. It produces not only honey, which is the sugar leucose in a particularly palatable form, but also beeswax.

The lac insect produces in the foliage of the trees on which it feeds a material which reaches us as shellac, so widely used in varnishes, phonograph records and electrical insulation.

The cochineal insect is used for the manufacture of the dye cochineal, and its compound with aluminum is known as carmine.

The sting of certain insects produces "galls" on various trees which are the source of part of the tannin of commerce.

Spiders' webs have found use as cross-hairs for optical instruments and for a dressing to stop the flow of blood from wounds.

The largest insect industry is the manufacture of silk. The total amount of silk and silk products imported into our country in the year 1919-1920 exceeded 50,000,000 pounds and was valued at more than $500,000,000. That we are appreciative of the product of the silkworm's activity is evidenced by the fact that we used more than half of the world's production of silk in 1919-1920.

ADDS TO VIGOR OF BODY

Why Walk on Windy Day Gives Bracing Effect Has Been Ascertained by Experiments.

Everyone knows the bracing effect of a walk on a windy day. Now the secret of this feeling of vigor has been explained in a report issued by the industrial fatigue research board, which has been making experiments in factories throughout England.

It is pointed out that a cool skin encourages exercise, stimulates deeper breathing, increases circulation and aids digestion. The physical properties of air benefit the body, and when one battles with a sharp autumn wind it is the "air bath" that gives the feeling of vigor with which all are familiar.

Factory owners and theater and moving picture proprietors are advised that for the most beneficial results their rooms should be cool, rather than hot; dry, rather than damp, with a diversity in temperature and a brisk air movement.

The committee also states that the color of clothing worn has a marked effect on body temperature, darker clothing being warmer, irrespective of material.

How Paris May Aid Students.

The creation of a "University City" is being projected in Paris. The municipal council has adopted the scheme and recommends that for this purpose nine hectares (22 1/2 acres) of land, which will be set free by the demolition of fortifications near the Parc de Montsouris, be transferred to the University of Paris.

The price to be paid for the land is 3 1/2 million francs (normally about $2,700,000). It is proposed to construct, in the center of tree-shaded playing fields, buildings, in which students of the Quarter Latin can be comfortably housed at reasonable charges. The buildings will contain a restaurant, library and recreation room, with a garden attached. It is expected that accommodations will be provided for more than two thousand students.

How Glycerin Was Invented.

The first announcement of his discovery of glycerin was made by Karl Wilhelm Scheele, a Swedish chemist, in 1777. The inventor described the substance as "the sweet principle of fats" and named it oelusus. Later investigations by Chevreul, Berthelot and many other chemists resulted in the perfecting of the glycerin which is now so largely used in manufactures, medicines and the arts.

Scheele made many other important discoveries, including tartaric acid, chlorine and baryta. He discovered arsenureted hydrogen and the green color still known as "Scheele's green."

How to Find Lost Radium.

A doctor recently threw away a $6,000 tube of radium which became mixed up with some bandages which were consigned to the furnace. A radium expert was summoned and he sprinkled zinc sulfide all about the cellar and then turned on the lights. Soon the anxious watchers saw a small glowing patch among the ashes in the furnace and found the tube of radium, which by its action had caused the zinc sulfide to become luminous. The doctor will be more careful in future.—Scientific American.

CULTIVATE HABIT OF THRIFT

Practice Means That One Will Be Ready to Seize Opportunity When It Comes.

Practice thrift habitually. Make it a part of your routine as eating and sleeping. Get yourself systematized. Work on a definite schedule. Save regular amounts. Plan your work and your actions so that you will have no idle time, no lost motion, no wasted energy.

These are among the secrets of success, happiness and progress.

The time to begin the cultivation of thrift habits is now.

The most important message that can be conveyed to the people of this nation today is: "Get the thrift habit." Practice thrift not for a brief interval or intermittently, but habitually.

Disraeli said, "The greatest secret of success in life is to be ready when our opportunity comes."

This brief sentence furnishes one of the best reasons for practicing thrift that ever has been given. It presents a phase of the question to which not enough attention is paid. Ordinarily thrift is looked upon as a means of safeguarding one against possible emergencies or of building up an accumulation of money for some definite purpose. But there are many unexpected turns in the pathway of life.—Thrift Magazine.

Friendly Warning.

Under the caption "A Friendly Hint" the following forcibly worded advertisement in Livingston's New York Gazette of January 18, 1775, was directed against a resident who had made a grievous financial error, very much to his own advantage:

"If a merchant of this city who lives near the Exchange, not many miles from Broad street, does not within 14 days from the above date return £10 which, by mistake, he was overpaid in settling an account, a narrative of the whole transaction, with his name at length, will be published in a future paper and the truth of it supported by an affidavit. If, in the meantime, the gentleman should recollect the error and will make any overtures to Mr. Boole at Mrs. Haight's, in Smith street, secrecy will be observed."

PARROT MADE MUCH TROUBLE

Abilities of Brooklyn Bird Entirely Unappreciated by the Women of the Neighborhood.

For several weeks past young women passing along Hanson place have been much annoyed by loud whistling, apparently coming from someone who wished to attract their attention. The whistling has had a most peculiar effect, depending on the temperament of the women. Some have quickened their pace and tried to get away; others have turned and surveyed the man who happened to be behind with flushed faces and angry glances. One or two have even complained to the police, while a few have lagged to find out what it was all about.

Recently a highly indignant woman complained to a policeman.

"That man behind me has been whistling to attract my attention for five minutes," she said. "I wish you would stop it."

Much to her amazement the policeman laughed unrestrainedly. He pointed with his hand to a window opposite the Hanson Place Baptist church and there sat the culprit, winking and whistling away. It was a gray parrot with a long red tail. He had learned to whistle like a mischievous country boy, but he reserved his tricks for the women passing. For some time the flirtatious parrot has upset the equanimity of the entire neighborhood.—Brooklyn Eagle.

The Smugglers

By WILL T. AMES

(Copyright, 1919, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

There was no long, black, rakish lugger. There was no cave, wind swept and spray washed, carved by the erosion of a million years of breakers far into the face of a cliff. There was no secret underground passage leading from the back of the cave to the manor house of the titled leader of the smugglers; there was no clash of cutlasses; no band of bearded adventurers ready to lay down their lives for the swashbuckling, handsome young chieftain.

There was a trawler, an inshore trawler 30 feet long with a tiny cabin forward and a little glass hut like a wee conning tower to protect the steersman's head as he stood on the cockpit floor and ran his ship, engine and wheel, quite alone; for she was a one-man boat.

Ashore, at a spot where the river road ran but half a dozen rods from the estuary, there was waiting a one-ton motortruck. And there was as fine a cargo of contraband in the trawler as was ever boated ashore from any lugger or battled over in the dark by soldiers and blue-water bullies, since custom houses, and their evasion, were invented.

Travis' part in the transaction looked easy. All he had to do was to meet the tramp a mile due south of Ducks and Drakes' light at ten o'clock, take the 40 cases aboard, run into the sequestered estuary which was his home harbor, anyhow, help the man of the motortruck load the stuff and collect $10 a case from the truck driver.

Four hundred dollars for a night's work is a lot of money to a trawler. And Ben particularly needed that $400. As to the risk—"Piffle!" said Kimpinski. Kimpinski, junk dealer, was the owner of the truck, and its driver for this occasion. "If the government was looking for some one for a few bottles of booze, would they let a ship-load of it go along the coast like a peddler, maybe? Sure, it's all fixed. Everywhere it is coming in. The coast guards—shaw! They can see nothing; the wind is blowing hundred-dollar bills in their eyes!"

Arose Out of the Hedge to Greet Him.

There seemed to be sense to this. If the government were, indeed, as zealous in the suppression of contraband liquor as it was supposed to be, would it be likely to concern itself with small fry like Ben, and still permit a big ship to cruise the coast, dropping off her illicit cargo here and there to fishermen, tugs and coastwise schooners? Surely it must be well "fixed." And Ben was young and adventurous; he didn't put much stock in the eighteenth amendment anyhow—and he needed the money; Caroline and he needed it.

Caroline was helping in the matter of the bungalow, too. She went into town five evenings a week and taught foreigners in the evening school. It's strange how things happen, how they dovetail; one of Caroline's pupils was Kimpinski's eldest son, a man grown but young. Kimpinski came to the school and called his son out into the hall. Afterward, near the door where Kimpinski had stood Caroline picked up a crumpled telegram, addressed to the junk man and signed by an initial. It said:

"Try Benjamin Travis, trawl fisherman, Sandy Bay."

It was rather startling to Caroline. Also it happened that young Isadore Finkelstein confided to Miss Webster that Kimpinski was a bad man, a law-smasher already.

Now it was that Caroline had just been reading an old-time novel—one of the lugger and cave sort—and as she read it the thought had come to her that the dashing, handsome smuggler hero must have looked a good deal like Ben. So, with what she knew about the mysterious telegram and Kim-pinski's reputation, when Ben a couple of evenings later told her the next night he would have to be out all night in his boat—a most unusual thing—something jumped up in Caroline's throat and her heart beat in fear.

No man could have deduced that Kimpinski had gotten Ben and his boat mixed up in liquor smuggling. Any woman could, especially one who knew Ben's streak of recklessness, and who had been reading lugger stories.

Wherefore, as Ben's trawler chugged up to an anchorage three rods from the shore where Kimpinski's truck waited, on as dark a night as you can have when there are no stars, and when Ben, with six of the cases piled into his skiffboat, rowed ashore, four coastguard gobs and a coastguard lieutenant arose out of the hedge to greet him, and at the same instant two others stepped from behind the trees where they had been watching Kimpinski for 20 minutes, and grabbed the junkman by the collar.

"We'll just trouble you for the loan of your skiff, Travis," said the officer, "till we bring the rest of that stuff ashore ourselves. Then you can take her and go about your business. You're a very lucky chap."

It was at the front gate of Caroline Webster's home that they had it out the next afternoon. Caroline, pale, but determined, met Ben there and talked to him over the barrier instead of swinging it open, as usual, in mute welcome.

"I know what happened last night," she began, taking the situation by the horns. "It was I who informed—if you want to call it that."

Travis looked at her as if she had struck him in the face.

"You!"

"Yes, I, Ben Travis; you and I have been nearly three years trying to get a home together so as to start right. It has meant just as much to me as it has to you. And in my way I've worked just as hard for it as you have. But if we ever do have a home together, Ben, it's got to be one without a stain on it. It has got to be earned straight and kept straight."

"I could have pretended not to know anything about that escapade of yours. Or I could have let it go and then pleaded with you afterward not to do it any more. But that wouldn't do—neither of these things would do—for me. You've got a wild streak in you, Ben, that's got to be driven out."

"So when I made up my mind that you were getting into this crooked liquor smuggling—crooked it is, Ben, no matter what you may think—I went straight into town and saw the commandant of the coast guard station. I told them what I felt sure was going to be done, but I wouldn't tell them where nor who was probably in it, until they promised to let you go—and let Kimpinski go, too, for the information he could give them—if they could only get the goods and get at the people higher up, the big men behind the business. They didn't want to make terms like that, but by and by they consented. Today the commandant told me over the phone that Kimpinski had 'come through' and the men who are financing this traffic are going to the penitentiary."

"Ben, I don't know how you're going to take this. Maybe you'll think that a woman who will do a thing like what I did isn't a good enough pal to tie up to. If you do, I can't help it. But if you come through that gate it's got to be as a man who is through, for good and all, with every thought of getting an easy dollar by breaking the law of the land." Caroline unlatched the gate and stood back.

And Kimpinski wasn't the only smuggler who "came through."

CONDOR'S REALM IS INVADED

Crossing of the Andes by Aviators Is Annoying to the Great Birds.

The Andes are becoming quite blasé to crossings and the condors are understood to be highly annoyed at the constant invasion of their private residences at 15,000 feet or so of altitude. Since Jorge Newbery met the fate of the courageous pioneer there have been several successful crossings. The name of the former will always be connected with the Cordillera with the same melancholy celebrity that attaches to the death of Lord Francis Douglass and Mr. Harlow on the Matterhorn.

The most recent disturber of the wild mountain solitudes is a Chilean military aviator, Lieut. Armando Cortinez, who descended at Mendoza after leaving the military flying school ground of Lo Espejo, near Santiago de Chile. He broke his propeller in landing and was obliged to wait for spare parts and a mechanic.

As he went up merely to attempt an altitude flight and had no leave to cross the frontier chain, the lieutenant will be put under arrest on his return, while being given all credit for his plucky achievement. Discipline is discipline.—Buenos Aires Standard.

Confusion of Names.

Aunt Matilda came back from town, proud of her new purchase. It was a "transformation," one of those front pieces of hair which are reputed to make one look young. But Aunt Matilda's made her look more than young—decidedly "loud," if you please.

The tiniest piece went to tell mother. "Oh, mother, come here and see Aunt Matilda's confirmation," she called.

The high school nephew winked at his chum. "She'd better call it her confirmation, I think," he whispered. "Judging from the impression it has created or—"

PROPERLY RANKED AS HERO

Deserved Tribute to Collie Who Gave Master the "Last Full Measure of Devotion."

Clyde Scott, four years old, lies dying on his father's farm near Beckley, W. Va. His pet collie is dead. A vicious sow, bearing the scars of battle to the finish, is so badly mangled that she must be killed, too.

It is one of those simple stories of a dog to which all human sympathy responds, remarks the Baltimore Sun. The boy, playing in the yard, was attacked by the sow, which had escaped its pen. Hearing the child's screams the collie rushed to the rescue and engaged the sow in fight. It needs no assurance of the telegraphed item to tell him who knows his dog the details.

The child's mother came into the picture, bearing her torn baby to safety. But the dog remained. His was a supreme duty, that knew no compromise. The infuriated sow was a menace to those he loved. It was his business to remove that menace, and into the job he put his concern. It was his concern only to remove the menace, and at any cost. His own life mattered not at all, and in the end he lost it, in as noble a struggle for what he believed to be righteous as any that ever brightened the annals of man or nation.

We do not know the little collie's name. If we did we should like to print it in honorable memory of his gallant conduct. He was a soldier and a gentleman; he was a devoted comrade and playmate; he was all that a dog is and that a man should be. We hope he had a Christian burial, for he was a Christian, if to be Christian implies sacrifice of self and love for others. He was all of that and he was a hero—a hero on four legs.

PLAGUE THAT FOLLOWS WAR

In All Ages Rinderpest Has Marked the Path Taken by Armies on Their March.

The newspapers told recently of the trouble that arose when the authorities of Montevideo refused to admit to that port a little dog owned by a woman who had taken it there on a passenger steamer, the refusal being based upon the epidemic of rinderpest prevailing among the cattle of Uruguay. Rinderpest is the most terrible of the diseases that affect cattle, and is often called simply "cattle plague."

It affects, so far as is known, only the ruminant, cloven-footed animals—oxen, sheep, goats, camels, etc.—but is so infectious that it may be carried from one herd to another by attendants, dogs, cats and birds or by fodder. Therefore, the dog was excluded from fear not that it would contract the disease but that it might contribute to spreading it.

The cause of rinderpest is not yet definitely known, but it is an ancient disease which always breaks out after great wars. The ravages of the Goths and Huns in the early Middle Ages were followed by frightful epidemics. Its commonest symptoms are fever, cough, dysentery and exhaustion. Its mortality is high, but the disease is not necessarily fatal.

Grossmith Defines Humor.

Lawrence Grossmith, the English comedian, is quoted as saying: "There is no more difference between English and American humor than there is between English and American tragedy. All humor, whether it be English or American, depends upon the seriousness with which the person trying to be humorous acts the fool. This may sound like a paradox, but it is one of the most extraordinary paradoxes which are vitally true. If an actor does not enter into his humor with the full possession of his senses and all his faculties he misses the most of it."

"To be humorous it is necessary to lose oneself in one's part, retaining just sufficient introspective faculties to feel the sincerity of one's acting. Sincerity here, as in all other branches of acting is the mainstay. And 'sincerity' gets across the footlights whether it is in Germany, France, England or America, whether in tragedy, comedy, musical or dramatic plays."

Kaiser's Coach Brought Trade.

The ex-kaiser's gala carriage is for sale in Berlin. "One of the best strokes of business I ever made was to buy it," said Herr Zielka, owner of a Friedrichstrasse establishment containing a restaurant, billiard room and a theater of varieties, according to the Continental edition of the London Mail.

"I bought it from the court-marshal and used it as an advertisement for the theater. Every night the carriage drove up to my theater and out stepped a grand gentleman or lady with the air of a royal personage. Naturally, crowds followed into the theater. Unhappily the royalists made such a fuss that the police forbade me to continue using it."

Road Building in India.

There is considerable activity in road making in various cities in India, depending upon the local authorities. In some places stone rollers, pulled by gangs of men, are used, and in other places steam rollers are to be found. A very useful machine is used in Lucknow, that has two rollers, the front one a steering roller. The rear chain is driven by a gasoline engine. It has a large gasoline tank and is well adapted for light work.

AIREDALE DOG NOT SCOTCH

Breed Had Its Origin in Yorkshire, England, and Is a Comparative Newcomer.

Your airedale is not a Scotch dog. He is not of Scotch ancestry and no blood of Scotch dogs flows in his veins. He is an Irish and English dog. The name of his breed does not come from the County Ayr in Scotland, but from the River Aire in Yorkshire, England. Nor is the airedale an old breed of dog, as such things are measured in the dog world. It is neither an old family nor a "first family" among dogs. The airedale is a newcomer. Dogs of this breed were first exhibited at Shipley, in Yorkshire in 1876, and they were then called, not airedale, but "waterside terriers." These dogs were produced by crossing an English otter hound with an Irish terrier, believed to have been a red terrier, and later adding a dash of bull terrier blood. The combination produced a dog second to no other dog in intelligence, bravery, gameness in a fight, loyalty to his master and his master's family, and kindness to children.

The word "airedale," as the name of this new kind of dog, was first used in 1883 at the national dog show at Birmingham, England, where these entries were described as "airedales or waterside terriers." The name "waterside terriers" fell into disuse. The English Kennel club was slow and conservative in recognizing this as a new and distinct breed of dog, but referred to them as "broken-haired terriers."

TRACE INSTITUTION TO ADAM

Ancient and Honorable Order of Henpecked Husbands Claims First Man Was Chairman.

Easter Monday is the henpecked husband's day in Yorkshire, and the members of the Ancient and Honorable Order of Henpecked Husbands held high revel together in hillside villages, says the London Morning Post.

The club is one of those freak institutions established in pure fun, though the members do declare that it dates from Adam, who was the first chairman of the order.

Really it is a survival of the days when freak clubs flourished in the country—the days of the Elanites of Bradford, known locally as the Low Moor Liars, whose test of membership was the ability to drink a quart of beer without stopping to take a breath, and to tell a thumping lie.

The biggest liar was elected mayor for the three months following and had the privilege of free beer at all meetings during his term of office.

Another quaint organization was the Pudsey Bletherhead Tea club, a body which, judged by its name, might have been mistaken for a tea-drinking institution, but which declared its object to be the promotion of beer-drinking and the playing of chess.

Egyptian Decorative Ideas.

Experts tell us that in the decoration of furniture the Egyptian cabinet maker never veiled construction. He obeyed the sound principle and precept that decoration should spring from construction, and not construction from decoration.

Elements of ornament apparently were the same in private as in public buildings. These elements were the lotus and papyrus flowers, the palm branch and the feathers of birds, as well as a number of geometrical patterns derived from primitive arts of weaving and plaiting. The simple or complex treatment of lotus and papyrus flowers, buds, leaves and stems, it is asserted, made the Egyptian system of mural decoration rich, varied and glowing, as well as thoroughly in harmony with the scale of color set by nature in the Nile valley.

Man Shoulders Not Level.

To the majority of persons the statement that their shoulders are not of the same height will come as a surprise, but tailors know that almost invariably the left shoulder is higher than the right.

If a baby's shoulders are measured it will be found that they are exactly even. That they do not remain so is blamed upon parents, who as a rule lead their young and growing children by the left hand.

This is a natural manner of leading the child, and it shields it from bumps of persons met in their walks, but the muscles and bones are thus continually raised and in the end drawn permanently out of position, although the change is so slight that it is not noticeable unless accurate measurements are taken.

Nails.

A machine for making nails was patented on May 18, 1824. To America belongs the distinction of being the first to make cut nails by machinery. With the advent of machine-cut nails the household industry of nail-making rapidly declined. The hand-made nail was pinched in a vise, with a portion projecting; a few blows with a hammer flattened one end into a head, which was beaten into a counter sunk in the vise, in this manner regulating its size and shape. Nails were also made by forging on an anvil.

Laboring Under Difficulties.

"There must be something wrong with the clarinet player in this orchestra. Every now and then he blows a sour note."

"He's married to the ingenue. Every time she kisses anybody on the stage he forgets his music."

LESSON FOR JULY 24

SAUL PROCLAIMS JESUS AS THE CHRIST.

LESSON TEXT—Acts 9:19b-30.
GOLDEN TEXT—Thou art the Christ,
the Son of the living God.—Matt. 16:16.
REFERENCE MATERIAL—Acts 18:
24-28.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Saul Telling Others
About Jesus.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Saul Winning Others to Jesus.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC
—Getting Ready for a New Career.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC
—Saul Begins His Ministry.

I. Saul Preaching Christ in Damascus (vv. 19b-22).

After Saul was baptized he remained certain days with the believers in Damascus (v. 19b). How beautiful to think of the transformation which took place!—one who was so passionately bent on the destruction of the disciples was now enjoying fellowship with them.

1. Straightway preaching in the synagogue (v. 20). Saul, like every one who is really converted, begins to tell of the newly found Savior. Every Christian should be taught that it is his business as soon as saved to help to save others.

2. The people amazed (v. 21). They knew that the very one who had been ringleader in persecuting the Christians in Jerusalem and had come to Damascus for the express purpose of bringing them bound to the chief priests, was now passionately advocating that which he had so vehemently sought to destroy.

3. The Jews confounded (v. 22). Saul retired into Arabia for three years. During this time he was taught the full truth of his mission (Gal. 1:17, 18). Saul increased in spiritual strength and confounded the Jews, proving that Jesus was not only the Son of God, but their Messiah. His proof, no doubt, was by citation from the Old Testament prophecies, showing that the life, death and resurrection of Jesus exactly paralleled them. That Christ died and rose again from the dead, no one then could deny; the transformation of Saul from a hater to an ardent witness was a proof which could not be gainsaid.

II. Saul Escapes From the Jews (vv. 23-25).

He used the Scriptures with such skill that the Jews could not answer him. Finding that the argument was against them, the Jews took counsel how they might destroy Saul. So intent were they upon killing him that they watched the gates of the city day and night that they might take him. When this was known to the disciples they let him down at night in a basket by the wall.

III. Saul Visits Jerusalem (vv. 26-29a).

This journey to Jerusalem was in strange contrast with the one from Jerusalem to Damascus. The one was the leader of an important expedition under the authority of the Jewish officers with the prospect of a place of distinction in the councils of the Jewish nation. Now he is an outcast, disowned by his countrymen, and fleeing for his life.

1. Suspected by the disciples (v. 26). The believers at Jerusalem had not heard fully about Saul's conversion. They knew nothing of his sojourn in Arabia and his preaching at Damascus after his return, so they regarded him as a spy. "Part of the penalty of wrong-doing is the difficulty of restoration in the good opinion of honorable men." But it is infinitely better to be regarded with suspicion when genuinely true than to be trusted as genuine when a hypocrite.

2. Barnabas' confidence in Saul (v. 27). He was a man filled with the Holy Spirit (Acts 11:24); therefore, able to discern the reality of Saul's conversion. He was in reality a "son of consolation," and in this instance showed his kindly spirit.

3. Saul in fellowship with the disciples (v. 28). They went in and out together. Peter received him into his home, since his object in going to Jerusalem was to see Peter (Gal. 1:18). He abode with him 15 days.

4. Saul disputing with the Grecians (v. 29). He was not content to merely visit with the brethren; he spoke boldly in the name of the Lord Jesus Christ.

IV. Saul Sent to Tarsus (vv. 29b, 30).

A conspiracy similar to the one at Damascus was formed against Saul. When the brethren knew of it they sent him to Tarsus. Saul's life is in danger everywhere except among the Gentiles. He is now back to the place of his birth. The first and best place for one's testimony is in his home.

When in Tribulation.

When thou art in tribulation, and all these things are come upon thee, even in the latter days, if thou turn to the Lord thy God, and shalt be obedient unto His voice (for the Lord thy God is a merciful God), He will not forsake thee.—Deuteronomy, 4:30, 31

A Sabbath Thought.

O come, let us worship and bow down; let us kneel before the Lord our Maker. For He is our God; and we are the people of His pasture.—Psalm 95:6, 7

THE CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR TOPIC

From —
Moody Bible Institute Monthly
Chicago, Ill.

July 24 The Perils of Materialism 1 John 2:15-17

In the verses immediately preceding our Scripture lesson, three different kinds of Christians come into view, namely, the "little children," the "young men," and the "fathers." Their experiences vary. The little children are those just entering upon the Christian life. Their "sins are forgiven" and they "know the Father." Trust is the characteristic of the child life. The young men are those engaged in spiritual conflict. They have "overcome the wicked one." Strength and conquest are their distinctions. The fathers are characterized by knowledge. They know, that is, they have a firm grasp on spiritual principles, and in the light of those principles are able to reach wise decisions.

Whether children, young men or fathers in spiritual experience, there is a subtle danger always confronting us. It is the danger of worldliness. The world here is not to be understood as the world stained and crushed by sin, and crying out in its need, but the world with its sinful tendencies and impulses that everywhere hold sway. This is the world that is opposed to God and spiritual things. "Set not yourself on the world," said Samuel Rutherford, "God hath not made it your portion." Against this love of the world, the Apostle gives strong warning. Between the love of the Father and the love of the world there is necessarily conflict. Conformity to the world has in all ages proved the ruin of the church. "It is utterly impossible," said Roland Hill, "to live in nearness to God and in fellowship with the world." Sin and holiness cannot be merged. Love of earthly things crowds out the love of the Father.

Between these we must choose. There is no middle ground. Man must satisfy carnal desire or spiritual craving. Carnal desire is the lust or the desire for fleshly things. Materialism is desire fixed upon wrong objects. The Christian must fix his desire on things above. The lust or desire of the eyes is that process of imagination unrestrained by grace, and from which the child of God must be continually kept. The pride of life is that unholy ambition which is focused upon the material rather than the spiritual. But all these worldly and material things pass away, while he that doeth the will of God abideth forever.

Giant French Machine.

From France it is reported that the Etablissement Schneider of Creusot, manufacturers of guns, armor, locomotives and other steel products, are hard at work on a new four-engined military airplane in which the four engines will be arranged in tandem inside a central fuselage. The wing span will be about 100 feet, and the power plant is to consist of four engines of 400 horsepower each. The machine will be designed for bombing work, and will carry several machine guns. The Farman "Goliath" pilot, Lieut. Gonin, has been engaged to test the first machine, while it is possible that Casale, who has already tested the Bleriot "Mammouth," will test the second machine.—Scientific American.

Snow Geese.

The only known flock of snow geese in existence, containing more than 5,000, weighing an average of eight pounds each, arrived recently at Cape Tourmente, Quebec, on its annual northern migration from the Southern states. Each year the birds make this a stopping-off place on their way to the Labrador coast, and have been known to do so for more than forty years. The flock has been closely protected, and this year moving pictures were taken of them by the moving picture service of the Dominion parks branch, Ottawa.

Sea Serpent Proved Hawser.

The first sea serpent tale of the season was brought to New York by the liner Munamar, from Antilla, Cuba. On Sunday Captain Andrew Osborn saw something off the port bow. Passengers lined the rail and the Munamar was headed for the object. When alongside, seamen reached down with boathooks and grabbed it. They drew up a 34-foot length of a ship's hawser with a wooden keg on one end.

The Garden Plot.

The range of choice in the location of a city garden must necessarily be somewhat limited. Good drainage, sunshine and a suitable soil should be kept in mind in selecting a site for the garden. Where fowls and stray stock are likely to interfere ample protection must be provided by a good fence—a problem that must be carefully considered especially in the cultivation of vacant lots. If the soil is poor or very heavy, well rotted stable manure will help correct these conditions. Commercial fertilizers may also be used to furnish plant food where the soil lacks in the necessary elements.

Material for Stone House.

The stone house is very adaptable to all those regions where this material can be secured from the excavation of the cellar or from some neighboring road improvement. Sometimes an old stone wall serves as a source of supply. Because of the native character of this material it will always be in harmony with the landscape.

Home Town Helps

SEE CITIZENSHIP AS A DUTY

Happy the Community Which Has a Number of Public-Spirited Men and Women.

A good citizen is a man or woman who takes a real interest in his or her home and the community in which he or she is maintaining that home.

A good citizen is one who makes every effort within his means to make the community a better place in which to maintain the home.

A good citizen does not "forget" when election day comes round. He makes it a point to remember that it is his duty as well as his privilege to exercise the right to the ballot.

A good citizen takes the time and trouble to study the candidates in the field at election time. He looks into their records, weighs the facts concerning each one, and determines their worth as public officials. Then he votes accordingly with reasonable intelligence.

A good citizen studies the propositions that will be submitted to him at election. He weighs the value of the issues, determines from the facts as he understands them, whether the propositions are good or bad. And he votes accordingly with reasonable intelligence.

A good citizen, then, is one who fulfills his civic, home, and political duties; one who is a part of the government of himself and his fellow men through the ballot that is given him by the American Constitution. He is not a sidestepper. He meets the issues squarely and answers promptly when his name is called. He is present at the polls on election day and he knows what he is doing when he casts his ballot.—Quincy, (Ill.) Whig.

WILL DELIGHT THE CHILDREN

Vine-Covered Playhouse Which Can Be Made to Add to Appearance of the Lawn.

An attractive children's playhouse which does not spoil the appearance of the lawn, can be made as shown in the drawing. It consists of a wooden frame covered with wire netting, over which vines are grown. The frame is made of seven six-foot two-by-fours.

Vine-Covered Playhouse Pleases the Children and Does Not Injure the Appearance of the Lawn.

the rafters being set with their bases five feet apart. These are then covered with wire netting, and the seeds of wild morning-glory, clematis, or other rapid-growing vines are planted along the edges. The frame may be painted green for better appearance. In six or eight weeks, the playhouse is very attractively covered with vines and furnishes a fine place for the children to play.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Evil in Scarcity of Homes.

Much of the unrest of the country is due to the scarcity of homes, according to F. Roger Miller, secretary of the chamber of commerce, Macon, Ga., who addressed the convention of the National Association of Commercial Organization Secretaries at their meeting in Chicago.

"Marriages have continued at the rate of 1,040,000 yearly in the United States," he said. "But in 1918 only 20,000 new homes were erected, while in 1919 the number of new homes was only 70,000."

"This home shortage is not due to the war, but to a neglect of the principles and ideals of our forefathers. Out of every 100 Americans 60 are discontented."

Mr. Miller suggested placing the housing problem upon a community basis, with opportunity for every man to buy a home suitable to his income, and enactment of bills to provide federal aid for home builders.

The Tide Cityward.

The congestion of population in urban districts is an old complaint. It seems to be an inevitable consequence of our industrial civilization, and none of the schemes for checking it have proved effective. The disclosure by the census that the cities are growing seven and a half times faster than the rural districts is therefore no surprise. It is not so much that the cities have forged ahead as that the country has fallen behind. In the years from 1910 to 1920, indeed, the cities have gained only five new inhabitants where they gained six in the preceding decade. But rural growth has been only one-third as great.

COLORS DISLIKED IN CHINA

Green Considered Unlucky, and White and Blue, as Mourning Symbols, Are to Be Avoided.

Green, which is thought to be unlucky, is much disliked in China and a recent English consular report warns merchants against packing goods in green paper. White and blue wrappings are equally to be avoided, for in China they are the mourning colors. The report points out that English pins packed in blue paper proved to be unsaleable, while much inferior German pins put up in red paper were snapped up at once. Red is the color of good fortune among the Chinese. Brown is liked, if it possesses a reddish shade; so are the brighter tints of pink. Carpets and curtains should possess a yellow ground, which is an extremely popular color in both China and Korea as well as Japan. Purple, too, is liked, and gold is the imperial color. While yellow is so popular in China, it is by no means wise to use it in Japan. There yellow, or rather saffron, is the color of the robes of the Sadhu caste of Hindus, who are notorious seditious mongers. Dressed in flowing saffron robes, a number of mendicants of the Sadhu caste have been recently moving all over India, preaching sedition. At Dinapur two of these men were caught in a barrack room, preaching mutiny to the native troops, and were promptly arrested. Upon them were found seditious letters written upon silk of the same color as their garments. The Sadhu yellow is supposed to represent the combined color of sun and sky, and in India is as much the color of rebellion as the red flag in Europe.

BUDAPEST GRAND OLD CITY

Hungarian Capital Has Many Beautiful Buildings and Its Surroundings Are Charming to the Eye.

Although the Hungarian capital is best known as Budapest, the Pesth quarter of the city is by far the most important and old Buda is only a small section across the Danube, on the right bank. The castle is also situated on the same side of the river and from the palace grounds one has a fine birdseye view of the handsome city, with the fine Gothic Parliament building to the left and St. Stephen's church, whose dome matches in height the dome of the Parliament building, the most prominent feature in the close-packed city beyond the busy Danube.

The people of Budapest love pleasure and for miles along the river there are bathing places where young and old mass on the sands or paddle about in graceful canoes. Across from Pesth rise rounded hills dotted with small villages and summer villages from which one has lovely views of the teeming city, the wide plain, and the winding river.

Reactionary as much of the sentiment of Budapest is, it has an unusual number of monuments to Hungary's revolutionary and liberal leaders and many of the streets have been named after those whose fame came through fighting oppression.—National Geographic Magazine.

Women Disregard Suffrage.

Suffrage still seems a long way off for women of the South American countries, but the subject is at least regarded with indulgence in Argentina. An informal election for city officials was conducted by the women of Buenos Aires with the permission of the government. Following the history of the movement in all countries the interest of the women themselves is hard to arouse in the Argentine, but four thousand voting at this election, although the city has at least three hundred thousand women. The pioneer woman suffragist of the Argentine, Senora Lopez-Nelson, and the group of women of which she is the head, have succeeded in securing widespread discussion of the subject and now are concentrating their efforts toward arousing the interest of women in a bill to amend the constitution providing for universal suffrage, which will be presented at the next national congress.

Fruit From South Africa.

Fruits from South Africa are the latest novelty in the New York city food markets. Not only do the African fruits appeal to the palate of those who long for peaches, plums and melons of summer time, but they are a delight to the eye. Strange crosses of peaches and plums and apples have resulted in colors of deep red splashed with yellow in odd shapes that are unfamiliar to most of us. The fruits are all carefully selected and packed in excelsior. They come under refrigeration, mostly by way of England, the trip taking a minimum of four weeks.—Scientific American.

The Perils of Westchester.

Wild deer are frequently seen around here, causing a certain amount of uneasiness to timid mothers as to the safety of their children. Talant necessary to worry, ladies, as the animals are absolutely harmless. A wild deer driving an auto on the public highway is much more to be dreaded.—North Castle Sun.

Wealth From Alaska.

The mining industry in Alaska, which began in 1880, when the gold placers at Juneau were first exploited, has produced more than $418,000,000 worth of gold, silver, copper, tin, tungsten, antimony, coal, petroleum, marble, gypsum, chromites, platinum and palladium.

TANEYTOWN LOCALS

Brief Items of Local News of Special Interest to Our Home Readers.

John Ohler, wife and child, of Gettysburg, is spending a few days with W. D. Ohler.

O. J. Stonesifer, editor of the Pilot, Union Bridge, paid our office a fraternal visit, this week.

Taneytown was liberally represented at the Sunday School Convention, in Westminster, on Tuesday.

Both Mrs. Clarence King and Miss Bettie Ott, at Frederick Hospital, are reported to be getting along well.

Mrs. Nellie Helms, of Cohoes, New York, is spending some time with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. G. Shoemaker.

Harry I. Reindollar and family, Mrs. Mary Crapster and daughter, Elizabeth are camping near Zora, Pa., for two weeks.

Misses Theresa and Sarah McFadden, of Holmesburg, Penna., are visiting Miss Percy Adelaide Shriver, on Fairview Avenue.

Miss Bertha V. Lloyd, of York, visited the past week at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Murray E. Ness, at Baust Church Parsonage.

The new dwelling being built by William Little, is progressing rapidly and compares favorably with the other handsome buildings in our rapidly growing annex.

Jesse L. Bowers, who was taken to Frederick City Hospital several weeks ago, for a very severe operation, has returned home, much improved in health.

Jacob Buffington, of New Oxford, visited his brothers John and James, this week. He is a loyal Taneytown, and "rooted" for the home club on Saturday.

By the way, what has become of the safety-gate, or the alarm bell proposition, at the railroad crossing? The situation there is just as dangerous as it ever was.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sherald and two children, of Annapolis, are spending some time with Mr. and Mrs. John E. E. Hess, and helping care for Mr. Hess who has been very ill for the past week.

A card received from Miss Elizabeth Study, of Westminster, who says she is spending two weeks around Gananoque, Ontario, and Thousand Islands, and that it is very beautiful there.

The Railroad Company placed new and larger drain tile under the railroad crossing, this week, in order to provide for carrying off of the great quantity of water that collects during a heavy rain.

As it is the custom of all electric light companies to shut off the current during electrical storms, it will be wise policy for everybody to keep a supply of lamps in good trim, ready for such emergencies.

Notwithstanding repeated warnings, there are still many who run both cars and teams at night, without lights, or let them stand along the streets unlighted. These are bold invitations for fines.

We are reliably informed that electric current for street lighting, either now is, or will be available in a very few days. All that will be necessary, then will be authority from our town officials to begin the service.

(For the Record.)
Mr. and Mrs. Albert Frock, Mark Spangler and Albert Krug, of Gettysburg, spent Sunday in Shippensburg, with Miss Nellie Frock. E. Ross Koons will leave July 23rd, with Troop No. 1, Boy Scouts, Gettysburg, on a week's camping trip to York Haven.

The extended drouth of the summer was checked for the first time, last Friday evening, by a heavy down-pour, accompanied by a strong wind that in some neighborhoods was a storm, doing damage to the corn and trees; and again on Tuesday evening a very heavy rain fell in a short time. Both of these rains would have been "soakers," had the fall covered a half day each.

Many auto drivers seem to fail to understand that they must slack up, and stop, if necessary, to permit persons on foot to cross the street in safety on crossings. It is not the duty of foot travellers, while on crossings, "to look out for themselves," but the duty of auto drivers to see that they do not run anybody down. Persons crossing a street, not at regular crossings, do so with less safety, but a regular crossing stands for their legal safety.

Clyde F. Daily, of Gettysburg, formerly of Taneytown, has purchased the building known as "Lee's headquarters," on Seminary Ridge, and will convert it into a war museum.

Joshua Koutz, champion long-distance pedestrian among our oldest citizens, came near getting a bump, last Sunday morning, while walking on the railroad track, just south of town, from the passenger train engine going north. But, the train slacked up, Joshua stepped off, and—all's well that ends well.

Taneytown Baseball Notes.

The game with New Oxford, last Saturday, proved to be a rather easy victory for the home club, by the score 7 to 1. Taneytown played a real game, almost errorless, and hit the ball hard. Denver Hitchcock made two home runs. The single run of the visitors was unearned. They played a fine, fielding game, however, but failed to hit Bonsack, who gave his best exhibition of the season. A large crowd of "rooters" accompanied New Oxford. The score was—

Taneytown 1-0-4-0-0-0-2-0-x=7

N. Oxford 0-0-0-0-0-0-1-0=1
On Wednesday, the home team visited Fairfield, and swamped the Pennsylvanians, 11 to 0. This was the second heavy defeat given that team this season. In the absence of Bonsack, who could not go with the team, substitute pitcher Shafer accompanied the home team. The game stood 4-0 until the eighth inning, when the Fairfield pitcher weakened, and a few errors accompanying heavy hitting, resulted in 7 additional runs. The work of Shafer, and the Taneytown team generally, was almost errorless.

Another game with Hanover, is scheduled for Saturday afternoon, on the home ground.

Hot Weather Rules for Shipping Hogs.

The following suggestions will prove valuable to shippers of hogs during the hot months of summer:

Haul or drive your hogs to the shipping station in ample time to allow them to become rested and cool before loading.

When ordering a car for loading hogs, insist upon a clean one bedded with sand, clay or earth.

Wet thoroughly the bedding and interior of car before loading.

Give only a small feed of grain before shipping. Heavy feed means more body heat generated.

Load not more than one hour before the train is to depart.

Load slowly and carefully. Avoid excitement and do not beat or bruise the animals.

Load not to exceed 14,000 pounds fat hogs and 16,000 stock hogs in a standard 36-foot car during warm weather.

Have water applied to the bedding in the car at available points immediately after the train stops.

Use ice on floor of car whenever possible, three blocks to a car.

Report inattention or neglect promptly to the Superintendent of the Division on which your shipment originates.

Never throw water directly upon the hogs after they become heated. Run it on the floor of car under the hogs instead.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to thank our neighbors and friends for their many acts of kindness during Mr. Bowers' illness and while at the Hospital.
